earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 71, 123, 158–60, 219, 291, see also foot note, 386, 407, & 442. Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Wayne Meeks, The Prophet-King (New Testament Supplement Studies, a series of two books), p. 276–77. The Combat of Adam and Eve 13. 1–7, 27, 12–14, in J. P. Migne, Encyclopedie Theologique: Dictionaire des Apocryphe, 2 vols. (Paris: Barriere, 1856), 1:302 and 307. Cf. Rappoport, Myth and Legend in Ancient Israel, 8:165. BYU Studies, Vol.22, Winter 1982, #1, p. 31–45, (& some of the notes), Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity, by Blake Ostler. Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1981). Russell, Lucifer, The Devil In The Middle Age, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1984). Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988). <http://ica.themorgan.org/manuscript/page/30/77118> - Illumination from Jean Mansel, Vie de Notre Seigneur Jésus Christ, fifteenth century, fol. http://www.sites.hps.cam.ac.uk/visiblembyos/s1_3.html

781- Clifford Davidson, Editor, The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, and Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Kalamazoo, Michigan: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan University, 1994), p. 9, British Library, MS. Lansdowne 383, fol. 168v. Mid-12th century depiction of souls ascending to heaven on a napkin in the hands of Michael the archangel, Michael is often seen fighting with the devil & defeating him, in numerous art works, so this might suggest that Michael is offering his angelic powers of protection, along with the protective napkin. From a miniature in the Shaftesbury Psalter. James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (New York, New York, Doubleday, 2005), 97, the Virgin Mary is often depicted with souls she protects under her large cloak, or cape. Google Image: Souls protected under the Virgin Mary's Cloak, or cape, different types of cloaks or capes depicted, some very long & large, spread out by angels. https://www.google.com/search?site=&tbm=isch&source=hp&biw=1024&bih=667&q=Souls+protected+under+the+Virgin+Mary%27s+cloak&oeq=Souls+protected+under+the+Virgin+Mary%27s+cloak&gs_l=img.3...2949.19128.0.20075.49.15.1.33.0.0.139.1022.13j1.14.0....0...lac.1.64.img.1.14.975...0j0i10k1j0i5i30k1j0i8i30k1j0i10i24k1j0i24k1.YjLQa-YJ6e4 In numerous depictions of the soul ascending into heaven, or paradise, after death, the soul is depicted as an infant child, wrapped in swaddling cloth, which acts as a protection against the demons. Often-times, the child like size soul, thus wrapped up, is passed on into the hands of an angel, or in the case with the Virgin Mary's child size soul, she is passed on into the hands of Christ. In other cases, the soul is passed on into the hands of Christ, who sometimes either passes the soul into the protective hands, or arms of angels, or ascends up with the child sized soul himself into the protective realms of light and love. To mention just a few examples: Angels carrying the soul of St Bertin to heaven - From an altarpiece by Simon Marmion 1480 rides up on blanket. Book of Hours, Use of Rome- Netherlands, S.c. 1440- souls ride up to paradise on blanket. Book of Hours, Use of Sarum- Netherlands, S- 2nd or 3rd quarter of the 15th century- soul rides up to heaven on blanket. Book of Hours, Use of Sarum- Netherlands, S Bruges c 1490- Soul wrapped up in protective blanket with Abraham in paradise - Demon attempt to harm soul. Icon with the Koimesis Falling Asleep of the Virgin Mary late 10th cent Byzantine - Angels descend with robes. Mary's infant size soul is wrapped in a protective swaddling cloth, & in the hands of Christ, it is like how Mary had wrapped Christ in a protective swaddling cloth. IMG 3475 Dionysiuo Portico - Martyr clothed in white clothing. Martyrs are often depicted being clothed in blankets, swaddling cloths, white robes, & other protective garments as they ascend into paradise, or heaven. Last Judgment- Jan Provost 1525- Web Gallery of Art- Angel cloths soul in white robes for paradise. On the other side of Christ's judgment, the left hand side of the two ways, naked souls are being tormented by dark color demons, as they are thrust down to hell. Naked, unprotected, not clothed in protective garments, in contrast to those on the right hand side of Christ's judgment. This is why souls in hell, hades, limbo, purgatory, the abyss, pit, underworld, the caves in numerous art works depicting Christ's descent, the Anastasis; often show these souls naked. They're naked because they are exposed to the purification of their souls through being made to suffer the pains of damned souls in hell. They are naked, unprotected from the tortures of diverse types that the demons inflict on them. However, when Christ, angels, prophets, apostles & saints come to preach the gospel to them, and they accept it, they are liberated & come forth out naked to then be clothed upon, symbolic of their resurrection. They ascend up & are wrapped in blankets, robes, or ride up on cloths into paradise or heaven. See: Alan Richardson and John Bowden, (Editors), Westminster Dictionary of Christian Theology, (Philadelphia, Pennsylvania: The Westminster Press, CR SCM Press Ltd 1983, first Published in Great Britain, 1983, entitled: A New Dictionary of Christian Theology). See the article entitled: The Descent into Hell, by A. T. Hanson. See also: Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986). Carol Zaleski, Otherworld Journeys, Accounts of Near-Death Experiences In Medieval and Modern Times, (New York and Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987). Clifford Davidson, Editor, The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, and Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Kalamazoo, Michigan: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan University, 1994). Craig Harbison, The Last Judgment in Sixteenth Century Northern Europe, (New York, U.S.A., and London, England: Garland Pub. Inc., 1976). Geoffrey R. King, The Forty Days, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: W.M. B. Eerdmans, 1949). Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments Of Romanesque Art, The Art of Church Treasures in North-Western Europe, (The University of Chicago Press, 1954 and 2nd, Edition, 1967). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company), 4: Mormonism and Early Christianity, (1987). Nibley, Baptism for the Dead in Ancient Time, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Improvement Era, 51—52, (December 1948—April 1949). Robert Hughes, Heaven and Hell in Western Art, (New York: Stein and Day/Pub., 1968). Vincent Cronin, Mary Portrayed, (London, England: Darton, Longman & Todd, 1968). Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, (Washington Square, New York, New York: Pantheon Books, 1947). William Barclay, The Apostles' Creed For Everyman, (New York and Evanston: Harper and Row, 1967). Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsächsischen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), 3 vols. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen. See also: Jennifer O'Reilly, A Garland Series, Outstanding Theses In The Fine Arts From British Universities, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, (NY, U.S.A., & Lon., Eng.: Garland Pub., Inc., 1988). Thesis submitted to the University of Nottingham for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, October 1972). Roger J. Adams, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptisms for the Dead, (unpublished manuscript 1977). Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (NY, San Diego, U.S.A.; Lon., Eng.: Harcourt Brace & Co.). Ariel L. Crowley, BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD, (Boise Idaho: Prepared for Electronic Media by Stanley D. Barker. Chandler Rathfon Post, A History of Spanish Painting, (Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1930—1958). (NY: Kraus reprint Co., 1970's). Also: Last-Judgment-Triptych-open-1467-71-Hans Memling, on the right hand side of Christ's judgment, souls are being lifted up out of their graves, a tug a war between demons and angels over souls is underway. St. Peter clasps the hands of those ascending towards paradise, to greet them. They are naked, but are soon clothed in robes, as angels help them get into white robes of paradise. On the left side, naked souls are being tormented by demons, as they are thrust down into the hot flames of the fires of hell. Memling_Gdansk_Resurrection_Triptych Triptych of The Last

Judgment c 1473 Marienkirche - Gdansk. See also: Master of the Narbonne Parament - Entombment descent into Hell and Noli me tangere c 1375 Musée du Louvre - Paris. Naked souls ascend, Christ clasp the wrist of Adam, the first naked soul to be raised up in the descent. Matfré Ermengau of Béziers Breviari d'Amor Catalan prose version- f-40- soul ride up on protective blanket - last quarter of 14th c. Soul on a blanket, held up by angels on both sides, rides up towards heaven. Müden-Örtze, Niedersachsen, Laurentiuskirche, vaults - King paying homage to satan by hand clasp, just like homage hand clasp of Christian Knights before Christian Kinds, Nobles, Earls, Lords & Barons. The souls in this case are without protective garments, they are naked, as they watch this unholy homage rite taking place. In the Passion of Margaret- Italy, N. (Padua); 3rd quarter of the 14th century soul rides up on blanket, with angel on each side holding the blanket. In another art work, naked souls are greeted by St. Peter clasp on right hand side of Christ's judgment, while on the left, naked souls are being thrust down the jaws of hell. Het laatste oordeel- Bovenin is Christus afgebeeld- Links van hem staat Maria- rechts van hem Johannes.de.Doper. Upon entering paradise, they naked will be clothed upon, often traditionally with white robes. Clifford Davidson, Ed., The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, and Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Kalamazoo, Michigan: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan Un., 1994). Colleen McDannell & Bernhard Lang, Heaven: A History, (New Haven & Lon.: Yale Un. Press, 1988). South Leigh church medieval painting of Peter clasping hand of naked souls entering heaven. On one of the pages of The Hours of Catherine of Cleves 1440s Christ harrowing hell p.31, naked souls are lifted up by their wrists out of the fires and jaws of hell, the first one lifted is Adam. The Last Judgment- Willem Vrelant- 1460s Getty Museum - Naked souls ascend on blanket, with angels on both sides holding the ends of the blanket. Conques Last judgment detail Portal, tympanum Abbey Church of St Foy Conques, Aveyrou, France Begun 1100. Naked souls on the left hand side of Christ's judgment are being thrust down the jaws of hell. On the right, souls, clothed in robes, are greeted by St. Peter, who clasps their hands, to greet them at the door of paradise. In an image of baptism from Cemetery of St Callistus Rome 4th century, a naked soul is being lifted up by a hand clasp, a type of baptism & resurrection & ascension out of hell. Baptism a type of the whole ritualistic journey of the soul through different realms, they are anointed a type of Christ, and like Christ who did battle with the demons in the underworld; they are a type of Christ, ready to battle too, the soul ascends, in anointed & clothed in a garment, a type of resurrection. The garment protects the soul during the ascension, where more hand & wrist clasping is done upon entering the heavenly realms.

782- <https://archive.org/stream/collectionofseve00more#page/n27/mode/2up> - Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), Prologue X, Michelangelo's Creation of Adam, 1512, see also p. 84–85, 341, end notes 52–55: The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 2:305, 308, 315, Stromata, I.5, 7, 15. Henry More, "Preface General," in A Collection of Several Philosophical Writings of Dr. Henry More (London: James Flesher, 1662.; repr., New York: Garland, 1978), xx. Maurizio Calvesi, (Text), Deoclecio Redig De Campos, (Intro.), Treasures of the Vatican, St Peter's Basilica, The Vatican Museums and Galleries, The Treasure of St Peter's, The Vatican Grottoes and Necropolis, The Vatican Palaces, (New York: Portland House, 1987), 113–117. Rene Huyghe, (Professor in the College of France, General Editor), Art and Mankind, Larousse Encyclopedia of Renaissance And Baroque Art, (New York: Prometheus Press, 1958, 1961, Paul Hamlyn LTD, 1963, 1964). Auge, Gillon, Hollier-Larousse, Moreau et Cie (Paris France: Librairie Larousse, & this edition, London, England: Paul Hamlyn LTD, 1963, Revised edition 1966, New York: Excalibur Books), 128–29. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, (NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, orig. pub. in Chicago: Open Court Pub. Co., 1900), 147–156, 222, 229, 234–250.

783- Joseph Hoffmann, Celsus, On The True Doctrine, Oxford Un. Press, 1987, 105. ANF, 4:607 Against Celsus.

784- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 323.

785- Stan-Michel Pellistrandi, The Early Christian Civilization, Ferni, Geneva: 1978, Calif., USA: Paradise Found Books, English ed., 180-199. ANF, 4:427-8, & 609.

786- ANF, 4:407, 422, 424, 447, 464, 557, 565, 609, & 641. 1 Chronicles 16:22, Psalms 105:15.

787- ANF, 4:407, 427-8, 526-7, 538, 543-4, 560, 566-71, 581, 591-99, 604-607, 609, 632, 638-9, 640-1, 643-5, 648-9, 651-2, & 659-60. James L. Barker, Apostasy From The Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960). Barker, The Divine Church, Down Through Change, Apostasy therefrom, and Restoration, (Salt Lake City, Utah: The Deseret News, 1951). Being a course of study for the Melchizedek Priesthood Quorums for the years 1952-4), 3 volumes, 1952, 1953, 1954, vol. 1, 1952, p.31, see also p.56-7, & 60-1, note 25, Mourret, Les Origines chretiennes, p. 308, & see note 28, Origen, Strom, VI, 14, col. 337; Iv, 18, col. 1321; De Principiis, II, 9, 6, also Adversus Celsum, Iv, 70, 54; cited by Tixeront, Histoire des Dogmes dan l'Antiquite chretienne, vol. 1, p. 312, & Barker p.60-1, note 4, Tixeront, Histoire des Dogmes, vol. 1, p.313. Origen, The Bible and Philosophy in the Third-century Church, by Joseph Wilson Trigg, 1946, etc., p. 228-9. T. Edgar Lyon, Apostasy to Restoration, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1960; Course of Study for the Melchizedek Priesthood Quorums of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, CR 1960, David O. McKay), 125-6. Origenes: De Principiis, II. ix. (Ed. Bas. p. 705), ORIGENES: In Matt. Tract. X. (Ed. Basil 1571, p.81. William G.T. Shedd, D.D., A History of Christian Doctrine, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, third edition, 1883), volume II, p. 5-9, & notes. G. W. Butterworth, Origen On First Principles, (Gloucester, Massachuset: Peter Smith 1973, & Harper & Row, 1966), 32-4, Note 8- HefeLe-Leclercq, Histoire des Conciles, t. ii, premiere partie, p. 232.

788- ANF, 4:263, Origen, On First Principles.

789- The Book of Enoch the Prophet, Trans. by Richard Laurence, LL.D., Williams & Norgate, 1892, 14, 46-7, 54, 60, 84-9, & 2 Pet.2:4, Rev.8:10, En. lxxxv.2; Rev.9:1 & chap.12. ANF, 4:263, Origen, On First Principles.

790- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, Vol. 2, p. 61, & 70. Vol. 4, p.15-16, & 567. Jude 6, 9, 14.

791- R. G. Hamerton-Kelly, Pre-Existence, Wisdom & The Son of Man, A Study of the Idea of Pre-existence in the New Testament, (Cambridge, Great Britain: Cambridge Un. Press, 1973), 124-5.

792- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol.4, p. 263-4, Origen De Principiis, I, chapter 7, etc.

793- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol.4, p. 263-4, Origen De Principiis, I, chapter 7:3-4.

794- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 92–93, 343, end note 91, Origen, De Principiis, 3-5, ANF, 4:239–41.

795- The study of Pre-Birth Experiences started to become better known through the research & writings of Sarah Hinze, who wrote Life Before Life, A Collection of Mothers' Experiences with their pre-born children, (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, Inc., 1993). See a collection of rare radio shows archived on the Internet Archives: Pre-existence: Studies in Early Christianity, Pre-Birth Experiences & Near Death Experiences, <https://archive.org/details/Pre-existenceStudiesInEarlyChristianityPre-birthExperiencesNear> - A Collection of radio shows & interviews about the Pre-existence, collection 1. Topics: Evidences for the Pre-existence of souls in a life before life as spirits in a family in heaven. As found in Pre-birth experiences, near death experiences, ancient documents, early Christian writings, art works, early anti-Christian polemics, the Council of Constantinople 553 AD that rejected Origen's version of the pre-existence. Plus, references to art works that depicted it in early to later Christianity, earlier bible illustrations of it, and later legends, mystery plays, & even later movies that mention it. Guests: Sarah Hinze, author of "Life Before Life, A Collection of Mother's Experiences with their pre-born children," & Darell Thorpe, author of "The Pre-existence: Our Pre-earth Life as Spirits In A Family in Heaven," guests on KTKK 630 AM radio, K-Talk, South Jordan Utah, USA, 8-15-1993, host, Martin Tanner. Then on 8-4-2011, Sandy Utah area, at a book conference, Darell Thorpe interviewed Sarah Hinze. Then, on KTKK, Drive Time Live, The Mills Crenshaw show, hosted by Mill Crenshaw, produced by Darell Thorpe, 12-16-2011 SARAH HINZE as guest, talking about her book: WAITING IN THE WINGS. Then, 1-23-2013 on KTKK, Sarah Hinze, Susan Freeman, author of "Through the Window of Life," & Darell Thorpe, guests on with Mills. See also: Krystal Westover, now in her 30's, Mentions Dr. Melvin Morse's NDE Interview With Her "Dr. Melvin Morse says that a girl, Krystal Westover, who died at age 7, in a swimming accident, had told him that while she was having a NDE, she saw two spirits who were waiting to be born. Up-date. Links may, or may not still be working at this time of reading. <https://iandsutah.files.wordpress.com/2013/02/iands-11-08-aug-2011-christal-westover.mp3>. At the International Associations for Near Death Studies = IANDS of Utah, 8-10-2011, Wednesday; Krystal Westover, now in her 30's, told of her near death experience, in which she mentions how Dr. Melvin Morse had revived her. During his visits with her, as she was getting better, she told him about the experience she had of seeing & playing with two pre-mortal children spirits who were later born. Krystal Westover was also interviewed on K-Talk, KTKK 630 AM radio, Salt Lake City valley area, & on the internet, 8-2011; on Mills Crenshaw's Drive Time Live. Though the recording is not the best quality, the story is still interesting, please, take the time to listen to it by clicking on this link, or by going to Mills Crenshaw's Blog Schedule & Archives of shows." (From: Darell Thorpe, Ancient to Modern Near Death Experiences = NDEs & Pre-Birth Experiences = PBEs, Fall Quarter, Nov. 1996, revised for internet 1999 & 3-6-2011, up-dated 8-12-2011; See also: Closer to the Light, by Dr. Melvin Morse, 1990, p. 6-7). "We have learned that pre-mortal spirits do make themselves known, in different ways, to their family members to be. Perhaps a study should be done in the area of which I have called "Pre-birth Experiences" = PBE. If it has not already been done. Perhaps that may be a new horizon for researchers to consider." (Darell D. Thorpe, The Grand Pilgrimage: Footnoting In & "Out of the Best Books" [D&C 88:118], (Salt Lake City, Utah: Religious, Historical & Polemical Studies, 1992), vol. 1, page 25, Part 1, based on Issues 1-4, Revised. April-- August 1992, Issue #3: June--July 1992, Pathway #1: THE PRE-EXISTENCE: [PART 2], EVIDENCES FROM PRE-BIRTH EXPERIENCES, [PART A], the pre-birth experience story entitled: "The Mystery of the Toy Train! Who Or What Turned It On!," by Darell Thorpe. More about my PBE. Links may, but may not still work at this time. <http://web.archive.org/web/20030218220310/http://light-hearts.com/> - Darell Thorpe, Cosmic Treks of Our Spirits: Ancient to Modern Near Death Experiences' Treks Through Pre & After-life Realm, (Salt Lake City, Utah, & Internet: CreateSpace Independent Publishing Platform; 1st Black & White Illustrated Edition, 12-22-2015), on Amazon books, includes stories about pre-birth experience, & examples of preexistence theme. https://www.amazon.com/Cosmic-Treks-Our-Spirits-Experiences/dp/1522889914/ref=sr_1_20?ie=UTF8&qid=1489640539&sr=8-20&keywords=Darell+Thorpe - Darell Thorpe, Cosmic Agents Book 1: Into a Universe Filled with Life, (SLC, Utah: R.H.&P.S. & MMM 3rd Millennium Music/Movie Makers; #3 illustrated ed. black & white, 2013, ed. 12-17-2013, a historical fictional story, with end notes to preexistence themes in history. https://www.amazon.com/Cosmic-Agents-Book-Universe-illustrated-ebook/dp/B00HET2IQO/ref=sr_1_16?ie=UTF8&qid=1489640911&sr=8-16&keywords=Darell+Thorpe Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 94, 343, end note 98, Origen, De Principiis, 1.7.4, The Ante-Nicene Fathers, volume four, pages 263-264. Sarah Hinze's books: http://www.springcreekbooks.com/authors/hinze_sarah.html - <https://www.amazon.com/Sarah-Hinze/e/B000APVEGE> - Beyond the Veil, by Lee Nelson, 1988 Cedar Fort Inc., Orem, Ut., c.3, "I Wanted Those 2 Little Girls" by Janet Christensen, p.37-42. Ibid., 1990, vol.3, c.12, p.87-90, "I Saw My Children," by Juliann Johnson Bradshaw. Melvin S. Tagg, The Life of Edward James Wood, p.117-118, "Unpub. Writings of Myrtle Olsen," Cardston, Alberta. "Edward J. Wood, Record," 1952, Church Historian's Office. Interview of Preston Nibley, May 29, 1959. Henry Zollinger, "My Experience In The Spirit World," unpub. in the possession of his wife, at Provident, Cache Co., Ut. Henry's NDE, Aug. 7, 1920. See also: Free Inquiry in Creative Sociology V.7, #2, Nov. 1979, p.101-7, by C. R. Lundahl. George C. Lambert, "A Modern Stoic," Treasures In Heaven, 15th bk of the Faith Promoting Series, SLC, Ut., 1914, p.21-22. From N. B. Lundwall, The Vision (SLC. Ut. Bookcraft not dated), p.146-7. Duane S. Crowther, Life Everlasting, 1967, (1990), Bookcraft, SLC, Ut., p.36-42. Radio interviews of some people who have had NDEs. KTKK 630 AM Radio, Ut. "Religion On The Line" hosted by Martin Tanner, Nov. 5 & 12, 1989, & July 15, 1990. Also Betty Eadie on KTKK, as Mr. Tanner's guest, June 7, 1992, (Also, in the course of this show. A Lady called in & told of her own NDE while giving birth, & in which She saw the spirit of her child to be. The Salt Lake Chapter Of The "International Association For Near Death Studies" = (IANDS). And the "Friends of IANDS." = (FOINDS). News Letters numbers 4-7, Nov. 1992, #4, Dec. 1992 -- JANUARY 1993, #5. Feb. 1993, #6, & March 1993, #7, by DT. Some of our "Friends of IANDS" meetings were held on Sept. 17, 1992, (4th meeting); November 19, 1992, (5th); January 21, 1993, (6th); & Feb. 18, 1993, (7th) in the Murray/Salt Lake City area in Utah. See also: Reflections On Life After Life, by Raymond A. Moody, Jr. M.D. A Bantam BK. Pub. Mockingbird Books, June 1977. Typescript of Howard Storm's NDEs, from a 1988 cassette tape, typed by JBB, Silverdale, WA, from NDE Research Institute, Thomas KY. PBEs: The Ensign, July 1992, p.56-7, (Mormon Journal), "Not Too Much to Ask," by Cheryl Cayer, as told to Judy M. Sweeney. The Grand Pilgrimage, p.5-17, 25-31, 61-6. Harold A. Widdison's book, Trailing Clouds of Glory: First Person Glimpses into Premortality. Darell Thorpe, based on my personal Journal, Saturday, August, 10, 1991, The Mystery of the Toy Train, PBE, I had before my son, Jordan was born. Later I came across an ad in The Beehive, Vol.18, #5, p. 25, Feb. 1993, "LDS Author Seeks "Life Before Life" Stories" by Jill Adair. It was about Sarah Hinze research project to find those who had PBEs. Radio interviews with Betty Eadie, December, 20, 1992, & Feb. 7, 1993, on KTKK 630 AM Radio, "K-Talk", Religion on the Line, hosted by Martin Tanner. See also: Embraced by the Light, 1992. Howard Storm, Tape recording 1989 of his Near Death Experience, at the NDE Research Institute, in Kentucky, typescript entitled: An Experience of Howard Storm. Sarah's first book, Life Before Life: A Collection of Mothers' Experiences With Their Pre-Born Children, was published by Cedar Fort, 1993. It opened that "new horizon for researchers to consider," that I thought should be explored, back in 1992, when I was collecting research on the pre-existence & other topics in early Christian writings, art works, & other cultures. She gathered a number of first hand accounts from Mothers & Fathers who have had experiences, visitations & pre-birth premonitions about spirits seeking to be born. How they communicated in different ways, to their parents to be, that they wanted to be born, or would be soon. Her 2nd book, Coming From the Light, Accounts of Our Spiritual Origins and Personal Destiny, Cedar Fort Inc., CFI, 1994, continued pushing further into that horizon. Another book, Songs of the Morning Star, 2006, went in a similar, but also new direction. In 2006, another book: We Lived In Heaven, Spiritual Accounts of Souls Coming to Earth, offers more evidences from first hand accounts of "dozens of uplifting and remarkable accounts of parents and families who have had the opportunity to meet the souls of their sons and daughters before they were born." Now, in 2011, she's working on another book, that explores a new horizon, that of "premortals memories (PMM)" in The Memory of Angels: Remembering Our Premortal Life. See also: Elisabeth Hallett's books: Stories of the Unborn Soul, The mystery and delight of Pre-Birth Communication, <http://www.light-hearts.com/unborn.htm> - Also: SOUL TREK, Meeting Our Children on the Way to Birth, <http://www.light-hearts.com/soultrek.htm> - <http://sarahhinze.com/> - <https://iandsutah.org/2017/02/21/iands-utah-meeting-for-friday-february-24th-2017/> - Dr. Raymond Moody, author of Life After Life, is one of the founding fathers of IANDS. He coined the term "near-death experience." another book, Glimpses of Eternity: An Investigation Into Shared Death Experiences, was discussed at the June 2011 International Associations in Near Death Studies IANDS of Utah talk, given in Salt Lake City, Utah, <https://iandsutah.files.wordpress.com/2013/02/iands-11-06-jun-2011-dr-moody-main-talk.mp3> - <https://iandsutah.files.wordpress.com/2013/02/iands-11-06-jun-2011-dr-moody-qa.mp3> - Meeting was held in the old South High School building turned into the Salt Lake Community College. During the question & answer period, about 5:30 into the time line, I asked Dr. Moody about those who have seen pre-mortal spirits, during their NDEs, he told of those who had said they'd seen spirits lined up, waiting to be born. Plus, of talking with one of his adopted kids, who talked of coming here to earth from another place, seeing Moody & his wife lying on the grass, "five years before Carter was born.". Moody told of his other adopted child that told of being with his "gody" (god), & at first not wanting to leave him to come down to be with the Moodys. But finally did & was glad of it. <https://iandsutah.org/archive-of-meetings-from-2012/> - Mills Crenshaw, Drive Time Live, The Mills Crenshaw show, aired on KTKK 630 AM radio, K-Talk, West Jordan Utah, USA. Guest: Dr. Raymond Moody, 6-1-2011. <https://archive.org/details/MoreResearchIntoNearDeathExperiencesByFoundingFatherOfNdeStudies> - Internet Archives. Former Atheist, now Rev. Howard Storm had an NDE, & he learned that & was shown by the angels, a movie-like depiction of the different forms of life throughout the universe. And after seeing thousands, and thousands of different forms of life, & different creatures of one kind or another, he learned & likened these different worlds like unto different levels of schools: "Everything in the physical is a school, but there are different degrees, like this school in relationship to other ones is like kindergarten. But that's not so bad because there's pre-school, & there's no school, there's graduate school, & stuff like that. But there are worlds where people are doing incredible things with physical. The physical is like a forum for giving birth to spirits. It's the only way for spirits' learning. Like, for example, just think of it this way: If you were a spirit & you were all powerful & your mind could make happen anything that it thought of, how could you learn? Can you imagine the havoc you would create in the universe? You're put in a relatively harmless, safe playpen. This world is so uncomplicated, relatively, compared to the Greater Reality, & that we think it's so incredibly complex, but this is real simple compared to the Greater Reality." (Cited by Darell Thorpe, Cosmic Agents, Book 1: Into a Universe Filled With Life, {During Agent Max Pointer's NDE, He Gets to find out who he was before he was born}, CR 11-11-11; 2013 Edition, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Religious, Historical & Polemical Studies = R.H.&P.S., & MMM = third Millennium Music/Movie Makers, 2013, 2nd Edition), page 25. Links may, but may not still be working by the time of this reading. <http://restoredgospelveidences.blogspot.com/2011/10/howards-storms-near-death-experience.html> - Ralph V Jensen's NDE, Wed. 6-13-2012, interviewed on a Utah, USA, radio station, K-Talk, KTKK 630 AM radio, Drive Time Live, The Mills Crenshaw Show: After a non-survivable heart attack, he testified he died at home in February 2004. While in the spirit world, he asked if he could return to mortality and was granted permission to return. At about the same time he was given a blessing and was commanded to return to his body. After paramedics took Ralph to Altaview Hospital, he died again in the ER and had a much longer experience, lasting about 12 minutes, which is the subject of a book he is writing. He testified further, that he was shown Christ's pre-existence, as also the human family's pre-existence. The war in heaven, which was a war of ideologies, not so much with spears and swords. He says he was also shown Christ's birth, life, death & post-resurrection visits to other nations around the world. He has a book in the works, entitled: Where's Your Heart. He was also at the International Associations for Near Death Studies of Utah meeting in Salt Lake City, Utah, June 2012, <https://iandsutah.files.wordpress.com/2014/01/iands-12-06-jun-2012-ralph-jensen.mp3> - Howard Storm at the International Association for Near Death Studies, November 2012, in Salt Lake City, Utah. <https://iandsutah.files.wordpress.com/2012/12/iands-12-11-nov-2012-howard-storm.mp3> - <https://iandsutah.files.wordpress.com/2013/03/iands-january-2013-sarah-hinze.mp3> - Sarah Hinze at the International Associations for Near Death Studies, Salt Lake City, Utah, January 2013. <https://iandsutah.files.wordpress.com/2013/02/iands-11-04-apr-2011-dr-melvin-morse-part-1.mp3> - Dr. Melvin Morse, April 2011, at International Associations for Near Death Studies, Salt Lake City, Utah, Part two: <https://iandsutah.files.wordpress.com/2013/02/iands-11-04-apr-2011-dr-melvin-morse-part-2.mp3> - Dr. Lynn Johnson at the International Associations for Near Death Studies, meeting, April 2008. <https://iandsutah.files.wordpress.com/2013/02/iands-08-04-apr-2008-lynn-johnson.mp3>

796- Terry L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (NY: Oxford University Press, 2010), 94, 343, end note 98, Origen, De Principiis, 1.7.4, ANF, 4:263-64.

797- Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986). Walter Oakeshott, Classical Inspiration In Medieval Art, (NY: Frederick A. Praeger, 1959), plate 80: "A Carolingian ivory masterpiece: France, 9th cent." Ascension of Christ into heaven, hand of God the Father greeting Christ. Hanns Swarzenski, (2nd ed.), Monuments of Romanesque Art, (Un. of Chicago Press, 1954 & 1967), plate 66, fig. 151. Late 10th cent.: "Christ in Mandorla" for rebirth, or as passage into another realm. Hand of God clasps the wrist of the Son, while an angel clasps hand of Christ. Plate 15, fig. 35, the ascension, Lorraine, cent. 1000. Hand of God extends down from heaven to grasp the hand of Christ. Early Christian Art, The Late Roman & Byzantine Empires from the 3rd to the 7th century, fig. 83. Venice, St. Mark's 5th cent. Christ in Limbo. Adam reaches around a pillar to clasp right hand of Christ. W. F. Volbach & Max Hirmer, Early Christian Art, (Pub. A Abrams), 93, Munich, Bavarian National Museum, ivory panel, Christ ascending into heaven, cent. 400. God right hand clasping right hand of Christ. Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, 1947, plate 100. Christ descent into limbo, 4th or 5th cent. Joseph Gantner & Marcel Pobe, Romanesque Art In France, (Thames & Hudson, 1956), plate 135, p. 64. Conques (Aveyron), Christ as Judge. Roland H. Bainton, The Horizon of Christianity, (American Heritage Pub. Co., 1964), p. 214-15. Peter clasping hands of souls on right hand side of Christ as judge. Claude Schaeffner, Artistic Consultant: Jean-Clarence Lambert & others, Gothic Painting I, p. 48, (England: Ed. S.A. Geneva 1968. Master of Westphalia 14th century. Christ in Purgatory, Wallraf-Richartz Museum, Cologne. Christ grasping Adam by his hands. See also: The Lost Books of The Bible & The Forgotten Books of Eden, (Alpha House, 1926 & 27), p. 86-88, "The Gospel of Nicodemus." Also: A Library of Fathers of the Holy Catholic Church, vol. 2, p. 264-5, S. Cyril of Jerusalem, Lecture On the Mysteries. Art A History of Painting, Sculpture, Architecture, vol. 1, p. 327, fig. 410. Benedetto Antelami. Descent from the cross. Relief. 1178. Cathedral of Parma, Italy, "...the lifting of Christ hand from the Cross becomes an act of ritual grace, accomplished with the aid of an angel." Jean Porcher, Medieval French Miniatures, 38- The annunciation, 2nd half of the 12th cent. In the temple. Luke 1:10-11. Isa. 41:13, 42:6-7, Psa. 24, 37:24, 60:5, 63:8, 73:23–24. Jeffrey M. Bradshaw, Temple Themes In the Book of Moses, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Publishing, 2010), 39, 43, 63, 103, 115, 171. Dr. Hugu Nibley, collected works volume 16: The Message of the Joseph Smith Papyri, An Egyptian Endowment, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company, 2005, second edition), 456. Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsächsischen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), three volumes. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, München. Robert G. Calkins, 1979, Monuments of Medieval Art, (Ithaca, London, New York: E. D. Dutton, Cornell University Press, 1985, fourth printing, 1993), 29, fig. 25. John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1954). Rolf Toman, (Editor), Achim Bednorz, (Photos), Romanesque, Architecture, Sculpture, & Painting, (Germany: Könemann, 2004), 327, fig. 16. Conques, Sainte Foy, detail of the tympanum shows the Blessed. Peter at the door to paradise, clasps the hands, or greets the blessed as they are about to enter the realm of paradise. See p. 330–31, dated second quarter of 12th c. On Christ's right hand side of Judgment, is a hand extending towards a praying female figure. Page 367, right photo, Triptych of Alton Towers, dated 1150–1160, Lon., Victoria and Albert Museum, bottom middle art work of Christ's descent into hell, hand clasp. Christ's left hand to Adam's right wrist. Page 408, Auxerre, Saint-Germain, crypt, St. Stephen's Chapel. The stoning of St. Stephen, just a hand is extending down as Stephen is about to enter the after life. Page 445, bottom right photo, Bamberg Apocalypse. Trier (?). The woman of the Apocalypse, around 1020, Bamberg, Staatsbibliothek. Cod. 140, fol. 29v, a naked child soul's right wrist is grasped by a woman, who is protecting the child from a dragon, Rev. 12. Pages 446–47, Apocalypse of St. Sever. Mid-11th c., Paris, Bibl. Nat., Mx., 8878, fol. 108v–109. Three different types of hand & wrist grasping.

798- Rolf Toman, (Editor), Achim Bednorz, (Photos), Romanesque, Architecture, Sculpture, & Painting, (Germany: Könemann, 2004), 301, Creation of Adam & Eve, Modena (Emilia-Romagna), cathedral of San Geminiano. Relief on the west façade: Creation of Adam & Eve, work by Wiligelmus, beginning of the 12th c., God or perhaps the pre-existing Christ's left hand to Eve's right to pull her into life from Adam's side. See on line: Bible of Robert de Bello-England S-E-Canterbury 1240 1253 Historiated initial with scenes of Genesis, top portion shows the council in heaven, the fall of the angels, & the creation of Eve lower down, the Pre-existing Christ, or God(?), pulls Eve out by hand clasp, thus pulling her into mortal life. See also: Reader's Digest, ABC's of The Bible, (NY: The Reader's Digest Association, 1991), p. 18, Creation of Eve, Dutch illustration, 15th cent., God left hand to both hands of Eve raised up, palms together. On line: Gjerrild, c. 1500 (M-K 10-005), Creation of Adam, God is lifting Adam into life from the ground, by pulling him up from the ground, God's left hand to Adam's right wrist. On line: Hjembæk, c. 1475. (M-K 11-091) Creation of Adam and Eve. God or Christ's right hand to Adam's right wrist, pulling him into mortal life. On line: Gjerrild, c. 1500. (M-K 10-006) Creation of Eve, God's left hand clasping Eve's right wrist. On line: (Ghiberti) Creation of Adam hand clasp with God - 1425-52 Bronze door to Baptistry - Florence, God's left to Adam's left hand. On line: BIBLE German Nuremberg Anton Koberger 17 February 1483 God pulls Eve out Adam's side, by hand clasping, Creation of Eve surrounded by praying angels in heavenly council, God's right hand to both of Eve's wrist raised with palms together. Thus, she is pulled into life out of sleeping Adam's right side. <http://restoredapologetics.blogspot.com/> Scroll down to see art works. E. S. Drower, (Dr.), The Secret Adam, A Study of Nasoraean Gnostic, (London, England: Oxford University Press, 1960), xiv, 24, 66. Jeffrey M. Bradshaw, Temple Themes In the Book of Moses, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Publishing, 2010), 63, fig. 5-2. God Creating Eve, God Instructing Adam & Eve, late 12th c., Eve's right hand is raised, while God grasps Adam's left wrist with his left hand. In another art work, dated first half of the 12th c., the Creation of Adam, God's left hand to Adam's left wrist, (see: Hans L. C., Jaffé, (Editor), & others, The History of World Painting, (New York, New York: Fine Art Books, 1967), in the Netherlands by Smeets, Weert. Page 107, the creation of man & the temptation, Fresco, detached from the interior of the Heritage of Vera Cruz, Maderuelo (Segovia). The Prado, Madrid. See also: H. Clay Trumbull, D.D., The Blood Covenant, A Primitive Rite and its Bearings on Scriptures, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1885), <https://archive.org/details/bloodcovenantap04trumgoog>. See also: Gabriel Bise, translated by G. Ivins & D. MacRae, The Illuminated Naples Bible (Old Testament) 14th Century A.D. Manuscript, (Crescent Books, distributed by Crown Publishing Inc.), 18, part of the creation of Eve, a two headed Godhead man, with the dove on their shoulder for the Holy Ghost, represents the 3 in 1 trinity, with the pre-existing Christ inside this combination of the Godhead, for one of the heads would be Christ. Thus, the Godhead, with the right hand, grasps the right wrist of Eve to pull her into mortal life, from Adam's left side. Dated about the 14th century.

799- <https://www.pinterest.com/pin/15692298672136335/> - an unborn child was the first to recognize Jesus. The Greeting of Elisabeth & Mary, by Dorothy Webster Hawksley, 1884–1970, Elisabeth's right hand thumb rests on Mary's right hand middle finger knuckle. See other similar examples at: <https://www.pinterest.com/randymaryc/the-visitation/> - Numerous examples here. <https://www.pinterest.com/annedelsorte/religious-art-visitation/> - Even before John the Baptist was born, an angel announced to Zacharias, in the Temple, that his wife, Elisabeth would give birth to a son. An interesting depiction of this shows two men in the temple, clasping each others' hands, left hand to right hand, dated about second half of 12th c., (see: Jean Porcher, French Miniatures, or Medieval French Miniatures, (New York: Harry N. Abrams), XXXVIII: The Annunciation to Zacharias, Bible, second half of 12th cent., Bibliothèque Nationale, Ms. lat. 16746, f. 42). Again, in some cases, hand clasping seemingly symbolic of announcing the arrival of a soul into mortality. See also: Arthur M. Hind, An Introduction to a History of Woodcut, With A Detailed Survey of Work Done In The Fifteenth Century, (New York: Dover Publications, Inc., 1963, first published 1935, Houghton Mifflin, Co.), 369, fig. 172, the visitation, from Auslegung des Amts, Nuremberg, about 1482, right hand to right hand clasp. Both the Christ-child & John are each in their own mandorla symbol, the symbol of realm travelers. These are depicted on the womb areas of both Mary & Elisabeth, indicating both the pre-existing Spirit of Christ, & the separate pre-existing spirit of John had entered in through the mandorlas into physical life to be born, each into their own separate physical body. New International Illustrated Encyclopedia Of Art, (General Editorial Consultant, Sir John Rothenstein, C.B.E., Ph.D., LL.D., (New York: Greystone Press, MCMLXVII), vol. 1, (Aachen – Architectural Terms), p. 110, Mariotto Albertinelli: Visitation (1503), fresco; Uffizi, Florence, embracing, the hand clasp is Mary's right hand to Elisabeth's right hand, the thumb of Elisabeth rests on Mary's middle finger knuckle. Some realm traveling hand & wrist grasping like this, seem to be associated with entering physical life, while other types are often seen entering paradise, or in being resurrected, or ascending. Then again, they all show up again, with other types, during ascensions into heaven. Other hand & wrist grasping that shows up in art works that contain pre-existence themes are those depicting parts of Revelation 12. The dragon knew who the Christ-child was doing to be & seeks to "devour her child as soon as it was born." Thus, the Christ-child is passed on into the hand & wrist clasping hands of an angel who in turn passes the child into the hand clasping arms, or hands of God the Father, to protect the newly born infant Christ-child, from being killed by the devil-dragon, before Christ could perform his earthly mission as Messiah. (See for examples: Friedrich Heer, The Medieval World, Europe 1100–1350, (New York, New York: Signet, Classic, Mentor, etc., a Mentor Book from New American Library, 1961, Canada. First Published in Germany, as Mittelalter, 1961, translated from German by Janet Sondheimer), in between p. 128 & 129, photo 21, 12th cent. English miniature, devil clawing at & breathing out against the child in the woman's lap, as an angel clasps the wrist of the child to pull him up into safety. A part of the protective robe of the angel hangs down to start to block the breath or fire spewed by the devil-monster. In another depiction: Many of the basic elements to Rev. chap. 12, are depicted in a 13th century A.D. work. Mary stands as if an orant in the traditional prayer gesture—with up-lifted hands. At her feet is the moon symbol. Christ face depicted covering over her mid-section. Below this, the hands of God extend down out of heaven to receive the hands of the Child. The depiction shows the point in time which was right before They clasp each others' hands. Mary is the one who is passing on her Son into the hands of God. Other art works show an angel involved in the chain of events, in that an angel passes on the Child into the hands of God. In this particular case, however, no angel is seen as mentioned. Below this, the archangel Michael is seen armed with a weapon and shield. Michael strikes out against the dragon by thrusting the point of his weapon into the dragon's mouth. On the right side of the page, the dragon is again seen with 7 horned heads. The dragon has stars at its feet, & has curled its tail around some of the stars of heaven. (See: The Rothschild Canticles, (Art & Mysticism in Flanders & The Rhineland Circa 1300), by Jeffrey F. Hamburger, 1990, Pub. with the Assistance of the Getty Grant Program, Yale Un. Press, New Haven & Lon., see #184, "New Testament (Vatican City, Biblioteca Vaticana, MS Vat. Lat. 39), f. 163r. (Photo: Biblioteca Vaticana)".) Nigel Morgan, Early Gothic Manuscripts, II, 1250–1285, A Survey of Manuscripts Illuminated in the British Isles – General Editor: J. J. G. Alexander, (London: Harvey Miller, 1988), fig. 37, (Paris, Bibl. Nat., fr. 403, f. 8v & f. 19v (cat. 103). Depicting here the hand clasp between the Christ Child & the Father, as Christ enters into the heavenly realms. See also: Jean Porcher, French Miniatures, or Medieval French Miniatures, (New York: Harry N. Abrams), top portion of page, XLV–Scenes from the Apocalypse. Lambert de Saint-Omer, Liber Floridus, circa 1260 (Bibliothèque Nationale, Ms. Lat. 8865, f. 39), Christ, with the pre-existing Church or Temple, in that a hand clasp takes place here between the heavenly church or Temple & the Christ child. See also: Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments Of Romanesque Art, The Art of Church Treasures in North-Western Europe, (The University of Chicago Press, 1954 and 2nd, Edition, 1967), pl. 128, fig. 291, an angel coming down out of heaven to take hold of the Christ child's right wrist, with his right hand. [Adaption XII. English, 1140 A.D. Also, in later centuries, pre-existence themes survived in Baby announcements, & in traditions & stories about storks going to marshes, mothers fishing for babies, or the souls of the unborn, from lakes, rivers & marshes. They are also called “water babies,” <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=2Bxuy43fK10> - YouTube: Walt Disney, Silly Symphonies, “Water Babies,” Directed by Wilfred Jackson, music by Leigh Harline, (United States: Walt Disney Productions, May 11, 1935), “The water sprites living in a rustic pond awake with the dawn for a rollicking picnic. The festivities climax as “matadors” test their courage against an angry bull-frog.” http://disney.wikia.com/wiki/Water_Babies - In some baby announcements, frogs work with the storks to get the water babies (souls of the unborn) ready to be delivered to expecting parents. <https://www.pinterest.com/kenpatsnow/antique-storks-and-babies/> -

800- Terry L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford University Press, 2010, 94.

801- ANF, 4:341-3. John 9:2, Interpreter's Bible, III:869. Rev. 12, Jude 6; 2 Pet. 2:4, 1 John 3:8; Ezk. 28:13-19. The Divine Church, by James L. Barker, 1953, p. 130-131. The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, Gregory, Bishop of Nyssa, Vol. 5, p. 11, 17, 518-24, Prolegomena C. II & III. Dr. Hugu Nibley, Approaching Zion, p. 580-1, & note 73, on p. 613. E. A. Wallis Budge, tr., "Discourse on Abbaton by Timothy, Archbishop of Alexandria," in Coptic Martyrdoms, 6 vols. (London: British Museum, 1914), 4:225-49 (English translation on 474-96; Origen On First Principles, by G.W. Butterworth, Pub. Gloucester, Mass., Peter Smith 1973, intro. xxxii, 32-4. Cyrillus Alexandrinus: Com. in Johan. Op. IV. p. 78 sq.; Nemesius: De natura hominis, cap. ii; Hieronymus: Ep. LXXVIII, Ad Marcellinum; Philastrus: Haereses, XCIX; Augustinus: De civitate Dei, XI.xxiii; Facundus Hermianensis, De tribus Capitulis, bk. 3, c. 6. Liberatus in Breviario, c. 24.] Isa. 14:18. Old Testament And Related Studies, by Dr. Hugu Nibley, 1986, Nibley's Collected Works, Vol. 1, p. 157. The Nicene And Post-Nicene Fathers, vol. 14, p. 312, 316-17, The 7 Ecumenical Councils Of the Undivided Church, (Their Canons and Dogmatic Decrees), Philip Schaff, D.D., LL.D., & Henry Wace, D.D., THE CAPITULA OF THE COUNCIL (Labbe & Cossart, Concilia, Tom., V., col. 568), EXCURSUS ON THE XV. ANATHEMAS AGAINST ORIGEN.

802- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. 475-6.

803- Terry L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 15, end notes 24–25, p. 330: “Other nations, moreover, are called a part of the angels” is how Origen glossed the passage, Deut. 32:8. Origen, De Principiis, I.5.2, & 8.4, trans. Frederick Crombie, in The Ante-Nicene Fathers, ed. Alexander Roberts & James Donaldson (Grand Rapids, Mich.: Eerdmans, 1977), 4:256 & 266.

804- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. 526-7. Origen Against Celsus.

805- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. 538, Origen Against Celsus.

806- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. 543-4, Origen Against Celsus.

807- Terry L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 53, 336, end note 52: Origen, De Principiis, II.6.3, trans. Frederick Crombie, ANF, 4:282. Jerome's version comes from his epistle to Avitus (Letter 124), ANF 4:282n, 544, 560, 566-7, Origen Against Celsus.

808- Laurie Schneider Adams, A History of Western Art, Boston, NY: McGraw Hill, 1994, 97, 2001, 3rd ed., 262–63, figs. 15.30 & 15.31.

809- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. 544, 560, 566–7, Origen Against Celsus.

810- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. 567, Origen Against Celsus.

811- Terry L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 94, 343, end note 99: Origen, Against Celsus, IV.40. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 4:516.

812- Terry L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 94–95, 343, end note 100: Origen, De Principiis, I.8; Koetschau's Text, 72–73. These portions derived from Gregory of Nyssa's account of Origen's teachings.

813- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. 591–94. Terry L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010). Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (Armonk, New York & London England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc. 1989). Georges Duby, Medieval Art, Foundations of A New Humanism, 1280–1440, (Geneva, Switzerland: Editions d' Art Albert Skira S.A., 1995, first published in 1966–67, this edition BookKing International, 1995), 84–85, The Triumph of Death, about 1350, fresco in the Campo Santo, Pisa, depicting winged angels and winged demons with dark skins, as they battle over the souls of those who died. Page 169, four young winged angels hold up Eve, as she is being created from the sleeping Adam, as God pulls her by her right hand out of Adam's side. Thus, one in many creation drama hand clasps, from Lorenzo Ghiberti (1378–1455). The creation of Eve, on the panel on the porta del Paradiso, 1425–1447. Gilt Bronze. Baptistry, Florence. Page 185, shows a dark skin, horned head, & winged devil tempting Christ on top of a mountain peak. The Limbourg Brothers, the Chateau de Mehun-Sur-Yevre, about 1415, miniature from the Tres Riches Heures Duc De Berry, MS 1284, Muse Conde, Chantilly. See also: Bernard J. Bamberger, Fallen Angels, Soldiers of Satan's Realm, (Philadelphia, Jewish Publication Society of America, 1952). Chandler Rathfon Post, A History of Spanish Painting, (Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1930—1958). (New York: Kraus reprint Company, 1970's), in numerous volumes show the war in heaven, Michael's battle with the devil, examples of winged angels & demons, etc. Charles De Tolnay, 1965, Hieronymus Bosch, (Holle Verlag), Hieronymus Bosch, Haywain triptych, AD 1515 - Council, war, fall of rebellious angels that look like winged insects. Ernst and Johanna Lehner, Devils, Demons, Death and Damnation, (New York: Dover Pictorial Archive Series, Dover Publishing Inc., 1971). See on the Internet: Coppo di Marcovaldo, St. Michael & his legend; AD 1250-60, San Casciano val di pesa museum of sacred art. See also: Pieter Bruegel the Elder- The Fall of the Rebel Angels - AD 1562, winged creatures, some look like insects, as they battle the angels of God, during the war in heaven.

814- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 4:581, 592-3, Origen Against Celsus, Prov.23:5, 1 Cor.1:30, Ezek. 28:15, 19.

815- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 95, 343, end note 101: Elizabeth A. Clark, The Origenist Controversy: The Cultural Construction of an Early Christian Debate, (Princeton, N. J.: Princeton University Press, 1992), 7.

816- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 94–95.

817- John 9:1-7, Interpreter's Dict. of The Bible, 3: 869. Eugene Seach, Ancient Texts & Mormonism, Murray, Utah: Sounds of Zion, 1983, 5-8. New Eng. Bible, Wisdom of Solomon 8:19-20, David Winston's commentary, Anchor Bible Series, The Wisdom of Solomon (Garden City: Doubleday, 1982): "As a child I was born to excellence, & a noble soul fell to my lot; or rather, I myself was noble, & I entered into an unblemished body..."

818- Jeremiah 1:4-5. Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 133, 427, notes 89-90: The Wisdom of Solomon, 43:197. "The Assumption of Moses," The Apocrypha and Pseudepigrapha of the Old Testament, 2:415.

819- What promise did the Lord give Abraham regarding children? (Gen.15:1-6). "...the Lord came unto Abram in a vision, saying, Fear not, Abram, I am thy shield, and thy exceeding great reward." (Gen. 15:1). If the pre-existing Christ is Abraham's shield, he's Abraham's protective garment too! Hebrews 11:11-19, Abraham's story was a "figure" of Christ, & pre-existence themes, such as those who confessed they were strangers & pilgrims on the earth. Heaven was likened unto a country whence they came out of, & hoped to return to, & like a heavenly city that God had prepared. Abraham rejoiced to see Christ's day, & saw it, & was glad, (John 8:56-59), but also Christ was before Abraham, pre-existing. The pre-existing Christ, as Lord, appears to Abraham & tells him how Christ is "thy exceeding great reward." Many early Christian art works show the pre-existing Christ appearing to the ancient prophets, beginning with Adam & Eve, on down through the centuries. Thus, Christ could point out how all the prophets had prophesied of him & his day, (Acts 28:23, 2:25-36, 8:28-35, 10:43, 13:27, 32-37, 17:1-5, 26:22-29, Luke 18:31, 24:13-48, 2 Tim. 3:14-17, Matt. 2:4-6, John 5:39-46, 7:48, 8:52-59, 20:9, 1 Cor. 15:3-4). The pre-existing Christ, had Abraham look at the stars & how countless they are for mankind to try to count. He then tells him, "So shall thy seed be." (Gen. 15:5). Anciently, stars are symbolic of spirits, & stars are a type of degree of glory in resurrected bodies, or in pre-existence spirits, (1 Cor. 15:40-42, Rev. 12:4-5, 1/3 of the stars-spirits fell from heaven). Abraham also had a SODE experience, which is Hebrew for "secret deliberations," where a prophet is returned to the Council in Heaven & taught afresh what assignment he was given, his foreordained mission for his particular mission in earth life. (Stephen D. Ricks, & LeGrand L. Barker, Who Shall Ascend Into the Hill of the Lord? The Psalms In Israel's Temple Worship In The Old Testament and in the Book of Mormon, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Books, 2009), 139). In Abraham's SODE experience, he saw the council in heaven, star-spirits there, (LDS Scriptures: Abraham 3:18-19). Abraham was told of how God was amongst the different intelligences, the noble & great spirits, & that these souls were good. They would be made the rulers, etc., on the earth, & Abraham was one of these pre-existing spirits, or stars. If they keep their first & second estate, they will have "glory added upon their heads forever and ever." (Abraham 3:18-28). Because Christ was chosen to be the redeemer, Satan was angry & kept not his first estate & many followed after him, 1/3 of the stars-spirits fell, (Rev. 12:4-5; 2 Peter 2:4, Jude 6, 13). Christ told the Jews that before Abraham, "I AM," (John 8:51-59), & he is later confronted for teaching that he, being a man, makes himself a God, so he reminds them that it was written in their law, that "ye are gods." He cites either Ps. 82, or Isa. 41:23. If Ps. 82, there is more council in heaven, pre-existence themes. The 11th Quran Cave discoveries, lines 9-10 & 25, has Psalm 82, tell about how: "God (Elohim) has taken His place in the divine Council; in the midst of the gods He will hold judgment," Line 25, is said to be in reference to one of the divine beings there, Melchizedek, "Your God...." (Arnold Toynbee, (Editor), The Crucible of Christianity, Judaism, Hellenism and The Historical Background to the Christian Faith, (New York, and Cleveland, World Publishing Company, CR Thames & Hudson, 1969), 229-230).

820- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 95, 343, end note 101: Origen, De Principiis, II.9.3, 5, The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 4:290–91.

821- Dr. Paul Carus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 138–39, 408–09. Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 61–64. Arnold Toynbee, (Editor), The Crucible of Christianity, Judaism, Hellenism and The Historical Background to the Christian Faith, (New York, and Cleveland, World Publishing Company, CR Thames & Hudson, 1969). The Ante-Nicene Father, vol. 4, p. 241—249, Origen, A.D. 185-230-254, Origen De Principiis, Preface 8—10; Book 1, chapter 1; chapter 2, p. 475, book 3 chapter 28 & p. 509 book 4 chapters 29-30 & p.547 book 5 chapters x & xiv-xix p.549-551, Origen Against Celsus. Huge Nibley's 1953 radio show series on KSL in Salt Lake City, Utah, entitled: Time Vindicates The Prophets, later published in the series, The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, see volume 3. Celsus 6. 62. T. Edgar Lyon, Apostasy to Restoration, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1960; Course of Study for the Melchizedek Priesthood Quorums of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, CR 1960, David O. McKay), 89-91. Noel B. Reynolds, & others, Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies, FARMS, & Brigham Young University BYU, 2005), 24, 159– 162, 218– 293, see: David L. Paulsen, Divine Embodiment: The Earliest Christian Understanding of God, (in Early Christians in Disarray, p. 239–293). Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1944, 1972), vol. 3, Caesar and Christ, A History of Roman Civilization and of Christianity from their beginnings to A.D. 325, p. 588: "Platonist and Stoic denunciations of matter and the body as evil..."

822- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 95–96, 343, end note 103, Origen, De Principiis, II.9.6 The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 4:292.

823- William G.T. Shedd, D.D., A History of Christian Doctrine, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, third edition, 1883), Vol. II, p. 5-9, & notes. John 9:2, Interpreter's Dictionary of the Bible, III:869, Rev.12, Jude 6; 2 Pet.2:4, 1 John 3:8; Ezk.28:13-19; Isa.14:18, etc. Bible (Apocryphal to the Protestants): "As a child I was naturally gifted, and a good soul fell to my lot; or rather, being good, I entered an undefiled body." (Wisdom of Solomon, 8:19-21). J. Eugene Seach, Ancient Texts and Mormonism, (Murray, Utah: Sounds of Zion, 1983), p.31. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, Vol. 4, p. 263-4, & 341-3, & note 6 on p.342. The Nicene And Post-Nicene Fathers, = (TN&PNF), Vol. XIV, The 7 Ecumenical Councils of the Undivided Church, (Their Canons and Dogmatic Decrees), Philip Schaff, D.D., LL.D., & Henry Wace, D.D., p. 312, 316-7. Right Rev. Charles Joseph Hefele, D.D., Late Bishop of Rottenburg, Formerly Professor of Theology in the University of Tübingen, A History of the Councils of the Church, From the Original Documents, (T. & T. Clark, 38 George Street, U.S.A.: Edinburgh, 1895; trans. from German & edited by William R. Clark, M.A., HON, LL.D., F.R.S.C., Prof. of Philosophy in Trinity College, Toronto; HON. Prof. in Hobart College, Geneva, NY. First AMS ed. 1972; (NY, NY: AMS Press, Inc., 1972), vol. 4, p. 217-18, AD. 451-680. Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (New York, London, Toronto & Sydney: Gineeo Books, 2007), 68, 73-75, 100, 102, See on internet: Mâcon Cité de Dieu La Augustinus, council in heaven, fall of angels, black in color. See also: Angels are falling - Bible moralisée, Bruges 1455-1460, Den Haag, Koninklijke Bibliotheek, 76, E 7, fol. 1r. David Pickering, Cassell, Dictionary of Superstitions, (Strand, London: Wellington House, 1995, A Cassell Book, 1995), 34. L. M. J. Delaisse, (Commentaries), Medieval Miniatures, From the Department of Manuscripts, Formerly the "Library of Burgundy" (New York: Harry N. Abrams, Inc., The Royal Library of Belgium, 96-98. James Charles Wall, Devils, (London, England: Methuen & Company, 1904, pages 40-41, 48 & 70. <https://archive.org/details/devils00wallgoog> - <https://archive.org/details/devils00chargooq> - Detroit: Singing Tree Press, Book Tower, 1968, reissued). Internet Archives: (1853), <https://archive.org/details/historicalandcr00quingooq> (1895), <https://archive.org/details/questionablesha0lhowegoog> (1907), <https://archive.org/details/questionablesha00howegoog> - (1916), <https://archive.org/details/leatherwoodgod02howegoog> - (others), <https://archive.org/search.php?query=Wall%2C%20Devils> - Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1981), p.10 & 114. Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 255, 257-58, 378, 436. Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 48-49.

824- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 96, 343-44, end notes 102-106. Origen, De Principiis, II, 9.3, 5-8, III.3.5, The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 4:290-93, 337.

825- Tad Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 130-1, 426, n.82-3: ANF 4:292, 336-37. Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 96, 343-44, n.102-6. Origen, De Principiis, II, 9.3, 5-8, III.3.5, ANF, 4:290-93, 337.

826- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. 581, 592-594, Origen Against Celsus.

827- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (NY: Oxford University Press, 2010), 98, 344, end note 117: Origen, De Principiis, III.61, The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 4:344.

828- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. 595, Origen Against Celsus.

829- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. 595, Origen Against Celsus. William G. Rusch, Series Editor, Sources of Early Christian Thought, The Trinitarian Controversy, (Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1980). Berard L. Marthaler, O.F.M. Conv., The Creed, (Mystic, Connecticut: Twenty-Third Publications, 1987, second printing). Radio show on KLO 1430 AM radio, Drive Time Live, The Mills Crenshaw Show, 5-9-2016, Salt Lake City, Utah, guests: Van Hale and Martin Tanner, some of the topics, Christology issues. Comments by Van Hale in response to questions about Christology, the Arian controversy, the Nicene Creed of 325 A.D., how far about for 40 years or so, they flipped back and forth about accepting the terms or language used in the creed, then recalled it. Banished or exiled those who objected to others, at first found in favor with the Emperor Constantine's decrees, but then later recalled those banished, who then were in accepted in their dogmas. Back and forth, went the polemics, & controversies, that weren't ever resolved for decades after 325 A.D. Also, on the radio show series, on Out of the Best Books, KZZI 1510 AM radio, West Jordan, Utah, 1-23-1988. Host: Darell Thorpe & co-host, Langford Loyd, guest: Van Hale, show entitled: Godhead Issues - Early Christian History on the Nicene Creed and Trinity. Now archived on the Internet Archives, <https://archive.org/details/GodheadIssues-EarlyChristianHistoryOnTheNiceneCreedTrinity>.

830- Dr. Hugu Nibley, 1987, The World of the Prophets, The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, & Foundation For Ancient Research and Mormon Studies, = F.A.R.M.S.), Vol. 2, p. 77, 157-8. Radio series, during the 1950s, by Hugu Nibley, Time Vindicates The Prophets. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. 433, 566-67, 590-91, 595-98, 603, 607, 637, 643-45, & 648-9, Origen Against Celsus, p. 626, see also p.621, for Origen on the incorporeal God the Father.

831- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. 595, Origen Against Celsus.

832- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. 596-597, Origen Against Celsus.

833- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. 597, Origen Against Celsus.

834- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. 597, Origen Against Celsus.

835- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. 637-39, Origen Against Celsus.

836- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. 648-9, & 651, Isaiah 9:6.

837- James Barker, The Divine Church, Down through Change, Apostasy there from, & Restoration, (SLC, Utah: Council of the 12 Apostles of the LDS Church, 1952), 56-7, & note 25, Mourtret, Les Origines chretiennes, p. 308.

838- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 47, 335, end notes 31-33. James H. Charlesworth, The Old Testament Pseudepigrapha, (Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1983), 2:713, Prayer of Joseph, fragment A 2-3, trans. J. Z. Smith. Origen, Commentary on John, II.25, trans. Allan Menzies, in The Ante-Nicene Fathers, ed. Alexander Roberts & James Donaldson (Grand Rapids, Mich.: Eerdmans, 1977), 10:341.

839- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 426.

840- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 73, 417, note 37: The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 4:240-41, Origen.

841- G. W. Butterworth, Origen On First Principles, Mass.: Peter Smith 1973, Harper & Row, 1966, intro. 32-34.

- 842- Joseph Wilson Trigg, Origen, The Bible & Philosophy in the 3rd-century Church, 1946, 1952, 1971, 1973, & John Knox Press, Atlanta 1983, 228-9.
- 843- James Barker, The Divine Church, Down through Change, Apostasy there from, & Restoration, (SLC, Utah: Council of the 12 Apostles of the LDS Church, 1952), 47, Irenaeus, Against Heresies, IV, 4. Hebrews, chap. 1.
- 844- T. Edgar Lyon, Apostasy to Restoration, (SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Co., 1960; Study Manuel for the Melchizedek Priesthood Quorums, LDS, CR 1960, David O. McKay), 125-6.
- 845- Jeffrey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988), 78-9. Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 97-98.
- 846- The New Encyclopedia Britannica, Chicago: Auckland, Geneva, London, Manila, Paris, Rome, Seoul, Sydney, Tokyo, Toronto: Robert P. Gwinn, Chairman, Board of Directors; Peter B. Norton, President; Philip W. Goetz, Editor in Chief, first edition, 1768-1771, 15th edition, 1974-1988), volume 16, p. 308.
- 847- Darell Thorpe, Ye Are Gods... Children of the Most High (SLC, Utah: RH&PS, 1993, revised 1994-96, rough draft at Amazon). The Lost Books of The Bible & The Forgotten Books of Eden, (USA, Newfoundland: Alpha House, 1926 & 27, World Bible Pub), Forgotten Books of Eden, 13- 49, Isa.14:12-19; Ezk.28:13-19; 1 Jn.3:7-11; Rev.8:10, 12:4-9; Jude 6; 2 Pet.2:4.
- 848- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 98.
- 849- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 94-98, 342-44, endnotes 102-117. Origen, De Principiis, in The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 4:290-93, 344, etc. See also: G. W. Butterworth, Origen On First Principles, (Gloucester, Massachuset: Peter Smith 1973, & Harper & Row, 1966). Joseph Wilson Trigg, Origen (The Bible and Philosophy in the Third-century Church), (Atlanta: 1946, 1952, 1971, 1973, & John Knox Press, 1983).
- 850- Gen. 2:4-5, Eph. 3:3-19, Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 91-98, 344, end note 117. Origen, De Principiis, III.6.1, ANF, 4:344.
- 851- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (NY: Oxford University Press, 2010), 98, see also p. 91-98. G. W. Butterworth, Origen On First Principles, (Gloucester, Massachuset: Peter Smith 1973, & Harper & Row, 1966). Joseph Wilson Trigg, Origen (The Bible and Philosophy in the Third-century Church), (Atlanta: 1946, 1952, 1971, 1973, & John Knox Press, 1983).
- 852- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 91-101. Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1993), 3-77, etc. William G. Rusch, The Trinitarian Controversy, (Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1980). Roland H. Bainton, Behold the Christ, (U.S.A.: Harper, 1974). James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 221-427. Roland H. Bainton in The Renaissance, Six Essays, (NY: Harper Torchbooks, The Academy Library, Harper & Row Publishers, CR 1953, The Metropolitan Museum of Art, and 1962, Erwin Panofsky), Essay IV: Man, God, & The Church in the Age of the Renaissance, by Bainton, p. 77-96. Sunstone Magazine, Winter 1975, article by Keith Norman, entitled: Divinization: The Forgotten Teaching of Early Christianity. R. G. Hamerton-Kelly, (Professor of the New Testament McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago), Society for New Testament Studies Monograph Series 21, Pre-Existence, Wisdom & The Son of Man, A Study of the Idea of Pre-existence in the New Testament, (Cambridge Un. Press; Cambridge, Great Britain, 1973). Keith Norman, Deification: The Content of Athanasian Soteriology. Ph.D. diss., Duke Un., 1980.
- 853- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, and the Promised Restoration, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book, 2006). T. Edgar Lyon, Apostasy to Restoration, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1960; Course of Study for the Melchizedek Priesthood Quorums of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latterday Saints, CR 1960, David O. McKay). Richard R. Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, (USA, Utah: Cedar Fort Inc., 2009). Thomas Armitage, D.D., LL.D., A History Of The Baptists, (New York: Bryah, Taylor, & Chicago: Morningside, 1887), <https://archive.org/details/ahistorybaptist00armigoog> - <https://archive.org/details/historyofbaptis00armi> (1893 edition). Robin Lane Fox, Pagans and Christians, (New York: Alfred A. Knopf Inc., 1987). Richard Fletcher, The Barbarian Conversion, From Paganism to Christianity, (Berkeley, Los Angeles: University of California Press, 1997, first paper back edition, 1999. Originally published in New York: Holt & Co., 1998). Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1940s), 11 volumes, see vols 3-11. Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Noel B. Reynolds, (Editor), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research & Mormon Studies, and Brigham Young University Press, 2005). John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (New York: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882). Internet Archives, (1976), <https://archive.org/details/MonumentalChristianity> - <https://archive.org/details/monumentalchris00lundgoog> - Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (Ben Lomond, California: Foundation for Apologetic Information & Research, F.A.I.R., 1999). Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005). Paul Johnson, A History of Christianity, (New York: Atheneum, 1976). Rev. Alexander Hislop, The Two Babylons (or The Papal Worship Proved to be the Worship of Nimrod and His Wife), (England: A & C Black, LTD., 1916; American editions, Neptune, New Jersey: Loizeaux Brothers, 1943 and 1956). Reader's Digest, Jesus And His Times, (Pleasantville, New York and Montreal, Canada: The Reader's Digest Associations, Inc., 1990). After Jesus, The Triumph of Christianity, (Pleasantville, New York and Montreal, Canada: The Reader's Digest Associations, Inc., 1992). J. M. Sjodahl, The Reign of Antichrist, Or The Great "Falling Away," (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1913).
- 854- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 5, p. 3, & 209, Hippolytus, Treatise On Christ And Anti-Christ, 26.
- 855- Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, orig. pub. in Chicago: Open Court Pub. Co., 1900), 236-239, art on p. 236, see also foot note * on p. 239: See the Acta Sanctorum of the Bolandists for January 17, which is St. Anthony's Day. Also several Latin translations of St. Antony's letters, in Bibliotheca Patrum.
- 856- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford University Press, 2010, 71-78, 339-40.
- 857- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford University Press, 2010, 77-78.

858- Howard Hibbard, Michelangelo, (Colorado: Westview Press, A Member of Perseus Books, L.L.C., 1974, 2nd edition, Icon edition, 1998). Ross King, Michelangelo & the Pope's Ceiling, (NY: Walker & Company, 2003). Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings,...., (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), Prologue X. See also: Western Civilization, Burns, Lerner, & Meacham, Vol.1, p.428, The Creation of Adam by Michelangelo. One of a series of frescoes on the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel in Rome from 1508 to 1512 A.D. Civilisation (A Personal View), by Kenneth Clark, 1969, Harper & Row, Pub. N.Y., & Evanston, pp.128-9, "Divine Wisdom" as depicted by Raphael, p.132-3. Pre-existence Wisdom & The Son of Man, Hamerton-Kelly, p.18-41, etc. TANF 1:489, 2:12, 35, & 514. Christian Legends, (Library Of the World's Myths & Legends), by George Every, 1970, & 1987, p.20-5, etc. Arts & Ideas, (7th Ed.), by William Fleming, Pub. by Holt, Rinehart and Winston, N.Y., etc., 1980, 1974, 1963, 1955; & C/R 1986 by CBS College Pub., p.223. Roland H. Bainton, The Horizon of Christianity, (NY: American Heritage Pub. Co., Inc., Book Trade Distribution by Harper & Row, Publishers, 1964), see "CREATION OF MAN:" Michelangelo's painting of God Page 268 stretching out his finger to Adam, Sistine Chapel. Ross King, Michelangelo & the Pope's Ceiling, (NY: Walker & Co., 2003), art works in between p. 182–3, & p. 243, 340–41, end note 11. Debates over the identities of whom is around God the Father, in the huge blanket type canopy. The identity of the women under God's arm differs from one art historian to the next. Some say that she is the spirit of Eve, not yet born, others say she is the Virgin Mary, & the Christ child is near by her, not yet born too. Others say she is Wisdom, (Sapientia), Prov.3:19, 4:7-11; 8:12-27. Others also think that other figures wrapped up in the enfolding blanket type canopy is Lucifer and a devilish companion. See: Leo Steinberg's "Who's Who in Michelangelo's Creation of Adam: A Chronology of the Picture's Reluctant Self-Revelation," Art Bulletin (1992): 552-66. Howard Hibbard, Michelangelo, (Colorado: Westview Press, A Member of Perseus Books, L.L.C., 1974, 2nd ed., Icon ed., 1998), 117, 137, fig. 86–88, the creation of Adam, is said in this source to be an antetype of the birth of Christ, & the woman identified is Mary, while God the Father's left hand finger touches the un-born baby Jesus.

859- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 78–79, etc. Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1981), Lucifer, The Devil In the Middle Age, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1984), The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988), A History of Heaven, The Singing Silence, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1997). Bernard J. Bamberger, Fallen Angels, Soldiers of Satan's Realm, (Philadelphia, Jewish Publication Society of America, 1952). Gustav Davidson, 1967, A Dictionary Of Angels, Including the Fallen Angels, (New York; London: The Free Press, and Collier-Macmillan Limited). Vinita Hampton Wright, A Catalogue of Angels, The Heavenly, the Fallen, and the Holy Ones Among Us, (Brewster, Massachusetts: PARACLETE PRESS, 2006, second printing, 2007). Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978). Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (Armonk, New York & London England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc. 1989). Olga Opova, trans. by Kathleen Cook, Vladimir Ivanov and Lenina Sorokina, Russian Illuminated Manuscripts, (Leningrad: Aurora Art Publishing, 1984). Carl Nordenfalk, Early Medieval Book Illumination, (New York: Skira Rizzoli, 1st published in Early Medieval Paintings, 1957. Paperback edition, New York: Rizzoli Interna. Publishers, 1988). Edith Rothe, Mediaeval Book Illumination In Europe (The Collection of the German Republic), (New York: W. W. Norton & Company). Translated from the German Buchmalerei aus zwolf Jahrhunderten, by Mary Whittall, (Berlin, Germany: Union Verlag (VOB), 1966). This edition (London, England: Thames & Hudson, 1968). Walter Cahn, Romanesque Bible Illumination, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1982). Nigel Morgan, Early Gothic Manuscripts, II, 1250 - 1285, A Survey of Manuscripts Illuminated in the British Isles - General Editor: J. J. G. Alexander, (London: Harvey Miller, 1988). A. C. Cawley, (Editor), Everyman and Medieval Miracle Plays, (London & Vermont: J. M. Dent & Charles W. Tuttle, first published 1956, last edition 1974, new edition, 1993). Sylvan Barnet, Morton Berman & William Burto, (Editors, Introduction), The Genius of the Early English Theater, The Complete Texts of Seven Great Plays Of Medieval and Renaissance English Drama, (New York, New York & Scarborough, Ontario: A Mentor Book from New American Library, Times Mirror, The New English Library Limited, London, 1962). George Every, 1970 & 1987, Christian Legends, (New York: Peter Bedrick Books). Every, Christian Mythology, (London, England; New York, U.S.A.; Sydney Toronto: The Hamlyn Pub. Group Limited, 1970, and Middlesex, England: Hamlyn House, Feltham, 1973). Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900). Fredk, WM. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Christ Lore (Being the Legends, Traditions, Myths, Symbols, & Superstitions of The Christian Church), (London: 1902, republished, Detroit: Gale Research Company, Book Tower, 1969). https://archive.org/details/ChristLore\(1902edition\))

860- ANF 8:52-6, & 64, & 105-110. James L. Barker, The Divine Church, Down through Change, Apostasy there from, and Restoration, (SLC, Utah: Council of 12 Apostles of the LDS Church, 1952), 56, & note 19, Tixeront, Histoire des Dogmes, vol.1, p. 404; Giovanni Papini's book: The Devil, p.81. Jeffery Burton Russell's 3 books: Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, 1981; Lucifer, The Devil in the Middle Ages, 1984, The Prince of Darkness.

861- James Barker, The Divine Church, Down through Change, Apostasy there from, & Restoration, SLC, Utah: Council of 12 Apostles of the LDS Church, 1952, 56, & note 19, Tixeront, Histoire des Dogmes, vol.1, p. 404.

862- Jeffrey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness,... (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988), 82-3.

863- Coulange, The Life of The Devil, p. 4. Lactantius, Divinæ Institutiones, 2, 9.

864- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 91–101. Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (New York, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993), 3–77, etc. William G. Rusch, The Trinitarian Controversy, (Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1980). Roland H. Bainton, Behold the Christ, (U.S.A.: Harper, 1974). James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 221–427. Roland H. Bainton in The Renaissance, Six Essays, (New York: Harper Torchbooks, The Academy Library, Harper & Row Publishers, CR 1953, The Metropolitan Museum of Art, and 1962, Erwin Panofsky), Essay IV: Man, God, And The Church in the Age of the Renaissance, by Bainton, p. 77—96. Sunstone Magazine, Winter 1975, article by Keith Norman, entitled: Divinization: The Forgotten Teaching of Early Christianity. R. G. Hamerton-Kelly, (Professor of the New Testament McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago), Society for New Testament Studies Monograph Series 21, Pre-Existence, Wisdom And The Son of Man, A Study of the Idea of Pre-existence in the New Testament, (Cambridge University Press; Cambridge, Great Britain, 1973). Keith Norman, Deification: The Content of Athanasian Soteriology. Ph.D. diss., Duke Un., 1980.

- 865- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 100–101, 344, end notes 3–5: Arnobius, Against the Heathen, trans. Hamilton Bryce & Hugh Campbell, I.28–29, II.15, in The Ante-Nicene Fathers, ed. Alexander Roberts & James Donaldson, (Grand Rapids, Mich.: Eerdmans, 1977), 6:420, 440.
- 866- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 83, 341, end note 47: Fessenden & Co., Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge, (Brattleboro, Vt.: Fessenden, 1836), 964, <https://archive.org/details/fessendencosency00brow-https://archive.org/stream/fessendencosency00brow/page/964/mode/2up> - article on the pre-existence, see it in the Encyclopedia Britannica, eleventh edition, (New York: 1910), 22:277, <https://archive.org/stream/encyclopdiaabri22chisrich/page/276/mode/2up> - 1911, volume 22, pages 276–77, <https://archive.org/details/encyclopdiaabri22chisrich> - Louis Coulange (Father Louis Coulange), The Life of the Devil (London, England: Alfred A. Knopf, 1929, translated from the French by Stephen Haden Quest), 9, Irenaeus 4, 40, 3; 5, 24, 4. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 1, p. 462-3, Book 4, preface, 4. Irenaeus Against Heresies Raymond A. Moody, Jr., M.D., Reflections On Life After Life, (Toronto; New York; London & Sydney, Bantam Books, 1977, 6th printing, Nov. 1983), p. 12-13, 28, note 1: Edith Hamilton & Huntington Cairns, eds., The Collected Dialogues of Plato, trans. Hugh Tredennick, Bollingen Series 71 (New York: Pantheon Books, 1961), p. 844. Plato, The Republic, Book X, written about 360 B.C.E., Translated by Benjamin Jowett.
- 867- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 101, 344, end note 5: Arnobius, Against the Heathen, I.29, The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 6:420.
- 868- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 107, 345, end notes 31–32. Arnobius, Against the Heathen, I.29, II.47, 51, ANF, 6:420, 451–53.
- 869- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 344–45.
- 870- James Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, Utah: DNP, 1960, 39–71, 241–42, 320, 335–341.
- 871- Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (New York, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993), 14, 49-61, 75-77, 82-83, 89-90, 94-102, 109, 116, 121, 129, 137, 138, 149, 262-73.
- 872- Owen Chadwick, A History of Christianity, (Great Britain: George Weidenfeld & Nicolson Ltd., 1995), 42, The garden of Eden; from the Bedford Book of Hours. 3-faced-trinity, with Adam & Eve, 1420. 1 example in many.
- 873- R. G. Hamerton-Kelly, (Professor of the New Testament McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago), Society for New Testament Studies Monograph Series 21, Pre-Existence, Wisdom And The Son of Man, A Study of the Idea of Pre-existence in the New Testament, (Cambridge University Press; Cambridge, Great Britain, 1973). Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (NY: Oxford University Press, 2010).
- 874- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 71, 217, n. 2-3: Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, (NY: Simon & Schuster, 1940s-1950s), 11 vols, (1944), 3: Caesar & Christ, p. 501-502, 695, n.14-19: H. Graetz, History of the Jews, (Phila., 1891), 6 vols., 2:186. Philo, Quod Deus sit immutabilis, 12. Philo, De mundi opificio, I, 4. Dean W. R. Inge, The Philosophy of Plotinus, (Lon.: 1929), 2 vols., 1:98. Philo, De confusione linguarum, 28. A. Sachar, History of the Jews, (NY. 1932), 110. Philo, De vita contemplativa. J. Eugene Seach, Ancient Texts and Mormonism, (Murray, Utah: Sounds of Zion, 1983), Seach, The Heavenly Council, Mysteries & Sacred Ordinances, (unpublished research paper), offers sources & commentaries on ancient Jewish pre-existence themes, the council in heaven, & the polytheistic concepts in ancient Jewish thought. Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: FARMS, & Deseret Book), vol.1: Old Testament and Related Subjects, (1986), vol.2: Enoch The Prophet, (1986). Angelo S. Rappoport, Ph. D., Ancient Israel Myths and Legends, (NY: Bonanza Books, 1987), 3 vols. in 1. Joshua Moses Bennett, The Writings of the Rabbis & Other Important Discoveries. (SLC, Utah: Morning Star, 1990). Stephen D. Ricks, & LeGrand L. Barker, Who Shall Ascend Into the Hill of the Lord?... SLC, Utah: Eborn Books, 2009, 36, 47-458. Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone?, Springville, Utah: CFI, 2005, 19-25, 29-47.
- 875- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft 1994), 51-119. J. Eugene Seach, Ancient Texts & Mormonism, (Murray, Utah: Sounds of Zion, 1983). Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo & SLC, Utah: FARMS, & Deseret Book), vol.1: Old Testament & Related Subjects, (1986), vol.2: Enoch The Prophet, (1986). Joshua Moses Bennett, The Writings of the Rabbis & Other Important Discoveries. (SLC, Utah: Morning Star, 1990). Stephen D. Ricks, & LeGrand L. Barker, Who Shall Ascend Into the Hill of the Lord?... SLC, Utah: Eborn Books, 2009, 36, 47-458. Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone?, Springville, Utah: CFI, 2005, 19-25, 29-47.
- 876- John 6:32-57, 8:17-59, 10:15-39, 19:7, Mark 14:61-62, Matt.26:63, Luke 22:66-71. Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? Springville, Ut.: CFI 2005. James Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Ut.: Deseret News Press 1960. Richard R. Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, Ut.: CFI 2009. Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Ut.: Deseret Book 2006. R. G. Hamerton-Kelly, Pre-Existence, Wisdom And The Son of Man, A Study of the Idea of Pre-existence in the New Testament, Cambridge Un. Press 1973. Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 71-75, etc.
- 877- James Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 39–71, 241–42, 320, 335–341. Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (New York, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993). Richard R. Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, (USA, Utah: Cedar Fort Inc., 2009).
- 878- Trinity, Christology & Arian controversies clashing into each other, with pre-existence themes batter about in the whole mess too). James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 39–71, 241–42, 320, 335–36, & 341, 337, foot note 11: Phillip Schaff, History of the Christian Church, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: Wm. B. Eerdmans Publishing Co., 1950), 8 vols., vol. 3, p. 705, Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (New York, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993). Richard R. Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, (USA, Utah: Cedar Fort Inc., 2009). Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 71–103.
- 879- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 70.
- 880- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 129-30.
- 881- Richard Fletcher, The Barbarian Conversion, From Paganism to Christianity, (Berkeley, Los Angeles: University of California Press, 1997, first paper back edition, 1999. Originally published in New York: Holt & Co., 1998), 74–75, 99–100, 104–5, 121, 304, 312. James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 238–271. William G. Rusch, The Trinitarian

Controversy, (Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1980). Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 100–2.

882- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 130-31.

883- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 120-31, n. 27-28, 222; Edward L. Cutts, Constantine the Great: The Union of the State & the Church, Lon.: Society of Promoting Christian Knowledge, 1881, 296-335.

884- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 91–104. Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, NY, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993, 3–91.

885- Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1993), 47–118. James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 239–41, foot notes 2–5; Mourret-Thompson, A History of the Catholic Church, Vol. II, p. 6, & 11. Socrates, Ecclesiastical History, 1, 5 (Nicene Fathers, Second Series, II, 3). Manuel d' Histoire Ecclesiastique, Vol. I. p. 151, 152.

886- James Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 242–43.

887- The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, 1:82-4. Eusebius.

888- N&PNF, 1:82-84, Eusebius. Justin's Apol. I. 59ff.; Clement of Alexandria's Cohort. ad Gentes, chap. 6; and Tertullian's Apol. chap. 47. Compare also Eusebius' Praep. Evang., Bks. IX. and X. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 8, p. 74, & 91, Recognitions of Clement, Book 1, see chapters 51-52, underline added; For another translation see also: The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, The World And The Prophets, vol. 3, p.168, note 9, p. 299, & 311, J.-P. Migne, Patrologiae Cursus Completus ... Series Graeca (Paris: 1857-1866), 1:1236.

889- The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, vol.1, p. 84-5, Eusebius.

890- The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, vol.1, p. 85–86, Eusebius.

891- N&PNF, 1:85–87, Eusebius, compare Justin Martyr's Apol. I. 46, in Ante-Nicene Fathers, 1:178.

892- The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, vol. 1, p. 82-88.

893- Coulange, The Life of The Devil, p.14, Eusebius, Præparatio Evangelica, 7, 16.

894- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 99–103. Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (New York, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993), 3–91, etc.

895- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 259, foot note 8; Fernand Mourret, Histoire Générale de l' Eglise, (Paris: Bloud & Gay, 1921–1938), 9 vols., vol. II, p. 50. Eusebius of Caesarea baptismal formula in his own church, contains pre-existence of Christ themes.

896- James Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 242–44, 251–52, 258–59.

897- James Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 242, 259.

898- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 91–113. Jeffrey B. Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil & the Power of Good in History, Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988, 35. The Macmillan Illustrated Encyclopedia of Myths & Legends, Arthur Cotterell, Pub. by Macmillan Pub., Co., NY, 1989 Marshall Editions Lim., p.157. Medieval Miniatures, (from the Dept. of Manuscripts, formerly the Library of Burgundy. The Royal Library of Belgium. Commentaries by L.M.J. Delaisse, Pub. Harry N. Abrams, NY., p.96-8, Portion of a 6-part depiction. "The Creation & Fall of the Angels". Historiated Bible of Guiard Des Moulins, 1st part, Paris, About 1410, A.D., Ms. 9001. f. 19. Bernard J. Bamberger, Fallen Angels, Soldiers of Satan's Realm, Philadelphia, Jewish Pub. Soc. f America, 1952. Gustav Davidson, 1967, A Dictionary Of Angels, Including the Fallen Angels, (NY; Lon.: The Free Press, & Collier-Macmillan Limited).

899- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 91–15, 346, end notes 51–54; Robert J. O' Connell, The Origin of the Soul in St. Augustine's Later Works, (New York: Fordham University Press, 1987), 11–12. Traducianism, in Oxford Dictionary of the Christian Church, ed., F. L. Cross and E. A. Livingstone (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1997), 1636.

900- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010). Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1981), Lucifer, The Devil In the Middle Age, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1984), The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988). R. G. Hamerton-Kelly, (Professor of the New Testament McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago), Society for New Testament Studies Monograph Series 21, Pre-Existence, Wisdom And The Son of Man, A Study of the Idea of Pre-existence in the New Testament, (Cambridge University Press; Cambridge, Great Britain, 1973). Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900). William Greenough Thayer Shedd, D.D., (1820–1894), A History of Christian Doctrine, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, third edition, 1883). Bernard J. Bamberger, Fallen Angels, Soldiers of Satan's Realm, (Philadelphia, Jewish Publication Society of America, 1952). G. W. Butterworth, Origen On First Principles, (Gloucester, Massachuset: Peter Smith 1973, & Harper & Row, 1966). Gustav Davidson, 1967, A Dictionary Of Angels, Including the Fallen Angels, (New York; London: The Free Press, and Collier-Macmillan Limited). Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978). Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (Armonk, New York & London England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc. 1989). Darell Thorpe, The Pilgrimage and Struggles of the Human Family In and Through the Different Realms of Existences (1991). Thorpe, The Grand Pilgrimage: (Footnoting In & "Out of the Best Books"), Vol.1, Part 1, Issues 1-4, April-Aug. 1992. Thorpe, The Pre-existence: Our Pre-earth Life As Spirits In A "Family In Heaven" (1992). James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker). Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (New York, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993). Noel B. Reynolds, (Editor), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research & Mormon Studies, and Brigham Young University Press, 2005). Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, and the Promised Restoration, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book, 2006). Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005). William G. Rusch, The Trinitarian Controversy, (Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1980). John Lawrence Mosheim, D.D., An Ecclesiastical History, (London: 1819, Translated by Archibald Maclaine), 6 vols. Samuel Cheetham, A History of the Christian Church During the First

- Six Centuries, (London, New York: Macmillan and Company Limited, 1894, 1905). J. Tixeront, Histoire des Dogmas dans l'Antiquité Chrétienne, (Paris: J. Gabalda et Fils, 1928–1931), 3 volumes. Carl Gustav Adolf von Harnack (7 May 1851 – 10 June 1930) was a German Lutheran theologian and prominent church historian. Adolf von Harnack, History of Dogma, (London: Williams & Norgate, 1894), 7 vols., trans. from 3rd German ed., by Neil Buchanan. Internet Archives: <https://archive.org/details/historydogma01harngoog> 1, <https://archive.org/details/historyofdog02harn> 2. Other editions & other translators can be found on the Internet, probably even at the Internet Archives site. Links might still work, but also could be changed by the time of reading this. <https://archive.org/search.php?query=Adolf%20von%20Harnack%2C%20History%20of%20Dogma> - https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Adolf_von_Harnack -
- 901- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 103–107.
- 902- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 116.
- 903- Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, NY, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993, 3–91, Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 102. Elaine Pagels, The Gnostic Gospels, (New York: Random House, 1979). Kurt Rudolph, and Robert McLachlan Wilson (translation editor), Gnosis The Nature & History of Gnosticism, (San Francisco, California: Harper & Row Publishers, 1977, 1980, and 1984). Willis Barnstone & Marvin Meyer, (Editors), The Gnostic Bible, Gnostic Texts of Mystical Wisdom from the Ancient and Medieval Worlds, (Boston & London: Shambhala, 2003, 2009, Revised Edition, to include the Gospel of Judas).
- 904- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (NY: Oxford University Press, 2010), 102, 344, end notes 7 & 8: Henry Chadwick, Early Christian Thought and the Classical Tradition (Oxford: Clarendon, 1984), 166. Tertullian, Treatise on the Soul, XXXIV, The Ante-Nicene 3:215.
- 905- The Nicene and Post-Nicene Fathers, vol. 5, Gregory, Bishop of Nyssa, DATES OF TREATISES, TRANSLATED, Rupp (Dr. Julius), Gregors des Bischofs von Nyssa Leben und Meinungen. Leipzig, 1834. And: Heyns (S. P.), Disputatio Historico-Theologica de Gregorio Nysseno. Leyden, 1835.
- 906- The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, vol. 5, p. 11 & 17, Gregory of Nyssa, Prolegomena C. II & III.
- 907- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 102–103, 344, end note 9: Gregory of Nyssa, De hominis officio, 29, cited in Nicholas Costas, “‘To Sleep, Perchance to Dream’: The Middle State of Souls in Patristic and Byzantine Literature,” in Dumbarton Oaks Papers 55, ed. Alice-Mary Talbot, (Washington, D.C.: Harvard University Press, 2001), 97.
- 908- Coulange, The Life of The Devil, p. 5. Catechetical Lectures, 6, 5.
- 909- Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, 5:518–24, Gregory, Bishop of Nyssa, Baptism of Christ, AD 376.
- 910- Dr. Hugu W. Nibley, The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, (SLC & Provo, Utah: Deseret Book Company & F.A.R.M.S., 1986), vol. 1, Old Testament And Related Studies, p.157.
- 911- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 103, 344, end notes 10–11: Cyril of Jerusalem, Catechesis, IV.19–20, in Edward Yarnold, Cyril of Jerusalem (London: Routledge, 2000), 104.
- 912- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 106, 340, end note 23: Proclus, On the Eternity of the World (De Aeternitate Mundi), trans. Helen S. Lang and A. D. Macro (Berkeley: University of California Press, 2001), 69.
- 913- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford University Press, 2010, 106, 345, end notes 24–25, Michael O’ Laughlin, “The Anthropology of Evagrius Ponticus and Its Sources,” in Origen of Alexandria: His World and His Legacy, ed. Charles Kannengiesser and William L. Petersen (Notre Dame, Ind.: University of Notre Dame Press, 1988), 364–65. Elizabeth A. Clark, The Origenist Controversy: The Cultural Construction of an Early Christian Debate (Princeton, N.J.: Princeton University Press, 1992).
- 914- Jeffrey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988), 90–92.
- 915- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 106–7, 345, end notes 26–30: Richard A. Layton, Didymus the Blind and His Circle in Late-Antique Alexandria: Virtue and Narrative in Biblical Scholarship (Urbana: Un. of Illinois Press, 2004), 1.72–73, 109, 152.
- 916- James L. Barker, The Divine Church, Down through Change, Apostasy there from, & Restoration, (SLC, Utah: The Council of the 12 Apostles of the LDS Church, 1953), 2:130–131.
- 917- Coulange, The Life of the Devil, 14–15, Hilary, In Ps., 118, 16, 7; 64, 8.
- 918- Jeffrey Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, Ithaca & Lon.: Cornell Un. Press, 1981, 92—93.
- 919- Coulange, The Life of the Devil, 5–7, St. Thomas Aquinas, Summa, I, 63, 7. Suarez, De Angelis, 7, 16, 8.
- 920- Coulange, The Life of the Devil, pp. 5–7, Saint Thomas Aquinas, Summa, I, 63, 7; Perrin, Somme theologique, I, 35, 37; Suarez, De Angelis, 7, 16, 11.
- 921- Jeffrey Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca & London: Cornell Un. Press, 1981), 94.
- 922- Coulange, The Life of the Devil, p. 12–13.
- 923- Coulange The Life of the Devil 12–13 Origen, De Principiis, I, 5, 5; 4, 22; Homilies upon Numbers, 12, 4.
- 924- Coulange, The Life of the Devil, p. 15, St. Ambrose, In Ps., 118, 7, 8.
- 925- Coulange, The Life of the Devil, p. 15, St. Ambrose, In Ps., 118, 7, 8.
- 926- Coulange, The Life of the Devil, p. 15, St. Ambrose, In Ps., 118, 7, 8, 15, 16.
- 927- Dr. Hugu W. Nibley, Approaching Zion, p. 580–1, & note 73, on p.613, E. A. Wallis Budge, tr., “Discourse on Abbaton by Timothy, Archbishop of Alexandria,” in Coptic Martyrdoms, 6 vols. (London: British Museum, 1914), 4:225–49 (English translation on 474–96).
- 928- G. W. Butterworth, Origen On First Principles, (Gloucester, Massachuset: Peter Smith 1973, & Harper & Row, 1966), intro., xxxii–xxxiv. Noel B. Reynolds, (Editor), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research & Mormon Studies, and Brigham Young University Press, 2005), 256–268. Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (Ben Lomond, California: Foundation for Apologetic Information & Research, F.A.I.R., 1999), 89–90. Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 90–98.
- 929- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 113.

- 930- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 117.
- 931- Immanuel Velkovsky, World In Collision, (A Delta Book, 1950, & 1965), p. 176, note 4 & 5.
- 932- Coulange, The Life of the Devil, p. 15, Jerome, Ep., 22, 27.
- 933- Coulange, The Life of the Devil, p. 15, Jerome, Ep., 69, 9.
- 934- Coulange, The Life of the Devil, 15-16, Jerome, Commentary upon Psalm cxix. 2; Anecdota Maredsoliana, 3, 2, 224.
- 935- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 117, 346–47, end notes 60–64: Rufinus, Apology (to Apronianus), I.27–28, 43, The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, 3:449–50, 458, 472. Jerome's support of Origen & preexistence, see his Commentary on Ephesians, which was indebted to Origen's commentary on the same work. Both have been compared side by side in parallel edition by Ronald E. Heine, The Commentaries of Origen and Jerome on St. Paul's Epistle to the Ephesians, (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2002). Jerome, Letter 84, (to Pammachius and Oceanus), in Fremantle, Principal Works of St. Jerome, Jerome, Letter 126.1 (to Marcellinus and Anapsychia), dated by Fremantle as 412, other date it 410. See: The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, 6:180, 252.
- 936- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 117, 346–47, end notes 60–61: Rufinus, Apology (to Apronianus), I.27–28, 43, The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, 3:449–50, 458, 472.
- 937- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 117, 347, end note 62: Rufinus, Apology I.43, The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, 3:458.
- 938- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 117–18, 347, end note 64: Jerome, Letter 126.1 (to Marcellinus and Anapsychia), dated by Fremantle as 412, other date it 410. See: The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, 6:252.
- 939- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 426, foot note 2: Philip Schaff, History of the Christian Church, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: Wm. B. Eerdmans Publishing Co., 1950), 8 vols., vol. 3, p. 830–31.
- 940- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 117–18, 347, end note 64: Jerome, Letter 126.1 (to Marcellinus and Anapsychia), dated by Fremantle as 412, other date it 410. See: The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, 6:252. Thomas William Doane, Bible Myths, And Their Parallels In Other Religions, (NY: The Truth Seeker Company, 1882 & 1910). https://archive.org/details/biblemythsandthe00doanuoft_1882, https://archive.org/details/biblemythsandthe00doanuoft_1910 (1910 edition). https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Charles-Fran%C3%A7ois_Dupuis – <https://archive.org/stream/monumentalchris00lundgoog/page/n136/mode/2up> - John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, or the Art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, as Witnesses and Teachers of the One Catholic Faith and Practice, (New York: J. W. Bouton, 1876), p. 98. - <https://archive.org/details/monumentalchris00lundgoog> - <http://web.archive.org/web/20030627133557/http://www.restorationhistory.com/EC2002.HTM> - Julian the Apostate, [361—63 C.E.], says: "Moses says that the creator of the universe chose the Hebrew nation, that to that nation alone did he pay heed and cared for it, & he gives him charge of it alone. But how & by what sort of gods the other nations are governed he has not said a word" (100a)." Julian asks the Christians if Judaea was the only land that he chose to take thought for, what about the other lands? Why did God only send prophets to a certain land, "but to us no prophet, no oil of anointing, no teacher, no herald to announce his love for man which should one day, though late, reach even unto us also?...If he is the God of all of us alike, & the creator of all, why did he neglect us? (106d)." Robert Louis Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, (Yale University Press; New Haven and London, 1984), p. 162-3, 180-81. Porphyry, an early anti-Christian writer A.D. 3rd century, asks the Christians: "What about the souls of people who lived before Jesus and had no opportunity to believe?" Reader's Digest, Editor, Gayla Visalli, and others, 1992, After Jesus, The Triumph of Christianity, (Pleasantville, New York and Montreal, Canada: The Reader's Digest Associations, Inc., 1992), p.199-200. He also charged that the early Christians' God couldn't be the way, and the truth and the life, in which men and women could have only had access to God, since the time of Christ's appearing in the flesh. Hence, their God "excludes those who have gone before and those who have no knowledge of Jesus of Nazareth." Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, 162-63. Other critics, or "detractors in the Roman empire were able to sneer that he [Christ] had put his appearance "in some small corner of the earth somewhere." Jaroslav Pelikan, The Illustrated Jesus Through The Centuries, (New Haven & London: Yale University Press, 1997), p. 225–236. The early anti-Christian, Porphyry, according to Wilken, took a passage in John 14:6, & then asks: "If Christ says he is the way, the grace, & the truth, & claims that only in himself can believing souls find a way to God, what did the people who lived in the many centuries before Christ do[?] ...What became of the innumerable souls, who can in no way be faulted, if he in whom they were supposed to believe had not yet appeared among humankind?...Why did he who is called the Savior hide himself for so many ages?" It is arrogant for Christians to think that only since the coming of Christ have men & women had access to God. Realizing that Christians answered this objection by appealing to the antiquity of Jewish tradition, he says": "Let them not say that the human race was saved by the ancient Jewish law, since the Jewish law appeared & flourished in a small part of Syria, a long time after [the ancient cults in Italy], & only later made its way into the Italian lands, after the reign of Gaius Caesar, or probably during his reign. What, then, became of the souls of Romans or Latins who were deprived of the grace of Christ which had not yet come until the time of the Caesar? [Augustine, Ep. 102.8]..." Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, p.162. Origen, in response to Celsus, the early anti-Christian of the late 2nd cent., points out that Christ had not neglected other nations, had prophets in other nations, & went to other nations too, The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 4:407, 422-4, 444, 447, 464, 468, 557, 609, & 641; Chronicles 16:12-16, 20-24. <https://archive.org/stream/antenicenefather04robeuoft#page/608/mode/2up> - (page 609). <https://archive.org/stream/antenicenefather04robeuoft#page/640/mode/2up> - (page 641). <https://archive.org/stream/antenicenefather04robeuoft#page/556/mode/2up> - (page 557). <https://archive.org/stream/antenicenefather04robeuoft#page/468/mode/2up> - (page 468). <https://archive.org/stream/antenicenefather04robeuoft#page/464/mode/2up> - (pages 464–47). <https://archive.org/stream/antenicenefather04robeuoft#page/446/mode/2up> - <https://archive.org/stream/antenicenefather04robeuoft#page/422/mode/2up> - <https://archive.org/stream/antenicenefather04robeuoft#page/406/mode/2up> - The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 1, p. 173, chap. 3, p. 181-2, Justin Martyr, A.D. 110-165, 1st Apology, chap.54, & Ivi, p. 184-85, chapters lxiv-lxvi, Second Apology, p. 190, chapter 5. Darell Thorpe, The Pre-existence: Our Pre-earth Life as Spirits in a Family in Heaven, (SLC, Utah: Religious, Historical & Polemical Studies, 1992, 1993-1995, revised for internet 1999, now rough draft on line at Amazon). Numerous early Christian writers talked about the gospel & church pre-existing, even in heaven, before the creation of the world. Ephesians 3:14–15; Gen. 2:4–5, Genesis A & B. Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., & Deseret Book Co., 1987), vol. 3, The World And The Prophets, p.168, see also note 9, on p.311. "Clementine Recognitions I, 52, in PG 1:1236. 1 Pet.3:15-22, 4:5-6. J. P. Migne, Patrologia Cursus Completus, Series Graeca (Paris: 1857-1866), 161 volumes, PG 1:1236.

941- Terry L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 72–75, 109, 345, end notes 34–36: Synesius, "Letter 105; To His Brother," in Letters of Synesius of Cyrene, trans. Augustine Fitzgerald (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1926), 197, 200. R. D. Hampden, The Scholastic Philosophy Considered in Its Relation to Christian Theology in a Course of Lectures, (London: Simpkin, Marshall, 1848), 467. Edward Gibbon, Quoted in Bregman, Synesius of Cyrene, 3.

942- Terry L Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 109–110, 345, end note 37: Nemesius, De natura hominis, II.17. Chadwick, Early Christian Thought, 166.

943- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994).

944- Blues singer and blues guitarist Robert Johnson's song about the cross roads later inspired Eric Clapton's version of it in his Crossroads. See the music CD, Eric Clapton, The Cream of Clapton, (PolyGram International Music B.V., 1995, A&M Records, Inc.), song #4: Crossroads (Cream). Robert Johnson, King of Spades Music (BMI). Produced by Felix Pappalardi from the album Wheels of Fire, released August 1968. Robert Johnson also sings about being on the move because there are "hell hounds on my trail." In early Christian art works, the jaws of hell are often depicted like unto the jaws of a dog. See: David Diringer D., The Illuminated Book, Its History and Production, (London: Faber & Faber, MCMLVIII), VII-31, b. Uterecht Horae W. 188, fol.122 r: Christ in the Limbo, with the jaws of hell resembling the jaws of a dog. See also: Jonathan Alexander & Paul Binski, Age of Chivalry, Art in Plantagenet England 1200-1400, (London: Royal Academy of Arts with Weidenfeld & Nicolson, 1987), fig. 255, p. 306. The first part of a 6-part picture page. Christ rescues souls out of the jaws of hell which are shaped like the jaws of a dog. 14th century A.D.

945- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Legend_\(1985_film\)) - Movie: Legend, taps into British folklore, legends, & traditions about goblins, Lord of Darkness, fairies, strange evil creatures of the filthy swamps, unicorns & other magical creatures of Celtic legends. It's a 1985 British-American fantasy adventure film directed by Ridley Scott, & starring Tom Cruise, Mia Sara, Tim Curry, David Bennent, Alice Playten, Billy Barty, Cork Hubbert, etc. There is a number of parts about making the princess become like them, "one of us," the demons in the darkness.

946- Dr. Hugu Nibley, Since Cumorah, The Book of Mormon in the Modern World, (SLC, Ut.: Deseret Book Co., 1967 & 1976), 210-16, foot notes 25-26, on p. 216: Book of Mormon, 2 Nephi 9:13, 28, 11:5, 1 Nephi 10:18, Alma 12:24, 13:2. A. Aalen, Die Begriffe 'licht' und 'Finsterniss' im AT, in Spätjudentum und im Rabbinismus, (Videnskaps-Akad. Oslo, II, Hist.-Phil. kl., 1951, No. 1. Also: Hugu Nibley, in Church History, 30 (1961), p.15.

947- Fredk, W.M. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Christ Lore, Being the Legends, Traditions, Myths, Symbols, & Superstitions of The Christian Church, (London: 1902, republished, Detroit: Gale Research Company, Book Tower, 1969), 2. <https://archive.org/details/christlorebeing00hackgoog> – <https://archive.org/details/ChristLore> (1902 edition), p.2. Manuel D'Histoire de la Littérature Française par Gustave Lanson et Paul Tuffrau, 1933, Librairie Hachette D.C. Heath & Co., Paris & Boston, p.88-98. A Garland Series, Outstanding Theses In The Fine Arts From British Universities, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, by Jennifer O'Reilly, Garland Pub., Inc., N.Y., & London, 1988, (Thesis submitted to the Un. of Nottingham for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, Oct. 1972), 255-6. Martial Rose, Editor, 1961, The Wakefield Mystery Plays, (Garden City, New York: Anchor Books, Doubleday & Company, Inc., 1962, 1963), 446-57, 464-76, 543-48. A.C. Cawley, (Editor), Everyman and Medieval Miracle Plays, (London & Vermont: J. M. Dent & Charles W. Tuttle, first published 1956, last edition 1974, new edition, 1993), xv, 1-8. Francis Godwin James, (Editor), The Pageant of Medieval England, Historical and Literary Sources to 1485, (Gretna, Louisiana: Pelican Publishing Company, 1975), 15-26, 147-49. Elizabeth R. Hayes, The Evolution of Visual, Literary, and Performing Arts, From Tribal Cultures Through The Middle Ages, (Herriman, Utah: Blue Ribbon Books, 2004, Freethinker Press), 201-3. John Russell Brown, The Oxford Illustrated History of Theatrical, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1995, 77, 81-2. Oscar G. Brockett, History of Theatrical, Boston, London, Sydney & Toronto: Allyn and Bacon, Inc., 1968, 1974, 1977, 1982, 4th ed., 127, 150.

948- Will Durant The Story of Civilization NY: Simon & Schuster 1940-50s, 11 vols., 1950, 4: The Age of Faith, p.73-74, n.96, p.70, n.78, p.1088 & 1103, n.78, 96: Augustine, City of God, 4, 27. G. Boissier, La fin du paganisme, Paris 1913, 2 vols., 2:331. Joseph F. McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC Ut.: Bookcraft 1994, 109-14.

949- Jaroslav Pelikan, Mary Through the Centuries, Her Place in the History of Culture, (New Haven & London: Yale University Press, 1966). Vincent Cronin, Mary Portrayed, (London, England: Darton, Longman & Todd, 1968). Eniar C. Erickson - (Lecture series), 115, (Vegas, Nevada: Tree of Live Publications, 1986), taped lecture entitled: The Heavenly Mother In Ancient and Present Times. Kevin L. Barney, Do We Have a Mother in Heaven?, article, or paper, (Calif.: FAIR, 2001). Donald Jay Grout, (Prof. Of Musicology, Cornell Un.), A History of Western Music, (NY: W.W. Norton & Co., 1960), 35-37. Jacques Lafaye, Quetzalcoatl & Guadalupe, The Formation of Mexico National Consciousness 1531-1813, (Chicago and London: The University of Chicago Press, 1976). Bradley Smith, Mexico, A History in Art, (Garden City, New York: Doubleday & Co., A Gemini-Smith Inc., 1968), 163, 184-5. Edward McNall Burns, Robert E. Lerner, & Standish Meacham, Western Civilizations, Their History and Their Culture, (New York: W.W. Norton & Company, 1st edition 1941, 7th edition 1968-9, 10th edition, 1984), 1:224-5. Kenneth Clark, Civilisation, A Personal View, (New York and Evanston: Harper & Row, 1969), 69, fig. 9, p. 156, fig. 22, vii, #9 in color & 47 in black and white, p.68-71; Mary being crowned queen of heaven during heavenly coronation ceremony. See: Textiles in Daily Life in the Middle Ages, by Rebecca Martin, Pub. The Cleveland Museum of Art, Cleveland Ohio, 1985, pp.20-1, fig. 7, The Coronation of the Virgin. Embroidery. Italy, Florence, 1st half of the 15th c. CMA 53. 129 (cat. no. 5), And fig.8, Lorenzo Monaco, Italian, 1370/71-1425. Panel, 1414. Galleria degli Uffizi, Florence; Medieval Europe (A Short History), Hollister, 1968, pp. 334-336; Another Altarpiece, from the Dominican convent of San Vincenzo di Annalena, The Virgin and Child enthroned. The coronation. "CA. 1430-1440"; Fra Angelico, (Biographical and Critical Study) by Giulio Carlo Argan, Pub. The World Pub., Co., p.61-2, The Coronation, Louvre, Paris. ENTHRONED, 1437, CONVENT OF SAN MARCO, FLORENCE. Art, by Frederick Hartt, Vol. II, Pub. by Harry N. Abrams, N.Y., 1976, pl.21, Renaissance. Enguerrand Quarton. Coronation of the Virgin. Panel Painting, Musée de l'Hospice, Villeneuve-les-Avignon, France; Art Treasures in Germany, Monuments, Masterpieces, Commissions of Collections. Gen. Eds. Bernard S. Myers, N.Y., Terwin Copplestone, Lon., Pub. by Hamlyn Pub. Group Lim., 1970, p. 55, fig.73, p.56-7, fig.76, p.69, fig.96, p.70, fig.99, p.89, fig.126, & p.94, fig.135; Civilisation, Clark, p. 156-7, #22, Holbein, Madonna of Bugomaster Meyer. Mary crowned. Another depiction, 1st half of the 16th c. shows Mary & Christ enthroned. Treasures From The Kremlin, (An Exhibition from the State of Museums of the Moscow Kremlin at the Metropolitan Museum of Art), N.Y., May 19-Sept.1979, and

- Grand Palais, Paris, Oct. 12, 1979 & Jan. 7, 1980, Pub. by Metro. Mus., of Art, N.Y., Distrib. by Harry N. Abrams, Inc., p.32-36, pl.5, & p.140, number 7. In 1560s, from the chapel of the Assembly of the Virgin in the Cathedral of the Annunciation, Moscow Russia. The "Virgin and Child in the "circles" of glory", the lower portion shows groups of people, some of which depict "monks praising the Virgin." The Synaxis, or Assembly, of the Virgin. Inv. no. 5062, Provenance: Side chapel of the Assembly of the Virgin in the Cathedral of the Annunciation, Moscow Kremlin, Moscow School, 1560s. Crowned and enthroned along side Christ. Colleen McDannell & Bernhard Lang, Heaven: A History, (New Haven & Lon.: Yale Un. Press, 1988), 136, 161, pl.30, dated 1575 A.D., Antonino Polti, O.P., Della felicità suprema del cielo (Perugia: Rastelli, 1575).
- 950- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 158-171. Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1993. William G. Rusch, The Trinitarian Controversy, (Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1980). Nibley, The Collected Works of Hugh Nibley, Provo & SLC, Utah: FARMS, & Deseret, vol.2: Enoch The Prophet, (1986), vol. 3: The World & The Prophets, 1987 ed., p. 26-52. Richard Laurence, LL.D., (Trans.) The Book of Enoch The Prophet, (Re-issued: Williams & Norgate, 1892). Psa.30:4, Matt.3:16-17, 4:6, 11:19, 12:22-37, 13:37-41, 16:13-16, 17:5, 24:27-30, 26:63, Mark 14:61, Luke 2:49-52, 4:33-35, 22:42, 66-71, 23:46, John 5:36-47, 6:32-69, 7:16-17, 8:12-20, 27-59, 9:1-2, 10:25-39, 16:15-17, 25-28, 19:7, 20:17-29, Acts 3:15, 26, 7:55-60, 9:20, 13:33-45, Rom.1:7-25, 8:15-30, 9:26, Eph.3:5-15, Col.1:15, Heb.1:1-9, 5:4-10, 1 John 4:1-3, 2 John 7. R. G. Hamerton-Kelly, (Professor of the New Testament McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago), Society for New Testament Studies Monograph Series 21, Pre-Existence, Wisdom And The Son of Man, A Study of the Idea of Pre-existence in the New Testament, (Cambridge University Press; Cambridge, Great Britain, 1973).
- 951- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings, NY: Oxford Un. Press 2010, 117, 346, n.59: Clark, Origenist Controversy, 96.
- 952- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All the Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 22-23, 41, n. 13-14: Rutherford H. Platt, Jr., & J. Alden Brett, (Editors), The Forgotten Books of Eden, (U.S.A.: Alpha House, Inc., 1927), 8, 10, 13, 28, 33, "Conflict of Adam and Eve with Satan," 7, 10, 14, 42, 49.
- 953- William G. T. Shedd, A History of Christian Doctrine, (NY: Charles Scribner's Sons, 3rd ed. 1883), vol. II, p. 5-9, & notes. Note 1 on p.9: HIERONYMUS: Ep. LXXVIII, Ad Marcellinum. Note 2, p.9: PHILASTRIUS: Haereses, XCIX. Note 3 p.8: CYRILLUS ALEXANDRINUS: Com. in Johan. Op. IV. p. 78 sq. Note 4 on p.8: NEMESIUS: De natura hominis, cap. ii.
- 954- J. Eugene Seach, Ancient Texts and Mormonism, (Murray, Utah: Sounds of Zion, 1983), 31-2, & 127-8, notes 153-4; Job 38:3-8. 4 Ezra 4:35-36; 2 Baruch 23:3-5; 2 Enoch 23:4-5, 49:2; Pistis Sophia 22. See also: Abodah Zarah 5a; Yebamoth 62:1; Sifre 143b; Chagiga 12b. Seach, The Heavenly Council, Mysteries and Sacred Ordinances, (unpublished research paper). The movie entitled: "The 7th Sign" starring Demi Moore, (U.S.A.: Interscope Communications, TriStar Pictures, 1988), reflects certain aspects of some versions of the pre-existence, in that the shows makes reference to the chamber of souls. According to Jewish & early Christian tradition, there are a certain number of souls are to come to earth life from this chamber before the end of the world. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/The_Seventh_Sign. In Jewish mysticism, the Guf, Guph, Gup, are about the chamber or treasury of souls, which once they run out of souls, the Messiah is suppose to come. According to these legendized versions of the pre-existence of souls, there is suppose to be a certain amount of souls that will be born into bodies, after that the chamber, or treasury will be empty. <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Guf> See also: http://wiki.evageeks.org/Guf#cite_note-8.
- 955- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 107.
- 956- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 110–111, 345–46, end notes 41–42: Augustine, The Soliloquies, II.2034, in John H. S. Burleigh, Augustine's Earlier Writings, (Philadelphia: Westminster, 1953), 61–62. Augustine, Retraction, I.4.4, in Burleigh, 18. See also: The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 1, Irenaeus, Against Heresies, Book II, chap. 33, drink of oblivion, makes spirits forget pre-existence. <http://www.ccel.org/ccel/schaff/anf01.ix.iii.xxxiv.html>
- 957- John 9:2, Interpreter's Dictionary of the Bible III:869, Rev.12, Jude 6; 2 Pet.2:4, 1 John 3:8; Ezk.28:13-19; Isa.14:18, etc. G. W. Butterworth, Origen On First Principles, (Gloucester, Massachuset: Peter Smith 1973, & Harper & Row, 1966), intro., xxxii-xxxiv. James L. Barker, The Divine Church, Down through Change, Apostasy there from, and Restoration, (Salt Lake City, Utah: The Council of the 12 Apostles of the LDS Church, 1953), vol. 2, p.130-131. Rupp (Dr. Julius), Gregors des Bischofs von Nyssa Leben und Meinungen. Leipzig, 1834. And: Heyns (S. P.), Disputatio Historico-Theologica de Gregorio Nysseno. Leyden, 1835.) The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, Vol.5, pp.11, 17, 518-24, Gregory of Nyssa. Dr. Hugh Nibley, Approaching Zion, p.580-1, & note 73, on p.613, E. A. Wallis Budge, tr., "Discourse on Abbaton by Timothy, Archbishop of Alexandria," in Coptic Martyrdoms, 6 vols. (London: British Museum, 1914), 4:225-49 (English translation on 474-96. G. W. Butterworth, Origen On First Principles, (Gloucester, Massachuset: Peter Smith 1973, & Harper & Row, 1966), introd., p. 32-4; Cyrillus Alexandrinus: Com. in Johan. Op. IV. p. 78 sq.; Nemesius: De natura hominis, cap. ii; Hieronymus: Ep. LXXVIII, Ad Marcellinum; Philastris: Haereses, XCIX; Augustinus: De civitate Dei, XI.xxiii; Facundus Hermianensis, De tribus Capitulis, bk.3, c.6. Liberatus in Breviario, c.24. William G. T. Shedd, D.D., A History of Christian Doctrine, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, third edition, 1883), vol. II, p. 5-9. ANF, 4:263-4, & 341-3, & note 6 on p. 342.
- 958- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 110, 345, end notes 33, 38–41: Augustine, On Free Choice of the Will, III.20–21, (trans., Thomas Williams, Indianapolis, Ind.: Hackett, 1993), 111.
- 959- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 112, 346, end notes 45–46: Augustine, Confessions, I.6–7, X.20–21, trans. F. J. Sheed (Indianapolis, Ind.: Hackett, 1993), 7–9.
- 960- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 113. James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 428–512.
- 961- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 113, 346, end notes 45–50: Augustine, Confessions, X.18–21, trans. F. J. Sheed (Indianapolis, Ind.: Hackett, 1993), 7–9.
- 962- J. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, Utah: DNP 1960, 448 n.6 Augustine Admonition & Grace X.
- 963- J. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, Utah: DNP 1960, 448, n.7: Augustine, The Enchiridion, 26.
- 964- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 441, foot note 29: Philip Schaff, History of the Christian Church, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: Wm. B. Eerdmans Publishing Co., 1950), 8 vols., vol. 3, p. 824.

- 965- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 99–127, see especially 118.
- 966- Chas S. Clifton, Encyclopedia of Heresies & Heretics, (NY: Barnes & Noble Books, 1992), 110–111.
- 967- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 111–21, 347, end notes 67–76: Robert J. O'Connell, The Origin of the Soul in St. Augustine's Later Works, (New York: Fordham University Press, 1987), 16, 323–26. Wallis, Neo-Platonism, 104. Gibson, Christian Philosophy, 50–51, 275. Augustin, Retractions, 1.9, in On Choice of the Will, trans., Thomas Williams (Indianapolis, Ind.: Hackett, 1993), 125, 127. Augustine, To Simplician On Various Questions, trans., John H. S. Burleigh, in Augustine: Earlier Writings (Philadelphia: Westminster, 1953), 386, 397–98, 406. Edward Beecher, The Conflict of Ages: or, The Great Debate on the Moral Relations of God and Man (Boston: Phillips, Sampson, 1853), 297–98. James Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: DNP, 1960, 428–97.
- 968- Angelo S. Rappoport, Ph. D., Ancient Israel Myths & Legends, (NY: Bonanza Books, 1987), 3 vols., in 1, vol. 1, see chap.: "The War in Heaven and the Fallen Angels." John 9:2, Interpreter's Dictionary of the Bible III:869, Rev.12, 1 John 3:8; Ezk.28:13-19; Isa.14:18, etc. Charles Francis Potter, (Rev. & Dr.), Did Jesus Write This Book? A Study of The Book of the Secrets of Enoch, Reappraising it in the light of the Qumran, Chenoboskion, & other recently discovered manuscripts & papyri. (Greenwich, Conn.: A Fawcett Crest Book, 1965, 1967). Richard Laurence, LL.D., (Trans.) The Book of Enoch The Prophet, (Re-issued: Williams & Norgate, 1892). R.G. Hamerton-Kelly, (Professor of the New Testament McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago), Society for New Testament Studies Monograph Series 21, Pre-Existence, Wisdom & The Son of Man, A Study of the Idea of Pre-existence in the New Testament, (Britain: Cambridge Un. Press, 1973). Bernard J. Bamberger, Fallen Angels, Soldiers of Satan's Realm, (Philadelphia, Jewish Pub. Society of America, 1952).
- 969- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 26-27, 42, n. 31-35: Apocalypse of Paul, 29-30, in Wilhelm Schneemelcher, ed. New Testament Apocrypha, (Louisville, Ky.: Westminster/ John Knox Press, 1991), 2 vols., 2:728-29. Pastor of Hermas, sim. 9, 29, ANF, 2:53. Irenaeus, "Against Heresies" 3.23.3-23.5, ANF, 1:456-57. Clement of Alexandria, Stromateis 3.16, trans. J. Ferguson (Washington, D.C., Catholic Un. Of American Press, 1991), FC 85:319.
- 970- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All the Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 28, 42, n. 36: Cyril of Jerusalem, Catechetical Lectures 4.19, in Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, 2:7:23, emphasis added.
- 971- The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, 5:11, 17, 518-24, Gregory, Bishop of Nyssa, Prolegomena C. II & III, & On The Baptism of Christ, (written about 376). Rupp (Dr. Julius), Gregors des Bischofs von Nyssa Leben und Meinungen. Leipzig, 1834. And: Heyns (S. P.), Disputatio Historico-Theologica de Gregorio Nysseno. Leyden, 1835. Heyns & Rupp. Dr. Hugu Nibley, Old Testament & Related Studies, 1986, Col. Works, vol.1, p.157.
- 972- William Greenough Thayer Shedd, D.D., (1820–1894), A History of Christian Doctrine, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, third edition, 1883), vol. II, p. 5-9. After Jesus, The Triumph of Christianity, (Pleasantville, New York & Montreal, Canada: The Reader's Digest Associations, Inc., 1992), 11.
- 973- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 107–8, 113, 345–46, end notes 33 & 51: Augustine, On Free Choice of the Will, III.21, trans., Thomas Williams (Indianapolis, Ind.: Hackett, 1993), 111. Robert J. O'Connell, The Origin of the Soul in St. Augustine's Later Works, (New York: Fordham University Press, 1987), 192, 198. Gerald O' Daly, insists that nowhere in Augustine's early writings does he assert the soul's pre-existence, see: Augustine's Philosophy of Mind (Berkeley: University of California Press, 1987), 199, see also György Heidl, Origen's Influence on the Young Augustine: A Chapter in the History of Origenism, (Louvain, Lebanon: Gorgias, 2003), 171ff. William G. T. Shedd, D.D., A History of Christian Doctrine, (NY: Charles Scribner's Sons, 3rd ed., 1883), vol. II, p. 5-9.
- 974- J. Charles Wall, Devils, (Lon., Eng.: Methuen & Co., 1904; Detroit: Singing Tree Press, Book Tower, 1968, reissued), 31. Jeffrey Russell, The Prince of Darkness, (Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988), 93.
- 975- William G. T. Shedd, A History of Christian Doctrine, NY: Charles Scribner's Sons, 3rd ed., 1883, 2:5-9.
- 976- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 111–112, 346, Augustine, On the Literal Interpretation of Genesis [De Genesis ad litteram], III.8, in Teske, On Genesis, 150.
- 977- William G. T. Shedd, A History of Christian Doctrine, (NY: Charles Scribner's Sons, 3rd ed. 1883), vol. II, p. 5-9. Brigham Henry Roberts, Outlines of Ecclesiastical History, A Text Book, (SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1979, Classics in Mormon Literature), 273–274. The Sage Digital Library, CD, 1995, see Calvin.
- 978- Jeffrey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988, 101-3.
- 979- Coulange, The Life of the Devil, p. 16, Augustine, Homilies upon the Psalms, in Ps., 58, 2, 5.
- 980- Jeffrey Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988, 78–81, 101-104.
- 981- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 102–3.
- 982- James Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 472, foot note 12, & p. 474. Albert Henry Newman, A Manuel of Church History, (Philadelphia: The American Baptist Publication Society, 1953, revised & enlarged edition), 2 vols., vol., 1, p. 363–64.
- 983- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 486, foot note 1: Auguste Boulenger, Histoire Générale de l' Eglise, (Paris: Librairie Catholique, Emmanuel Vitte, 1931–1947), 9 vols., vol. 3, p. 147.
- 984- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 115–16, 346, end notes 56–57: Augustine, Letter 143 (to Marcellinus), in The Works of Saint Augustine: A Translation for the 21st Century: Letters 100–155, trans. Roland Teske (Hyde Park, N.Y.: New City Press, 1990), pt. II, 2:305. Augustine, Letter 144 (to Optatus as numbered in the Jerome collection), in W. H. Fremantle, trans. The Principle Works of St. Jerome, in The Nicene & Post Nicene Fathers, 6:287.
- 985- Jeffrey Burton Russell' books: Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, Ithaca, Lon.: Cornell Un. Press, 1981. Lucifer, The Devil in the Middle Age, (1984). The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil & the Power of Good in History, 1988. Bernard J. Bamberger, Fallen Angels,... Philadelphia, Jewish Publication Society of America, 1952).
- 986- Mark E. Petersen, The Unknown God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, Inc., 1978, 2nd print. 1979), 38-39, St. Augustine, The City of God, p. 649-50.
- 987- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All the Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 31.

- 988- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 122–326. Walch, Ketzerhist, Vol. vii., p.661 et seqq. & 671; Vol. viij., p. 281 et seqq.; Dollinger, Church History, Eng. Trans., Vol. v., p. 203 et seqq. Hefele, Hist. Councils, Vol. iv., p.221 sq. Noris, the Ballerini, Moller (R. Encykl., xi., p.113, and Loofs (pp.287, 291) as against Hefele & Vincenzi. Adolf von Harnack. Hist. of Dogma, Vol. IV., p.249 (Eng. Trans. See: The Nicene And Post-Nicene Fathers, vol. 14, The 7 Ecumenical Councils Of the Undivided Church, (Their Canons and Dogmatic Decrees), Philip Schaff, D.D., LL.D., & Henry Wace, D.D., see p. 312, 316-7, 349, THE CAPITULA OF THE COUNCIL (Labbe & Cossart, Concilia, Tom., V., col. 568.), EXCURSUS ON THE XV. ANATHEMAS AGAINST ORIGEN. Darell Thorpe, The Pre-existence: Our Pre-earth Life As Spirits In A "Family In Heaven" (1992). A. C. Cawley, (Editor), Everyman and Medieval Miracle Plays, (London & Vermont: J. M. Dent & Charles W. Tuttle, first published 1956, last edition 1974, new edition, 1993). Sylvan Barnet, Morton Berman & William Burto, (Editors, Introduction), The Genius of the Early English Theater, The Complete Texts of Seven Great Plays Of Medieval and Renaissance English Drama, (NY & Scarborough, Ontario: A Mentor Book from New American Library, Times Mirror, The New English Library Limited, London, 1962). Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1981). Lucifer, The Devil In the Middle Age, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1984). The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988).
- 989- Jeffrey Russell, The Prince of Darkness... (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988), 65.
- 990- John Lawrence Mosheim, D.D., An Ecclesiastical History, (London: Translated from the original Latin and notes by Archibald Maclaine, D.D., 1819), 6 vols, vol. 2, p. 43, part 2, 5th century A.D., note e., & p. 52-4, & note w, on p. 53-54. Facundus Hermianensis, De tribus Capitulis, book 3, c.6. Liberatus in Breviario, c. 24.
- 991- A Library of Fathers, of the Holy Catholic Church, (London: Oxford, John Henry Parker, & J.G.F. & J. Rivington, MDCCCXXXIX), Vol. IV, preface vii., p. 81-2, The Homilies of S. John Chrysostom, Archbishop of Constantinople, Hom. VII.
- 992- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 122, 348, end note 83: Leo the Great, Letter 15 ("To Turribius, Bishop of Asturia, upon the Errors of the Priscillianists"), XI (10), trans. Charles Lett Feltoe, in The Letters and Sermons of Leo the Great, in The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, 12:23). This letter is consider spurious by some scholars, See K. Künstle, Antepiscilliania, (Freiburg, 1905). Nicolas Cheetham, Keepers of the Keys, A History of the Popes from St. Peter to John Paul II, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1983), 25–28.
- 993- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 122, 348, end note 84: Leo the Great, Letter 35 ("To Julian, Bishop of Cos") in The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, 12:48.
- 994- Imperial Rome, Great Ages of Man A History of the World's Cultures, by Moses Hadas & The Editors of Time-Life Books, New York, 1965, p. 174-5. Isa.14:12-19, Acts 2:23-35; 1 Cor. 15:23-28. Christ's old enemy as perhaps symbolized her in the serpent, is vanquished.
- 995- Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (NY, San Diego, U.S.A.; Lon., Eng.: Harcourt Brace & Company). Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1986). Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments Of Romanesque Art, The Art of Church Treasures in North-Western Europe, Un. of Chicago Press, 1954 & 2nd, Ed., 1967. Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca & Lon.: Cornell Un. Press, 1985). Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1981). Lucifer, The Devil in the Middle Age, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1984). The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988). Robert Hughes, Heaven and Hell in Western Art, (NY: Stein and Day/Pub., 1968). Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, (Washington Square, NY, NY: Pantheon Books, 1947). Chandler Rathfon Post, A History of Spanish Painting, Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard Un. Press, 1930—1958. NY: Kraus reprint Company, 1970's, numerous volumes offer examples of these battle themes.
- 996- J. Charles Wall, Devils, Lon., Eng.: Methuen & Co., 1904; Detroit: Singing Tree Press, Book Tower, 1968, reissued, 41. Webster's Illustrated Encyc. Dict., 1990, Tormount Pub., Montreal, Can., p.115, "Ath-os Mount."
- 997- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 122–23. Darell Thorpe, The Pre-existence: Our Pre-earth Life As Spirits In A "Family In Heaven" (1992). Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1981). Lucifer, The Devil In the Middle Age, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1984).
- 998- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 123, 348, end notes 85–86: Brian E. Daley, The Hope of the Early Church: A Handbook of Patristic Eschatology (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1991), 191. Maria E. Colonna, Theophrastus sive de immortalitate animae (Naples: 1958), translated and cited by Alexander Alexakis, "Was There Life Beyond the Life Beyond?: Byzantine Ideas on Reincarnation and Final Restoration," in Dumbarton Oaks Papers, 55, ed. Alice-Mary Talbot (Washington, D.C.: Harvard University Press, 2001), 164.
- 999- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 112–123. John 9:2, Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, 14:316-20. John 9:1-7, Interpreter's Dictionary of The Bible, 3:869. J. Eugene Seach, Ancient Texts and Mormonism, (Murray, Utah: Sounds of Zion, 1983), 5-8. New Eng. Bible, the 'Wisdom of Solomon 8:19-20, David Winston's commentary, Anchor Bible Series, The Wisdom of Solomon (Garden City: Doubleday, 1982): "As a child I was born to excellence, & a noble soul fell to my lot; or rather, I myself was noble, & I entered into an unblemished body..."
- 1000- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 111–127. Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (New York, London, Toronto & Sydney: Gineeo seo Books, 2007), 68–160, etc. Walch, Ketzerhist, Vol. vii., p.661 et seqq. & 671; Vol. viij., p. 281 et seqq.; Dollinger, Church History, Eng. Trans., Vol. v., p. 203 et seqq. Hefele, Hist. Councils, Vol. iv., p.221 sq. Noris, the Ballerini, Moller (R. Encykl., xi., p.113, and Loofs (pp.287, 291) as against Hefele & Vincenzi. Adolf von Harnack. Hist. of Dogma, Vol. IV., p.249 (Eng. Trans. See: The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, vol. 14, The 7 Ecumenical Councils Of the Undivided Church, (Their Canons and Dogmatic Decrees), Philip Schaff, D.D., LL.D., & Henry Wace, D.D., see p. 312, 316-7, 349, THE CAPITULA OF THE COUNCIL (Labbe & Cossart, Concilia, Tom., V., col. 568.), EXCURSUS ON THE XV. ANATHEMAS AGAINST ORIGEN. Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900). 255, 257–59, 275, 378, 418, 436, 451, 459. Darell Thorpe, The Armor of Gods (Protective Skins or Garments in History & Color Symbolism), (Kindle Edition, 2012). Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1981). Lucifer, The Devil In the Middle Age, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1984). The Prince of Darkness, Radical

Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988).

1001- John Coulson, Editor, Introduction by C. C. Martindale, S. J., The Saints, A Concise Biographical Dictionary, (New York: Hawthorn Books, Inc., 1958, 1960), p. 332.

1002- Frederick Van Der Meer, Apocalypse, Visions from the Book of Revelation in Western Art, (New York, New York: Mercatorfonds Antwerp, Pub. Alpine Fine Arts Collection., 1978), 97-8, figs.60 & 61. Trier, Stadtbibliothek, ms. 31, f. 37r. Trier, Stadtbibliothek, ms. 31, f. 39r.

1003- E. A. Wallis Budge, Miscellaneous Coptic Texts in the Dialect of Upper Egypt, (Lon. Eng.: British Museum, Longmann & Co., Asher & Co., Oxford University Press, 1915), 579, 735-6, (Brit. Mus. MS. Oriental, No. 7597).

1004- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 126, 348, end note 101: Boethius, The Consolation of Philosophy, trans. W. V. Cooper (New York: Random House, 1943), 75.

1005- E. A. Wallis Budge, Miscellaneous Coptic Texts in the Dialect of Upper Egypt, (London, England: British Museum, Longmann & Co., Asher & Co., Oxford University Press, 1915), 893, 895, 897-901, 904-6.

1006- E. A. Wallis Budge, Miscellaneous Coptic Texts in the Dialect of Upper Egypt, (Lon., Eng. British Museum, Longmann & Co., Asher & Co., Oxford Un. Press, 1915), 895, 897-901, (Brit. Mus. MS. Oriental, No. 7021).

1007- The Cave of Treasures, Ed. C. Bezold, 1888, p. 3-4. See also M. Grunbaum, Neue Beitrage zur semitischen Sagenkunde, 1893, p. 57-58, as mentioned by Angelo S. Rappoport, Ph. D., Ancient Israel Myths and Legends, (New York: Bonanza Books, 1987), three volumes in one, vol. 1, p. 146-7, & note 1.

1008- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 123–25, 348, end notes 91–94: Crouzel, Origen, see also the account in E. M. Harding, "Origenist Crisis," in McGuckin, Westminster Handbook to Origen, 165–66. Evagrius Scholasticus, Ecclesiastical History, IV.38, trans. Michael Whitby (Liverpool, England: Liverpool Un. Press, 2000), 249. Leo Donald Davis, The First Seven Ecumenical Councils, (325–787) (Collegeville, Minn.: Liturgical Press, 1990), 226. Henry R. Percival, The Seven Ecumenical Councils of the Undivided Church (NY: Scribner's, 1990), 320.

1009- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book, 2006, 131, 426, n.84-86. Encyclopedia of Early Christianity, 285. Boyd K. Packer, "The Mystery of Life," Oct. 1983, General Conference talk, see: Ensign, Nov. 1983, p. 16. Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (Ben Lomond, Calif.: F.A.I.R., 1999), 145-46.

1010- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 124–25, 348, end note 95: "Edict of Justinian," in Creeks & Confessions of Faith in the Christian Tradition, ed. Jaroslav Pelikan & Valerie Hotchkiss, (New Haven, Conn.: Yale Un. Press, 2003), 1:129.

1011- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 99-100, notes 33-34, p.220: See: Schaff & Wace, eds., A Select Library of Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, p. 320, see also: New Catholic Encyclopedia 8:96-101; 10:771-73; 14:145. See also: Joseph F. McConkie, "Premortal Existence, Foreordinations, and Heavenly Councils," p. 173-98.

1012- Improvement Era, March 1938, Vol.41, #3 p.144 article: The Protestors of Christendom, iii. The Apologists of the 2nd Century & After, James Barker & Apostasy From the Divine Church, Utah: DNP, 1960, 334-336.

1013- Walch, Ketzerhist, Vol. vii., p.661 et seqq. and 671; Vol. viij., p. 281 et seqq.; Dollinger, Church History, Eng. Trans., Vol. v., p. 203 et seqq. Hefele, Hist. Councils, Vol. iv., p.221 sq. Noris, the Ballerini, Moller (R. Encykl., xi., p. 113, and Loofs (p.287, 291) as against Hefele & Vincenzi. Adolf von Harnack. Hist. of Dogma, Vol. IV., p.249 (Eng. Trans. See: The Nicene And Post-Nicene Fathers, vol. 14, The 7 Ecumenical Councils Of the Undivided Church, (Their Canons and Dogmatic Decrees), Philip Schaff, D.D., LL.D., & Henry Wace, D.D., see p. 312, 316-7, 349, THE CAPITULA OF THE COUNCIL (Labbe & Cossart, Concilia, Tom., V., col. 568.), EXCURSUS ON THE XV. ANATHEMAS AGAINST ORIGEN.

1014- The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, vol. 14, p. 318-9, & notes. Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 125, 348, end notes 95 & 99: Henry R. Percival, The Seven Ecumenical Councils of the Undivided Church, (New York: Scribner's 1900), 318–20.

1015- Medieval Europe A Short History, by C. Warren Hollister, (5th Ed., Pub. by John Wiley & Sons, N.Y., etc., 1975), p.41. The Human Adventure, A History of Our World, Fank J. Cappelluti, & Ruth H. Grossman, 1970, Feild Educational Pub., Inc., Calif., etc., p. 238-40.

1016- The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, vol. 14, p. 320. See: The entire tractate of the Emperor against Origen in the works of Labbe & Cossart, Concilia, Tom. V., col. 677, etc.

1017- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 124–25.

1018- Right Rev. Charles Joseph Hefele, D.D., Bishop of Rottenburg, Formerly Professor of Theology in the University of Tübingen, A History of the Councils of the Church, From the Original Documents, T. & T. Clark, 38 George Street, U.S.A.: Edinburgh, 1895; trans. from German & edited by William R. Clark, M.A., HON, LL.D., F.R.S.C., Professor of Philosophy in Trinity College, Toronto; HON. Prof. in Hobart College, Geneva, NY. First AMS ed. pub. in 1972, NY, NY: AMS Press, Inc., 1972, vol. 4, p.217—218, A.D. 451 to 680.

1019- Charles Hefele, A History of the Councils of the Church,... NY, NY: AMS Press, 1972, 4:218—219.

1020- Charles Hefele, A History of the Councils of the Church,... NY, NY: AMS Press, 1972, 4:219.

1021- Charles Hefele, A History of the Councils of the Church,... NY, NY: AMS Press, 1972, 4:221-25.

1022- Charles Hefele, A History of the Councils of the Church,... NY, NY: AMS Press, 1972, 4:220, 225.

1023- Charles Hefele, A History of the Councils of the Church,... NY, NY: AMS Press, 1972, 4:228.

1024- Charles Hefele, A History of the Councils of the Church,... NY, NY: AMS Press, 1972, 4:225—26.

1025- One art work depicts Satan as a normal looking angel before his fall, he even has a halo around his head. The traditional wings of an angel are spread out behind him. And he has not been "darkened" yet by his fall, having not fallen yet. Dark colors were used in early to later Christendom to suggest the retrogression process of someone's apostasy. In the case with the angels who apostatized, they are seen as bright beings before their fall, or apostasy from heaven & against God. But in their fall from heaven, they underwent a change, in that there minds, spirits, & ways were "blackened". Meaning that they had become evil rebellious beings who sought after darkness rather than light. Who now still seek to pervert anything good by turning it into evil things. Thus, this symbolical term should not be confused with actual skin color of a race. But rather, its symbolic of the evils & sins that one does. It is possible, however, that this symbolism was connected in the minds of many later Christians to be literal, as though a persons skin color had something to do with racial superiority or inferiority. For in earlier centuries, though some art works show the devil and his angels as normal looking beings, or in other cases, as bright beings before their fall.

There are others which show the changes they went through after their fall. In fact, they are depicted as dark colored beings in some cases. While in others, they are gross monstrous looking beings with dark skins, horns, claws, & sharp teeth, etc. Perhaps symbolic of their evil & fallen conditions. Consequently, in later ages of Christendom, this may have been considered to be literally how they looked. (Paul Carus, The History of the Devil, & The Idea of Evil, From the Earliest Times to the Present Day, (Open Court Pub. Co.), 462-3, "LUCIFER BEFORE THE FALL. From the Horus Deliciarum." Jeffery Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness; see also: The Forgotten Books of Eden).

1026- L.M.J. Delaisse, Medieval Miniatures, from the Department of Manuscripts, formerly the Library of Burgundy, The Royal Library of Belgium, NY: Harry N. Abrams, 96-98, creation & fall of the Angels, Historiated Bible of Guiard Des Moulins, 1st part, Paris, 1410. Ms. 9001, f.19. Jeffrey Russell, The Prince of Darkness.

1027- Charles Hefele, A History of the Councils of the Church,... NY, NY: AMS Press, 1972, 4:226.

1028- Charles Hefele, A History of the Councils of the Church,... NY, NY: AMS Press, 1972, 4: 226-27.

1029- Charles Hefele, A History of the Councils of the Church,... NY, NY: AMS Press, 1972, 4:241.

1030- Charles Hefele, A History of the Councils of the Church,... NY, NY: AMS Press, 1972, 4:216-49.

1031- Charles Hefele, A History of the Councils of the Church,... NY, NY: AMS Press, 1972, 4:229-30.

1032- Charles Hefele, A History of the Councils of the Church,... NY, NY: AMS Press, 1972, 4:216-49.

1033- Fredk. W.M. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Christ Lore (Being the Legends, Traditions, Myths, Symbols, & Superstitions of The Christian Church), (London: 1902, republished, Detroit: Gale Research Company, Book Tower, 1969), 2. Manuel D'Histoire de la Litterature Francaise par Gustave Lanson et Paul Tuffrau, 1933, Librairie Hachette D.C. Heath & Co.. Paris & Boston, 88-98.

1034- L. M. J. Delaisse, Commentaries, Medieval Miniatures, From the Department of Manuscripts, Formerly the "Library of Burgundy" NY: Harry N. Abrams, Inc., The Royal Library of Belgium, 96-8. J. Charles Wall, Devils, Lon., Eng.: Methuen & Co., 1904; Detroit: Singing Tree Press, Book Tower, 1968, reissued, 40-41, 48, & 70.

1035- Jeffrey Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, Ithaca & Lon.: Cornell Un. Press, 1981, 10 & 114.

1036- N&PNF, 12, dates given for Gregory the Great's birth & death, see: Prolegomena, pages xiii & xxix.

1037- Coulange, The Life of the Devil, p. 5, Gregory the Great, Morals, 32, 47.

1038- Coulange, The Life of the Devil, p. 5, Gregory the Great, Homilies upon the Gospels, 34, 7.

1039- Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, Chicago: Open Court Pub. Co. 1900, 280.

1040- Mrs. Clara Erskine Clement Waters, A Handbook of Legendary & Mythological Art, (Boston: James R. Osgood & Co., 1883), 229.

1041- Clara Waters, A Handbook of Legendary And Mythological Art, Boston: James R. Osgood, 1883, 228-31.

1042- Benedictine Monks of St. Augustine's Abbey, Ramsgate, The Book of Saints, A Dictionary of Servants of God, (Wilton, Connecticut: Morehouse Publishing, 1921, 1989, 6th ed.), 401.

1043- Raymond S. Stites, The Arts & Man, (NY & London: McGraw-Hill Bk., Co., 1940), 324, fig. 268-b.

1044- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 127, 349, end note 108: A. Bronson Alcott, Concord Days (1872; repr., Philadelphia: Albert Saifer, 1962), 84n.

1045- Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, 240.

1046- Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 246. Richard Fletcher, The Barbarian Conversion, From Paganism to Christianity, (Berkeley, Los Angeles: University of California Press, 1997, first paper back edition, 1999. Originally published in New York: Holt & Co., 1998), 30, in between p. 146 & 147, art work #4, etc. Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 206-279, see foot note * on p. 217: In Lusatia (Lausatz), if not the rest of Germany & other nations, Dwarfs in fables, are fallen angels. H. Clay Trumbull, D.D., The Blood Covenant, A Primitive Rite and its Bearings on Scriptures, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1885), 39-43. Gerald Simons, & Editors of Time-Life Books, series: Great Ages of Man, A History of the World's Cultures, vol. Barbarian Europe, (New York: Time-Life Books, 1968), 178-179.

1047- Paul Carcus, 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, 246.

1048- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 126-27, 348, end note 103: Bede, A History of the English Church & People II.13 NY: Dorset, 1968, 127.

1049- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 127.

1050- David M. Zesmer, 1961, & 1970, Guide to English Literature, p. 52-3, & 55.

1051- Guide to English Literature, From Beowulf through Chaucer & Medieval Drama- by David M. Zesmer, (NY: Barnes & Noble College Outline Series, 1961, 10th print 1970), 52-3, & 55.

1052- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 127, 349, n.105: Exact Exposition of the Orthodox Faith, II.12, Frederic H. Chase, Jr., Saint John of Damacus, NY: Fathers of the Church, 1958, 235.

1053- Clara Waters, A Handbook of Legendary & Mythological Art, Boston: James R. Osgood & Co., 1883, 228.

1054- John McManners, The Oxford Illustrated History of Christianity, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1990, needlework, shortly after 1300, English. Showing, one aspect of the war in heaven, with Michael thrusting a lance into the jaws of the dragon. Similar to art works of Michael thrusting a lance into the jaws of hell during Christ's harrowing of hell. Robert Hughes, Heaven & Hell in Western Art, NY: Stein & Day, 1968, 12-13, Torcello, 12th-c. mosaic. The Winchester Psalter, Francis Wormald. NY Graphic Soc. LTD, Harvey Miller & Medcalf 1973, fig. 27, The Harrowing of Hell, Folio 24. The Illuminated Book, David Diringer D. LITT., Pub. MCMLVIII, Faber & Faber Limited, R. Q., Lon., 3, 14 b, S. Swithin Psalter, Christ in limbo. Raymond S. Stites, The Arts & Man, NY, USA, & Lon., Eng.: McGraw-Hill Book Co., 1940, p. 350-1, fig. 291, West Wall, Torcello. During Christ's descent into hell, great archangels, Michael & Gabriel, trampling upon dragons. Joseph Gantner & Marcel Pobe, 1956, Romanesque Art In France, Thames & Hudson, pl. 135, & p. 64; Hughes, 1968, Heaven & Hell In Western Art, 188-190; Richard Marks & Nigel Morgan, 1981, The Golden Age of English Manuscript Painting 1200-1500, NY: George Braziller, fig. III, Portrait of William de Brailes, Cambridge, Fitzwilliam Museum, MS. 330. Detail from a single leaf of the Last Judgment, p. 9. Another source says that one of the angels who protects and guides soul into heaven is Michael the Archangel, for "He receives the souls of the saints, and leads them into the Paradise of bliss." The Golden Legend of Jacobus de Voragine, p. 578. A depiction of the harrowing of Hell shows Christ delivering the souls out of the jaws of hell, while an angel behind him thrusts a demon with a lance. Francis Wormald, The

- Winchester Psalter, NY: Graphic Soc., LTD, Harvey Miller & Medcalf 1973, fig. 27.
- 1055- National Geographic, 151:820-830, No.6, June 1977, National Geographic Society, article: Mont Saint Michel, KENNETH MacLEISH.
- 1056- Edward McNall Burns, Western Civilizations, Their History & Their Culture, NY: W.W. Norton & Co., 1st Ed. 1941, 7th ed. 1968-9, 1:290.
- 1057- Fay-Cooper Cole, & Harris Gaylord Warren, An Illustrated Outline History of Mankind, Chicago: Consolidated Book Pub. 1951, 55, 59, 63, 1:202.
- 1058- Paul Carcus, 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY Avenel: Gramercy Bks 1996, 280-281.
- 1059- Caroline Walker Bynum, Jesus as Mother, Studies in the Spirituality of the High Middle Ages, (California: Un. of Berkeley California Press, 1982, paper back 1984), 16 Intro., & n.17.
- 1060- John Beckwith, 1961, The Art of Constantinople, An Introduction To Byzantine Art 330-1453, AD, (Phaidon Publisher, Inc., NY Graphic Society, Greenwich, Connecticut), 62-3, fig.76.
- 1061- Terryll Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 127, 349, n.106: Photius, Bibliotheca, in A Section of the Writings of Pierius in ANF, 6:157.
- 1062- C.R.Dodwell, Nikolaus Pevsner & Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, Harmondsworth, Middlesex; Baltimore, Md.; Ringwood, Victoria, Australia: Penguin Books, 1971, vol. 34, Painting in Europe 800 to 1200, p.xv, pl.124 & 125. Magius:7-headed dragon attacks Woman & angels, Beatus.922. NY Pierpont Morgan Lib.
- 1063- Fredk, WM. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Christ Lore, Being the Legends, Traditions, Myths, Symbols, & Superstitions of The Christian Church, (Lon.: 1902, repub., Detroit: Gale Research Co., Book Tower, 1969, 243-4, see also the depiction of "St. Michael. From a MS. in Bodleian Library."
- 1064- Gustav Davidson, A Dictionary of Angels, Including The Fallen Angels, (New York: The Free Press; London: Collier-Macmillan Limited, 1967), Introduction, p. xv.
- 1065- Frederick Van Der Meer, Apocalypse, Visions from the Book of Revelation in Western Art, (New York, New York: Mercatorfonds Antwerp, Pub. Alpine Fine Arts Collection., 1978), p.102-3, fig.67, 104-05, fig. 68, Bamberg, Staatsbibliothek 140 olim A II 42, f. 29V, & f. 31V.
- 1066- J. Charles Wall, Devils, (Lon., Eng.: Methuen & Co., 1904; Detroit: Singing Tree Press, Book Tower, 1968), 38-40, p. 37, EXPULSION OF LUCIFER Caedmon. Archaeologia, Vol. 24.
- 1067- J. Charles Wall, Devils, (Lon., Eng.: Methuen & Co., 1904; Detroit: Singing Tree Press, Book Tower, 1968), 40, & 48, SAXON LIMBUS Caedmon's Paraphrase. Archaeologia, 24.
- 1068- Charles Wall, Devils, 1904; Detroit: Singing Tree Press, Book Tower, 1968, 42-3.
- 1069- Raymond Stites, The Arts & Man, NY, Lon.Eng.: McGraw-Hill Bk 1940, 350-1, fig.291, West Wall Torcello.
- 1070- Charles Wall, 1904, Devils, Detroit: Singing Tree Press, Book Tower, 1968, 34-6. MS. of Caedmon. Bodleian Library. From Archaeologia, vol. 24.
- 1071- Charles Wall, 1904, Devils, Detroit: Singing Tree Press, Book Tower, 1968, reissued, 36-7.
- 1072- Charles Wall, 1904, Devils, Detroit: Singing Tree Press, Book Tower, 1968, reissued, 37-8.
- 1073- Louis Reau, La Miniature, Histoire De La Peinture Au Moyen-Age, Pub. by Melun Librairie D'Argences, M CM XLVI), p.121, plate IV, "La Femme Et Le Dragon" = The Female & the Dragon. "Apocalypse de Bamberg, 1007. Bibliotheque de Munich." In the same book, pl.39, "La Femme Vetue de Soleil, Hortus Deliciarum."
- 1074- David Bland, A History of Book Illustration, The Illuminated Manuscript and the Printed Book, (California: Un. of Calif. Press, Berkeley & L.A. 1st published 1958, 1969), p.52, fig.26. "The Bamberg Apocalypse. German, c. 1020. Reichenau School. The overthrow of the false prophet. Bamberg State Library. Cod. Bib. 140.
- 1075- Louis Reau La Miniature, Histoire De La Peinture Au Moyen-Age, Melun Librairie D'Argences, MCM XLVI, pl.39.
- 1076- Frederick Van Der Meer, Apocalypse, Visions from the Book of Revelation in Western Art, (New York, New York: Mercatorfonds Antwerp, Pub. Alpine Fine Arts Collection., 1978), p. 112-113, fig.75, Madrid, BN Vit. 14-2, ff. 186-187. Double-leaf Beatus of 1047 A.D.
- 1077- The History of World Painting, 103, Manuscript illumination. MS. lat. 8878, Bibliotheque Nationale, Paris.
- 1078- The Great Centuries of Painting, Romanesque Painting, From the 11th to the 13th century, p. 91, Apocalyptic Scene. CA 1100, Fresco in the Porch. Saint-Savin-Sur-Gartempe (Vienna).
- 1079- Dmitri Kessel, Splendors Of Christendom, Great & Architecture in European Churches, Henri Peyre,(Commentary), (Edita S.A. Lausanne, 1964), p. 123, 126-7.
- 1080- Jeffrey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil & the Power of Good in History, Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988, 134, Manuscript illumination from the Pericope Book of Henry II, Germany. This might also remind us of the other hand grips depicted in some art works that depict Rev. 12. Also, for examples of dark skinned demons, see: Coppo di Marcovaldo, St. Michael & his legend; AD 1250-60, San Casciano val di pesa museum of sacred art. Chute des anges déchus, BNF Richelieu Manuscrits occidentaux, Français 21, Fol. 17 Saint Augustin, Cité de Dieu (traduction Raoul de Presles), France, Paris, Xve. Also: Mâcon Cité de Dieu La Augustinus. Also: Ernst and Johanna Lehner, Devils, Demons, Death and Damnation, NY: Dover Pictorial Archive Series, Dover Publishing Inc., 1971. J. Charles Wall, Devils, Lon., Eng: Methuen & Co., 1904; Detroit: Singing Tree Press, Book Tower, 1968, reissued. Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, Ithaca, Lon.: Cornell Un. Press, 1981. Lucifer, The Devil In the Middle Age, Ithaca, London: Cornell Un. Press, 1984. Paul Carus, Dr., 1852-1919, The History Of The Devil & The Idea Of Evil, From the earliest times to the present, La Salle, Illinois: Open Court Pub. Co. Carcus, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, orig. pub. in Chicago: Open Court Pub. Co., 1900. John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, Princeton Un. Press, 1954, ladders to heaven, often show winged dark skinned demons shooting arrows at those going up them towards Christian moral perfection.
- 1081- O. M. Dalton, East Christian Art, A Survey of the Monuments, (Oxford At the Clarendon Press, 1925), 340, pl. LXIII. ENAMEL. TREASURY OF S. MARK, VENICE BOOK-COVER WITH S. MICHAEL.
- 1082- Jeffrey Russell, The Prince of Darkness, (Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988), 125-6.
- 1083- Frederick Van Der Meer, Apocalypse, Visions from the Book of Revelation in Western Art, (NY, NY: Mercatorfonds Antwerp, Pub. Alpine Fine Arts Collection., 1978), 87, fig. 51.

- 1084- Frederick Van Der Meer, Apocalypse, Visions from the Book of Revelation in Western Art, (NY, NY: Mercatorfonds Antwerp, Pub. Alpine Fine Arts Collection., 1978), 100-101.
- 1085- Terry L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings... (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 134, 350, end note 23: Eadmer, The Life of St. Anselm: Archbishop of Canterbury, trans. R. W. Southern (Oxford: Clarendon, 1972), 142.
- 1086- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 60-63.
- 1087- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, & Other Little People, NY: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978, 66-67.
- 1088- Art & Archaeology, The Arts Throughout the Ages, Vol.22, Sept. 1926, #3, p.59-61, article: The Origin of Italian Art, F.W. Hudig, p.61, Michael. Royal Gallery of Academy, Florence.
- 1089- Joan Evans, Cluniac Art of The Romanesque Period, (Cambridge Un. Press, 1950), fig.121 a. Saint-Sauveur de Nevers. Fragment of Tympanum. Early 12th c. St. Michael.
- 1090- Romanesque Art In Europe, edited by Gustav Kunstler, 1968, Pub. New York Graphic Soc., LTD., Greenwich Connecticut, p.132-3, fig.100; see also: Romanesque Painting, by Joseph Pichard, Editio-Service S.A., Editions Rencontre Lausanne 1965, English Ed., Editio-Service S.A. Geneva 1968, p.81.
- 1091- Frederick Van Der Meer, Apocalypse, Visions from the Book of Revelation in Western Art, (NY, NY: Mercatorfonds Antwerp, Pub. Alpine Fine Arts Collection., 1978), 84-85, fig.49, Apocalypse, Visions from the Book of Revelation in Western Art.
- 1092- Caroline Walker Bynum, Jesus as Mother, Studies in the Spirituality of the High Middle Ages, (Berkeley, California: Un. of Berkeley California Press, 1982, paper back edition 1984), see page before title page. 12th century A.D., work in which the miniaturist had altered the conventional motif of a procession of monks toward the "crown of life" into a depiction of different social statuses or roles with their characteristic temptations.
- 1093- Paul also speaks of one who was "caught up" into the third heaven, & was also "caught up" into paradise. (2 Cor.12:1-4.) It seems that in the act of being "caught up" different kinds of hand clasps are depicted. (Ed. by John M. Lundquist, & Stephen D. Ricks, By Study & Also By Faith, (SLC, & Provo Utah: Deseret Book Co. & Foundation for Ancient Research & Mormon Studies, F.A.R.M.S., 1990), vols 1 & 2, see vol.1. p. 620-21, notes 43-45, p.634, of Chap.24, entitled: The Handclasp and Embrace as Tokens of Recognition, by Todd M. Compton, making reference in the notes 43-5 to: The Apocryphal New Testament, by M.R. James, (Oxford: Clarendon, 1955), p.95, & 137-39; 1 Enoch 71:3, in James H. Charlesworth, ed., The Old Testament Pseudepigrapha, 2 Vols. (New York: Doubleday, 1983), 1:49. The Lost Books of the Bible, p.63, 81-2, 85-88, Pub. by Alpha House 1926, The Gospel of Nicodemus, formerly called the Acts of Pontius Pilate, dated here to be from about the later end of the 3rd century A.D., translated the gospel published by Grynæus in the Orthodoxographia, vol. i, tom.ii, p.643. Slavonic Apocalypse of Abraham, c. A.D. 1300, the angel Yahoel (Metatron or Enoch) gestures to the heavens above as he leads a hesitant Abraham by the wrist. They ascend on the wings of eagles (cf. Exodus 19:4), Temple and Cosmos, Dr. Hugu Nibley, The Col. Works, Vol.12, 1992, Pub. by D.B.C., & F.A.R.M.S., SLC & Provo Ut., p.277-9, fig.49 on p.278. ANF, 8:353, 435-58, 577-8, there are different dates for this work, some date it 2nd century A.D., others, back to the 4th cent. A.D. While Maury places it as being from the 5th cent. A.D., from 405 to 420. And another writer suggests 439 A.D. In some depictions of Paul being caught up or "raised" to the 3rd Heaven. An angels come to escort him, one of the angels makes a gestural sign with the one hand, while with the other, the angel clasps the wrist of Paul to raise him up. See: The Illustration of the Pauline Epistles (in the French and English Bibles of the 12th and 13th Centuries), by Luba Eleen, 1982, Pub. by Clarendon Press, Oxford, see figs. 264 & 265.
- 1094- Miniature in an early German copy of the Liber Floridus, by Lambert of St-Omer, 12th c. Italic tradition. Wolfenbuttel, Herzog August Bibliothek, cod. Guelf. Gud. lat. 2, 14V. In this art work is what seems to be another depiction of a rites of passage hand clasp. For an arm extends down to clasp the wrists of the child who is about to enter into the heavenly realm away from the dragon. Meer, Apocalypse, p.128-9, fig.85.
- 1095- Jeffrey Russell, The Prince of Darkness... (Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988), 150-1.
- 1096- Paul Carcus, 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, 288.
- 1097- Paul Carcus, 1900, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, 241-438. Chandler Rathfon Post, A History of Spanish Painting, (Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard Un. Press, 1930-1958). (NY: Kraus reprint Co., 1970's). Fredk. WM. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Christ Lore (Being the Legends, Traditions, Myths, Symbols, & Superstitions of The Christian Church), (Lon.: 1902, republished, Detroit: Gale Research Company, Book Tower, 1969). George Every, 1970 & 1987, Christian Legends, (New York: Peter Bedrick Books). Every, Christian Mythology, (Lon., Eng.; NY, U.S.A.; Sydney Toronto: The Hamlyn Pub. Group Limited, 1970, and Middlesex, England: Hamlyn House, Feltham, 1973). Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1981). Russell, Lucifer, The Devil in the Middle Age, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1984). Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988). Ernst & Johanna Lehner, Devils, Demons, Death & Damnation, (NY: Dover Pictorial Archive Series, Dover Publishing Inc., 1971). J. Charles Wall, Devils, (London, England: Methuen & Company, 1904; Detroit: Singing Tree Press, Book Tower, 1968, reissued). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Terry L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010). R. G. Hamerton-Kelly, (Professor of the New Testament McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago), Society for New Testament Studies Monograph Series 21, Pre-Existence, Wisdom And The Son of Man, A Study of the Idea of Pre-existence in the New Testament, (Cambridge University Press; Cambridge, Great Britain, 1973). Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, & Other Little People, (NY: Gramercy Books, 2000 ed., earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978). Richard Cavendish, ed., Man, Myth & Magic, (NY: Marshal Cavendish, 1983), 11 vols.
- 1098- Peter Lasko; Editors: Nikolaus Pevsner and Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (Australia, etc.: Penguin Books, 1972), vol. 36, Ars Sacra: 800-1200, p. xix, plate 233. Bronze doors, c. 1135-40, lower right hand portion show Michael, in combat with the devil. Late 12th century. Verona, San Zeno.
- 1099- Jeffrey Russell, The Prince of Darkness... (Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988), 135-6.
- 1100- Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments Of Romanesque Art, The Art of Church Treasures in North-Western Europe, (The Un. of Chicago Press, 1954 & 2nd, Edition, 1967), plate 128, fig. 291, depicting an angel coming down out of heaven to take hold of the Christ child's right wrist, with his right hand. Adaption XII. English, 1140 A.D.

- 1101- Rev. chap. 12, Louis Hourticq, Harper's Encyclopedia of Art, Architecture Sculpture Painting, Decorative Arts, translated under the supervision of Tancred Borenius, PH.D., D. LIT., fully revised under the direction of J. Leroy Davidson & Philippa Gerry, L-Z, (New York, U.S.A., and London, England: Harper & Brothers Publishing, 1937), vol. II, p.312. SAINT SAVIN (Vienne, France).--The Church of St. Savin, 11th century, is decorated with famous frescoes, which date from the 12th century, A.D. In the porch, are scenes from the Apocalypse. See also the drawing of the art work on p.312, far left col., lower portion of page, ST. SAVIN: SCENE FROM THE APOCALYPSE. After the monograph by Merimee.
- 1102- Michel Thomas, Christine Mainguy, & Sophie Pommier, Textile Art, NY: Skira Rizzoli 1985, 105, ABRAHAM & ARCHANGEL ST MICHAEL Quedlinburg, Lower Saxony, 1250s Tapestry, St Michael Slaying Dragon. Marion P. Ireland, Textile Art in the Church, Tennessee & NY: Abingdon Press, 1971, 119, fig.55.
- 1103- C.R. Dodwell; Ed., Nikolaus Pevsner & Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (Harmondsworth, Australia, etc: Penguin Books, 1971), vol. 34, Painting in Europe 800 to 1200, p. xvi, plate 170. Civate, San Pietro, Angels in combat against dragon. Wall painting. Late eleventh or early 12th c.
- 1104- The Great Centuries of Painting) Romanesque Painting, see page 24. "The Triumph of the Archangel Michael Over the Dragon of Evil, Fragment. First half of the 12th century. Fresco in the Nave, San Pietro Al Monte, Civate." Gustav Kunstler, Editor, Romanesque Art In Europe, (NY: NY Graphic Soc. LTD., Greenwich Conn., 1968), see 100 San Pietro - CIVATE (COMO).
- 1105- Origins of Judaism, Vol. 3, Part I, Judaism & Christianity in the 1st Cent., Ed., Jacob Neusner, 1990, 83-4, 103, & 120, Early Christian Archaeology From the Jewish Point of View, Ludwig Blau, 171-2, 191, 208. Psa.121.
- 1106- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 134.
- 1107- John Beckwith, IVORY CARVINGS IN EARLY MEDIEVAL ENGLAND, (NY: NY Graphic Society LTD: Harvey Miller & Medcalf 1972, Lon. Eng.), figs 138-139, Florence, Museo Nazionale [Cat. 85].
- 1108- Madeleine Jarry, 1969, World Tapestry, From Its Origins to the Present, (France: Librairie Hachette, 1968, orig. title: La Tapisserie). ABRAHAM & THE ARCHANGEL MICHAEL. Lower Saxony, mid-12th c.. Traditionally said to have been woven by the abbess Agnes in the convent of Quedlinburg. Depicts the archangel Michael, who is fighting the dragon. Halberstadt Cathedral. Courtesy of the Domgemeindekirchenrat.
- 1109- Frederick Van Der Meer, Apocalypse, Visions from the Book of Revelation in Western Art, (NY, NY: Mercatorfonds Antwerp, Pub. Alpine Fine Arts Collection., 1978), 37-8, fig.14.
- 1110- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 134-35, 350, end notes 25-27: Brian Stock, Myth & Science in the Twelfth Century: A Study of Bernard Silvester, (Princeton, N. J.: Princeton Un. Press, 1972), 165, 203. C. S. Lewis, The Discarded Image, (Cambridge: Cambridge Un. Press, 1976), 156.
- 1111- Liber Scivias Codex, by Bernard, Hildegard von Bingen, 12th c. Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 135-136, 350, end note 28: Hildegard of Bingen, Scivias, I.iv.I-8 trans. Columba Hart & Jane Bishop, NY: Paulist, 1990, 109-16. Diane E. Wirth, Weaving Golden Threads, Early Christianity & its Restoration, SLC. Utah: Eborn Books, 2015, 53, fig. 3.4.
- 1112- Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments Of Romanesque Art, The Art of Church Treasures in North-Western Europe, Un. of Chicago Press, 1954 & 2nd, Ed., 1967, pl.207, fig.480, St. Michael & the dragon- Hildesheim c.1159 AD.
- 1113- Caroline Walker Bynum, Jesus as Mother, Studies in the Spirituality of the High Middle Ages, Un. of Berkeley Calif. Press, 1982, paper back ed. 1984, 146, note 126, Isaac of Stella, sermon 29, Sermons, ed. A Hoste and G. Salet, 2 vols. to date. SC 130 and 207, Sermon, 20 & 44 (Paris, 1967 & 1974) 2:172 (col.1785C-D).
- 1114- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150-1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 326-27. <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Bogomilism> - <http://www.voskrese.info/spl/Xbogomil.html> - Peters, Edward (1980). Heresy and authority in medieval Europe: documents in translation, Middle Ages University of Pennsylvania Press Middle ages series. Un. of Pennsylvania Press. p. 108.
- 1115- Chas S. Clifton, Encyclopedia of Heresies & Heretics, (NY: Barnes & Noble Books, 1992), 6-12.
- 1116- John Mundy The High Middle Ages 1150-1309 Lon.: Folio Soc. 1998, 300, 381, 401, n.5 Bibliotheca iuridica medii aevi, ed. Augusto Gaudenzi et al., 3 vols., Bologna, 1888-1901, II, 252, Rhetorica novissima, prologue.
- 1117- Paul Carcus, 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Bks, 1996, 282-84.
- 1118- See the movie: Cross Roads, (1986), with Joe Seneca, Jami, Gertz, Ralph Macchio, <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Yd60nI4sa9A> https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Crossroads_\(1986_film\)).
- 1119- Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, 283-285.
- 1120- Jeffrey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness,... Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988, 135-6.
- 1121- Frederick Van Der Meer, Apocalypse, Visions from the Book of Revelation in Western Art, NY: Mercatorfonds Antwerp, Pub. Alpine Fine Arts Collect. 1978, 41, fig.16. Miniature in Liber matitudinalis of Konrad von Schevern, author & miniaturist, 1206-25. Munich, Bayrische Staatsbibliothek, CLm 170I. AD 1220.
- 1122- The Rothschild Canticles, Art & Mysticism in Flanders & The Rhineland Circa 1300, Jeffrey F. Hamburger, 1990, Pub. with the Assistance of the Getty Grant Program, Yale Un. Press, New Haven & Lon., see #184, "New Testament (Vatican City, Biblioteca Vaticana, MS Vat. Lat. 39), f. 163r. (Photo: Biblioteca Vaticana)".
- 1123- Raymond S. Stites, The Arts And Man, (NY, U.S.A., & Lon. England: McGraw-Hill Book Company, 1940), 399, Fig. 336. Archangel Michael from the choir, cathedral in Bamberg.
- 1124- J. Charles Wall, 1904, Devils, Detroit: Singing Tree Press, Book Tower, 1968, reissued, 31.
- 1125- J. Charles Wall, 1904, Devils, Detroit: Singing Tree Press, Book Tower, 1968, reissued, 32.
- 1126- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150-1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 322, 403, end note 7: Speculum humanae salvationis I, prologue (eds. Lutz and Perdrizer), 5.
- 1127- J. Charles Wall, 1904, Devils, Detroit: Singing Tree Press, Book Tower, 1968, reissued, 36, 40-41.
- 1128- Jeffrey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, NY: Cornell University Press, 1988). Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca & London: Cornell Un. Press, 1981), 10 & 114. Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (New York, London, Toronto & Sydney: Gineeo Books, 2007), 59-174, etc. James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (New York, New York, Doubleday, 2005), 13-14, 39, 69, etc. Darell Thorpe, The Armor of Gods (Protective Skins or Garments in History & Color Symbolism), (Kindle Edition, 2012). Martial Rose, Editor, 1961, The Wakefield Mystery Plays, (Garden City, New York: Anchor Books, Doubleday & Company, Inc., 1962, 1963). Fredk, WM. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Christ Lore (Being the Legends, Traditions, Myths, Symbols, & Superstitions of

- The Christian Church), (London: 1902, republished, Detroit: Gale Research Company, Book Tower, 1969), 2. Manuel D'Histoire de la Litterature Francaise par Gustave Lanson et Paul Tuffrau, 1933, Librairie Hachette D.C. Heath & Co., Paris & Boston, p. 88-98. L. M. J. Delaisse, (Commentaries), Medieval Miniatures, From the Department of Manuscripts, Formerly the "Library of Burgundy" (New York: Harry N. Abrams, Inc., The Royal Library of Belgium), 96-8. J. Charles Wall, Devils, (Lon., Eng.: Methuen & Co., 1904; Detroit: Singing Tree Press, Book Tower, 1968, reissued), 40-41, 48, & 70.
- 1129- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150-1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 322, 403, end note 8: Liber de duobus principiis (ed. A. Dondaine, Rome, 1939), 84.
- 1130- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 134, 350, n. 24: Peter Lombard, Sentences, II, D. 18; Thomas Aquinas, Summa Theologica, I:Q47, art. 2:Q90, art. 4.
- 1131- Jeffrey Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, Ithaca & Lon.: Cornell Un. Press, 1981, 92-94. Louis Coulange, The Life of the Devil, Lon., Eng.: Alfred A. Knopf, 1929, trans. from French by Stephen Haden Quest, 5-7, 12-13, Saint Thomas Aquinas, Summa, I, 63, 7. See also: Suarez, De Angelis, 7, 16, 8. Perrin, Somme theologique, I, 35, 37. Origen, De Principiis, I, 5, 5; 4, 22; Homilies upon Numbers, 12, 4.
- 1132- Paul Carcus, 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY: Avenel: Gramercy Bks, 1996, 282-87.
- 1133- Colin Dempsey, Paul Collison (black & white art works), Emmett Elvin, design & layout, The Ultimate Encyclopedia of Mythical Creatures, (NY: Barnes & Nobles, 2006 Kandour Ltd). Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, orig. published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 282-87. Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 31, Merlin is said to have been demon-born, see also p. 62-63, Hill-trolls, 67, underground "gods," p. 75, subterranean powers personified, 78, underground people, evil elves, black in color. Art work of Dark Elves, female & male holding hands, as if symbolic of being wed(?), in between p. 78-79, Hill-people, Högfolk, see also p. 94, dwelling inside hills, mounds, trolls-dwarfs, thought of as evil spirits in fables. Page 109, underground folk, p. 198-200, underground people, black in color. Page 217, dwarfs as fallen angels, p. 363-364, fairies, little people in Ireland lore as part of the fallen angels. Page 385, fallen angels lore. Page 464, fairies as part of fallen angels lore.
- 1134- Janetta Rebold Benton, Holy Terrors, Gargoyles on Medieval Buildings, NY, Lon.: Abbeville Press 1997, 30.
- 1135- Joseph Pijoan, Art In The Middle Ages, (Chicago: Un. Of Knowledge, Wonder Books, Glenn Frank, Editor-in-Chief, 1940), 235, shows 3 bishops' crosiers, 2 of which show the said war. Carved & enameled at Limoges about 1250 A.D., Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York.
- 1136- The Book of Art, A Pictorial Encyc. of Painting, Drawing, & Sculpture, Origins Of Western Art, Text by Dr. Donald E. Strong, etc., Pub. Grolier, 1965, Vol. 1, p.148-9, B. Illustration to St. John's Book of Revelation, Chapter 12: from the Apocalypse Manuscript, about 1250 Aachen, Germany, coll. Dr. Peter Ludwig.
- 1137- Frederick Van Der Meer, Apocalypse, Visions from the Book of Revelation in Western Art, (New York, New York: Mercatorfonds Antwerp, Pub. Alpine Fine Arts Collection., 1978), p. 146-7, fig. 98, & p. 160-1, fig. 108. Cambridge, Trinity College, R 16 2, f. 13.
- 1138- The World Giotto, c.1267-1337, by Sarel Eimerl & the Editors of Time-Life Bks., 1967, p.22: "Florentine School: St. Michael Altarpiece, c. mid-13th Century" A.D.
- 1139- Charles Seymour, Jr., Early Italian Paintings in the Yale University Art Gallery, A Catalogue, (London: Yale University Press, N.H., 1970), p.11-13, #2.
- 1140- Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (NY: Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, orig. pub. in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 286-288.
- 1141- Colin Dempsey, Paul Collison (black & white art works), Emmett Elvin, design & layout, The Ultimate Encyclopedia of Mythical Creatures, (NY: Barnes & Nobles, 2006 Kandour Ltd). Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, orig. pub. in Chicago: Open Court Pub. Co. 1900, 282-87. Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 31, Merlin is said to have been demon-born, see also p. 62-63, Hill-trolls, 67, underground "gods," p. 75, subterranean powers personified, 78, underground people, evil elves, black in color. Art work of Dark Elves, female & male holding hands, as if symbolic of being wed(?), in between p. 78-79, Hill-people, Högfolk, see also p. 94, dwelling inside hills, mounds, trolls-dwarfs, thought of as evil spirits in fables. Page 109, underground folk, p. 198-200, underground people, black in color. Page 217, dwarfs as fallen angels, p. 363-364, fairies, little people in Ireland lore as part of the fallen angels. Page 385, fallen angels lore. Page 464, fairies as part of fallen angels lore.
- 1142- Nigel Morgan, Early Gothic Manuscripts, II, 1250 - 1285, A Survey of Manuscripts Illuminated in the British Isles - General Editor: J. J. G. Alexander, (London: Harvey Miller, 1988), fig.37, (Paris, Bibl. Nat., fr.403. f.8v & f.19v (cat.103). Depicting here the hand clasp between the Christ Child, & the Father, as Christ enters into the heavenly realms. This art work is based on a 13th century A.D. depiction of Rev. 12:1-5. A 7-headed dragon confronts a woman, & the Christ child, an angel came & took the Christ child up unto heaven. The hands of God clasped the hands of the child, as the angel passed the child on into God's hands. The dragon curled in its tail 1/3 stars, (symbolic of spirits) of heaven & thus made war with the heavenly hosts.
- 1143- Nigel Morgan, Early Gothic Manuscripts, II, 1250 - 1285, A Survey of Manuscripts Illuminated in the British Isles - General Editor: J. J. G. Alexander, (London: Harvey Miller, 1988), fig. 38, War in Heaven, Paris, Bibl. Nat., fr.403, f. 20 & f.23 (cat. 103).
- 1144- Nigel Morgan, Early Gothic Manuscripts, II, 1250-1285, A Survey of Manuscripts Illuminated in the British Isles - General Editor: J. J. G. Alexander, (London: Harvey Miller, 1988), fig., 114. Seven-headed Dragon, Woman's Child taken up to Heaven; War in Heaven. NY, Pierpont Morgan Lib., M. 524, f. 8v (cat. 122). Fig.115. Now is come Salvation; Dragon cast into Earth. NY, Pierpont Morgan Lib., M. 524, f. 9 (cat. 122).
- 1145- Nigel Morgan, Early Gothic Manuscripts, II, 1250 - 1285, A Survey of Manuscripts Illuminated in the British Isles - General Editor: J. J. G. Alexander, (London: Harvey Miller, 1988), fig.125. Woman's Child taken up to Heaven. Malibu, J. Paul Getty Museum, Ludwig III I, f. 20 (cat. 124).
- 1146- Jean Porcher French Miniatures, or Medieval French Miniatures, NY: Harry N. Abrams, 2 part page, XLV-Scene, Apocalypse, Lambert de St. Omer, Liber Floridus 1260, Bibliotheque National, Ms. Lat. 8865, f. 39.
- 1147- Paul Carcus 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Bks, 1996, 314-15.

1148- Rev.3:5, 11-12, 19:7-9; 22:14, Matt. 22:2, 11-13, Heb.2:11, 11:13-16; TANF, vol.1, p.27; etc., vol. 2, p. 173-4, 195-206, 215-219, 230-1, 234, 238, 235-257, 265-70, 302, 354-361, 409-441, 453-464, 490-495, 583-4, 602, etc.; J. Eugene Seach, Ancient Texts and Mormonism, (Murray, Utah: Sounds of Zion, 1983), p. 29-31 & 57-59; Eph.3:3-16, Interpreter's Bible X:541, etc. Ed. by John M. Lundquist, & Stephen D. Ricks, By Study & Also By Faith, (Salt Lake City, & Provo Utah: Deseret Book Company & Foundation for Ancient Research & Mormon Studies, F.A.R.M.S., 1990), volumes 1 & 2, vol.1, p. 611-42. The World of Weddings, Brian Murphy, 1978, p.99. J. J. G. Alexander, Italian Renaissance Illuminations, (New York: George Braziller, 1977), pp.76-77, plates 19-20. "BIBLE OF BORSO D'ESTE, VOLUME I fol. 5v & fol. 6 Book of Genesis, Volume I". Françoise Robin, Docteur ès lettres, La Cour d' Anjou-Provence, La vie artistique sous le règne de René, (Picard Editeur, 1985), fig. 124. Ibidem fol. 182: Mariage d'Emilie et de Palamon. Shows the religious leader grasping the wrist of the couple to bring their right hands together to make the clasp. See also: Margaret M. Manion & Vera F. Vines, Medieval and Renaissance Illuminated Manuscript, In Australian Collections, (London and New York: Thames and Hudson, Melbourne, 1984), p. 144 & 173, plate 36, Marriage of Joseph and Mary, No. 70, f.7r. The bishop depicted with them is grasping their right wrists to bring their hands together. In this case, the artist shows the moments before they grip each others' right hands. Other examples, show them clasping. Walter Cahn, Romanesque Bible Illumination, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1982 CR by Office du Livre, SA, Fribourg, Switzerland), p. 90, fig. 56. Wedding of Joseph: Millstatt Genesis (Klagenfurt, Kärntner Landesarchiv, Cod. VI. 19, fol. 60v. The bride's right-hand rest in the right-hand of the groom. Roland H. Bainton, The Horizon History of Christianity, (NY: American Publishing Co., Inc., & Harper and Row, Publishers, 1964), 70-71.

1149- J. Eugene Seach, Ancient Texts & Mormonism, Murray, Utah: Sounds of Zion, 1983, 70-1; Eph.2:12-22, 5:22-32, 1 Cor. chap.12.

1150- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 2:9-13, 18-19, 36-37, & 44-55.

1151- KTKK, 630 AM Radio, K-Talk, Salt Lake City, Utah: Martin Tanner, host of Religion on the Line. June 2, 1991, Tanner, guest: Darell Thorpe, subject: The Journey of the Soul in Early Christian art works & writings. Darell Thorpe, The Armor of Gods (Protective Skins or Garments in History & Color Symbolism), (SLC, Utah: Religious, Historical & Polemical Studies, also on line a Amazon, Kindle Edition, 2012). Darell Thorpe, college paper, for Salt Lake Community College: The Mystery Behind the Mysteries, Ritualistic Realm Pilgrims In early to later Christian Mysteries, (1996—1997). Google image search hand clasps on grave stone. Translations of Isaiah, John & Hermas, present the colors of garments as a symbolical type of the degrees of the righteousness of a person, or group of people, in contrast to the wickedness of a person, or persons. Isa.1:15-19, 22:21-25, 64:4-8; Rev.3:5, 11-22, 6:9-11, 7:9-17, 19:7-9. ANF, 2:18-19, 28, 36, (note 10), 48-50, & 53-5. Rev.19:7-9, the wife (or church) was made ready for the marriage to the Lamb (Christ). "She" should be arrayed in fine linen, and clean white, for "...the fine linen is the righteousness of saints." (Rev.19:8, KJV). A portion from another version read: "(Now the fine linen signifies the righteous deeds of God's people.) --NEB", (NEB = New English Bible). Some references to the "Lamb" are, in many cases, symbolical types of Christ who brought about the atonement, thus Christ was chosen to be the sacrificial lamb before the world began. See for example: Ex. 12:3-17; Isa.53:1-12; John 1:29, 36, Acts 8:32-35; 1 Pet.18-20; Rev.5:12-13, 7:13-17, 13:8, 19:7-9, 21:9-27, 22:3.

1152- Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (New York, San Diego, U.S.A.; London, England: Harcourt Brace & Company). Bernard J. Bamberger, Fallen Angels, Soldiers of Satan's Realm, (Philadelphia, Jewish Publication Society of America, 1952). Carl A. Raschke, Painted Black, From Drug Killings to Heavy Metal—The Alarming True Story of How Satanism is Terrorizing our Communities, (New York, New York: Harper Paperbacks, 1990). Colleen McDannell and Bernhard Lang, Heaven: A History, (New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1988). Darell Thorpe, The Armor of Gods (Protective Skins or Garments in History & Color Symbolism), (Kindle Edition, 2012). Ernst and Johanna Lehner, Devils, Demons, Death and Damnation, (New York: Dover Pictorial Archive Series, Dover Publishing Inc., 1971). Gilda Berger, Easter And Other Spring Holidays, (New York: London: Toronto: and Sydney: Franklin Watts, 1983, A First Book). H. Clay Trumbull, D.D., The Blood Covenant, A Primitive Rite and its Bearings on Scriptures, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1885). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). J. Charles Wall, Devils, (London, England: Methuen & Company, 1904; Detroit: Singing Tree Press, Book Tower, 1968, reissued). Keith Thomas, Religion & the Decline of Magic, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1971). Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (Armonk, New York & London England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc. 1989). Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (New York, London, Toronto & Sydney: Gineeo Books, 2007). Maury Terry, The Ultimate Evil, (Garden City, New York: Dolphin Book, Doubleday and Company, 1987). Paul Carus, Dr., 1852—1919, The History Of The Devil And The Idea Of Evil, From the earliest times to the present, (La Salle, Illinois: Open Court Publishing Company). Stephen Davis, Hammer of the Gods, The Led Zeppelin Saga, (William Morrow & Co., 1985). The Encyclopedia of Witches & Witchcraft, by Rosemary Ellen Guiley, 1989, p.101; Man Myth & Magic, Vol.1, p.277, Richard Cavendish. Two books: Backward Masking Unmasked, 1983, & More Rock, & Country and Backward Masking Unmasked, 1985, by Jacob Aranza, Published by Huntington House, Inc. Shreveport Louisiana. Leopold Wagner, Manners, Customs, & Observances, Their Origin & Signification, (Detroit: London: Scripta Manent, William Heinemann, 1894), republished in Detroit: Gale Research Company, Book Tower, 1968), pp.212—13; Robert J. Myers, CELEBRATIONS, The Complete Book of American Holidays, (Garden City, New York: The Editors of Hallmark Cards, Doubleday & Company, 1972), pp.108 & 156-7; Lillie Patterson, A Holiday Book, Easter, 1966, p. 21-22; Aileen Fisher, A Crowell Holiday Book, Easter, (New York: Thomas Y. Crowell Company, 1968), pages not numbered. See also: Anthony S. Mercatante, The Facts On File Encyclopedia Of World Mythology And Legend, (Oxford; New York: Facts On File, 1988), p.673; Raymond Jahn, Concise Dictionary of Holidays, (New York: Philosophical Library, 1958), p.100; Leslie Dunkling, A Dictionary of Days, (Oxford, England: New York, New York: Facts On File Publishers), p.131; Gilda Berger, Easter And Other Spring Holidays, (New York; London; Toronto; Sydney: Franklin Watts, A First Book, 1983), p.38.

1153- KTKK, 630 AM Radio, K-Talk, Salt Lake City, Utah: Martin Tanner, host of Religion on the Line. June 2, 1991, Tanner, guest: Darell Thorpe, subject: The Journey of the Soul in Early Christian art works and writings. Darell Thorpe, The Armor of Gods (Protective Skins or Garments in History & Color Symbolism), (Salt Lake City, Utah: Religious, Historical & Polemical Studies, also on line a Amazon, Kindle Edition, 2012). Darell Thorpe, college paper, for Salt Lake Community College: The Mystery Behind the Mysteries, Ritualistic Realm Pilgrims In early to later Christian Mysteries, (1996—1997). Chandler Rathfon Post, A History of Spanish Painting, (Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1930—1958). (New York: Kraus reprint Company, 1970's), numerous volumes. Clifford Davidson, Editor, The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, and Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Kalamazoo, Michigan: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan University, 1994). Colleen McDannell and Bernhard Lang, Heaven: A History, (New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1988). Stephen D. Ricks, & LeGrand L. Barker, Who Shall Ascend Into the Hill of the Lord? The Psalms In Israel's

- Temple Worship In The Old Testament and in the Book of Mormon, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Books, 2009). Donald W. Parry, (Editor), Marion D. Hanks, Hugu W. Nibley, Andrew F. Ehat, Truman G. Madsen, John M. Lundquist, Stephen D. Ricks, Donald W. Parry, Michael A. Carter, John J. Sroka, John W. Welch, M. Catherine Thomas, William J. Hamblin, Brian M. Hauglid, John A. Tvedtnes, and many others providing research papers, and unpublished works for authors to consider, Temples Of The Ancient World, Ritual and Symbolism, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Desert Book Company, 1994, & Provo, Utah: Foundation For Ancient Research and Mormon Studies). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Leo MacCauley and Anthony Stephenson, The Works of Saint Cyril of Jerusalem, (Washington D.C.: Catholic University Press, 1964). Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (New York, London, Toronto & Sydney: Gineeo Books, 2007). R. G. Hamerton-Kelly, (Professor of the New Testament McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago), Society for New Testament Studies Monograph Series 21, Pre-Existence, Wisdom And The Son of Man, A Study of the Idea of Pre-existence in the New Testament, (Cambridge University Press; Cambridge, Great Britain, 1973). R. McL. Wilson, B.D., Ph.D., Translated from the Coptic Text, with an Introduction & Commentary, The Gospel of Philip, (London: A.R. Mowbray & Company). Robert Hughes, Heaven and Hell in Western Art, (New York: Stein and Day/Pub., 1968). John Lawrence Mosheim, D.D., An Ecclesiastical History, (London: 1819, Translated by Archibald Maclaine), 6 volumes. The Lost Books of The Bible & The Forgotten Books of Eden, (USA, Newfoundland: Alpha House, 1926 & 1927, World Bible Publishers). Roger J. Adams, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptisms for the Dead, (unpublished manuscript 1977). Brigham Young University Studies (Provo, Utah: BYU), vol. 22, Winter 1982, #1, p. 31-45, Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity, Blake Ostler.
- 1154- The Great Centuries of Painting, Romanesque Painting, 84, Part of 4 parts art of Episodes from Legend of Archangels. 13th c. Altar Frontal at Vich. Museum of Catalan Art, Barcelona.
- 1155- Caroline Walker Bynum, Jesus as Mother, Studies in the Spirituality of the High Middle Ages, (Calif.: Un. of Berkeley Calif. Press, 1982, paper back ed. 1984), 186, 193-4, n.62. Doyere, Introduct., Oeuvres 2: Heraut, 47.
- 1156- Caroline Walker Bynum, Jesus as Mother, Studies in the Spirituality of the High Middle Ages, (Berkeley, California: University of Berkeley California Press, 1982, paper back edition 1984), p. 228, & 233-4.
- 1157- Jaroslav Pelikan, The Illustrated Jesus Through The Centuries, (New Haven & London: Yale University Press, 1997), p. 63 & 249. Pietro di Pucci da Orvieto, Universe Supported by God with the Signs of the Planets, Campo Santo, Pisa, Italy (Alinari/Art Resource, N.Y.)
- 1158- John McManners, Editor, The Oxford Illustrated History of Christianity, (Oxford; New York: Oxford University Press, 1990), see needlework made shortly after 1300, English. Showing, among other things, one aspect of the war in heaven, with Michael thrusting a lance into the jaws of the dragon.
- 1159- Robert Oertel, Early Italian Painting to 1400, NY & Washington: Frederick A. Praeger, 1966, fig. 52. FILIPPO RUSUTTI The Creation. Assisi, San Francesco. Art & Mankind, General Ed., Rene Huyghe, Pub., Prometheus Press NY., 1958, p.149-50, fig. 296; The Art of the Illuminated Manuscript, David M. Robb, Pub. South Brunswick etc., 1973, p.168-9, fig.107; Ethiopia Illuminated Manuscripts, texts by Stephen Wright, etc., 1961, Pub. by The N.Y. Graphic Soc., pl.XIX; The Icon, Kurt Weitzmann, etc., 1982, Pub. Alfred A. Knopf, NY, p.107, & 321; History of Art by H.W. Janson, Pub. Harry N. Abrams, NY., 1986, p.82, fig.123, p.225-8, fig.328; The Malcove Collection, Ed. by Sheila D. Campbell. Un. of Toronto Press 1985, p.258, #351; Medieval Art, W.R. Lethaby, revised by D. Talbot Rice, Pub. Thomas Nelson & Sons LTD, Lon. & NY., p.50, pl.14; The Medieval Treasury, by Ed. by Paul Williamson, Pub. by Victoria & Albert Museum, 1986, p.116-7; Ivory Carvings in Early Medieval England, John Beckwith, 1973, Harvey Miller & Medcalf LTD, Lon., Eng., fig.33; Monuments of Romanesque Art, by Hanns Swarzenski, 1967, orig. pub. 1954, Un. of Chicago Press, pl.66, fig.151.
- 1160- The World In Literature, vol. I, by Warnock Anderson, Scott T. Foresman, see Centuries of Transition, II: 166-7, CANTO VIII.
- 1161- J. Charles Wall, Devils, (London, England: Methuen & Company, 1904; Detroit: Singing Tree Press, Book Tower, 1968, reissued), p. 24, 68, French Miniature. THE BEAST OF THE APOCALYPSE are depicted in an early 14th century work in English miniature.
- 1162- Monasteries Of the World, The Rise & Development of the Monastic Tradition, by Christopher Brooke, photo: Wim Swaan, Pub. Crescent books, 1982 ed., Paul Elek, see fig.255. The Syon cope, early 14th century a detail showing St. Michael & the dragon, Victoria & Albert Museum.
- 1163- Frederick Van Der Meer, Apocalypse, Visions from the Book of Revelation in Western Art, (NY, NY: Mercatorfonds Antwerp, Pub. Alpine Fine Arts Collection., 1978), 190-1, fig.126.
- 1164- Gilbert Thurlow, All color book of Biblical Myths & Mysteries, Lon.; NY, NY: Octopus Books, 1974; Distributed in USA by Crescent Books a division of Crown Pub. Inc., 14th c. war in heaven, Norwich Cathedral.
- 1165- Italy, History - Art - Landscape, by Mercury Art Books, Florence: Edizioni Mercurio, 1954-7, by Mercurio, see pages 200-1. THE TRIUMPH OF DEATH. WALL - PAINTING ATTRIBUTED TO ORCAGNA, 14TH. century. Jeffrey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988). Harper's Encyc. of Art, Vol.1, page after 183, see: Sienese Paintings, THE TRIUMPH OF DEATH. CAMPO SANTO, PISA.
- 1166- Byzantine Painting, The Last Phase, by David Talbot Rice, The Dial Press, N.Y., 1968, p.166-7, fig. 124, "Icon, The Archangel Michael; fourteenth century, The Museo Civico, Pisa."
- 1167- Edith Rothe, Mediaeval Book Illumination In Europe, The Collection of the German Republic, (NY: W.W. Norton & Co.). Trans. from the German Buchmalerei aus zwolf Jahrhunderten, by Mary Whittall, (Germany: Union Verlag (VOB), 1966, Lon., Eng.: Thames & Hudson, 1968), pl.61, Revelation . St Michael & the dragon Central Germany, c. 1340, (see p.211).
- 1168- New International Encyclopedia of Art, vol.13, p. 2756-7.
- 1169- Paintings in the Louvre, by Lawrence Gowing, 1987, Stewart, Tabori & Chang, N.Y., p.38, MASTER OF THE REBEL ANGELS Avignon? 1340 A.D., St. Martin Dividing His Cloak; Fall of the Rebel Angels. Part of a two parts panel. Deposited by the Bourges Museum in 1967. DL. 1967-1 A and B (both, MN).
- 1170- Leonard W. Cowie, 1962, The March of the Cross, NY, Canada, Eng.: McGraw-Hill Book, p. 82, fig.90.
- 1171- Robert Wernick, The Emergence of Man, The Monument Builders, (NY: Time-Life Books, 1973), p. 58.

- 1172- Medieval Book Illumination In Europe, The Collection of the German Republic, Edith Rothe, Pub. by W.W. Norton & Co. Inc. NY. Trans. from the German Buchmalerei aus zwölf Jahrhunderten, by Mary Whittall, Pub. 1966 by Union Verlag (VOB) Berlin. This edition 1968 by Thames & Hudson, London. Fig. 61 depicts the angel Michael thrusting a spear or rod into the mouth of the dragon. Revelation chap.12. Central Germany, 1340, p.211.
- 1173- Frederick Van Der Meer, Apocalypse, Visions from the Book of Revelation in Western Art, (NY, NY: Mercatorfonds Antwerp, Pub. Alpine Fine Arts Collection., 1978), 183, fig.123.
- 1174- George Every, Christian Legends, (NY: Peter Bedrick Books, 1970 & 1987), 42. This tapestry made by Jean Bandol for Louis, Duke of Anjou, Musee des Tapisseries at Angers, France.
- 1175- Italian Paintings in the Walters Art Gallery, by Federico Zeri, Vol.1, p. 21-22, pl.11, fig.12, Baltimore, Pub. by the Trustees, 1976, Master of Santa Verdiana, St. Michael.
- 1176- Gothic Art, Erlange-Brandenburg, Alain, translated from the French by I. Mark Paris, (New York: Harry N. Abrams, 1983), p.271, plate 105, Andres Marsal De Saxe, late 14th-early 15th century A.D., Altarpiece of St. George, (Valencia c. 1400 Panel Painting Vic. & Alb. #63(?), Mus. London).
- 1177- Ronald W. Lightbown, Mediaeval European Jewellery, (Published by the Victoria & Albert Museum with the Assistance of the Getty Grant Program, C/R 1992), p. 162, fig.80.
- 1178- Brigham Young University Studies, 1989, Vol.29, article entitled: Early British Christianity, by C. Wilfred Greggs, p.53, see notes 29-30, p.65, note 29- J. M. C. Toynbee, A New Roman Mosaic Pavement Found in Dorset, Journal of Roman Studies 54 (1964): 7-14. And note 30, Burn, Romans in Britain, 168-69.
- 1179- Ernest Ingersoll, Dragons and Dragon Lore, (New York: Payson & Clarke Ltd., 1928), p. 133 & 169.
- 1180- Jennifer O'Reilly, A Garland Series, Outstanding Theses In The Fine Arts From British Universities, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, (NY, & Lon., Eng.: Garland Pub., Inc., 1988). Thesis submitted to the University of Nottingham for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, October 1972), 255-6.
- 1181- William Hood, Fra Angelico at San Marco, (New Haven & Lon.: Yale Un. Press, 1993), p.109, plate 57.
- 1182- Andreas Stylianou and Judith A. Stylianou, The Painted Churches Of Cyprus, Treasures of Byzantine Art, (London: Trigraph - for the A.G. Leventis Foundation, 1985), p. 316 & 318, fig. 189. Moses and the Vision of the Burning Bush, ca. 1500, "Latin chapel," monastery of St. John Lampadistis, Kalopanayiotis.
- 1183- Jennifer O'Reilly, 10-1972 Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, A Garland Series, Outstanding Theses in the Fine Arts from British Universities, NY Lon.: Garland Pub. 1988, 413-14.
- 1184- Art & Archaeology, The Arts Throughout the Ages, series, May, 1924, vol. 17, #5, VI. R. Petkovitch, article: Serbian Paintings of The Middle Ages, p. 219. In the church of Manasiya, is a 15th century work of the Knightly armed and dressed Michael, the arch-angel.
- 1185- Francis Henry Taylor, 50 Centuries of Art, (New York: The Metro. Mus. of Art by Harper & Brothers, 1954), p. 116, SPANISH- St. MICHAEL Valencian, 15th CENT. AD.
- 1186- Ronald W. Lightbown, Mediaeval European Jewellery, (Published by the Victoria & Albert Museum with the Assistance of the Getty Grant Program, C/R 1992), p. 482, 526-7, pl.144a. Paternoster. Gold, English, c. 1500. Victoria & Albert Museum, London. Cat.81, M.30-1934.
- 1187- Father Louis Coulange, The Life of the Devil, (London: Alfred A. Knopf, 1929), art work by title page. Photo by Giraudon. 15th century, war in heaven.
- 1188- J. Charles Wall, Devils, (Lon. England: Methuen & Co. 1904; Detroit: Singing Tree Press, Book Tower, 1968, reissued), 41-42, Fabricius, vol.1. 37, says that Lucifer was distinguished from the rest of the other seraphs by a crown, in his quality of "light-bearer." Other are works show a crown on the falling Lucifer, symbolizing his rank as the Lord of Darkness. L. M. J. Delaisse, (Commentaries), Medieval Miniatures, From the Department of Manuscripts, Formerly the "Library of Burgundy" (New York: Harry N. Abrams, Inc., The Royal Library of Belgium), 96-98, portion of a 6-part depiction: The creation and fall of the Angels. Historiated Bible of Guiard Des Moulins, first part. Paris, about 1410. Ms. 9001, f.19. Showing the portion where Lucifer, for his rebellion, is thrust out of heaven & is demonified on the way down into the jaws of hell. Other angels fall with him, he has a crown on his head to symbolize his rank as becoming the Lord of Darkness. See also: Jeffrey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988).
- 1189- J. Charles Wall, Devils, (London, England: Methuen & Company, 1904; Detroit: Singing Tree Press, Book Tower, 1968, reissued), p.80. See also: An Illustrated Cultural History Of England, by F.E. Halliday, 1967-8, A Studio Book, The Viking Press, N.Y., p.86. "Fairford Church, Gloucestershire. The Last Judgment in the late Perpendicular west window, c. 1500. The earth burns beneath Christ's feet, below is St. Michael weighing souls and Hell is on the right. Carol Zaleski, Otherworld Journeys, Accounts of Near-Death Experiences In Medieval and Modern Times, (New York and Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987).
- 1190- Medieval Miniatures, (from the Dept. of Manuscripts, formerly the Library of Burgundy. The Royal Library of Belgium). Commentaries by L.M.J. Delaisse, (New York: Harry N. Abrams, publishing date ?, mid-20th century), p.96-8. Historiated Bible of Guiard Des Moulins, 1st part, Paris, Ms. 9001, f.19.
- 1191- Frederick Van Der Meer, Apocalypse, Visions from the Book of Revelation in Western Art, (New York, New York: Mercatorfonds Antwerp, Pub. Alpine Fine Arts Collection., 1978), 30. Miniature by the Limburg Brothers, in the Tres riches Heures of John, Duke of Berry. The text is in the Introit of the Mass in honor of the faithful Angels, 1409-15, also, John, on Patmos, contemplating the Vision of the Throne, with the Lamb, the four Beings and the twenty-four Elders. Frontispiece facing the beginning of the Gospel of St. John, in the Tres riches Heures of John, Duke of Berry, by the Limburg Brothers. Chantilly, Musee Conde. (I).
- 1192- G. J. Hoogewerff, De Noord-Nederlandsche Schilderkunst, Door ('S-Gravenhage: Martinus Nijhoff, 1936), 209, Afb.91. Pijlerschildering in de St. Walburgkerk te Zutphen. (Na de restauratie). Michael lances dragon.
- 1193- Joseph Campbell, with Bill Moyes Editor, The Power Of Myth, (NY; Lon.: Doubleday, 1988), see the colored plates in between pp.108-109, plate 14, "Fall of the Rebellious Angels, from Les Tres Riches Heures du Duc de Berry, Brothers Limbourg, Franco-Flemish, 1411-16." A.D.
- 1194- Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, Ithaca & Lon.: Cornell Un. Press, 1981, 81.
- 1195- Wim Swaan, The Late Middle Ages, Art and Architecture from 1350 to the Advent of the Renaissance, (Ithaca, New York: Paul Elek, LTD., 1977, Cornell University Press), p.162-3, fig.257. Harper's Encyclopedia of Art, Architecture Sculpture Painting, Decorative Arts, based on the work of Louis Hourticq, translated under the supervision of Tancred Borenius, PH.D., D. LIT., fully revised under the direction of J. Leroy Davidson & Philippa Gerry, L-Z, (New York & London: Harper & Brothers, 1937), vol. II, page after 258, see bottom left area. COSIMO

TURA: ST. GEORGE OVERCOMING THE DRAGON.

- 1196- David M. Zesmer, Guide to English Literature From Beowulf through Chaucer & Medieval Drama, (NY: Barnes & Noble, 1961, 10th print 1970, Pub. Booksellers Since 1873), 279-83.
- 1197- Five Illuminated Manuscripts of Giangaleazzo Visconti, by Edith W. Kirsch, Published for College Art Association, by The Pennsylvania State Un. Press, Un. Park & Lon., 1991, see fig. 53. Belbello da Pavia (on a dei Grassi design), c. 1427. Fall of the Rebel Angels. Florence, Bibl. naz., Landau-Finally, fols. IIV-12.
- 1198- A Catalogue Of Italian, Spanish and Byzantine Paintings, The Metropolitan Museum of Art, by Harry B. Wehle, N.Y. 1940, 212-3, Unknown Valencian Painter, Early XV c. 39.54. Saint Michael triumphant.
- 1199- A Catalogue Of Italian, Spanish and Byzantine Paintings, The Metropolitan Museum of Art, by Harry B. Wehle, N.Y. 1940), p.214-16, #76.10, Compare Isa.14:12-19; Rev.12: 13-10. "Unknown Valencian Painter, First Quarter of the XV Century". #12.192. Saint Michael and the Dragon. Formerly attributed by the Museum to the Master of the Bambino Vispo. J.P. Richter, Cat. of Locko Park (1901), no. 203, ill., attributes this painting to Neri de Bicci. While F. J. Sanchez Canton said in 1930, that it was either the Valencian or the Majorcan school. However, D. Angulo said in 1933 that it was Valencian, & dates it 1400-1450 A.D. J. Gudiolit, in 1940, called it a Valencian work, which dated between 1400 & 1430 A.D.
- 1200- Federico Zeri, 1976, Italian Paintings in the Walters Art Gallery, Baltimore: Pub. by the Trustees, 1:236, Pl.116, fig.159. "Antonio Vivarinni..." No. 703, reproduced in van Marle, VII, fig. 231. A conspicuous borrowing from one of the masters of the Venetian Gothic, painted in Antonio Vivarini's early phase, before 1440.
- 1201- Jennifer O'Reilly, A Garland Series, Outstanding Theses In The Fine Arts From British Universities, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, (NY, U.S.A., & Lon., England: Garland Pub., Inc., 1988). Thesis submitted to Un. of Nottingham for the degree of Dr. of Philosophy, October 1972), 226-7.
- 1202- John Coulson, Editor, Introduction by C. C. Martindale, S. J., The Saints, A Concise Biographical Dictionary, (New York: Hawthorn Books, Inc., 1958, 1960), p. 332 & 353, Michael, with a sword in his hand, painted by Hans Memline, 1430—35—1495. Wallace Collection, London.
- 1203- Benedictine Monks of St. Augustine's Abbey, Ramsgate, The Book of Saints, A Dictionary of Servants of God, (Wilton, Connecticut: Morehouse Pub., 1921, 1989, sixth edition), 401.
- 1204- New International Illustrated Encyc. of Art, vol. 9, p. 1894, Galleries dell'Accademia, Venice.
- 1205- Terry Givens, When Souls Had Wings... (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 69.
- 1206- L.M.J. Delaisse, Medieval Miniatures, From the Department of Manuscripts, Formerly the Library of Burgundy, NY: Harry N. Abrams, The Royal Library of Belgium, 136-7, The Punishment of the Rebellious Angels.
- 1207- Edward McNall Burns, Robert E. Lerner, & Standish Meacham, Western Civilizations, Their History and Their Culture, (NY: W.W. Norton & Co., 1st ed. 1941, 7th ed. 1968-9, 10th ed. 1984), vol. 1, see color plate before p.385, "Vespers of the Holy Ghost, with a View of Paris, Jean Fouquet. From the Book of Hours of Etienne Chevalier, 1461. The cathedral in the art work is Nortre Dame" (Robert Lehman). Medieval Travellers, by Margaret Wade Labarge, 1982, Pu. W.W. Norton & Co., NY, & Lon., 21, plate 6; Europe 1492 Portrait of a Continent 500 Years Ago, by Franco Cardini, Pub. by Facts On File, NY., Oxford, 1989 by Anaya Editoriale, 32.
- 1208- Devils, Demons, Death and Damnation, by Ernst and Johanna Lehner, (Dover Pictorial Archive Series), Dover Pub., Inc., N.Y., 1971, p.25, fig.50. Casus Luciferi (the fall of Lucifer). From Biblia Pauperum (the poor man's Bible), a block-book printed at Bamberg, 1470.
- 1209- Federico Zeri, 1976, Italian Paintings in the Walters Art Gallery, (Baltimore: Pub. by the Trustees), vol.1, p.193-4, pl.96, fig.127. Serra (L' arte nelle Marche. Il, periodo del Rinascimento, 1934, p. 272, 281, figs. 348, 357), mistakes the 2 faces of the standard for 2 different pictures, & dates the St. Michael near 1491. Lorenzo di Alessandro, St. Michael (reverse) side.
- 1210- Michel Colombe, a French sculptor, born about 1430 A.D., & died in 1512 A.D., is said to have been of Breton origin, born in the neighborhood of Leon. And lived in Touraine. During the Gothic period he settled at Tours. In 1473-4 A.D., He went to work on several works. One of which hints to dragon slaying type lore. Harper's Encyc. of Art, Vol.1, p.83-4. Note also the art work depicting "COLOMBE (Michel). St. George FIGHTING THE DRAGON." Paul Vitry's Michel Colombe et la sculpture francaise de son temps. Paris, 1901.
- 1211- New International Illustrated Encyclopedia of Art, Vol.8, p. 1671-3, Palazzo Barberini, Rome. Vol.8, p. 1672. Vol.21, p. 4378-9, & Vol.23, p. 4698-9, Vol.24, p. 4904-5.
- 1212- Angelo S. Rappoport, Ph.D., Ancient Israel Myths and Legends, NY: Bonanza Books, 1987, 3 vols. in 1. Vol.1, p. 6-9, 39, 42-43, 70-1, Huge Nibley, The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, Provo & SLC, Utah: FARMS, & Deseret Book Co., vol. 1: Old Testament and Related Subjects, (1986), 153-59. Nibley, vol.16: The Message of the Joseph Smith Papyri, An Egyptian Endowment, 2005, 2nd ed., 424-46, 436-41, 455-56, 471, 496-98, 531-32. Bernard J. Bamberger, Fallen Angels, Soldiers of Satan's Realm, (Philadelphia, Jewish Publication Society of America, 1952), 109-10, Miscellaneous Coptic Texts (In the Dialect of Upper Egypt), Edited & translated by Ernest Alred Thompson Wallis Budge, M.A., Litt. D., 1915, p.576, & 579, (Brit. Mus. MS. Oriental, No. 7030). Jahrbuch Der Berliner Museen, Jahrbuch der Preuäischen Kunstsammlungen, Neue Folge, Berlin, Germany: Gebr. Mann Verlag, 1977, Neunzehnter Band, 1977, p.167, Abb. 51. Mathias Kager zugeschr., Verkündigung, 1599, Federzeichnung lav., Düsseldorf, Kunstmuseum. Baby Jesus' spirit descends out of heaven towards Mary, his mother to be. Page 167, Abb. 52. Philipp Uffenbach fälschlich zugeschr., Verkündigung, 1600, Wien, Kunsthistorisches Museum. Baby Jesus' spirit descends out of heaven towards Mary, his mother to be. Stephen D. Ricks, & LeGrand L. Barker, Who Shall Ascend Into the Hill of the Lord? The Psalms In Israel's Temple Worship In The Old Testament & in the Book of Mormon, SLC, Utah: Eborn Books, 2009, 101-2, 112-17, 197, 201-2, 271, 373-407, 434-5. Donald W. Parry, (Editor), Marion D. Hanks, Huge W. Nibley, Adrew F. Ehat, Truman G. Madsen, John M. Lundquist, Stephen D. Ricks, Donald W. Parry, Michael A. Carter, John J. Sroka, John W. Welch, M. Catherine Thomas, William J. Hamblin, Brian M. Hauglid, John A. Tvedtnes, and many others providing research papers, & unpublished works for authors to consider, Temples Of The Ancient World, Ritual and Symbolism, SLC, Utah: Desert Book Co., 1994, & Provo, Utah: FARMS. Jeffrey M. Bradshaw, Temple Themes In the Book of Moses, SLC, Utah: Eborn Pub., 2010, 26-48, 53-59, 77, 81, 84-89, 100-101, 115, 117-24, 151, 188-92. James Wasserman, The Temple of Solomon, From Ancient Israel to Secret Societies, Rochester, Vermont, Toronto, Canada: Inner Traditions, 2011, 63-67, 76, 81, 86, 102-03, 172-73.
- 1213- There are many cases in art of protective garment traditions, to name a few: Laurie Schneider Adams, A History of Western Art, Boston, NY, etc.: McGraw Hill, 1994, 1997, 2001, 3rd ed., p. 188, figures 12.9 & 12.10, Gislebertus, Last Judgment, Cathedral of St. Lazare, Autun, Burgendy, c. 1120-1135. Souls wrap themselves in Michael's angelic robes to protect themselves from the monstrous devils, during the weighing of souls. Thus, post-death, encounters with deeds, where the post-fall from heaven activities of the devils are in how they try to tip the scales by hanging on them. Thus, attempting to cheat the verdict of judgment against the soul being judged. Denise Hooker, (Editor), History of Western Art, (NY: Barnes & Nobles, 1994, text & art work 1989, Boxtree Limited), p. 88–89. Etc. Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Michel Pierre, Morgan - Antoine Sabbagh, The Human Story, Europe In The Middle Ages, (Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Sliver Burdett Press, 1988), p. 34, originally published in 1986 by Casterman, under the title: L' Histoire des Hommes: L' Europe du Moyen Age. Sir Herbert Read, Dr. Donald E. Strong, Professors David Talbot Rice and Giuseppe Bovini, and G. Zarnecki, Peter Lasko, Dr. George Henderson, The Book of Art, A Pictorial Encyclopedia of Painting, Drawing, and Sculpture, (Grolier Inc., 1965), vol. 1, Origins of Western Art, p. 138, A: The Dormition of the Virgin, 10th century, Cologne, Schnütgen Mus. An angel descends with a cloth to cloth Mary's soul in, as also seen in another section.

1214- R.&L. Brasch, (Dr.) How Did It Begin? The Origins of Our Curious Customs & Superstitions, (NY: MJF Books, 1st Pub. paper back 2011. Hardback 2014, CR 2006 Li Brasch), 37–8. Eric Maple, Superstition and the Superstitious, (South Brunswick, New York: A. S. Barnes & Company, 1971, first American Edition, 1972, Cranbury, New Jersey), 40, knot tied in matrimony, representing the bond of marriage: "Among primitive people a knot is often regarded as an amulet that protects one from the attack of evil spirits." (Page 88). See also p. 82–83, with demons venturing forth at night to attack sleeping mankind, led to the superstition of nurses in hospitals, upon making beds, they would have to be careful not to place new blankets over a chair, for this could mean at least three deaths in the hospital could follow, so goes this bedding blanket superstition. It should also be remembered, that in the past, the dead were often wrapped in woollen blankets before burial. E. And M. A. Radford, The Encyclopedia of Superstitions, (USA: Metford, 2002), 28, babies were believed to be in constant peril from witches, fairies, and evil spirits, until they were christened, or baptized, thus amongst other protective charms, parents would put "his parents' clothes in the cradle." See also p. 105–106, clothes, p. 354–60, wedding dress, & veil superstitions. Iona Opie and Moira Tatem, (Editors), A Dictionary of Superstitions, (Oxford, New York: Oxford University Press, 1989), 86–88, protective clothing lore & superstitions is seen in the turning of a cloak inside out to protect one against evil spirits-devils, called Pucks, in 1648 R. Corbet Poet Stromata 55, 'Inter Boreale'. "Turne your Cloakes. Quoth hee, for Puck is busy in these Oakes: If ever wee at Bosworth will be found Then turne your Cloakes, for this is Fayry-ground." See also: Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (NY: Gramercy Books, 2000 ed., earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 291, also citing Inter Boreale, in foot note. For more on lore & superstitions on protective cloths, garments, & other clothing items, threads, that was believed to protect loved ones from the different demons, & other dark demonic creatures of the forests, streams, lakes & underground races of fallen angels, evil spirits, & unclean spirits, see p. 63–65, 70–71, 78–80, 94, 117, 122–24, 148–50, 156–59, 197–200, 214–219, 223–24, 245–46, 258–63, 270–71, 314–19, 333, 360–63, 371, 385–86, 403, 407, 441–42, 464. Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, (NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally pub. in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Co., 1900), 346–48, 387–88, 401, 406–414. Jeffrey Burton Russell, Lucifer, The Devil in the Middle Age, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1984), The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988).

1215- <https://jennajaxon.wordpress.com/2014/01/10/b-is-for-bedding-the-bride/> - https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:Memmo_Di_Filippuccio_-_Erotic_scenes_-_WGA15023.jpg -

1216- <http://ica.themorgan.org/manuscript/page/30/77118> - Morgan Lib. & Museum, NY, Medieval & Renaissance Manuscripts, Book of Hours, Paris France, 1485–90, MS M.231 fol. 137r.

1217- <http://medieval.tumblr.com/post/1043075716/this-is-just-right-out-rheal37-making-visible> - <http://perpetuummobile.tumblr.com/page/4> - Different views on the interpretation of this art work. Most agree & claim that this illumination is from a fifteenth-century French manuscript shows a couple in bed. The Holy Trinity—father, son and Holy Ghost—watch from the upper left corner and send them a naked childlike form. Similar to iconography of the Annunciation, where a naked spirit baby of Christ descends down to Mary. In this art work, the scroll quotes Genesis from the Latin Bible: 'Let us create man in our image and likeness' ('Faciamus hominem ad imaginem et similitudinem nostram'). The slippers by the bed refer to God's commandment to Moses to remove his sandals before the holy ground of the burning bush. Thus, possible types for the setting to be like the early to later Christian mysteries, the removal of clothing items, the couple having most likely been recently been joined together through the mystery of marriage, and so points to the holiness of the sacrament of marriage. The woman's extended right arm probably signifies Eve's offering the apple from the Tree of Knowledge, reminding us that we all inherit Original Sin at conception. The burning candle on the mantelpiece indicates the beginning of a new life about to go through ensoulment. As to when the spirit enters the body, many variable opinions on the timing. <http://www.sites.hps.cam.ac.uk/visibleembryos/sl3.html> - <http://wtfarthistory.com/post/7886097565/homunculus-n-a-little-human> -

1218- <http://medieval.tumblr.com/post/1043075716/this-is-just-right-out-rheal37-making-visible> - <http://perpetuummobile.tumblr.com/page/4> - Different views on the interpretation of this art work. Most agree & claim that this illumination is from a fifteenth-century French manuscript shows a couple in bed. The Holy Trinity—father, son and Holy Ghost—watch from the upper left corner and send them a naked childlike form. Similar to iconography of the Annunciation, where a naked spirit baby of Christ descends down to Mary. In this art work, the scroll quotes Genesis from the Latin Bible: 'Let us create man in our image and likeness' ('Faciamus hominem ad imaginem et similitudinem nostram'). The slippers by the bed refer to God's commandment to Moses to remove his sandals before the holy ground of the burning bush. Thus, possible types for the setting to be like the early to later Christian mysteries, the removal of clothing items, the couple having most likely been recently been joined together through the mystery of marriage, and so points to the holiness of the sacrament of marriage. The woman's extended right arm probably signifies Eve's offering the apple from the Tree of Knowledge, reminding us that we all inherit Original Sin at conception. The burning candle on the mantelpiece indicates the beginning of a new life about to go through ensoulment. As to when the spirit enters the body, many variable opinions on the timing. <http://www.sites.hps.cam.ac.uk/visibleembryos/sl3.html> - <http://wtfarthistory.com/post/7886097565/homunculus-n-a-little-human> -

1219- Preexistence themes are found in the concept, ensoulments. See for example: Pacino di Binaguida, Tree of Life c. 1310. - <http://wtfarthistory.com/post/7886097565/homunculus-n-a-little-human> - naked baby souls descend down from heaven to be born, or to go through ensoulment, the soul clothed in a physical mortal body. https://images.search.yahoo.com/yhs/search;_ylt=AwRTca8o06RYcj0AhKonnllQ?p=Pacino%2C+Binaguida%2C+Tree+of+Life+c.+1310&fr=yhs-mozilla-004&fr2=piv-web&hspart=mozilla&hsimp=yhs-004 -

- 1220- <http://wtfarthistory.com/post/7886097565/homunculus-n-a-little-human> - Annunciation, late 12th century, tempera and gold on panel. The Holy Monastery of Saint Catherine, Sinai, Egypt, Christ child in Mary's womb is in the mandorla symbol, () . This symbol is often seen around those who go through different realms. <https://encrypted-tbn3.gstatic.com/images?q=tbn:ANd9GcR5dRj9biupG85Dnw7LtIdIsUVepoX930TziWIX7BQedlimHAs6g>
- 1221- Charles D. Cuttler, Northern Painting, From Pucelle to Bruegel/Fourteenth, Fifteenth, & Sixteenth Centuries, (NY, San Francisco, etc.: Holt, Rinehart & Winston, Inc., first printing 1968), 62, fig. 82. Master Francke, Nativity, Englandfahrer Altarpiece, 1424, Kunsthalle, Hamburg. Christ child, light from the Father, Christ in mandorla type light, 2 angels with blanket-veil?
- 1222- Charles D. Cuttler, Northern Painting, From Pucelle to Bruegel/Fourteenth, Fifteenth, and Sixteenth Centuries, (New York, Chicago, San Francisco, etc.: Holt, Rinehart & Winston, Inc., first printing 1968), in between p. 68 & 69, color plate 7. Master of Flémalle. Mérode Altarpiece, c. 1426, Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, (Cloister Collection, Purchase), see p. 76. Laurie Schneider Adams, A History of Western Art, (Boston, New York, etc.: McGraw Hill, 1994, 1997, 2001, third edition), 262–63, figs., 15.30 & 15.31.
- 1223- Elizabeth R. Hayes, The Evolution of Visual, Literary, & Performing Arts, From Tribal Cultures Through The Middle Ages, (Herriman, Utah: Blue Ribbon Books, 2004, Freethinker Press), 203, Illustration 193. Mystery play of 1439, in the Portinari Chapel in Milan, story of the Annunciation, angel descends in mandorla symbol, artificially illuminated with lights.
- 1224- Robert Oertel, Early Italian Painting to 1400, (New York & Washington: Frederick A. Praeger, 1966), fig. 52. FILIPPO RUSUTI The Creation . Assisi, San Francesco. Art and Mankind, General Ed., Rene Huyghe, Pub., Prometheus Press N.Y., 1958, p.149-50, fig. 296; The Art of the Illuminated Manuscript, by David M. Robb, Pub. South Brunswick etc., 1973, p.168-9, fig.107; Ethiopia Illuminated Manuscripts, texts by Stephen Wright, etc., 1961, Pub. by The N.Y. Graphic Soc., pl.XIX; The Icon, Kurt Weitzmann, etc., 1982, Pub. Alfred A. Knopf, N.Y., pp.107, & 321; History of Art by H.W. Janson, Pub. Harry N. Abrams, N.Y., 1986, p.82, fig.123, pp.225-8, fig.328; The Malcove Collection, Ed. by Sheila D. Campbell. Un. of Toronto Press 1985, p.258, #351; Medieval Art, W.R. Lethaby, revised by D. Talbot Rice, Pub. Thomas Nelson & Sons LTD, Lon. & N.Y., p.50, pl.14; The Medieval Treasury, by Ed. by Paul Williamson, Pub. by Victoria & Albert Museum, 1986, pp.116-7; Ivory Carvings in Early Medieval England by John Beckwith, C/R 1973 by Harvey Miller & Medcalf LTD, Lon., Eng., fig.33; Monuments of Romanesque Art, by Hanns Swarzenski, 1967, orig. Pub. in 1954, Un. of Chicago Press, pl.66, fig.151. <http://www.encyclopediae.bseditions.fr/image/article/image/ITPEIPRISURUTIF001.jpg> - Rusuti.
- 1225- Charles D. Cuttler, Northern Painting, From Pucelle to Bruegel/Fourteenth, 15th, & 16th Centuries, (New York, Chicago, San Francisco, etc.: Holt, Rinehart & Winston, Inc., first printing 1968), p. in between 164 & 165, color plate 13. Hugo Van Der Goes, Portinari Altarpiece, c. 1474–76. Uffizi, Florence. Christ child in mandorla shaped light at Nativity scene. Laurie Schneider Adams, A History of Western Art, (Boston, New York, etc.: McGraw Hill, 1994, 1997, 2001, third edition), 270–71, fig. 15.39. Denise Hooker, (Editor), History of Western Art, (New York: Barnes & Nobles, 1994, text & art work 1989, Bostree Limited), 160, plate 176.
- 1226- Gene Gurney, Kingdoms of Europe, An Illustrated Encyclopedia of Ruling Monarchs from Ancient Times to the Present, (New York: Crown Publishers, 1982), 164.
- 1227- Robert Hughes, Heaven & Hell in Western Art, (NY, NY: Stein & Day, 1968), 147. Piero della Francesca, 1470, Michael's victory of the serpent-devil. National Gallery, London.
- 1228- Emile Mâle, Religious Art in France, The Late Middle Ages, Studies in Religious Iconography, (Princeton Un. Press, Bollingen Series, 1986), 68, fig. St. Michael fighting demons. Hours for use of Rome, made in Paris, Jean du Pré, Feb. 4, 1488. London, British Museum. IA 39821. Council in heaven, prayer circle, & war in heaven.
- 1229- Franco Cardini, Europe 1492 Portrait of a Continent 500 Years Ago, NY, Oxford: Facts On File 1989, Anaya Editoriale, 30.
- 1230- Franco Cardini, Europe 1492, Portrait of a Continent 500 Years Ago, NY, Oxford: Facts On File, 1989, Anaya Editoriale), 142.
- 1231- Roger S. Wieck, Time Sanctified, The Book of Hours in Medieval Art & Life, NY: George Braziller, Inc., NY in Association with Walters Art Gallery, Baltimore 1988, p.128, fig.117. Clerics Pray over a Corpse while Michael Battles a Devil for his Soul. France, Rouen, ca. 1480, Master of the Geneva Latini, Waters 284, fol. 85; Cat. No. 60.
- 1232- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 152.
- 1233- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 48, 335, notes 39-40. James H. Charlesworth, Old Testament Pseudepigrapha, (NY: Doubleday, 1983), 1:523, 539, 541. Fourth Book of Ezra, IX, 13, VII.127–28, 132, 78. Willis Barnstone, (Editor), The Other Bible, (Calif.: Harper & Row, 1984), 512–16. R.H. Charles, The Apocrypha & Pseudepigrapha of the Old Testament, (Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1913), 2:569-70. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Hugh_Latimer -
- 1234- Rene Huyghe, Prof. College of France, General Ed., Art & Mankind, Larousse Encyclopedia of Renaissance And Baroque Art, (NY: Prometheus Press, 1958, 1961, Paul Hamlyn LTD, 1963, 1964). Auge, Gillon, Hollier-Larousse, Moreau et Cie , France: Librairie Larousse, & this ed., Lon., Eng.: Paul Hamlyn LTD, 1963), p.16-17, fig.8. GERMAN, BERNT NOTKE. St. George & the Dragon. Polychrome sculpture. 1488. Stockholm Cathedral.
- 1235- Rene Huyghe, (Professor in the College of France, General Editor), Art and Mankind, Larousse Encyclopedia of Renaissance And Baroque Art, (New York: Prometheus Press, 1958, 1961, Paul Hamlyn LTD, 1963, 1964). Auge, Gillon, Hollier-Larousse, Moreau et Cie (Paris France: Librairie Larousse, and this edition, London, England: Paul Hamlyn LTD, 1963), 69, & 73-4, on p.69 see fig. 124. SPANISH. BARTOLOMME BERMEJO (active 1474-1498). St Michael. Panel of an altar from Tous. Wernher Collection, Luton."
- 1236- A Visual Dictionary of Art, General Editor, Ann Hill, 1974, William Heinemann, etc., p. 222. ALBRECHT DURER St Michael and the Dragon from the Apocalypse series. 1498. Woodcut. BM London. See also: The Encyclopedia Of Visual Art, Limburg Brothers, & Ribalta, Vol.7. See also: Harper's Encyc. of Art, Vol. 1, p.109. 500 Years of Art In Illustration, From Albrecht Durer to Rockwell Kent, by Howard Simon, 1949, Garden City Pub. Garden City, New York, p.35, depicting The Battle of the Angels' Apocalypse Series"; See also: Devils, Demons, Death and Damnation, by Ernst and Johanna Lehner, (Dover Pictorial Archive Series), Dover Pub., Inc., N.Y., 1971, p.26, fig.51. Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 201.
- 1237- Paintings in the Louvre, Lawrence Gowing, 1987, Stewart, Tabori & Chang, NY, p.76, Josse Lieferinxe active in Provence 1493-1505/08 Calvary. Acquired in 1962. R.F. 1962-1 (S/AR).
- 1238- Harper's Encyc. of Art, Vol.1, p.84. https://www.wga.hu/html_m/c/colombe/michel/stgeorge.html

1239- Rene Huyghe, Professor in the College of France, General Ed., Art and Mankind, Larousse Encyclopedia of Renaissance And Baroque Art, NY: Prometheus Press, 1958, 1961, Paul Hamlyn LTD, 1963, 1964. Auge, Gillon, Hollier-Larousse, Moreau et Cie (Paris France: Librairie Larousse, this ed., Lon., Eng.: Paul Hamlyn LTD, 1963), fig.396, p.181. ITALIAN. RAPHAEL (1483-1510). St Michael slaying the Dragon. c. 1502. Louvre. See also p.184.

1240- Edward McNall Burns, Robert E. Lerner, & Standish Meacham, Western Civilizations, Their History & Their Culture, NY: W.W. Norton & Co., 1st ed. 1941, 7th ed. 1968-9, 10th ed., 1984. Vol. 1, p.428, The Creation of Adam by Michelangelo. 1 of a series of frescoes on the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel in Rome, 1508-12.

1241- Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (NY, San Diego, U.S.A.; London, England: Harcourt Brace & Company). Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986). Scroll down in blog to article: <http://drivetimearchivearchivespromosources.blogspot.com/> Passover, Easter & Garment Types of Deification in the Resurrection (Easter Sunday, 4-8-2012), by Darell Thorpe, see: Christ in Limbo, 1440s Friedrich Pacher - Szépművészeti Múzeum - Budapest. In many cases, souls in limbo, hell, hades, purgatory, etc., are depicted naked, without protective garments, or robes. Christ's right to Adam's left, a red-haired Eve is by Adam. Hjembæk 1475 Harrowing of Hell Sect 2 south arch. Naked souls, first Adam, are raised up out of the jaws of hell by different types of hand & wrist grasping. The traditional trade mark of the resurrection, or the anastasis are different types of hand & wrist grips as Christ resurrects the dead out of their graves. Eve is a red-haired woman, like in Michaelangelo's works of the Creation of Adam & Eve. Descent into hell - f.20r of MS K.26 one of sequence of 46 biblical illustrations cent. 1270-80, inserted at front of 14th c Psalter. Naked souls raised by hand grips out of the jaws of hell, thus being resurrected. Descent into Limbo, Évrard d'Espingues illumination manuscript, Middle Ages. Christ reaches out his hand to clasp the hand of Adam, the first naked soul to be resurrected out of the jaws of limbo. 14th century, Christ's descent into purgatory. Christ grips the hand of a naked Adam, the first in many to be resurrected out of purgatory. Art redrawn by Debra Wirth, for an original see: Claude Schaeffner, Artistic Consultant: Jean-Clarence Lambert & others, Gothic Painting, (England: Ed. S.A. Geneva 1968), vol. I, p. 48), 14th century, the Master of Westphalia, Christ in Purgatory. Harrowing of hell Caparrosso altarpiece of Caparrosso 1507 St Mary's Cathedral Pamplona Spain. Descent of Christ to Limbo 1365-68 Andrea da Firenze - Cappella Spagnuolo, Santa Maria Novella, Florence. Master of the Narbonne Parament - Entombment, descent into Hell, and Noli me tangere c 1375 Musée du Louvre - Paris. After the harrowing of hell. Cité de Dieu La - Augustinus council in heaven; fallen angels, creation of Eve hand clasp. Bible of Robert de Bello- England S-E-Canterbury 1240 1253 Historiated initial with scenes of Genesis, Council in heaven, falling angels, creation scenes, God pulls Eve out of Adam's side by hand clasp. Reader's Digest, ABC's of The Bible, (NY: The Reader's Digest Association, 1991), p. 18, Creation of Eve, Dutch illustration, 15th cent., hand clasp. Hjembæk. c.1475. (M-K 11-091) Creation of Adam and Eve, Creation drama hand clasping. Gjerrild. c.1500. (M-K 10-006) Creation of Eve, God clasping Eve's wrist. (Ghiberti) Creation of Adam hand clasp with God - 1425-52 Bronze door to Baptistry - Florence, Creation of Adam, God's left hand to Adam's left to clasp hands. Ejsing. c.1525. (M-K 07-024) Marriage of Adam and Eve, hand & wrist grasping, Eve has long red hair. BIBLE German Nuremberg Anton Koberger 17 February 1483 God pulls Eve out Adam's side, by hand clasping, Creation of Eve surrounded by praying angels in heavenly council? Even has long red hair. Hjembæk. c.1475. (M-K 11-085) Harrowing of Hell, hand clasp between Adam & Christ, Eve there too, has long red hair. Early Christian Art, Late Roman & Byzantine Empires, 3rd - 7th c. fig. 83. Christ's descent into Limbo, 4th-5th c. AD. Adam's right to Christ's right. Venice, St. Marks. Painting I, p. 48, Wallraf-Richartz Mu., Cologne, Col. dir. Claude Schaeffner, etc., Eng.: 1968, Christ in Purgatory, 14th cent. Gothic painting, Master of Westphalia. Also: Holy Water Bucket (SITULA) Ivory Ottonian (Milan) 980 AD, Christ lifting Adam out of hell, Angels assist Christ. <http://restoredapologetics.blogspot.com/> Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, 1947, plate 100. Christ descent into limbo, 4th or 5th cent.

1242- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings... (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 69.

1243- Maurizio Calvesi, Deoclecio Redig De Campos, Treasures of the Vatican, St Peter's Basilica, The Vatican Museums and Galleries, The Treasure of St Peter's, The Vatican Grottoes and Necropolis, The Vatican Palaces, (NY: Portland House, 1987), 113-117. Rene Huyghe, (Professor in the College of France, General Editor), Art and Mankind, Larousse Encyclopedia of Renaissance And Baroque Art, (NY: Prometheus Press, 1958, 1961, Paul Hamlyn LTD, 1963, 1964). Auge, Gillon, Hollier-Larousse, Moreau et Cie (France: Librairie Larousse, and this edition, London, England: Paul Hamlyn LTD, 1963, Revised edition 1966, NY: Excalibur Books), 128-29.

1244- Raymond A. Moody, Jr., M.D., Reflections On Life After Life, (Toronto; New York; London & Sydney, Bantam Books, 1977, 6th printing, Nov. 1983), p. 12-13, 28, note 1: Edith Hamilton & Huntington Cairns, eds., The Collected Dialogues of Plato, trans. Hugh Tredennick, Bollingen Series 71 (New York: Pantheon Books, 1961), p. 844. Plato, The Republic, Book X, written about 360 B.C.E., Translated by Benjamin Jowett.

1245- Arts & Ideas, (7th Ed.), by William Fleming, Pub. by Holt, Rinehart and Winston, NY, etc., 1980, 1974, 1963, 1955; & C/R 1986 by CBS College Pub., p.223. See: Prov.3:19, 4:7-11; 8:12-27. Civilisation (A Personal View), by Kenneth Clark, 1969, Harper & Row, Pub. N.Y., & Evanston, p.128-9, "Divine Wisdom" as depicted by Raphael, p.132-3. R. G. Hamerton-Kelly, Society for New Testament Studies Monograph Series 21, Pre-Existence, Wisdom And The Son of Man, A Study of the Idea of Pre-existence in the New Testament, (Cambridge University Press; Cambridge, Great Britain, 1973), p. 18-41. ANF, 1:489, 2:12, 35, & 514. Christian Legends, (Library Of The World's Myths & Legends), George Every, 1970, & 1987, p.20-5, etc. Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, prologue, p. ix-x. Creation of Adam, (1512 detail), by Michelangelo Buonarroti, Scala/Art Resource, New York.

1246- Roland H. Bainton, The Horizon of Christianity, (NY: American Heritage Publishing Co., Inc., Book Trade Distribution by Harper & Row, Publishers, 1964), CREATION OF MAN. Michelangelo in Sistine Chapel.

1247- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), prologue, X, end note 4. Leo Steinberg, Who's Who in Michelangelo's Creation of Adam: A Chronology of the Picture's Reluctant Self-Revelation, in Art Bulletin 74.4, (December 1992): 553, 75.2 (June 1993): 340-44. E. Steinmann, Die Sixtinische Kapelle (Munich, 1905). Julien Klaczko's Rome et la Renaissance (1898), see also: Julian Klaczko, Rome And The Renaissance The Pontificate Of Julius II, (USA: G.P. Putnam's Sons, 1903), Internet Archives: <https://archive.org/details/romeandtherenaiss001671mbp> - <https://archive.org/details/romerenaisancep00klac> - Rudolf Kuhn's Michelangelo: Die sixtinische Decke (1975).

1248- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, Prologue X. Western Civilization, Burns, Lerner, & Meacham, Vol.1, p.428, The Creation of Adam by Michelangelo. One of a series of frescoes on the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel in Rome from 1508 to 1512 A.D. Civilisation (A Personal View), Kenneth Clark, 1969, Harper & Row, Pub. N.Y., & Evanston, 128-9, "Divine Wisdom" as depicted by Raphael, p.132-3. Pre-existence Wisdom & The Son of Man, Hamerton-Kelly, p.18-41, etc. ANF 1:489, 2:12, 35, & 514. Christian Legends, Library Of The World's Myths & Legends, George Every, 1970, & 1987, 20-5, etc. Arts & Ideas, 7th Ed.,

William Fleming, Pub. by Holt, Rinehart & Winston, NY, etc., 1980, 1974, 1963, 1955; & CR 1986 by CBS College Pub., 223. Roland H. Bainton, The Horizon of Christianity, NY: American Heritage Publishing Co., Inc., Book Trade Distribution by Harper & Row, Pub., 1964, CREATION OF MAN. Michelangelo's painting of God stretching out his finger to Adam, Sistine Chapel. Ross King, Michelangelo & the Pope's Ceiling, NY: Walker & Co., 2003, art works in between p. 182-3, & p. 243, 340-41, end note 11. Debates over the identities of whom is around God the Father, in the huge blanket type canopy. The identity of the women under God's arm differs from one art historian to the next. Some say that she is the spirit of Eve, not yet born, others say she is the Virgin Mary, & the Christ child is near by her, not yet born too. Others say she is Wisdom, (Sapientia), Prov.3:19, 4:7-11; 8:12-27. Others also think that other figures wrapped up in the enfolding blanket type canopy is Lucifer and a devilish companion. See: Leo Steinberg's "Who's Who in Michelangelo's Creation of Adam: A Chronology of the Picture's Reluctant Self-Revelation," Art Bulletin (1992): 552-66. Howard Hibbard, Michelangelo, (Colorado: Westview Press, A Member of Perseus Books, L.L.C., 1974, 2nd edition, Icon edition, 1998), 117, 137, fig. 86-88, the creation of Adam, is said in this source to be an antetype of the birth of Christ, & the woman identified is Mary, while God the Father's left hand finger touches the un-born baby Jesus. Laurie Schneider Adams, A History of Western Art, Boston, NY, etc.: McGraw Hill, 1994, 1997, 2001, 3rd edition, 285-288, figs., 16.6-16.19, this source notes that some scholars identify the woman that God has his left arm around, as Eve.

1249- Amy Steedman, Stories of the Painters, (NY: Thomas Nelson & Sons, 1938), art in between p. 96 & 97, plate 9. Maurizio Fagiolo dell'Arco, (Editor), Text by Angela Cipriani, Marcello Fagiolo dell'Arco, Maurizio Marini, Vitaliano Tiberia, Enrico Valeriani, The Art of the Popes, From the Vatican Collection, How pontiffs, architects, painters and sculptures created the Vatican, (New York: Greenwich House, Distributed by Crown Publishers, Inc., 1982, English translation, 1983, by Arnoldo Mondadori Editore S. p. A., p.108-112.

1250- Jeffrey M. Bradshaw, Temple Themes In the Book of Moses, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Publishing, 2010), page 127, figure 9-1. Domenichino, 1581-1641, The Rebuke of Adam and Eve, 1626. <http://www.nga.gov/content/ngaweb/Collection/art-object-page.111718.html> - https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:The_Rebuke_of_Adam_and_Eve.jpg -

1251- Walter Bosing, Hieronymus Bosch, 1450-1516, Between Heaven & Hell, (Germany: Benedikt Taschen Verlag Gmb Hohenzollernring, 1991; Lon.: Thames & Hudson, 1973), 36.

1252- A Visual Dictionary of Art, Ann Hill, 1974, William Heinemann, 105, DOMENICO BECCAFUMI, St Michael quelling the Rebel Angels 1525, Church of the Carmine, Siena.

1253- Reader's Digest's Into the Unknown, NY & Montreal, Canada: Reader's Digest Associations, 1981, 63.

1254- Paul Carcus, 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Bks, 1996, 418-31.

1255- Reader's Digest's Into the Unknown, (Pleasantville, New York and Montreal, Canada: The Reader's Digest Associations, Inc.1981), 63. <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Mephistopheles> - Internet Archives: Robert Johnson <https://archive.org/search.php?query=Robert%20Johnson> - Walter Kaufmann, Goethe's Faust, The Original German and New Translation & Introduction, by Walter, (New York: Anchor Books, A Division of Random House, Inc., 1961, Anchor 1963, & 1990). Cross Roads, the movie, is about the pact with the devil, depicted as a black man. Musical Blues lore. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Crossroads_\(1986_film\)) - Bed Dazzled, movie 2000, https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Bedazzled_\(2000_film\)) - Faust - Internet Archives: <https://archive.org/search.php?query=Faust> -- <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Faust> - Internet Archives - https://archive.org/details/RobertJohnson_666 -

1256- Paul Carcus, 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, (NY, Avenel: Gramercy Bks, 1996, 347-53.

1257- Clifton Harby, The Bible In Art, Twenty centuries of Famous Bible Paintings, NY: Covici, Friede, 1936, 370-1. Il Tintoretto, 16th c. Michael fights dragon. Raffaello Santi, 16th c. MICHAEL CASTS SATAN OUT.

1258- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, & Other Little People, NY: Gramercy Books, 2000 ed., earlier ed. Crown Pub., 1978), 60- 64, 70-71, 78, 156-160, 174-76, see especially 197-200.

1259- Charles De Tolnay, 1965, Hieronymus Bosch, (Holle Verlag), Hieronymus Bosch, Haywain triptych, AD 1515 - Council, war, fall of rebellious angels that look like winged insects. Ernst and Johanna Lehner, Devils, Demons, Death and Damnation, (New York: Dover Pictorial Archive Series, Dover Publishing Inc., 1971). See on the Internet: Coppo di Marcovaldo, St. Michael & his legend; AD 1250-60, San Casciano val di pesa museum of sacred art. See also: Pieter Bruegel the Elder- The Fall of the Rebel Angels - AD 1562, winged creatures, some look like insects, as they battle the angels of God, during the war in heaven.

1260- Roland H. Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back ed., 1950 Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville), 85.

1261- Dr. Paul Carcus, 1900, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, 338-346. Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, & Other Little People, (NY: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 206-279.

1262- Paul Carcus, 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, 345-8, Sigmund Feyerabend, Theatrum Diabolorum.

1263- Jeffrey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988), 176-7. Bible of Robert de Bello- England S- E- Canterbury 1240-1253 Historiated initial with scenes of Genesis, top part of the illustrated L shows the council in heaven, angels falling out of heaven, down into the jaws of hell. The pre-existing Christ watching their fall. Below this is the creation of Eve. <https://www.bl.uk/catalogues/illuminatedmanuscripts/TourPopup.asp?TourID=204> . See also: The Old English Genesis, consisted of 2 poems in one, The Caedmonian Genesis A [c. 700] & Genesis B, [late 10th cent., from a 9th cent. Old Saxon poem. A 12th century Winchester Bible illustration of the letter B shows Christ casting out devils in the top portion of the B. See: Gilbert Thurlow, Bible Myths & Mysteries, (Published by Octopus Books, 1974), p. 56, left. Medieval Miniatures, (from the Dept. of Manuscripts, formerly the Library of Burgundy. The Royal Library of Belgium), Commentaries by L.M.J. Delaisse, Pub. by Harry N. Abrams, NY., p.96-8, Portion of a 6-part depiction. "The Creation & Fall of the Angels". Historiated Bible of Guiard Des Moulins, 1st part, Paris, About 1410, Ms. 9001. f. 19. Earlier canons of the New Testament contained the Shepherd of Hermas that talks about Christ being in council with his Father during the creation of the earth. The Lost Books of the Bible, p.255, The Shepherd of Hermas, Sim. IX:110-111. See also: The Bible In Art, (20 centuries of Famous Bible Paintings), by Clifton Harby, Pub. Garden City Pub. N.Y., 1936, Covici, Friede, pp. 370-1. Il Tintoretto, 16th century. "Michael fights the dragon", Raffaello Santi, 16th century. "MICHAEL CASTS SATAN TO EARTH". Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo & SLC, Utah: FARMS, & Deseret Book Co.), vol. 2: Enoch The Prophet, (1986). Charles Francis Potter, (Rev. & Dr.), Did Jesus Write This Book? A Study of The Book of the Secrets of Enoch, Reappraising it in the light of the Qumran, Chenoboskion, and other recently discovered manuscripts and papyri. (Greenwich, Conn.: A Fawcett Crest Book, 1965, 1967). Richard Laurence, LL.D., (Trans.) The Book of Enoch The Prophet, (Re-issued: Williams & Norgate, 1892). George W. E. Nickelsburg & James C. VanderKam, 1 Enoch, A New Translation, (Minneapolis: Fortress Press, 2004), p. 13.

1264- Harper's Encyc. of Art, Vol. II, in between p. 274-5, see Frans Floris: Fall of the Angels. Antwerp. Fall of the Rebellious Angels (1554). Cathedral of Our Lady, Antwerp. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Frans_Floris

1265- Louis Coulange, The Life of the Devil, Lon. Eng.: Alfred A. Knopf, 1929, 22—23.

1266- Robert Hughes, Heaven & Hell in Western Art, (NY, NY: Stein & Day/Publishers, 1968), 144-45. Bruegel, Fall of the Rebel Angels 1562, Musée Royaux des Beaux-Arts, Brussels.

1267- New International Illustrated Encyclopedia Of Art, vol.4, p.676-7, II Brusasoric (1540-1605), Madonna in Glory with the Archangels Raphael, Michael, & Gabriel, late 16th c.

1268- Terry L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 170, 355, end note 89: Edmund Spenser, Faerie Queene, book III.6, st. 31–32, in Edmund Spenser's Poetry, edited by Hugh Maclean, (New York: Norton, 1981), page 272. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Edmund_Spenser - https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/The_Faerie_Queene -

1269- Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 150–156, Jacob Böhme, The Threefold Life of Man, pages 56 and 124, etc. Possible copies might be found at the Internet Archives: <https://archive.org/details/ThreefoldLifeOfMan-SearchableTextPlusFigures> The Works of Jacob Bohme, volume one, <https://archive.org/details/worksofjacobbhehm01bohm> Volume two. <https://archive.org/details/worksofjacobbhehm02bohm> Volume three. <https://archive.org/details/worksofjacobbhehm03bohm> volume four. <https://archive.org/details/worksofjacobbhehm04bohm> -

1270- Felipe Cossio Del Pomar, trans. from Spanish, Genaro Arbaiza, 1964, Peruvian Colonial Art, The Cuzco School of Painting, (NY, NY: Distributed by Wittenborn & Co.), 90-1.

1271- R.G. Hamerton-Kelly, Pre-existence, Wisdom, & The Son of Man, A Study of the Idea of Pre-existence in the New Testament, Cambridge Un. Press, 1973, Jn 17:18; 3:13; 6:33, 38-40, 51-3; 12:44,49; 16:5; 20:21; 8:42.

1272- Jahrbuch Der Berliner Museen, Jahrbuch der Preußischen Kunstsammlungen, Neue Folge, (Berlin, Germany: Gebr. Mann Verlag, 1977), Neunzehnter Band, 1977, p.167, Abb. 51. Mathias Kager zugescher., Verkündigung, 1599, Federzeichnung lav., Düsseldorf, Kunstmuseum. Baby Jesus' spirit descends out of heaven towards Mary.

1273- John Demos, The Enemy Within, 2,000 Years of Witch-hunting in the Western World, (NY: Viking, Penguin Group, 2008). Jeffrey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil & the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988). Louis B. Wright, The Culture Life of the American Colonies, 1607-1763, (NY, Evanston, & London: Harper Torchbooks, The University Library, Harper & Row Pub., 1957, 1962, Torchbook edition). Geoffrey Abbott, Rack, Rope and Red-Hot Pincers, A History of Torture And Its Instruments, (London: Brockhampton Press, 1993). Vinita Hampton Wright, A Catalogue of Angels, The Heavenly, the Fallen, and the Holy Ones Among Us, (Brewster, Massachusetts: PARACLETE PRESS, 2006, second printing, 2007). Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978). Katharine Briggs, An Encyclopedia of Fairies, Hobgoblins, Brownies, Bogies, & Other Supernatural Creatures, (NY: Pantheon Books, 1976).

1274- Darell Thorpe, The Christ In Santa Unmasked [How Modern Traditions & Legends About Santa Can Be Traced Back To The Early Christian Doctrine That Christ Went to Other Nations Around The World]. (CR 1994, revised December 1995). You Tube: Rare Flix, Darell Thorpe, Historical Documentary by MMM, R.H. & P.S., Christmas 2017, entitled: When Santa Claus X-ED Out Christ From X-Mas, How Legends About Santa Claus' Global Gift Giving Treks, Goes Back To The Early Christian Doctrines about Christ's World Wide Treks!

1275- John Demos, The Enemy Within, 2,000 Years of Witch-hunting in the Western World, (NY: Viking, Penguin Group, 2008), 73-240. Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978). Katharine Briggs, An Encyclopedia of Fairies, Hobgoblins, Brownies, Bogies, & Other Supernatural Creatures, (NY: Pantheon Books, 1976). Katharine Briggs, An Encyclopedia of Fairies, Hobgoblins, Brownies, Bogies, & Other Supernatural Creatures, (NY: Pantheon Books, 1976), 44-49, 54-55, 74-75, 93, 98, 237, etc.

1276- Darell Thorpe, The Armor of Gods (Protective Skins or Garments in History & Color Symbolism), (Kindle Edition, 2012). Thorpe, The Garments Of The First And Second Adam: [The Symbolical Meanings Of Garments In Early To Later Christendom], October 1993.

1277- John Demos, The Enemy Within, 2,000 Years of Witch-hunting in the Western World, (NY: Viking, Penguin Group, 2008), 73-240. Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, NY, Lon., Toronto & Sydney: Gineeo Books, 2007), 68, 72-75, 93-123. Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally pub. in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Co., 1900, 256-438.

1278- John Demos, The Enemy Within, 2,000 Years of Witch-hunting in the Western World, (NY: Viking, Penguin Group, 2008), 73-240. Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, NY, Lon., Toronto & Sydney: Gineeo Books, 2007), 68, 72-75, 93-123. James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (New York, New York, Doubleday, 2005), 13-14. Katharine Briggs, An Encyclopedia of Fairies, Hobgoblins, Brownies, Bogies, & Other Supernatural Creatures, (NY: Pantheon Books, 1976), 24-25, 30-31, 33, 54, 74-75, 97-98, 134-139, 232, 237, 279, 298-301, 318-20, 335-44, 389-90. George Beahm, Fact, Fiction, and Folklore, in Harry Potter's World, An Unofficial Guide, (Charlottesville, VA.: Hampton Roads Pub., 2005, illustrations by Tim Kirk & Birtton McDaniel), 10-11, 14-17, 21-22.

1279- Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, Armonk, NY & Lon. Eng.: M.E. Sharpe, Inc. 1989. Myth & Mankind, (BV, Amsterdam: Time-Life Books, Lon.: Duncan Baird Pub., 1999), numerous vols., vol., Forests of the Vampire: Slavic Myth, p.59-61, writers, Charles Phillips, Michael Kerrigan, etc. Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, & Other Little People, NY: Gramercy Books, 2000 ed., earlier ed. by Crown Pub., 1978.

1280- Movie: The Witch, Evil Takes Many Forms, setting, New England, 1630s, (Lionsgate, 2015). John Demos, The Enemy Within, 2,000 Years of Witch-hunting in the Western World, (NY: Viking, Penguin Group, 2008), 73-240. Katharine Briggs, An Encyclopedia of Fairies, Hobgoblins, Brownies, Bogies, & Other Supernatural Creatures, (NY: Pantheon Books, 1976), 24-25, 30-31, 33, 54, 74-75, 97-98, 134-139, 232, 237, 279, 298-301, 318-20, 335-44, 389-90. George Beahm, Fact, Fiction, and Folklore, in Harry Potter's World, An Unofficial Guide, (Charlottesville, VA.: Hampton Roads Pub., 2005, illustrations by Tim Kirk & Birtton McDaniel), 10-11, 14-17, 21-22. Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978). The wicked witch of the West wears a black hat & black dress, in the classic 1939 movie, The Wizard of Oz, these were the traditional ways to depict witches that were passed down to modern times, now in Halloween costumes.

1281- Movie: The Witch, Evil Takes Many Forms, setting, New England, 1630s, (Lionsgate, 2015). John Demos, The Enemy Within, 2,000 Years of Witch-hunting in the Western World, (NY: Viking, Penguin Group, 2008). Louis B. Wright, The Culture Life of the American Colonies, 1607-1763, (NY, Evanston, & London: Harper Torchbooks, The University Library, Harper & Row Pub., 1957, 1962, Torchbook edition). Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions and the Rise of Mormonism, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1970), 112-149.

1282- John Demos, The Enemy Within, 2,000 Years of Witch-hunting in the Western World, NY: Viking, Penguin Group, 2008, 24-25, 32-61, 73-228. Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books 1996, Chicago: Open Court Pub. Co., 1900, 283-87, 330-333, 365-390, etc.

1283- Jeffrey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil & the Power of Good in History, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988. John Demos, The Enemy Within, 2,000 Years of Witch-hunting in the Western World, NY: Viking, Penguin Group, 2008. Ralph Manheim, (trans.), 1977, Grimms' Tales for Young & Old, The Complete Stories, (NY: Anchor Books, Random House, Inc., 1983, ed.). Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books 1996, Chicago: Open Court Pub. Co., 1900, 245-438. George Beahm, Fact, Fiction, and Folklore, in Harry Potter's World, An Unofficial Guide, (Charlottesville, VA.: Hampton Roads Pub., 2005, illustrations by Tim Kirk & Birtton McDaniel). Colin Dempsey, (Author), Paul Collison, (Black & White art works), Emmett Elvin, (Design & Layout), The Ultimate Encyclopedia of Mythical Creatures, (NY: Barnes & Noble, 2006). Walter Kaufmann, Goethe's Faust, The Original German and New Translation & Introduction, by Walter, (New York: Anchor Books, A Division of Random House, Inc., 1961, Anchor 1963, & 1990).

1284- Jahrbuch Der Berliner Museen, Jahrbuch der Preußischen Kunstsammlungen, Neue Folge, Berlin, Germany: Gebr. Mann Verlag, 1977, Neunzehnter Band, 1977, p.167, Abb.52. Philipp Uffenbach fälschlich zugeschr.. Verkündigung, 1600, Wien, Kunsthistorisches Museum. Baby Jesus' spirit descends to Mary.

1285- Dr. Host Vey, Ed., & Dr. Xavier de Salas, Great Art & Artists of the World, German & Spanish Art to 1900, NY: Franklin Watts, Inc., A Division of Grolier 1965, 59, 140. Reichle's St. Michael combats lucifer. A.D. 1606.

1286- Timothy Wilson, Ceramic Art of the Italian Renaissance, (Austin Texas: Un. of Texas Press, 1987), 154-5.

1287- Terry L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 144-46, 351-52, end notes 54-60: Jacob Boehme, Forty Questions of the Soul and the Clavis, trns. John Sparrow, (London: John M. Watkins, 1911), 75, 135, 302-3. Jacob Boehme, The Three Principles of the Divine Essence, in Jacob Boehme, ed. Robin Waterfield (Berkeley, Calif.: North Atlantic, 2001), 91, 109.

1288- Frederick Van Der Meer, Apocalypse, Visions from the Book of Revelation in Western Art, (NY, NY: Mercatorfonds Antwerp, Pub. Alpine Fine Arts Collection., 1978), 48, fig.22.

1289- Terry L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (NY: Oxford University Press, 2010), 149-151, 352, end note 16: Henry More, An Explanation of the Grand Mystery of Godliness, (London: 1660), 51, in Patrides, Cambridge Platonists, 13.

1290- Terry L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (NY: Oxford University Press, 2010), 154, 353, end note 34: Joseph Glanvill, Lux Orientalis, in Joseph Glanvill {and Goerge Rust}, Two Choice and Useful Treatises: The One Lux Orientalis ... the Other, a Discourse on Truth, (London: James Collins & Samuel Lowndes, 1682; repr., NY: Garland [& Rust], Two Choice & Useful Treatises.

1291- Terry L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 154-156, 353, notes 35-41: Whichcote, 3:18, cited in Dominic Scott, Reason, Recollection, & the Cambridge Platonists, in Platonism and the English Imagination, ed. Anna Baldwin & Sarah Hutton, (Cambridge Un. Press, 1996), 145. Ralph Cudworth, Treatise Concerning Eternal & Immutable Morality (London, 1731), 128, cited in Scott, "Reason," 145. Ralph Cudworth, Intellectual System of the Universe, 2:105-6, cited in Sterling P. Lamprecht, "Innate Ideas in the Cambridge Platonists," Philosophical Review, 35.6 (Nov. 1926): 570. More, "Preface General," in Philosophical Writings, XX. Henry More, "Preface to the Reader," of "The Præexistence of the Soul," in Philosophical Poems (1647; repr., Menton, Eng.: Scholar, 1969), 253-54. M. J. Edwards, "The Proem to Henry More's "The Præexistence of the Soul," Notes and Queries 44.3 (1997): 185.

1292- Terry L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 157-58, 353-54, notes 42-44: Richard Ward, The Life of the Pious & Learned Henry More, (London, 1710), 169, cited in Sarah Hutton, Anne Conway: A Woman Philosopher (Cambridge Un. Press, 2004), 54. More, "Preface General," in Philosophical Writings, xxv; Immortality of the Soul, in Philosophical Writings, 2:110-111.

1293- Terry L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 159, 354, end note 47: More, Immortality of the Soul, in Philosophical Writings, 2:112.

1294- Terry L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 165, 355, note 72: George Rust, A Letter of Resolution Concerning Origen & the Chief of His Opinions (London, 1661; repr., New York: Columbia University Press, 1933), 14. The letter is questionable as to being author by Rust, or not.

1295- Terry L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 166-67, 355, end note 78: Joseph Glanvill [& George Rust, 1628-1670], Two Choice and Useful Treatises, B2.

1296- Christ hints to preexistence themes, when he talked about how he came down from heaven. He used types, such as how he is the bread that came down from heaven. He didn't fully explain his exact meanings, but reserved the full disclosure for his apostles to know the "mysteries" about the preexistence, the meaning of the sacrament, etc. John chapter 6, 8:58-59; 9:2. Terry L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 168-69. Bart D. Ehrman, Lost Christianity, The Battles for Scripture and the Faiths We Never Knew, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2003). Ehrman, Misquoting Jesus, The Story Behind Who Changed the Bible and Why, (New York, New York: Harper San Francisco, A Division of Harper Collins Publishers, 2005). Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (New York, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993). Darell Thorpe, The Pre-existence: Our Pre-earth Life As Spirits In A "Family In Heaven" (1992), now on line as Kindle edition rough draft. R. G. Hamerton-Kelly, (Professor of the New Testament McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago), Society for New Testament Studies Monograph Series 21, Pre-Existence, Wisdom And The Son of Man, A Study of the Idea of Pre-existence in the New Testament, (Cambridge University Press; Cambridge, Great Britain, 1973). Charles Francis Potter, (Rev. & Dr.), Did Jesus Write This Book? A Study of The Book of the Secrets of Enoch, Reappraising it in the light of the Qumran, Chenoboskion, and other recently discovered manuscripts and papyri. (Greenwich, Conn.: A Fawcett Crest Book, 1965, 1967). George W. E. Nickelsburg & James C. VanderKam, 1 Enoch, A New Translation, (Minneapolis: Fortress Press, 2004). Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo & Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company), Volume 1: Old Testament and Related Subjects, (1986). Volume 2: Enoch The Prophet, (1986), Nibley, vol. 3, The World And The Prophets, 1987, p.168, see also note 9, on p.311. "Clementine Recognitions I, 52, in PG 1:1236, see J. P. Migne, Patrologiae Cursus Completus; Series Latina, 221 volumes; (Paris: 1844-1864). Patrologiae Cursus Completus, Series Graeca (Paris: 1857-1866, 161 volumes). Lenet H. Read's series of articles: How the Bible came to Be, published in The Ensign, (Salt Lake City, Utah: The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, 1982), series ran from January 1982 through September 1982. Reader's Digest, Reader's Digest's, The Bible Through The Ages, (Pleasantville, New York and Montreal, Canada: The Reader's Digest Associations, Inc., 1996). John Lawrence Mosheim, D.D., An Ecclesiastical History, (London: 1819, Translated by Archibald Maclaine), 6 vols. Darell Thorpe, The Mystery Behind the Mysteries, Ritualistic Realm Pilgrims In early to later Christian Mysteries, (1996—1997). Angelo S. Rappoport, Ph. D., Ancient Israel Myths and Legends, (New York: Bonanza Books, 1987), three volumes in one. Tertullian [A.D. 145-220], seems to have considered the writings of Enoch to be genuine scriptures which were restored through Ezra. (See: The Ante-Nicene Fathers, Vol.4, p.15-16.) The Book of Hermas, or the Shepherd of Hermas, is said to have been part of some of the earlier Christian Bibles. What were some of the reasons why this book was taken out of later canons? "Evidently at Naples, the Shepherd won, at least for a time, its struggle to be received among the canonical books of the New Testament." (Early Christian Art and Architecture, by Robert Milburn, 1988, Un. of Calif., Press, Berkeley and L.A., p.55; See also: The Ante-Nicene Fathers, Vol.2, Intro. note to Hermas, p.3-7; Mormon Issues #1, April, 1991, p.4, Bible, So Many Versions, by Van Hale & Bill Forrest with Don Bradley on this issue. See also: Apostasy to Restoration, by T. Edgar Lyon, Deseret Book Co. SLC., Ut., 1960, p. 67. John P. Lundy wrote that that the Shepherd of Hermas "was the most popular of books in the Christian community, i. e., from the second to the fifth centuries..." (Monumental Christianity, by John P. Lundy, Pub., in N.Y., J W Bouton, 1876, p. 66, 196). "The Shepherd of Hermas was treated by some of the early fathers as if it formed part of the canon of scripture..." (Butler's Lives of the Saints, revised edition by Herbert Thurston, S.J., and Donald Attwater, Vol.III, July . August . September, Pub. P.J. Kennedy & Sons, N.Y., 1956, p.678). The Shepherd of Hermas symbolically calls the pre-existing Church "an old woman", "Old", because of how the Church dates back before the world was created. For "she" (the Church) was created first of all. The same early Christian writer also hints to hand clasps, & garments, & color symbolism to suggest the degree of sins, or the degree of righteousness of those who are clothed in different colors of garments. ANF, 2:9-13, 18-19, 36-37, & 44-55. The Lost Books of the Bible, p.143, 2nd Clement, chap.4:2; The Shepherd of Hermas, Sim. IX:110-111, p.149-151. Job 1:6, 38:4-8, 32:8, Ezk.28:13-19, Acts 2:22-36, 7:1, 30, 38, 13:29-37, 17:29-30, 38; & Num.16:22, 27:16; Eccl.12:7; Isa.9:6, 14:12-19, 30:1-5, 57:16, 63:9, 15-16; Zech.3:1, 12:1; Heb.12:9; Jer.1:5; Rom.6:3-11, 8:16, 29-30; Titus 1:1-2; 2 Tim.1:9; Heb. c.1-2; Jn.3:13, 6:33-51 & 62, 7:5, 28-33, 8:42, 57-9, 9:1-2, 12:44, & 49, 16:5, 28, 17:18; 20:21. Ex.3:1-14; Jude 6; 2 Pet. 2:4; Rev.6:9-11; 8:10, 9:1, chap.12, 13:10; Gen.2:4-5; Acts 17:29; John 1:1-14, 3:13, 6:33-53, 62, 7:28-33, 8:42, 57-9, 12:31-2, 44, 49, 16:5, 17:5-24, 20:21, Prov.30:4; Exod.3:1-14; Phil.2:5-12; Luke 10:18. Luke 4:33-41, 11:14-22; Jude 9; Mark 3:11-12. Amos 3:7; Eph.1:3-14, 3:3-15, 4:10-14; 1 Pet.1:19-21; Eccl.12:7; Luke 16:22-23; Heb.12:9; Gal.6:6-10; Jude 14-16; Isa.28:9-10; 1 Cor.2:6-16; 3:1-3, 15:12-28, Ps.xcvi.5; Deut. 32:8; Acts 17:26; Matt.24:34; Eph.4:7-10; Isa.14:12-19, 24:17-22, 26:19, 42:6-7, 49:8-9, 51:14; Psa.68:18, Rev.13:10, 1 Pet.3:15-22, 4:5-6. ANF, 1:27, 55, 57, 61, 83, 90, 105-6, 118-9, 139, 157-8, 167-173, 178, 181-86, 190-1, 213-31, 217, 219, 228, 230, 238, 241, 243, 250-1, 263, 264, 272, 285, 300-1, 331, 340, 346, 352, 356, 409-12, 421, 445-6, 449-51, 455-7, 462-3, 469, 478, 481, 488, 493-4, 499-500, 506, 510, 516-25, 543-4, 547, 549-53, 558, 560, 569, 572-3, & 575-7; vol. 2:3, 10, 12, 61, 66-8, 73-4, 165-169, 215-219, 230-1, 253-4, 263-6, 453-4, & 582-3, etc., Vol.3:17, note 1, & 34-8, 44, & p.536. Tertullian, On The Flesh of Christ, (Trans. by Dr. Holmes), v. chap. xvii. Tertullian [AD 145-220], wrote that "God therefore sent down into the virgin's womb His Word, [Jesus Christ] as the good Brother, who should blot out the memory of the evil brother" [the devil]. ANF, 4:14-6, 23, 26, 32, 223, 263-4, 341-3, 405, 407, 422, 424, 427-8, 447, 464, 526-7, 538-9, 543-4, 558, 560, 565-71, 581, 591-607, 609, 632, 638-9, 640-1, 643-5, 648-9, 651-2, & 659-60; 8:52-6, 64, 73-4, 83-4, 105-110, 195; The Nicene & Post Nicene Fathers, Vol.1, p.82-88, Vol.5, p.11, 17, 518-24; Vol.6, p. xvi & xxv; Vol.12, xiii & xxix; Vol.14, p.312, 316-9; Clem. Alex., Strom., i. 15; Herodot., ii. 123; Clem. Rec.1:24; 7.

1297- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 169, 355, end notes 78–85: Joseph Glanvill [& George Rust], Two Choice and Useful Treatises, B2, 17, 12, 15; 22, 25, 31, 42–43.

1298- ANF, 1:409-12, book 2, chaps 33–34. Irenaeus, Against Heresies. Note 1 in verse 2. Comp. Clem. Alex., Strom., i. 15: Herodot., ii. 123. Raymond A. Moody, Jr., M.D., Reflections On Life After Life, (Toronto; NY; London & Sydney, Bantam Books, 1977, 6th printing, Nov. 1983), p. 12-13, 28, note 1: Edith Hamilton & Huntington Cairns, eds., The Collected Dialogues of Plato, trans. Hugh Tredennick, Bollingen Series 71 (NY: Pantheon Books, 1961), p. 844. Plato, The Republic, Book X, written about 360 B.C.E., Translated by Benjamin Jowett. Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 121, 159–60.

1299- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 99–127, 160.

1300- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 159–163, 354, end notes 48–63: Macrobius, Commentary on the Dream of Scipio by Macrobius, trans. William Harris Stahl (New York: Columbia University Press, 1990), 185. Cicero, Tuscan Disputations, 1.27: Consolation, cited by Lactantius, On the Anger of God, XI, in The Ante-Nicene Fathers, ed. Alexander Roberts and James Donaldson (Grand Rapids, Mich.: Eerdmans, 1977), 7:267. David E. Hahm, The Origins of Stoic Cosmology (Columbus: Ohio State University Press, 1977), 140, 151. James Mark Balwin, ed., Dictionary of Philosophy and Psychology, 3 vols. (New York: Macmillan, 1902), 2:270. Ernest Fortin, "The Viri Novi Arnobius and the Conflict between Faith and Reason in the Early Christians Centuries," in The Birth of Philosophic Christianity: Studies in Early Christian and Medieval Thought, ed. J. Brian Benestad (Lanham, Md.: Rowman & Littlefield, 1996), 176. Stephen Bay's translation, from More, "Preface General," in Philosophical Writings, xiii. Xv. Letter of Henry to Anne Conway, 12 May [1668], cited in Hutton, Anne Conway, 60. Allison P. Coudert, The Impact of the Kabbalah in the Seventeenth-Century: The Life and Thoughts of Francis Mercury van Helmont (1614–1698), (Leiden: Brill, 1999), xix, 115, 222, chapters 3 & 6.

1301- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 161–163, 354–55, end notes 64–71: Richard H. Popkin, "The Spiritual Cosmologies of Henry More & Anne Conway," in Henry More (1614–1687): Tercentenary Studies, ed. Sarah Hutton (Dordrecht: Kluwer, 1990), 105. Attack against the publication was done in a letter, 1675, by Herman Rose, cited in Coudert, Impact of the Kabbalah, 115.

1302- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 164, 355, end note 68: Anne Conway, The Principles of the Most Ancient & Modern Philosophy Concerning God, Christ & the Creatures, II,2, VI, VII, 42–43, ed. And trans. Allison P. Coudert & Taylor Corse (Cambridge Un. Press, 1996), 39.

- 1303- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 173–76, 356, end notes 94–101: Thomas Traherne, “The Salutation,” in Selected Writings of Thomas Traherne, ed. Dick Davis (Manchester: Fyfield, 1980), 19–20, 24–26, 28–30, 35.
- 1304- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/John_Locke
- 1305- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 192–93, 357–58, end notes 9–11: John Locke, Essay Concerning Human Understanding, I.1.8–2.1, I.2.2,5, II.27,14; ed. Peter H. Nidditch (Oxford: Clarendon, 1975), 48–50, 338–39.
- 1306- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 193–199.
- 1307- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 169, 355, notes 86–87: Edward Warren, No Præexistence; or, A Brief Dissertation against the Hypothesis of Humane Souls, Living in a State Antecedaneous to This (Lon.: Samuel Thomson, 1667). 2–4, 7–8, 24.
- 1308- Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 385, Internet Archives: https://archive.org/details/bub_gb_K0gzHmvOW9wC – Nicolas Caussin, La Cour Sainte, published in 1674. See also: Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (New York, San Diego, U.S.A.; London, England: Harcourt Brace & Company). And: <http://www.newadvent.org/cathen/03467a.htm> – Ernst and Johanna Lehner, Devils, Demons, Death and Damnation, (New York: Dover Pictorial Archive Series, Dover Publishing Inc., 1971). J. Charles Wall, Devils, (London, England: Methuen & Company, 1904; Detroit: Singing Tree Press, Book Tower, 1968, reissued). Martha Himmelfarb, Tours Of Hell, An Apocalyptic Form in Jewish and Christian Literature, (Philadelphia: University of Pennsylvania Press, 1983). Bernard J. Bamberger, Fallen Angels, Soldiers of Satan's Realm, (Philadelphia, Jewish Publication Society of America, 1952).
- 1309- Ernst & Johanna Lehner, Devils, Demons, Death and Damnation, (NY: Dover Pictorial Archive Series, Dover Publishing Inc., 1971). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Jeffrey Burton Russell, Lucifer, The Devil In the Middle Age, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1984). The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988). Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Co., 1900). Bernard J. Bamberger, Fallen Angels, Soldiers of Satan's Realm, (Philadelphia, Jewish Publication Society of America, 1952). Gustav Davidson, 1967, A Dictionary Of Angels, Including the Fallen Angels, (New York; London: The Free Press, and Collier-Macmillan Limited). Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, & Other Little People, (NY: Gramercy Books, 2000 ed., earlier ed. Crown Pub., 1978).
- 1310- Ernst & Johanna Lehner, Devils, Demons, Death & Damnation, NY: Dover Pictorial Archive Series, Dover Pub. 1971, 27, fig. 52. Title page from Thomas Heywood's The Hierarchie of the blessed Angells, engraved by T. Cecill, printed by Adam Islip, London, 1635 A.D.
- 1311- Ernst & Johanna Lehner, Devils, Demons, Death and Damnation, NY: Dover Pictorial Archive Series, Dover 1971, 173, fig.240. Michael casting Lucifer out. Ornamented tail piece, French book printed in 1650.
- 1312- Katharine Briggs, An Encyclopedia of Fairies, Hobgoblins, Brownies, Bogies, & Other Supernatural Creatures, (NY: Pantheon Books, 1976), 232, 320.
- 1313- Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, (NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, Chicago: Open Court Pub. Co., 1900), 451. <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Subjectivism> -
- 1314- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 181, 356, end notes 114–15: John Milton, Christian Doctrine VII, trans. Charles Richard Sumner (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1825), 189. John Milton, Comus, 11.256, 467–75.
- 1315- David Bland A History of Book Illustration, The Illuminated Manuscript & the Printed Book, Berkeley & LA: Un. of Calif. Press, 1958, 69, 188, fig.157. Milton's Paradise Lost, 1688, Design- Medina, engrav. Burgess.
- 1316- Jeffrey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988), 189-194, & 197. Merritt Y. Hughes, editor, John Milton Complete Poems and Major Prose, (Indianapolis: The Bobbs-Merrill Company, Inc., The Odyssey Press, 1957), 207– 530, first published in London, 1674, as Paradise Lost A Poem in Twelve Books.
- 1317- Fredk, WM. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Christ Lore (Being the Legends, Traditions, Myths, Symbols, & Superstitions of The Christian Church), (London: 1902, republished, Detroit: Gale Research Company, Book Tower, 1969). <https://archive.org/details/christlorebeing00hackgoog> – <https://archive.org/details/ChristLore> (1902 ed). 245.
- 1318- Anthony W. Ivins, 1934, The Relationship of Mormonism & Freemasonry, SLC, Utah: DNP, 129.
- 1319- Paradise Lost, John Milton, (An Authoritative Text Backgrounds and Sources Criticism), Edited by Scott Elledge, Cornell Un., Pub. by W.W. Norton & Co., N.Y., Lon., 1975, 8-9, & 324-5, type setting mine. 2nd ed., of an orig. title reads: Paradise Lost. A Poem in Twelve Books. John Milton. The Second Edition Revifed & Augmented by the fame Author. London, 1674. Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 177–82.
- 1320- Ernst & Johanna Lehner, Devils, Demons, Death & Damnation, NY: Dover Pictorial Archive Series, 1971, 28, fig.53. Lucifer reign over sinners' souls. Illust. John Baptist Medina for John's Paradise Lost, Lon. 1688.
- 1321- Paradise Lost, bk 7, J. Charles Wall, 1904, Devils, Detroit: Singing Tree Press, Book Tower, 1968, 32.
- 1322- New International Illustrated Encyc. of Art, vol. 11, p. 2241, Icon of Saint George Killing the Dragon, late 17th early 18th century, A.D., church at Arbanasi, Bulgaria.
- 1323- New Catholic Encyc., New York: McGraw-Hill Book., Co., 1967, vol. 8, p. 427, fig.10; p.430, Fig.12-d.
- 1324- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 178–80, 356, end notes 102–108: [Abel Evans?], “Pre-Existence,” in Poems Imitative of Spenser: And, in the Manner of Milton, ed. John Bell (London: John Bell, 1790), 124, 128–131, 134, 136. Justin White, in “Pre-Existence”: A Poem in Imitation of Milton: A Discussion of Authorship,” unpublished manuscript. Edward Moore, “Origin of Alexandria and Apocatastasis: Some Notes on the Development of a Noble Notion,” Quodlibet: Online Journal of Christian Theology and Philosophy 5.1 (January 2003), www.quodlibet.net/articles/moore-origin.shtml - Joseph Wilson Trigg, Origen (The Bible and Philosophy in the Third-century Church), (Atlanta: 1946, 1952, 1971, 1973, & John Knox Press, 1983), 40.
- 1325- Thomas J. Steele, S. J. Santos and Saints, Essays and Handbook, (Albuquerque, New Mexico: Calvin Horn Publisher, Inc., 1974 CR The Regis Jesuit Community), 34-35.

- 1326- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 189, 357, end note 1: Benjamin Franklin to Jane Mecom, cited in The Works of Benjamin Franklin, 10 vols., ed. Jared Sparks (Boston: Hilliard, Gray, 1840), 7:58–59, Sparks does not date the letter.
- 1327- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 180–181, 356, note 112: Laurence Dermott, Ahiman Rezon; or, A Help to a Brother Shewing the Excellency of Secrecy and the First Cause or Motive of the Institution of Free Masonry... (Lon.: Laurence Dermott, 1756), [v].
- 1328- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 199–200, n. 33–35, p. 110–111, 345–46, n.41–42: Edward Search [Abraham Tucker], Freewill, Foreknowledge and Fate: A Fragment (London, 1763; repr., Bristol, England: Thoemmes, 1990), 169–171. Tertullian, A Treatise on the Soul, XXIV, in The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 10 vols., ed. Alexander Roberts and James Donaldson (Grand Rapids, Mich.: Eerdmans, 1977), 3:203. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, Vol. 1, p. 409–12, book 2, chapters 33–34. Irenaeus, Against Heresies. Note 1 in verse 2. Comp. Clem. Alex., Strom., i. 15: Herodot., ii. 123. Augustine, The Soliloquies, II.2034, in John H. S. Burleigh, Augustine's Earlier Writings, (Philadelphia: Westminster, 1953), 61–62. Augustine, Retraction, I.4.4, in Burleigh, 18. <http://www.ccel.org/ccel/schaff/anf01.ix.iii.xxxiv.html> -
- 1329- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 243, 364–65, end notes 13–14: Emanuel Swedenborg, The Spiritual Diary, 5 vols., trans. George Bush and John H. Smithson (London: John Speirs, 1883), 2591, 2793, (2:292, 350); Swedenborg, The True Christian Religion, 2 vols. (New York: Swedenborg Foundation, 1965), 171 (1:257).
- 1330- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 200–6.
- 1331- Jahrbuch Der Berliner Museen, Ehemals Jahrbuch der Preußischen Kunstsammlungen Neue Folge, (Berlin, Germany: Gebr. Mann Verlag, 1990), Zweihunddreissigster Band, 1990, p. 262–63, Abb. 35/36. Ehrenscherwt mit Detail. 2.H. d. 19. Jh. Eisen. Gräfllich Stolber-Wernigerödische Factorie zu Ilsenburg. Staatl. Schlösser u. Gärten, Berlin-Charlottenburg. Michael pins Satan by his bat wings, thrusts lance in mouth. Late 18th early 19th c.
- 1332- Ernst & Johanna Lehner Devils Demons Death & Damnation NY: Dover Pict. Arch. Ser. 1971, 29, fig.54.
- 1333- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 255–56, 366, end notes 47–48: Johann Volfgang von Goethe, (1749–1832), Faust, trans., Walter Arndt, (New York: Norton, 1976). Sarah Austin, ed. And trans., Characteristics of Goethe, from the German of Falk von Müller, 3 vols. (London: Effingham Wilson, 1833), 1:78–84.
- 1334- Louis Hourticq, Harper's Encyclopedia of Art, Architecture Sculpture Painting, Decorative Arts, translated under the supervision of Tancred Borenius, PH.D., D. LIT., fully revised under the direction of J. Leroy Davidson & Philippa Gerry, L-Z, (New York, U.S.A., and London, England: Harper & Brothers Publishing, 1937), vol.1, page after 167, see BOURGES: LAST JUDGMENT; & the page before p.191, Flemish Primitives, Last Judgment. Beane. See also: Carol Zaleski, Otherworld Journeys, Accounts of Near-Death Experiences In Medieval and Modern Times, (New York and Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987), p. 69–74. New International Illustrated Encyc. of Art, vol. 4, p.733. Howard Simon, Five Hundred Years of Art In Illustration, From Albrecht Durer to Rockwell Kent, (New York: Garden City, 1949), p.79, William Blake's work pub. on March 1, 1825. Colleen McDannell and Bernhard Lang, Heaven: A History, New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1988, p. 234. Fredk, W.M. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Christ Lore, Being the Legends, Traditions, Myths, Symbols, & Superstitions of The Christian Church, Lon.: 1902, repub., Detroit: Gale Research Co., Book Tower, 1969), 245–6; The American West (Magazine of the Western History Assoc., Fall 1965, Vol. II, #4, p.42).
- 1335- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 243–44, 365, notes 15–16: William Blake, "The Book of Thel," in The Complete Poetry and Prose of William Blake, ed. David V. Erdman, (Berkeley: Un. of California Press, 1982), 4–5. William Blake, "The Little Black Boy," in Complete Poetry, 9.
- 1336- Treasures of Britain and Treasures of Ireland, (NY: W. W. Norton & Co., Pub. in United Kingdom, Drive Publications Limited for the Automobile Association, Lon., 1968, 1969, 1972), 63, Arlington Court, art work probably bought from William Blake to Colonel J. P. Chichester, discovered in Arlington Court, in a cupboard, dated 1821, entitled: The Cycle of the Life of Man.
- 1337- Joseph Campbell, Bill Moyes (Editor), The Power Of Myth, (New York, U.S.A., and London, England: Doubleday, 1988), colored plate 14. "Fall of the Rebellious Angels, from Les Tres Riches Heures du Duc de Berry, Brothers Limbourg, Franco-Flemish, 1411–16." A.D.
- 1338- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 241–42, 364, end notes 4–9: Thomas Taylor, ed., and trans., The Works of Plato, 5 vols., (London: R. Wilks, 1804), I:iv, xxxiii, xxxv, xc., I:lxv–lxxx; lxxvi–lxxvii. I:vii, v.
- 1339- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 245–47, 365, end notes 17–18: Samuel Taylor Coleridge, "Sonnet on Receiving Letters," in The Complete Poems, ed. William Keach (New York: Penguin, 1977), 121. Letter to John Thelwall (11-19-1796), & Letter to Thomas Poole (11-1-1796), in Collected Letters of Samuel Taylor Coleridge, 6 vols. Ed. E. L. Griggs (Oxford: Clarendon, 1956), 1:260–61, & 1:246. Irene H. Chayes makes a case that Coleridge came to the idea of preexistence by way of Ramsay's Philosophical Principles, reading "Coleridge, Metempsychosis & 'Almost All the Followers of Fenelon,'" English Literary History 25.4 (Dec. 1958): 290–315.
- 1340- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, Intro. 8, note 15, p. 329, William Wordsworth, "Ode: Intimations of Immortality," In Poetical Works, ed. Thomas Hutchinson and Ernest de Selincourt, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1989), 460–62. Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, (SLC, Utah: Deseret Book, 2006), 128, 426, note 75: Wordsworth, "Ode: Intimations of Immortality from Recollections of Early Childhood," in A Treasury of Great Poems, 655.
- 1341- William Wordsworth, The Poetical Works of William Wordsworth, (London: Edward Moxon, Dover Street, 1847, The Poems of William Wordsworth, A New Edition, (London: Edward Moxon, Dover Street, 1858), 441–443. Ode. Intimations Of Immortality From Recollections of Early Childhood, verses I–XI. (Dated 1803–06). Comments added here by Darell Thorpe, about 2016–2017. <https://archive.org/stream/poemsofwilliamwo01word#page/440/mode/2up> - <https://archive.org/details/poemsofwilliamwo01word> See also: Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), Introduction, 8, end note 15, p. 329, mentions William Wordsworth, "Ode: Intimations of Immortality," In Poetical Works, ed. Thomas Hutchinson and Ernest de Selincourt, (New York: Oxford University Press, 1989), 460–62. Part of the poem was also cited in the movie: Man's Search For Happiness, on You Tube: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=L5oS2pZlvgl> - This film was produced by the BYU Motion Picture Studio for the Mormon Pavilion at the 1964 World's Fair in New York City, United States of America. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Man%27s_Search_for_Happiness#cite_note-2 -

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/William_Wordsworth – https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Ode:_Intimations_of_Immortality –

1342- Charles Kingsley, The Water-Babies, A Fairy Tale for a Land – Baby, with illustrations by W. Heath Robinson, (Boston & New York: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1915, printed in Great Britain), 78–79. <https://archive.org/stream/waterbabiesfairy00king5#page/78/mode/2up> – Everyman's Library, Edited by Ernest Rhys, For Young People, The Water Babies and Glaucus, Introduction by Rose Kingsley, (New York and London: J. M. Dent and Sons, LTD., E. P. Dutton and Company, 1908, reprints 1910 and 1914), pages 56–57. <https://archive.org/details/waterbabiesglauc00king> –

1343- <http://www.sundaymagazine.org/wp-content/uploads/19101120-4-sir.pdf> See the interesting & long: Sunday Magazine, article, November 20, 1910, Sir Oliver Lodge Teaches The Soul's Pre-Existence, <http://sundaymagazine.org/2010/11/sir-oliver-lodge-teaches-the-souls-pre-existence/#respond> - See also: Sir Oliver Lodge, Reason and Belief, (New York: George H. Doran Company, 1910). Links might not work, but still could, at this time of reading: <https://archive.org/details/reasonandbelief00lodggoog> – (New York: Moffat, Yard & Co., 1910), <https://archive.org/stream/reasonandbelief03lodggoog#page/n6/mode/2up> –

1344- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 252–54, 366, notes 37, 39–43: David Hume, “On the Immortality of the Soul,” in Of the Standard of Taste and Other Essays, ed. John W. Lenz (Indianapolis, Ind.: Boobs-Merrill, 1965), 162. Percy B. Shelly, “On a Future State,” in Essays and Letters by Percy Bysshe Shelley, ed. Ernest Rhys (Lon.: Walter Scott, n.d.), 81–82. Thomas Jefferson Hogg, The Life of Percy Bysshe Shelley (Lon.: Routledge, 1906), 147–48. Percy Bysshe Shelley, “Prince Athanase,” ll.91–92, in Complete Poetical Works, ed. Thomas Hutchinson (NY: Oxford, 1933), 161. Shelley, Epipsychidion, ll. 131–37, 417–23, 453–56, in Complete Poetical, 414, 420–21.

1345- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 252–54, 366, end note 44: Byron, Cain, ll.549–52; ll.1175–76, in Byron, 900, 906.

1346- Myth and Mankind, (BV, Amsterdam: Time-Life Books, & Duncan Baird Pub., 1999), numerous vols., vol., Forests of the Vampire, Slavic Myth, p. 60–61, writers, Charles Phillips, Michael Kerrigan.

1347- C. J. S. Thompson, M.B.E., The Mystery and Lord of Monsters, With accounts of some Giants, Dwarfs and Prodigious, (NY: Barnes & Noble Books, 1994), 185.

1348- Jahrbuch Der Berliner Museen, Ehimals Jahrbuch der Preußischen Kunstsammlungen Neue Folge, Berlin, Germany: Gebr. Mann Verlag, 1990, Zweiunddreissigster Band, 1990, p. 264, Abb. 37. Original des Ehrenschwertes mit Detail. 1818, Bronze, feuervergoldet u. ziseliert. Französischer Privathesitz. Michael pins Satan under his feet and thrusts a lance into him.

1349- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 226–27, 362, end note 71: Green's article is in Christian Advocate 3, (1825): 530.

1350- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 209–211.

1351- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 209–212, 360, notes 9–16: Wilhelm Benecke, An Exposition of St. Paul's Epistle to the Romans, trans. Friedrich Wilhelm, Lon.: Brown, Green & Longmans, 1854, xii–xiii, 31, 455–56. Herman Olshausen Biblical Commentary on the New Testament, 6 vols. (New York: Sheldon, Blakeman, 1857), 3:576.

1352- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 226–27, 362–63, end notes 71–73: Green's article in Christian Advocate 3, (1825): 530. Christian Observer, 19.32 (8-6-1840). Duffield's words, Spiritual Life; or Regeneration (Carlisle, Pa: George Fleming, 1832), 395, cited in Christian Observer article.

1353- Lehre von der Präexistenz der menschlichen Seele (Straßburg 1859), siehe auch Präexistenzlehre. - Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), pages 199, 358–59, end note 36: Bibliotheca Sacra 20.80 (October 1863): pages 681–733. <https://archive.org/search.php?query=Bibliotheca+Sacra&page=2> - https://de.wikipedia.org/wiki/Johann_Friedrich_Bruch

1354- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 199–200.

1355- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 207, 359, end note 1: J. Friedrich Bruch, Die Lehre von der Präexistenz (Strasburg: Treuttel und Würz, 1859), 24. Translation by Roger Minert.

1356- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 220–23. Edward Beecher, (1803–1895), The Conflict of Ages, or, The Great Debate on the Moral Relations of God and Man, <https://archive.org/details/conflictagesorg02beecgoog> – (1853), <https://archive.org/details/conflictagesorg00inbeec> - (1854), <https://archive.org/details/conflictagesorg01beecgoog> - (1855).

1357- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 226, 362, end notes 59 & 69, Edward Beecher, (1803–1895), The Conflict of Ages, or, The Great Debate on the Moral Relations of God and Man, <https://archive.org/details/conflictagesorg02beecgoog> – (1853), 2–3, 46, 60, 98, 107, 110–11, 196, 211, 221, 228–33, 239, & 242.

1358- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 230–31. Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (NY: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978). Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (Armonk, New York & London England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc. 1989). Jeffrey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988). Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900). Ernst & Johanna Lehner, Devils, Demons, Death and Damnation, (New York: Dover Pictorial Archive Series, Dover Publishing Inc., 1971). Janetta Rebold Benton, Holy Terrors, Gargoyles on Medieval Buildings, (New York, London: Abbeville Press Publishers, 1997).

1359- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 230, 363, n.86: Anonymous review, Christian Review (January 1854).

1360- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 226–229.

1361- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 229, 363, end notes 74–84: H. B., “Review of The Divine Character Vindicated,” University Quarterly and General Review (April 1855).

1362- Terry Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 229. John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (New York: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882), 98. A. S. Garretson, Primitive Christianity And Early Criticism, (Boston: Sherman, French & Company, 1912), 73. R. Joseph Hoffmann, (translator) Celsus On The True Doctrine, (A Discourse Against the early Christians), (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987), 54 & 65. John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (New York: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882), 73-4; ANF, 4:419-20, & 448. H. Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of H. Nibley, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company), vol. 3, The World And The Prophets, p.18-19; Nibley, vol. 4, (1987), Mormonism and Early Christianity, note 107, Origen Against Celsus II, 43, in Patrologia Cursus Completus, = PG 11:864-65. J. P. Migne, Patrologiae Cursus Completus; Series Latina, 221 volumes; (Paris: 1844-1864). Patrologia Cursus Completus, Series Graeca (Paris: 1857-1866, 161 vols). ANF, 4:528, book 4, chap. lxi, Origen Against Celsus.

1363- Terry Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 230–31, 363, end notes 87–88: Beecher, “Life.” Plus: John Beecher to President Hudson, 11 March 1950, Letter introducing the manuscript copy of “Life of Edward Beecher” original in Illinois College Library.

1364- Terry Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 226–227.

1365- Terry Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 233–34.

1366- Terry Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 234–35.

1367- Terry Givens, When Souls Had Wings, NY: Ox. Un. Press, 2010, 235–36, 363–64, n.98–106: Julius Müller, The Christian Doctrine of Sin, 2 vols. trans. William Urwick, Edinburgh: Clark, 1868, 1:7, 2:69–76, 74n, 76n.

1368- A. S. Garretson, Primitive Christianity And Early Criticism, (Boston: Sherman, French & Company, 1912). <https://archive.org/details/primitivechristi01garr> - Stan-Michel Pellistrand, The Early Christian Civilization, (Forni, Geneva: 1978, California, USA: Paradise Found Books, English edition). R. Joseph Hoffmann, (translator) Celsus On The True Doctrine, (A Discourse Against the early Christians), (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987). <https://archive.org/details/AnteNiceneChristianLibraryV01> - Origen Against Celsus, <https://archive.org/stream/antenicenefather00menzgoog#page/n370/mode/2up> - Robert Louis Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, (Yale University Press; New Haven and London, 1984). <https://archive.org/details/antenicenefather00menzgoog> - Stephen Benko, Pagan Rome And The Early Christians, (Indiana: Indiana University Press, 1984). W. H. C. Frend, Martyrdom & Persecution In The Early Church, (Garden City, New York: Anchor Books Doubleday & Company, 1967). Thomas William Doane, Bible Myths, And Their Parallels In Other Religions, (New York: The Truth Seeker Company, 1882 & 1910). <https://archive.org/details/biblemythsandthe00doanuoft> (1882), <https://archive.org/details/biblemythsandthe00doanuoft> (1910 edition). <http://web.archive.org/web/20030627133557/http://www.restorationhistory.com/EC2002.HTM> - Julian the Apostate, [361—63 C.E.], says: “Moses says that the creator of the universe chose the Hebrew nation, that to that nation alone did he pay heed and cared for it, & he gives him charge of it alone. But how & by what sort of gods the other nations are governed he has not said a word” (100a). “Julian asks the Christians if Judaea was the only land that he chose to take thought for, what about the other lands? Why did God only send prophets to a certain land, “but to us no prophet, no oil of anointing, no teacher, no herald to announce his love for man which should one day, though late, reach even unto us also?...If he is the God of all of us alike, & the creator of all, why did he neglect us? (106d).” Robert Louis Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, (Yale University Press; New Haven and London, 1984), p. 162-3, 180-81. Porphyry, an early anti-Christian writer A.D. 3rd century, asks the Christians: “What about the souls of people who lived before Jesus and had no opportunity to believe?” Reader’s Digest, Editor, Gayla Visalli, and others, 1992, After Jesus, The Triumph of Christianity, (Pleasantville, New York and Montreal, Canada: The Reader’s Digest Associations, Inc., 1992), p.199-200. He also charged that the early Christians’ God couldn’t be the way, and the truth and the life, in which men and women could have only had access to God, since the time of Christ’s appearing in the flesh. Hence, their God “excludes those who have gone before and those who have no knowledge of Jesus of Nazareth.” Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, p. 162-63. Other critics, or “detractors in the Roman empire were able to sneer that he [Christ] had put his appearance “in some small corner of the earth somewhere.” Jaroslav Pelikan, The Illustrated Jesus Through The Centuries, (New Haven & London: Yale University Press, 1997), p. 225–236. The early anti-Christian, Porphyry, according to Wilken, took a passage in John 14:6, & then asks: “If Christ says he is the way, the grace, & the truth, & claims that only in himself can believing souls find a way to God, what did the people who lived in the many centuries before Christ do[?] ...What became of the innumerable souls, who can in no way be faulted, if he in whom they were supposed to believe had not yet appeared among humankind?...Why did he who is called the Savior hide himself for so many ages?” It is arrogant for Christians to think that only since the coming of Christ have men & women had access to God. Realizing that Christians answered this objection by appealing to the antiquity of Jewish tradition, he says: “Let them not say that the human race was saved by the ancient Jewish law, since the Jewish law appeared & flourished in a small part of Syria, a long time after [the ancient cults in Italy], & only later made its way into the Italian lands, after the reign of Gaius Caesar, or probably during his reign. What, then, became of the souls of Romans or Latins who were deprived of the grace of Christ which had not yet come until the time of the Caesar? [Augustine, Ep. 102.8]...” Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, p.162. Origen, in response to Celsus, the early anti-Christian of the late 2nd cent., points out that Christ had not neglected other nations, had prophets in other nations, & went to other nations too, The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 4:407, 422-4, 444, 447, 464, 468, 557, 609, & 641; Chronicles 16:12-16, 20-24. <https://archive.org/stream/antenicenefather04robeuoft#page/608/mode/2up> - (page 609). <https://archive.org/stream/antenicenefather04robeuoft#page/640/mode/2up> - (page 641). <https://archive.org/stream/antenicenefather04robeuoft#page/556/mode/2up> - (page 557). <https://archive.org/stream/antenicenefather04robeuoft#page/468/mode/2up> - (page 468). <https://archive.org/stream/antenicenefather04robeuoft#page/464/mode/2up> - (pages 464–47). <https://archive.org/stream/antenicenefather04robeuoft#page/446/mode/2up> - <https://archive.org/stream/antenicenefather04robeuoft#page/422/mode/2up> - <https://archive.org/stream/antenicenefather04robeuoft#page/406/mode/2up> - The Ante-Nicene Fathers, = TANF, volume one, page 289, Justin Martyr, Hortatory to the Greeks, chapter thirtyseven. <https://archive.org/stream/cuaantenicenefat01robe#page/n299/mode/2up> A. S. Garretson, Primitive Christianity And Early Criticism, (Boston: Sherman, French & Co. 1912). <https://archive.org/details/primitivechristi01garr> - pages 103-6. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, volume one, (1895), <https://archive.org/details/cuaantenicenefat01robe> - <https://archive.org/details/in.ernet.dli.2015.152507> - <https://archive.org/stream/in.ernet.dli.2015.152507/2015.152507.Primitive-Christianity-And-Early-Criticisms-A-Work-Of-Negation#page/n119/mode/2up> The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 4: p. 528, Origen Against Celsus, book IV, chapter LXIX. <https://archive.org/stream/antenicenefather04robeuoft#page/528/mode/2up> - <https://archive.org/details/AnteNiceneChristianLibraryV23> - The Ante-Nicene Fathers, volume four (1885) - <https://archive.org/details/antenicenefather04robeuoft> - The Ante-Nicene Fathers, volume four, page 528, book four, chapter lxxix, Origen Against Celsus. 4: page 609, book 6 chapters lxxviii-lxxix, Origen Against Celsus; <https://archive.org/stream/antenicenefather04robeuoft#page/608/mode/2up> The Ante-Nicene Fathers, volume three, pages 157-8; chapter vii, Tertullian, An Answer to the Jews. (1885 reprinted May 1989). Links might still be working, but might also not, as they get changed, or removed: <https://archive.org/details/antenicenefather03robeuoft> - <https://archive.org/stream/antenicenefather03robeuoft#page/156/mode/2up> - Another source says that a certain Historian cites Tertullian as saying that the doctrine of Christ had been heard in all nations of the earth, for "the same voice and doctrine had been heard by the inhabitants of many more strange countries and islands unknown to us, and which, he says, we could not enumerate, yet in which is known the name of Christ, who has come and reigns, before whom the gates of all cities have opened and none remained closed, before whom all iron chains have been broken and steel locks have been unbarred. "Does not Tertullian," Solorzano says, "indicate, as it were, with his finger the distant regions of which we have no knowledge?" -of America?" Tertullian also used the words of scripture to help him express this belief, for he cites from Psalm 18:5 & Rom. 10:18 (P. D. Roo, History of America Before Columbus, (According to Documents & Approved Authors), by P. De Roo, Pub. by Philadelphia & Lon. J. B. Lippincott Co. 1900, Vol.1; p. 205-9). <https://archive.org/details/antenicenefather04robe> - The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, Origen Against Celsus, book 6 chapter lxxviii-lxxix, Origen Against Celsus; <https://archive.org/stream/antenicenefather04robeuoft#page/608/mode/2up> <https://archive.org/stream/biblemythsandthe00doanuoft#page/210/mode/2up> - Thomas Williams Doane, (1852-1885), Bible Myths and Their Parallels in Other Religions, Being a Comparison of the Old and New Testament Myths and Miracles with Those of Heathen Nations of Antiquity, Considering also Their Origin and Meaning, (New York: The Truth Seeker, Co., 1910), <https://archive.org/details/biblemythsandthe00doanuoft> - NY: Commonwealth co. 1882, <https://archive.org/details/biblemythsandthe00doanuoft> - New York: Truth Seeker, 1882, <https://archive.org/details/biblemythsandthe00doanuoft> - 1971 reprint: <https://archive.org/details/biblemythsandthe00doanuoft> - 1882 <https://archive.org/details/biblemythsandthe00doanuoft> - "Borrowing, theft, adulteration. We have dwelled on the confrontation of comparative chronology since it seems to have weighed heavily on the Christian's evaluation of the features they shared with classical paganism. From the moment they thought that, by virtue of their connection to the Jewish people, they preceded Greek history, they were able to consider resemblances to their adversaries only as cases of plagiarism committed against them by the latter. The direction of influence seemed beyond all doubt; as Justin unambiguously puts it, "It is not we who think like the others, but all of them who imitate us in what they say" (First Apology 60.10). Tertullian would recall the determining role played by chronology: "That which first existed is necessarily the origin of what followed. And this is why you have things in common with us or things that resemble ours"; so it is, he continues, that our Wisdom (sophia) gave you philosophy, and our prophecy your poetic divination." (Apologeticus 19.1.5*-6*). This slide from posteriority to dependence, in Judaism as well as in Christianity, has been studied by K. Thraede. ("Erfinder," part 2, in Reallexikon fur Antike und Christentum (1962), cols. 1242-61). Tertullian, Apologeticus 47.11-14. Ad Autolycum 1.14; 2:37, translated by Robert M. Grant, Oxford 1970. Stromateis 2.1.1.1. Justin Martyr, First Apology 54.1-4, 54.5-10, 55.1; Dialogue With Trypho, 67.1-2; 69.1-5; 70.1-3, 5; 78.5-6. Yves Bonnefoy, Mythologies, (A Restructured Translation of Dictionnaire des mythologies et des religions des societes traditionnelles et du monde antique) Prepared under the Direction of Wendy Doniger, (Chicago & London: The University of Chicago Press, 1991), 2:659-662, article Christian Judgments on the Analogies Between Christianity and Pagan Mythology, J. P./d.w. Early anti-Christian, 2nd cent., Celsus "...criticizes the books of the Bible. Using an elementary comparative method, he traces Biblical tales to pagan legends, to Platonic theses, or beliefs derived from the Oriental cults of Mithra & Osiris." (Stan-Michel Pellistrandi, Early Christian Civilization, The Catacombs, The Dura-Europos Excavations, The Excavations At Saint Peter's In Rome, French title: La Civilisation chretienne primitive, (Geneva: Ferni Publishers, 1978; Editions Ferni), 179-199).

1369- Thomas William Doane, Bible Myths, And Their Parallels In Other Religions, (New York: The Truth Seeker Company, 1882 & 1910). <https://archive.org/details/biblemythsandthe00doanuoft> (1882), <https://archive.org/details/biblemythsandthe00doanuoft> (1910 edition). John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, or the Art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, as Witnesses and Teachers of the One Catholic Faith and Practice, (New York: J. W. Bouton, 1876), p. 98. <https://archive.org/details/monumentalchris00lundgoog> -

1370- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 236-37.

1371- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 236, 364, end note 109: Andréa Pizzani, Pre-existence and Future Existence; or, The Soul Created in the Image of God ... (London: William Ridgeway, 1864?), 16-17.

1372- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 269-70, 368, Austin Warren, "The Concord School of Philosophy," New England Quarterly 2.2. (April 1929): 216. Raymond L. Bridgman, ed., Concord Lectures on Philosophy (Cambridge: Moses King, 1883), 121, 149.

1373- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 236-37, 364, end note 110: Norman Pearson, "Before Birth," Nineteenth Century, (September 1886): 340-63.

1374- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 256-60.

1375- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 259, 367, end note 56: Dante Gabriel Rossetti, "Sudden Light," in Complete Poetical Works, ed. William M. Rossetti (Boston: Roberts Brothers, 1894), 260.

1376- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978). Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (Armonk, New York & London England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc. 1989). Richard Cavendish, editor, Man, Myth & Magic, (New York: Marshal Cavendish, 1983), 11 volumes. George Every, 1970 & 1987, Christian Legends, (New York: Peter Bedrick Books). Every, Christian Mythology, (London, England; New York, U.S.A.; Sydney Toronto: The Hamlyn Pub. Group Limited, 1970, and Middlesex, England: Hamlyn House, Feltham, 1973). Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900). Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1981). Lucifer, The Devil In the Middle Age, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1984). The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988). Bernard J. Bamberger, Fallen Angels, Soldiers of Satan's Realm, (Philadelphia, Jewish Publication Society of America, 1952).

1377- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings, ... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 231–32, 363, end notes 91–92: “The Sacredness of Life,” in Phillip Brooks: Selected Sermons, ed. William Scarlett (New York: Dutton, 1949), 19 & 21. Brooks is quoting Alexander Pope’s poem “The Messiah: A Sacred Eclogue.”

1378- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 231–32, 363, notes 93–94: Virgil, Aeneid, VI, ll. 913–14, trans., by Robert Fitzgerald (New York: Vintage, 1990), 183. Alexander Pope, Essay on Man I.3, ll. 77–80, 97, in Collected Poems, ed. Bonamy Dobrée (London: Dent, 1975), 184.

1379- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 61–70, 78, 82, 109, 140, 157, 164–166, 172, 240–244, 255–256, & 270, 232, 363, notes 95–96: “The Candle of the Lord,” in Phillips Brooks: Sermon, 39. Alexander V. G. Allen, Phillips Brooks (NY: Dutton, 1907), 64, 66. Stephen D. Ricks, & LeGrand L. Barker, Who Shall Ascend Into the Hill of the Lord? The Psalms In Israel’s Temple Worship In The Old Testament and in the Book of Mormon, SLC, Utah: Eborn Books, 2009, 83–97, The Hymn of the Pearl. The Hymn of the Soul Contained in the Syriac Acts of St. Thomas. And: The Lost Books of The Bible & The Forgotten Books of Eden, (USA, Newfoundland: Alpha House, 1926 & 1927, World Bible Publishers), see: The conflict of Adam and Eve with Satan. Adam & Eve, upon finding out how hard mortal life can be, get home sick to return to their former bright state of existence, to return to glory. Ecclesiastes 12:7.

1380- Terryl Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 259, 367, end note 57: Robert Browning, “Rabbi ben Ezra, II. 159–68, in Browning’s, 291.

1381- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 259–60, 367, Francisco Sellén, “Pre-existence,” trans. Helen S. Conant, Current Literature, 5.3, (9-1890): 234.

1382- http://www.sweetpeasandpolkadots.com/legend_lore.html Internet article on Sweet Peas & Polka Dots, article: Babies, Birth Announcements and the Stork: The Legend and Lore, showing also numerous illustrated actual vintage birth announcements circa 1900–1915. Also citing from: Danish author, Hans Christian Anderson, (sometimes spelled Andersen), from his legends & fairy tale lore, The Storks, published 1838.

1383- http://www.sweetpeasandpolkadots.com/legend_lore.html Internet article on Sweet Peas & Polka Dots, article: Babies, Birth Announcements and the Stork: The Legend and Lore, showing also numerous illustrated actual vintage birth announcements circa 1900–1915. Also citing from: Danish author, Hans Christian Anderson, (sometimes spelled Andersen), from his legends & fairy tale lore, The Storks, published 1838. “One popular stork tale revolves around the folk legend that the souls of unborn children live in watery areas such as marshes, wells, springs and ponds.” See also: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Hans_Christian_Andersen – <http://postcardiva.blogspot.com/2010/07/antique-babies-storks-birth.html> Blog, Post Card IVA, article: Antique BABIES & STORKS Birth Announcement Postcards, Sunday, July 4, 2010. Posted by Toni at Postcardiva. Also: “According to ancient legends, storks bring babies to parents in baskets held in their beaks. There is one particular tale associated with the stork which explains the role played by storks in child-birth. According to this account, the souls of unborn babies live in watery areas and since storks frequently visit marshy areas, they pick these souls and deliver the babies to their parents.” See a stork is good luck, killing one will bring misfortune to the one who did it. <http://www.indobase.com/holidays/christmas/legends/legend-of-the-stork.html> – Indobase Holidays, internet article: Legend of the Stork. <https://www.pinterest.com/pin/304204149804978451/>

1384- Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca & Lon.: Cornell Un. Press, 1985). Dr. Paul Carus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 157–438. Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1981). Lucifer, The Devil In The Middle Age, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1984). The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988). Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978). Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (Armonk, New York & London England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc. 1989). Internet Archives: The Mythology of All Races, <https://archive.org/search.php?query=The%20Mythology%20of%20All%20Races> – Hieronymus Bosch, Haywain triptych, AD 1515 - Council, war, fall of rebellious angels, the fallen angels look like insects & nymphs. See also: Pieter Bruegel the Elder- The Fall of the Rebel Angels - AD 1562. Walt Disney, Fantasia, (1941), featuring the classical song: Night on Bald Mountain, shows a traditional black skinned devil, horns on his head, large bat like wings on his back. He conjures up a number of ghostly demons, & spirits from a town below, & a few ghostly water-spirits from under a dark water, to which they return, after their night time devilish fiery dance with the devil. You Tube: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=SLCuL-K39eQ> See also: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Fantasia_\(1940_film\)) Bernard J. Bamberger, Fallen Angels, Soldiers of Satan’s Realm, (Philadelphia, Jewish Publication Society of America, 1952). Gustav Davidson, 1967, A Dictionary Of Angels, Including the Fallen Angels, (New York: London: The Free Press, and Collier-Macmillan Limited). Janetta Rebold Benton, Holy Terrors, Gargoyles on Medieval Buildings, (New York, London: Abbeville Press Publishers, 1997), gargoyles, associated with water flow, as water spouts, keeping the rain water to flow down away from the masonry, as much as possible. They look like demonic creatures & are symbolic of some of the fallen angels, & the evils outside in the world, in contrast to the spiritual safety with in the church. See: J.C.J Metford, Dictionary of Christian Lore and Legend, (London, England: Thames and Hudson, 1983), 107, etc. <http://www.angelfire.com/ny5/spiritsong/WhoAreFae.html> “Different people in different countries have their own names and beliefs about them. Some believe fairies are fallen angels, too bad for heaven and too good for hell. Wherever these fallen angels landed was the type of fairy they would become (ie: if they fell into water, they became water fairies; if into the woods, a wood nymph, etc.). Some people believed them to be the spirits of unbaptized children, and so having no souls, simply perished at death. They can be more than mortal size or only a few inches high and can assume any appearance they like, particularly that of a deer or falcon or flower. There are tales of them kidnapping babies and leaving ‘changelings’ in their place, or carrying off adults into Faeryland. If these adults ate or drank there, they could never more return.”

1385- Internet Archives: <https://archive.org/details/waterbabiesking> Charles Kingsley, The Water-Babies, Illustrated by Jessie Willcox Smith, (New York: Dodd, Mead & Company, 1916). https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/The_Water-Babies,_A_Fairy_Tale_for_a_Land_Baby – Other publications of Kingsley’s work: The Water-Babies, A Fairy Tale For A Land Baby, (Philadelphia: Henry Altemus, 1899(?). Earlier publication, in Boston: T. O. H. P. Burnham, 1864, Another: Boston & New York: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1915, illustrations by W. Heath Robinson. <https://archive.org/details/waterbabiesfairy00king5> Audio: https://archive.org/details/waterbabies_cs_librivox – Etc. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/The_Water_Babies_\(film\)) – The Water Babies, 1978, movie, animation. You Tube: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=F2uezcWWBdM> – Walt Disney, Water Babies - Silly Symphonies 1935, depicting the souls of unborn babies, sleeping in lily flower pads on the surface of the water, swimming around, playing, singing, etc., then towards night, saying prayers, etc.

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=fEJmwnunSIDo - https://www.etsy.com/listing/111940596/1880s-antique-print-of-cherubs-victorian?ref=market - (Winged naked baby woodland fairies, with a Stork, 1881). "Who are the Earth Island Angels? They are the Angels we know from Judeo-Christian religion, but they are also found in many other cultural and religious traditions. They represent the spirits of the generations who are not here on Earth now, both the ancestors and the future generations." See also the interesting Internet article, Earth Island Angels, http://greenyourhead.typepad.com/earth_island_angels/the-history-of-angels.html

1386- Charles Kingsley, The Water-Babies, A Fairy Tale for a Land – Baby, with illustrations by W. Heath Robinson, (Boston & New York: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1915, printed in Great Britain), 78–79. https://archive.org/stream/waterbabiesfairy00kings/page/78/mode/2up – Everyman's Library, Edited by Ernest Rhys, For Young People, The Water Babies and Glaucus, Introduction by Rose Kingsley, (New York and London: J. M. Dent & Sons, LTD., E. P. Dutton & Company, 1908, reprints 1910 & 1914), pages 56–57. https://archive.org/details/waterbabiesglau00king -

1387- Janetia R. Benton Holy Terrors, Gargoyles on Medieval Buildings, NY Lon.: Abbeville Press 1997, 30.

1388- Paul Carcus, 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY: Avenel: Gramercy Bks, 1996, 374–75.

1389- Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 157–438. Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1981). Lucifer, The Devil In the Middle Age, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1984). The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988). Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978). Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (Armonk, New York & London England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc. 1989.). Internet Archives: The Mythology of All Races, https://archive.org/search.php?query=The%20Mythology%20of%20All%20Races – Hieronymus Bosch, Haywain triptych, AD 1515 – Council, war, fall of rebellious angels, the fallen angels look like insects & nymphs. See also: Pieter Bruegel the Elder- The Fall of the Rebel Angels – AD 1562, Walt Disney, Fantasia, (1941), featuring the classical song: Night on Bald Mountain, shows a traditional black skinned devil, horns on his head, large bat like wings on his back. He conjures up a number of ghostly demons, & spirits from a town below, & a few ghostly water-spirits from under a dark water, to which they return, after their night time devilish fiery dance with the devil. You Tube : https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=SLCuL-K39eQ. See also : https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Fantasia_\(1940_film\) Bernard J. Bamberger, Fallen Angels, Soldiers of Satan's Realm, (Philadelphia, Jewish Publication Society of America, 1952). Gustav Davidson, 1967, A Dictionary Of Angels, Including the Fallen Angels, (New York; London: The Free Press, and Collier-Macmillan Limited). Janetia Rebold Benton, Holy Terrors, Gargoyles on Medieval Buildings, (New York, London: Abbeville Press Publishers, 1997), gargoyles, associated with water flow, as water spouts, keeping the rain water to flow down away from the masonry, as much as possible. They look like demonic creatures & are symbolic of some of the fallen angels, & the evils outside in the world, in contrast to the spiritual safety with in the church. See: JCJ Metford, Dictionary of Christian Lore and Legend, (London, England: Thames and Hudson, 1983), 107, etc. http://www.angelfire.com/ny5/spiritson/WhoAreFae.html "Different people in different countries have their own names and beliefs about them. Some believe fairies are fallen angels, too bad for heaven and too good for hell. Wherever these fallen angels landed was the type of fairy they would become (ie: if they fell into water, they became water fairies, if into the woods, a wood nymph, etc.). Some people believed them to be the spirits of unbaptized children, & so having no souls, simply perished at death. They can be more than mortal size or only a few inches high and can assume any appearance they like, particularly that of a deer or falcon or flower. There are tales of them kidnapping babies and leaving 'changelings' in their place, or carrying off adults into Faeryland. If these adults ate or drank there, they could never more return."

1390- https://imgl.etsystatic.com/049/1/7172827/il_570xN.698915465_c4wx.jpg – 1880s Antique Print of Cherubs - Victorian Decor - Cherub Gift - Woodland Fairies - Fairy Art - Stork Print - Fantasy Art - Wood Engraving. Internet: Esty - depicting picture dated 1880s antique mounted print of a pair of cherubs with a stork.

1391- https://www.pinterest.com/kenpatnsnow/antique-storks-and-babies/ Pinterest - The World's catalog of ideas, Antique Storks and Babies, Birth Announcement cards, vintage cards. Google image search on internet: History of vintage birth announcements - storks. http://drivetimetolivearchivespromosources.blogspot.com/ – scroll down to article by Darell Thorpe, entitled: Passover, Easter & Garment Types of Deification in the Resurrection (Easter Sunday), 4-8-2012). Hans Memling 1440 1494 Last Judgement Triptych in Muzeum Narodowe Gdansk Poland 3. Matfré Ermengau de Béziens Breviari d'Amor Catalan prose version- f-40- soul ride up on protective blanket - last quarter of 14th century). Icon with the Koimesis, Falling Asleep of the Virgin Mary, late 10th cent Byzantine - Christ wraps the spirit of the Virgin Mary in protective swaddling clothing, an Angels descend with ascension robes to further protect her spirit during her assumption into heaven. These types of ascension robes, clothing, swaddling cloth, blankets, & martyrs' rewards as garments; are part of the baptismal types of ascending in high realms. 10th century, Constantinople, Soap stone Dormition Dormition, Mary's soul is wrapped in a swaddling cloth, to be passed on into the protective care of an angel also descending with ascension clothing. Angels carrying the soul of St Bertin to heaven - From an altarpiece by Simon Marmion 1480. The soul rides up on a protective blanket in the care of guardian angels. Book of Hours, Use of Rome- Netherlands, S-c. 1440- Naked souls ride up to paradise on blanket, Angels also for protection, God above blesses their ascension out of their graves. British Library. Book of Hours, Use of Sarum- Netherlands, S- 2nd or 3rd quarter of the 15th century- soul rides up to heaven on white protective blanket, with guardian angels. British Library. Book of Hours, Use of Sarum -Netherlands, S Bruges c 1490- Soul wrapped up in protective blanket with Abraham in paradise - Demon attempt to harm soul.

1392- Internet: Google Images: Heavenly angels in white on clouds playing harp.

1393- Disney's Dumbo, the flight of the Storks scenes, You Tube: Dumbo Look Out for Mr. Stork, https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dODSHuvuoTM – You Tube: Dumbo's Arrival: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=RISn5ngaaHc – The Stork delivers Dumbo shows the stork sitting on a cloud with the baby Dumbo wrapped up in a white blanket, the Stork figures out where he needs to descend to, in order to make his delivery, after landing & delivering, he starts out with a greeting poem, several versions, which mention how the child is "from heaven," hinting to pre-existence themes, as to where these unborn baby souls, becoming newly delivered baby mortals to their parents. Delivery rooms at hospitals perhaps get their names from this type of lore. Dumbo is an American animated film produced by Walt Disney Productions and premiered on October 23, 1941, by RKO Radio Pictures. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Dumbo Also: Storks is a 2016 American 3D computer-animated adventure buddy comedy film produced by Warner Animation Group. RatPac-Dune

Entertainment & Stoller Global Solutions. Directed by Nicholas Stoller & Doug Sweetland. There's scenes where clouds are producing different types of babies to be delivered by the Storks that fly up to them, & pick up the babies wrapped up in white blankets, perhaps as a faded legendized hint to the earlier lore that babies also come from the heavens, believed to be in the clouds up in the sky, like angel-lore of angels sitting on a cloud playing harps. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Storks_\(film\)). The movie gets into how Storks progressed from just delivering babies to also delivering packages. How one stork accidentally pushed the baby making machine & produced an baby, <http://www.storksmovie.com/> Earlier vintage baby announcement post cards have the Stork at watery marshy areas, or near rivers, & lake, with babies wrapped up in white blankets, held together in their beaks, getting the soul-baby of the unborn, ready for delivery, to become a mortal baby, & to be delivered to the parents. <https://www.pinterest.com/cwhehry/vintage-postcards-storks-and-babies/> Google Image on Internet: Old vintage Storks birth announcements & stamps - Google image: Stork Delivery Services.

1394- T.W. Doane, Bible Myths, & Their Parallels In Other Religions, NY: The Truth Seeker Co., 1882 & 1910, 384. The Meaning of the Dead Sea Scrolls, A. Powell Davies, The New American Library, 1959, 120- 131. The Lost Years of Jesus Revealed, by Dr. Charles Francis Potter, Faucett Pub., 1959, p.37, & 41; The Challenge of the Scrolls, How old is Christ's Gospel, O. Preston Robinson, Deseret Bk., SLC., Ut., 1963, 1-16.

1395- T.W. Doane, Bible Myths, & Their Parallels In Other Religions, NY: The Truth Seeker Co., 1882 & 1910, chap. The War in Heaven. S.Baring-Gould: Legends of Patriarchs, 16, 25.

1396- Jeffrey Russell, The Prince of Darkness,... Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988, 195.

1397- Ellen G. White, who wrote during the 1880s --1888 A.D., The Great Controversy, (Between Christ & Satan), (California: aspiration Books, paperback edition, see Author's Preface, p.10, & chapter 29, "The Origin of Evil", p. 419-429, see also chapter 31, p. 435-440, etc.

1398- John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity,... NY: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882, 98.

1399- Paul Carcus, 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil NY, Avenel: Gramercy Bks, 1996, 410-12.

1400- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 291– 92, 371, end note 52: Maurice Maeterlinck, The Blue Bird, trans. Alexander Teixeira de Mattos (New York: Dodd, Mead, 1944), 32, 214, 218–19, 235, 241.

1401- <http://www.sundaymagazine.org/wp-content/uploads/19101120-4-sir.pdf> See: Sunday Magazine, article, November 20, 1910, Sir Oliver Lodge Teaches The Soul's Pre-Existence, <http://sundaymagazine.org/2010/11/sir-oliver-lodge-teaches-the-souls-pre-existence/#respond> - See also: Sir Oliver Lodge, Reason and Belief, (New York: George H. Doran Company, 1910), <https://archive.org/details/reasonandbelief00lodggoog> - (New York: Moffat, Yard and Company, 1910), <https://archive.org/stream/reasonandbelief03lodggoog/page/n6/mode/2up> -

1402- Tristram Potter Coffin The Book of Christmas Folklore 1973 NY: Continuum Book, Seabury Press, 126-27.

1403- Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (Armonk, NY, & London, England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc., 1989), 47.

1404- Clifford Davidson, Editor, The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, & Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Michigan: Medieval Institute Pub. Western Michigan Un. 1994), 80.

1405- Clifford Davidson, Editor, The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, & Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Michigan: Medieval Institute Pub. Western Michigan Un.1994), 84.

1406- Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (New York; London, England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc., 1989), 42.

1407- Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (New York; London, England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc., 1989), 81—82.

1408- Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (New York; London, England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc., 1989), 130.

1409- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, & Other Little People, (NY: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 313–349.

1410- Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (NY: Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 245–249, art on p. 248. See: Lord of the Rings, movie series, The Fellowship of the Ring. Dante Alighieri, The Divine Comedy, The Inferno, The Purgatorio, & The Paradiso, translated by John Ciardi, (NY: New American Library, a division of Penguin Group, 2003).

1411- Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Pub. Co., 1900, 248. A common mode for angelic guides & travel from one realm of existence to the next is often by hand clasping guides. David M. Robb, The Art of the Illuminated Manuscript, (Cranbury, New Jersey: A.S. Barnes and Company, Inc., 1973), 200—201, fig. 135, London, British Museum, Add. Ms. 17737-8, f. 199. Bible from Floreffe, The Ascension of Our Lord, A.D. 1160. Jeffrey M. Bradshaw, Temple Themes In the Book of Moses, SLC, Utah: Eborn Pub. 2010, 33–34, 39, 42–43, 115, 171.

1412- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, & Other Little People, (NY: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 362–363.

1413- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, & Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 464.

1414- Katharine Briggs, An Encyclopedia of Fairies, Hobgoblins, Brownies, Bogies, & Other Supernatural Creatures, (NY: Pantheon Books, 1976), 92-93.

1415- Katharine Briggs, An Encyclopedia of Fairies, Hobgoblins, Brownies, Bogies, & Other Supernatural Creatures, (NY: Pantheon Books, 1976), 14-15. Van B. Hooper, Christmas Issue Ideals, (Wisconsin: Quarterly by Ideals Pub. Co., 1957, vol.14, No.5, October, 1957. Not Forgotten, Helen Welshimer. Lillie Patterson, 1968, A Holiday Book, Christmas Feasts & Festivals, (Champaign, Illinois: Garrard Pub., Co.), 28, 51 & 53. William Auld, Christmas Traditions, NY: Macmillan 1931, Detroit: Gale Research, Bk Tower 1968, 130-1.

1416- Katharine Briggs, An Encyclopedia of Fairies, Hobgoblins, Brownies, Bogies, & Other Supernatural Creatures, (NY: Pantheon Books, 1976), 30-33, 136-7, 237, 271, 279, 298-99, 318-19. W. Sternberg, The Dialect and Folk-Lore of Northamptonshire, Lon.: 1851, p. 140. E. M. Wright in Rustic Speech and Folk-Lore. Carew Hazlitt's Illustrations of the Fairy Mythology of Shakespeare. Lady Wilde, Ancient Legends of Ireland, vol.1, p.169.

1417- Katharine Briggs, An Encyclopedia of Fairies, Hobgoblins, Brownies, Bogies, & Other Supernatural Creatures, (NY: Pantheon Books, 1976), 136-37.

1418- Colin Dempsey, (Author), Paul Collison, (Black & White art works), Emmett Elvin, (Design & Layout), The Ultimate Encyclopedia of Mythical Creatures, (NY: Barnes & Noble, 2006), 183.

- 1419- <http://www.sacred-texts.com/neu/celt/tfm/tfm138.htm> Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, & Other Little People, (NY: Gramercy Books, 2000 ed., earlier ed. Crown Pub., 1978), 385–86.
- 1420- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, & Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 371.
- 1421- Katharine Briggs, An Encyclopedia of Fairies, Hobgoblins, Brownies, Bogies, & Other Supernatural Creatures, (NY: Pantheon Books, 1976), 319, 462; W. Y. Evans, The Fairy-Faith in Celtic Countries, (Oxford Un. Press, 1911), 85, account given to Alexander Carmichael, who heard it in Barra in company with J. F. Campbell.
- 1422- Katharine Briggs, An Encyclopedia of Fairies, Hobgoblins, Brownies, Bogies, & Other Supernatural Creatures, (NY: Pantheon Books, 1976), 24-25, 74-75, 98, 134-35, 207, 301.
- 1423- Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (New York; London, England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc., 1989), 130-31.
- 1424- Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (New York; London, England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc., 1989), 132.
- 1425- Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (New York; London, England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc., 1989), 133-34.
- 1426- Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (New York; London, England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc., 1989), 134.
- 1427- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 173.
- 1428- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 156–159, Finni Johanna*ei* Historia Ecclesiastica Islandiae, tom. ii. p. 368. Haviae, 1774. <http://www.sacred-texts.com/neu/celt/tfm/tfm059.htm>
- 1429- Joseph Campbell, Bill Moyes (Editor), The Power Of Myth, (New York, U.S.A., and London, England: Doubleday, 1988), color plates, plate 14, in between pages 108 & 109, Fall of the Rebellious Angels, from Les Très Riches Heures du Duc de Berry, Brothers Limbourg, Franco- Flemish, 1411–16, depicting the council in heaven, numerous vacant seats, some angels falling out of them, others falling & crashing down into the underworld. <http://www.christusrex.org/www2/berry/DB-f64v-m.jpg> & <http://www.christusrex.org/www2/berry/f64v.html> -
- 1430- Jeffrey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988). J. Charles Wall, Devils, (Lon., England: Methuen & Company, 1904; Detroit: Singing Tree Press, Book Tower, 1968, reissued). Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (New York, London, Toronto & Sydney: Gineeo Books, 2007), 68, 74–75, black skins associated with evil & demons. Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 255, 257–58, 378, 436, etc., black color devil & demons. Joseph Campbell, Bill Moyes (Editor), The Power Of Myth, (New York, U.S.A., and London, England: Doubleday, 1988), color plate 14, in between p. 108 & 109, Fall of the Rebellious Angels, from Les Très Riches Heures du Duc de Berry, Brothers Limbourg, Franco-Flemish, 1411–16. Council-in-heaven, rebel angels thrust out, falling, and crashing down into the earth.
- 1431- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, NY: Gramercy Books, 2000 ed., earlier ed. by Crown Pub., 1978, 60– 64, 70–71, 78, 156–160, 174–76, 197–200, & 217.
- 1432- Paul Carcus, 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Bks 1996, 387.
- 1433- Raymond Koechlin, Les Ivoires Gothiques Français, France: Réimpression, F. De Nobele, 1968, Planches, pl. CXLVI, No. 823bis, Lyon, coll. E. Badoin. Pl. CLIV, No. 858 & 959 Paris, Musée de Cluny, Descents, No 858. Londres, Victoria & Albert Museum. The Descent. Pl. CLXVIII, & Pl. CLXVII, No. 955.
- 1434- Geoffrey R. King's The Forty Days, From Calvary to Ascension, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: Wm. B. Eerdmans Publishing Company, 1949, first American edition, 1962, Photolitho printed by Cushing - Malloy, Inc., Ann Arbor, Michigan, USA, 1962), 21.
- 1435- E. Baldwin Smith, The Dome, A Study in the History of Ideas, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1950, 1978), 26–27, see note 52.
- 1436- Anna D. Kartsonis, The Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1986), fig. 19. Stuttgart, Württembergische Landesbibliothek. Stuttgart Psalter. Cod. lat. 23, fol. 29v. Ps. 23-24.
- 1437- Jahrbuch Der Berliner Museen, Jahrbuch der Preußischen Kunstsammlungen Neue Folge, Zehnter Band 1968, (Verlagsort, Berlin: Im Gemeinschaftsverlag G. Grote'sche Verlagsbuchhandlung KG - Gebr. Mann), p. 134-38, abb 7. Donatello, Christus in der Verhölle. Florenz, San Lorenzo, rechte Kanzel. Christ descent into hell, grasping, with his right hand, the right hand of one of the ones he is lifting up out of hell, p.137. Abb. 8.
- 1438- Gabriel Millet, Membre de l' Institut, Recherches Sur L' Iconographie De L' Évangile, AUX XI^{ve}, XVe ET XVI^{es} SIÈCLES, D'APRÈS LES MONUMENTS DE MISTRA, DE LA MACÉDOINE ET DU MONT-ATHOS, DESSINS DE SOPHIE MILLET, DEUXIÈME ÉDITION, (Paris, France: ÉDITIONS E. DE BOCCARD, RUE DE MÉDICIS, 1960), fig. 3. Icone de Chémokmédi, en Géorgie. (Coll. H. Ét.), top left corner area, Christ descent into hell. Christ has turned and has grasped, with his right hand, the right hand of the first to be raised.
- 1439- Descent, Christ turned & is guiding a person, by grasping, with his right hand, the person's right hand. Kartsonis, Anastasis, fig. 21, Vatican, Museo Sacro. Silver reliquary of Pascal I. The raising of Adam.
- 1440- Darell Thorpe, Christ, The World Wide Wounded Wanderer, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Religious, Historical and Polemical Studies, 1998, 1999, 2000). Mit Beiträgen von, Gabriele Atanassiu, Mariano d' Alatri, Stanislaos da Campagnola, Servus Gieben, Engelbert Grau OFM, Raoul Manselli, Raymond Oursel, Clemente Schmitt, Franz von Assisi, (Italy; Stuttgart, Zürich: Belser Verlag, 1990), figures 236–246, 393–396.
- 1441- Robert L. Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, (New Haven & Lon.: Yale Un. Press, 1984), pp. 162-3, & pp.94-196; After Jesus, by Reader's Digest, pp.199-200; The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 4: pp.407, 419-20, 422, 444, 447-8, 454, 458, 464, 468, 528, 557, 609, 617, 634, 641, & 660, Origen Against Celsus. See also: DaRel D. Thorpe, The Grand Pilgrimage, Vol. I, Issue #3, June - July 1992, Pathway #2, Did Christ Also Preach The Gospel In Other Parts Of The Earth? by DARELL D. THORPE, &: Prophets Preached The Gospel In Different Parts of the World, by D. Thorpe; Joseph Wilson Trigg, Origen, The Bible & Philosophy in the Third-century Church, (Atlanta: John Knox Press, 1983), pp. 222-243; John P Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (New York: J W Bouton, Broadway, 1875, 2nd Edition, 1882), pp. 73-4; Joseph R. Hoffmann, Celsus On The True Doctrine, (Oxford Un. Press, 1987), p.65; Dr. Hugu W. Nibley, The World And The Prophets, (Salt Lake City and Provo, Utah: Deseret Book and Foundation For Ancient Research and Mormon Studies, 1987), volume 3 in The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, p.18-19.

1442- ANF, 8:74, & 91, Recognitions of Clement, Bk.1, chaps 51-52; Nibley, The World And The Prophets, (The Col. Works, of Hugu Nibley, Vol.3), 168, note 9, p.299, & 311, J.-P. Migne, Patrologiae Cursus Completus. Series Graeca (Paris: 1857-1866), 1:1236; Robert G. Ingersoll asked: "What has become of the millions who have died since, without having heard of the atonement?" (The Works of Robert G. Ingersoll, vol. 2, p. 316). A. T. Hanson, upon writing a small article about the descent into hell in history suggests that: "The I Peter passage introduces another motif: the doctrine of the descent helps to answer the question: 'what of those who have died before the incarnation?'... The suggestion found in I Peter that the descent gave an opportunity for those who died before Christ to hear the gospel is rather too mythological for modern minds, but it may be regarded as a hopeful symbol of the destiny of those who have died without ever having heard the good news of Christ. Some means must be found for safeguarding the insight that the generations before Christ were not deprived of the gospel". (Westminster Dictionary of Christian Theology, Edited by Alan Richardson and John Bowden, Pub. by The Westminster Press, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, p. 153-4, see the article by A. T. Hanson, The Descent into Hell, (CR SCM Press Ltd 1983, first Pub. in Great Britain in 1983 under the title A New Dictionary of Christian Theology).

1443- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 8, p. 460-1.

1444- Dr. Hugu W. Nibley, Mormonism & Early Christianity, (Salt Lake City & Provo, Utah: Deseret Book Co., and Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies, 1987), pp.10-44, 100-167, & the Clementine Recognitions, see also: Nibley, Since Cumorah, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Co., 1967), 96-126.

1445- Acts 2:25-36, Rom. 10:6-7; Psal. 16:8-10, 68:18; 88:6-12, 142:7; Ezk.26:20; 28:8; 31:14-18, 32:18, 23-30; Zech.9:11-12; 1 Pet. 3:15-22, 4:5-6; Eph.4:7-10; Isa. 9:2; 14:12-19, 24:17-23, 42:6-7, 49:8-9, 51:14; Phil. 2:9-11; Rev. 5:13; John 5:25; William Barclay mentions a number of these passages & other sources which make reference to Christ's descent. In the case with 1 Peter 3:18-20; 4:6, he wrote that: "On the face of it it says that Jesus preached to the spirits in prison, that is, to the dead." He points out that: "There have been several unconvincing attempts to explain it completely away." The passage was considered in the Greek along with the English: "Thanatotois--Having been put to death" "mem sarki--in the flesh" "zoopietheis--having been raised to life" "de pneumat--in the Spirit" "en ho--in which" "kai--also" "tois en phulake pneumasi--to the in prison spirits" "ekeruxen--he preached." Further on he wrote: "We will be wise to take the Peter passage in its obvious sense, Peter meant it to mean that Jesus preached to the shades of men in the world of the dead." He also noted that further on that: "In the early Church it came to be held that it was for this preaching that the descent was made. In the 1st elaboration of this line of thought the preaching was not to everyone in Hades. It was to the patriarchs, the saints, the prophets and martyrs of the Old Testament. Jesus preached the gospel to them, and then led them with him out of Hades into Heaven." He goes on to mention Irenaeus, Tertullian as having written about the descent. The Syrian Didaskalia says: "Jesus was crucified under Pontius Pilate, and departed in peace in order to preach to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and all the saints, concerning the end of the world and the resurrection of the dead." (William Barclay, The Apostles' Creed For Everyman, (New York and Evanston: Harper and Row, 1967), pp. 119-133. Geoffrey R. King also notes the a number of passages that make reference to the descent. See: The Forty Days, p. 15-20.

1446- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, Vol. 1, p. 45, p. 62, Chapter ix; Everett Ferguson, Editor, Michael P. McHugh & Frederick W. Norris, Associate Editors, David M. Scholer, Consulting Editor, Encyclopedia Of Early Christianity, (New York and London: Garland Pub., Inc., 1990), p. 412. In many early to later Christian art works, many of the Old Testament prophets, etc., are there to greet the Lord when He descended down unto them. See: Matthew 27:52; Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton Un. Press, 1986).

1447- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 1: p. 70, chap. IX.

1448- 1 Corinthians 15:21-28; David Diringer D. LITT., Illuminated Book, (R.Q. London: Faber & Faber Limited, MCMLVIII), 3, 14-b, S. Swithin Psalter, Christ in Limbo trampling over the devil, or a demon. An angel is behind Christ thrusting down on it with a lance. One example in many. Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 95-96, 137, n. 55-56: Clement of Alexandria, Stromata 6.6, ANF, 2:490. Shepherd of Hermas, Sim. 9:16, in Apostolic Fathers, 2:263.

1449- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 95, 137, n. 53: Ignatius, Epistle to the Trallians 9, ANF, 1:70, emphasis added.

1450- (Isa. lxi I, 2.), The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 1: p. 46, Ep. of Barnabas, chap. xiv.

1451- Jeffery Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, Ithaca & Lon.: Cornell Un. Press, 1981, 118-122.

1452- Jeffery Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca & Lon.: Cornell Un. Press, 1981), 47.

1453- Scott Petersen Where Have All The Prophets Gone? Springville Ut.: CFI 2005, 96, 137, n. 57: Odes of Solomon 42:11-20; James Charlesworth, ed., Old Testament Pseudepigrapha, NY: Doubleday 1983, 2 vols., 2:771. Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 177, 434, n. 241. The Lost Books of The Bible & The Forgotten Books of Eden, p. 140, (USA, Newfoundland: Alpha House, 1926 & 1927, World Bible Publishers), "The Odes of Solomon," Ode 42.

1454- Kurt Rudolph, trans. ed. by Robert McLachlan Wilson, Gnosis, The Nature & History of Gnosticism, (San Francisco, etc.: Harper & Row Pub., 1977, 80, 84), 139-142, & 377, p. 181-82.

1455- ANF 1:234-5, 560, chapter LXXII; Alfred Firmin Loisy, The Birth of the Christian Religion & The Origins of the New Testament, (La Naissance du Christianisme Les Origines du Nouveau Testament), translated from French by L. P. Jacks, see p. 204, & 270-1. James L. Barker, Apostasy From The Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 63. Barker makes reference to Irenaeus, Against Heresies, IV, 27, 2, 12; Justin Martyr's, Dialogue with Trypho, LXXII, 4; The Shepherd of Hermas, Sim. IX. xvi, 5. Ferguson, Encyclopedia Of Early Christianity, p. 411-12. John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art & Symbolism of the Primitive Church, NY: J W Bouton, Broadway, 1875, 2nd Ed., 1882, 264. Hugu Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, Provo & SLC, Utah: FARMS, & Deseret Book Co., Vol. 4: Mormonism & Early Christianity, (1987), 118-119, 155, notes 97-98. J. P. Migne, Patrologiae Cursus Completus; Series Latina, 221 volumes; (Paris: 1844-1864). Patrologiae Cursus Completus, Series Graeca (Paris: 1857-1866, 161 volumes). Justin Martyr, Dialogue With Trypho 4, 6, in PG 6:645; Irenaeus, Against Heresies III, 20, 4, in PG 7:945; IV, 22, in PG 7:1046; IV, 33, 1, in PG 7:1208. Jerome, Commentarius in Evangelium Matthaeum (Commentary on Matthew) 4, 27, in PL 26:213. Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, (SLC, Utah: Deseret Book, 2006), 177-79, 434-5, n. 246 & 254.

1456- Hugu Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, Provo & SLC, Utah: FARMS, & Deseret Book Co., Vol. 4: Mormonism & Early Christianity, (1987), 115, 153-4, note 71: 2nd century Coptic manuscript, see: Carl Schmidt & Isaak Wajnberg, Gespräche Jesu mit seinen Jüngren nach der Auferstehung: Ein katholisches apostolisches Sendschreiben des 2. Jahrhunderts, (Leipzig: Hinrich, 1908), p. 89, 84-85 (xxii, xxi of Coptic text).

1457- Irenaeus perhaps may have learned of the missing prediction from the writings of Justin Martyr. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol.1, pp.234-5, 325, 421, 449-451, 455, 457, 488, 493-4, 499, 506, 510, 543-4 & 549-50; William Barclay, The Apostles' Creed For Everyman, (New York and Evanston: Harper and Row, 1967), pp. 119-133. Barclay notes that Justin and Irenaeus cite from this passage, sometimes attributing it to Jeremiah, sometimes to Isaiah, it was cited as proof text in support of the descent. See also: Nibley, Mormonism and Early Christianity, note 97; Justin, Dialogue with Trypho 4, 6, in PG 6:645; Irenaeus, Against Heresies, III, 20, 4, in PG 7:945; IV, 22, in PG 7:1046; V, 33, 1, in 7:1208; also cited by Jerome, Commentaries in Evangelium (Commentary on Matthew) 4, 27, in PL 26:213; Lundy, Monumental Christianity, p. 264-5.

1458- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 1: p.352, Irenaeus, Against Her. book, 1, chap. 27.

1459- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 1:449.

1460- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 1:455.

1461- Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, p. 118-122.

1462- Loisy, The Birth of the Christian Religion and the Origins of the New Testament, p. 204, 270-1.

1463- Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol.1, p. 352, 421, 450-51, 455-8, 471, 488, 494, 499, 506, 510, 532, 539, 549-50.

1464- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 95, 137, n. 54, 370, bibliography: Irenaeus, in Robert M. Grant, Irenaeus of Lyons, (NY: Routledge, 1997), 4:27-2, 158.

1465- Lundy, Monumental Christianity, 1882, 264-5, n.1 Lib. v. c. 31, iii c. 20, Har. Harvey's Creeds, I: 333-4.

1466- ANF, 1:234-5, & 455; Ezk.16:6-9; Rev.1:5-7. Nibley notes that even though Tertullian & Irenaeus did believe in the doctrine of Christ's descent to preach the gospel to the spirits in prison, they both are said to have had some doubts. For "we find both Tertullian and Irenaeus hedging on the question of whether Christ ever visited the spirits in prison- a doctrine repugnant to philosophy." Nibley, Mormonism & Early Christianity, note 207, Schmidt, Gesprache Jesu, 519-20; Irenaeus, Against Heresies, V, 32, 1, & V, 35, 3, in PG 7:1210, & 1220.

1467- Walter Lowrie, Art in the Early Church, NY: Pantheon Bks, 1947, 69, 184-187, & pl.100, a, & d; Isa.40:11.

1468- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 173, 433, n. 223. The World Book Encyclopedia, (Chicago: World Book, 1988), 22 vols., 1:556. William Barclay, The Apostles' Creed For Everyman, (New York and Evanston: Harper and Row, 1967).

1469- 1 Corinthians 15:21-28; David Diringer D. LITT., Illuminated Book, (R.Q. London: Faber & Faber Limited, MCMXLVIII), 3, 14-b, S. Swithin Psalter, Christ in Limbo trampling over the devil, or a demon. An angel is behind Christ thrusting down on it with a lance. One example in many. Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 95-96, 137, n. 55-56: Clement of Alexandria, Stromata 6.6, ANF, 2:49, 357, 490-2. Shepherd of Hermas, Sim. 9:16, in Apostolic Fathers, 2:263.

1470- James Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Ut: DNP, 1960, 63, Shep. of Her., Sim. 9, 16, 5.

1471- Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, p. 118—19.

1472- Robert Grant, David Freedman The Secret Sayings Of Jesus, NY: Doubleday, 1960, 118 ANF 8:750, 756-8.

1473- O. Preston Robinson, The Challenge of the Scrolls, How Old is Christ's Gospel?, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book, 1963), p.49, & note 10; Testament of Benjamin, 9:2-4, & 10:7-12; Isa.26:19; Matt.27:52-3; The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 8, p. 3 of Introductory Notice, Cave placed the composition of the Testaments about A.D. 192, but concedes a much earlier origin to the first portion of the work. See also p. 36, verses 3-4, p. 37, verse 9 of XII, The Testament Of Benjamin Concerning A Pure Mind.

1474- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 177-8, ANF, 3:231. Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, Ithaca, London: Cornell Un. Press, 1981, 118-122. ANF, 2:490-2. Clement of Alexandria, Stromata, book 6, chap. 6. Origen, in Lucam Homiliae (Homily on Luke), 4, in PG 12:1811, & Origen, Commentaria in Evangelium Joannis (Commentary on John), 2, 30, in PG 14:181. Hippolytus, On Christ & the Antichrist, 5, 45, in PG 10:764. ANF, 1:352, 421, 450-51, 455-8, 471, 488, 494, 499, 506, 510, 532, 539, 549-50, 560, Irenaeus against Marcion's views about who rushed to Christ during descent.

1475- Ariel L. Crowley, Statement of Beliefs of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints: Doctrines & Practices, (Idaho: Deseret News Press, 1961), 61-64, BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD. Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 96, 137, n.56. Shepherd of Hermas, Sim. 9:16, in Apostolic Fathers, 2:263. James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 64, foot note 23: Tixeront, Historie des Dogmes dans l' Antiquité Chrétienne, Vol. I, p. 143. ANF, 2:490-2, Clement of Alex., Stromata, book 6, chap.6. Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 181, 435, notes 260-61.

1476- Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (NY, San Diego, U.S.A.; London, Eng.: Harcourt Brace & Company). Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1986). Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsächsischen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), 3 vols. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen. Also: Geoffrey R. King, The Forty Days, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: W.M. B. Eerdmans, 1949). Jacobus de Voragine, The Golden Legend, (Readings on the Saints), (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, Vol. 2, 1993). The Golden Legend, Jacobus de Voragine, translated and adapted from the Latin by Granger Ryan and Helmut Ripperger, 1941, New York: Arno Press of New York Times, 1969).

1477- Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca & London: Cornell University Press, 1981), 121.

1478- Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, p. 118-122, note 40; Teachings 104:12-13.

1479- John Lundy, Monumental Christianity, 266, n.2, Clement of Alex., Stromata, VI. c.6. ANF, 2:490-2. Eugene Seach, Ancient Texts & Mormonism, The REAL Answer to Critics of Mormonism, Showing that Mormonism is a genuine restoration of Primitive Christianity, Murray, Utah: Sounds of Zion 1983, 66. Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 178-79, 434-5, n. 250-53.

1480- Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, p. 118-122, note 39, Tertullian, Res. 44; ANF, 3:577, On The Resurrection of the Flesh, chapter XLIV; Ferguson, Encyclopedia Of Early Christianity, p. 406; Christ kicking the doors to hades down, see also: Roland H. Bainton, Behold the Christ, 1974, p.170, fig. 194; Huyghe, Art and Mankind, p.149, fig. 296; Auclair, Christ's Image, p.129; Kartsonis, The Anastasis, fig. 19; H. W. Janson in History of Art, (New York: Harry N. Abrams, Inc., 1986), pp. 227-8, says that the Anastasis in greek means "the resurrection", and yet, it often included the descent of Christ into hell just before the actual resurrection. "Surrounded by a radiant glorie, the Saviour has vanquished Satan and battered down the gates of Hell (note the bound Satan at His feet, in the midst of an incredible profusion of hardware), and is raising Adam and Eve from the dead." See also: David Talbot Rice, text and notes, Photos by Max Hirmer, The Art of Byzantium, NY: Harry N. Abrams, 1959, p. 174, book cover, silver-gilt, repousse work. The Marcian Library, A.1, No. 55. Christ stands on the broken down doors of Hades while clasping the hand of a person to raise them. Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 117, 434, n. 242. ANF, 3:231.

1481- ANF, 10:344. Origen, In Lucam Homiliae (Homily on Luke), 4, in PG 12:1811, &: Origen, Commentaria in Evangelium Joannis (Commentary on John), 2, 30, in PG 14:181.

1482- <http://drivetimearchive.blogspot.com/> - Scroll down to article: Passover, Easter & Garment Types of Deification in the Resurrection (Easter Sunday, 4-8-2012), by Darell Thorpe. See also rough draft documentary: <https://www.youtube.com/playlist?list=PLF77C8E735D3F732D> - As time went by, the confusing aspects of what John the Baptist, & other prophets are doing in Hades, or hell, become legendized. Are they there, as dis-embodied spirits, to further preach the gospel, as they had foretold of Christ, when they were alive in their own body? Are they there waiting in silence, not preaching, but being in the grave of death, await for Christ to deliver them & take them over into paradise? Or are they preaching repentance, baptism, & the coming resurrection? George Every, Christian Mythology, Lon. Eng. NY, Toronto: Hamlyn Pub. Group Limited, 1970, & Middlesex, Eng.: Hamlyn House, Feltham, 1973, 96-7, about AD, 1305, at Kahrie Cami (the Church of St Mary in Chora), Istanbul; Richard Krautheimer, Early Christian & Byzantine Architecture, Baltimore, Maryland: Penguin Books, 1965-7, 192, Constantinople, Kahrie Cami, parckkleston, c.1303, c.1320. Gilbert Thurlow, Bible Myths & Mysteries; The Encyclopedia Of Visual Art, London: Encyclopaedia Britannica International, LTD., vol.3, date it AD 1315-21. John Beckwith, The Art Of Constantinople, An Introduction to Byzantine Art 330-1453, NY: Phaidon Pub., Inc., 1961, NY Graphic Society, Greenwich, Connecticut, p. 143, fig. 188. Robert Charles Zaehner, ed. The Concise Encyclopedia of Living Faiths, NY: Hawthorn Books Inc., 1959, 104, Plate II. Russian icon, Eastern Church, early 14th c., British Museum, Lon. Sheila D. Campbell, Ed., The Malcove Collection, Un. of Toronto Press, 1985, p. 258, "Painted Icons" 351 Icon, Anastasis, Gesso, Russian, late 16th c. M82.131. V.I. Antonova, Drevnerusskoe Iskusskoe v Sobranii Payla Korian (Mos.) 61, 123. It may be that a late 16th century work was based on the early 14th century work. Roland H. Bainton, The Horizon History of Christianity, Edited by Marshall B. Davidson of Horizon Magazine, (U.S.A.: American Heritage Pub. Co., English ed., 1964), 214-15. Joseph Gantner & Marcel Pobe, Romanesque Art In France, Lon. Eng.: Thames & Hudson, 1956, pl. 135, p. 64. Robert Hughes, Heaven & Hell in Western Art, NY: Stein & Day, 1968, 188-91. Geoffrey Barraclough, etc., The Christian World, NY: Harry N. Abrams, 1981, 8-9, The Harrowing of Hell, 15th century A.D., alabaster made in Nottingham.

1483- ANF, 10:344. Origen, In Lucam Homiliae (Homily on Luke), 4, in PG 12:1811, &: Origen, Commentaria in Evangelium Joannis (Commentary on John), 2, 30, in PG 14:181. Hippolytus, On Christ & the Antichrist, 5, 45, in PG 10:764. Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsachsichen Poesie, 3 vols. (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), 3.1:177, cited by Nibley, Mormonism And Early Christianity, pp. 115-212, & notes, pp. 153-55; The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 1: p.12, Clem. of Rome, 1st Ep., chap. 26; Seach, Ancient Texts And Mormonism, pp. 66, & notes 253-5, p. 135. Zacharias prediction may have also become another element for early Christian writers, & artists. John the Baptist had witnessed & prepared the way of Christ before His (Christ's) earthly mission. But also, He had died before Christ, and thus he descended down unto the spirit in prison to preach & predict the descent of Christ unto the captive spirits there. Upon Christ's descent into the valley of the shadow of death. Christ's glorious light, & the glorious light of truth in the gospel, enlightened those that sat in darkness. Christ, acting as their guide, brought them up out of the darkness. Luke 1:57-80, citing verses 76-9; see also Isa. 9:2; The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 1: p.424; In later centuries, Christ is often depicted in art works as a divine guide who brightens the path of those whom he brings out of darkness into paradise. See: Medieval and Renaissance Manuscripts in the Walters Art Gallery, vol. 1, (875-1420 A.D.), Randall, pp. 309-10, figs. 59 & 65; Kurt Weitzmann, Icons, 1980, p. 23, 82, 151, 177, 221, 228, plates 47, 123, & 177; M. Auclair, Christ Image, p. 129. Though the spirit prisoners would be held captive in the pit, after many days they would be visited by Christ. (Isa. 24:22; Job 33:27-30). Isa. 60:1-3 may have been considered a being another prediction about the Christ descent to bring the Gentiles and kings to the light. Origen believed, unlike Irenaeus, that the descent of Christ would not be a pattern to be followed by all believers, but rather the descent represented the liberation of the righteous from the incarceration in Hades. The righteous who died after the descent of Christ into Hades would immediately go to paradise, and thus would bypass Hades. See: Ferguson, Encyclopedia Of Early Christianity, p. 406.

1484- Lundy, Monumental Christianity, p.73-4; The Ante-Nicene Fathers, Vol.4, p.419-20, & 448; Hoffmann, Celsus On The True Doctrine, p.65; Nibley, The World And The Prophets, pp.18-19; Nibley, Mormonism And Early Christianity, note 107, Origen Against Celsus II, 43, in PG 11:864-65. Hercules return from Hades may have been considered to be similar to Christ's descent & ascension up out of Hades. Concerning this, Lundy asked this question: "Can all this be a type of what is so often grouped together on the Christian monuments, Christ, after his resurrection, subjugating the powers of darkness, and doing His work of human restoration in founding His Church by Apostolic commission to preach the Gospel to all nations, and thus undoing the effects of the first human transgression?" Lundy, Monumental Christianity, p. 399, see also p. 98.

1485- R. Joseph Hoffmann, Celsus On The True Doctrine, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1987, 65.

1486- T. W. Doane, Bible Myths, and their Parallels In Other Religions, being a comparison of the Old and New Testament Myths and Miracles with Those of Heathen Nations of Antiquity, Considering also Their Origins and Meaning, 1882, 7th edition 1910, See chapter 22 p. 211-214. Doane wrote that: "The doctrine of Christ Jesus' descent into Hell is emphatically part of the Christian beliefs, although not alluded by Christian divines excepting when unavoidable." Doane goes on to cite from St. Chrysostom, Clement of Alexandria, Origen, and others. (Bible Myths, p. 211-14; Dean Plumptre's The Spirits in Prison: Studies on the Life after Death, p. 85, S.; see also: The Ante-Nicene Fathers, Vol. 4, p. 419-20, & 448, Origen Against Celsus, Book 2, Chapter XLIII; Hoffmann, Celsus On The True Doctrine, p.65. Note 4: Jameson's History of Our Lord in Art, vol. 2, p. 354-5.

1487- T. W. Doane, Bible Myths, 1882, 7th edition 1910, note 1, p. 212; Jameson, p.250-1.

1488- Doane makes reference to: Asiatic Researches, vol. 1, p. 237; Bonwick's Egyptian Belief, p. 168-9; Maurice: Indian Antiquities, Vol. 2, p. 85; Lundy, Monumental Christianity, p. 286; Dupuis: Origin of Religious Belief, and Dunlap's Mysteries of Adoni, p. 33, 125, 152, & 257; Bell's Pantheon, vol. 1, p. 12; Higgins: Anacalypsis, vol. 1, p. 322; Mexican Antiquities, vol. 6, p. 166; etc. Doane, Bible Myths, p. 211-214, & notes.

1489- John Lundy, Monumental Christianity,... (New York: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882), page 196, See Internet Archives, (1876), plus other editions might be found there. <https://archive.org/details/MonumentalChristianity-https://archive.org/details/monumentalchris00lundgoog>

1490- Robert Hughes notes parallels between the pagan descents & ascensions, & that of the Christians' versions, & suggests that this was "adapted from the classical prototype of Hermas Psychopompos." For the Christianising of Hermas & his door as the angel (or cherub) of Paradise standing at the gate is readily established. What of Hell? One parallel jumps to mind at once-the theme of Christ's 'Harrowing of Hell': his descent into Limbo, whence he led forth the souls he had chosen to redeem, thus proving his power over Satan. This scene was so often repeated by artists that one would expect it to develop constant symbolic types. And so it did. One of these was the vanquished demon who is seen writhing beside the collapsed door to Hell and, very often, pinned and crushed beneath it (p.187), as the triumphantly liberated souls march out of Hell into the sphere of power of Christ's protective mandorla. Obviously, the figure of Christ as leader of souls inherits the prototype of Hermas Psychopompos." Robert Hughes, Heaven & Hell in Western Art, 1968, 180-191. O.M. Dalton also noted some parallels too, and the blending of pagan & Christian themes in later centuries, for he wrote that "it is very probable, as Strzygowski suggested, that early Egyptian legend & belief affected the typical representation of this subject. One of the romances of Setne Khamuas, popular in Roman Egypt, describes the visit of Stne to Amenti, the underworld. In the 5th hall of Amenti they see the wicked rich man grovelling in Amenti with the long doorpost fixed in his eyes must have been familiar in Egypt, and as a signal example of retribution may have been adopted in Christian iconography. At any rate, in Anastasis pictures Christ is sometimes seen driving his long staff into the eye of Hades, who lies prostrate before him. The mouth of hell, where shown at all, is indicated by a cavernous entrance, not by the open jaws of a monster, as in Western mediaeval art. Christ advances over the broken valves of the door, holding a long cross in one hand. With the other he raises Adam from a sarcophagus-tomb; behind Adam appear Eve, David, Solomon, and other righteous persons of the Old Testament. Near Our Lord stands John the Baptist; behind him are grouped figures of the righteous under the Old Dispensation. In the foreground, below Christ's feet, lies the figure of Hades as an old bearded man whose hands and feet are chained.... Sometimes angels are seen fastening the chains. St. John the Baptist is not found in this scene before the 11th century. The ivory carving in the British Museum (Catalogue of Early Christian and Byzantine Antiquities, No. 299), now held to represent another subject." O.M. Dalton, Byzantine Art And Archaeology, 662. John M. Robertson also noted parallels between the different pagan nation's descent stories and that of the early Christians, and pointed out how some had argued that the Christians had borrowed it from the pagans, while other said the pagans had borrowed it from the Christians. He also noted that similar descent elements in pagan stories were Christianized and eventually blended with later Christian versions of Christ descent into hell. John Robertson, Christianity & Mythology, Lon.: Watts, 2nd ed., 1910, 234-41.

1491- Lundy, Monumental Christianity, p. 266, see note 1, Contra Cel., II. c. 43, Harvey's Creeds, I. p. 337.

1492- Lundy, Monumental Christianity, 264. Marion P. Ireland: "The fish has been identified with baptism by the early Christian writers, such as Tertullian who wrote: "But we, little fish, are born in water." Note 9: van der Meer & Mohrmann, Atlas of the Early Christian World, 55. "In Jewish art, water filled with fish signifies resurrection." (Note10: Goodenough, Jewish Symbols V, 36-61. Running water, or "living water" also represented the life giving water, or "living water" which Christ offers to his followers (John 4:10, 13—14; Matthew 3:11; Jeremiah 2:13; Ezekiel 36:25). Marion Ireland, Textile Art in the Church, Vestments, Paraments, & Hangings in Contemporary Worship, Art, & Architecture, Nashville & NY: Abingdon Press, 1971, 86-91.

1493- Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, p.118-122; ANF, 5:3, & 209, Hippolytus, Treatise On Christ And Anti-Christ, 26; Daniel, chapters 2 & 7; Philipians 2:9-11.

1494- Lundy, Monumental Christianity, 1881, 73-4, Contra Platonem, 220-1, Fabricius, Hamb. 1716; ANF, 5: 194, 221-3.

1495- Lundy, Monumental Christianity, 265, n.2, Com. on St. Luke, Ante-Nicene Lib., I. p. 485; ANF, 5:194, Hippolytus, Fragments From Commentaries, On Luke, Chap. XXIII.

1496- Nibley, Mormonism & Early Christianity, 115-121, notes p. 153-55, n.112, Hippolytus, On Christ & the Antichrist, 5, 45, in PG 10:764.

1497- Paul Carcus, 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Bks, 1996, 173–79.

1498- Lundy, Monumental Christianity, p. 266, see note 4, Eusebius, Eccl. Hist., I. c. 13, Demonstration of the Gospel, commenting on Psalm 16, & summing up the Christian faith as it was taught to Agbarus, king of Edessa. Nibley, Mormonism & Early Christianity, note 103, Eusebius, I, 13, 19, citing the letter of Thaddeus to Abgar. Also: Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 176-77, 434, n. 240: Eusebius, Eccelesiastical History, 1:47.

1499- The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, 4, Prolegomena, Chap. II, p. xiv-xv, Chap.5, p. lxxxv-lxxxvii; & p. 303, & 424-5, Athanasius, Discourse III, Chap. XXIX: 56-7.

1500- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 188-90, 394-95, 436-7, n. 281-4: David W. Bercot, What the Early Christians Believed about Christ's Descent into Hades, Audiotape. Tyler, Tex.: Scroll Pub., Co., 1998. Roland H. Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back edition, 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville).

1501- Frederick S. Paxton, Christianizing Death, The Creation of a Ritual Process in Early Medieval Europe, Ithaca & London: Cornell Un., Press, 1990, p. 22, n.15, Sacramentum Serapionis, XXX, in Didascalia et Constitutiones Apostolorum, ed. Franz X. Funk, 2 vols, (Paderborn, 1905), 2.193-4.

1502- N&PNF, 4:448, 454, & 467, n.8 on p.454, & note 2 on p.467. From the 8th confession, or 3rd Sirmian, A. D. 359; The 10th Confession at Nike and Constantinople, A.D. 359, 360. De Synodis, concerning the Councils of Ariminum and Seleucia. Some writers have noted that it was during the 4th century that the descent of Christ into hades, limbo, etc., began to acquire creedal status, first perhaps in the Syriac Christianity, however, no known examples have survived (but cf. Eusebius, H.E. 1.13.20). Another creed was formed in the Greek arena in the fourth formula of Sirmium, the "Dated Creed" of A.D. 359. Another was produced at Constantinople in 360, these had an Arian tinge to them, and they didn't passed into general use. In the Latin west, the baptismal creed of the Italian see of Aquileia (Rufinus, Symb. 18;28) made reference to the descent. There was also the widely circulated Apostles' and Athanasian Creeds which made reference to the descent too. And even though Augustine was uncertain about its meaning, it was a traditional and undeniable article of belief (Ep. 164.3, 14). Ferguson, Encyclopedia Of Early Christianity, p. 411. Charles Rufus Morey, Mediaeval Art, (NY: Princeton Un., Pub. W. W. Norton, 1942), 125-7, & 129, Toledo, Steatite Plaque: The 12 Feasts of the Church. Morey wrote that: "The Harrowing of Hell is an uncanonical event, described in the apocryphal gospel of Nicodemus. It first appears on the ciborium columns of St. Mark's in the 5th century, but in its proto-Byzantine form three centuries later, in frescoes of S. Maria Antiqua of the early 8th c., and in a contemporary mosaic of the lost chapel of John VII in Old St. Peter's. It enter the Creed as a necessary provision for the universal salvation of mankind, that should include those who lived before Christ's coming as well as later generations. In Byzantine art it was the regular type of the Resurrection, preferred, because

- of its profounder implication, to the scene of Easter Morn which appealed to the early Christian taste of narrative. Late Byzantine art gave it the Alexandrian mountain slopes on either side, flanking the pit of Hell over those gates the Saviour strides, grasping by his hand the resurrected Adam and Eve beside him." David, Solomon, & John the Baptist were with them. (Ibid., p. 129, see also p. 150, Melissenda's Psalter: The Harrowing of Hell).
- 1503- Nicene and Post-Nicene Fathers, 4:570 & 572, Letters of Athanasius, Letter LIX:5-6; William Barclay, The Apostles' Creed, NY: Harper & Row, & Evanston, 1967, 119-133. On p. 120 the Athanasian Creed mentions the descent, for Jesus "suffered for our salvation: descended into hell, [&] rose again the third day from the dead." He also notes that: "Its first actual appearance in a credal statement is in the Symbol of Sirmium in A.D. 359/60".
- 1504- Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, p. 118-22.
- 1505- Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, 7:22, Lec. iv: 14. He also wrote of the descent into the font. Catech. xvii.
- 1506- The Nicene and Post-Nicene Fathers, vol. 7, Cyril of Jer. lec. iv: 14, p.22, xiv: 19-20, p.99
- 1507- The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, 5, p.519-520, & 524. Gregory of Nyssa: Dogmatic Treatises, etc. reprint June 1972, by WM. B. Eerdmans). Early to later Christian art works, & writings, depict & mention, that some of the catechumens, or people being baptized, as having been naked. It may have been a symbolical type of the nakedness of birth. And symbolically, the baptismal act was also a sort of ritualistic rebirth, or the act of being "born again," thus, in some cases they were naked. The same sort of symbolism is found in the case with the descent in, & ascension out of the grave, limbo, hades, the pit, etc., (which the baptismal font was a type of, in many cases), many art works show naked souls, just before they are clothed in a garment. In some cases they are naked, but it wasn't for long, for they would be clothed in garments. "Cardinal Colonna writes 'The Catechumens without clothing, descended into the water of the baptistery, and were there immersed 3 times; then priest accompanying the act with his hand, & invoking at each immersion the name of 1 of the persons of the Holy Trinity.' "And De Rossi warns us that 'We ought not to confound the imposition of the right hand with which the ministrant accompanies the immersion of the candidate with what the bishop in the case of the neophyte as he emerges from the water, and is clothed in white at the confirmation.' See: Curry, A History of the Baptists, pp. 274-5; 2 Cor.5:1-10, King James Version; Editor in Chief, Guy Carleton Lee, Ph.D., The World's Orators, (NY & London: Un. Edition, G.P. Putnam's Sons, & The Knickerbocker Press, 1900), 146-7.
- 1508- N&PNF, X:xiii, & p. 191, St. Ambrose, Book II:102-3, On Belief In The Resurrection.
- 1509- Hom. xxv, In Joannem, & Hom. xl. In Ep. ad Rom, & Rom.6:1-15; Doane, Bible Myths, 1882, & 1910, p.211, note 1, Bonwick: Egyptian Belief, p. 46.
- 1510- John Lundy, Monumental Christianity, NY: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882, 73-74.
- 1511- Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, p.118-22, see note 37.
- 1512- John Lundy, Monumental Christianity, NY: J.W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882, 267, n.2, Epist. ad Evod., 164. Migne's Ed., II. p. 710.
- 1513- 4th Letter to the Bishops of Sicily. In early to later Christianity, the numerous Christian art works depicting the descent, the Anastasis, (or the resurrection), shows Christ, or angels raising the resurrected up out of the grave, hades, & limbo, etc., with different types of hand and wrist grips. And in some cases, some art works show hand grips being used to help raise a person up out of the waters of baptism. A baptismal font has depicted on it, people reaching out their hands towards each other, thus, it may be that it's makers wanted to show the moment just before the hand clasp. Since baptism was a ritualistic type & symbol of the descent and the resurrection, the art works that depicted different types of hand grips must have helped to remind the Christians of their ritualistic pilgrimage of the soul through which they had passed through as a type of the soul's pilgrimage through the different realms of existences. Anastasis, Kartsonis, fig.17a, Rome. S.Clemente. Lower Church. Anastasis I (after Wilpert). Fig.19, Stuttgart, Wurttembergische Landesbibliothek. Stuttgart Psalter. Cod. lat. 23, fol. 29v. Psal.23-24; fig. 21, Vatican. Museo Sacro. Silver reliquary of Pascal I. The raising of Adam; fig. 37b, 52, 14a. Rome S. Maria Antiqua. Doorway to the Palatine ramp; The Anastasis, (after Wilpert); Thomas Armitage, D.D., LL.D., A History Of The Baptists, NY: Bryah, Taylor, & Chicago: Morningside Pub., 1887, 258-9, #4; Gertrud Schiller, Trans. Janet Seligman, Iconography of Christian Art, NY: Graphic Soc., LTD., Greenwich Connecticut: Trans. from 2nd Ed. 1969, Eng. ed. 1971, Lund Humphries NY, G.S., 1:204-5, #5, & p. 345-6, fig. 346.
- 1514- William Henry Paine Hatch, 1931, Greek and Syrian Minatures In Jerusalem, p. 58-9, pl. II, The Jerusalem, Codex 14, Saec. XI, fol. 3, & on p. 59 note 1, "The legend of the Harrowing of Hell is based upon the idea that after his crucifixion Christ descended into the lower world and 'preached to the spirits in prison.' (1 Pet. 3:19). For a reference to the Ethiopic book, S. C. Malan, The Book of Adam and Eve (London, 1882), p. 206.
- 1515- Anna Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1986. Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, NY, San Diego, U.S.A.; Lon., Eng.: Harcourt Brace & Co. Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments Of Romanesque Art,... Un. of Chicago Press, 1954 & 2nd, Ed. 1967.
- 1516- H. Clay Trumbull, The Blood Covenant,... NY: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1885, 41-42.
- 1517- Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, p. 118-122; The Lost Books of the Bible & The Forgotten Books of Eden, p. 86-8, Nicodemus Chap. XIX: 1-4, 8-12; XX:11-12.
- 1518- Roland H. Bainton, Behold the Christ, (U.S.A.: Harper, 1974), 170-72.
- 1519- Right Rev. Charles Joseph Hefele, D.D., Late Bishop of Rottenburg, Formerly Professor of Theology in the University of Tübingen, A History of the Councils of the Church, From the Original Documents, (T.&T. Clark, 38 George Street, U.S.A.: Edinburgh, 1895; trans. from German & edited by William R. Clark, M.A., HON, LL.D., F.R.S.C., Professor of Philosophy in Trinity College, Toronto; HON. Professor in Hobart College, Geneva, NY. First AMS ed. pub. in 1972; (NY, NY: AMS Press, Inc., 1972), A.D. 451 to 680, vol. 4, p. 224-27, #9 of the 15 anathematisms against Origen, rejects certain versions of the Christ's descent into hades.
- 1520- William Barclay, The Apostles' Creed For Everyman, (New York: Harper and Row, & Evanston, 19670, pp. 119-133. Nibley notes that different versions of the creed contained references to Christ's descent, while others did not. Eventually "this annoying fragment of antique arcana came to be generally condemned." (Nibley, Mormonism and Early Christianity, note 210. The Arminian and Acacian versions of the creed both contain the phrase "descended to the regions beneath the earth." Socrates, HE II, 37, and II, 41, in PG 67:305, 348.
- 1521- Encyclopedia Of Early Christianity, Everett Ferguson, NY, & Lon.: Garland 1990, 406-7, Moral.12.13.
- 1522- W.R. Lethaby, revised D. Talbot Rice, Medieval Art From the peace of the Church to the eve of the Renaissance 1312-1350, Lon. & NY: Thomas Nelson & Sons LTD, 50, pl.14. Descent into Hell, Clemente, Rome.
- 1523- W.R. Lethaby, Medieval Art,... (Lon. & NY: Thomas Nelson & Sons), 50, pl. 14.
- 1524- Paul Carcus, 1900, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, 173.

- 1525- Edited by Harold Osborne, The Oxford Companion to Art, p. 525.
- 1526- Anna Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1986, fig. 80, etc.
- 1527- Kurt Weitzmann, (Ed.), Age Of Spirituality, Late Antique & Early Christian Art, 3rd to 7th century, (Catalogue of the exhibition at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, November 19, 1979–Feb. 12, 1978. (NY: Princeton Un. Press in association with The Metropolitan Museum of Art, NY, 1979), 634-6, fig. 574, 8th c.
- 1528- Robert M. Grant, 1960, The Secret Sayings of Jesus, p. 40-43, see 9 on p. 43. The fragment was discovered in the winter of 1886-7 during a French archaeological expedition and digging in Christian graves at Akhmim in Upper Egypt. They are said to date back to the 8th or 9th century A.D., see: note 1 on p. 40, making reference to C. Maurer, in W. Schneemelcher-E. Hennecke, Neutestamentliche Apokryphen in deutscher Übersetzung, I (Tubingen, 1959), 118. Franz von Assisi, Mit Beiträgen von, etc., Belser Verlag, Stuttgart Zurich, 1990.
- 1529- Harold Osborne, (Ed.), The Oxford Companion to Art, Oxford, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1970, 525, 9th-c. paintings in the rock churches of Cappadocia.
- 1530- Carl Nordenfalk, Early Medieval Book Illumination, Skira: 1957, 1st pub. as Early Medieval Paintings, NY: Rizzoli Internat., Paperback ed, 1988, p.88, Beastus Apocalypse. Hell, 975 AD Folio 17, Gerona Cathedral.
- 1531- Elizabeth Hallam, (ed.) Preface, Huge Trevor-Roper, 4 Gothic Kings, The Turbulent History of Medieval England & the Plantagenet Kings (1216-1377) Henry 3, Edward 1, Edward 2, Edward 3 Seen Through The Eyes Of Their Contemporaries, NY: Weidenfeld & Nicolson, C/R 1987 Phoebe Phillips Editions, 70-1, & 198-199.
- 1532- Jennifer O'Reilly, A Garland Series, Outstanding Theses In The Fine Arts From British Universities, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, (NY & Lon.: Garland Pub. 1988, Thesis submitted to the Un. of Nottingham for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, Oct. 1972), 340-41.
- 1533- Harold Osborne, The Oxford Companion to Art, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1970, 526, OTTONIAN ivory bucket, 10th-c., V. & A. Mus.
- 1534- Editor, Paul Williamson, The Medieval Treasury, The Art of the Middle Ages in the Victoria and Albert Museum, (Published by the Victoria & Albert Museum, 1986), "3 The Basilewsky Situla; Ottonian, c. 980 page 77"; New International Illustrated Encyclopedia of Art, vol. 12, p. 2375.
- 1535- David M. Robb, The Art of the Illuminated Manuscript, NY: South Brunswick & A.S. Barnes, Lon.: Thomas Yoseloff LTD, 1973, 168-9, fig. 107. Vatican, Biblioteca Apostolica, Ms. lat. 9820, m. 9. Exultet Scroll, Christ's Descent into Limbo. Following Christ's death on the cross, the descent was "to bring salvation to the deserving of the Old Dispensation". This "is a subject found in nearly all the Exultet scrolls. The example illustrated is from one written for Pandulfus II of the monastery of St. Peter in Benevento between 981 and 987." The "style has some Byzantine overtones, and is closely related to that of late 9th century south Italian frescoes, like those in the chapel of San Lorenzo in the church of San Vincenzo at the source of the Voltorno River" (p. 168).
- 1536- Alice Bank, 1977, Byzantine Art, pl.136, Diptych with the 12 Feasts of the Church, 10th-11th c., fig.184.
- 1537- Peter Lasko; Ed.: Nikolaus Pevsner & Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (Harmondsworth, Middlesex; Baltimore, Md., Ringwood, Victoria, Australia: The Pelican History of Art, Penguin Books, 1972), vol. 36, Ars Sacra, 800—1200, p. xv—xvi, plate 138. Altar cross, c. 1024/39; in the centre a Fatimid crystal, 10th c. Borghorst, St Nicomedes. Angels descending to rescue a soul out of hell. The moment before the clasp. This scene is seen on the lower portion of the cross. Hence suggesting the traditional place for Adam's grave.
- 1538- George Every, Christian Mythology, Lon.; NY; Sydney Toronto, The Hamlyn Pub. Group Lim., 1970; Feltham, Middlesex, England: Hamlyn House, 1973, p. 37.
- 1539- Harold Osborne, (Ed.), The Oxford Companion to Art, Oxford, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1970, 525.
- 1540- Emile Male, Religious Art in France, the Twelfth Century, Princeton U. Press, 1978, Bollingen Series XC . D), 110, fig.99; O'Reilly, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, 176-7, & 340.
- 1541- Editor in Chief, Guy Carleton Lee, Ph.D., The World's Orators, Lon. & NY: Un. Edition, G.P. Putnam's Sons, The Knickerbocker Press, 1900, 307-319.
- 1542- Peter Lasko; Editors: Nikolaus Pevsner & Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, Harmondsworth, Middlesex; Baltimore, Md., Ringwood, Victoria, Australia: The Pelican History of Art, Penguin Books, 1972, vol.36, Ars Sacra, 800—1200, p. xiii, pl.76. A.D. 1018—1045, on the book-cover of Archbishop Aribert, Christ descent into hell below the crucifixion. Christ's left hand on Adam's right wrist. Milan Cathedral, Treasury.
- 1543- Yves Christe, Tania Velmans, Hanna Losowska and Roland Recht, Art of the Christian World A.D. 200-1500, A Handbook of Styles and Forms, (Published by Rizzoli International Pub., CR 1982 Office du Livre), p. 165, fig. 104, Mosaic: Descent into Limbo, 11th c., church of Daphni.
- 1544- O. M. Dalton, Byzantine Art And Archaeology, (NY: Dover, 1961, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1911), 663, fig. 420. Anastasis: mosaic of the 11th cent. in the Cathedral of Torcello. Alinari.
- 1545- Dalton, Byzantine Art And Archaeology, p. 675, fig. 427, a portion shows the descent into hell on a mosaic of the 11th century A.D., in the Cathedral of Torcello. (Alinari.)
- 1546- The Walters Art Gallery, Early Christian and Byzantine Art, An Exhibition Held At The Baltimore Museum of Art, April 25-June 22, Organized by The Walters Art Gallery, In collaboration with The Department of Art and Archaeology of Princeton Un. & Dumbarton Oaks Research Library & Collection of Harvard Un. & forming part of Princeton's Bicentennial Celebration. (Baltimore: Trustees of the Walters Art Gallery, 1947), 138 for explanation for plate XCIV, fig. 705. Lectinary of the Gospels, Byzantine, 11th century, Greek text. Showing the descent into hades, with Christ grasping, right hand to right wrist of Adam, to lift him out of his grave.
- 1547- Edited by Albert Skira, The Great Centuries of Painting, Byzantine Painting, Historical & Critical Study of Andre Grabar, Geneva, Switzerland: 1953, 108, "The Descent into Limbo. Detail: Christ. Mid-11th cent. Mosaic, Church of the Nea Moni Chios."
- 1548- Kurt Weitzmann, & others, Arnoldo Editor, The Icon, NY: Alfred A. Knopf, 1982, 1980 ed. pl.47, p. 23.
- 1549- J.A. Herbert, Illuminated Manuscripts, Burt Franklen Bibliographical Series XI, 1911, p.166-7, pl. XX, Exultet Roll. Italian, 12th c. British Museum, ADD. 30337. 12th c. A.D., while Bertaux, who says p. 226 that it came from Monte, & late 11th c.
- 1550- The Walters Art Gallery, Early Christian & Byzantine Art, p.140 explan. of pl. XCVII, fig.713. Crucifixion & the Anastasis. Byzantine, 11th—12th c. K.W. Clark, Greek New Testament Manuscripts, p. 180 f.

1551- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978). Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (Armonk, New York & London England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc. 1989). Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1981). Lucifer, The Devil In the Middle Age, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1984). The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988). Bernard J. Bamberger, Fallen Angels, Soldiers of Satan's Realm, (Philadelphia, Jewish Publication Society of America, 1952). Gustav Davidson, 1967, A Dictionary Of Angels, Including the Fallen Angels, (New York; London: The Free Press, and Collier-Macmillan Limited). Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900).

1552- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 237–44, plate 4. Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (New York, San Diego, U.S.A.; London, England: Harcourt Brace & Company). Colleen McDannell and Bernhard Lang, Heaven: A History, (New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1988). Carol Zaleski, Otherworld Journeys, Accounts of Near-Death Experiences In Medieval and Modern Times, (New York and Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987). Craig Harbison, The Last Judgment in Sixteenth Century Northern Europe, (New York, U.S.A., and London, England: Garland Pub. Inc., 1976). Ernst and Johanna Lehner, Devils, Demons, Death and Damnation, (New York: Dover Pictorial Archive Series, Dover Publishing Inc., 1971). James Charles Wall, Devils, (London, England: Methuen & Company, 1904, <https://archive.org/details/devils00wallgoog> - <https://archive.org/details/devils00chargoog> Detroit: Singing Tree Press, Book Tower, 1968, reissued). Internet Archives: (1853), <https://archive.org/details/historicalandcr00quingooq> (1895), <https://archive.org/details/questionablesa01howegoog> (1907), <https://archive.org/details/questionablesa00howegoog> - (1916), <https://archive.org/details/leatherwoodgod02howegoog> - (others), <https://archive.org/search.php?query=Wall%2C%20Devils> - Bernard J. Bamberger, Fallen Angels, Soldiers of Satan's Realm, (Philadelphia, Jewish Publication Society of America, 1952). Louis Herbert Gray, A.M., Ph.D., Editor, George Foot Moore, A.M., D.D., LL.D. The Mythology of All Races (Boston: Marshall Jones Company, 1917; New York: Cooper Square, 1964), 13 vols.

1553- Alice Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, NY, San Diego, Lon., Eng.: Harcourt Brace & Co. Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black & White, (NY, Lon, Toronto & Sydney: Gineeo Books, 2007). James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (NY, NY, Doubleday, 2005). Geoffrey Abbott, Rack, Rope & Red-Hot Pincers, A History of Torture And Its Instruments, (London: Brockhampton Press, 1993). Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, orig. pub. in Chicago: Open Court Pub. Co., 1900. Robert Hughes, Heaven & Hell in Western Art, (NY: Stein & Day/Pub., 1968). Ernst & Johanna Lehner, Devils, Demons, Death & Damnation, (NY: Dover Pictorial Archive Series, Dover Pub. Inc., 1971). Michael Batterberry, Art of the Middle Ages, NY: McGraw-Hill Book Co., 1961-64, & 1977. Gothic & Renaissance Art in Nuremberg 1300-1550, by the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, & Germanisches Nationalmuseum, (Nuremberg: CR 1986 Philippe de Montebello, Director). Illuminated Books Of the Middle Ages and Renaissance, The Walters Art Gallery, An Exhibition Held at The Baltimore Museum of Art, Jan. 27- March 13. (Baltimore: The Walters Art Gallery, 1949). Paul Williamson, The Medieval Treasury, The Art of the Middle Ages in the Victoria and Albert Museum, (The Victoria & Albert Museum, 1986).

1554- Roland H. Bainton, The Horizon History of Christianity, Edited by Marshall B. Davidson of Horizon Magazine, (U.S.A.: American Heritage Publishing Company, English edition, 1964). Behold the Christ, (U.S.A.: Harper, 1974). Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back edition, 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville). Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005). 197–274. Brigham Henry Roberts, Outlines of Ecclesiastical History, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Co., 1979), 221-292. John Dillenberger, Martin Luther, Selections from his writings, (New York: Anchor Books, 1961). Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1957), vol. 6, The Reformation, A History of European Civilization from Wycliff to Calvin: 1300-1564. Diarmaid MacCulloch, The Reformation, A History, (New York: Penguin Books, 2005). Neville Williams (Editor), Milestones of History, 5 Reform and Revolt, (New York: The Reader's Digest Association Limited, 1970, revised edition 1974). De Lamar Jensen, (Brigham Young University), Reformation Europe, Age of Reform and Revolution, (Lexington, Massachusetts, Toronto: D. C. Heath & Co., 1992, second edition). Andrew C. Fix, Ph.D., Charles A. Dana, Professor of History, Lafayette College, Lecture Transcript and Course Guidebook, The Great Courses, Teaching that engages the mind, The Renaissance, the Reformation, and the Rise of Nations, (Chantilly, Virginia: The Teaching Company, 2005), parts 1–4. R. N. Swanson, Religion and Devotion in Europe, (Cambridge: University Press, 1995), 37–38. Thomas Asbridge, The First Crusade, A New History, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2004). Thomas Asbridge, The Crusades, The Authoritative History of the War for the Holy Land, (New York, New York: EEE and Imprint of Harper Collins Publishers, 2010). Rita A. Scotti, Basilica, The Splendor and the Scandal: Building St. Peter's, (New York, New York: Viking, the Penguin Group, 2006). Enid Broderick Fisher, Saints Alive! A Book of Patron Saints, Whom To Call Upon For Help With Health, Love, Work and Finance, (London: Fount Paperbacks, Harper Collins Publishers, 1995). Margaret E. Tabor, The Saints In Art, With Their Attributes And Symbols Alphabetically Arranged, (New York: Frederick A. Stokes Company).

1555- Alan Richardson and John Bowden, (Editors), Westminster Dictionary of Christian Theology, (Philadelphia, Pennsylvania: The Westminster Press, CR SCM Press Ltd 1983, first Published in Great Britain, 1983, entitled: A New Dictionary of Christian Theology). See the article entitled: The Descent into Hell, by A. T. Hanson. Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986). Hugu Nibley, Dr. Baptism for the Dead in Ancient Time, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Improvement Era, 51—52, (December 1948—April 1949). Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1981). Lucifer, The Devil In the Middle Age, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1984). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsächsischen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), three volumes. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen.

1556- Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions and the Rise of Mormonism, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1970, 44–309. Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 157–488. J. M. Sjodahl, The Reign of Antichrist, Or The Great "Falling Away," SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1913. Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 197–274. Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, and the Promised Restoration, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book, 2006), 168–351.

- 1557- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (Lon: The Folio Society, 1998), 239–44. St. Anselm, Prior of Bec (1063–78), Cur Deus Homo, I, 7. Geoffrey R. King, The Forty Days, (Michigan: WM. B. Eerdmans. Co., 1949), 15-20. The Golden Legend, about the devil's loss in helping to have Christ killed, for Christ descended & crashed through Hade's gates, lighting up death's domain, & liberating the captives held there.
- 1558- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 240.
- 1559- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 237–43, & foot notes: J. Rivière, Le Dogme de la Rédemption au début du Moyen Âge, 1934. Medieval and Renaissance Studies, 3, 1953. St. Anselm, Cur Deus Homo, I, 3, 7. Gilbert Crispin's Disputatio Judaei cum Christiano, (Patrologiae Cursus Completus, series latina, ed. J. P. Migne), vol. 159, 1034.
- 1560- Geoffrey R. King, The Forty Days, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: WM. B. Eerdmans. Co., 1949), p. 15-20.
- 1561- The early Christian writers & artists seemed to look for types & hints of Christ in the Scriptures. And thus, such types were depicted in the art works. For example, Isaiah 9:2-6, may have become part of the inspiration for different elements of in the descent of Christ into hades, limbo, or the land of the dead. The glorious light of Christ's Spirit, or in other cases his resurrected body has often been depicted & mentioned in legends, art works, & early Christian writings. Thus Isaiah may have been seen as a prediction of this when he wrote: "The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light: they that dwell in the land of the shadow of death, upon them hath the light shined." (Isaiah 9:2; Marion P. Ireland, Textiles Art in the Church, (Nashville & New York: 1966, 1967, & 1971, Abingdon Press), pp.114, 52a, on a vestment/outer garment, the descent is depicted. The brightness of Christ's aura extends out from his body as He clasps the hand of Adam to raise him and the other with him from out of the grave. Alice Bank, Byzantine Art, Plates, (New York: H. N. Abrams, 1978), pl.136, fig.184, plates 182, 243, 278, etc. Huyghe, Art & Mankind, pp. 149-50, fig. 296; David M. Robb, 1973, The Art of the Illuminated Manuscript, pp.168-9, fig. 107; Bainton, Behold the Christ, p.171, fig. 195, p. 172, fig.196; Francis Russell, The World of Durer 1471-1528, (Time-Life Books, 1967), see woodcut of "The Large Passion." Kurt Weitzmann, The Icon, pp.170, 225, 282-3, etc. Antonie Bon, 1972, Byzantium; H. W. Hanson, History of Art, (New York: Harry N. Abrams, 1986), p. 227—28, fig.328; Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image.
- 1562- C.R. Morey, Christian Art, (London; New York; Toronto: Longmans, Green & Co., 1935), p. 31: The Harrowing of Hell: Mosaic of about 1100 A.D., in Saint Mark's Venice; Another sources says this is a 12th cent. work, see: New International Illustrated Encyclopedia Of Art, vol. 14, p. 2916-7.
- 1563- Harold Osborne, (Ed.), The Oxford Companion to Art, Oxford, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1970, p.526, fig.159.
- 1564- Jeffrey Russell, Lucifer, The Devil In the Middle Age, Ithaca, London: Cornell Un. Press, 1984, 150.
- 1565- Alice Bank, Byzantine Art, Plates, (New York: Harry N. Abrams, Inc., 1978), pl. 182.
- 1566- Gilbert Thurlow, Bible Myths & Mysteries, (Published by Octopus Books, 1974), p. 56, left.
- 1567- The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, Provo & SLC, Utah: FARMS, & Deseret Book, 1987, 4: Mormonism and Early Christianity, (1987), note 210, see PL 213:734.
- 1568- Eve Borsook, Messages In Mosaic, the Royal Programmes of Norman Sicily 1130-1187, Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1990, 69, plates 110-11.
- 1569- Kurt Weitzmann, Icon, p. 221, for 47.
- 1570- Horton & Marie-Helene Davies, Holy days & Holidays, The Medieval Pilgrimage to Compostela, (London; Toronto: Lewisburn, Bucknell University Press, 1982), 191.
- 1571- Emile Male, Religious Art in France, p.110-111, fig.100. "Descent into Limbo. Le Mans (Sarthe), Cathedral of St-Julien. Stained glass panel of nave window."
- 1572- Alice Bank, Byzantine Art, Plates (New York: Harry N. Abrams, Inc., 1978), pl. 278.
- 1573- Yves Christe, Tania Velmans, Hanna Losowska & Roland Recht, Art of the Christian World A.D. 200-1500, A Handbook of Styles and Forms, (Rizzoli International Pub., CR 1982 Office du Livre). p.172, fig. 132, Mosaic: Last Judgment, 12th c., Torcello Cathedral, Italy. See also p. 233, fig. 355. Book cover, silver gilt and cloisonné enamel: Descent into Limbo, 12th c., S. Mark's Treasury, Venice.
- 1574- Kurt Weitzmann, and others, The Place of Book Illumination in Byzantine Art, p. 35-6, fig. 30, Four Passion scenes, top middle shows the descent or the Anastasis. Tbilisi (Georgian S.S.R.), Academy of Sciences, cod. H. 1667, fol. 195r (after Machavariani). p. 35. Georgian book illumination were done in a similar manner as Constantinopolitan models. Gospel book from Jruchi, passion scenes. See also foot note 74, making reference to: H. Machavariani, Georgian Manuscripts (Tbilisi, 1970), p. 41, & pl. 33.
- 1575- Robert Hughes, Heaven & Hell in Western Art, NY: Stein & Day 1968, 12-13, Torcello, 12th-c. mosaic.
- 1576- Jennifer O'Reilly, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, NY & Lon.: Garland, 1988, 348-50.
- 1577- O.M. Dalton, Byzantine & Archaeology, Oxford Un. Press, 1911, & NY: Dover 1961, p. 240, fig. 149.
- 1578- O.M. Dalton, Byzantine & Archaeology, Oxford Un. Press, 1911, & NY: Dover 1961, 254, fig.157, 12th c., Gospel in the British Museum, (Harley 1810).
- 1579- Jeffrey Burton Russell, Lucifer, The Devil In the Middle Age, Lon.: Cornell Un. Press, 1984, 145-6, top portion of 2 part picture. Illumination manuscript, English, AD. 1150, the British Library. "The holy dead wait in hell for Christ's approach; he breaks down the doors, and a great light shines into the darkness, accompanied by angelic song as if at dawn." (p. 145).
- 1580- Peter Lasko, Nikolaus Pevsner & Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, Australia, etc.: Penguin Books, 1972, vol. 36, Ars Sacra: 800—1200, p. xix, pl.241. Alton Towers triptych, Lon., Victoria & Albert Museum.
- 1581- Peter Lasko, Nikolaus Pevsner & Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, Australia, etc.: Penguin Books, 1972, vol. 36, Ars Sacra: 800—1200, p. xxi, pl.285, altar frontal Ølst, Copenhagen, National-museum.
- 1582- Jennifer O'Reilly, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, NY & Lon.: Garland, 1988, 338 & 342-4.
- 1583- Franz Unterkircher, A Treasury of Illuminated Manuscripts, A selection of miniatures from manuscripts in the Austrian National Library, 1st Edition in 1967, in Eng. Trans., from German: Abendlandische Buchmalerei by J. Maxwell Brownjohn. (Great Britain under the title: European Illumination Manuscripts), 50-1, pl. 10, Liutold Gospels, written & illuminated at Mondsee Monastery by monk Liutold, after 1275. Christ in limbo.
- 1584- John Coulson, The Saints, A Concise Biographical Dictionary, NY: Hawthorn Book, 1958, 1960, 110.

- 1585- O.M. Dalton, Byzantine Art and Archaeology, p. 642, fig. 407, Descent into Hell, 12th century. Monastery, Mount Sinai (Sinait 339). (Hautes Etudes: N. Kondakoff.); The Walters Art Gallery, Early Christian And Byzantine Art, (Baltimore: Trustees of the Walter Art Gallery, 1947), p. 122 for explanation for a portion of the 12 Feasts, Italo-Byzantine, 12—14th centuries, plate LXXX, fig. 612.
- 1586- Andreas Stylianou & Judith A. Stylianou, The Painted Churches of Cyprus, Treasures of Byzantine Art, Trigraph, West Africa House Hanger Lane, London for the A.G. Leventis Foundation, 1985, 355-6, fig. 211. The Anastasis, 1183, classicizing style, tomb niche of the Enkleistra, monastery of St. Neophytus, near Paphos.
- 1587- Timothy Verdon & John Henderson, Christianity And The Renaissance, Image and Religious Imagination in the Quattrocento, Syracuse, NY: Syracuse University Press, 1990, p. 12-13, fig. 2, a Tuscan painted cross, unknown artist, during the late 12th c. A.D., Florence, Uffizi Gallery. Photo Alinari/Art Resource, N.Y.
- 1588- Emile Male, Religious Art in France, the 12th Century, Princeton Un. Press, 1978, Bollingen Series XC. I. Male, Religious Art in France, 119-121, fig.108. Descent into Limbo. Miniature cycle of Life of Christ from St. Martial of Limoges NY, Pierpont Morgan Lib. ms.44, fol.IV. Late 12 c.
- 1589- Frederick Hartt, History of Italian, Renaissance Art, Painting, Sculpture, Architecture, NY: Harry N. Abrams, 1994, 4th ed., p. 48, fig. 25. School of Florence. Cross. Late 12th century. Panel, Uffizi Gallery.
- 1590- Andreas Stylianou & Judith A. Stylianou, The Painted Churches of Cyprus, Treasures of Byzantine Art, Lon., Eng.: Trigraph, West Africa House Hanger Lane, for the A.G. Leventis Foundation, 1985, 354-5 & 357, fig.212, Anastasis, 1196 AD, monastic style, nave of the Enkleistra, monastery of St. Neophytus, near Paphos.
- 1591- Harold Osborne, (Ed.), The Oxford Companion to Art, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1970, 526.
- 1592- Propyaea Kunstgeschichte in Achtzehn Banben Das Mittelalter II Das Hohe Mittelalter Von Otto Von Simson. MCMLXXII, 1972, Verlag Ullstein GmbH, Frankfurt am Main-Berlin-Wien, Propyaea Verlag. Propyaea Verlag Berlin, fig. 259b.
- 1593- Kurt Weitzmann, The Place of Book Illumination in Byzantine Art, p. 32, & 34-5, fig. 28. Anastasis, Mount Athos, Layra, Skevophylakion. Lectionary, fol. IV. See also fig. 29, Anastasis. London, British Museum, cod. add. 7171, fol. 156v. Phocas Lectionary in the Treasury of the Athos monastery, Lavra, (fig. 28) shows Christ dragging Adam out of the Lower World just as Heracles had dragged Cerberus out of Hades. A Syriac Lectionary in the British Museum from around A.D. 1220. Fig. 29 copies a Byzantine model with similar details.
- 1594- William Henry Paine Hatch Greek & Syrian Miniatures in Jerusalem, Cambridge, Mass.: Medi., Ac., of Amer. 1931, pl. LXVIII, p. 124-5, Har. of Hell. Syrian Orth. of St Mark, Jerus. Codex 28 1222 AD, Fol. 133V.
- 1595- Frederick Hartt, History of Italian, Renaissance Art, Painting, Sculpture, Architecture, NY: Harry Abrams, 4th ed. 1994, 58 color-pl.18. School of Pisa. Cross No. 20. c.1230. Parchment on panel, Pinacoteca, Pisa.
- 1596- Ernst & Johanna Lehner, Devils, Demons, Death & Damnation, NY: Dover Pub., Dover Pictorial Archive Series, 1971, list of illust. xi, fig.7. Christ breaks down gates of Purg., after miniature in French man.13th c.
- 1597- Kurt Weitzmann, etc., The Icon, NY: Arnoldori Editore, Alfred A. Knopf, 1982, 170, Greek painter working at Ohrid in the Church of the Virgin Peribleptos, gallery of icons in the Church of St. Clement, Ohrid, Macedonia. 13th c. icon, showing a right-hand grasp on a left hand, during the harrowing of hell.
- 1598- Jennifer O'Reilly, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, NY & Lon.: Garland, 1988, 256-7.
- 1599- Under the direction of Herman Liebaers, etc., Flemish Art, From the Beginning till Now, NY: Arch Cape Press, 1988, CR 1985 Fonds Mercator Antwerp, 75, Flemish (Ghent?) 1240-50. Ghent, Nicholas Church.
- 1600- Kurt Weitzmann, etc., The Icon, NY: Arnoldori Editore, Alfred A. Knopf, 1982, 225.
- 1601- Nigel Morgan Gothic Manuscript (II) 1250-1285, A survey of Manuscripts illuminated in the British Isles, Gen. Ed. J.J.G. Alexander, Lon.: Harvey Miller 1988, fig.400. Descent, Krvoklat Castle Lib., I.b.23,f.12 cat. 184.
- 1602- Nigel Morgan, Early Gothic Manuscripts 2, 1250-85, Survey of Man. Illuminated in the British Isles, Gen. Ed. J.J.G. Alexander, Lon.: Harvey Miller, 1988, fig.272, Descent, Velletri, Museo Capitolare, Roll 155.
- 1603- O. M. Dalton, Byzantine Art & Archaeology, NY: Dover, 1961, 1st Pub. in NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1911, 241, fig. 150, Monastery of Vatopedi, Mount Athos. Christ's right hand to right of person being raised.
- 1604- George Every, Christian Mythology, Lon. Eng. NY, Toronto: Hamlyn Pub. Group Limited, 1970, & Middlesex, Eng.: Hamlyn House, Feltham, 1973, 96-7, about AD, 1305, at Kahrie Cami (the Church of St Mary in Chora), Istanbul; Richard Krautheimer, Early Christian & Byzantine Architecture, Baltimore, Maryland: Penguin Books, 1965-7, 192, Constantinople, Kahrie Cami, parckkleston, c.1303, c.1320. Gilbert Thurlow, Bible Myths & Mysteries; The Encyclopedia Of Visual Art, London: Encyclopaedia Britannica International, LTD., vol. 3, gives the date as AD 1315-21. John Beckwith, The Art Of Constantinople, An Introduction to Byzantine Art 330-1453, NY: Phaidon Pub., Inc., 1961, NY Graphic Society, Greenwich, Connecticut, p. 143, fig. 188.
- 1605- Limburg Brothers - Francisco Ribalta, The Encyclopedia Of Visual Art, Biographical Dictionary of Artists, (London, England: Encyclopaedia Britannica International, LTD), vol. 10, p. 63.
- 1606- Robert Charles Zaehner, ed. The Concise Encyclopedia of Living Faiths, NY: Hawthorn Books Inc., 1959, 104, Plate II. Russian icon, Eastern Church, early 14th c., British Museum, Lon. Sheila D. Campbell, Ed., The Malcove Collection, Un. of Toronto Press, 1985, p. 258, "Painted Icons" 351 Icon, Anastasis, Gesso, Russian, late 16th c. M82.131. V.I. Antonova, Drevnerusskoe Iskusskoe v Sobranii Payla Korian (Mos.) 61, 123. It may be that a late 16th century work was based on the early 14th century work. Roland H. Bainton, The Horizon History of Christianity, Edited by Marshall B. Davidson of Horizon Magazine, (U.S.A.: American Heritage Pub. Co., English ed., 1964), 214-15. Joseph Gantner & Marcel Pobe, Romanesque Art In France, Lon. Eng.: Thames & Hudson, 1956, pl. 135, p. 64. Robert Hughes, Heaven & Hell in Western Art, NY: Stein & Day, 1968, 188-91.
- 1607- Harold Osborne, The Oxford Companion to Art, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1970, 525 & 526; 14th-c. wall-paintings in St. Saviour in Chora, Istanbul. (Spanish Chapel, Florence, 14th c.) The Bible In Art (Twenty Centuries Of Famous Paintings), edited with commentary, by Clifton Harby, (NY: Covici Friede, 1936), 265, The Descent to Limbo, Simone Martini, Chapel of the Spaniards. The shape of the mouth of the cave reminds us of the jaws of hell. "Many of the illuminators of the Middle Ages pictured this visit of Christ to Limbo."
- 1608- H.W. Janson, (Professor of Fine Arts, NY Un.), with Dora Jane Janson, History of Art, A Survey of the Major Visual Arts from the Dawn of History to the Present Day, NY: Harry N. Abrams, 1st printing Oct. 1962, revised & enlarged in 1969, 19th print. 1973, & 1986, third ed., revised & expanded, 227, fig. 328.
- 1609- Frederick Hartt, History of Italian, Renaissance Art, Painting, Sculpture, Architecture, NY: Harry N. Abrams, 4th ed. 1994, color-pl. 2. Pietro Lorenzetti & assistants. Lower Church of S.Francesco, Assisi. Frescoes.

- 1610- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, Lon.: Folio Society, 1998, between 96–97, color plates, Pl.4, Holkham Bible Picture Book, 1320–30.
- 1611- Richard H. Randall Jr., Diana Buitron, & others, Christian Theuerkauff, Masterpieces of Ivory From the Walters Art Gallery, NY: Hudson Hills Press, W.A.G. Baltimore, 1985, 210-11, & #290 a, b. Scenes of the Passion, harrowing of hell. Spanish work, AD 1330. Purchased from Leon Gruel, Paris 1923, Bib.: L. Randall, Games and the Passion in Puccelle's Hours of Jeanne d' Evreux, Speculum, XLVII, no. 2, April 1972, fig. 6.
- 1612- Clifton Harry, Ed., The Bible In Art, 20 Centuries of Famous Bible Paintings, NY: Garden City Pub., 1936, Covici, Friede, Jesus's Legendary visit to Hell. Simone Martini, Chapel of Spaniards, Florence, 14th cent. Roland H. Bainton, Behold the Christ, USA: Harper, 1974, 171, fig.195. Release of the spirits in prison. 14 c.
- 1613- Kurt Weitzmann, Icons, 1980, p.177, 151 & 228. Descent into Limbo, National Museum, Ohrid. Alice Bank, Byzantine Art in the Collection of Soviet Museums, NY: Harry N. Abrams, 1977, & Leningrad, Russia: Aurora Art, pl. 278, 14th c.
- 1614- Weitzmann, 1980, Icons, p. 82, pl. 123, 14th century work by Michael Damaskinos; p. 151, 228, fig. 177; The Art of the Illuminated Manuscript, Robb, p. 168-9, fig. 107; Sebastian Hann, by Viorica Guy Marica, Editura Dacia, Cluj 1972, XXVI, Christ stands on the crossed and fallen doors of hell, behind him is the mandorla as though he had passed from one realm into the next. His right hand has grasped the left wrist of a person (Adam?), while his left hand has grasped the right wrist of another on the opposite side. A number of others souls and kings are there to witness this event. In another source: Text by Stephen Wright & Otto A. Jager, Ethiopia Illuminated Manuscripts, (New York: The New York Graphic Society by arrangement with Unesco, 1961), pl. XIX, Kebran Manuscript. During Christ's descent, he stands on the crossed doors of hell, and the mandorla is behind him. With his right hand, Christ grips the left hand of a person (Adam?). See also: Sheila D. Campbell, The Malcove Collection, (Toronto: Un. of Toronto Press, 1985), p. 258, fig. 351. Christ stands on the broken & crossed gates of hell, & with the mandorla to his back, he grasps, with his right hand, the left wrist of a person (Adam?). For additional sources showing the mandorla and different types of hand grips in both the descent and the ascension, see: Huyghe, Art And Mankind, pp. 149-150, fig. 296; History of Art, p. 227 fig. 328; Banks, Byzantine Art; Weitzmann, 1982, The Icon, p.170, 225, & 321; Antoine Bon, 1972, Byzantium; Kartsonis, Anastasis, figs. 14a, & 17a; Rice, Lethaby, Medieval Art, p. 50, pl. 14. John Pope-Hennessy, Italian Renaissance Sculpture, (London: Phaidon Press, LTD, 1958), fig. 48; Paul Williamson, 1986, The Medieval Treasury, pp.116-17; W. F. Volbach, Early Christian Art, see top portion of Ivory of the crucifixion, 11-12 cent., Narbonne, Treasure of the Cathedral of Saint-Just; John Beckwith, Ivory Carvings in Early Medieval England, (London, England: Harvey Miller & Medcalf LTD, 1972), #33; Swarzenski, Monuments of Romanesque Art, 1954 & 67, pl. 66, fig. 151; Eine Bayerische Malerschule Des XI. Und XII. Jahrhunderts, Von, E.F. Bange, 1923, Mit 186 Abbildungen Auf 67 Tafeln. See: Taf. 60: 164, Munchen: Staatsbibl., Clm. 2939.
- 1615- Text & Note by David Talbot Rice, Photos by Max Hirmer, The Art of Byzantium, (NY: Harry N. Abrams, 1959), 73, XXXVII Miniature Mosaic, 1 of 12 feast depictions, 14th c., Florence. Opera del Duomo.
- 1616- Goticka Nastenna Malba V Zemich Ceskyeh, I, 1300-1350, Nakladatelstvi Ceskoslovenske Akademie Ved, Praha 1958, figs. 99, 119, & 208.
- 1617- David M. Zesmer, Guide to English Literature From Beowulf through Chaucer & Medieval Drama, NY: Barnes & Noble, 1961, 10th print 1970, Pub. Booksellers 1873, 166, 171, 281-3. Daniel-Rops, Jesus & His Times, NY: Image Books, Doubleday & Co., 1958, CR 1954 & 1956 by E. P. Dutton & Co., 2:236.
- 1618- The Walters Art Gallery, Early Christian & Byzantine Art, An Exhibition Held At The Baltimore Museum of Art, April 25-June 22, The Walters Art Gallery, in collaboration with Department of Art & Archaeology of Princeton Un. & Dumbarton Oaks Research Lib. & Collect. of Harvard Un. & Princeton's Bicentennial Celebration. Baltimore: Trustees of the Walters Art Gallery, 1947, 122 for explanation for plate LXXIX, fig. 614.
- 1619- Jean-Clarence Lambert & others, Gothic Painting I, (S.A. Geneva: Editions Rencontre Lausanne 1965, English Ed., Edito-Service, 1968), vol. I, p.48. Todd M. Compton cites a number of writers to show that the handclasp was part of the descent drama. "The salvific handclasp is nearly the trade-mark of the iconography of Christ's post-crucifixion descent in Hades." (P. Verdier, "Descent of Christ into Hell," New Catholic Encyclopedia, (New York: McGraw-Hill, 1967-79), vol. 4:788-93, esp. 791, figs. 2-6). Some writers have noted that there are a number of different types of hand grips too, for in some works, Christ grasps the wrist, while in others they are raised up with the "dextrarum iunctio". (Ibid., Verdier, 791, fig. 5, etc.) See: By Study and Also By Faith, (SLC & Provo, Utah: FARMS & Deseret Book 1990, 2 vols, vol. 1, p. 620-23, Chapter 24. Lilian M.C. Randall, etc., Medieval & Renaissance Manuscripts in the Walters Art Gallery, vol. I, France, 875-1420, (Baltimore & London: The Johns Hopkins Un. Press, with the Walters Art Gallery, 1989), 309-10, fig., 65, Cat. 32, f.25; fig. 59, Cat. 29, f. 33. Showing the descent in which Christ clasp the hand of a naked soul who is being delivered out of the jaws of hell. Others souls greet Christ with up-lifted hands.
- 1620- Rene Huyghe, ed., Art & Mankind, Larousse Encyclopedia of Bysantine & Medieval Art, NY: Prometheus Press, 1958, 149, fig. 296.
- 1621- Sarel Eimerl, & Editors of Time-Life Books, The World of Giotto c. 1267-1337, (NY: Time-Life Books, 1967), art before chap.8, Giovanni del Biondo: Altarpiece of the Baptist, descent.
- 1622- Konstantin Kalokris, Photos, Farrell Grehan, The Byzantine Wall Paintings of Crete, NY: Red Dust, 1959, BW46. Our Lady, Lambiotis, Late 14th c. Resur. Descent to Hell. Cretan style.
- 1623- Bernards S. Myers, Ed., Encyclopedia of Painting, Painters & Painting of the World from Prehistoric Times to the Present Day, NY: Crown Pub., Inc., 1963, 41-2, Christ in Limbo. Detroit Institute of Arts, by Bles, Herri Met de, (1480?- after 1550), Flemish Painter, also known as Blesius. Civetta. Henrice da Dinant.
- 1624- John Pope-Hennessy, Fra Angelico, (London: Phaidon Press, 1952), p. 184-5, pl. XXIV, # 31.
- 1625- William Hood, Fra Angelico at San Marco, New Haven & Lon.: Yale Un. Press, 1993, 141-2, pl.134. Andrea di Bonaiuto. Passion Scenes. Florence, Santa Maria Novella, Spanish Chapel, north wall, & p. 188-9, pl. 183; p.245-6, pl.238. Fra Angelico assistant. Descent into Limbo. Florence, San Marco, Cell 31. Photo: Florence, Soprintendenza per i Beni Artistici e Storici. John Pope-Hennessy, Fra Angelico, (NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1974; Ithaca, NY: 1952, CR 1974 Phaidon Press LTD.), 209, fig. 33.
- 1626- Alice Bank, Byzantine Art, Leningrad, Russia: Aurora Art Pub., 1977, pl. 316. 15th century.
- 1627- Fredk. WM. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Christ Lore, Being the legends traditions myths symbols customs & superstitions of the Christian Church, (London: Elliot Stock, 1902, republished in Detroit: Gale Research Co., Book Tower, 1969), p. 248, from a Book of Hours, 15th c.

- 1628- Geoffrey Barraclough, etc., The Christian World, NY: Harry N. Abrams, 1981, 8-9, The Harrowing of Hell, 15th century A.D., alabaster made in Nottingham.
- 1629- Richard Temple, Icons, & The Mystical Origins of Christianity, 135, fig. 32. Descent into Hell. Russian icon, 15th century. Private collection, London. See also p. 136-7.
- 1630- Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, (Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen, 1994), 354, kat. 142. Hades-Fahrt Christi. St. Laurenz, Passion altar, Vorholle, 1425-30.
- 1631- Richard H. Randall Jr., & Diana Buitron, Masterpieces of Ivory, From the Walters Art Gallery, NY: Christian Theuerkauff, Pub., Hudson Hills Press, with W.A.G. Baltimore, 1985, 187, fig.46. Harrowing of Hell, from the Biblia Pauperum woodcut. Flemish or German 1430 or later.
- 1632- Richard H. Randall Jr., & Diana Buitron, Masterpieces of Ivory, From the Walters Art Gallery, NY: Christian Theuerkauff, Pub., Hudson Hills Press, with W.A.G. Baltimore, 1985, fig.45, p. 186, cat. # 359.
- 1633- Michael Batterberry, Art of the Early Renaissance, Italy: Fratelli Fabbri, 1961-64, & 1968, 120-21, pl. 130.
- 1634- Chandler Rathfon Post, A History Of Spanish Painting, 5:173-180, figs., 46-7, (The Hispano-Flemish Style in Andalusia); Michael Batterberry, Art of the Early Renaissance, (Milan, Italy: Fratelli Fabbri, 1961-64, & 1968), pl.130, pp.120-21; Sidney Painter, A History of the Middle Ages, 284-1500, (Alfred A. Knopf, 1953), p.430; Robert Fossier, Editor, and Janet Sondheimer, Translator, The Middle Ages, The Cambridge Illustrated History of the Middle Ages, I, 350-950, (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1989), p.435.
- 1635- David M. Zesmer, Guide to English Literature From Beowulf through Chaucer and Medieval Drama, (New York: Barnes & Noble, Inc., 1961, 10th printing 1970, Publishers Booksellers Since 1873), 272 & 273.
- 1636- George Every, Christian Mythology, Lon. Eng. NY, Toronto: The Hamlyn Pub. Group Limited, 1970, & Middlesex, England: Hamlyn House, Feltham, 1973, 65. Encyclopedia Of Early Christianity, Everett Ferguson, Editor, etc., NY, Lond.: Garland Publishing, 1990, 411.
- 1637- Harold Osborne, The Oxford Companion to Art, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1970, 526.
- 1638- Chandler Rathfon Post, A History Of Spanish Painting, vol. 6, part I, The Valencian School in the Late Middle Ages and Early Renaissance, (Cambridge: Cambridge, Massachusetts, Harvard University, Press, 1935; New York: Kraus Reprint Co., 1970), pp.270-1, fig. 104, see also note 1 on p.270. The Vita Christi are CCXXXVII-CCXXXIX (edition by R. Miquel y Planas at Barcelona, 1916, vol. III, p. 164-179).
- 1639- De Noord-Nederlandsche Schilderkunst Door G.J. Hoogewerff, 'S-Gravenhage Martinus Nijhoff, 1936, 466-8, Afb. 247. Christus in het Voorgeborgh van de Hel. Miniatuur in een Getijdenboek. Br. Mus. te Londen.
- 1640- Hoogewerff, 1937, p.335, Afb. 162. Christus verlost de Aartsvaders. Min. in een getijdenboek van het Museum Plantijn-Moretus, Antwerpen.
- 1641- Hoofeweff, 1947, p. 39, Afb. Noord-Nederlandsch Meester. Eind 15de eeuw. Afdaling van Christus in het Voorgeborchte van de Hel. Particuliere verzameling.
- 1642- Weitzmann, The Icon, 1982, p. 321, Christ in limbo. Deesis (Christ between the Virgin and St. John the Forerunner with 12 Feasts), Nicholas Ritzos, son of Andreas. Herakloin, Crete, end of the 15th cent. A.D., Museum of the Ancient Serbian Church, Sarajevo; Icon, p. 283, The Harrowing of Hell, late 15th c. A. Morozov Collection, Tretyakov Gallery, Moscow, see also p. 282 for another depiction.
- 1643- Chandler Rathfon Post, A History of Spanish Painting, NY: Kraus reprint Co., 1970s, 10:95-7, fig. 27.
- 1644- Sheila D. Campbell, Ed., The Malcove Collection, Toronto: Un. of Toronto, Press, 1985, 216-17, #306. Italo-Byzantine, 16th c., M82.327, The descent. Other crosses of this kind date back to the mid-16th cent., Athens and Berlin (Volbach cat. 287), p. 115, 793, s. 109), and # 307.
- 1645- Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen, p.314, kat. 115, Abb. 130; Albrecht Durer, Hollenfahrt. Kupferstich, 1512. Basel, Öffentliche Kunstsammlung. Marcelle Auclair, & others, Christ's Image, NY: Tudor Pub., Co., 129.
- 1646- Chandler Post A History of Spanish Painting, NY: Kraus reprint Co., 1970s, 9:526-7, Part I, fig.198.
- 1647- Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, p. 365, Abb. 133.
- 1648- G. J. Hoogewerff, 'S-Gravenhage, De Noord-Nederlandsche Schilderkunst Door, Martinus Nijhoff, 1936 & 1937, p. 376, Afb. 181. Corn. Buys. Christus verlost de Aartsvaders. Verzameling Quittner, Weenen.
- 1649- J.E. Gillet, Tres pasos de la [Passion] y una Egloga de la Resurreccion, Publications of the Modern Language Association of America, XLVII, 1932, pp. 949 ff. See also Miss King's article in the Art Bulletin, XVI (1934), 298; A History Of Spanish Painting, by Chandler Rathfon Post, Vol. VI, Part II, p.394, fig. 164, & pp.392, 412, 414-15, fig. 174, & pp. 448-9, fig. 190, in this one, an interesting hand clasp is also seen, for it follows the same types of hand grips that are often seen in depictions of the descent. Christ's left hand is raised up above his head, while his right hand is down so that a old man, (perhaps Adam), can clasp Christ's right hand. The old man right hand thumb clasps in the middle of Christ's right hand, almost as if he is feeling the nail mark wounds left by the nail from the cross. For after all, Christ was wounded for our salvation, (Isa. 53). The old man's left arm and hand are held in front of his own mid section with his palm up and fingers curled up. There are different types of hand grips in the different art works on the descent. To see the same type of wound clasping grip similar to the one mentioned here see: Early Christian Art, op. cit., fig. 83; Lowrie, Art in the Early Church, pl.100; & Gothic Painting I, p. 48. Other depictions of Christ presenting the redeemed to his Mother is seen in A History Of Spanish Painting, Post, vol. XI, p.172-3, fig. 64; Vol. X, pp.122-3, fig. 40. A number of works present this traditions in art until about the 17th century A.D. And even though the visit of Christ and the redeemed to the Virgin Mary is not found in the scriptures, the traditions seems to have been based on Matthew 27:52-3. Traditions say that the virgin Mary retired to her chamber to wait for her son's resurrection. She prayed earnestly saying: "Thou didst promise, O my most dear son, that thou wouldst rise again on the third day. Before yesterday was the day of darkness and bitterness; and, behold, this is the third day. Return then to me, thy mother. O my son, tarry not, but come!" As she prayed a host of angels surrounded her, and waved palms, and sang a Easter hymn: "Regina Coeli Laetare, Alleluia!" Soon after this, Christ entered the chamber, bearing the standard of the cross, and he was followed by the patriarchs and prophets whom Christ had released from Hades. They all knelt before Mary, and thanked her, because their deliverance had come through her. She desired to hear the voice of her son, and He raised his hand in benediction, saying, "I salute thee, O my mother!" And she embraced him exclaiming, "Is it thou indeed, my most dear son?" Jesus then presented his wounds, and bade her be comforted since He had triumphed over death and hell. Mary knelt and thanked him that she had been his mother, they talked a little and then Christ left to show himself to Mary Magdalene. (Clara Erskine Clement, A Handbook of Legendary And Mythological Art, (Boston and New York: Houghton Mifflin Co., The Riverside Press Cambridge, 1871 & 1881), pp. 197-8, see also p. 199-209, on the death and assumption of the Virgin Mary).

Traditions, and art works show how Christ presented his wounds to Mary so that she could recognize him. Earlier, as noted in a number of art works depicting the descent from the cross, while Christ's dead body was being taken down, Mary clasped the nail mark wounds with her hands. One depiction shows the clasp being accomplished with the aid of an angel. Mary's right hand thumb rest on wound in the middle of Christ's right hand. Another work shows the moment before the clasp, for Mary's right hand pointer finger is about to touch the nail mark wound in middle of Christ's right hand, while her thumb seems to be about to feel the other side. Another shows her clasping Christ's right hand with her right, and she bends forward as though to take a closer look at the wound. And so when Christ appeared along with the host of other saints of old, she embraced him and wanted to make sure that it was her son, and upon seeing and feeling Christ's wounds, she knew that it was her son. Eventually, Christ showed her the mysteries and rites of passage by which she would be able to also ascend into heaven too. This may be why later Christian traditions and art works show different aspects & symbols of the mysteries when they show the risen Lord's embrace with Mary, and when they show Christ displaying his wounds by making different gestures with his arms. But also, in numerous depictions of the death, assumption into heaven, the coronation, and glorification of Mary in heaven all seem to suggest that she had been shown this would happen when Christ had appeared to her. For numerous works mention or depict the assumption and coronation of Mary as a rite of passage into heaven, she is anointed, clothed in royal garments and robes, crowned, ascends to heaven to grasp the hand of her Son who waits to greet her, after which she is enthroned, glorified and deified. (See: Hart, Art, vol. 1, p. 327, fig. 410, Benedetto Antelami (c. 1150-1230 A.D.), Descent from the Cross, Relief, 1178, Cathedral of Parma, Italy; Franz Unterkircher, A Treasury of Illuminated Manuscripts, pl. II, pp. 54-5, & 58, lower portion, Antiphonary of St. Peter's Salzburg, c. 1160, p. 630; W.G. Thomson, A History of Tapestry, From the Earliest Times until the Present Day, 3rd Ed., with revisions edited by F.P. & E.S. Thomson, EP Pub. Lim. First ed. 1906, this ed., 1973, see p. 237, this version of the descent from the cross is after Salviati. Florence; Great Centers of Art, Prague, Allantield and Schram Montclair, Pub. by George Prior, 1970, Edition Leipzig London, p. 246, fig. 173, the risen Lord's embrace with Mary, from the Passional of Abess Kunhuta. Prague. 1314-1321, see also p. 81, from a collection of mystic tracts by Dominican Friar Kolda of Koldice, written for Kunhuta, abbess at Benedictine Convent at St. George's in Prague Castle. State Library of Czech Socialist Republic XIV A 17, fol. 16V; See also: The Churches and Abbeys of Ireland, by Brian De Breffny and George Mott, Pub. by W. W. Norton, & Co., N.Y., CR 1976 Thames and Hudson LTD., Lon., p. 87, tomb-niche at Strade, Co. Mayo. About the 13th-14th centuries A.D. In the north wall of the Dominican friary a tomb has an engraving of 4 people on it. One is of Christ with both hands raised up as he displays his wounds. The other three are said to be the three magi, however, they can't be satisfactorily identified as such. A closer guess might be based on the fact that this a tomb carving, & the fact that Christ is displaying his wounds, suggest that these may be some of the Old Testament time kings who were raised up by Christ during the ascension up out of limbo or hades. They also have positioned their arms in ways which might remind us of the different sacramental gestures, and two of them could be holding in their hands sacramental items. Also one has his royal robe on the right shoulder, while another has his on his left shoulder. Mary Portrayed, by Vincent Cronin, Pub. by Darton, Longman & Todd, 1968, London, pp.3, 16-17, fig.6, p.20-1, fig.8, pp.24-5, fig. 10, p.28, fig. 13, pp.31-2, 34-5, 38, figs. 20-1, pp.44, 53-5, fig.28, pp.88-9, fig. 47, pp.92-4, 99, 116-7, fig. 65, pp.128-9, fig.83, & p.156; History of Art, H. W. Janson, Pub. by Harry N. Abrams, Inc., N.Y., first printing Oct., 1962, 19th printing Dec. 1973, pp.178, fig. 289, p.252, fig. 402, p. 262, figs. 414-15, p.268, figs. 426-7, pp. 270-1, fig.431, fig. 463, pp.324-5, fig. 495-6, & p.380, fig.562; Fra Angelico, by John Pope-Hennessy, Pub., by Phaidon Press, 1952, p. 173, fig. X, p.200, figs. XXXIX & XL., p.203, fig. XLVII; Fra Filippo Lippi, by Jeffery Ruda, Pub. by Harry N. Abrams, 1993, Phaidon Press, pp.56-7, pl.22, p.66, pl.28, pp.84, 87, pl.44, pp.90-1, pl.47, pp.136-153, pls.76-83, pp.297-9, pls.169 & 171, p.368, pl.200, etc.; Western Civilizations, Burns, op. cit., Vol.1, page in between pp. 224-5, Sienese Madonna and Child, Byzantine School, 13th century A.D. (National Gallery; Mary crowned, 14th c., ivory from Louvre, Paris. Mary as the "Queen of Heaven"; Civilisation (A Personal View), by Kenneth Clark, 1969, Harper & Row, Pub., N.Y., & Evanston, vii, #9 in color & 47 in black and white, pp.68-71; Mary being crowned queen of heaven during heavenly coronation ceremony. See: Textiles in Daily Life in the Middle Ages, by Rebecca Martin, Pub. The Cleveland Museum of Art, Cleveland Ohio, 1985, pp.20-1, fig. 7, The Coronation of the Virgin. Embroidery. Italy, Florence, 1st half of the 15th c. CMA 53. 129 (cat. no. 5), And fig.8, Lorenzo Monaco, Italian, 1370/71-1425. Panel, 1414. Galleria degli Uffizi, Florence; Medieval Europe (A Short History), Hollister, 1968, pp. 334-336; Another Altarpiece, from the Dominican convent of San Vincenzo di Annalena, The Virgin and Child enthroned. The coronation. "CA. 1430-1440"; Fra Angelico, (Biographical and Critical Study) by Giulio Carlo Argan, Pub. The World Pub., Co., p.61-2, The Coronation, Louvre, Paris. ENTHRONED, 1437, CONVENT OF SAN MARCO, FLORENCE; Argan, ibid., pp.90-1. A number of art works during 13-17th centuries show Mary crowned, the dates to some of these are 1249, 1320-30, 1430s, & 1616 A.D., while others shows her as if she is one of the members of the Godhead, as she is under going the coronation ceremony in heaven. One dates back to 1453-4, another to 1516 A.D. (Art, by Frederick Hartt, Vol. II, Pub. by Harry N. Abrams, N.Y., 1976, pl.21, Renaissance. Enguerrand Quarton. Coronation of the Virgin. Panel Painting, Musee de l'Hospice, Villeneuve-les-Avignon, France; Art Treasures in Germany, Monuments, Masterpieces, Commissions of Collections, Gen. Eds. Bernard S. Myers, N.Y., Terwin Copplestone, Lon., Pub. by Hamlyn Pub. Group Lim., 1970, p. 55, fig.73, pp.56-7, fig.76, p.69, fig.96, p.70, fig.99, p.89, fig.126, & p.94, fig.135; Civilisation, Clark, pp.156-7, #22, Holbein, Madonna of Bugomaster Meyer. Mary crowned. Another depiction, 1st half of the 16th c. shows Mary & Christ enthroned; Treasures From The Kremlin, (An Exhibition from the State of Museums of the Moscow Kremlin at the Metropolitan Museum of Art), N.Y., May 19-Sept. 1979, and Grand Palais, Paris, Oct. 12, 1979 & Jan. 7, 1980, Pub. by Metro. Mus., of Art, N.Y., Distrib. by Harry N. Abrams, Inc., p.32, pl.5, & p.140. In 1560s, from the chapel of the Assembly of the Virgin in the Cathedral of the Annunciation, Moscow Russia. The "Virgin and Child in the "circles" of glory", the lower portion shows groups of people, some of which depict "monks praising the Virgin." Treasures From The Kremlin, op. cit., pp.33-36, & 140, #7. The Synaxis, or Assembly, of the Virgin. Inv. no. 5062, Provenance: Side chapel of the Assembly of the Virgin in the Cathedral of the Annunciation, Moscow Kremlin, Moscow School, 1560s. Crowned and enthroned along side Christ. Heaven: A History, pp.136, 161, pl.30, dated 1575 A.D., Antonino Polti, O.P., Della felicità suprema del cielo (Perugia: Rastelli, 1575). Another depicts "the Virgin Enthroned with the Child" A.D. 1589; Treasures From The Kremlin, op. cit., pp.58 & 157, pl.22, Gold reliquary diptych, front, inside, reverse. A gift from Czar Fedor Ivanovich to Czaritsa Irina. Accessioned from the Monastery of the Ascension, Moscow Kremlin, in 1918 (Inv. no. 15400). Moscow, Kremlin workshop, 1589 A.D. During the 19th century in England and Rome, the Virgin Mary was still believed to have been deified, and raised up to divine rank even to the point where she was still being worshipped as a partaker of the Godhead. See: The 2 Babylons, by Rev. Alexander Hislop, 1916, & 1959 ed., Pub. in Amer. by Loizeaux Brothers, Inc., Neptune, N.J., pp.83 & 265-7. A History by Colleen McDannell & Bernhard Lang, Yale Un. 1988 pp. 83-4, etc., & Art, by Frederick Hartt, Vol.2, Pub. Harry N. Abrams, NY 1976 see pl.21, the Virgin Mary Crowned, dated 1453-54. A.D.; Roman & Palaeo-Christian Painting, by Gerald Gassiot-Talbot, Trans. by Anthony Rhodes, Pub. Funk & Wagnalls, N.Y., pp.92-3, depicting Saints with crowns; The Rothschild Canticles, by Jeffrey F. Hamburger, fig. 106, 126-7; Byzantine Painting, by Andre Grabar, 1st Ed. 1953, this Ed. 1979, pp.54-5, depicting Martyrs with crowns, 6th cent. A.D. Russian Illuminated Manuscripts, by Olga Popova, Trans., by Kathleen Cook, & others, 1984, Aurora Art Pub., Len. p.20, dated about the 15th cent. AD. For additional depictions of the risen Lord displaying his wounds, while making different types of gestures, etc., see: The Early Italian Schools (Before 1400), (National Gallery Catalogues) by Martin Davies, revised by Dillian Gordon, Pub. & CR by the National Gallery 1988 in London, see pl. 52, Master of the Blessed Clare, Vision of the Blessed Clare of Rimini (No. 6503); The French Primitives And Their Forms (From their Origin to the End of the 15th Century), by Albert C. Barnes & Violette De Mazia, Pub. by Barnes Foundation Press, Merion, PA., USA, 1931, p. 271; Gothic and Renaissance Art in Nuremberg 1300-1550 by the Metropolitan Museum of Art, N.Y., & Germanisches Nationalmuseum, Nuremberg, CR 1986 Philippe de Montebello, Director, see p. 151, fig. 28, Master of the Bamberg Altarpiece, showing Christ as the man of sorrows, has his left hand raised, while his right arm is down and is extended out, he is being embraced by the Virgin Mary. See also: Italian Renaissance Sculpture, by John Pope-Hennessy, Pub. by Phaidon Press in London, 1958, fig. 81, Verrocchio: Christ displays his wounds, see also detail in fig. 57, San Michele, Florence. See also: Book Illumination In The Middle Ages, by Otto Pacht, pp. 34-5, figs. 32-33; Carolingian Art (A study of early Medieval painting and sculpture in Western Europe), by Roger Hinks, Pub. Ann Arbor Paperbacks 1962, The Un. of Michigan Press, p. 167, fig. a & b. XVI Ivory panels with liturgical scenes, for a 10th century depiction of the celebration of the mass which depicts a number of people around the altar making different gestures, some of which are the same, if not similar to the gestures of Christ when he as he displayed his wounds. The sign of the cross was also said to be a "sacramental gesture" plus a rites of passage gesture which traditions say Adam use to pass by the angel who guarded to gates to paradise, after He and a host of others had been rescued by Christ out of hell. Christ is said to have showed them these rites of passage hand clasp, and the sign of the cross for this very reason. (See: Society And The Holy In Late Antiquity, by Peter Brown, Pub. by Un. of Calif., Press, Berkeley, & L.A., 1982, p. 258, & note 30, see G. Millet, Les Iconoclastes et la Croix. A propos d'une inscription de Cappadoce. Bulletin de correspondance hellenique XXXIV (1910): 96-109. See also: The Lost Books of the Bible and the Forgotten Books of Eden, op. cit., pp. 86-88; In the "Discourses of the Apostles" Jesus says that he went down and spoke with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob and the other old times fathers and declared to them how that they might be raised up by his right hand. Hinting here to the hand clasps so often seen in the art works. He said "with my right hand I gave them the baptism of life and release and forgiveness of all evil, even as I do to you here and to all who believe on me from this time on." See: Mormonism and Early Christianity, Nibley, op. cit., note 119; Schmidt, Gespräche Jesu, 315; cf. 317-18; John 3:22-26; 4:1). During other post-resurrection appearances, such as to some of the apostles, Christ had his followers feel the nail mark wounds, and other wounds too, as he had with his Mother. Christ went on to show them the mysteries or ordinances with it's rites of passage hand grips that were types of the wounds he had received from the nails while on the cross, and plus other gestures which were types of his suffering, for after Christ had opened the scriptures and helped them to understand what had happened. And after He had departed from them, they worshiped him and returned to Jerusalem and "were continually in the temple, praising and blessing God" (Luke 24:13-53; Acts 1:3). Thomas became a witness of the risen Lord and touched Christ's wounds too (John 20:24-31). Later artist have depicted Thomas' hand being grasped by Christ, while he feels the wound in Christ's side. See: German Painting, XIV--XVI Centuries, by Alfred Stange, Pub. by The Hyperion Press, N.Y., Paris & Lon., p. 92, Master Of The St. Bartholomew's Altar, St. Thomas Altar. Central Panel. 1501, Cologne, Wallraf-Richartz-Museum, with his right hand, Christ grasps the right wrist of Thomas and helps him feel the wound in his chest area. In some ways these different types of hand and wrist grips were based on the nail mark wounds, plus other wounds which Christ received when he was crucified. Another work shows Christ, with his right hand, grasping the right wrist of Thomas as he feels the wound mark in Christ's side (Christ Lore, Hackwood, op. cit., p. 172). Another post-resurrection appearances say that while some of the disciples were fishing at the sea of Tiberias, Jesus appeared on the shore and told them to cast their net in a certain area, and when they started to bring in the net it was full of fish, and it was then that they knew that it was the risen Lord. Peter jumped in the water naked and swam towards Christ (John 21:1-14). For in the art works, Christ raise up Peter from the water by taking a hold of his hand, this must have reminded the Christians of the hand clasps which were done in their mysteries and sacraments. Ephrem, of the Syrian Church, was born at Nisibis in Mesopotamia about 306 A.D., and died about 378 A.D. In a work entitled: The Pearl, Or, Seven Rhythms On The Faith, Ephrem Syrus (Ephraim Syrus) presented a number of types for baptism, the mysteries and he may have hinted to the descent of Christ. The sea was a type of baptism and tomb which divers came up from. Divers were also a type of those who went through the mysteries, for they put on Christ, were anointed with oil, took off garments to be clothed in raiments of glory and light, and were crowned. "The naked men in a type saw thy rising again by the seashore; and by the side of the lake the Apostles, truly naked, saw the rising again of the Son of thy Creator.... The diver arose from the sea and put on his garments; and from the lake also Simon Peter came swimming, and put on his garments; each was clad, as with clothes, with love for both of you." (The World's Orators, Editor in Chief, Guy Carleton Lee, Ph.D., University Edition, G.P. Putnam's Sons, N.Y., & London, The Knickerbocker Press, 1900, pp. 193-214; The Nicene And Post-Nicene Fathers, Vol. XIII, pp. 293-301). In the New International Illustrated Encyclopedia Of Art, (General Editorial Consultant, Sir John Rothenstein, C.B.E., Ph.D., LL.D., Greystone Press, N.Y., MCMLXVII, etc.), in Vol. 2, pp. 402-3, it shows the panel altar of Saint Peter, church of Santa Maria in Tarrasa, near Barcelona, Spain. The art work was by Luis Borassa, early 15th century A.D. Peter is half way in & out of the water as Christ clasps, with his left hand, the right hand of Peter to raise him up. This, may have reminded the Christians of similar depictions of the descent, and may have been considered a type for baptism. The 4th century Christian Father S. Cyril of Jerusalem talked about the ritualistic types of Christ's suffering which the Christians passed through while going through the Christian mysteries: "...we did not really die, we were not really buried, we were not really crucified and raised again; but our imitation was but in a figure, while our salvation is in reality. Christ was actually crucified, and actually buried, and truly rose again; and all these things have been vouchsafed to us, that we, by imitation communicating in His sufferings, might gain salvation in reality.... Christ received the nails in His undefiled hand and feet, and endured anguish; while to me without suffering or toll, by fellowship of His pain He vouchsafes salvation." (Library of Fathers, Vol. II, pp. 260-66, Lec. XIX-XX, Cyril on the Mysteries, Pub. by John Henry Parker, Oxford, London, MDCCCXXXIX). An early Christian apocryphal work of John says that the Lord secretly showed John the torment, the piercing, the blood, and the wounding of the logos, "then you shall know the Lord; and thirdly the man, and what he has suffered..." [thus] the Lord had performed everything as a symbol and a dispensation for the conversion and salvation of man." (The Other Bible, pp. 419-21, Revelation of the Mystery of the Cross, from Christian Apocrypha, The Acts of John, Ed. by Willis Barnstone, CR 1984, Pub. by Harper & Row, San Francisco, Calif.) See also: La Resurrection du Christ, dans L'Art Chretien Du Iie Au IIie Siecle, Quarante - Huit Planches Hors - Texte, by Jeanne Villette, published in Paris, by Henri Laurens, Editeur, 1957, pl. XLII, Christ's descent into limbo, showing the clasp made with right hands with the thumb resting on the middle of the hand as though the redeemed was feeling the nail mark in Christ's hand, and as though Christ was showing the wounds which had brought about salvation. These different clasps were rites of passage hand grips which were often seen in the depictions that show different ones passing in and out of the different realms of existences. See also ibid., plates XLIV-XLVIII; Art In The Early Church, Lowrie, op. cit., p. 164 mentions a work that depicts "Christ's ascent from Hades", pl. 100-a, shows same depiction of Christ's descent into limbo as Villette shows, see also pp. 184-7; La Resurrection Du Christ, Dans L'Art Chretien Du Ile Au Vlle Siecle, by Jeanne Villette, Pub. by Henri Laurens, Editeur, Paris, 1957, pl. XLII, Decente aux Enfers. Colonne du Ciborium de Saint-Marc a Venise (cl. Osvaldo Bohm); Early Christian Art, Volbach, op. cit., figs. 83, & 93, etc; Monuments of Romanesque Art, Swarzenski, op. cit., pl. 15, fig. 35, & pl. 66, fig. 151; Art of The Illuminated Manuscript, by David M. Robb, 1973, A.S. Barnes & Co., Cranbury, N.J., pp. 200-1, fig. 135; Classical Inspiration In Medieval Art, Oakeshott, op. cit., pl. 80; Art of the Christian World A.D. 200-1500, Christe, etc., op. cit., p. 60, fig. 68, p. 95, fig. 195, p. 365, fig. 504, & p. 372, fig. 542. Irenaeus, [A.D. 120-202], says that after Christ had descended to the place of the dead in the lower parts of the earth to preach the gospel there, Christ then afterwards rose "in the flesh, so that He even shewed the print of the nails to His disciples. He thus ascended to the Father". (Monumental Christianity, Lundy, 1882, op. cit., pp. 264-5, note 1 Lib. v. c. 31, iii c. 20, of Har. Also, Harvey's Creeds, Vol. I. pp. 333-4). Leo the Great saw in the mysteries a number of types of Christ, for their own ascension into heaven was patterned after Christ's ascension. Citing the apostle Peter, Leo says that Christ suffered for us, leaving you an example that ye should follow His steps." Further on he mentioned how Christ had appeared to his Apostles and opened the secrets of the Holy Scriptures and showed them his wounds. He also suggested that in their mysteries, there were imitations or types of Christ's suffering, resurrection and ascension, for "the Lord's Resurrection and Ascension did not pass by in uneventful leisure, by great mysteries (Sacramenta--mysteria) were ratified in them, deep truths revealed." (See: The Nicene and Post-Nicene Fathers, Vol. XII, pp. 163-69, & 176, 179, 182-3, 188, & 190, Leo the Great). In a depictions of the ascension of Mary into heaven, Christ, with his right hand, shakes the right hand of Mary (Deutsche Malerei, Des Funfzehnten Jahrhunderts, Die Malerei Der Spatgotik, by Werner R. Deusch, Pub. by Kurt Wolff Verlag, 1936, Berlin, pl. 81, Johann Koerbecke, Himmelfahrt Mariae. 1457 Lugano, Sammlung Baron Thyssen-Bornemisza). Another shows Mary clasping Christ left hand during her ascension. (See: Romanian Folk Painting on Glass, by Juliana and Dumitru Dancu, 1979, see 123). These types of hand and wrist grips were ritualistic symbols for how the souls was to be raised from the grave, limbo, hades, etc., & during the ascension into paradise and heaven. Thus, there also seems to be possible connections between these different types of hand and wrist grips and seem to center on Christ wounds, and nail marks in his hands, and the symbols found in the middle of later Christian gloves, the "monial on the glove". Plus, some art works, stone monuments, etc., show a number of later Christians with gloves on in the act of grasping hands in the same types of ways as in works on the descent, etc. Grave carvings and monuments also show these symbols in the gloves, and rings, plus numerous tomb stones depict hand grips, plus angels at curtains or veils might suggest possible connections with earlier to later symbols of the descent and resurrection which focus on the nail mark wounds of Christ, and rites of passage hand grips and wrist grasps. (See: Macklin's Monumental Brasses, (Including a bibliography and a list of figure brasses remaining in churches in the United Kingdom), re-written by John Page-Phillips, first pub. in 1969, see 2nd edition 1972, London, George Allen and Unwin LTD., pp. 50 & 53, William Ermyrn, rector, 1401, Castle Ashby, Northants; Skulptur Und Grabmal Des Spatmittelalters In Rom Und Italien, Akten Des Kongresses, Scultura E Monumento Sepolcrale Del Tardo Medioevo A Roma E In Italia (Rom, 4--6. Juli 1985), Herausgegeben von Jorg Garms Und Angiola Maria Romanini, Verlag Der Osterreichischen Akademie Der Wissenschaften, Wien 1990, fig. 14 shows an angel holding a curtain (the veil?) with the right hand raised up, while the left hand rest on the middle of the chest area. See also Figures 14, 15, Abbs. 5, 15, 27, 32, p. 265, fig. 3, Figs. 26-27, 29, p. 272, fig. 33, Abb. 12-13, p. 393, abbs. 1-2, Abb. 3 of Mailand. S. Gottando, Grabmal des Azzo Viseonti, Liegefigur, show a hand clasp. See also Abbs 9-10, Abb 4, fig. 5; See also: The Tomb And The Tiara, (Curl Tomb Sculpture in Rome and Avignon in the Later Middle Ages), by Julian Gardner, Clarendon Press, Oxford 1992, figs. 18-19, 25-6, 66, 74-5, 81-2, 108, 111-12, 125-7, 144, 204, 220, & 224-7; The Picture Book of Brasses in Gilt, by Henry Trivick, 1971, 5 Royal Opera Arcade Pall Mall London SW 1, John Baker, p. 17, u, soul on garment, 169, 172, 198-99; The Last Judgment in Sixteenth Century Northern Europe, by Craig Harbison, Garland Pub. Inc., N.Y., & London, 1976, p. 316, fig. 8 of Martin Schaffner, The Blessed, fragment of a Last Judgment, (Pfullendorf Altar), panel, c. 1500, Freiburg, Diozesanmuseum, (inv. no. Mla/D), the glove symbol is seen on a religious leader who is clasping the wrist of a naked soul about to enter into paradise. See also: Werner R. Deusch Deutsche Malerei Des Dreizehnten Und Vierzehnten Jahrhunderts, Die Fruhzeit der Tafelmalerei, Genius Verlag, Berlin, 1940, see 57 Nachfolger Des Theodorich Von Prag um 1375, two religious leaders with gloves on, as they meet, one is one his knees, the other standing has grasped, with his right hand, the wrist of the other leader's left wrist. See also: Czech Gothic Painting 1350 - 1450, by Antonin Matejcek & Jaroslav Pesina, Pub. Melantrich Praba 1950, see figs. 31, 74, 76, & 80; German Painting, XIV--XVI Centuries, Stange, p. 54, lower section, School of Theoderic of Prague, Votive Picture of Ocko Von Vlasim, A.D. 1380, Prague, Gemaldegalerie, showing a hand clasp between two religious leaders. The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, by John Rupert Martin, Princeton Un. Press, 1954, p. 43, XIV, 64. Fol. 187 v: Tranquillity, Princeton, Univ. Lib. Garrett MS 16, showing Christ raising a monk out a sarcophagus by grasping, with his right hand, the right hand of the monk. "The half-figure of Christ leans forward from above to grasp his right hand; his left is clutched by a small black demon... while other demons in the sarcophagus cling to his feet." A verse from Psalm 113:7 was paraphrased; 'the Lord lifteth up the needy from the earth, and from the dung-hill of his passions raiseth up the poor man, him that is humble in heart.' The author's definition of tranquillity is said to be "the resurrection of the soul before that of the body". "The picture has, accordingly, been adapted from the Anastasis--Christ's descent into Hell to raise Adam and other righteous persons of the Old Testament." (Ibid., Martin, p. 43). For hand clasps on grave stones see: Stones, by Betty Willsher and Doreen Hunter, 1978, Pub. in 1979 by Taplinger Pub. Co., N.Y., pp. 14-15, 16a, & p. 53; Early American Gravestone Art In Photographs, by Francis Y. Duval & Ivan B. Rigby, 1978, Pub. by Dover Pub. Inc., N.Y., pp. 124-5; Of Graves And Epitaphs, by Kenneth Lindley, Pub. Hutchinson of Lon., 1965, grave marker of Withington, Gloucestershire shows a hand extended to clasp the hand of a soul who is ascending to heaven. See also: Arte Paleocristiano, En Espana, Por Pedro de Palol, Ediciones Poligrafia, S. A., p. 146-151, fig. 88, Sogenannter Auferstehungs- Sarkophag, Krypta von Santa Engracia, Zaragoza. An orant recieves the hand of God; A Lithuanian Cemetery (St. Casimir Lithuanian Cemetery in Chicago, Ill.) Pub. Lithuanian Photo Library and Loyola Un. Press, Chicago, 1976, p.65, fig. 15, shows a hand clasp under the cross on a tomb stone.

1650- Craig Harbison, The Last Judgment in 16th Century Northern Europe, NY & Lon.: Garland Pub. Inc., 1976, 354, fig. 46, Lucas Cranach the Elder (workshop?), Allegory of Law & Grace panel, 1529, Prague, National Gallery.

1651- Jan Bialostocki, The Art of the Renaissance in Eastern Europe, Hungary, Bohemia, Poland, Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1976, fig.211, Georg Penez: Painted wings of the silver altar, 1531-8. Cracow, Wawel Cathedral, Sigismund Chapel.

1652- William Barclay, The Apostles' Creed For Everyman, (Evanston; N Y: Harper and Row, 1967), 119-33.

1653- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, 754, foot note 15: Qualben, A History of the Christian Church, p. 258.

- 1654- Harold Osborne, (Ed.), The Oxford Companion to Art, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1970, 525.
- 1655- Weitzmann, The Icon, 1982, p. 342-3, the Harrowing of hell, Longin Bilateral icon with the ascension on the other side. 1572-3. Monastery of Decani, Serbia.
- 1656- Weitzmann, Icons, 226, signed by Michael Damaskinos. Benaki Museum, Athens, from a 14th c. model.
- 1657- Maria-Gabriele Wosien, Sacred Dance, Encounter with the Gods, Thames & Hudson, 1974, p. 124-5. Christ resurrected. Detail of icon, Russia, c. 1700, National- museum, Stockholm. Another dates this work as being from the late 16th century. The icon is painted in several registers, portraying Christ's descent into hell, and his resurrection. Sheila D. Campbell, Ed., The Malcove Collection, Un. of Toronto Press, 1985, 258, fig.351.
- 1658- Art & Archaeology, The Art Throughout the Ages, vol.21, Jan-1926, #1, p.26 & 32, Vol.2, June 1916, #6.
- 1659- Richard H. Randall Jr., & Diana Buitron, (texts & others), Masterpieces of Ivory, From the Walters Art Gallery, (NY: Christian Theuerkauff, Pub., Hudson Hills Press, with W. A. G. Baltimore, 1985), 134-5, fig.214. Harrowing of Hell & Saints. Ivory-panel, Russian (Byzantine style), 16th-17th c.
- 1660- Andre Deguer, Museo Rieder, Ikonen, Icons, Icones, Icone, (Verlag Munchen 19: Bewrghaus, 1962), 92, fig.38. Hollenfahrt Christi, rumänisch, datiert 1763. The descent into hell, Roumanian.
- 1661- Treasures From The Kremlin, An Exhibition from the State of Museums of the Moscow Kremlin at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, NY, May 19-Sept.1979, & Grand Palais, Paris, Oct. 12, 1979 & Jan. 7, 1980, (New York: Metropolitan Museum of Art, Distributed by Harry N. Abrams, Inc., 1980), 84-85, & 173, pl.54. Altar Gospels, Inv. no. 19594, text Moscow, 1681; cover Moscow, 1772. "The Descent into Hell".
- 1662- John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art & Symbolism of the Primitive Church, NY: J.W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882, 267, note Bishop White's "Memoirs of the Church," p. 364.
<https://archive.org/details/MonumentalChristianity-https://archive.org/details/monumentalchris00lundgoog->
- 1663- John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, NY: J.W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882, 267-8.
- 1664- H.W. Janson, (Professor of Fine Arts, NY Un.), with Dora Jane Janson, History of Art, A Survey of the Major Visual Arts from the Dawn of History to the Present Day, (New York: Harry N. Abrams, Inc., Publishers, first printing October 1962, revised and enlarged in 1969, 19th printing 1973, and 1986). Janson, History of Art, see fig.758, dated 1868-70 A.D., by Paul Cezanne, after Sebastiano del Piombo.
- 1665- That Unknown Country, or What Living Men Believe Concerning Punishment After Death, (Springfield, Mass.: C.A. Nicholas & Co., MDCCCLXXXIX), p. 619, 634-8, chap. XXXIII.
- 1666- Daniel-Rops, Jesus And His Times, (NY: Image Books, A Division of Doubleday & Co., 1958, CR 1954 & 1956 by E. P. Dutton & Co., Inc.), vol.2, p.236; see also: National Geographic, vol. 164, No. 6, p. 774, Dec. 1983, Byzantine Empire, article entitled: Eternal Easter in Greek Village, by Maria Nicolaidis-Karanikolas. As part of the celebrations for the Resurrection, at night, after all the lights in the church are put out, to symbolize the darkness of the world, and at the stroke of midnight. A religious leader and Father steps from the Royal Doors of the sanctuary with a lighted candle, chanting "Come forth and receive light from the unwaning light and glorify Christ, who is risen from the dead." From this candle a number of candles are lit and carried home.
- 1667- Daniel-Rops, Jesus & His Times, (NY: Image Books, A Division of Doubleday & Co., 1958, CR 1954 & 1956 by E. P. Dutton), 2:236. National Geographic, vol. 164, No. 6, p. 774, Dec. 1983, Byzantine Empire, article entitled: Eternal Easter in Greek Village, by Maria Nicolaidis-Karanikolas.
- 1668- Margaret E. Martignoni, Dr. Louis Shores, Harry R. Snowden, Jr., & Ruth Weeden Stewart, Editors, Harvest of Holidays, NY: The Crowell-Collier Pub. Co., 1962, p.119.
- 1669- Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, NY: Lon., Eng.: M. E. Sharpe, Inc., 1989, 136—37.
- 1670- Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, NY: Lon., Eng.: M. E. Sharpe, Inc., 1989, 137—138.
- 1671- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962). Wolfred Nelson Cote, (Missionary in Rome), Baptism and Baptisteries, (Philadelphia: The Bible and Publication Society, 1877). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Dr. Huge Nibley, Baptism for the Dead in Ancient Time, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Improvement Era, 51—52, (December 1948—April 1949). Roger J. Adams, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptisms for the Dead, (unpublished manuscript 1977). Ariel L. Crowley, Statement of Beliefs of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints: Doctrines and Practices, (Idaho City, Idaho: Deseret News Press, 1961), 46—87, see the chapter on: BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD. Pater Cramer, Baptism and change in the early Middle Ages, c. 200-c. 1150, (Cambridge, England; New York, New York, USA: Cambridge University Press, 1993). Radio shows: KTKK, 630 AM Radio, K-Talk, Salt Lake City, Utah: Martin Tanner, host of Religion on the Line. June 2, 1991, Martin Tanner, host, guest: Darell Thorpe, subject: The Journey of the Soul in Early Christian art works and writings. March 1, 1992, Tanner, guest: Matthew Roper, subject: Early Christianity, and Baptism for the Dead. See also: Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsachsischen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), three volumes. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen. Francis Bond, Fonts and Font Covers, (London, New York, and Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford University Press, 1908).
- 1672- Ariel L. Crowley, Statement of Beliefs of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints: Doctrines and Practices, (Idaho City, Idaho: Deseret News Press, 1961), 46—87, see the chapter on: BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD, see p. 72—74, Councils of Hippo, 393, & 3rd council of Carthage, 397, condemned baptism of dead bodies.
- 1673- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 12—13, foot notes 1, 3 & 7, see also abbreviations on p. xv, see K., which is for: A. Khatchatrian, Les baptistères paléochrétiens, 1962, Fig. 233. S. Gsell and C. A. Joly, Khamissa, Mdaourouch, Announa, III, 1918, p. 97f.
- 1674- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, Lon. Eng.: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962, 14, before p. 33, fig. 7. Sbeilla font, with cross symbols in it. See also: Wolfred Nelson Cote, (Missionary in Rome), Baptism and Baptisteries, (Philadelphia: The Bible and Publication Society, 1877), art before main title page, frontispiece, Baptistry in Catacomb of St. Pouziano, Rome. Cross-symbol in the baptismal water area. See also p. 19—26.
- 1675- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, Lon., Eng.: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962, 14—15. Wolfred Nelson Cote, Missionary in Rome, Baptism and Baptisteries, Philadelphia: The Bible & Publication Society, 1877. Wolfred Nelson Cote, The Archaeology of Baptism, Lon.: Yates & Alexander, 1876. Ariel L. Crowley, Statement of Beliefs of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints: Doctrines and Practices, Idaho City, Idaho: Deseret News Press, 1961, 46—87, chap.: BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD. Roger J. Adams, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptisms for the Dead, (unpub. manuscript 1977).

1676- Darell Thorpe, The Mystery Behind the Mysteries, Ritualistic Realm Pilgrims In early to later Christian Mysteries, (Paper for College Credit, HIS 190-01 Spec. Studies. Instructor: Marianne McKnight. Winter 1997, Salt Lake Community College, Winter Quarter, 1997).). Leo MacCauley and Anthony Stephenson, The Works of Saint Cyril of Jerusalem, Washington D.C.: Catholic Un. Press, 1964. The Library of Christian Classics, volume 2, Alexandrian Christianity, Selected Translations of Clement & Origen with Introductions and Notes by John Ernest Leonard Oulton, D.D., Regius Professor of Divinity in the University of Dublin; Chancellor of St. Patrick's and Henry Chadwick, B.D., Fellow & Dean of Queens' College, Cambridge. (Philadelphia: The Westminster Press). volume 4, Cyril of Jerusalem And Nemesius of Emesa, edited by William Telfer, (Philadelphia: Westminster Press, MCMLV). Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: F.A.R.M.S., & Deseret Book Co., Vol.4: Mormonism & Early Christianity, (1987). Nibley, Baptism for the Dead in Ancient Time, (SLC, Utah: Improvement Era, 51-52, (December 1948-April 1949). Nibley, What is a Temple, The Idea of a Temple in History, reprint by F.A.R.M.S., Nibley, (IDE-T). From: The Millennial Star 120 (August 1958). Nibley, The Early Christian Church in the Light of Some Newly Discovered Papyri from Egypt, (Provo, Utah: F.A.R.M.S. reprint, Nibley 1985. From a talk given by Dr. Nibley during a Tri-Stake Fireside, Brigham Young University, March 3, 1964). `Dr. Huge Nibley, collected works volume 16: The Message of the Joseph Smith Papyri, An Egyptian Endowment, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: F.A.R.M.S., & Deseret Book Co., 2005, 2nd ed.). John Lawrence Mosheim, D.D., An Ecclesiastical History, (London: Translated from the original Latin and notes by Archibald MacLaine, D.D., 1819), six volumes. John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, NY: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882. The Nicene and Post-Nicene Fathers, 2nd series, vol. 5, p. 518-24, Gregory of Nyssa, On The Baptism of Christ. See also: By Study & Also By Faith, vol.1, p. 620—23.

1677- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 14–90. Wolfred Nelson Cote, (Missionary in Rome), Baptism and Baptistries, (Philadelphia: The Bible and Publication Society, 1877). Wolfred Nelson Cote, The Archaeology of Baptism, (London: Yates & Alexander, 1876). Ariel L. Crowley, Statement of Beliefs of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints: Doctrines and Practices, (Idaho City, Idaho: Deseret News Press, 1961), 46–87, see the chapter on: BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD. Roger J. Adams, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptisms for the Dead, (unpublished manuscript 1977). Darell Thorpe, THE ARMOR OF GODS- PROTECTIVE SKINS OR GARMENTS IN HISTORY AND COLOR SYMBOLISM, (Salt Lake City, Utah: R.H. & P.S., Revised 9-1-2013). Ivory Carvings In Early Medieval England, by John Beckwith, 1972, Harvey Miller & Medcalf, p.84, fig. 152. "Deposition. English (Hereford), about 1150. London, Victoria and Albert Museum [Cat. 88]". Another scull is depicted here at the foot of the cross.) The Word or pre-existing Christ says to Adam, "...When thou wast under My control, all creatures yielded to thee; but after thou hast transgressed My commandment, they all rise over thee. Again said God unto him, "See, O Adam, how Satan has exalted thee! He has deprived thee of the Godhead, and of an exalted state like unto Me, and has not kept his word to thee; but, after all, it become thy foe...." (The Forgotten Books of Eden, p.26--30). Archaeological Discoveries, (Relative to the Judaeo-Christians), Historical Survey by Ignazio Mancini, O.F.M., Pub. of the Studium Biblicum Franciscanum, Collection minor #10, Jerusalem, 1970, p.165-170, & fig.39, on p.166, "Adam under Calvary in a medieval miniature of Valenciennes, with detail of Adam. (from LTS 1965, p. 278)". And: Christ Lore (Being the Legends Traditions Myths Symbols Customs & Superstitions of The Christian Church, by Fredk. WM. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Pub. in Lon. 1902, Elliot Stock, repub. by Gale Research Co. Book Tower, Detroit, 1969, p.117, "Washing in the Blood of Christ. From an old Florentine tract in defense of Savonarola." And: The Encyclopedia Of Visual Art, Biographical Dictionary of Artists, by Limburg Brothers - Francisco Ribalta, Pub. by Encyc. Britannica Intern., LTD., Lon., Vol.6, see "Attavante degli Attavanti: Crucifixion, a leaf from the missal illuminated for Thomas James, Bishop of Dol; 1483. Nouveau Musee des Beaux-Arts, Le Havre". See also: Francis Bond, Fonts and Font Covers, (London, New York, and Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford University Press, 1908). John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (New York: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1981). Lucifer, The Devil In the Middle Age, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1984).

1678- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962). Wolfred Nelson Cote, (Missionary in Rome), Baptism and Baptistries, (Philadelphia: The Bible and Publication Society, 1877). Wolfred Nelson Cote, The Archaeology of Baptism, (London: Yates & Alexander, 1876). Ariel L. Crowley, Statement of Beliefs of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints: Doctrines and Practices, (Idaho City, Idaho: Deseret News Press, 1961), 46–87, see the chapter on: BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD. Roger J. Adams, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptisms for the Dead, (unpublished manuscript 1977). Archaeological Discoveries, (Relative to the Judaeo-Christians), Historical Survey by Ignazio Mancini, O.F.M., Pub. of the Studium Biblicum Franciscanum, Collection minor #10, Jerusalem, 1970, p.165-170. Francis Bond, Fonts and Font Covers, (London, New York, and Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford University Press, 1908). John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (New York: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986). Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsachsischen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), three volumes. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen.

1679- "As a scapegoat, Jesus is naked, nailed to his cross, hanging up in the air in a type of no man's land, in the sight of those he loves but removed from the touch of those who love him. For the first and only time, the perfect communion of Father, Son and Holy Spirit breaks under the weight of the burden of sin-bearing. Perfect at-one-ment is broken by the cost of atonement." Also: "She [Mary] was hurt as she stood there and watched him painfully breathe out his last hours, naked, in public, on a cross." (Gareth Randall, The Bartholomew Gospel, p. 77 & 103). The whole point of Christ being stripped naked, to hang naked on the cross, this was an ancient form of shaming "criminals" being punished. Being naked, in early Christian mysteries & types, was also a type of not being clothed in righteousness, thus being protected from the fiery darts of the devil & demons. Or clothed properly & appropriately before God's all seeing eye, & his all knowing life reviews of every mortals good or evil works done in their own bodies. (Rev. 3:14–21, 19:8, 14; 2 Cor. 4:2, 10–16, 5:1–21, 6:1–14, Eph. 4:4-12, 18–32, 5:3–14, 26–27, 6:11–19, Rom. 13:12, Matt. 22:1–13, Psa. 132:9, Isa. 11:12, 61:1–3, 10. Ezk. 44:17, etc.). Adin Ballou, Primitive Christianity and Its Corruptions, Department of Personal Righteousness, A series of Discourses delivered in Hopedale, Mass., A.D. 1870–71, by Adin Ballou, edited by William S. Heywood, (Lowell, Mass.: Thompson & Hill, Printers. – The Vox Populi Press, 1899), vol. II, p. 392, chapter XXVII, The Prevailing Morality of Christendom in the Nineteenth Century, Rev. 3:17–19, was used to point out works of morality vs. immorality. As in these other scriptures mentioned above, with the garment types there in. Being naked with sin, they need to be clothed in white raiment, so that the shame of their nakedness, their ill-works, may be covered over with righteous works, or the robes of righteousness, thus, they needed to be washed clean, as in baptism, to become white as wool. (Isa. 1:16–19, 61:10). “By the time of St Cyril the ritual had become complex, and probably to a large extent stereotyped. The catechumen was first stripped naked. St Chrysostom says, “At baptism men are as naked as Adam in Paradise”; St Ambrose, that “Men came as naked to the font as they came into the world”; St Cyril of Jerusalem, “As soon as ye came into the inner part of the baptistery ye put off your clothes, which is an emblem of putting off the old man with his deeds, and, being thus divested, ye stood naked, imitating Christ that was naked upon the cross.” The documentary evidence is supported by that of the frescoes and mosaics (6, 8, 9, 10, 11).” Also: “As we know that the catechumens, at any rate in early days, stepped down into the piscina naked, this colonnade may have been retained with the practical object of hanging curtains round it; there is indeed some evidence that curtains were actually employed.” Francis Bond, Fonts & Font Covers, (London, New York, Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford University Press, 1908), 21–23. Canopies, veils, curtains were hung around the fonts to give the naked catechumens some privacy, & to reduce wandering eyes, & thoughts of those taking part in the mysteries, & prevent, as much as possible the males seeing the females, visa-versa. Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, (Washington Square, New York, New York: Pantheon Books, 1947), 121. The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, (Albany, USA: Sage Software, The Sage Digital Library Collections, Version 1.0, 1996), editor, Philip Schaff, 2nd series, vol. 7, p. 45, Catechetical Instructions of S. Cyril of Jerusalem, chap. 4: Ceremonies of Baptism and Chrism, 4).

1680- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 428–497.

1681- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, Lon, Eng.: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962, 22–23, note 1.

1682- Peter Clayton, Treasures of Ancient Rome, Gallery Books, Bison Books, 1986, 68, baptism immersion, North Africa, elaborate baptismal tanks, steps down into them, font has steps on both sides. Arte Paleocristiana, En Espana, por Pedro de Palol, Ediciones Poligrafa, S.A., p. 41, figs. 22-24, & p. 166, figs. 104-5.

1683- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (Lon., Eng.: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 19–21, see foot note 1 on p. 21: R. H. Conolly, The Liturgical Homilies of Narsai, 1909, p.51.

1684- Yves Bonnefoy Mythologies, Chicago & Lon. Un. of Chicago Press 1991, 2:653. Alfred Loisy, 1857- 1940 The Birth Of The Christian Religion, Un. Books 1962, 235-37. Encyclopedia Of Early Christianity, Everett Ferguson, ed., etc., (NY, Lon.: Garland, 1990), 411.

1685- Richard Temple, Icons, And the Mystical Origins of Christianity, p. 132, & 135.

1686- Library of Fathers, Oxford, Lon.: John Parker, MDCCCXXXIX, 2:260-66, Lects. 19-20, Cyril, Mysteries.

1687- John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (New York: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882), 388, the white baptismal garments, p. 389.

1688- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 18–26. Thomas Armitage, D.D., LL.D., A History Of The Baptists, (New York: Bryah, Taylor, & Chicago: Morningside, 1887). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Pater Cramer, Baptism and change in the early Middle Ages, c. 200-c. 1150, (Cambridge, England; New York, New York, USA: Cambridge University Press, 1993). Francis Bond, Fonts and Font Covers, (London, New York, and Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford University Press, 1908). Thomas Combe(? T.C.), Intro., F. A. Paley, M. A., Illustrations of Baptismal Fonts, (London: John Von Voorst, Paternoster Row, 1844). Wolfred Nelson Cote, Archaeology of Baptism, (London: Yates & Alexander, 1876).

1689- The Nicene & Post Nicene Fathers, vol. 7, S. Cyril of Jerusalem, Intro. Catechetical Instruction, xi-xxxx; Select Writings & Letters, of Athanasius, Bishop of Alexandria, by Archibald Robertson, 49-50, Incarnation of the Word, 25, the cross & how Christ's hands were spread out on the cross, this was a type of how Christ spread his hands out to draw in the ancient people & those from the Gentiles.

1690- N&PNF, 7, S. Cyril of Jerusalem, Intro. Catechetical Instruction, xi-xxxv; Select Writings & Letters, of Athanasius, Bishop of Alexandria, by Archibald Robertson, p. 49-50, Incarnation of the Word, 25, the cross and how Christ's hands were spread out on the cross, this was a type of how Christ spread his hands out to draw in the ancient people and those from the Gentiles. ANF, 2:215. Clement of Alexandria, The Instructor, book I, chap. v, hints to the hand clasp when he wrote how that Christ “has stretched forth to us those hands of His that are conspicuously worthy of trust.” And how that on p.231, in Book I, chapter 9, in the ritualistic afterlife passing over into paradise, the dangers of passing, though real, are not done without the help of Christ who is there with his angels to offer protection against the fallen angels who seek to cause the soul to slip and fall. Hence, after being anointed, and clothed in the robe of immortality: “They shall call Me,” He says, “and I will say, Here am I.” [Isa. lviii.9]. Thou didst hear sooner than I expected, Master. “And if they pass over, they shall not slip,” [Isa. xliii.2], saith the Lord. For we who are passing over to immortality shall not fall into corruption, for He shall sustain us.” The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 2, p. 231. In the art works, the way in which the faithful and righteous, who had endured to the end are supported and sustained, and drawn into heaven and paradise, is through different hand and wrist grasps. The art works also show the demons in the air attempting to get those who are “passing over” to fall. Caroline Walker Bynum, Jesus as Mother, Studies in the Spirituality of the High Middle Ages, Berkeley; LA, Lon: Un. of Calif. Press, 1982 & 1984, see art work before title p., & the credit to it on the next page after the title page. Ladder of Virtues, from Hortus Deliciarum, 12th c. Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, Princeton Un. Press, 1986; Mercury Books, Italy, History-Art-Landscape, (Florence: Mercury Books, Edizioni Mercurio, 1954-57, p. 200-1, 14th c., triumph of death, & the battle of the angels of God with the demons, over the ascending souls. Amedeo Storti, Venice, inside & out, (Italy: Edizioni Storti Venezia, 1979), 26, note the second art work in the arch over from the left going right. Outside art work on St. Mark's Basilica, the west or main façade: upper portion. Christ's descent into hell, grasping, with his right hand, as he lifts souls out of the hell. Pages 44, top portion, 2nd over from the left going right. Art works in St. Mark's Basilica, High Altar. The Pala d'Oro (Golden Altarpiece). Page 57, H. Bosch: Purgatory, showing angelic guide helping souls ascend through the tunnel to paradise.

1691- N&PNF, 4:49-50, § 25:3—6, Athanasius, De Incarnatione Verbi Dei (Incarnation of the Word).

1692- Library of Fathers, (Lon.: Oxford, John Henry Parker, MDCCCXXXIX), 2:260-269, Lectures On the Mysteries, XIX-XXI, S. Cyril of Jerusalem, Archbishop, 4th c. A.D. Library of Fathers, 2:267-9; Ephesians 6:10-19; The Westminster Dictionary of Christian Theology, Edited by Richardson and Bowden, p. 22, see Anointing, by J. Martos, “An anointing with oil which signified the reception of the Holy Spirit very early became part of the rite of baptism...” Powel Mills Dawley, Our Christian Heritage, Church History and the Episcopal Church, (New York: Morehouse-Barlow Co., 1959, 3rd ed., 1960), p. 49-50; Adam, 1977, Baptism For The Dead, p. 48; Willis Barnstone, The Other Bible, (San Francisco, California: Harper & Row, 1984), “The Gospel of Philip” [2nd half of the 3rd cent. A.D.], p.96; Joseph C. Muren, The Temple And Its Significance, (Ogden, Utah: Temple Publications, 1973, 3rd printing), pp. 208-9, & saying No. 95; Philip Schaff, D.D. LL.D., The Teaching of The Twelve Apostles Or, The

- Oldest Church Manual The Didache and Kindred Documents in the Original, (New York: Funk & Wagnalls, Pub., Astor Place, 1890), pp. 275-6; The Nicene And Post Nicene Fathers, (2nd Series, reprinted Aug. 1979), vol. 10, St. Ambrose, On the Mysteries, chaps 6-8, p. 321-3, vol. 5, p. 321, Gregory, Bishop of Nyssa, 4th cent., p. 269-71, Ephraim Syrus, in the 15 Hymns for the feast of the Epiphany, translated by Rev. A Edward Johnston, B.A., see Hymn III; & p. 518-25, Gregory of Nyssa; vol. 12, pp. 152-3, see note 6; New Catholic Encyclopedia, (Washington, D.C.: Catholic University of America, 1967), vol. 1, p.567-8. In earlier centuries the anointing ritual was often connected with baptism, which was a ritualistic type of death, burial and the resurrection. (Colossians 2:12; Romans 6:2-6; Basil, De Baptismo; Chrysostom, Hom. xxv, In Joannem; Hom. xl., In Epist. ad Rom.; Adam, Baptism For The Dead, pp. 9-10, & 48-9, etc.) Perhaps as time went by this type may have become part of the "Extreme Unction" which was given to a person who was sick, etc., and who was believed to be near death. Even though baptism had been the ritualistic type of death, burial and resurrection; the extreme unction was often given to those who were believed to be facing, not the ritualistic type of death, but the real thing. Consequently, the dying person would be anointed on the eyes, mouth, nose, ears, hands and feet. David Ayerst & A.S.T., Fisher, CR Basil Blackwell, Records of Christianity, NY: Harper & Row, & Barnes & Noble Books, 1977), vol. 2, Christendom, p. 225.
- 1693- Jeffrey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988, 122.
- 1694- Jeffrey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988, 76.
- 1695- Select Writings And Letters of Athanasius, Bishop of Alexandria, edited by Archibald Robertson, 50-52.
- 1696- N&PNF, Vol. 7, S. Cyril of Jerusalem, Intro. Catechetical Instruction, xi-xxxv; Select Writings And Letters, of Athanasius, Bishop of Alexandria, by Archibald Robertson, p. 49-50, Incarnation of the Word, 25. Library of Fathers Of The Holy Catholic Church, 2:264-5, The Catechetical Lectures of S. Cyril, Archbishop of Jerusalem, (A.D. 386), Lec. XX, On the Mysteries II, On the Rites of Baptism, verse 5, Pub. by Oxford, John Henry Parker; J. G. F. Rivington, London, MDCCCXXXIX.
- 1697- Art of the Early Middle Ages, Souchal, p.134-5, baptismal font, 1129, Stone. Former monastic church, Freckenhorst (Westphalia); L'Iconographie De L'evangile, Millet, p. 199, fig. 172, showing Christ's baptism, as he crushes the serpent under the fallen doors of limbo.
- 1698- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, Lon, Eng.: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962, 34-36, 77-82.
- 1699- Bernard J. Bamberger, Fallen Angels, Soldiers of Satan's Realm, (Philadelphia, Jewish Publication Society of America, 1952). Gustav Davidson, 1967, A Dictionary Of Angels, Including the Fallen Angels, (NY: Lon.: The Free Press, and Collier-Macmillan Limited). R. G. Hamerton-Kelly, (Professor of the New Testament McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago), Society for New Testament Studies Monograph Series 21, Pre-Existence, Wisdom And The Son of Man, A Study of the Idea of Pre-existence in the New Testament, (Cambridge University Press; Cambridge, Great Britain, 1973). Ernst & Johanna Lehner, Devils, Demons, Death & Damnation, (NY: Dover Pictorial Archive Series, Dover Publishing Inc., 1971). J. Charles Wall, Devils, (London, England: Methuen & Company, 1904; Detroit: Singing Tree Press, Book Tower, 1968, reissued). Ernst & Johanna Lehner, Devils, Demons, Death and Damnation, (NY: Dover Pictorial Archive Series, Dover Publishing Inc., 1971). Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1981). Russell, Lucifer, The Devil In The Middle Age, (Ithaca, London: Cornell Un. Press, 1984). Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell Un. Press, 1988). Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (Armonk, New York & London England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc. 1989). Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978). Louis Herbert, (Editor), The Mythology of All Races, (Boston: Marshall Jones Company, MDCCCXVIII), in 13 volumes, see vol. 3, Slavic, by Jan Máchal, Ph.D., p. 253-255. Charles Phillips, Michael Kerrigan, Consultant: Dr. Elizabeth Warner, Myths and Mankind, (series), volume entitled: Slavic Myths and Mankind, Forests of Vampire, (Amsterdam: Time-Life Books, BV, 1999, Text Duncan Baird Publishers, 1999), section entitled: Spirit Masters and Little Demons, by Michael Kerrigan, see Siren of the Stream on p. 66-68. J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 77-88.
- 1700- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 89.
- 1701- Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1986. Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, & Drama, (Ithaca & Lon. Cornell Un. Press, 1985).
- 1702- Francis Bond, Fonts & Font Covers, (Lon., NY, & Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford Un. Press, 1908). J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (Lon., Eng.: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 77-81. Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca & Lon.: Cornell Un. Press, 1985). Thomas Combe(? T.C.), Intro., F. A. Paley, M. A., Illustrations of Baptismal Fonts, (Lon.: John Von Voorst, Paternoster Row, 1844). Wolfred Nelson Cote, Archaeology of Baptism, (Lon.: Yates & Alexander, 1876).
- 1703- J.G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 77-81.
- 1704- <http://devotionsandprayers.blogspot.com/2009/04/great-and-holy-saturday-great-sabbath.html> Article: Devotion & Prayers, Devotion, Prayers, Novenas Lives of Saints & Their Writings From the Roman & Byzantine Traditions of the Catholic Church. Fri. April 2009, Great & Holy Saturday, The Great Sabbath of the Lord.
- 1705- Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (New York, San Diego, U.S.A.; London, England: Harcourt Brace & Company). Ernst and Johanna Lehner, Devils, Demons, Death and Damnation, (New York: Dover Pictorial Archive Series, Dover Publishing Inc., 1971). Martha Himmelfarb, Tours Of Hell, An Apocalyptic Form in Jewish and Christian Literature, (Philadelphia: University of Pennsylvania Press, 1983). Carol Zaleski, Otherworld Journeys, Accounts of Near-Death Experiences In Medieval and Modern Times, (New York and Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987). Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsachsischen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), three volumes. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen.
- 1706- In Defense of Faith, by Paul Hedengren, 1985. FARMS. 1985, Why Might A Person In 1830 Connect An Angel With A Salamander? STF-85b, FARMS, Staff. Provo Ut. The Oxford Eng. Dict. 1933, Vol.9, p.47. Radio show: Our of the Best Books, 8-20-1988, Salamander Soap Opera Saga Mark Hofmann Forgeries, Murders & Symbols, Darell Thorpe, Host on KZZI, 1510 AM Radio, West Jordan, Utah 1987-88. The Oxford English Dictionary, 1933, page 47: Salamander - 2- C., "Woman who (ostensibly) lives chastely in the midst of temptations." "1771 ... the real and avowed virtue of those lovely salamanders." J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (Lon. Eng.: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962). <http://darellthorpeobb1987-88.blogspot.com/> "Also used 18c. for "a woman who lives chastely in the midst of temptations" (after Addison), and "a soldier who exposes himself to fire in battle." <http://www.dictionary.com/browse/salamander> <http://www.etymonline.com/index.php?l=s&p=2>
- 1707- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Salamanders_in_folklore_and_legend

1708- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 70–71, 217, see foot note * also p. 218–219, tale given by MM. Grimm, from the Brixener Volksbuch. 1782.

1709- Numerous examples are seen in early to later Christian art works of naked souls burning in hell fire, & being rescued out by hand & wrist grasping, as angels, prophets, Christ, & different saints descend down to rescue them out of the flames. Those who descend are often clothed in white, or animal skins, as in the case with John the Baptist. Thus, protective garment lore in connection with different modes of baptism & baptism for the dead lore & seen in these different examples, especially the ones that show masses & liturgical rites for the dead taking place off to the side. See: Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (New York, San Diego, U.S.A.; London, England: Harcourt Brace & Company). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsächsischen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), three volumes. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, München. Martha Himmelfarb, Tours Of Hell, An Apocalyptic Form in Jewish and Christian Literature, (Philadelphia: University of Pennsylvania Press, 1983). On the internet see: Estruplund. c.1542. (M-K 07-102) Harrowing of Hell. And: Hans Memling - Memling 1430–94 German-born Early Netherlandish painter: Last Judgment, souls on right hand of Christ, greeted by St. Peter by hand shakes, clothed in garments before entering door to paradise! Christ in Limbo, 1440s Friedrich Pacher - Szépművészeti Múzeum - Budapest. In many cases, souls in limbo, hell, hades, purgatory, etc., are depicted naked, without protective garments, or robes. John the Baptist preaching the gospel in Hades, is later joined by Christ, who also preaches & resurrects the dead. Church of the Holy Apostles, 13th century Fresco, Pec, Serbia, these souls are clothed, as is Christ, & John the Baptist. Thus, in some cases, the righteous in Hades have clothing on, as though they have protective garments on, when John the Baptist descends to prophecy Christ's descent & resurrection. Does he also tell them about baptism for the dead? Russian icon of John the Baptist foretelling the descent of Christ to the righteous in Hades (17th century, Solovetsky Monastery), the righteous are clothed. In another: John the Baptist, Forerunner for Christ, preaching the gospel in Hades, he is clothed in animal skins, the righteous are clothed, while some of the others seem naked, deeper down into the jaws of hell. "Over St. John's camel-skin clothing is invariably a green robe, which symbolizes "earthliness", and in this case it is because John grew up outside, in the wilderness. Later saints who also took up the Christian struggle in the wilderness can also be depicted in green for the same reason, and are sometimes known as "Green Martyrs". That is to say they are martyrs (literally meaning witness) to the Faith, not by the shedding of blood, but by their ascetic struggle. Of course, St John is a both a green martyr and a martyr who shed his blood, hence the presence of the green robe and the cross." See also the link that may or may not still be working: <https://iconreader.wordpress.com/2010/08/29/icons-of-john-the-baptist-john-the-forerunner/> Descent into Hell, late 15th Century, Rostov Province. The Icon shows Hades personified and bound as Jesus raises Adam and Eve bodily from the grave. To the right of Christ stand the Forerunner and Prophet John the Baptist, Righteous Abel, King Solomon, and King David. Acts 2:25–31, Isaiah 24:22,42:6–7, John 5:25, Psalms 16:10, 24:3–10, 55:13–23. <https://iconreader.wordpress.com/2011/10/08/hades-is-bound-the-prophets-rejoice/> See also: A Reader's Guide to Orthodox Icons: Hymns, sung on August 29th proclaim: "The glorious beheading of the Forerunner, became an act of divine dispensation, for he preached to those in hell the coming of the Savior..." Origen, in Lucam Homiliae (Homily on Luke), 4, in PG = [J. P. Migne, Patrologiae Cursus Completus; Series Latina, 221 volumes; (Paris: 1844–1864)], 12:1811, & Origen, Commentaria in Evangelium Joannis (Commentary on John), 2, 30, in PG 14:181. Hippolytus, On Christ & the Antichrist, 5, 45, in PG = [J. P. Migne, Patrologiae Cursus Completus; Series Latina, 221 volumes; (Paris: 1844–1864)], 10:764). Hjembæk 1475 Harrowing of Hell Sect 2 south arch. Naked souls, first Adam, are raised up out of the jaws of hell by different types of hand & wrist grasping. Descent into hell - Raffaello original - 1514, Raffaello Sanzio AD 1483–1520. Descent into hell - f.20r of MS K.26 one of sequence of 46 biblical illustrations cent. 1270–80, inserted at front of 14th c Psalter. Naked souls raised by hand grips out of the jaws of hell, thus being resurrected. Descent into Limbo, Évrard d'Espinques illumination manuscript, Middle Ages. Christ reaches out his hand to clasp the hand of Adam, the first naked soul to be resurrected out of the jaws of limbo. 14th century, Christ's descent into purgatory. Christ grips the hand of a naked Adam, the first in many to be resurrected out of purgatory. Art redrawn by Debra Wirth, for an original see: Claude Schaeffner, Artistic Consultant: Jean-Clarence Lambert & others, Gothic Painting, (England: Ed. S.A. Geneva 1968), vol. I, p. 48), 14th century, the Master of Westphalia, Christ in Purgatory. Harrowing of hell Caparrosio altarpiece of Caparrosio 1507 St Mary's Cathedral Pamplona Spain, Christ grasps the wrist of a naked Adam, the first naked soul to be lifted out of hell, along with other naked souls being rescued. There are cases where souls liberated are clothed, see Descent of Christ to Limbo 1365–68 Andrea da Firenze - Cappella Spagnuolo, Santa Maria Novella, Florence. Master of the Narbonne Parament - Entombment, descent into Hell, and Noli me tangere c 1375 Musée du Louvre - Paris. Harrowing of hell, Christ, Adam being lifted by his wrist is naked. In Les Très Riches Heures du duc de Berry, showing Purgatory, naked souls are being lifted out of the fires by their wrist, as clothed angels rescue them. It was created between c. 1412 and 1416 for the extravagant royal bibliophile & patron John, Duke of Berry, by the Limbourg brothers https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Tr%C3%AAs_Riches_Heures_du_Duc_de_Berry https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:Folio_113v_-_Purgatory.jpg <http://drivetimearchivespromosources.blogspot.com/> The Harrowing of Hell, depicted in the Petites Heures de Jean de Berry, 14th-century illuminated manuscript commissioned by John, Duke of Berry, naked souls rescue by Christ, grasping wrist, other scenes of souls roasting in the fires of hell. Link that may or may not be working: http://www.wikiwand.com/en/Harrowing_of_Hell St Melito of Sardis (died c. 180) Homily on the Passion; Tertullian, A Treatise on the Soul, 55, Hippolytus, Treatise on Christ & Anti-Christ, Origen Against Celsus, 2:43, & later, St Ambrose (died 397) all wrote of the Harrowing of Hell. The early heretic Marcion and his followers also discussed the Harrowing of Hell, as mentioned by Tertullian, Irenaeus, & Epiphanius. A medieval Harrowing of Hell, with Hellmouth, engraving by Michael Burghers (1647/8–1727), naked souls rescued, right to right hand clasp. Christ's Descent into Limbo, woodcut by Albrecht Dürer, c. 1510, naked souls lifted up by hand clasp with Christ doing the lifting. Christ leads the patriarchs from Hell to Paradise, by Bartolomeo Bertejo, Spanish, ca 1480: Methuselah, Solomon & the Queen of Sheba, & Adam and Eve lead the procession of the righteous behind Christ. The Catechism of the Catholic Church states: "By the expression 'He descended into Hell', the Apostles' Creed confesses that Jesus did really die and through his death for us conquered death and the devil 'who has the power of death' (Heb.2:14, Catechism of the Catholic Church, p. 636–7). "No longer will the dominion of death be able to keep men captive For Christ descended, demolishing and destroying the powers thereof. Hades is bound; the Prophets rejoice with one voice, saying: A Saviour has come for them that have faith. Come forth, ye faithful, for the Resurrection." Kontakion of the Resurrection, Tone 7.

1710- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Mithril#The_mithril-coat J. R. R. Tolkien, The Tolkien Reader, (New York: Ballantine Books, 1966), see the section on Farmer Giles of Ham, 1949, by George Allen & Unwin Ltd, etc. Garm the dog, in the story, helps Farmer Giles with dealing with a Giant & later a dragon, then a greedy King. Protective garment lore plays a part in the story, for the Blacksmith helps clean a rusty iron-mail shirt, or mail-iron shirt, repairs it for Giles, to help protect him from the dragon he goes out to encounter. In old Norse lore, the dog Garm, (Norse for "old rag"), is often identified with the "hound of Hel." Or Hell-dog. <http://norse-mythology.org/garm/> In baptismal settings, & in descent into hell themes, Christ grasps the hands & wrists of those liberated from the jaws of hell that is sometimes in the shape of the jaws of a dog. (Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (New York, San Diego, U.S.A.; London, England: Harcourt Brace & Company). Descent into hell - f.20r of MS K.26 one of sequence of 46 biblical illustrations cent. 1270-80, inserted at front of 14th c Psalter, the jaws of hell look like those of a dog. See also: Descent into Limbo, Évrard d'Espinoes illumination manuscript, Middle Ages. See also: 12th cent., Abbey Church of St. Foy Peter at door to paradise, clasping souls on the right hand of Christ's judgment, while on Christ's left hand, souls are being thrust down into the dog shaped jaws of hell. Also: St. Albans Psalter (Albani Psalter). As one can see here Christ saves all souls – "out of helle menes souls" to quote The Vision of Piers Plowman (Passus XVIII, l. 373). The Psalter was created possibly between 1123 and 1135 at St. Albans Abbey near London. Jaw in the shape of a dog's. In old lore & blues music lore, hell hounds are often mentioned as tracking down those who have made pacts with the devil to be able to play good music & have their earthly desires fulfilled. Also: Blues singers, like Robert Johnson, a guitarist's song about the cross roads later inspired Eric Patrick Clapton's version of it in his Crossroads. See the music CD, Eric Clapton, The Cream of Clapton, (PolyGram International Music B.V., 1995, A&M Records, Inc.), song #4: Crossroads (Cream). Robert Johnson, King of Spades Music (BMI). Produced by Felix Pappalardi from the album Wheels of Fire, released August 1968. Robert Johnson also sings about being on the move because there are "hell hounds on my trail." In early Christian art works, the jaws of hell are often depicted like unto the jaws of a dog. See: David Diringer D., The Illuminated Book, Its History and Production, (London: Faber & Faber, MCMLVIII), VII-31, b. Uterrecht Horae W. 188, fol.122 r: Christ in the Limbo, with the jaws of hell resembling the jaws of a dog. See also: Jonathan Alexander & Paul Binski, Age of Chivalry, Art in Plantagenet England 1200--1400, (London: Royal Academy of Arts with Weidenfeld & Nicolson, 1987), fig. 255, p. 306. The first part of a six part picture page. Christ rescues souls out of the jaws of hell which are shaped like the jaws of a dog. 14th century A.D. <http://drivetimearchive.com/promosources.blogspot.com/> scroll down to art works. Robert Johnson lore, on the Internet, YouTube: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ku4zOtYd-Is> Hell hounds on my trail: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=3UVgH9JqSnQ> Cross roads: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Yd60n14sa9A> Movie about the hell hounds on my trail lore, & pacts with the devil: Crossroads (1986) with Joe Seneca, Jami Gertz, Ralph Macchio, https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Crossroads_\(1986_film\)), 3rd century Christian Gnostics' Pistis Sophia, mentions outer darkness, different many regions of punishment, how the ruler of the third dungeon, "its authentic face is a dog's: it is called, in its region, Acharôch." In a German Woodcut of the age of Reformation, probably 15th century, the jaws of hell look like the shape & features of that of a dog, while in the 12th dungeon, has a 7-headed dog. (See: Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 183–186).

1711- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), see p. 62–63, 70–71, 78–81, 94, 109, 122–123, 130–139, 147–150, 156–162, 217–219, 245–246, 259–260, 276, foot note * p. 313–319, 357–363, 385–386, 402–404, 407, 435, & 464. In lore, trolls are sometimes mixed in with dwarfs, as being good natured at times, but also mischievous under-ground folk, often included with the other evil fallen angel-races. Trolls or Dwarfs were believed to dwell in the underworld where they fell down into, thus, cave-trolls. Dwarfs, or under-hill folk, coming from under the ground, were often depicted in lore as miners for gold & precious stones. It also seems that a lot of fragments of baptismal types, baptism for the dead themes & protective garment lore, plus white & black garments & cloth, symbolism, white for good, black for evil, are also in these later Christian legends about trolls, dwarfs, elves, etc., Also: <http://www.sacred-texts.com/neu/ceft/tfm/tfm026.htm> : "... Old people in Zealand say, that when the Trolls were in the country, they used to go from their hill to the village of Gudmandstrup through the Stone-meadow, and that people, when passing that way, used to meet great tall men in long black clothes." Note the black clothing symbolism.

1712- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 407.

1713- http://www.cslewisinstitute.org/CS_Lewis_and_JRR_Tolkien_page1 From the Winter 2009 issue of Knowing & Doing: C.S. Lewis and J.R.R. Tolkien by Earl F. Palmer, M.Div., D.D., Litt. D. Preaching Pastor in Residence, The National Presbyterian Church, Washington, D.C. See also: J.R.R. Tolkien, The Influence of Christianity, and Symbolism in The Lord of the Rings, Michelle Morris, Department of Religious Studies, Rhodes College, Memphis, Tennessee, 2012, Thesis for Bachelor of Arts degree. Links may, but may not still be working by the time of this reading. https://dlynx.rhodes.edu/jspui/bitstream/10267/13674/1/Morris_Michelle_Honors_2012.pdf See also: J. R. R. Tolkien A Catholic In A Hobbit Hole, by Aquinas College, Published February 12, 2013. <https://archive.org/details/JRR-Tolkien-a-Catholic-in-a-Hobbit-Hole> Also: HubPages, The Lord of the Rings and Christian Symbolism, Jarrod 1240. <http://jarrod1240.hubpages.com/hub/The-Lord-of-the-Rings-and-Christian-Symbolism>. David Colbert, The Magical Worlds of The Lord of the Rings, The Amazing Myths, Legends, and Facts Behind The Masterpiece, (New York: Berkley Books, 2002), 21-24, 51-56, 127-136). J. R. R. Tolkien, The Hobbit, (London: G. Allen & Unwin, Ltd., 1937), The Lord of the Rings, 1954-55. J. R. R. Tolkien, The Fellowship of the Ring, first book in the fantasy trilogy, The Lord of the Rings, (NY: Ballantine Books, 1965, numerous printings, 1965, to paper back edition, 1973), chapter four, A Journey Into The Dark, p. 385-416, chapter 5, The Bridge of Khazad-dum, p. 417-431. In the second book, The Two Towers, Gandalf returns, as if returning from the underworld of the dead, and turns from Gandalf the Grey to Gandalf the White. Even is clothing is changed in colors as he progresses in powers & might. This might remind us of the deification process that is ritually acted out and dramatized in historic Christian rituals, baptism, liturgical rites, masses and the earlier Christian mysteries. Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985); Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (NY, San Diego, U.S.A.; Lon., Eng.: Harcourt Brace & Co.).

1714- http://www.historyfish.net/abbeyes/abbeyparts/cox_fonts.html History Fish.net, article: Baptismal fonts in the Medieval Church. See: English Church Furniture by J. Charles Cox and Alfred Harvey, Published by Methuen & Co., 36 Essex Street, W.C. London, 1907, p. 187, 196–197. Salamanders on fonts. <https://archive.org/stream/englishchurchfur00coxjiala/page/196/mode/2up>

1715- E. Baldwin Smith, The Dome, A Study in the History of Ideas, New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1950, 1978), 4, 13-25, 36-37, 65-94, etc., especially p. 56, see also notes 43-47, especially note 47: R. Krautheimer, "Introduction to an 'Iconography of Mediaeval Architecture,'" Journal of the Warburg and Courtauld Institutes, v. 1942, 27—33. St Paul, S. Basil, S. Augustine, Hilarius of Poitiers, the Pseudo-Augustine, Leo Magnus, and Anselm of Canterbury were among some of the Church Fathers who likened baptism unto a reexperience of Christ's death and resurrection. See also: Roger Adam's 1977 Doctrinal Thesis, Baptism for the Dead.

1716- Clara E. Clement, Katherine E. Conway, A Handbook of Christian Symbols & Stories Of The Saints As Illustrated In Art, Boston & NY: Houghton Mifflin Co.; The Riverside Press Cambridge, 1871, 1881, 1886, 108.

1717- Peter Lasko; ed: Nikolaus Pevsner & Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (Harmondsworth, Middlesex; Baltimore, Md; Ringwood, Victoria, Australia: The Pelican History of Art, Penguin Books, 1972), vol. 36, Ars Sacra: 800—1200, p. xvii, pl.169. Rainer of Huy: Baptism of Christ, font rests on the back of 12 oxen. Latin text on brass font. Font from Notre-Dame-aux-Fonts, A.D. 1107—1118. Liège. Saint-Barthélémy. J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, Lon., Eng.: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962, in between p.64—68, plate 22.

1718- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (Lon., England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 82—83.

1719- Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, NY, San Diego, U.S.A.; Lon., Eng.: Harcourt Brace & Co.. Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, & Drama, (Ithaca & London: Cornell Un. Press, 1985). Jeanne Villette, La Resurrection Du Christ, Dans L'Art Chretien Du Iie Au Vile Siecle, Paris, France: Henri Laurens, Editeur, 1957. Jeffrey Burton Russell, Lucifer, The Devil In the Middle Age, Ithaca, Lon.: Cornell University Press, 1984, 145—46, 150. The Winchester Psalter, by Francis Wormald. Pub. by N.Y. Graphic Soc. LTD, Harvey Miller & Medcal 1973, fig. 27, The Harrowing of Hell, Folio 24). The Illuminated Book, by David Diringer D. LITT., Pub., in MCMLVIII, by Faber & Faber Limited, R. Q., Lon., see 3, 14 b, S. Swithin Psalter, Christ in limbo, uses a lance to defeat a bound demon. Horst de la Croix, and Richard G. Tansey, Gardner's Art Through The Ages, Eighth Edition, II Renaissance and Modern Art, (Dan Diego; New York; Chicago; Atlanta; Washington, D.C.; London; Sydney; Toronto: Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, Publishers, 1954, 1964, 1979, 1986, etc.), p. 573, fig. 16-36, Piero Della Francesca, Resurrection, c. 1463. Fresco. Palazzo Comunale, Borgo San Sepolcro, Italy.

1720- Geschichte der Christlichen Kunst, von Franz Xaver Kraus, Freiburg im Breisgau. Herder'sche Verlagshandlung, 1897, p.215, fig. 157, showing a font on the back of 12 oxen, baptism, and angels holding garments. See also p.233, fig. 174, showing the hand clasp during, "Descensus ad inferos". And pp.350-1, fig. 242, "Christus im Limbus. Fresco in S. Maria Novella zu Florenz." See also: Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments of Romanesque Art, (Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 2nd ed., 1967), pl. 218, fig. 515. The Molten Sea carried by 12 Oxen, see also fig. 516 which shows Moses crossing the Red Sea. The Klosterneuburg Altar. Nicholas Overdun, 1181; see also fig. 253. "The Font carried by Oxen, symbolizing the Molten Sea", and plate 113, fig. 258; George Zarnecki, Art of the Medieval World, (New York: Harry N. Abrams, 1975), font dated 1107-1118 A.D., Baptismal font of Renier de Huy, Church of Saint Barthelemy Liege; Iconography of Christian Art, vol. I, Schiller, fig. 373, font resting on the back of 12 oxen, "Enamel, completed 1181. Klosterneuburg Altar. - Passage through the Red Sea- Baptism- The Brazen Sea."; Harold Osborne, Editor, The Oxford Companion To Art, (Oxford, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1970), p. 427, fig. 135. Bronze font (c. 1107) by Rainer of Huy in the church of S. Barthelemy, Liege. With oxen carrying baptismal font on the analogy of the Molten Sea in the Temple of Jerusalem (1 Kings vii. 23-6). "The twelve oxen symbolize the twelve Apostles". See also, p. 1169, fig. 382; Roger Adam, Baptism For The Dead, 1977, p. 115, fig. 74; The Encyclopedia Of Visual Art, (London: Encyclopaedia Britannica International, LTD), vol. 4, p. 583; 1 Corinthians 10:1-4; Jeremiah 52:20; 1 Kings 7:23-4; Exodus 14:21-31. Tertullian and Augustine saw a type of baptism in how the Israelites crossed through the Red Sea, while the Egyptians were drowned. The drowning Egyptians in the story were a type of how the devil was said to have been drowned in baptism. (Lundy, Monumental Christianity, 380—381).

1721- Roger J. Adams, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptisms for the Dead, (unpublished manuscript 1977). Huge W. Nibley, Baptism for the Dead in Ancient Time, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Improvement Era, 51—52, (December 1948—April 1949). Francis Bond, Fonts and Font Covers, (London, New York, and Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford University Press, 1908). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985).

1722- Charles T. Wood, The Age of Chivalry, Manners and Morals 1000--1440, (New York: University Books, CR 1970 in London, England by George Weidenfeld & Nicolson LTD). See also: Ayerst, Fisher, Blackwell, 1977, Records of Christianity, vol. II, pp. 130-1; Ottfried Neubecker, etc., Heraldry, Sources, symbols & Meaning, (New York: McGraw-Hill Book Co., 1976; St. L. San. Fran. Montreal, etc.), p. 69; Wormald, The Winchester Psalter, fig. 27; Kartsonis, The Anastasis, fig. 19; Batterberry, Art of the Middle Ages, p. 76, fig. VII-14; Diringer, The Illuminated Book, 3, 14b; Russell, Lucifer, The Devil in the Middle Ages, p. 150.

1723- Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1986. Chandler Rathfon Post, A History of Spanish Painting, (Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard Un. Press, 1930-1958). (NY: Kraus reprint Co., 1970's), numerous volumes contain numerous art works on Christ's descent. Darell Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined (SLC, Utah: Religious, Historical & Polemical Studies, 1995, on line rough draft at Amazon). Francis Bond, Fonts & Font Covers, Lon., NY & Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford Un. Press, 1908. Geoffrey R. King, The Forty Days, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: W.M. B. Eerdmans, 1949). Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments Of Romanesque Art, The Art of Church Treasures in North-Western Europe, (Un. of Chicago Press, 1954 and 2nd, Edition, 1967). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Huge W. Nibley, Baptism for the Dead in Ancient Time, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Improvement Era, 51—52, (December 1948—April 1949). Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1981). John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (New York: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882). Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, (Washington Square, New York, New York: Pantheon Books, 1947). William Barclay, The Apostles' Creed For Everyman, (New York and Evanston: Harper and Row, 1967). Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsachsen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), three volumes. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen.

1724- John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, 269.

1725- Isa. 49:8-9, 51:14, 61:1, 9-10, Eph. 4:7-10, Ezk. 26:20, 31:14-18, 32:18, 23-32, Luke 11:14-22, John 5:25-29, 11:25-6, Acts 2:23-36, 13:33-37, Psa. 16:10, 68:18, Acts 24:15, Rom. 6:4-11, 10:6-7, 14:7-9, Col. 1:18, 2:12, 1 Cor. 10:1-5, 15:12-31, Heb. 10:13, Psa. 110:1, etc. 1 Pet. 3:15-22; 2 Cor. 4:10-14, 5:1-4; Col.2:12-14, 20, Rom. 6:1-11; Isa. 14:9-19, 42:6-7; 51:14; Ezra 9:5-8, 1 Cor. 15:16-28. ANF 1: p.12, 33, 62, 70, 144-6, 154, 183, 190-1, 234-5, 330, 352, 388, 421, 446, 448-51, 455-7, 471, 488-9, 493-5, 499-500, 506, 510, 532, 543-4, 549-50, 560, 572-3, 576, op. cit. And: ANF 2: p. 37, 49-50, 203, 357, 415, 461-2, 490-2, etc. Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, p.118-

122. The Book of Art, vol. 1, p. 68. The Lost Books of the Bible, p. 86-8; Lowrie, Art in the Early Church, pl.100; Gothic Painting I, p.48; Christ's Image, p.129. Francis Wormald, 1973, The Winchester Psalter, fig. 27. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, p.63; Dalton, Byzantine Art & Arch. p.663, fig.420; The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, vol.4, p.454, 467, 572; J.A. Herbert, Illuminated Manuscripts, p.166-7, pl.20; Marcell Restle, 1967, Byzantine Wall Painting In Asia Minor, (Plates II), pl. 95; Doane, Bible Myths, pp. 211-14; Russell, Lucifer, the Devil in the Middle Ages, p.145-6, & 150, etc. Every, 1970, Christian Mythology, p. 65-66; Hanna Swarzenski, Vorgotische Miniaturen Die Ersten Jahrhunderte Deutscher Malerei, p.85. The Bible In Art; Batterberry, Art of the Early Renaissance, pl.130, p.120-1; Weitzmann, The Icon; Ferguson, Signs & Symbols in Christian Art, 42; Batterberry, Art of the Middle Ages, p.76, fig.VII-14; Sheldon Cheney, A World History of Art, p.467; Barclay, The Apostles Creed, p.119-133; Anthony, Romanesque Frescoes, 40; Lundy, Monumental Christianity, p. 73-74; Loisy, p. 204, 270-1; Robert M. Grant, 1960, The Secret Sayings of Jesus, p. 41 & 43; Nibley, Mormonism & Early Christianity, p. 115-121; N&PNF, vol. 10, p.191, etc. Satan attempts to gain victory over Christ during a war in the under world, however, Christ is to one who wins the battle and gains a victory over death, hell & the devil. "Jesus rose from the dead... and by his resurrection death had been overcome and the access to paradise lost through Adam's sin regained." Paxton, Christianizing Death, p.24, note 21, McWilliam Dewart, Death & Resurrection, p. 25-35.

1726- Library of Fathers Of The Holy Catholic Church, (Oxford: John Henry Parker; J. G. F. Rivington; London: MDCCCXXXIX), vol. 2, pp. 264-5, The Catechetical Lectures of S. Cyril, Archbishop of Jerusalem, (A.D. 386), Lec. XX, On the Mysteries II, On the Rites of Baptism, verse 5.

1727- Roger J. Adam, Baptism for the Dead, (Salt Lake City, Utah: The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, Historical Library, Archives: Call slip # Res; M234. 62, R216), Doctrinal Thesis, 1977), p. 20—21, Fig. 1. Hand clasp of baptism, third century wall painting, Rome, Crypt of Lucina.

1728- John Beckwith, Ivory Carvings In Early Medieval England, (New York: New York Graphic Society LTD, Harvey Miller & Medcalf, 1972), Fig.20. This art work is said to be an Anglo-Saxon work dated back to the 8th century A.D. And can be seen in the London, Victoria & Albert Museum [Cat.5]. See also: Les Ivories Gothiques, pl. LVI, No. 220. Berlin. coll. du Prof. Weisbach; pl. CXLVI, No. 823 bislyon, coll Baboin; pl. CLIV, No. 858, London, Victoria and Albert Museum; pl. CLXVII, No. 955; pl. CLXVIII, No. 955; Ikonen, by Konrad Onasch, 1961, Guterslocher Verlashaus Gerd Mohn, #73 & 39; Art and Archaeology, The Arts Throughout the Ages, vol. XXVII, p.82, Feb. 1929, Number 2, Neopalimaya Kupina, The Unconsuming One, shows, among other scenes, the descent, in which Christ, with his right hand grasps the right hand of a person being raised up. See also: Early Christian And Byzantine Art, #713, 705, 612, lxxx, pp. 122-139, showing the descent of Christ, or the harrowing, with different types of clasps, some on the wrist, others on the hand. See also: Robert Huges, 1968, Heaven and Hell in Western Art, pp. 180-191; See also: La Resurrection Du Christ, Dans L'Art Chretien Du Ile Au Vile Siecle, Villette, plates XLIV-XLVIII; See also: Edgar Waterman Anthony, Romanesque Frescoes, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1951), intro. p. 47, & p. 190, fig. 470, Chaldon, SS. Peter and Paul. W. Wall. Ladder of Salvation, showing souls ascending a ladder, etc., plus the descent of Christ into hell in which the souls coming forth clasps Christ's right hand. See also fig. 132, S. Angelo in Formis, Church. N. Wall of Nave. New Testament Scenes, depicting Christ's descent, in which he is in the act of lifting a person up by grasping, with his right hand, the person's right hand wrist. See also figs. 49 & 51. Rome, S. Clemente, Lower Church, Nave. Descent into hell, etc. Christ clasp the right wrist of a person with his right hand. See also fig. 40. London, British Museum. Ms. Cott. Tib. c. VI (Psalter), fol. 14 ro. Harrowing of Hell, showing satan bound as souls come forth from the jaws of hell to be blessed and grasped by the hand by a giant Christ. See also: O'Reilly, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, pp. 356-7, where it mentions depictions of Christ from the iconography of the Anastasis "where He grasps Adam and Eve to deliver them from Hell". Another depictions shows Christ grasping "the soul who has struggled up the rungs [of a ladder] just as He seizes Adam and Eve to deliver them from the jaws of Hell in scenes of the Anastasis." Gustav Davidson, 1967, A Dictionary Of Angels, Including the Fallen Angels, NY: The Free Press; London: Collier-Macmillan Lim., 1967, p.25; Propylaen Kunstgeschichte In Achtzehn Banden, Band 3, Byzanz Und Der Christliche Osten, Von Wolfgang Fritz Volbach Und Jacqueline Lafontaine-Dosogne, 1968, Propylaen Verlag Berlin, fig. 15, X, & 47; Legenda Aurea: Sept Siecles De Diffusion, Editions Bellarmin, Montreal 1986, etc., p. 236, showing the soul exiting the body at the moment of death. The soul reaches out to clasp the hand of one of the angelic guides. Another sources shows a right hand shake between an angel and a person about to ascend. See: McDannell & Lang, Heaven: A History, p. 187, pl. 34, J. Flaxman, 1784 A.D. Lundy mentions an early resurrection monument of Christ "ascending a hill with a roll in one hand, while the other is grasped by the hand of the Eternal Father, as it is seen reaching down out of heaven. It is an ivory carving, and said to belong to the fifth or sixth century. It is at Munich." (Lundy, Monumental Christianity, p. 268, see Mrs. Eastlake in Mrs. Jameson's "History of our Lord," Vol. II. p. 263. 2nd Ed. Lond. 1865). See also: Text, W.F. Volbach, Photos, Max Hirmer, Early Christian Art, (New York: Harry A. Abrams), fig. 93, Munich, Bavarian National Museum, dated in this source "c. 400". In a 10th century work of Christ's ascension into heaven, the right hand of the Father extends out of heaven to clasp Christ's right hand (New International Illustrated Encyclopedia Of Art, vol. 15, pp. 3054-55). A similar clasp is seen in: Walter Cahn, Romanesque Bible Illumination, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1982), pp. 210-11, fig. 171. See also: Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments of Romanesque Art, (2nd ed.), 1967), pl. 66, fig. 151, 10th century ascension, showing an angel clasping the hand of Christ, while the Father clasps Christ's wrist. In a 11th century depiction of the parable about Lazarus, angels come to Lazarus' soul, one clasps his hands while the other angel lifts him up, while the rich man is taken hold of by dark demons who have come to take his soul away. (Jeffery Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good In History, Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988, p.134, Manuscript illumination from the Pericope Book of Henry II, Germany).

1729- Lilian M. C. Randall, Images In the Margins of Gothic Manuscripts, (Berkeley & Los Angeles, Calif.: Un. of California Press, 1966), plate XXXIX, figure 188. Fool: Burney 345, f. 70.

1730- Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1986), p.72, etc. Albert E. Bailey, The Gospel In Art, (Boston & Chicago: Pilgrim Press, 1916), pp.382-385; Loisy, The Birth of the Christian Religion, pp. 260-1, Christ "became man that he might deliver men from their bondage to death and lead them forth into immortality" [see Hebrews 2:5-18]. See also: The Golden Legend of Jacobus de Voragine, (Trans. and adapted from the Latin by Granger Ryan and Helmut Ripperger), (New York: 1941, Arno Press, A Publishing and Library service of the New York Times, 1969), p. 293.

1731- The Nicene and Post Nicene Fathers, vol. 9, pp.72-3, chapter. 29, John of Damascus, Exposition of the Orthodox Faith, translated by the Rev. S. D. F. Salmond, D.D., F.E.I.S.

1732- ANF, 2:231, Clement of Alexandria, The Instructor, book 1, chapter 9.

1733- Psalms: 20:6, 28:2, 68:18, 88:1-14; Isaiah: 41:13, 42:6-7, 43:2, 51:14, & Eph. 4:7-10.

1734- ANF, 2:231, Clement of Alexandria, The Instructor, book 1, chapter 9. Italics emphasis added.

1735- ANF, 2:490-2, Clement of Alexandria, Isa.42:6-7. This is what we see many times in the art works of the harrowing of hell, the descent, etc. Anastasis, Kartsonis, p.72, etc. Gothic Painting I, p.48; Christian Art, C.R. Morey, p.86; The Human Story, Europe In The Middle Ages, by Michel Pierre, Morgan - Antoine Sabbagh, Pub. by Sliver Burdett Press, Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey, 1988, see p. 34, originally published in 1986 by Casterman, under the title: L' Histoire des Hommes: L' Europe du Moyen Age.) An Illustrated Cultural History Of England, by F.E. Halliday, 1967-8, A Studio Book, The Viking Press, NY, p.47 & p.68: "Opus anglicanum. English ecclesiastical embroidery was recognized as the finest in medieval Europe. Detail from the Syon Cope, c. 1280. The Gospel Of Philip, by R. Mcl. Wilson, Pub., A.R. Mowbray, London, p.179; Art in the Early Church, by Walter Lowrie, Pub. by Phatheon Books, Wash., Sq., NY, 1947, pl.121 a, top portion; The Horizon History of Christianity, by the Ed. of Horizon Mag., Marshall B. Davidson, written by Roland H. Bainton, 1964- A.H.P.C.; The March Of The Cross, by Leonard W. Cowie, 1962, (First Pub. in Great Britain by Weidenfeld & Nicolson LTD. 1962), & 1st pub. in the USA by McGraw-Hill Book Co., Inc., NY, Toronto, & Lon., 1962, p.58, fig. 61; Studies In Classical & Byzantine Manuscript Illumination, p.272; The Life Of Our Lord In Art, (With Some Account Of The Artistic Treatment Of The Life Of St. John The Baptist), by Estelle M. Hurl, 1898, Boston & NY, Houghton, Mifflin & Co., The Riverside Press, Cambride, MDCCCXCVIII, p. 314, XXVII, The Descent into Limbus. According to the "Latin Gospel of Nicodemus, Christ was occupied with the liberation of the souls of the patriarchs and prophets of the old dispensation. In the typical composition Christ carries the resurrection banner, & standing on a higher level reaches out a helping hand to the company of long-bearded old men who flock eagerly towards him with lifted faces & outstretched arms." Monumente Istoricie Bisericesti Din Mitropolia Moldovel Si Sucevei, 1974, p. 41, figs. 23-4.

1736- Certainly, in the Catholic rites, the idea of how the sponsor answers for the child by proxy at the time of the "baptism," the anointing, & the placing of the white cloth on the child's head, etc. All these later traditional & later ceremonies seem to suggest fragmented hints to the use of a proxies, anointings, and garments. J.M. Sjodahl, The Reign of Antichrist, Or The Great "Falling Away," SLC, Utah: DNP, 1913, 24-30, & 36-45.

1737- A later Christian mosaic on the cupola of the Baptistery of S. Giovanni, Florence, 13th century A.D., shows an angel conducts the souls of the virtuous to the door of paradise. Another angel is standing inside the half-open door and welcomes a soul by clasping, with the right hand, the soul's right hand. Robert Hughes, Heaven and Hell in Western Art, (New York: Stein and Day/Pub., 1968), 180-191. Frederick Hartt, History of Italian, Renaissance Art, Painting, Sculpture, Architecture, (New York: Harry N. Abrams, Inc., fourth edition, 1994), p. 59, color-plate 19, dated in this source as being the 2nd half of the 13th century A.D. In the Gospel of Nicodemus, "all the saints were joined together, hand in hand, and the Lord Jesus laid hold on Adam's hand, and ascended from hell, and all the saints of God followed him." (Citing from Nic. Apoc. chap. 16 & 19). When the saints arrived in paradise, two "very ancient men" met them, and they were asked by the saints: "Who are ye, who have not been with us in hell, and have had your bodies placed in paradise?" One of them answered: "I am Enoch, who was translated by the word of God". The other man was Elijah the Tishbite. (Nic. Apoc. 20), mentioned by T. W. Doane, Bible Myths, & Their Parallels In Other Religions, (NY: The Truth Seeker Co., 1882 & 1910), 211-214.

1738- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 2:265, Clement of Alexandria, The Instructor, book 2, chap. 11.

1739- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 2:217, 265—66, 452—54, Clement of Alexandria, The Instructor, book 1, chapter 6, book 2, chapter 11; The Stromata, or Miscellanies, book 5, chapter 6.

1740- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 2:215, Clement of Alexandria, The Instructor, book 1, chapter 6.

1741- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 2, p. 490-2, Isa.42:6-7. Clement of Alexandria.

1742- Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1986), p.72, etc. Gothic Painting I, p.48; Christian Art, C.R. Morey, p.86.

1743- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 2:462, Clement of Alexandria, The Stromata, or Miscellanies, book 5, chap.11.

1744- Huge Nibley, What is a Temple, (IDE-T), The Idea of a Temple in History, reprint FARMS, The Millennial Star, 120, Aug. 1958, 228-237, 234, & 249, n 52, & 56. R. Akiba, cited by S.A. Horodezky, in Monatsschr.f. Gesch. u. Wins. des Judentums LXXII. 505. Nibley tells us that R. Akiba, cited by S. A. Horodezky.

1745- Butler's Lives of the Saints, (New York: P. J. Kenedy & Sons, 1956), revised edition by Herbert Thurston, S.J., & Donald Attwater, vol. 3, July, August, September, p.678-9: Alfred Stange, Karl Robert Langewiesche Nachfolger, 1965, Deutsche Spatgotische Malerei, 1430-1500, p. 14.

1746- Horton & Marie-Helene Davies, Holy days and Holidays, The Medieval Pilgrimage to Compostela, (London and Toronto: Lewisburn, Bucknell University Press, 1982), p.147, see also pp.140-49. An interesting depiction of Christ's descent shows Christ clasping the wrists of Adam and Eve, but also angels descend down into an open pit, perhaps to also raise souls up out of the underworld. (Handbuch Der Ikonenkunst, Slavisches Institut Munchen, 1966, p.71, see also pp. 125, 144, 157, & 308.

1747- Roger J. Adams, The iconography of early Christian initiation: evidence for baptism for the dead, (LDS Historical Library & Archives in Salt Lake City, Utah, if not changed by now, call slip # M234.62 R216i 1977, http://churchhistorycatalog.lds.org/primo_library/libweb/action/dlSearch.do?query=any,contains,Adams%20Roger%20J,%201935-&vid=CHL_PUBLIC&institution=PCHD&search_scope=CHL&highlight=true

1748- Roger J. Adams, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptisms for the Dead, (unpublished manuscript 1977), 9, 10, 48-9, see also Col. 2:12.

1749- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 43—51. Pater Cramer, Baptism and change in the early Middle Ages, c. 200-c. 1150, (Cambridge, England; New York, New York, USA: Cambridge University Press, 1993). Roland H. Bainton, The Horizon History of Christianity, Edited by Marshall B. Davidson of Horizon Magazine, (U.S.A.: American Heritage Publishing Company, English edition, 1964). Roland, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back edition, 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville). James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 684— 686, 698— 701, 705—706, 726—728, 737-741, etc. Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Thomas Armitage, D.D., LL.D., A History Of The Baptists, (New York: Bryah, Taylor, & Chicago: Morningside, 1887).

1750- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (Lon. Eng.: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 43—178. Pater Cramer, Baptism and change in the early Middle Ages, c. 200-c. 1150, (Cambridge, England; New York, New York, USA: Cambridge University Press, 1993). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Thomas Armitage, D.D., LL.D., A History Of The Baptists, (New York: Bryah, Taylor, & Chicago: Morningside, 1887). J. M. Sjodahl, The Reign of Antichrist, Or The Great "Falling Away," (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1913). Roger J. Adams, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptisms for the Dead, (unpublished manuscript 1977). John Lawrence Mosheim, D.D., An Ecclesiastical History, (London: Translated from the original Latin and notes by Archibald Maclaine, D.D., 1819), six volumes. Wolfred Nelson Cote, (Missionary in Rome), Baptism and Baptisteries, (Philadelphia: The Bible and Publication Society, 1877). Wolfred Nelson Cote, The Archaeology of Baptism, (London: Yates & Alexander, 1876). Ariel L. Crowley, Statement of Beliefs of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints: Doctrines and Practices, (Idaho City, Idaho: Deseret News Press, 1961).

1751- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 52.

1752- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (Lon., England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 52–118. Wolfred Nelson Cote, (Missionary in Rome), Baptism and Baptisteries, (Philadelphia: The Bible and Publication Society, 1877). Wolfred Nelson Cote, The Archaeology of Baptism, (Lon.: Yates & Alexander, 1876), 232f, etc.

1753- Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca & Lon.: Cornell University Press, 1985). Thomas Armitage, D.D., LL.D., A History Of The Baptists, (NY: Bryah, Taylor, & Chicago: Morningside, 1887). Pater Cramer, Baptism and change in the early Middle Ages, c. 200-c. 1150, (Cambridge, England; New York, New York, USA: Cambridge Un. Press, 1993). Rev. Alexander Hislop, The Two Babylons (or The Papal Worship Proved to be the Worship of Nimrod and His Wife), (England: A & C Black, LTD., 1916; American editions, Neptune, New Jersey: Loizeaux Brothers, 1943 & 1956). Frank Viola & George Barna, Pagan Christianity? Exploring the Roots of Our Church Practices, (USA: Barna, An Imprint of Tyndale House Publishers, Inc., 2002, 2008). Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978). Francis Bond, Fonts and Font Covers, (London, New York, and Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford University Press, 1908). James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 454–455, 470–472, 476–496, 673–763. G. W. Bromiley, Baptism and the Anglican Reformers, 1879. Rev. William Waterworth, England and Rome ; or, The history of the religious connection between England and the Holy see : from the year 179, to the commencement of the Anglican reformation in 1534 ; with observations on the general question of the supremacy of the Roman pontiffs, (London: Burns & Lambert, MDCCCLIV).

1754- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 91–118. <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Affusion>

1755- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 97, foot note 9: Editor, T. W. Davids, Annals of Evangelical Nonconformity in the County of Essex, (London: Jackson, Walford & Hodder, 1863), 64. <https://archive.org/details/cu31924029263352>

1756- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (Lon., Eng.: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 50–65.

1757- Puritan 1604 Millenary Petition, https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Millenary_Petition J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 97–98.

1758- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 97–99, footnote 1 on p. 99: C. H. Firth & R. S. Rait, Acts and Ordinances of the Interregnum, 1642–1660, I, 1911, p. 594. See also: The Interregnum (A. D. 1648–1660): studies of the commonwealth, legislative, social, and legal by Inderwick, F. A. (Frederick Andrew), 1836–1904, pub. 1891. <https://archive.org/details/cu31924032733879>

1759- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Oliver_Cromwell Firth, C. H. (Charles Harding), 1857–1936, Oliver Cromwell and the rule of the Puritans in England, (New York & London: G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1953). <https://archive.org/details/olivercromwella00firtgoog> J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 98–100.

1760- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 98–100.

1761- <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Iconoclasm>

1762- http://www.britainexpress.com/History/Cromwell_and_Restoration.htm And: <https://www.britannica.com/topic/Restoration-English-history-1660> J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 98–100.

1763- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Wars_of_the_Three_Kingdoms J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 108.

1764- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 108.

1765- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 148, foot note 3: J. G. Wibley, St. Charles Borromeo's Instructions of Ecclesiastical Building, 1857, p. 70.

1766- Rev. Henry Mason Baum, D.C.L., Ed., Frederick Bennett Wright, Assistant Ed., Records of the Past, (Washington, D.C., Records of the Past Exploration Society, 1902), February, 1902, vol. 1, part 2, p. 33–39, especially p. 38 of the article by Arthur Stoddard Cooley, PH.D., Ancient Corinth Uncovered. See also 1 Cor. 15:22–23; Rev. 20. Grave symbols showing hideous angel, symbolic of the Christian's symbolical battle in the waters of baptism, the ritualistic type of Christ's defeating the devil in the grave, in death, and the spirit prison?

1767- Rev. Henry Mason Baum, D. C. L., Editor, and Frederick Bennett Wright, Assistant Editor, Records of the Past, (Washington, D. C.: Records of the Past Exploration Society, 1902), vol. 1, pp. 78 & 81, article by Arthur Stoddard Cooley, PH.D., Ancient Corinth Uncovered, Part 2.

1768- Roger J. Adams, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptisms for the Dead, (unpublished manuscript 1977). Huge W. Nibley, Baptism for the Dead in Ancient Time, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Improvement Era, 51—52, (December 1948—April 1949). Ariel L. Crowley, BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD, (Boise Idaho: Prepared for Electronic Media by Stanley D. Barker. Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985).

1769- Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca & Lon.: Cornell Un. Press, 1981), 94—95, n.49. G.M. Lukken, Original Sin in the Roman Liturgy, Leiden, 1973, 23.

1770- Francois Souchal, Art of The Early Middle Ages, (NY: Harry N. Abrams), 134. A font shows inscriptions of scenes from the life of Christ. Christ in glory appears in a mandorla surrounded by symbols representing the Evangelists. Below are monsters symbolic of the forces of Evil, they are being crushed by "the grace of baptism." A font at EARDISLEY (HEREFORDSHIRE), ST. MARY MAGDALENE, is goblet/shaped & dates back to 1145 A.D. On it is a depiction of the descent, for with his left hand, Christ clasps the wrist of Adam to raise him up out of limbo. Gustav Kunstler, Ed., Romanesque Art In Europe, (Greenwich Connecticut: New York Graphic Soc., LTD., 1968), 264-5, fig.226; Roger J. Adams, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptisms for the Dead, (unpub. man. 1977); Huge Nibley's Baptism for the Dead in Ancient Time, Improvement Era 51-2, (Dec. 1948-- April 1949, note 35, Evang. Nicodem, c. 15; Tischendorf, Evangelia (Leipzig, 1876), 389-91; Bernard M. Foschini, Those Who Are Baptized for the Dead, Catholic Biblical Quarterly 13 (1951): 328-44; Truman Madison, Editor, The Temple in Antiquity, (1984), 12, & note 37 on p. 18.

1771- Roger J. Adams, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptisms for the Dead, (unpublished manuscript 1977). Francis Bond, Fonts & Font Covers, (Lon., NY, & Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford Un. Press, 1908). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, & Drama, (Ithaca & London: Cornell Un. Press, 1985). Ariel L. Crowley, BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD, (Boise Idaho: Prepared for Electronic Media by Stanley D. Barker. Pater Cramer, Baptism and change in the early Middle Ages, c. 200-c. 1150, (Cambridge, England; NY, NY, USA: Cambridge University Press, 1993). Thomas Armitage, D.D., LL.D., A History Of The Baptists, (New York: Bryah, Taylor, & Chicago: Morningside, 1887).

1772- The Praeger Picture Encyclopedia of Art, Frederick A. Praeger, 1958, p. 54, fig. 55, the Baptismal font from St. Mary's in Wismar, 14th cent., rests on the shoulders of 4 persons making hand gestures, some of the hands were held mid-section level, arm extended out, palm up-ward with the fingers slightly curled up. Christian Art, Vol. 1, #5, p. 204-5, Aug. 1907, English fonts & covers, by Rev. P.H. Ditchfield, M.A., F.S.A. Locking, Sumerset; The Catholic Encyclopedia (An International world of Reference on the Constitution, Doctrine, Discipline, & History of the Catholic Church), Ed. by Charles G. Herbermann, Ph.D., LL.D., Edward A. Page, Ph.D., D.D., & Conde B. Pallan, Ph.D., LL.D., Thomas J. Shahan, & others, (In 15 vols.), see Vol. II: p. 274-276; Baptismal Font, Pub. by Robert Appleton Co., N.Y., 1907. Baptismal fonts, Norman. Stoke Cannon, Devonshire; Ivory Carvings In Early Medieval England, by John Beckwith, Pub. by New York Graphic Society LTD, Harvey Miller & Medcalf 1972. Fig.20; A History Of The Baptists, Armitage, p.259, #4; Iconography of Christian Art, Vol. I, Schiller, p. 345-6, fig. 346, fig. 377, font dated c. 1290, Rostock, Church of St. Mary, this font rest on the shoulders of four persons. And fig. 378, stone relief 11th cent., font Freudenstadt; Art and Mankind (Larousse Encyclopedia of Byzantine and Medieval Art), Edited by Rene Huyghe, p. 240, fig. 500. Gothic. Baptismal font in Hildesheim Cathedral, c. 1200. Pub. Prometheus Press, N.Y., 1958, & 1963 Paul Hamlyn LTD., Lon. This font rests on the shoulders of 4 persons. Some of the art works on it show Christ's baptism with the angels holding garments. Italy (History-Art-Landscape), by Mercury Art Books, 1954, 55-7 by Edizioni Mercurio, p. 195-6.

1773- Roger Adams, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptisms for the Dead, unpub. man. 1977, 81. Adams presents a number of examples & references on baptismal fonts & their ancient settings. Rom.6:4. The Christian House, Dura Europas, baptistry ca., 230 was uncovered at Dura Europas in 1931-2, in excavations carried on jointly by Yale Un., & the French Academie des Inscriptions et Belles-Lettres and is today commonly known as the Christian house..." (n.6, C. Hopkins & N. Rostovtzeff, Excavations at Dura Europas, 1931-2, New Haven, 1934, 238-53. Rostovtzeff's Dura Europas & its art, Oxford, 1938, 130f. C. Hopkins & N. Rostovtzeff, Excavations at Dura Europas, 1931-32, New Haven: 1934. Clark Hopkins, & edited by Bernard Goldman, The Discovery of Dura-Europos, New Haven & Lon.: Yale Un. Press, 1979.

1774- Roger J. Adams, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptisms for the Dead, (unpub. man. 1977), 66-84. Note. 7. M. Aubert, "Les Fouilles de Doura-Europas," Bulletin Monumental, 1934, 398, quoted by Lassus, Sanctuaires chretien de Syrie, Paris, 1947, 14. Note: E. Breccia, Musée Alexandria, 1933, 36-8. O. Grandidier, Bulletin de la Societe d' archeologie de' Alger, I, 1895, 106-116. J. Cabre Aquilo, Monumento Christiano-Bizantino, de Gabia La Grande, Memorias Junta Superior Excavaciones y Antiquesdades, LV, 1923, 7. C. Hopkins & N. Rostovtzeff, Excavations at Dura Europas, 1931-32, (New Haven: 1934). Clark Hopkins, & ed. by Bernard Goldman, The Discovery of Dura-Europos, New Haven & Lon.: Yale Un. Press, 1979.

1775- John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art & Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (NY: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882), 265, note 3, Adver. Graecos. Fabricius' Ed., p. 220. 34.

1776- André Grabar, Early Christian Art, From the Rise of Christianity to the Death of Theodosius, NY: Odyssey Press 1968, 68.

1777- André Grabar, Early Christian Art, From the Rise of Christianity to the Death of Theodosius, (NY: Odyssey Press, 1968), 70—71. Clark Hopkins, & edited by Bernard Goldman, The Discovery of Dura-Europos, (New Haven & London: Yale Un. Press, 1979), 106—117, 132—177, etc. C. Hopkins & N. Rostovtzeff, Excavations at Dura Europas, 1931-32, (New Haven: 1934).

1778- Baldwin Smith, The Dome, A Study in the History of Ideas, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1950, 1978), p. 56, see also note 46; Krautheimer, Introduction to an 'Iconography of Mediaeval Architecture,' Journal of the Warburg and Courtauld Institutes, v. 1949, 22—28; G. Gerola, "Il Restauro del battistero ariano di Ravenna," Studien zur Kunst des Ostens, 1923, 114). See also: F. W. Unger, "Über die christlichen Rund- und Octagon-Bauten," Bonner Jahrb., XLI, 1866, 38; Grabar, Martyrium, I, 79, 446; Lassus, Sanctuaires chrétiens de Syrie, 228; Peristephanon, VIII, v. 1ff., Migne, P.L., LX, cols. 43off; Roger J. Adam, 1977 Doctrinal Thesis, Baptism for the Dead.

1779- Baldwin Smith, The Dome, A Study in the History of Ideas, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1950, 1978), p. 56, see also note 46; Krautheimer, Introduction to an 'Iconography of Mediaeval Architecture,' Journal of the Warburg and Courtauld Institutes, v. 1949, 22—28; G. Gerola, "Il Restauro del battistero ariano di Ravenna," Studien zur Kunst des Ostens, 1923, 114). See also: F. W. Unger, "Über die christlichen Rund- und Octagon-Bauten," Bonner Jahrb., XLI, 1866, 38; Grabar, Martyrium, I, 79, 446; Lassus, Sanctuaires chrétiens de Syrie, 228; Peristephanon, VIII, v. 1ff., Migne, P.L., LX, cols. 43off.

1780- Baldwin Smith, The Dome, A Study in the History of Ideas, NJ: Princeton Un. Press, 1950, 1978, 4.

1781- Baldwin Smith, The Dome, A Study in the History of Ideas, N.J.: Princeton Un. Press, 1950, 1978, 13.

1782- Baldwin Smith, The Dome, A Study in the History of Ideas, (New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1950, 1978), 4, 13-21. J. W. Crowfoot, Early Churches in Palestine, 1941, p. 105. Watzinger, Denk, Paläs., II, 131.

1783- Baldwin Smith, The Dome, A Study in the History of Ideas, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1950, 1978), p. 56, see also note 45: R. Krautheimer, Introduction to an 'Iconography of Mediaeval Architecture,' Journal of the Warburg and Courtauld Institutes, v. 1942, pp. 22—31; P. Styger, "Nymphäen, Mausoleen, Baptisterien," Architectura, I, 1933, 50ff.; Grabar, Martyrium, I, 202—203, 385 n. 2, 446.

1784- Baldwin Smith, The Dome, A Study in the History of Ideas, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1950, 1978), p. 56, see also note 46; Krautheimer, Introduction to an 'Iconography of Mediaeval Architecture,' Journal of the Warburg and Courtauld Institutes, v. 1949, 22—28. Tombs have been found in many baptisteries, such as in the case with the baptistry of the Arians at Ravenna (G. Gerola, "Il Restauro del battistero ariano di Ravenna," Studien zur Kunst des Ostens, 1923, 114). By A.D. 578, the practice of placing tombs with in baptisteries, or baptisteries with in tombs, was prohibited by the Council of Auxerre (F. W. Unger, "Über die christlichen Rund- und Octagon-Bauten," Bonner Jahrb., XLI, 1866, 38). Further evidence that martyrdom was associated with the symbolism of baptism and baptisteries is in how they used the martyrrium as a baptistry. This fact is also established at Nisibis, in which this practice was done too (Grabar, Martyrium, I, 79), in Africa (ibid., 446), and by the baptism of Severus of Antioch in the martyrrium of S. Leontius (Lassus, Sanctuaires chrétiens de Syrie, 228). Plus, by Prudentius (Peristephanon, VIII, v. 1ff., Migne, P.L., LX, cols. 43off.). Also, the relationship is shown by the fact that the baptistery at Jerusalem was connected with the Anastasis (descent into the underworld and resurrection), rather than the basilica. A baptistery was also added onto the cruciform martyrium of S. Babylas at Antioch-Kaoussie, early on, during the fifth century A.D.

1785- 2nd Gospel of Nicodemus, in 14 Sacred Books & Literature of the Far East, p. 360, Chap. 27. Fredk, WM. Hackwood, Christ Lore, Being the Legends, Traditions, Myths, Symbols, & Superstitions of The Christian Church, Lon.: 1902, repub., Detroit: Gale Research Co., Book Tower, 1969, 163-4. The Lost Books of The Bible & The Forgotten Books of Eden, USA, Newfoundland: Alpha House, 1926 & 27, World Bible Pub., The Gospel of Nicodemus, p. 63– 91. Ariel Crowley, Statement of Beliefs of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints: Doctrines & Practices, Idaho City, Idaho: Deseret News Press, 1961, 60, chap. BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD.

1786- Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (New York; London, England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc., 1989), p. 136. Art Treasures in Germany, (Monuments, Masterpieces, Commissions and Collections), Introduction by Stephan Waetzoldt, General Editors Bernard S. Myers, etc., (New York; Toronto: McGraw-Hill Book Co., The Hamlyn Publishing Group Limited 1970) p. 45, fig. 58, THE PRESENTATION IN THE TEMPLE, AND THE BAPTISM OF CHRIST. See art works on the alabaster columns which support the ciborium in St. Mark's Church at Venice, the Columns of the Ciborium in S. Marco, (4- 5 centuries A.D.?). While Christ crushes under his feet Hades and those whom he gained the victory over, Adam reaches around the pillar to feel the wound in Christ's palm. "Surgunt corpora sanctorum." "Many bodies of the saints were raised" (Matthew 27:52). Christ descent into the limbo (1 Peter 3:19), to rescue the patriarchs, "while Hades [under Christ's feet] bits his [own] fingers in impotent rage." Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, (Washington Square, New York, New York: Pantheon Books, 1947), p. 184-87, plate 100, a & b). Francois Souchal, Art Of The Early Middle Ages, (New York and London: Harry N. Abrams), 134. Francis Bond, Fonts and Font Covers, (London, New York, and Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford University Press, 1908). Max Dressel, Patrum Apostolicorum Opera (Leipzig, 1863), 548-49, & 631. Codex Vaticanus 3848. In eastern Orthodox iconography, see: St Pauls Irvine, Epiphany. Baptism, Christ on doors of hades, angels with baptismal robes in hands. On line, Google image search: Icons of Christ's baptism. Icon of the Baptism of Christ in Hertford College Chapel, painted by Silvia Dimitrova-Potter. Gertrude Schiller, Iconography of Christian Art, volume I, pages 127-145 and accompanying plates. Links may, but may not still be working. <http://www.orthodoxartsjournal.org/wp-content/uploads/2015/07/Epiphany-1024x716.jpg> Contemporary icon of the baptism of Christ showing dragons and foreign gods in the lower waters, Christ also stands on the crossed doors of hades, that crush a serpent like creature underneath. See also the exonarthex of the monastery in Sucevita, Walachia, founded before 1584 and completed ca. 1600. The inscription near Jesus reads "the Cheirograph of Adam." Source: P. Henry, Les Eglises de la Moldavie du Nord: des origines a la fin du xvi siecle, Monuments de l'art Byzantin, VI, Paris, 1930, pl. LXIII.1. An underwater creature is crushed under a stone under Christ's feet, as he is being baptized in the river Jordan. In some cases, Christ stands on "the satan stone," in some icons of the baptism of Christ. Icon of Jesus baptized while standing on the Satan-stone, from Asia minor, ca. 1600. Original now in the collection of Dr. S. Amberg-Herzog, Switzerland. Photograph by M.E. Stone. See also: A baptism scene painted on a wall of a church in Romanian Walachia from the beginning of the 18th century. Source: L. Kretzenbacher, Bilder und Legenden: Erwandertes und erlebtes Bilder-Denken und Bild-Erzahlen zwischen Byzanz und dem Abendlande, Klagenfurt, 1971, plate XVI. Also: An icon from Romania-Walachia of the 19th century. Note the tablet-like appearance of the stone upon which Jesus stands is deliberately unnaturalistic. Source: L. Kretzenbacher, Bilder und Legenden: Erwandertes und erlebtes Bilder-Denken und Bild-Erzahlen zwischen Byzanz und dem Abendlande, Klagenfurt, 1971, plate XV. Under the "stone" is an underwater creature being crushed by Christ standing on top. A painted cross from the Church of John the Baptist, Suceava, Romania, 1825. Source: L. Kretzenbacher, Bilder und Legenden: Erwandertes und erlebtes Bilder-Denken und Bild-Erzahlen zwischen Byzanz und dem Abendlande, Klagenfurt, 1971, color plate 5. Christ on square door, crushing a creature of the abyss underneath, in the Baptismal scenes at Jordan river.

1787- George Every, Christian Mythology, (London, England; New York, U.S.A.; Sydney Toronto: The Hamlyn Pub. Group Limited, 1970, and Middlesex, England: Hamlyn House, Feltham, 1973), p. 65. Geoffrey R. King, The Forty Days, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: W. M. B. Eerdmans, 1949), 15-20.

1788- Early Christian Art and Architecture, Robert Milburn, 1988, Un. of Calif., Press, Berkeley & L.A., p.55; ANF, 2, Intro. note to Hermas, p.3-7. Mormon Issues #1, April, 1991, p.4, Bible, So Many Versions, by Van Hale & Bill Forrest with Don Bradley on this issue. Apostasy to Restoration, T. Edgar Lyon, Deseret Book Co. SLC., Ut., 1960, p.67; John P. Lundy on the Shepherd of Hermas, "was the most popular of books in the Christian community, i. e., from the second to the fifth centuries" Monumental Christianity, John P. Lundy, Pub., in N.Y., J W Bouton, 1876, p.196. "The Shepherd of Hermas was treated by some of the early fathers as if it formed part of the canon of scripture,..." (Butler's Lives of the Saints, revised edition by Herbert Thurston, S.J., & Donald Attwater, Vol.III, July. August, September, Pub. P.J. Kenedy & Sons, N.Y., 1956, p.678. 1000 Evidences, Allen H. Richardson, David E. Richardson, & Anthony E. Bentley, 1994, Hawks Pub., Inc., S.L.C., Utah, Vol. 1, p. 294-5, Evidence No. 471: Redemption For The Dead; Encyclopedia Of Early Christianity, Ferguson, p. 421.

1789- Ariel L. Crowley, Statement of Beliefs of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints: Doctrines & Practices, (Idaho: Deseret News Press, 1961), 61–64, BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD. Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 96, 137, n. 56. Shepherd of Hermas, Sim. 9:16, in Apostolic Fathers, 2:263.

1790- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 64, foot note 23: Tixeront, Historie des Dogmes dans l' Antiquité Chrétienne, Vol. I, p. 143.

1791- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 97, 137-8, n. 61: Epistula Apostolorum 27 (Epistle of the Apostles), in Wilhelm Scheemmelcher, ed., New Testament Apocrypha, (Louisville, Ky.: Westminster/John Knox Press, 1991), 2 vols., 1:265. Odes and Psalms of Solomon 123 equates Christ's own baptism with the Decensus; cd. John H. Bernard, "The Descent into Hades and Christian Baptism," Studia Sacra (Lon.: Hodder & Stoughton, 1917), 1-50.

1792- Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1986. Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, NY, San Diego, U.S.A.; Lon., Eng.: Harcourt Brace & Co. Ed. by John M. Lundquist, & Stephen D. Ricks, By Study & Also By Faith, SLC, & Provo Utah: Deseret Book Co. & FARMS, 1990, 2 vols, 1:611-642, Chap.24, 'The Handclasp & Embrace as Tokens of Recognition,' Todd M. Compton.

1793- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 63, note 20, citing Lake, footnote 1, in his translation of the Shepherd in Apostolic Fathers, Vol. II, p. 263, in The Loeb Classical Library.

1794- Kurt Rudolph, & Robert McLachlan Wilson (trans. ed.), Gnosis The Nature and History of Gnosticism, San Francisco, Calif.: Harper & Row Pub., 1977, 1980, & 1984, p. 228, n.* Clem. Alex., Ex Theodoto 22, 4, p. 378.

1795- Unknown source. Clement of Alexandria, Book 2, Chap. 9, Miscellanies, ANF, 2:357.

1796- J. Rendel Harris, The Odes and Psalms of Solomon, (Cambridge University, 1909), page 123. <https://archive.org/search.php?query=J.%20Rendel%20Harris%2C%20The%20Odes%20and%20Psalms%20of%20Solomon>

1797- Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, Provo & Salt Lake City, Utah: FARMS, & Deseret Book Co.), vol.4: Mormonism & Early Christianity, (1987), Codex Vaticanus 3848, cited by Nibley, see note 115. Shepherd of Hermas, Sim. III, 9, 16; Max Dressel, Patrum Apostolicorum Opera (Leipzig, 1863), 548-49, & 631. In eastern Orthodox iconography, see: St Pauls Irvine, Epiphany. Baptism, Christ on doors of hades. Icon of the Baptism of Christ in Hertford College Chapel, painted by Silvia Dimitrova-Potter. Gertrude Schiller, Iconography of Christian Art, volume I, pages 127-145 and accompanying plates. <http://www.orthodoxartsjournal.org/wp-content/uploads/2015/07/Epiphany-1024x716.jpg> See also the exonarthex of the monastery in Sucevita, Walachia, founded before 1584 and completed ca. 1600. The inscription near Jesus reads "the Cheirograph of Adam." Source: P. Henry, Les Eglises de la Moldavie du Nord: des origines a la fin du xvi siecle, Monuments de l'art Byzantin, VI, Paris, 1930, pl. LXIII.1. Collection of Dr. S. Amberg-Herzog, Switzerland. Photograph by M.E. Stone. L. Kretzenbacher, Bilder und Legenden: Erwanderter und erlebter Bilder-Denken und Bild-Erzahlen zwischen Byzanz und dem Abendlande, Klagenfurt, 1971, color plate 5, plate XVI, plate XV. Church of John the Baptist, Suceava, Romania, 1825. The Lost Books of The Bible and the Forgotten Books of Eden, (USA, Newfoundland: World Bible Publishers, Inc., 1926 and 1927), The First Book of Adam and Eve, p. 5-28, see Book One, chapters 3-15 and chapter xlii, verses 5-8, p. 28. In the Ethiopic document known as the Testament of Our Lord and Our Savior Jesus Christ, 38-39. Origen, In Lucam Homiliae (Homily on Luke), 4, in PG = [J. P. Migne, Patrologiae Cursus Completus; Series Latina, 221 volumes; (Paris: 1844-1864)], 12:1811, & Origen, Commentaria in Evangelium Joannis (Commentary on John), 2, 30, in PG 14:181. Hippolytus, On Christ & the Antichrist, 5, 45, in PG = [J. P. Migne, Patrologiae Cursus Completus; Series Latina, 221 volumes; (Paris: 1844-1864)], 10:764. See art work of John The Baptist in Hades, The Church of the Holy Apostles, thirteenth century, fresco, Pec. Serbia. <http://www.kosovo.net/epatriar2.html> Also: http://1.bp.blogspot.com/_zVu0FGxQvzg/SkUc8WJ0KLI/AAAAAAAAAqM/DE4ui19Nh7M/s400/1.+John+Baptist+in+Hades.jpg John the Baptist, Forerunner for Christ, preaching the gospel in Hades. See also: A Reader's Guide to Orthodox Icons: Hymns, sung on August 29th proclaim: "The glorious beheading of the Forerunner, became an act of divine dispensation, for he preached to those in hell the coming of the Savior..." http://1.bp.blogspot.com/_leLrOnPiVOU/t4KF4qYS5sI/AAAAAAAAAAt4/r3zZYr0Am9k/s640/john_baptist_preaching_in_hell+icon.jpeg Russian icon of John the Baptist foretelling the descent of Christ to the righteous in Hades. Did some in hades repent? 1 Peter 3:15-22, 4:5-6, Acts 2:25-35. (17th century, Solovetsky Monastery). <https://upload.wikimedia.org/wikipedia/commons/thumb/c/cd/5part-icon-Hell.jpg/220px-5part-icon-Hell.jpg>

1798- Clement of Alexandria, Stromata II, 9, III, 6, in J. P. Migne, Patrologiae Cursus Completus; Series Latina, 221 volumes; (Paris: 1844-1864), 8:980, 9:268, Hermas, Sim. 9, 16.

1799- The Improvement Era, Vol. 48, No. 7, July 1945, p. 386, & 430, The Epistle of Kallikrates and Baptism for the Dead, by Ariel L. Crowley, LL.B.

1800- First trans. in 1910, W. E. Crum, later, Sir E. A. Wallis Budge, Coptic Apocrypha in the Dialect of Upper Egypt (Lon: British Museum, 1913), 207-8. James, The Apocryphal NT, 185.

1801- ANF, Vol. IV, 99-101, Tertullian, On Modesty, Chap. XXII. Kathleen Cohen, Metamorphosis Of A Death Symbol, The Transi Tomb in the Late Middle Ages & the Renaissance, (Berkeley, Los Angeles, Lon.: Un. of Calif. Press, 1973, by the Regents of the Un. of Calif.), 104-119. Roger J. Adam, Baptism for the Dead, (SLC, Utah: The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, Historical Library, Archives: Call slip # Res; M234. 62, R216), Doctrinal Thesis, 1977), 2 & 7, n. 7A: J. P. Arendzen, "Marcionites," Catholic Encyclopedia, 9, (1910), 648.

1802- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 70.

1803- Kathleen Cohen, Metamorphosis Of A Death Symbol, The Transi Tomb in the Late Middle Ages and the Renaissance, (Berkeley, & LA, Calif.; Lon., Eng.: Un. of Calif. Press, CR 1973, by the Regents of the University of California), 104-119, figures 46-50. Paul Muratoff, La Peinture Byzantine, (France: A. Weber, MCMXXXV), plate XCVII, La Crucifixion - Art Byzantin (vers 1100)- Mosaïque Couveni de Daphni (Attique), Christ's blood flows down to a scull below the crucifixion of Christ. Frederick Hartt History of Italian, Renaissance Art, Painting, Sculpture, Architecture, 4th edition, (Harry N. Abrams, Inc., 1994), p. 44, fig. 19. Byzantine. Crucifixion, 11th century. Mosaic. Monastery Church, Daphni, Greece. See also: Hackwood, Christ Lore, pp. 117, 162; Timothy Verdon & John Henderson, Editors, Christianity And The Renaissance, Image and Religious Imagination in the Quattrocento, (Syracuse, NY: Syracuse Un. Press, 1990), 136-142, 150-51, figure 5.1, The Tree of Life, mosaic. Rome, San Clemente, early 13th century A.D., see also fig. 5.2, painted by Pacino di Bonaguida, now in the Accademia in Florence, early 14th century. Figures 5.13, & figure 5.10. "If Christ is the fruit of the tree, then surely the water that flows beneath it is his redeeming blood." (Ibid., p. 155). See also note 30 on p. 141 & 158; Christianity And The Renaissance, pp. 12-15, & 135-6. Clement, A Handbook of Legendary And Mythological Art, pp. 298-99; Jennifer O'Reilly, A Garland Series, Outstanding Theses In The Fine Arts From British Universities, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, (New York; London: Garland Pub., 1988), Thesis submitted to the University of Nottingham for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, Oct. 1972), 226-28, 236-43, & 251-52, 338; Docteur Paul Thoby, Le Crucifix, Des Origines au Concile de Trente, (Bellanger Nantes), Plate XXVII, No. 63, Paris. Musée de Cluny. Ivoire (Xle Siecle), showing Christ on the cross with his blood flowing down from his wounds into a chalice. Christe, Velmans, Losowska and Recht, Art of the Christian World A.D. 200-1500, A Handbook of Styles & Forms, 94, fig. 193, p. 95, fig. 195, Ottonian Art: Ivories, Crucifixion, ivory panel, Cologne, Germany, c. 1000, Mus. de Cluny, Paris). See also: Hartt, History of Italian, Renaissance Art, 4th edition, 1994, p. 58, colorplate 18, c. 1230. Descent depiction below crucifixion scene; Platt, The Forgotten Books of Eden, pp.8-10, 26-8, 30; Revelation 7:13-15, see also: Isaiah 1:15-20; Jacob 1:18-19; 3 Nephi 27:14-19; Ignazio Mancini, O.F.M., Archaeological Discoveries, Relative to the Judaeo-Christians, (Jerusalem: The Studium Biblicum Franciscanum, Fran. Print. Press, 1970), p.165-170, figure 39, on p.166, Adam under Calvary in a medieval miniature of Valenciennes, with detail of Adam. (from LTS 1965, p. 278). See: Byzantine and Russian Painting, Kostas Papaioannou, Translated by Janet Sondheimer, Pub. by Funk & Wagnalls, N.Y., pp.82-3, & 90-1; Christ Lore, (Being the Legends Traditions Myths Symbols Customs & Superstitions of The Christian Church, by Fredk. WM. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Pub. in Lon. 1902, Elliot Stock, repub. by Gale Research Co. Book Tower, Detroit, 1969, p.117, "Washing in the Blood of Christ. From an old Florentine tract in defense of Savonarola." At the foot of the cross, is a scull, which may perhaps be a traditional symbol for the tradition of Adam's grave. See also: Ivory

- Carvings In Early Medieval England, by John Beckwith, 1972, Harvey Miller & Medcalf, p.84, fig.152. "Deposition. English (Hereford), about 1150. London, Victoria and Albert Museum [Cat. 88]". Another scull is depicted here at the foot of the cross. Like the garments that are to be washed clean of the spots of sins, in this Messiah prophetic type, the Red Heifer is to be spotless. In The Forgotten Books of Eden, The First Book of Adam & Eve, 25–42.
- 1804- ANF, 4:99-101, Tertullian, On Modesty, Chap. 22. Kathleen Cohen, Metamorphosis Of A Death Symbol, The Transi Tomb in the Late Middle Ages & the Renaissance, (Berkely, Los Angeles, Lon.: Un. of Calif. Press, 1973, by the Regents of the Un. of Calif.), 104-119. Roger J. Adam, Baptism for the Dead, (Salt Lake City, Utah: The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, Historical Library, Archives: Call slip # Res; M234. 62, R216), Doctrinal Thesis, 1977), 2 & 7, n. 7A: J. P. Arendzen, "Marcionites," Catholic Encyclopedia, 9, (1910), 648.
- 1805- ANF 1:493-4, Irenaeus, Against Heresies, book 4, chap. 22. See also notes in original, taken out here. THE ANTE-NICENE FATHERS. TRANSLATIONS OF The Writings of the Fathers down to A.D. 325. THE REV. ALEXANDER ROBERTS, D.D., AND JAMES DONALDSON, LL.D., EDITORS. AMERICAN REPRINT OF THE EDINBURGH EDITION. REVISED AND CHRONOLOGICALLY ARRANGED. WITH BRIEF PREFACES AND OCCASIONAL NOTES, BY A. CLEVELAND COXE, D.D. VOLUME 1, THE APOSTOLIC FATHERS—JUSTIN MARTYR. — IRENAEUS. (NEW YORK: CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS, 1913), vol. 1, p. 493-4.
- 1806- Hastings of Encyclopedia of Religion & Ethics, supra, Vol. 2, p. 388.
- 1807- Emile Male, Religious Art In France, 12th century, A study of the Origins of Medieval Iconography, Bollingen Series XC - 1, (Princeton: Princeton Un., Press, 1978), p. 52.
- 1808- Ency. Vol. C, p. 172; Fisher, Hist of the Church, 77; Smith Dict. 242. Ency. Brit. Art. Marcion. James Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Ut: Deseret News Press, 1960, 64.
- 1809- Huge Nibley, The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo & SLC, Utah: FARMS., & Deseret Book Co.), vol. 4: Mormonism & Early Christianity, (1987), n.120, Theodoretus, Haereticæ Fabulae (Heretical Tales) 1, 24, in PG 83:373, 376; Epiphanius, Adversus Haereses (Against Heresies) 42, 4, in PG 41:700-701; Irenaeus, Against Heresies I, 27, 3, PG 7:689; ANF, 1:352, Irenaeus Against Heresies, Book I, Chap. XXVII:2-3). J. P. Migne, PG = Patrologia Cursus Completus, Series Graeca (Paris: 1857-1866, 161 vols).
- 1810- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 64, foot note 22: Funk, Histoire de l' Eglise, Vol. I, p. 97.
- 1811- Roger J. Adam, Baptism for the Dead, (Salt Lake City, Utah: The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, Historical Library, Archives: Call slip # Res; M234. 62, R216), Doctrinal Thesis, 1977), p. 2 & 7, note 7A: J. P. Arendzen, "Marcionites," Catholic Encyclopedia, 9, (1910), p. 648.
- 1812- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 64, foot note 24: Fillion, La Sainte Bible, Commentee d' apres la Vulgate.... see also: Saint Epiphanius, Haeres, xxviii, 7; de Res-resurrect. 18 and adv. Marc., v. 10.
- 1813- In the University Encyclopedia, under the heading "Baptism" it says that: "The Montanists in Africa baptized even the dead." Professors Daniel Peterson & Stephen D. Ricks mention the "Montanist" as having performed baptism for the dead. They mention the practice of prayers for the dead by Roman Catholics. Daniel C. Peterson, Dr. and Stephen David Ricks, Professor: Offenders For A Word {How Anti-Mormons Play Word Games to Attack the Latter-day Saints}, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Aspen Books, 1992), 108-110. Joseph C. Muren, The Temple And Its Significance, (Ogden, Utah: Temple Publications, 1973, 3rd printing), 4, see the Encyclopedia Britannica, "Baptism", "The Montanists in Africa believe in baptism for the dead."
- 1814- John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, (New York: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882), 382–83.
- 1815- Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, Provo & SLC, Utah: FARMS, & Deseret Book Co., vol.4: Mormonism & Early Christianity, 1987, p. 121-5, notes p. 203-4, note 132, Tertullian, Adversus Marcionem (Against Marcion), 5, 10, in PL 2.495; see also note 131, Tertullian, De Resurrectione (On the Resurrection), 48, in PL 2:864; see also: Roger Adam's thesis: Baptism for the Dead, pp. 148-151, Appendix, citing from: PL II, pp. 526-7; Tertullian Operum Pars II. Series I, Polemica. Lib. V Adv. Marcionem, 10; PL II, p. 912; Tertullian Operum Pars II. Series I, Polemica. Liber de Resurrectione Carnis, 48.
- 1816- Kurt Rudolph, and Robert McLachlan Wilson (trans. editor), Gnosis, The Nature and History of Gnosticism, (Calif.: Harper & Row Pub., 1977, 80, 84), 345, 360-2, 378, see fig. 44.
- 1817- J. P. Migne, Patrologia Cursus Completus, Series Graeca (Paris: 1857-1866, 161 volumes), = PG LXI, p. 347, In Epist. I AD Cor.; I Smith Dict. of the Bible 242; PG, 61, 348.
- 1818- J. P. Migne, Patrologiae Cursus Completus; Series Latina, 221 vols (Paris: 1844-1864), XVII, p. 279; Ad Opera S. Ambrosii Appendix, Comment. In Epist. I Ad Cor. 163f. Roger J. Adam, Baptism for the Dead, (SLC, Utah: The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, Historical Library, Archives: Call slip # Res; M234. 62, R216), Doctrinal Thesis, 1977), 153-154.
- 1819- Ambrose, Commentary on 1 Corinthians in the Latin Patrologia 17:163f; Ignatius, Epistle to the Magnesians VIII.1 & IX.2; Augustine, Contra Julianum (Against Julian), in the Latin Patrologia 45:1596-7.
- 1820- Ariel Crowley, Statement of Beliefs of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints: Doctrines & Practices, (Idaho: Deseret News Press, 1961), 46–87, BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD.
- 1821- Smith, Dictionary of the Bible, p. 242; J. Eugene Seach, Ancient Texts & Mormonism, (Murray, Utah: Sounds of Zion, 1983), 65-7, n. 251 on p.135, Against Heresies I.23; 3:77; 7:21.
- 1822- Eugene Seach, Ancient Texts & Mormonism, Murray, Utah: Sounds of Zion 1983, 68, 136, n.268-9, Howard, 1965, Evangelical Quarterly 37, 137-46; John Short Interpreter Bible X:240.
- 1823- Ariel L. Crowley, Statement of Beliefs of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints: Doctrines, & Practices, (Idaho: Deseret News Press, 1961), 46–87, BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD.
- 1824- Philastrus, as noted by Edward Hayes, Professor of New Testament Exegesis in King's College, Lon., in his Dictionary of Christian Antiquities (Smith & Chestnan Eu). Roger Adam, Baptism for the Dead, (SLC, Utah: The LDS, Historical Library, Archives: Call slip # Res; M234. 62, R216), Doctrinal Thesis, 1977), 155, Migne, Pat. Lat., XII, p. 1166; Sanctus Philastrius, Liber de Haeresibus, XLIX Cataphryges.
- 1825- Ariel Crowley, Statement of Beliefs of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints: Doctrines, & Practices, (Idaho: Deseret News Press, 1961), 46–87, BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD.
- 1826- II Mythology of All Races 409. See also 27 Ency. Brit. (11th ed.) 852d and Irenaeus, Au. Haer. 1:13-21).

1827- Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company), volume 4: Mormonism and Early Christianity, (1987), note 129, Origen, Homily on Luke 24, in PG 13:1864-65. J. P. Migne, Patrologia Cursus Completus, Series Graeca (Paris: 1857-1866, 161 volumes).

1828- R. Joseph Hoffmann, (translator) Celsus On The True Doctrine, (A Discourse Against the early Christians), (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987), p.65-6 & 74. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 4: p. 419-20, book 1, chapter liii, p. 448, book 2 chapter xliii. p. 454, chap. lvi. p.458, chap. lxvii, p.487, book 3 chap. lix. Some writers suggest that there were some groups who did baptize the dead. See: Bernard M. Foschini, Those Who Are Baptized for the Dead, Catholic Biblical Quarterly 13 (1951), p. 40-1. A. S. Garretson, Primitive Christianity And Early Criticism, (Boston: Sherman, French & Company, 1912), p. 87-8.

1829- Ariel L. Crowley, Statement of Beliefs of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints: Doctrines and Practices, (Idaho City, Idaho: Deseret News Press, 1961), 72-79. For example, the early anti-Christian Celsus wrote, about 170-80, that: "It is equally silly of these Christians to suppose that when their God applies the fire (like a common cook!) all the rest of mankind will be thoroughly roasted, & that they alone will escape unscorched--not just those alive at the time, mind you, but (they say) those who long since dead will rise up from the earth possessing the same bodies as they did before....I ask you: Is this not the hope of worms? For what sort of human soul is that has any use for a rotted corpse shows just how utterly repulsive it is: it is nothing less than nauseating & impossible. I mean, what sort of body is it that could return to its original nature or become the same as it was before it rotted away?..." In his negative sensational rephrasing of early Christian beliefs, Celsus, like many other ancient to modern critics, left out an important concept that he knew that the early Christians believed in, how that they believed that resurrected bodies wouldn't be the same old rotten, gross, wormy bodies, but that they'd be changed & restored, even glorified & perfected. Origen clearly shows how Celsus had distorted the doctrine to mean something that the early Christians don't accept. Had Celsus & other early critics known about baptism for the dead, & the heretical practice of baptism of dead corpses, he would have used this to further vilify early Christians in general. As it was he accused some of them of being a "grave robbers," or calling the impure, & other criminal types into their mysteries, such as "a robber of the dead?" But there is no clear indication that this was in reference to the heretical baptism of dead corpses, instead, it was about what types of people that Celsus claimed the early Christians let into their mysteries, which mysteries did include baptism, & baptism for the dead. But of this, Celsus doesn't directly make references to, at least in the preservation of his writings we currently have of Celsus, that I'm aware of, as they've been preserved through Origen's cites & responses to. (R. Joseph Hoffmann, (translator) Celsus On The True Doctrine, (A Discourse Against the early Christians), (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987), 65-66, 74, 86-7, 99 & 100. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol.4, p.419-20, 456-7, 460, 502, 509, 547-551, 562-3, 593-4, 601-2, 614, 641, 646-7, 657-58, 664 & 668. Origen Against Celsus, book 1 chap.liii, p. 448, book 2 chap. xliii. p. 454, chap. lvi. p.458, chap. lxvii, p.487, bk.3 chap. lix). A. S. Garretson, Primitive Christianity And Early Criticism, (Boston: Sherman, French & Company, 1912), 87-88. H. P. Blavatsky claimed that a copy of the writings of Celsus, True Doctrine, does exist in "...a certain Oriental church on Mount Athos,..." according to a un-named "scholar" said to be a "trustworthy witness," according to Blavatsky. The monks there are said to not let anyone see the copy. (H. P. Blavatsky, (Anti-Christian, & Occult), Isis Unveiled Vol.2: Theology, 1877, 51-2, Pub. The Theosophical Pub. House 1972, the original was published in 1877 New York: J. W. Bouton.

1830- Frederick S. Paxton, Christianizing Death, The Creation of a Ritual Process in Early Medieval Europe, (Ithaca & London: Cornell University Press, 1990), p.. 26-7, see notes 32 and 33, Didascalia et Constitutiones Apostolorum, ed., Funk, 1.555, 8.44; Augustine, De cura pro mortuis gerenda, ed. Joseph Zycha, CSEL 41 (Vienna, 1900), 623; and Epistulae, ed. A. Goldbacher, CSEL 43 (Vienna, 1895), 1.59 letter 22.6.

1831- On line, article: Baptism for the Dead: The Coptic Rationale, by John A. Tvedtnes, This paper was presented at a symposium held 5 June 1981 in Jerusalem, sponsored by the L.A. Mayer Memorial Museum of Islamic Art and the Israel Ministry of Education and Culture and later published in Special Papers of the Society for Early Historic Archaeology, No. 2 (September 1989). The paper out-of-date, having been succeeded by my more lengthy "Baptism for the Dead in Early Christianity," published in Donald W. Parry & Stephen D. Ricks, The Temple in Time and Eternity (Provo: FARMS, 1999). See: Fifth canon in the list of 41 rather than 36. For the canons and details, see M. l'AbbÉ (Jacques Paul) Migne, Dictionnaire Universel et Complet des Conciles (Paris: Ateliers Catholiques du Petit, 1847), Vol. 1, Col. 477, and Rt. Rev. Charles Joseph Hefele, DD, History of the Councils of the Church (Edinburgh: T and T Clark, 1896), Volume two, 397ff. Link may or may not still be working at this time of reading. <http://www.fairmormon.org/perspectives/publications/baptism-for-the-dead-the-coptic-rationale#enloc13>

1832- Roger J. Adam, Baptism for the Dead, (Salt Lake City, Utah: The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, Historical Library, Archives: Call slip # Res; M234. 62, R216), Doctrinal Thesis, 1977), p.156, Joannes Dominus, Sacrorum Conciliorum Nova, et Amplissima Collectio, Florentiae 1759, p. 887. The Nicene And Post Nicene Fathers, Vol. XIV, p. 450-1. Bernard M. Foschini, Those Who Are Baptized for the Dead, Catholic Biblical Quarterly 13 (1951), p. 40-43, & 52-3. J. M. Sjödal, The Reign of Antichrist, Or The Great "Falling Away", (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1913), p.49. Frederick S. Paxton, Christianizing Death, The Creation of a Ritual Process in Early Medieval Europe, (Ithaca & London: Cornell University Press, 1990), p. 33, & note 61. The practice of administering the Eucharist to corpses was condemned in 393 at a North African council and as late as the end of the 6th century A.D., at a council in Auxerre. Note 61, Concilia Africae a. 345-a. 525, ed. C. Munier (Turnhout, 1974), 21, Concilium Hipponense, c. 4; Concilia Galliae a. 511-a. 695, ed. Carlo de Clercq (Turnhout, 1963), 267, Synodus dioecesisana Autissiodorensis, c. 12.

1833- André Grabar, Early Christian Art... NY: Odyssey Press, 1968, 68.

1834- On line, article: Baptism for the Dead: The Coptic Rationale, by John A. Tvedtnes, This paper was presented at a symposium held 5 June 1981 in Jerusalem, sponsored by the L.A. Mayer Memorial Museum of Islamic Art and the Israel Ministry of Education and Culture and later published in Special Papers of the Society for Early Historic Archaeology, No. Two (September 1989). The paper out-of-date, having been succeeded by my more lengthy "Baptism for the Dead in Early Christianity," published in Donald W. Parry and Stephen D. Ricks, The Temple in Time and Eternity (Provo: F.A.R.M.S., 1999). See: Fifth canon in the list of 41 rather than 36. For the canons and details, see M. l'AbbÉ (Jacques Paul) Migne, Dictionnaire Universel et Complet des Conciles (Paris: Ateliers Catholiques du Petit, 1847), Vol. 1, Col. 477, and Rt. Rev. Charles Joseph Hefele, DD, History of the Councils of the Church (Edinburgh: T and T Clark, 1896), Volume two, 397ff. <http://www.fairmormon.org/perspectives/publications/baptism-for-the-dead-the-coptic-rationale#enloc13> See also: S.H. Leeder, Modern Sons of the Pharaohs: A Study of the Manners and Customs of the Copts of Egypt (London: Hodder and Stoughton, 1918), page 101. Cyrille Salib, La Liturgie des Sacraments du Baptême et de la Confirmation (translated from the Coptic by Salib, 1968), pages 88-90. <http://www.worldcat.org/title/liturgie-des-sacraments-du-bapteme-et-de-la-confirmation/oclc/1221721>

- 1835- Verse 27. Cited from Montague Rhodes James, The Apocryphal New Testament (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1955), 494.
- 1836- Montague Rhodes James, The Apocryphal New Testament, Oxford Un. Press, 1955, 95, 142–43, 177 & 494.
- 1837- Bernard M. Foschini, Those Who Are Baptized for the Dead, Catholic Biblical Quarterly 13 (1951). The Mormon interpretation of Paul, and the ancient & modern practice of baptism for the Dead, was strongly rejected by Foschini. On p. 60 he cites St. Augustine, see note 221, In St. Augustine, o.c., I. VI, no. 38, P.L., 45, 1597. On pp. 60 and 80, Julian is said to have not accepted how some had interpreted Paul, while Augustine also rejected Julian's comments on this passage too. The Catholic Biblical Quarterly, Vol. 12, July 1950.
- 1838- Augustine, Contra Julianum Pelagianum (Against Julian the Pelagian) 57, in Patrologia Latina, Paris: J. P. Migne, 1879, 221 vols., 45:1596-97.
- 1839- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005, 97, 138, n. 63: Augustine, Contra Julianum Pelagianum (Against Julian the Pelagian) 57, in Patrologia Latina, Paris: J. P. Migne, 1879, 221 vols., 45:1596-97. Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo & SLC, Utah: FARMS, & Deseret Book Co.), vol. 4: Mormonism & Early Christianity, (1987), 142, 165, n. 216.
- 1840- Ariel L. Crowley, Statement of Beliefs of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints: Doctrines & Practices, (Idaho: Deseret News Press, 1961), 46–87, BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD.
- 1841- Dr. Charles Joseph Hefele, Bishop of Rottenbun, as trans. from the German by Henry N. Oxenham of Oxford, History of the Councils of the Church from the Original Documents.
- 1842- 1000 Evidences, Vol. 1, p. 295; The Ceremonies Of The Roman Rite Described, by Adrian Fortescue and J. B. O'Connell, Pub. The Newman Press, Westminster. Maryland, 1962, Chapter VII, pp. 81, & 163-4, chapter XVIII, pp. 200-1; Dictionary of the Middle Ages, by Joseph R. Strayer, Editor in Chief, Vol. 10, pp. 215-17, Augustine, (d. 430) is said to have taught that suffrages--prayers, alms, and celebrations of Mass performed by the living on behalf of the dead-- were effective substitutes for the temporal punishment due to sin." Purgatory was said to be a place in between heaven and hell where souls went for further cleansing. See also: Christianizing Death, Paxton, op. cit., pp. 17-18, 20-21, & 26, etc; Metamorphosis Of A Death Symbol, The Transi Tomb in the Late Middle Ages and the Renaissance, by Kathleen Cohen, Un. of Calif., Press, Berkeley, Los Angeles, London, CR 1973 by The Regents of the Un. of Calif., p. 96, 98-9.
- 1843- St. Ephraem, Testamentum sue De fine suae vitae, in Opera omnia, (Romae, 1743), p. 239 & 401.
- 1844- John McManners, (Editor), The Oxford Illustrated History of Christianity, (Oxford, New York: Oxford University Press, 1990), p.83. Nibley says that "The Early Christian Prayer Circle" BYU Studies 19:41-78, see pp. 70-2. Some prayer circles often included prayers on behalf of the dead.
- 1845- John Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art & Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (NY: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882), 267, n.1, Rattray's Liturgies, 119. St. James' and St. Mark's.
- 1846- André Grabar, Early Christian Art,... (NY: Odyssey Press, 1968), 102-3.
- 1847- Roger J. Adam, Baptism for the Dead, SLC, Utah: LDS Historical Library, Archives: Call slip # Res; M234. 62, R216), Doctrinal Thesis, 1977), p. 157. J. P. Migne, Patrologia Cursus Completus, Series Graeca (Paris: 1857-1866, 161 volumes), XLI, p. 383; Epiphanius, Adversus Haereses, I, 28, sect. 6.
- 1848- Epiphanius, Against Heresies I, 28, 6, in PG 41:384-85. PG = J. P. Migne, Patrologia Cursus Completus, Series Graeca (Paris: 1857-1866, 161 vols).
- 1849- Carol Zaleski, Otherworld Journeys, Accounts of Near-Death Experiences In Medieval and Modern Times, (New York and Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987), p. 31-32.
- 1850- Carol Zaleski, Otherworld Journeys, Accounts of Near-Death Experiences In Medieval and Modern Times, (NY & Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1987), p. 32-33, & note 18, on p. 217, see The Birth of Purgatory, p. 228.
- 1851- Haymon Halberstatensis, Expositio Sancti Pauli in Epistolam I ad Corinthios (Commentary on the 1st Epistle to the Corinthians), in PL 177:598. J. P. Migne, Patrologiae Cursus Completus; Series Latina, 221 volumes; (Paris: 1844-1864), 177:598.
- 1852- Theophylactus, Expositio in Epistolam I ad Corinthios, Commentary, PG 124:768. J. P. Migne, Patrologia Cursus Completus, Series Graeca (Paris: 1857-1866, 161 volumes), 124:768.
- 1853- Peter the Venerable, Adversus Patrobrusianos Haereticos (Against the Patrobrusian Heretics), in PL 189:831-32. J. P. Migne, Patrologiae Cursus Completus; Series Latina, 221 volumes; (Paris: 1844-1864), 189:831. Bernard M. Foschini, Those Who Are Baptized for the Dead, (O.F.M., S.T.D., The Heffernan Press, Worcester, Mass., 1951), Catholic Biblical Quarterly 13, p.16, & note 56. J. Eugene Seaich, Ancient Texts and Mormonism, (Murray, Utah: Sounds of Zion, 1983), p. 67, & note 261, on p. 136.
- 1854- J. Eugene Seaich, Ancient Texts & Mormonism, (Murray, Utah: Sounds of Zion, 1983), p. 67 & 136, note 262, St. Bruno, Exposition of 1 Cor. 15:29 in Latin Patrologia 153:209. J. P. Migne, Patrologiae Cursus Completus; Series Latina, 221 volumes; (Paris: 1844-1864), 153:209.
- 1855- Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986). Chandler Rathfon Post, A History of Spanish Painting, (Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1930—1958). (New York: Kraus reprint Company, 1970's), numerous volumes with numerous examples, see those of Christ's descent into limbo, hell, purgatory, etc. Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments Of Romanesque Art, The Art of Church Treasures in North-Western Europe, (The University of Chicago Press, 1954 and 2nd, Edition, 1967). Ignazio Mancini, O.F.M., (Historical Survey), Archaeological Discoveries, Relative to the Judaeo-Christians, (Jerusalem: Studium Biblicum Franciscanum, Collection minor #10, Franciscan Printing Press, 1970). Jeanne Villette, La Resurrection Du Christ, Dans L'Art Chretien Du Ile Au Vile Siecle, (Paris, France: Henri Laurens, Editeur, 1957). Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, (Washington Square, New York, New York: Pantheon Books, 1947), plate 100, etc. Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsachsichen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), three volumes. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen.
- 1856- Jennifer O'Reilly, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, NY & Lon.: Garland, 1988, 256-7. Hallenfahr Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsachsichen Poesie, Leipzig: Wigands, 1897, 3 vols. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen. ANF, 2:462, Clement of Alexandria, The Stromata, or Miscellanies, book 5, chap. 11. Martha Himmelfarb, Tours Of Hell, An Apocalyptic Form in Jewish & Christian Literature, Philadelphia: Un. of Pennsylvania Press 1983. Zech. 9:11, Col.1:13, Matt.12:40. Jonah 1:17, Eph.4:8-10, John 5:25, 1 Cor. 15:19, 1 Pet. 3:15-22, 4:5-6, Isa. 5:11-16. Psalms 16:7-11, 17:5-7, 24:3-10, 28:1-4, 55:13-23, etc. Bridging the gap, or the gulf is sometimes symbolized by hand & wrist grasping, like in the hand clasp over a wall in the Roermont Cemetery, (see also: Eph. 2:12-22). Plus, like in the depiction of bridging the gap between families in marriage hand clasping symbolism. (William Tegg, The "Knot Tied," (Singing Tree Press, 1877, 1970). Plus, bridging the gap between couples separated by death, as seen on numerous tomb stones. (You Tube: Rare Flix, "There Is No Evidence, That there are no Evidences." 9-25-2017). Bridging the gap over a river, with souls helping each other cross over, by clasping hands, & and with other souls reaching out to clasp the hand or robe of an angel, reaching out to help them, as seen in the art work of "The Last Judgment," by Maestro di Loreto Aprutino, 1550s Fresco, Church of Santa Maria in Piano. In depictions of Christ over the open cavern, pit, or underworld, the broken down crossed doors of hades, upon which he stands, is like a bridge, for in many cases, he clasps the hands or wrists of Adam on one side, & Eve on the other side, with his other hand, to resurrect them, perhaps even bring them together in the Anastasis. (See: Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986). In baptismal settings, there is also art works of the baptized being helped out of the water by a hand clasp, or on at least one font, that shows arms & hands reaching other towards each other, (see: Christian-Art, vol. 1, #5, p. 204-5, Aug. 1907, "English Fonts and Covers" by Rev. P.H. Ditchfield, Locking Somerset. Internet article, scroll down to: Darell Thorpe, Passover, Easter & Garment Types of Deification in the Resurrection (Easter Sunday, 4-8-2012), http://drivetimelivearchivespromossources.blogspot.com/2012_04_01_archive.html see art works. Roger J. Adams, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptisms for the Dead, (unpublished manuscript 1977).

1857- Archaeological Discoveries, (Relative to the Judaeo-Christians), Historical Survey, by Ignazio Mancini, O.F.M., Pub. of the Studium Biblicum Franciscanum, Collection minor #10, Jerusalem, 1970, p.165-170, & fig.39, on p.166, "Adam under Calvary in a medieval miniature of Valenciennes, with detail of Adam. (from LTS 1965, p. 278)". Christ Lore, Being the Legends Traditions Myths Symbols Customs & Superstitions of The Christian Church, by Fredk. WM. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Pub. in Lon. 1902, Elliot Stock, repub. by Gale Research Co. Book Tower, Detroit, 1969, p.117, "Washing in the Blood of Christ. From an old Florentine tract in defense of Savonarola." And: The Encyclopedia Of Visual Art, Biographical Dictionary of Artists, by Limburg Brothers - Francisco Ribalta, Pub. by Encyc. Britannica Intern., LTD., Lon., Vol.6, Attavante degli Attavanti: Crucifixion, a leaf from the missal illuminated for Thomas James, Bishop of Dol; 1483. Nouveau Musee des Beaux-Arts, Le Havre. This art work shows a soul or spirit of one of the persons to Christ's right, who was also crucified along side of him, (Luke 23:32-43). Upon this person's death, his spirit is in the arms of an angel. While dark colored demons come to take away the soul or spirit the other malefactor who had railed on Christ, & who was crucified to the left hand side of Christ. (The Encyc. Of Vis. Art, Vol.6, p.32.) At the foot of the cross, is a scull, which may perhaps be a traditional symbol for the tradition of Adam's grave. See also: Ivory Carvings In Early Medieval England, by John Beckwith, 1972, Harvey Miller & Medcalf, p.84, fig. 152. "Deposition. English (Hereford), about 1150. London, Victoria & Albert Museum [Cat. 88]". Another scull is depicted here at the foot of the cross.

1858- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All the Prophets Gone? Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005, 22-23, 41, n. 13-15, 18: Rutherford H. Platt, Jr., & J. Alden Brett, (Eds), The Forgotten Books of Eden, USA: Alpha House, Inc., 1927, 8, 10, 13, 23, 28, 33, 47-49, "Conflict of Adam & Eve with Satan," 7, 10, 14, 23, 25;8, 42, 49, 68-69.

1859- Cohen, Metamorphosis of A Death Symbol, p. 104-5; Deutsche Malerei, Deusch, Verlag, 1936, pl. 41; Richard Rutherford noted that the condemned practices of giving the Eucharist and baptism to dead bodies and the tendency to bury corpses as close to altars as possible was because it was a common desire to associate the dead with the Eucharist, either by giving it to them, by wrapping them in cloths used in the mass, or by burying them near the place where bread and wine are transformed. See: Paxton, Christianizing Death, p. 33, note 61, see: Richard Rutherford, The Death of a Christian: The Rite of Funerals, (NY, 1980), 25). The scull and bones under the cross are seen on a silver gilt of the icon of the Virgin Mary of Kykkos, 1576, Andreas & Judith Stylianou, The Painted Churches of Cyprus, p. 41, fig. 10; Paul Muratoff, La Peinture Byzantine, (Paris, France: A. Weber, MCMXXXV), plate XCVII, La Crucifixion - Art Byzantin (vers 1100) - Mosaïque Couveni de Daphni (Attique), Christ's blood flows down on to a scull below the crucifixion of Christ. See also: Frederick Hartt, History of Italian, Renaissance Art, Painting, Sculpture, Architecture, (NY: Harry N. Abrams, Inc., 1994, 4th ed), 44, fig. 19. Byzantine. Crucifixion, 11th century. Mosaic. Monastery Church, Daphni, Greece. Fredk. WM. Hackwood, Christ Lore, Being the Legends Traditions Myths Symbols Customs & Superstitions of The Christian Church, (Lon.: 1902, Elliot Stock; Detroit: Gale Research Co. Book Tower, 1969), 162.

1860- Peter Lasko; Ed., Nikolaus Pevsner & Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (Harmondsworth, Middlesex; Baltimore, Md; Ringwood, Victoria, Australia: The Pelican History of Art, Penguin Books, 1972), vol. 36, Ars Sacra: 800—1200, p. xvi, plate 152. Altar Cross of King Fernando & Queen Sancha given A.D. 1063. Madrid, Museo Argueológico Nacional. Adam(?) raised hands, praying to be delivered from his grave below the cross.

1861- Peter Lasko; Editors: Nikolaus Pevsner & Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (Harmondsworth, Australia, etc.: Penguin Books, 1972), vol. 36, Ars Sacra: 800--1200 , p. xvii, plate 172. Crucifixion. Ivory panel mounted on the cover of a Gospel Book, 11th century, last quarter. Tongeren (Tongres), Notre-Dame. A man ascends out of a box, or grave under the wounded feet of Christ on the cross.

1862- C.R. Dodwell; ed., Nikolaus Pevsner & Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (Harmondsworth, Australia, etc.: Penguin Books, 1971), vol. 34, Painting In Europe: 800—1200, p. xviii, plate 210. Saint-Amand: Crucifixion, from the Sacramentary. 1250 c., Valenciennes, Bibliothèque Municipale. A man with up lifted arms is seen in a box, or grave under the wounded feet of Christ on the cross.

1863- Meisterwerke der Gemälde-Galerie, Hamburger Kunsthalle, (Verlag M.DuMont Schauberg. Herausgegeben von Alfred Hentzen unter Mitarbeit von Gerhard Gerkens, Hans Werner Grohn, Hanna Hohl, Michael Schwarz, Wolf Stubbe und Georg Syamken. CR 1969, by Verlag M. DuMont Schauberg, Köln Verlegerische Leitung), etc. See plate or figures. 7—8. Meister Bertram. Der Hauptaltar von St. Petri. Äußerer linker Flügel, Innenerer linker Flügel, Außenseite obere Reihe: Trennung von Licht und Finsternis (Engelsturz); Erschaffung des Himmels; Erschaffung der Gestirne; Erschaffung der Pflanzen; Erschaffung der Tiere; Erschaffung Adams untere Reihe: Das Opfer Kains und Abels; Der Brudermord; Bau der Arche; Isaaks Opferung; Isaak und Esau; Isaaks Segen. Series of creation and Genesis events, but also including Satan and his followers fall from heaven, plus the pre-existing Christ about to grasp the hand of Adam to create him out of the dust of the earth, or lift him up like unto the descent drama, where the resurrected Christ lifts Adam up out of the earth.

1864- Peter Lasko; Editors: Nikolaus Pevsner and Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (Australia, etc.: Penguin Books, 1972), vol. 36, Ars Sacra: 800—1200, p. xx, plate 269. John Garnerius of Limoges: Altar cross, c. 1190. Paris, Louvre. Adam rising from his grave, with up-lifted hands, below the crucifixion.

1865- Christianity & The Renaissance, Image & Religious Imagination in the Quattrocento, ed. by Timothy Verdon & John Henderson, (Syracuse, NY: Syracuse Un. Press, 1990), 136-142, Figure 5.1, The Tree of Life, mosaic. Rome, San Clemente, early 13th century A.D., see also fig. 5.2, painted by Pacino di Bonaguida, now in the Accademia in Florence, early 14th century. Fig. 5.13, is said to be of the annunciation to Mary, "the second Eve who reopened the door to Paradise" and it is explicitly related to the scene of Adam's burial depicted.

1866- Warren Talmadge Dane, June 1965, A SURVEY AND ANALYSIS OF THE INTERPRETATIONS OF I CORINTHIANS 15:29, A Thesis Presented to the Department of New Testament Language and Literature Talbot Theological Seminary. In Partial Fulfillment of the Requirement for the Degree of Bachelor of Divinity. (A copy of this Thesis can be found in Salt Lake City, Utah: The LDS Church Library of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, 265.1 D179s 1965), p. 5, note 1: Gerhard Kittel, Theological Dictionary of the New Testament, trans. By Geoffrey W. Bromiley (Grand Rapids: Wm. B. Eerdmans Publishing Company, 1964), I, 530.

1867- Anna Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1986). Chandler Rathfon Post, A History of Spanish Painting, (Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard Un. Press, 1930-1958).

1868- Dane, A Survey of Analysis of The Interpretations of I Cor. 15:29, p. 6-7, notes 6 & 7: J.H. Moulton, & G. Milligan, The Vocabulary of the Greek New Testament (Lon.: Hodder & Stoughton, Limited, 1957), 102.

1869- Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986). Eph. 4:7-10, Ezk. 26:20, 31:14-18, 32:18, 23-32, Luke 11:14-22, John 5:25-29, 11:25-6, Acts 2:23-36, 13:33-37, Psa. 16:10, 68:18, Acts 24:15, Rom. 6:4-11, 10:6-7, 14:7-9, Col. 1:18, 2:12, 1 Cor. 10:1-5, 15:12-31, Heb. 10:13, Psa. 110:1, etc. 1 Pet. 3:15-22; 2 Cor. 4:10-14, 5:1-4; Col. 2:12-14, 20, Rom. 6:1-11; Isa. 14:9-19, 42:6-7; 51:14; Ezra 9:5-8, 1 Cor. 15:16-28. (The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol.1, p. 12, 33, 62, 70, 144-6, 154, 183, 190-1, 234-5, 330, 352, 388, 421, 446, 448-51, 455-7, 471, 488-9, 493-5, 499-500, 506, 510, 532, 543-4, 549-50, 560, 572-3, 576. Vol. 2, p. 37, 49-50, 203, 357, 415, 461-2, 490-2, etc. Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, (Washington Square, New York, New York: Pantheon Books, 1947), plate 100, Lowrie, Art in the Early Church, pl.100. The Nicene and Post Nicene Fathers, vol. 10, p.191, etc. Satan attempts to gain victory over Christ during a war in the under world, however, Christ is to one who wins the battle and gains a victory over death, hell & the devil. "Jesus rose from the dead... and by his resurrection death had been overcome and the access to paradise lost through Adam's sin regained." Frederick S. Paxton, Christianizing Death, The Creation of a Ritual Process in Early Medieval Europe, (Ithaca & London: Cornell University Press, 1990), p. 24, see also note 21, McWilliam Dewart, Death and Resurrection, p. 25-35. Peter Jezler (catalog), Himmel Holle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, (Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, 1994), p. 83, 109, 314, 354, & 365. John Pope-Hennessy, Fra Angelico, (London, England: Phaidon Press, 1952), p. 184, fig. 24. Alan Richardson and John Bowden, (Editors), Westminster Dictionary of Christian Theology, (Philadelphia, Pennsylvania: The Westminster Press, CR SCM Press Ltd 1983, first Published in Great Britain, 1983, entitled: A New Dictionary of Christian Theology). See the article entitled: The Descent into Hell. by A. T. Hanson. See also: Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (New York, San Diego, U.S.A.; London, England: Harcourt Brace & Company). Chandler Rathfon Post, A History of Spanish Painting, (Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1930—1958). (New York: Kraus reprint Company, 1970's), numerous volumes for samples of the descent & defeat of the devil, by Christ, during the descent into hell, limbo, hades, etc. Francis Bond, Fonts and Font Covers, (London, New York, and Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford University Press, 1908), p. 93, 110, 113, 165—167, 176, 179, 200—203, 256, different examples of monstrous demons crushed under fonts, as types of the devil being defeated in baptism, a type of Christ's descent. Francois Souchal, Art Of The Early Middle Ages, (New York and London: Harry N. Abrams), 134-5, baptismal font. 1129, Stone. Former monastic church, Freckenhorst (Westphalia). Gabriel Millet, L'Iconographie De L'Évangile, Aux XIVe, XVe Et XVIe Siècles, (Paris: Éditions E. De Boccard, 1960), p. 199, fig. 172, showing Christ's baptism, as he crushes the serpent under the fallen doors of limbo. See also: Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985).

1870- Roger J. Adam, 1977, Baptism for the Dead, (Doctrinal Thesis, unpub. a copy can be found in Salt Lake City, Utah: The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints' Historical Library, Archives, call slip number: Res; M234. 62, R216), p.2, see also note 7, on p. 7: From 1 Cor. 16:8, "But I will tarry at Ephesus until Pentecost."

1871- Mythologies, Yves Bonnefoy, The Un. of Chicago Press, Chicago & Lon., 1991, Vol. 2, p. 653. The Birth Of The Christian Religion, by Alfred Loisy, [1857- 1940], CR 1962 by Un. Books, Inc., 235-7; Encyclopedia Of Early Christianity, Ferguson, 411 says that in the Latin west, the baptismal creed of the Italian see of Aquileia (Rufinus, Symb. 18:28), descent.

1872- Library of Fathers, 2:260-66, Lec. 19-20, Cyril, Mysteries, (John H. Parker, Oxford, Lon., MDCCCXXXIX)

1873- N.T. Abstract 1975, 59, # 216 baptism for the dead mentioned in 1 Cor. 15:29 was a vicarious baptism for the dead. Theological Dictionary of the New Testament, 1:542, n.63, Joh.W.lk., ad loc. All interpretations which seek to evade vicarious baptism for the dead are misleading. Cf. Preisker, 2NW, 23 (1924), 298ff.

1874- C.R. Morey, Christian Art, (Lon., Eng., NY; & Toronto: Longmans, Green & Co., 1935, & Un. Press, 1988), 86. Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca, Lon.: Cornell Un. Press, 1981), 118-122. Russell, Lucifer, The Devil In The Middle Age, Ithaca, Lon. Cornell Un. Press, 1984, 146 & 150. Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, (Washington Square, NY: Pantheon Books, 1947), plate 100. Jean-Clarence Lambert & others, Gothic Painting I, (S.A. Geneva: Editions Rencontre Lausanne 1965, English Ed., Edito-Service, 1968), vol. I, p. 48: Master of Westphalia, 14th century, Christ in Purgatory, Wallraf-Richartz Museum, Cologne. Also: Francis Wormald, The Winchester Psalter, (NY: Graphic Society, Harvey Miller and Medcalfe, 1973), fig. 27. O.M. Dalton, Byzantine & Archaeology, (Oxford Un. Press, 1911, & NY: Dover Publishing, Inc., 1961), 663, fig. 420. Illuminated Manuscripts, Herbert, & Franklen, p. 166-7, pl. XX; Byzantine Wall Painting In Asia Minor, (Plates II), by Marcell Restle, 1967, pl. 95; Hanna Swarzenski p. 85; Behold the Christ, Bainton, 171, fig. 195; Age of Spirituality, Weitzmann, 634-6, fig. 574; also Weitzmann's Studies In Classical And Byzantine Manuscript Illumination, edited by Herbert L. Kessler, Pub. by the Un. of Chicago Press, Chic. & Lon., 1971, p. 258, fig. 245. Leningrad, Public Library. Cod. gr. 21, fol. 1v. Anastasis, "Christ is represented in a mandorla trampling over Hades as he grasps the hand of Adam." Art of the Early Renaissance, Batterberry, pl. 130, p. 120-1; Signs & Symbols in Christian Art, Ferguson, pl. 42; Medieval Art, Lethaby, revised by Rice, 50, pl. 14; Art of the Middle Ages, Batterberry, 76, fig. VII-14; & Romanesque Frescoes, Anthony, pl. 40.

1875- The Age of Chivalry, Manners and Morals 1000-1440, Charles T. Wood, Pub. Un., Books, N.Y., CR 1970 in London, Eng. by George Weidenfeld & Nicolson LTD. Records of Christianity, Vol. II, Ayerst, Fisher, Blackwell, 1977, p. 130-1; Heraldry (Sources, symbols & Meaning), Ottfried Neubecker, etc., Pub. by McGraw-Hill Book Co., 1976, N.Y., St. L. San. Fran. Montreal, etc., p. 69; The Winchester Psalter, Wormald, op. cit., fig. 27; The Anastasis, Kartsonis, fig. 19; Art of the Middle Ages, Batterberry, p. 76, fig. VII-14; The Illuminated Book, Diringier, 3, 14b; Lucifer, Russell, p. 150.

1876- John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, NY: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882, 269. Ps. 8:5 & Heb. 2:9.

1877- Isa. 49:8-9, 51:14, 61:1, 9-10, Eph. 4:7-10, Ezk. 26:20, 31: 14-18, 32:18, 23-32, Luke 11:14-22, John 5:25-29, 11:25-6, Acts 2:23-36, 13:33-37, Ps. 16:10, 68:18, Acts 24:15, Rom. 6:4-11, 10:6-7, 14:7-9, Col. 1:18, 2:12, 1 Cor. 10:1-5, 15:12-31, Heb. 10:13, Ps. 110:1, etc. 1 Pet. 3:15-22; 2 Cor. 4:10-14, 5:1-4; Col. 2:12-14, 20, Rom. 6:1-11; Isa. 14:9-19, 42:6-7; 51:14; Ezra 9:5-8, 1 Cor. 15:16-28. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 1: p.12, 33, 62, 70, 144-6, 154, 183, 190-1, 234-5, 330, 352, 388, 421, 446, 448-51, 455-7, 471, 488-9, 493-5, 499-500, 506, 510, 532, 543-4, 549-50, 560, 572-3, 576, op. cit. And: (TANF) 2: p. 37, 49-50, 203, 357, 415, 461-2, 490-2, etc. And: Satan (The Early Christian Tradition), Russell, op. cit., p.118-122. The Book of Art Vol. 1, p. 68. The Lost Books of the Bible, p.86-8. Art in the Early Church, Lowrie, op. cit., pl.100. Gothic Painting I, p.48, op. cit. Christ's Image, op. cit., p.129. The Winchester Psalter, Francis Wormald, 1973, fig. 27. Apostasy From the Divine Church, Barker, op. cit., p.63. Byzantine Art & Arch., Dalton, op. cit., p.663, fig.420. (TN&PNF) Vol. 4, p.454, 467, 572. Illuminated Manuscripts, by J.A. Herbert, p.166-7, pl.20. Byzantine Wall Painting In Asia Minor (Plates II), by Marcell Restle, 1967, pl.95; Bible Myths, Doane, op. cit., p.211-14; Lucifer, (the Devil in the Middle Ages), Russell, op. cit., pp. 145-6, & 150, etc. Christian Mythology, Every, 1970, op. cit., pp. 65-66; Hanna Swarzenski Vorgotische Miniaturen Die Ersten Jahrhunderte Deutcher Malerei, p.85. The Bible In Art, op. cit., Art of the Early Renaissance, Batterberry, pl.130, p.120-1. The Icon, Weitzmann, op. cit. Signs & Symbols in Christian Art, Ferguson, op. cit., 42. Art of the Middle Ages, Batterberry, op. cit., p.76, fig.VII-14. A World History of Art, by Sheldon Cheney, op. cit., p.467. The Apostles Creed, Barclay, op. cit., p.119-133. Romanesque Frescoes, Anthony, op. cit., 40. Lundy, op. cit., p.73-4. Loisy, op. cit., p.204, 270-1. The Secret Sayings of Jesus, by Robert M. Grant, 1960, p.41 & 43. Mormonism And Early Christianity, Nibley, op. cit., pp. 115-121, etc. The Nicene and Post Nicene Fathers Vol. X, p.191. etc.

1878- Christianizing Death, Paxton, p. 24, note 21, McWilliam Dewart, Death and Resurrection, 25-35.

1879- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (Lon., Eng.: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 34-39. Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, & Drama, (Ithaca & Lon.: Cornell Un. Press, 1985). Paul Carcus, 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, (NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996), 278-285.

1880- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 192.

1881- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 191-92, end note 13: Duchesne, Origines du Culte Chretien, p. 326-333.

1882- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 191-92. In 1957, a number of poems were published by Ideals as part of a Christmas Issue. In the poem: Not Forgotten, by Helen Welshimer, the lighted candle left in the window sill is said to guide the wandering Christ-child "should He come a wanderer". Further on in this issue is a beautiful colored picture of a lighted red candle in the window sill. Looking out through the window past the candle, is a snow covered way, a number of houses with lights on, and a church off in the distance. The next page over shows a young child who perhaps is eagerly looking out the frosted window for the gift-bringer to come. (Van B. Hooper, Christmas Issue Ideals, (Wisconsin: Quarterly by Ideals Pub. Co., 1957), vol.14, No.5, October, 1957. Not Forgotten. Helen Welshimer. Terence Goldsmith, edited by Jacqueline Ridley, etc., Christmas Around The World, A Celebration, (NY: Sterling Publishing Co., CR 1978, Blandford Press, Ltd., This edition published by New Orchard Editions Ltd., Robert Rogers House, New Orchard Dorset, 1985), 59. Ruth Sawyer, The Long Christmas, (NY: The Viking Press, 1941), 12-13, 17; JCI Metford, Dictionary Of Christian Lore & Legend, (Lon.: Thames & Hudson, 1983), 82-3, 153, 161; Isaiah 9:2; Ephesians 4:7-10; 1 Peter 3:15-22; 4:5-6. Daniel-Rops, Jesus And His Times, (NY: Image Books, A Division of Doubleday & Company, Inc., 1958, CR 1954 & 1956 by E. P. Dutton & Co., Inc.), vol.2, p.236; see also: National Geographic, vol. 164, No. 6, p. 774, Dec. 1983, Byzantine Empire, article entitled: Eternal Easter in Greek Village, by Maria Nicolaidis-Karanikolas. As part of the celebrations for the Resurrection, at night, after all the lights in the church are put out, to symbolize the darkness of the world, and at the stroke of midnight. A religious leader and Father steps from the Royal Doors of the sanctuary with a lighted candle, chanting "Come forth and receive light from the unwaning light and glorify Christ, who is risen from the dead." From this candle a number of candles are lit and carried home. Margaret E. Martignoni, Dr. Louis Shores, Harry R. Snowden, Jr., & Ruth Weeden Stewart, Editors, Harvest of Holidays, (New York: The Crowell-Collier Pub. Co., 1962), p. 119. Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (New York; London, England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc., 1989), 136-387. JCI Metford, Dictionary of Christian Lore and Legend, (London, England: Thames & Hudson, 1983), 58-59, see Candle, Candelmas and Candlestick. See also: Edna Barth notes how that among those of the Greek Orthodox church, on Easter Eve, at the stroke of midnight, everyone would go out side the church, "with a lighted candle." Then at the front door, one would knock and ask, "Is Jesus in there?" From inside would come the answer, "No, he is not here. He is risen!" Then the door would open and everyone would troop back into the lighted church. Edna Barth, Lilies, Rabbits, and Painted Eggs, The Story of the Easter Symbols, (NY: The Seabury Press, 1970), 18-19. See the cover design and credits for Biblical Archaeology Review, March/April 1998, vol. 24, No.2, Illuminating Byzantine Jerusalem, p. 4, & p. 40-43, 46-47, 70-71. Article: Illuminating Byzantine Jerusalem, Oil Lamps Shed Light On Early Christian Worship, by Jodi Magness.

1883- Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (New York, San Diego, U.S.A.; London, England: Harcourt Brace & Company). Robert Hughes, Heaven and Hell in Western Art, (New York: Stein and Day/Pub., 1968). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Matthew B. Brown, Girded about with a Lambskin, (Provo, Utah: Maxwell Institute, 1977), Journal of Book of Mormon Studies, vol. 6, Issue 2, p. 124-151. Dr. Hugu W. Nibley, Sacred Vestments, (Provo, Utah: Maxwell Institute). Darell Thorpe, THE ARMOR OF GODS- PROTECTIVE SKINS OR GARMENTS IN HISTORY and COLOR SYMBOLISM, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Religious, Historical & Polemical Studies, on line edition rough draft, revised 9-1-2013). Darell Thorpe, Holy & Protective Garments in Historic Christianity: Symbols of Deification, Resurrection, Clothed in Righteousness [Kindle Edition, 2011]. Blake Ostler's article in Brigham Young University Studies, (Provo, Utah: Brigham Young University Press, 1982), vol. 22, Winter 1982, #1, p. 31-45, Clothed Upon: Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity. See also internet article by Darell Thorpe, by scrolling down to: Passover, Easter & Garment Types of Deification in the Resurrection, (Easter Sunday, 4-8-2012). <http://drivetimehivearchivespromosources.blogspot.com/> - James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 191-192, end note 13: Duchesne, Origines du Culte Chretien, p. 326-333.

1884- John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art & Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (NY: J. W. Bouton, 1875, 1882, 1876), 258-264. Lundy points out that in pagan symbolism, a number of creatures of the sea where connected with symbolical types for death, burial and resurrection. Some of the sea creatures were seen on tombs, and subterranean monuments and cemeteries, and were symbolic of the protective powers during the soul's journey across the dangerous sea of death, and the passage from earth to Paradise. Early Christian types used similar symbols for similar ritualistic types. When the Babylonian version of the flood story spread to India, "the ship was identified with the fish, as another form of the "Womb of Sheol," in which the seeds of life were preserved to produce the new creation." (Elephants & Ethnologists, by G. Elliott Smith, 1924, Pub. E.P. Dutton & Co., N.Y., p.

78, note 2, William Simpson, The Jonah Legend, 1899), 127. J.C.J. Metford, Dictionary of Christian Lore & Legend, (Lon., England: Thames & Hudson, 1983), hell. "Hell is symbolized by the mouth of a whale, recalling Jonah in the belly of a great fish, Leviathan, the sea monster mentioned by Job (Jb 41:1)." "When used as a symbol of evil, the fish represented the earth (man's lower nature) and the tomb (the sepulcher of the Mysteries). Thus was Jonah three days in the belly of the 'great fish,' as Christ was three days in the tomb." (The Secret Teachings of All Ages, Manly P. Hall, 1977, LXXXV Fishes).

1885- John Lundy, Monumental Christianity,... (NY: J. W. Bouton, 1882, 1876 ed.), 263-4.

1886- Jean Danielou, Translated by John A. Barker, The Development of Christian Doctrine Before the Council of Nicaea, Vol. 1, The Theology of Jewish Christianity, (Darton, Longman, Todd & Chicago: The Henry Regnery Co.), 225; & The Testament of Asher.

1887- John Lundy, Monumental Christianity, (NY: J. W. Bouton, 1875, 1882, 1876), 259.

1888- John Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (NY: J. W. Bouton, 1875, 1882, 1876), 279-80, fig. 124, 286, 291; Origins of Judaism, Vol. III, Part 1, Judaism and Christianity in the First Century, Edited by Jacob Neusner, 1990, Garland Pub., Inc., NY, & Lon., 104-109, & 267; Dictionary Of Christian Lore & Legend, Metford, 100.

1889- Per Lundberg, La Typologie baptismale dans l' Ancienne Eglise, 64-166.

1890- Olivier Rousseau, La descente aux enfers figure du bapteme Chretien, (Mel. Lebreton), II, p. 286.

1891- Anton Baumstark, Liturgie comparée, (Chevetogne, 1939, 1st edition), p. 147.

1892- Peter Lasko; Editors: Nikolaus Pevsner & Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (Harmondsworth, Middlesex; Baltimore, Md., Ringwood, Victoria, Australia: The Pelican History of Art, Penguin Books, 1972), vol. 36, Arts Sacra: 800—1200, p. xvi, pl. 144. Baptism of Christ, 1049 or 1065. Cologue, St Maria im Kapitol. Baptism, Christ crushes a beast under feet.

1893- Gregory of Nyssa, AD 330-386, "The old man is buried in water, the new man is born again, & grows in grace." De Poenitentia. Chrysostom, AD 354-407, "We were [not literally] planted together in His death but [symbolically] in the likeness of His death." (Hom. 25, In Joannem, & Hom. xl. In Ep. ad Rom., & Rom. 6:1-15). Powel Mills Dawley, Our Christian Heritage, Church History and the Episcopal Church, (New York: Morehouse-Barlow Company, 1959, 3rd edition, 1960), pages 49-50. Catecheses by Saint John Chrysostom, bishop. <http://liturgyhours.wordpress.com/>. Henry Bettenson, The Early Christian Fathers, A Selection from the writings of the Fathers from St. Clement of Rome to St. Athanasius, (London; New York; Toronto: Geoffrey Cumberlege, Oxford University Press, 1956), 198. Tertullian, De Resurrection Carnis, 8; De Baptismo, 11 & 13. Roger J. Adam, Baptism for the Dead, (Salt Lake City, Utah: The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, Historical Library, Archives, call slip number Res: M234. 62, R216, an unpublished thesis for the degree of Doctor, 1977), p. 58, see note 26 on page 62, Gregory the Great, Ad Fabiolam, Epistle cxxvii, 54. The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, 13:3, Ep. 6. Darell D. Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined - Christ's Descent into Hell to Preach the Gospel, (Kindle Edition on line, 11-29-2011), (Salt Lake City, Utah: Religious, Historical & Polemical Studies, rough draft, 1995). Francis Bond, Fonts and Font Covers, (London, New York, and Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford University Press, 1908); Geoffrey R. King, The Forty Days, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: W.M. B. Eerdmans, 1949); Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments Of Romanesque Art, The Art of Church Treasures in North-Western Europe, (The University of Chicago Press, 1954 and 2nd, Edition, 1967). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company); volume 4: Mormonism and Early Christianity, (1987); Nibley, Baptism for the Dead in Ancient Time, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Improvement Era, 51—52, (December 1948—April 1949); Jeanne Villette, La Resurrection Du Christ, Dans L'Art Chretien Du Iie Au Vile Siecle, (Paris, France: Henri Laurens, Editeur, 1957); John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (New York: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882); Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, (Washington Square, New York, New York: Pantheon Books, 1947); William Barclay, The Apostles' Creed For Everyman, (New York and Evanston: Harper and Row, 1967); Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsachsichen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), three volumes. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen; Les Ivoires Gothiques, Français, Par Raymond Koechlin, Planches, Reimpression, (Paris, France: F. DE Nobele, 1968); Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (New York, San Diego, U.S.A.; London, England: Harcourt Brace & Company); Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986). Clifford Davidson, Editor, The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, and Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Kalamazoo, Michigan: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan University, 1994); Colleen McDannell and Bernhard Lang, Heaven: A History, (New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1988); Alan Richardson and John Bowden, (Editors), Westminster Dictionary of Christian Theology, (Philadelphia, Pennsylvania: The Westminster Press, CR SCM Press Ltd 1983, first Published in Great Britain, 1983, entitled: A New Dictionary of Christian Theology). See the article entitled: The Descent into Hell. by A. T. Hanson. Liturgical Vestments, at "Fisheaters.com," <http://www.fisheaters.com/vestments.html> See also: Revelation 7:14; 19:8). "White symbolizes Purity, virginity, innocence and virtue." (Internet article: Meaning of Colors in Christian Art, <http://www.medieval-life-and-times.info/medieval-art/meaning-of-colors-in-christian-art.htm>). Brigham Young University = BYU Studies, Vol.22, Winter 1982, #1, Blake Ostler, Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity, p. 31-45. Don E. Norton, Editor, Temples Of The Ancient World, Ritual and Symbolism, (Salt Lake City and Provo, Utah: FARMS & Deseret Book, 1994), also edited by Donald W. Parry, chapter 23, Priestly Clothing in Bible Times, by John A. Tvedtnes, pp.649-704, and chapter 24, The Garment of Adam in Jewish, Muslim, and Christian Tradition, by Stephen D. Ricks, pp.705-39. Gregory of Nyssa, The Nicene and Post-Nicene Fathers, vol.5, p. 519—520, & 524, Gregory of Nyssa: Dogmatic Treatises, etc. (reprint June 1972, W.M. B. Eerdmans); St. Gregory the Great mentions the "white vestment (birrum) in which a person was clothed in when they rose from the font. (The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, vol.13. p.3, Epistle 6; St. Ambrose calls the garments of the early Christian mysteries "the chaste veil of innocence"; again suggesting that the garments were symbolic of righteousness (The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, vol. 10, pp. 321-3, chapters 6-7). Roger S. Wieck, Time Sanctified, The Book of Hours in Medieval Art and Life, (New York: George Braziller, Inc., in association with The Walters Art Gallery, Baltimore), p. 146, pl. 38. Funeral Mass with Souls Released from Purgatory, (Office of the Dead), France, Anger?, 1460s, by the Coetivy Master (Henri de Vulcop?) Walters 274, fol. 118; Cat. 42). An angel lifts a soul up by the hand to release the soul from purgatory. While this is taking place in the after-life realm, in the physical life-realm, the mass for the dead is being performed by a priest in behalf of this soul, and others about to be released from purgatory in the same way. Todd M. Compton cites a number of writers to show that the handclasp was part of the descent drama. "The salvific handclasp is nearly the trademark of the iconography of Christ's post-crucifixion descent in Hades." (P. Verdier, "Descent of Christ into Hell," New Catholic Encyclopedia, (New York: McGraw-Hill, 1967-79). 4:788-93, esp. 791, figs. 2-6.) Some writers have noted that there are a number of different types of hand grips too, for in some works, Christ grasps the wrist, while in others they are raised up with the "dextrarum iunctio." (Ibid., Verdier, 791, fig. 5, etc.) See: By Study and Also By Faith, (Provo and Salt Lake City Utah: F.A.R.M.S., & Deseret Book Company, 1990), 2 volumes, vol. 1, pp. 620-23, chapter 24, by Compton. See also: Lilian M.C. Randall, etc., Medieval and Renaissance Manuscripts in the Walters Art Gallery, Vol. I, France, 875-1420, (London; and Baltimore: The Johns Hopkins University Press, with the W.A.G., 1989), pp.309-10, fig., 65, Cat. 32, f.25; fig. 59, Cat. 29, f. 33; Rene Huyghe, (General Editor), Art and Mankind, Larousse Encyclopedia of Byzantine and Medieval Art, (NY: Prometheus Press, 1958), p. 149, fig. 296.

1894- André Grabar, Early Christian Art,... NY: Odyssey Press, 1968, 130-31.

1895- Jean Danielou, Trans. by John A. Barker, The Development of Christian Doctrine Before the Council of Nicaea, Vol.1, The Theology of Jewish Christianity, (Chicago; Darton; Longman & Todd: The Henry Regnery Co.), 1:227-229, Chap.8 on the descent, Ignatius III.2, baptism destroyed death. Justin Dial, lxxxviii. 3.

1896- Roger J. Adam, Baptism for the Dead, (SLC, Utah: The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, Historical Library, Archives, call slip number Res; M234. 62, R216, unpub. thesis for the degree of Doctor, 1977). Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsachsichen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), three volumes. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen. Also: Francis Bond, Fonts and Font Covers, (London, New York, & Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford Un. Press, 1908). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and Lon.: Cornell Un. Press, 1985). Huge Nibley, The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company); volume 4: Mormonism and Early Christianity, (1987); Nibley, Baptism for the Dead in Ancient Time, (SLC, Utah: Improvement Era, 51—52, (12-1948—4-1949). Roland H. Bainton, Behold the Christ, (USA.: Harper, 1974), Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back edition, 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville).

1897- Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsachsichen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), 3 vols. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen. During the Middle Ages, death is personified, often depicted as coming to take the hand of those that Death comes to take away from the living. A favorite theme was called the dance of death, wherein Death comes to "take hands with proud ladies, with kings, rich merchants, magnificent prelates, and son on down to the peasant torn from his plow." Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 288-289. Jeffrey B. Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca & London: Cornell University Press, 1981), p. 121. Carol Zaleski, Otherworld Journeys, Accounts of Near-Death Experiences In Medieval and Modern Times, (NY & Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987), 35-37. The Golden Age of Dutch Manuscript Painting, Catalogue by Henri L. M. Defoer & others, (The Pierpont Morgan Library, NY) March 1, 1990 -- May 6, 1990. The English edition 1989, p.257 pl. XI 97. Italy, History-Art- Landscape, Mercury Art Books Florence: Edizioni Mercurio, 1954-7, 200-1, The Triumph of Death, Wall-Painting Attributed to Orcagna], angels & demons grasp & tug of war type war over souls newly departed at death. Emile Male, The Gothic Image, Religious Art in France of the Thirteenth Century, (NY: Cathedral Library, Harper Torchbooks, Harper & Brothers Publishers, 1913, 1958 ed., 1st pub. 1913, this ed. from 3rd French edition, arranged by E. P. Dutton & Co., orig. pub. under title: Religious Art in France of the Thirteenth Century, A Study in Mediaeval Iconography and its Sources of Inspiration), 361-389. Johannes Nohl, The Black Death, A Chronicle of the Plague, (Yardley, Pennsylvania: Westholme, first paper back edition, 2006, originally published in 1926, by George Allen & Unwin Ltd.), 129-130, "The Dance of Death" also in between p. 160- 161, Dance of Death, etching by Michael Rentz, 1701-58. Page 261, death clasps the wrist of a child being taken, Death and Child, Dance of Death, German Block Book of about 1465. Georges Duby, Medieval Art, Foundations of A New Humanism, 1280-1440, (Geneva, Switzerland: Editions d' Art Albert Skira S.A, 1995, first published in 1966-67, this edition Book King International, 1995), 80, an example of a hand clasping angelic guide from Nicolas Bataille, active second half of fourteenth century, the Angers Apocalypse, tapestry 1373-80, Museum of Tapestry, Angers. Pages 84--85, shows the Triumph of Death, about 1350, fresco in Campo Santo, Pisa. See also: Roland H. Bainton, Behold the Christ, (USA: Harper, 1974), Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back ed. 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville), indulgences & issues about this work for the living & dead.

1898- John McManners, ed., The Oxford Illustrated History of Christianity, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1990, 54.

1899- Matthew 12:39—41; 16:4; Luke 11:29—30.

1900- Anthony S. Mercatante, The Facts On File Encyclopedia Of World Mythology & Legend, (Oxford, New York: Facts On File, 1988), 108-9.

1901- André Grabar, Early Christian Art, From the Rise of Christianity to the Death of Theodosius, (New York: Odyssey Press, 1968), p. 70, fig. 62. Dura-Europos. 'Christian House,' Baptistry: Christ and St. Peter walking on water. Yale University Art Gallery. Christ lifts up Peter out of the water like unto the hand grips seen in the harrowing of hell, the descent into hell, limbo, hades, etc., and the anastasis. The fact that this art work is in a baptistry seem s to suggest that it was seen as a type of baptism and the descent into the watery abyss. The clasp is similar to others, in that the thumb rests in the middle of the palm area. See: Walter Lowrie, Art in the early Church, (New York, New York: Pantheon Books, 1947), p. 69, 184--87, plate 100 a & b.

1902- The World's Orators, Ed. in Chief, Guy Carleton Lee, Ph.D., Un. Edition, G.P. Putnam's Sons, N.Y., & Lon, The Knickerbocker Press, 1900, 193-214. Stephen D. Ricks, & LeGrand L. Barker, Who Shall Ascend Into the Hill of the Lord? The Psalms In Israel's Temple Worship In The Old Testament and in the Book of Mormon, (SLC, Utah: Eborn Books, 2009), 83-97, The Hymn of the Pearl.

1903- The World's Orators, Editor in Chief, Guy Carleton Lee, Ph.D., Un. Edition, G.P. Putnam's Sons, NY, & Lon., The Knickerbocker Press, 1900, 193-214. The Nicene & Post Nicene Fathers, Vol. XIII, p. 293-301. In the New International Illustrated Encyclopedia Of Art, (General Editorial Consultant, Sir John Rothenstein, C.B.E., Ph.D., LL.D., Greystone Press, NY, MCMLXVII, etc.), in Vol. 2, p. 402-3. See also: Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985), 9-12, 20-32. In Anthony Cutler's Transfigurations (Studies in the Dynamics of Byzantine Iconography), [1975, The Pennsylvania State Un., Park & Lon.], fig. 65, & fig. 85, Athos, Lavra, skevophylakion, fol. 1v, Anastasis, & fig. 87, Trebizond, Hagia Sophia, St. John: Anastasis). The Golden Age of English Manuscript Painting (1200-1500), by Richard Marks & Nigel Morgan, 1981, Pub. by George Brazziller, Inc., N.Y., Fig. III, Portrait of William de Brailes, Cambridge, Fitzwilliam Museum, MS. 330, last Judgment depiction p. 9; Romanesque Art In France, by Joseph Gantner &

- Marcel Pobe, 1956, Pub. by Thames & Hudson, pl. 135, p. 64 for explanation. See also: The Horizon History of Christianity, Roland H. Bainton, English Ed., 1964, by American Heritage Co., 214-15.
- 1904- Carol Zaleski, Otherworld Journeys, Accounts of Near-Death Experiences In Medieval and Modern Times, (New York and Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987), 35-37.
- 1905- Clifford Davidson, The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, & Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Michigan: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan Un. 1994), 8-9.
- 1906- John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity,... (New York: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882), p. 259 & 262.
- 1907- Medieval & Renaissance Manuscripts in the Walters Art Gallery, Vol. 1, France. 875-1420, by Lilian M. C. Randall, etc., 1989, Pub. by The John Hopkins Un. Press in Association with The Walters Art Gallery, Baltimore and London, p. 292, pl. vic, cat. 74, f. 262v; The Devil At Baptism, (Ritual, Theology, and Drama), by Henry Ansgar Kelly, Pub. by Cornell Un. Press, Ithaca & Lon., 1985, p. 10-12 & 17-24, etc.
- 1908- Rings For The Finger, by George Frederick Kunz, originally pub. in 1917, by J. B. Lippincott. Repub. by Dover Pub. NY, 1973, 254-55, n.8, Raoul Rochette, "Tableau des Catacombes de Rome," Paris, 1837, 235, 236.
- 1909- J. Charles Wall, 1906, Devils, (Detroit: Singing Tree Press, Book Tower, 1968, reissued), 123-5.
- 1910- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, & Other Little People, (NY: Gramercy Books, 2000 ed, earlier ed. by Crown Pub., 1978), 357-362, & p. 60-372.
- 1911- <http://www.sacred-texts.com/neu/celt/tfm/tfm138.htm> Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, & Other Little People, NY: Gramercy Books, 2000 ed., earlier ed.s Crown Pub., 1978, 385-386.
- 1912- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 456-457.
- 1913- Hugu Nibley, Temples Of The Ancient World, 1994, Chapter 20, On the Sacred and the Symbolic, p. 588.
- 1914- Heaven & Hell in Western Art, Huges, 8-9, & 243; The Place of Book Illumination in Byzantine Art, Kurt Weitzmann, 40, fig. 33, demons pull some souls off the ladder to heaven & thrust them into the jaws of hell below, those who make it to the top, clasp Christ's hand to enter heaven. The Illustration of the Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, by John Rupert Martin, Pub. Princeton Un. Press, 1954, LIX, fig. 179, CX, fig. 293, etc.; The Ancient Civilization of Byzantium, Antione Bon, 1972, 144, fig.71; The Christian World, ed. Geoffrey Barraclough, Pub. Harry Abrams, Inc., NY, 1981, 100-1; Russian Illuminated Manuscripts, Olga Opova, trans. by Kathleen Cook, Vladimir Ivanov and Lenina Sorokina, CR 1984, Aurora Art Pub., Leningrad, fig. 42; The Prince of Darkness, Russell, 214; Otherworld Journeys Accounts of Near-Death Experience In Medieval And Modern Times, Carol Zaleski, 1987, Oxford, Un. Press, 26-28, 40-42, 61-74, Enoch & Elijah ascend into heaven to receive God's commission & descended bodily into hell to win respite for souls in torment.
- 1915- Jeffrey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness,... Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988, p. 122.
- 1916- Anthony Mercatante, The Facts On File Encyclopedia Of World Mythology & Legend, NY, Oxford: Facts On File, 1988, 108-9.
- 1917- Clara Erskine Clement, ed. by Katherine E. Conway, A Handbook Of Christian Symbols & Stories Of The Saints As Illustrated In Art, (Boston, NY: Houghton Mifflin, Riverside Press Cambridge, 1871, 1881, 1886), 108.
- 1918- Andre Grabar, Christian Iconography, (NY, NY: Bollingen Series XXV & Princeton Un. Press, CR 1968, by the Trustees of the National Gallery of Art, Washington D.C.), 10, fig. 18.
- 1919- Andre Grabar, Christian Iconography, (NY, NY: Bollingen Series XXV & Princeton Un. Press, CR 1968, by the Trustees of the National Gallery of Art, Washington D.C.), 11.
- 1920- Harold Osborne, (Editor), The Oxford Companion To Art, (Oxford, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1970), 525 & 526. Clifton Harby, The Bible In Art, 20 centuries of Famous Bible Paintings, (Garden City, New York: Covici, Friede, 1936), 265. Robert Hughes, Heaven and Hell in Western Art, (New York: Stein and Day/Pub., 1968), 187, the shape of the mouth of the cave reminds us of the jaws of hell. See also pp. 195-7, the shape of hell is in the "traditional fish-shape", and "through gaping fish-mouth pour jubilant flocks of redeemed souls, raising their arms towards the mandorla in which Christ has floated down to them." See also: Geoffrey Barraclough, The Christian World, (Lon., Eng.: Thames & Hudson, & NY: Harry N. Abrams, 1981), 8-9. Sheldon Cheney, A World History of Art, (NY: The Viking Press, 1947), 467.
- 1921- Ivory Carvings In Early Medieval England, by John Beckwith, Pub. by New York Graphic Society LTD, Harvey Miller & Medcalf 1972. Fig.20. This art work is said to be an Anglo-Saxon work dated back to the 8th century A.D. And can be seen in the London, Victoria & Albert Museum [Cat.5]. Les Ivories Gothiques, op. cit., pl. LVI, No. 220. Berlin. coll. du Prof. Weisbach; pl. CXLVI, No. 823 bislyon, coll Baboin; pl. CLIV, No. 858, Londers, Victoria and Albert Museum; pl. CLXVII, No. 955; pl. CLXVIII, No. 959; Ikonen, by Konrad Onasch, 1961, Gutterslocher Verlashaus Gerd Mohn, #73 & 39; Art and Archaeology (The Arts Throughout the Ages), Vol. XXVII, p.82, Feb. 1929, Number 2, Neopalimaya Kupina, The Unconsuming One, shows, among other scenes, the descent, in which Christ, with his right hand grasps the right hand of a person being raised. Early Christian and Byzantine Art, #713, 705, 612, lxxx, p.122-139, showing the descent of Christ, or the harrowing, with different types of clasps, some on the wrist, others on the hand. See also: Heaven and Hell in Western Art, by Robert Huges, 1968, p.180-191; La Resurrection Du Christ, Dans L'Art Chretien Du Ile Au VIIe Siecle, Villette, op. cit., plates XLIV-XLVIII. Romanesque Frescoes, by Edgar Waterman Anthony, Princeton Un. Press, 1951, Princeton, New Jersey, intro. p.47, & p.190, fig.470, Chaldon, SS. Peter & Paul. W. Wall. Ladder of Salvation, showing souls ascending a ladder, etc., plus the descent of Christ into hell in which the souls coming forth clasps Christ's right hand. See also fig. 132. S. Angelo in Formis, Church. N. Wall of Nave. New Testament Scenes, depicting Christ's descent, in which he is in the act of lifting a person up by grasping, with his right hand, the person's right hand wrist. See also figs. 49 & 51. Rome, S. Clemente, Lower Church, Nave. Descent into hell, etc. Christ clasp the right wrist of a person with his right hand. See also fig. 40. London, British Museum. Ms. Cott. Tib. c. VI (Psalter), fol. 14 ro. Harrowing of Hell, showing satan bound as souls come forth from the jaws of hell to be blessed and grasped by the hand by a giant Christ. See also: Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, O'Reilly, op. cit., pp. 356-7, where it mentions depictions of Christ from the iconography of the Anastasis "where He grasps Adam and Eve to deliver them from Hell".
- 1922- A Dictionary Of Angels, Including the Fallen Angels, Gustav Davidson, 1967 Free Press, NY, Collier-Macmillan, Lon., 25. Propylaen Kunstgeschichte In Achtzehn Banden, Band 3 Byzanz Und Der Christliche Osten, Von Wolfgang Fritz Volbach Und Jacqueline Lafontaine-Dosogne, 1968, Propylaen Verlag Berlin, fig. 15, X, & 47. Legenda Aurea: Sept Siecles De Diffusion, Editions Bellarmin, Montreal 1986, 236. Colleen McDannell & Bernhard Lang, Heaven: A History, New Haven & Lon.: Yale Un. Press, 1988, 187, pl.34, J. Flaxman, 1784.

1923- An early resurrection monument of Christ "ascending a hill with a roll in one hand, while the other is grasped by the hand of the Eternal Father, as it is seen reaching down out of heaven. It is an ivory carving, and said to belong to the fifth or sixth century. It is at Munich." (John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (New York: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882), p. 268, see Mrs. Eastlake in Mrs. Jameson's "History of our Lord," Vol. II, p. 263, 2nd Ed. Lond. 1865). See also: Early Christian Art, Text by W.F. Volbach, Photo. by Max Hirmer, Pub. by A. Abrams, fig. 93, Munich, Bavarian National Museum, dated in this source "c. 400". In a 10th century work of Christ's ascension into heaven, the right hand of the Father extends out of heaven to clasp Christ's right hand (New International Illustrated Encyclopedia Of Art, op. cit., Vol. 15, pp. 3054-55). A similar clasp is seen in: Romanesque Bible Illumination, by Walter Cahn, Cornell Un. Press, 1982, Ithaca, N.Y., pp. 210-11, fig. 171. See also: Monuments of Romanesque Art, by Hanns Swarzenski, (2nd ed.), 1967, pl. 66, fig. 151, 10th century ascension, showing an angel clasping the hand of Christ, while the Father clasps Christ's wrist. In a 11th century depiction of the parable about Lazarus, angels come to Lazarus' soul, one clasps his hands while the other angel lifts him up, while the ritch man is taken hold of by dark demons who have come to take his soul away. (Jeffery Burton Russell's book: The Prince of Darkness, (Radical Evil And the Power of Good In History), Cornell Un. Press, 1988, Ithaca, N.Y., p. 134, Manuscript illumination from the Pericope Book of Henry II, Germany). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1986). Chandler Rathfon Post, A History of Spanish Painting, (Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1930-1958). (New York: Kraus reprint Company, 1970's), Francis Bond, Fonts and Font Covers, (Lon., NY, & Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford Un. Press, 1908). Jeanne Villette, La Resurrection Du Christ, Dans L'Art Chretien Du Iie Au VIIe Siecle, (Paris, France: Henri Laurens, Editeur, 1957). John Beckwith, Early Christian and Byzantine Art, (USA: Penguin Books, 1970 & 1979). John Lowden, Early Christian and Byzantine Art, (New York: Phaidon Press Ltd., 1997, reprinted 1998, 2001, 2005, 2008). John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1954). Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsächsischen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), three volumes. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen.

1924- Anastasis, The Making of An Image, Anna D. Kartsonis, Pub. by Princeton Un. Press, 1986, p.72, etc. The Gospel In Art, Albert E. Bailey, 1916, Pilgrim Press, Boston & Chicago, p.382-385; The Birth of the Christian Religion, Loisy, p. 260-1, Christ "became man that he might deliver men from their bondage to death and lead them forth into immortality" [see Hebrews 2:5-18]. See also: The Golden Legend of Jacobus de Voragine, (Trans. and adapted from the Latin by Granger Ryan and Helmut Ripperger), 1941, Arno Press, A Publishing and Library service of the N.Y. Times, N.Y., 1969, p. 293. Isa. 42:6-7; Eph.4:7-10; 1 Pet. 3:15-22, 4:5-6; etc.

1925- The Nicene and Post Nicene Fathers, Vol. IX, p.72-3, Chapter XXIX; John of Damascus, Exposition of the Orthodox Faith, translated by the Rev. S. D. F. Salmond, D.D., F.E.I.S.

1926- Ariel L. Crowley, BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD, (Boise Idaho: Prepared for Electronic Media by Stanley D. Barker. Roger J. Adams, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptisms for the Dead, (unpublished manuscript 1977). Hugu W. Nibley, Baptism for the Dead in Ancient Time, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Improvement Era, 51—52, (December 1948—April 1949). John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (New York: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). John Lawrence Mosheim, D.D., An Ecclesiastical History, (London: Translated from the original Latin and notes by Archibald MacLaine, D.D., 1819), six volumes. Pater Cramer, Baptism and change in the early Middle Ages, c. 200-c. 1150, (Cambridge, England; New York, New York, USA: Cambridge University Press, 1993). Thomas Armitage, D.D., LL.D., A History Of The Baptists, (New York: Bryah, Taylor, & Chicago: Morningside, 1887).

1927- John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1954). The Renaissance, Six Essays Wallace K. Ferguson, Robert S. Lopez, George Sarton, Roland H. Bainton, Leicester Bradner, Erwin Panofsky, (New York: Harper and Row, Harper Torchbooks, 1962, The Academy Library, CR 1953, by The Metropolitan Museum of Art), Essay IV: Man, God, And The Church in the Age of the Renaissance, by Bainton, 77—96.

1928- Rutherford H. Platt, Jr., Assistant Editor J. Alden Brett, The Forgotten Books of Eden, (U.S.A.: Alpha House, Inc., 1927), The First Book of Adam and Eve, p.34. Jeffrey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988), p.122. Michel Pierre, Morgan -- Antoine Sabbagh, The Human Story, Europe In The Middle Ages, (Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Sliver Burdett Press, 1988), p. 34, originally published in 1986 by Casterman, under the title: L' Histoire des Hommes: L' Europe du Moyen Age. Anthony S. Mercatante, The Facts On File Encyclopedia Of World Mythology & Legend, 1988, p.57; The World Of Giotto c. 1267-1337, p.189, etc. Italy, (Mercury Books, 1954-7), pp.200—01. Kurt Weitzmann, The Place of Book Illumination in Byzantine Art, pp.40-1, figures 33—34; John Rupert, Martin, The Illustration of the Heavenly Ladder Of John Climacus, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1954), LIX, fig.179, etc.; Antione Bon, The Ancient Civilizations of Byzantium, p.144, etc. Barraclough, The Christian World, pp.100-1, Olga Popova, Translated by Kathleen Cook, Vladimir Ivanov and Lenina Sorokina, Russian Illumination Manuscript, (Leningrad: Aurora Art Publishing, 1984; U.S.A.: Thames and Hudson, Inc.), # 42: The Ladder to Paradise of St John Climacus. The Ladder, f.2 Lenin Library, Moscow (Desnitsky collection, Ö. 439, ms 21, 1 Moscow, dated first third part of the 15th century Paper 20; 431 ff., 2 Collection of professor Vasily Desnitsky A.D. 1878—1958; 1962, MSS Dept., of the Lenin Library, Moscow Russia, with the Desnitsky collection. Sir Herbert Read, Dr. Donald E. Strong, Professors David Talbot Rice and Giuseppe Bovini, and G. Zarnecki, Peter Lasko, Dr. George Henderson, The Book of Art, A Pictorial Encyclopedia of Painting, Drawing, and Sculpture, (Grolier Inc., 1965), vol. 1, Origins of Western Art, p. 138, A: The Dormition of the Virgin, 10th century, Cologne, Schnütgen Mus. Angel descend with cloth to cloth Mary's soul in, as also seen in another section. Pages 132—33, C: The Dormition of the Virgin: from the Winchester Psalter, about 1160. London, B.M., (MS. Cotton Nero C IV, f. 21r.) Angels descending with garments or robes to cloth the soul of the Virgin Mary. Christ appears with his apostles, at the moment of her death. The hand of God extends out of heaven to bless the moment. British Library Series No. 3: The Benedictines in Britain, (Great Russell Street, London: The British Library, 1980), pp. 32— 33, plate 16. Clifford Davidson, Editor, The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, and Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Kalamazoo, Michigan: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan University, 1994), p. 9, British Library, MS. Lansdowne 383, fol. 168v. Mid-12th century depiction of souls ascending to heaven on a napkin in the hands of Michael the archangel. From a miniature in the Shaftesbury Psalter. Donald Matthew, Atlas of Medieval Europe, (New York; Oxford: Facts on File, 1983, 1984, 1986, 1989), pp. 84—85. Hand clasping angelic guide and another with the robe for the ascending soul of a hermit named Guthlac, A.D. 667—714, the hermit saint of Crowland, 12th c. ink drawing. 2nd one down on page 85. Herbert Read, (Sir), Dr. Peter Murray, Mrs. Linda Murray, & others, The Book of Art, (NY: Grolier, 1976), in three volumes, vol.1, p.

234, Giovanni Da Milano, The Martyrdom of St. Catherine of Alexandria, about 1354. An angel descends with a white blanket or robe, for when the martyr's naked soul begins to ascend.

1929- James Reston, Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, & the Defeat of the Moors, NY: Doubleday, 2005.

1930- Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (New York, San Diego, U.S.A.; London, England: Harcourt Brace & Company). Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986). Ariel L. Crowley, Statement of Beliefs of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints: Doctrines and Practices, (Idaho City, Idaho: Deseret News Press, 1961), see the chapter on: BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD. Carol Zaleski, Otherworld Journeys, Accounts of Near-Death Experiences In Medieval and Modern Times, (New York and Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987). Chandler Rathfon Post, A History of Spanish Painting, (Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1930—1958). (New York: Kraus reprint Company, 1970's), in numerous volumes. Colleen McDannell and Bernhard Lang, Heaven: A History, (New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1988). Craig Harbison, The Last Judgment in Sixteenth Century Northern Europe, (New York, U.S.A., and London, England: Garland Pub. Inc., 1976). Ernst and Johanna Lehner, Devils, Demons, Death and Damnation, (New York: Dover Pictorial Archive Series, Dover Publishing Inc., 1971). Francis Bond, Fonts and Font Covers, (London, New York, and Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford University Press, 1908). Frederick S. Paxton, Christianizing Death, The Creation of a Ritual Process in Early Medieval Europe, (Ithaca & London: Cornell University Press, 1990). Geoffrey Abbott, Rack, Rope and Red-Hot Pincers, A History of Torture And Its Instruments, (London: Brockhampton Press, 1993). Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments Of Romanesque Art, The Art of Church Treasures in North-Western Europe, (The University of Chicago Press, 1954 and 2nd, Edition, 1967). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo & SLC, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company), Volume 3: The World And The Prophets, Volume 4: Mormonism and Early Christianity, (1987). Nibley, Baptism for the Dead in Ancient Time, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Improvement Era, 51—52, (December 1948—April 1949). James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 493. J. M. Sjødahl, The Reign of Antichrist, Or The Great "Falling Away", (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1913). Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, (Washington Square, NY, NY: Pantheon Books, 1947). Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsächsischen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), three volumes. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, München.

1931- Library of Fathers, Vol. II, p. 260-269, Lectures On the Mysteries, XIX-XXI, S. Cyril of Jerusalem, Archbishop, 4th cent. A.D., Pub. Oxford, John Henry Parker; London, MDCCCXXXIX, in connection with the rites of baptism and anointing, Cyril said: "Being therefore made partakers of Christ, ye are properly called Christs, and of you God said, Touch not My Christs, or anointed. (Heb. 3:14; Ps. 105:15) Now ye were made Christs, by receiving the emblem of the Holy Ghost; and all things were in a figure wrought in you, because ye are figures of Christ." He goes on to say that the anointing was made on the forehead, ears, nostrils, and breast. "Then on your breast; that having put on the breastplate of righteousness, ye may stand against the wiles of the devil. For as Christ after His baptism, and the descent of the Holy Ghost, went forth and vanquished the adversary, so likewise, having, after Holy Baptism and the Mystical Chrism, put on the whole armour of the Holy Ghost, do ye stand against the power of the enemy, and vanquish it, saying, I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me." (Phil. 4:13)." (Library of Fathers, Vol. II, p. 267-9). See also: Ephesians 6:10-19; The Westminster Dictionary of Christian Theology, Edited by Richardson and Bowden, op. cit., p. 22, see Anointing, by J. Martos, "An anointing with oil which signified the reception of the Holy Spirit very early became part of the rite of baptism..." See also: Our Christian Heritage, (Church History and the Episcopal Church), by Powel Mills Dawley, Pub. by Morehouse-Barlow Co., N.Y., 1959, 3rd ed., 1960, p. 49-50; Baptism For The Dead, Adam, 1977, op. cit., p. 48; The Other Bible, ed. by Willis Barnstone, 1984, Harper & Row, Pub. San. Fran. "The Gospel of Philip" [2nd half of the 3rd cent. A.D.], p.96: The Temple And Its Significance, compiled by Joseph C. Muren, Temple Publications, Ogden Utah, 1973, 3rd printing, see pp. 208-9, & saying No. 95; The Teaching of The Twelve Apostles Or, The Oldest Church Manual The Didache and Kindred Documents in the Original, by Philip Schaff, D.D. LL.D., New York: Funk & Wagnalls, Pub., Astor Place, 1890, pp. 275-6; The Nicene And Post Nicene Fathers, (2nd Series), Vol. X, St. Ambrose, On the Mysteries, Chapters VI-VIII, pp. 321-3; reprinted Aug. 1979; see also Vol. V, p. 321, Gregory, Bishop of Nyssa, 4th cent., and pp. 269-71, Ephraim Syrus, in the 15 Hymns for the feast of the Epiphany, translated by Rev. A Edward Johnston, B.A., see Hymn III; & pp 518-25, Gregory of Nyssa; Vol. XII, pp. 152-3, see note 6; New Catholic Encyclopedia, CR 1967, by the Catholic Un. of America, Wash., D.C., Vol. I, pp. 567-8). In earlier centuries the anointing ritual was often connected with baptism, which was a ritualistic type of death, burial and the resurrection. (Colossians 2:12; Romans 6:2-6; Basil, De Baptismo; Chrysostom, Hom. xxv, In Joannem; Hom. xl., In Epist. ad Rom.; Baptism For The Dead, Adam, op. cit., pp. 9-10, & 48-9, etc.) Perhaps as time went by this type may have become part of the "Extreme Unction" which was given to a person who was sick, etc., and who was believed to be near death. And even though baptism had been the ritualistic type of death, burial and resurrection; the extreme unction was often given to those who were believed to be facing not the ritualistic type of death, but the real thing. Thus, the dying person would be anointed on the eyes, mouth, nose, ears, hands and feet. (See: Records of Christianity, Vol. II, (Christendom), by David Ayerst & A.S.T., Fisher, CR Basil Blackwell, 1977, pub. in the USA by Harper & Row, Inc., & Barnes & Noble Books, N.Y., p. 225). Upon being baptized they became a proxies for those of their friends or kindred who needed the seal of baptism in order to escape out of the spirit prison. And like Christ, they too would also bring out spirits who had been held in captivity. They would be clothed in a resurrected bodies, & garment, the garment in the mysteries being a type of this. Baptismal garments: See: The Garments Of The First And Second Adam: [The Symbolical Meanings Of Garments In Early To Later Christendom], By Darell Thorpe, OCT. 1993, an unpublished research paper and file. See also: Greek & Syrian Miniatures in Jerusalem, by William Henry Paine Hatch, Pub., by the Medieval Academy of Amer., Cam., Mass, 1931, p.68-9, pl.12, the baptism. Greec, xi, fol.172. See also: G. de Jerphanion, Les eglises rupestres de Cappadoce (Paris: Geuthner, 1925-28.), pl.78, 89, 103, & 119; The Salerno Ivories (Arts Sacra from Medieval Amalfi), by Robert P. Bergman, Harvard Un. Press, Lon., Eng., 1980 & Fellows of Harvard Col. fig., 169, Baptism, ivory plaque, Lugano, Thyssen-Bornemisza Collection; Art in the Early Church, by Walter Lowrie, Pub. by Phatheon Books, Wash., Sq., N.Y., 1947, pl.121 a, top portion; The Horizon History of Christianity, by the Ed. of Horizon Mag., Marshall B. Davidson, written by Roland H. Bainton, 1964- A.H.P.C.; Art & Mankind, Larousse Encyclopedia of Byzantine & Medieval Art, General Ed., Rene Huyghe, Prof. in the Col. of France, Pub. by Prometheus Press, N.Y., 1958- Auge, Gillon, Hollier-Larousse, Moreau et Cie (Librairie Larousse, Paris, this ed., 1963- Paul Hamlyn LTD, Lon. p.240, fig. 501, baptismal font in Hildesheim cathedral. See also p.237, fig.497, detail from the baptismal font in St. Bartholomew, Liege; Art of the Medieval World, by George Zarnecki, Pub. by Harry N. Abrams, Inc. N.Y., fig.154, depicting the baptism of Christ. Gospels of Etchmiadzin, 6th century A.D. Matenadaran Library (Ms. 2374), Erevan; The Book of Art (A Pictorial Encyclopedia of Painting, Drawing, & Sculpture) Origins of Western Art, texts by Dr. Donald

E. Strong & others, Prof. Giuseppe Bovini, & Prof. David Talbot Rice, Peter Laske, Prof. G. Zarnecki & George Henderson, Pub. by Grolier Inc., N.Y., Montreal, Mexico City & Sydney, p.104, A. Metz School. Ivory casket, depicting baptism, 10th century A.D., Brunswick, Herzog Anton Ulrich Mus.; The Art of Byzantine Empire (Byzantine Art In The Middle Ages), by Andre Grabar, Tarns., by Betty Forster, 1st Ed., pub. in 1963, Holle Verlag G.M.B.H., Baden-Baden, Germany, English Trans., 1966, by Methuen & Co., LTD., Crown Pub., Inc., N.Y., p.125, pl.27, the baptism, a mosaic at the Hosios Lucas in Phocias, ca. 1000. Cf., p.124; Byzantine Painting (Historical & Critical Study) by Andre Grabar, Pub. by Skira Rizzoli, New York, 1979, first pub. in 1953. Page 116, in the Nave, Church of Daphni; Studies In Classical & Byzantine Manuscript Illumination, by Kurt Weitzmann, Ed. by Herbert L. Kessler, Pub. by The Un. of Chicago Press, Chic. & Lon., 1971, page 272, fig. 261, Vatican, Biblioteca. Cod. gr. 1613, p.299, Baptism of Christ; another baptismal depiction is seen on page 273, fig. 262 (Baltimore, Walters Art Gallery. Cod. W 521, fol. 38r. This is very similar to the other one mentioned. See also page 274, fig. 263, (Mount Athos, Dionysiu. Cod. 587, fol. 141v. Page 282 fig. 275 Paris, Bib. Nat. Cod. gr. 74, fol. 169r. Page 308 fig. 305 Mount Sinai, St. Catherine's Icon. 12 Feast, pp. 309, 312, fig. 308, Mount Sinai, St. Catherine's Icon. Deesis & 12 feasts. Studies In Classical & Byzantine Manuscript Illumination, Weitzmann, op. cit., p.272, fig. 261, p.274, fig.263, p.282, fig. 275, p.308-9, fig. 305, & p.312, fig.308; Iconography of Christian Art, by Gertrud Schiller, Vol.1, trans., by Janet Seligman, 1966 & 77, New York Graphic Soc. Greenwich, Conn., #364., dated c.1170 Hortus Deliciarum; Monuments of Romanesque Art, by Hanns Swarzenski, 1954 & 1967, Un. of Chic., pl.113, fig. 253 & 258, see also: Art of the Medieval World, by George Zarnecki, Pub. Harry N. Abrams, N.Y., 1975, dated "1107-1118" A.D. The baptismal font of Renier de Huy, Church of St. Barthelemy, Liege. See also: 1 Kings 7:23-4; Jer.52:20; Schiller, op. cit., #374, Manuscript Illumination, c. 1200. Lower Saxony, Codex, Trier Cath; Classical Inspiration In Medieval Art, by Walter Oakshott, 1959, Frederick A. Praeger, Pub., N.Y., Pl.III, fig., A, the Liege font, with medieval art works dated back to the 12-13th century A.D., see also: pl.III, fig.B; The Icon, by Kurt Weitzmann, & others, 1982, by Arnoldi Editore, pub. Alfred A. Knopf, N.Y., p.170. Greek work at Ohrid Tempera on wood. The Church of the Virgin Pribleptos, cent. 1300. Gallery of icons in the church of St. Clement, Ohrid, Macedonia; The Art of the Copts, by Pierre M. Du Bourguet, S. J. (Translated by Caryl Hay-Shaw) 1967 & 1971. Pub. Crown Pub. Inc. New York. pp. 176-7; La Peinture Byzantine, by Paul Muratoff, (Pub. Paris A. Weber, MCMXXXV). Plate CXXIV; Pl. CXCI; Episodes de L'Histoire de S. Jean Baptiste Detail du Tableau d'autel - Art Neo-Hellenistique (1250-1270) Academie, Sienne, pl. CCXLVII, Pl. CCXLVIII; Iconography of Christian Art, op. cit., #365; Jerusalem A History, by E.O. James, Pub. by G.P. Putnam's Sons, N.Y., Ed. by J. Boudet, p.131, the Baptism of Jesus, Barna, 14th century A.D., fresco at San Gimignano; Frescoes of the Church of the Assumption At Volotovo Poly, Text by M.V. Alpatov, & others, pub. by Moscow Iskusstvo 1977, fig.96, baptism, Fresco on the southern wall about 1380 A.D.; Byzantine Painting, Grabar, op. cit., p.190-1, this art work is part of a 6 part depiction, 2nd down on the right, "SIX OF THE GREAT FEASTS OF THE YEAR." Dated back to the 14th century A.D. Portable mosaic, Opera Del Duomo, Florence; The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, by Edward Gibbon, Vol.III, 1185-1453 A.D., page 437, Pub. by The Modern Library, New York, see also footnote 57 on p.437. "Framea scutoque juvenem ornant. Tacitus, Germania, c. 13." L'Iconographie De L'evangile, Aux XIVe, XVe Et XVIe Siecles, by Gabriel Millet, Pub. in Paris, Editions E. De Boccard, 1960, p.23, fig. 3, p. 25, fig. 4, & pp. 170-215; An old vestment has a number of scenes on it, one of which is the descent. (Textile Art in the Church, by Marion P. Ireland, 1966, 1971, pp. 114-115, fig. 52a). St. Gregory the Great mentions the white vestment (birrum) in which a person was clothed when he rose from the font. St. Ambrose calls the garments of the mysteries the chaste veil of innocence. While S. Cyril of Jerusalem in his lectures on the mysteries called it the garment of salvation, and said that it was a type of the cloth that Christ's body was covered in while his body was in the tomb. (N&PNF) Vol.13. p.3 Ep.6; Vol.x, pp.321-3, chap.6-7; Library of Fathers, Vol.2, p.260-66, Lec. xix-xx); Art in the Early Church, Lowrie, pl.121; Iconography of Christian Art by Gertrud Schiller, Vol.I, fig.376. Zech.3:1-4. Behold the Christ, Bainton, p.79, fig.76. Rev.7:14-17 & Christ Lore, by Fredk. WM. Hackwood, p.117. Baptism For the Dead, Roger Adam, pl.16, p.29, see his note 23, from "Cote, Archaeology, 53." Ad Fabiolam, Ep.cxxvii. Baptism for the Dead, Adam, op. cit., p.57-9 & 61). Textile Art in the Church, by Marion P. Ireland, 1966, 67, & 1971, Pub. Abingdon Press., Nashville & N.Y., p. 73; The Toledo Museum Of Art European Paintings, (The Toledo Mus. of Art, Tol. Ohio., Dist. by Penn. State Un., Press, 1st printing 1976, Designed by Harvey Retzloff, p.389. Acc. no. 48.74. "SPIRIDION CHRYSOLORAS 17th Century. Cretan. The Baptism of Christ."; Treasures From The Kremlin, (An Exhibition from the State of Museums of the Moscow Kremlin at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, N.Y., May 19-Sept. 1979, and Grand Palais, Paris, Oct. 12, 1979 & Jan. 7, 1980), Pub. by Metro. Mus., of Art, N.Y., Distrib. by Harry N. Abrams, Inc., pp.70 & 166, pl.39. One of the traditions that preserved in part the use of baptismal garments, in later centuries was the festival known as "Whitsuntide", Whit Sunday, or "White Sunday." (CELEBRATIONS (The Complete Book of American Holidays), by Robert J. Myers, with The Editors of Hallmark Cards, Doubleday & Co., Garden City, N.Y., 1972, pp.108 & 156-7; A Holiday Book, Easter, by Lillie Patterson, 1966, pp.21-22; A Crowell Holiday Book, Easter, by Aileen Fisher, 1968, Pub. Thomas Y. Crowell Co., N.Y., pages not numbered; The Facts On File Encyclopedia Of World Mythology And Legend, by Anthony S. Mercatante, 1988, Facts On File, N.Y., Oxford, p.673; Concise Dictionary of Holidays, Raymond Jahn, Pub. by Philosophical Library, N.Y., 1958, p.100; A Dictionary of Days, by Leslie Dunkling, Pub. Facts On File Pub., N.Y., N.Y., Oxford, England, p.131; Easter And Other Spring Holidays, by Gilda Berger, Pub. by Franklin Watts, N.Y., Lon., Toronto, Sydney 1983, A First Book, p.38; Biblical Myths & Mysteries, by Gilbert Thurlow, Pub. by Octopus Books, 1974, London, p.64). Rev. 1:6; 2:17; 3:4-5, 12, 21, 10:7; Rom.16:25; 1 Cor.2:7; 4:1; Col.2:1-3; 1 Tim.3:8-9. & Historical Commentaries on the State of Christianity, Dr. Johann L. Mosheim, 1854, Vol.1. pp.77, 127, 373, 391, Vol.2 p.472. Gen.3:21; Ex.28:2; 29:4-30; 40:7-16; Lev.14:14-29; Num.18:8; Isa.1:16-18; 22:21-3; 52:15; Ezk.36:24-27; 41:1-23; 42:14; 44:17-21, etc. ANF 2: p.49-50, 54, 91-3, 104-5, 174, 198-200, 203-6, 209-11, 213, 215-219, 231, here Clement of Alex., mentions being anointed & clothed in a garment, symbolic of Christ. He also made reference to "the robe of immortality". See also p.234, 253-56, 265-6, 271, 302-3, 312-13, 461-2, etc. Monuments of Romanesque Art, Hanns Swarzenski, 1954 & 1967, Un. of Chicago Press, pl. 20, fig.45, pl.173, fig. 380, & 381, pl.173; Anastasis, Kartsonis, p.72, etc.; An Illustrated History of England, by F.E. Halliday, 1967-8, The Viking Press, N.Y., p.47, an art work depicting souls riding up on a garment in the hands of the angel ("St. Michael") towards God. (12th century A.D. Shaftesbury Psalter.); The Painted Romanesque Ceiling Of St. Martin In Zillis, Text by Ernst Murbach, Pub. by Frederick A. Praeger, N.Y., & Wash., 1967, English trans., see: J-II; The Toledo Museum of Art European Paintings, Pub. by the Tol. Mu. of A., Toledo Ohio, Dist. by Penn. State Un., Press, p.389, Spiridon Chrysoloras 17th century A.D.; The Voices of the Cathedral, by Sartell Prentice, 1938, p.174; Byzantine Wall Painting In Asia Minor, Plates II, by Marcell Restle 1967, pl.28, & pl.203; Italy, by Mercury Art Books, Florence: Edizioni Mercurio 1954-7, p.231; Ethiopia Illuminated Manuscripts, by Otto A. Jager, Pub. by the NY Graphic Soc. & Unesco. pl.13; Ludmila Kybalova's book: Coptic Textiles, 1967, p.68-69 fig.15-16, & p.34; BYU Un., Studies Vol.22, Winter 1982 #1 pp.31-45, St. Ambrose, (Hamman, Traite des Mysteries in L'Initiation Chretienne, p.74; B.Y.U. Studies, Vol.22, Winter 1982, #1, p.31-45. Heb. 10:16-22; Brigham Young Un. Studies Vol.22, Winter 1982 #1, p.31-45, Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity, by Blake Ostler; The Gospel Of Philip, by R.

Mcl. Wilson, B.D., Ph.D., p.87-91, etc. We read of garments which were used as part of the baptismal ordinances, & which were symbolic types of what happens to the spiritual & mortal bodies. Thus, in some cases the garment in many Gnostic & even anti-Gnostic sources, is symbolic of the body. (p.87-91).

1932- The Pastor Hermas, I, Chap. II, tells the leaders of the Church to be righteous, steadfast, and doubt not, so that when they died their "passage" or otherworld journey "may be with the holy angels." (The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 2, p. 11). Clement of Alex., with the help of symbolical types, wrote that the three days that Christ was in the grave, having risen on the 3rd day. These things were a type of the 3 immersions, or "The three days may be the mystery of the seal, [n. Baptism. Into the Triad] in which God is really believed." Clement then seems to hint to how Abraham had been in the realms of the dead & had been initiated by the angel. He hints to the type of baptism being as a type of the realm of the dead, for Abraham was "in the realms of generation," or baptism. (The Ante Nicene Fathers, 2: p.462.) Huge Nibley tells us that R. Akiba, cited by S. A. Horodezky, wrote that the Jews "...once taught that when Michael & Gabriel lead all the sinners up out of the lower world, 'they will wash & anoint them of their wounds of hell, & clothed them with beautiful pure garments & bring them into the presence of God.'" (What is a Temple, by Huge Nibley, (IDE-T), (The Idea of a Temple in History), Reprinted by F.A.R.M.S., from: The Millennial Star 120 (Aug. 1958), p.228-237, see pages 234, & 249, ft. nt.s 52, op, cit., & 56. R. Akiba, cited by S. A. Horodezky, in Monatsschr.f. Gesch. u. Wins. des Judentums LXXII. 505.

1933- Butler's Lives of the Saints, revised edition by Herbert Thurston, S.J., & Donald Attwater, Vol.III, July. August. September, Pub. P.J. Kenedy & Sons, NY, 1956, p.678-9. Deutsche Spatgotische Malerei, 1430-1500, Alfred Stange, Karl Robert Langewiesche Nachfolger, 1965, see p. 14. Some stone works, a number of angel "hold the hands of the little persons whom they cover with their mantels. These are symbols of the souls tenderly borne to paradise." (Holy days and Holidays, (The Medieval Pilgrimage to Compostela), by Horton and Marie-Helene Davies, Pub. Lewisburn, Bucknell Un., Press, Lon., & Toronto, 1982, p.147, see also pp.140-49. An interesting depiction of Christ's descent shows Christ clasping the wrists of Adam and Eve, but also angels descend down into an open pit, perhaps to also raise souls up out of the underworld. (Handbuch Der Ikonenkunst, Slavisches Institut Munchen, 1966, 71, 125, 144, 157, & 308).

1934- Heaven & Hell in Western Art, by Robert Huges, 1968, p. 180-191. Encyclopedia Of World Art, Pub. by McGraw-Hill Book Co., N.Y., Toronto, Lon., 1960), Vol. III, pl. 12.

1935- Death & the Afterlife in Modern France, by Thomas A. Kselman, Princeton Un. Press, Princeton, N.J., 1993, p.87-88, no.5 "Another Angel in Heaven. Holy card distributed by Bouasse-Lebel, mid-nineteenth century". A child died an was carried into heaven by angels. In some cases, dead children were considered to have become angels whose prayers in Heaven would redeem their entire family. On p. 120, fig. 7, shows an angel clasping the hands of a soul being raised out of the fires of purgatory. Church Monuments in Romantic England, by Nicholas Penny, (Pub. for the Paul Mellon Centre for Studies in British Art by Yale Un. Press, New Haven & Lon., 1977, see p. 90-97, figs. 66-72, p. 98, fig. 74 shows an angel grasping the hands of a couple of souls who were resurrected. On p.102-3, an angel ascend with a soul towards heaven, p. 127, fig. 94; Archaeological Discoveries, Mancini, p. 168. In coming up out of the font, (again, the font was a type of the spirit prison, grave, limbo, hades, the pit., etc.,) the Lord would reach down to clasp their hand. Clement seems to hint to this, when he wrote concerning the descent of Christ into hades. "For some the Lord exhorts, and to those who have already made the attempt he stretches forth His hand, & draws them up." ANF 2:490-2, Isa.42:6-7). This is what we see many times in the art works of the harrowing of hell, the descent, etc. (Anastasis, Kartsonis, p.72, etc. Gothic Painting I, p.48; Christian Art, C.R. Morey, p.86; The Human Story, Europe In The Middle Ages, by Michel Pierre, Morgan -- Antoine Sabbagh, Pub. by Silver Burdett Press, Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey, 1988, see p. 34, orig. pub. 1986 by Casterman, under the title: L' Histoire des Hommes: L' Europe du Moyen Age.) An Illustrated Cultural History Of England, by F.E. Halliday, 1967-8, A Studio Book, The Viking Press, NY, p.47 & p.68: "Opus anglicanum. English ecclesiastical embroidery was recognized as the finest in medieval Europe. Detail from the Syon Cope, c. 1280. The Gospel Of Philip, by R. Mcl. Wilson, Pub., A.R. Mowbray, London, p.179; Art in the Early Church, by Walter Lowrie, Pub. by Phatheen Books, Wash., Sq., NY, NY, 1947, pl.121 a, top portion; The Horizon History of Christianity, by the Ed. of Horizon Mag., Marshall B. Davidson, written by Roland H. Bainton, 1964- A.H.P.C.; The March Of The Cross, by Leonard W. Cowie, 1962, (First Pub. in Great Britain by Weidenfeld & Nicolson LTD. 1962), & 1st pub. in the USA by McGraw-Hill Book Co., Inc., NY, Toronto, & Lon., 1962, p.58, fig.61; Studies In Classical & Byzantine Manuscript Illumination, p.272; The Life Of Our Lord In Art, With Some Account Of The Artistic Treatment Of The Life Of St. John The Baptist, by Estelle M. Hurl, 1898, Boston & NY., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., The Riverside Press, Cambridge, MDCCCXCVIII, p. 314, XXVII, The Descent into Limbus. According to the "Latin Gospel of Nicodemus, Christ was occupied with the liberation of the souls of the patriarchs and prophets of the old dispensation. In the typical composition Christ carries the resurrection banner, and standing on a higher level reaches out a helping hand to the company of long-bearded old men who flock eagerly towards him with lifted faces and outstretched arms." See also: Monumente Istoricie Bisericesiti Din Mitropolia Moldovet Si Sucevei, 1974, p. 41, figs. 23-4; Art Treasures of Eastern Europe, by Anthony Rhodes, 1940, Pub., by G.P. Putnam's Sons, N.Y., one of the wall paintings from the Boyana Church shows Christ's descent into hell. With his right hand, Christ grasps the left wrist of Adam to raise him. In some cases, during the early Christian baptismal mystery the catechumens would receive a new name, take a baptismal vow or oath, strip their old garments to receive new ones, and would be guided by the hand. They must have also received a number of hand grips similar to the ones depicted in the art works that show Christ's descent in to the underworld, etc., and his ascension into heaven, etc. They also received the imposition of hands--(laying on of hands on their heads), and would pass through a veil or curtain that was hung across the font. This was all part of their ritualistic journey through the different realms on towards the higher realms. The Nicene And Post Nicene Fathers, Vol. 7, S. Cyril of Jerusalem, Intro. Catechetical Instruction, 11-35; Select Writings And Letters, of Athanasius, Bishop of Alexandria, by Archibald Robertson, p. 49-50, Incarnation of the Word, 25.

1936- From having witnessed an infant baptism in a Catholic church in the Salt Lake City, Utah area, during about the 1990s. The priest anointed the head, poured water on the baby's head, someone answered as proxy for the child, & the Godparents promised to watch over & teach the child the meanings of the rite, when the child later grew up and could understand more fully the rituals. A white bib like cloth, the Priest told me, when I asked, represented the white garments that those baptized would be clothed in, in earlier centuries. See also: J. M. Sjodahl, The Reign of Antichrist, Or The Great "Falling Away," (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1913), 24-30, & 36-45. (Dr. Ludwig Ott, Fundamentals of Catholic Dogma, (Rockford, Illinois: Tan Books and Publishers, Inc., 1974), p. 360, says that after the infant baptism, later when the child attains the use of reason, "...they are obliged to fulfil the baptismal vows taken on their behalf by their godparents." In other words, the Godparents had taken the baptismal vows by proxy for and in behalf of the infant, who couldn't speak, being so young as to not understand how to respond to the vows. Earlier editions published in English, 1955, by the Mercier Press, Limited. Fourth edition 1960. First published in German in 1952, under the title: Grundriss der Katholischen Dogmatik, by Verlag Herder, Freiburg).

1937- A later Christian mosaic on the cupola of the Baptistry of S. Giovanni, Florence, 13th century A.D., shows an angel conducts the souls of the virtuous to the door of paradise. Another angel is standing inside the half-open door and welcomes a soul by clasping, with the right hand, the soul's right hand. (Heaven and Hell in Western Art, Huges, p.180-191. History of Italian, Renaissance Art, Hartt, 4th ed., 1994, p. 59, colorplate 19, dated in this source as being the 2nd half of the 13th century A.D. In the Gospel of Nicodemus, "all the saints were joined together, hand in hand, and the Lord Jesus laid hold on Adam's hand, and ascended from hell, and all the saints of God followed him." (Citing from Nic. Apoc. chap. 16 & 19). When the saints arrived in paradise, two "very ancient men" met them, and they were asked by the saints: "Who are ye, who have not been with us in hell, and have had your bodies placed in paradise?" One of them answered: "I am Enoch, who was translated by the word of God". The other man was Elijah the Tishbite. (Nic. Apoc. 20), mentioned by Doane in his Bible Myths, pp. 211-214. Examples of white garments worn by those on Christ's right hand side, in Last Judgment scenes, & those on Christ's left hand side, souls that are without the white garments, but who are naked, is seen in a 14th century work from the School of Rimini. See: Michael Kerrigan, A Dark History: Catholic Church, Schisms, Wars, Inquisitions, Witch Hunts, Scandals, Corruption, (New York: Metro Books, 2014), 8-9. See also pages 82-83, Jacopo Tintoretto's take on Purgatory, 1560. Naked souls further down in purgatory are being embraced, grasped hold of by angels descending to rescue them, as the prayers for the dead are being performed by others in their behalf. The ascending naked souls also grasp onto the angels too, and are eventually clothed in ascension clothing, as suggested by a soul thus clothed upon, further up in the arms of an angel. On page 83, is the Last Judgment, 1506-08, by Hieronymus Bosch. The post-war in heaven battles between good angels & demons, continues, as angels, armed with standard-lance weapons, swords, help rescue souls out of the hellish conditions. The cross-banner-lance being used by an angel to defeat a fallen demon, is like the ones Christ used, during his descent into hell, hades, limbo, & purgatory. Naked souls in a fiery river, are being pulled out, by their wrists, by angels. Other naked souls, not yet clothed in ascension robes, are being guarded as they begin their escape from the demons that torment other naked souls, on Christ's left hand in this judgment scene. See also: Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (New York, San Diego, U.S.A.; London, England: Harcourt Brace & Company). Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986). Chandler Rathfon Post, A History of Spanish Painting, (Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1930-1958). (New York: Kraus reprint Company, 1970's), numerous volumes offer numerous examples of the war in heaven, Michael defeating the devil. Christ's descent, etc. Charles De Tolnay, 1965, Hieronymus Bosch, (Holle Verlag). Colleen McDannell and Bernhard Lang, Heaven: A History, (New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1988). Craig Harbison, The Last Judgment in Sixteenth Century Northern Europe, (New York, U.S.A., and London, England: Garland Pub. Inc., 1976). Laurie Schneider Adams, A History of Western Art, (Boston, etc.: McGraw Hill, 1994, 1997, 2001, Third Edition), p. 186-187, figures 12.6 & 12.7. West portal with tympanum, Sainte-Foy, Conques, c. 1130, stone work showing The Last Judgment. Christ enthroned, in a mandorla symbol, his right hand raised, his left down. Those on the right are saved, those on the left are being thrust & pushed by demons, down to the jaws of hell. In hell naked souls are being tormented by demons. Those on the right are also clothed in ascension clothing, and are being greeted by St. Peter at the door to paradise, by hand clasping. In another section, an arm reached down towards a clothed person. On pages 188-89, figures 12.9 & 12.10. Gislebertus, Last Judgment, tympanum of the west portal, Cathedral of Saint-Lazare, Autun, Burgundy, c. 1120-1135. In the Romanesque stone work, on Christ's right hand, an angel lifts a soul up by the hands. On the left, the weighing of souls judgment. The archangel Michael's robes become protective coverings for souls, as "...two little souls huddle under his robe for protection. This is similar to souls depicted under the protective cloak or cape of the Virgin Mary. See: Vincent Cronin, Mary Portrayed, (London, England: Darton, Longman & Todd, 1968). Horst de la Croix and Richard G. Tansey, GARDNER'S ART THROUGH THE AGES, Eighth Edition, (Gardner, Helen, 1986), (San Diego; New York; Chicago; Atlanta; Washington, D.C.; London; Sydney; Toronto: Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, Publishers HBJ), p. 361-62, figs. 9-30 & 9-31, Last Judgment scene of Gislebertus. Robert G. Calkins, 1979, Monuments of Medieval Art, (Ithaca, London, New York: E. D. Dutton, Cornell Un. Press, 1985, 4th printing, 1993), 102-103, fig. 84.

1938- John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity,... NY: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882, 380-1.

1939- Art of The Early Middle Ages, text by Francois Souchal, Pub. by Harry N. Abrams, N.Y., p. 134, A font shows inscriptions of scenes from the life of Christ. Christ in glory appears in a mandorla surrounded by symbols representing the Evangelists. Below are monsters symbolic of the forces of Evil, they are being crushed by "the grace of baptism." A font at EARDSLEY (HEREFORDSHIRE), ST. MARY MAGDALENE, is goblet/shaped and dates back to 1145 A.D. On it is a depiction of the descent, for with his left hand, Christ clasps the wrist of Adam to raise him up out of limbo. See: Romanesque Art In Europe, edited by Gustav Kunstler, 1968, Pub. New York Graphic Soc., LTD., Greenwich Connecticut, p. 264-5, fig.226; see also: Roger J. Adams, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptisms for the Dead, (unpublished manuscript 1977); Hugu Nibley's Baptism for the Dead in Ancient Time, Improvement Era 51-2, (Dec. 1948-- April 1949, see also note 35, Evang. Nicodemi, c. 15; Tischendorf, Evangelia (Leipzig, 1876), 389-91. Bernard M. Foschini, Those Who Are Baptized for the Dead, Catholic Biblical Quarterly 13 (1951): 328-44; The Temple in Antiquity, edited by Truman Madsen, 1984, p. 12, & note 37 on p. 18. Nicodemus was the disciple of Christ as referred to in John 3:1; 7:50; 19:39. In Nicodemus 21:1-3, two sons of the high priest of Simeon were among those resurrected from the dead at the time of the resurrection of Christ (Matt. 27:52). They were also baptized in the river of Jordan. Second Gospel of Nicodemus, in 14 Sacred Books and Literature of the Far East, p. 360, Chapter 27. The angel Michael appointed them to go and preach the resurrection, but first, they were to go and be baptized at the river Jordan. Thus, they went and were baptized with the other dead who had arisen. See also: Christ Lore, Hackwood, p. 163-4; The Sacred Books And Early Literature Of The East, Horne, p. 23-24, & p. 30, 36, 41. During the rite of baptism for the Adam who was once dead, as with the others, they were promised that they would be raised up during Christ descent, and would be baptized, and anointed with oil, and then would ascend into paradise with archangel Michael as their guide. Pages 327-380, for different versions of the Gospel of Nicodemus. Francis Bond, Fonts and Font Covers, (London, NY, & Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford University Press, 1908).

1940- Christian Mythology, Every, 65; The 40 Days, King, 1949, 15-20. By Study & Also By Faith, Vol. 1, ed, John M. Lundquist & Stephen D. Ricks, 1990, DBC & FARMS, Provo & S.L.C., Ut., 225-256, & p. 325, n.126.

1941- Robert Huges, 1968, Heaven and Hell in Western Art, pp. 180-191; Encyclopedia Of World Art, (New York, Toronto; London, England: McGraw-Hill Book Co., 1960), vol. 3, pl. 12.

1942- Darell Thorpe, The Garments Of The First And Second Adam: [The Symbolical Meanings Of Garments In Early To Later Christendom], (SLC, Utah: R.H.&P.S. Oct. 1993). William Henry Paine Hatch, Greek & Syrian Miniatures in Jerusalem, Cam., Mass.:The Medieval Academy of America, 1931, 68-9, pl.12, the baptism. Greec, xi, fol.172. See also: G. de Jerphanion, Les eglises rupestres de Cappadoce (Paris: Geuthner, 1925-28.), pl.78, 89, 103, & 119; Robert P. Bergman, The Salerno Ivories, Arts Sacra from Medieval Amalfi, (London, England: Harvard University Press, 1980 & Fellows of Harvard Col.), fig., 169, Baptism, ivory plaque, Lugano, Thyssen-Bornemisza Collection; Walter Lowrie, Art in the Early Church, (Washington Square, New York, New York: Atheneum Books, 1947), pl.121 a, top portion. Marshall B. Davidson, written by Roland H. Bainton, The Horizon History of Christianity, Editors of Horizon Mag., 1964- A.H.P.C.; Art & Mankind, Larousse Encyclopedia of Byzantine & Medieval Art, General Ed., Rene Huyghe, Prof. in the Col. of France, Pub. by Prometheus Press, NY., 1958- Auge, Gillon, Hollier-Larousse, Moreau et Cie (Librairie Larousse, Paris, this ed., 1963- Paul Hamlyn LTD, Lon. p.240, fig. 501, baptismal font in Hildesheim cathedral. Page 237, fig.497, detail from the baptismal font in St. Bartholomew, Liege; Art of the Medieval World, by George Zarnecki, Pub. by Harry N. Abrams, Inc. N.Y., fig.154, depicting the baptism of Christ. Gospels of Etchmiadzin, 6th c. A.D. Matenadaran Library (Ms. 2374), Erevan; The Book of Art (A Pictorial Encyclopedia of Painting, Drawing, & Sculpture) Origins of Western Art, texts by Dr. Donald E. Strong & others, Prof. Giuseppe Bovini, & Prof. David Talbot Rice, Peter Laske, Prof. G. Zarnecki & George Henderson, Pub. by Grolier Inc., N.Y., Montreal, Mexico City & Sydney, p.104, A. Metz School. Ivory casket, depicting baptism, 10th century A.D., Brunswick, Herzog Anton Ulrich Mus.; The Art of Byzantine Empire, Byzantine Art In The Middle Ages, Andre Grabar, Tarns., by Betty Forster, 1st Ed., pub. in 1963, Holle Verlag G.M.B.H., Baden-Baden, Germany. English Trans., 1966, by Methuen & Co., LTD., Crown Pub., Inc., N.Y., p.125, pl.27, the baptism, a mosaic at the Hosios Lucas in Phocias, ca. 1000. Cf., p.124; Byzantine Painting, Historical & Critical Study, Andre Grabar, Pub. by Skira Rizzoli, New York, 1979, first pub. in 1953. Page 116, in the Nave, Church of Daphni; Studies In Classical & Byzantine Manuscript Illumination, by Kurt Weitzmann, Ed. by Herbert L. Kessler, Pub. by The Un. of Chicago Press, Chic. & Lon., 1971, page 272, fig. 261, Vatican, Biblioteca. Cod. gr. 1613, p.299, Baptism of Christ; another baptismal depiction is seen on page 273, fig. 262 (Baltimore, Walters Art Gallery. Cod. W 521, fol. 38r. This is very similar to the other one mentioned. See also page 274, fig. 263, (Mount Athos, Dionysiu. Cod. 587, fol. 141v. Page 282 fig. 275 Paris, Bib. Nat. Cod. gr. 74, fol. 169r. Page 308 fig. 305 Mount Sinai, St. Catherine's Icon. 12 Feast, pp. 309, 312, fig. 308, Mount Sinai, St. Catherine's Icon. Deesis & 12 feasts. Studies In Classical & Byzantine Manuscript Illumination, Weitzmann, op. cit., p.272, fig. 261, p.274, fig.263, p.282, fig. 275, p.308-9, fig. 305, & p.312, fig.308; Iconography of Christian Art, by Gertrud Schiller, Vol.1, trans., by Janet Seligman, 1966 & 77, New York Graphic Soc. Greenwich, Conn., #364., dated c.1170 Hortus Deliciarum; Monuments of Romanesque Art, by Hanns Swarzenski, 1954 & 1967, Un. of Chic., pl.113, fig. 253 & 258, see also: Art of the Medieval World, by George Zarnecki, Pub. Harry N. Abrams, N.Y., 1975, dated "1107-1118" A.D. The baptismal font of Renier de Huy, Church of St. Barthelemy, Liege. See also: 1 Kings 7:23-4; Jer.52:20; Schiller, op. cit., #374, Manuscript Illumination, c. 1200. Lower Saxony, Codex, Trier Cath; Classical Inspiration In Medieval Art, by Walter Oakshott, 1959, Frederick A. Praeger, Pub., N.Y., Pl.III, fig., A, the Liege font, with medieval art works dated back to the 12-13th century A.D., see also: pl.III, fig.B; The Icon, by Kurt Weitzmann, & others, 1982, by Arnoldori Editore, pub. Alfred A. Knopf, N.Y., p.170. Greek work at Ohrid Tempera on wood. The Church of the Virgin Peribleptos, cent. 1300. Gallery of icons in the church of St. Clement, Ohrid, Macedonia; The Art of the Copts, by Pierre M. Du Bourguet, S. J. (Trans. by Caryll Hay-Shaw) 1967 & 1971. Pub. Crown Pub. Inc. N.Y., p. 176-7; La Peinture Byzantine, by Paul Muratoff, (Pub. Paris A. Weber, MCMXXXV). Plate CXXIV; Pl. CXCI; Episodes de L'Histoire de S. Jean Baptiste Detail du Tableau d' autel - Art Neo-Hellenistique (1250-1270) Academie, Sienne, pl. CCXLVII, Pl. CCXLVIII; Iconography of Christian Art, op. cit., #365; Jerusalem A History, by E.O. James, Pub. by G.P. Putnam's Sons, N.Y., Ed. by J. Boudet, p.131, the Baptism of Jesus, Barna, 14th century A.D., fresco at San Gimignano; Frescoes of the Church of the Assumption At Volotovo Poly, Text by M.V. Alpatov, & others, pub. by Moscow Iskustvo 1977, fig.96, baptism, Fresco on the southern wall about 1380 A.D.; Byzantine Painting, Grabar, op. cit., p.190-1, this art work is part of a 6 part depiction, 2nd down on the right, "SIX OF THE GREAT FEASTS OF THE YEAR." Dated back to the 14th century A.D. Portable mosaic, Opera Del Duomo, Florence; The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, by Edward Gibbon, Vol.III, 1185-1453 A.D., page 437, Pub. by The Modern Library, New York, see also footnote 57 on p.437.

1943- The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, vol. 13. p. 3 Ep.6; Vol. 10, p. 321-3, chap.6-7; Library of Fathers, Vol.2, pp.260-66, Lec. xix-xx; Art in the Early Church, Lowrie, pl.121; Iconography of Christian Art by Gertrud Schiller, Vol.1, fig.376. Zech.3:1-4. Behold the Christ, Bainton, p.79, fig.76. Rev.7:14-17 & Christ Lore, by Fredk. WM. Hackwood, p.117. Baptism For the Dead, Roger Adam, pl.16, p.29, see his note 23, from "Cote, Archaeology, 53." Ad Fabiolam, Ep.cxxvii. Baptism for the Dead, Adam, p.57-9 & 61. And: Textile Art in the Church, by Marion P. Ireland, 1966, 67, & 1971, Pub. Abingdon Press., Nashville & N.Y., p. 73; The Toledo Museum Of Art European Paintings, (The Toledo Mus. of Art, Tol. Ohio., Dist. by Penn. State Un., Press, 1st printing 1976, Designed by Harvey Retzliff, p.389. Acc. no. 48.74. "SPIRIDION CHRYSOLORAS 17th Century. Cretan. The Baptism of Christ."; Treasures From The Kremlin, (An Exhibition from the State of Museums of the Moscow Kremlin at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, NY., May 19-Sept.1979, & Grand Palais, Paris, Oct. 12, 1979 & Jan. 7, 1980), Pub. by Metro. Mus., of Art, NY., Distrib. by Harry N. Abrams, Inc., p.70 & 166, pl.39.

1944- Hugh Nibley, The Message of the Joseph Smith Papyri: An Egyptian Endowment, SLC: DBC 1975, 282.

1945- Ariel L. Crowley, Statement of Beliefs of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints: Doctrines and Practices, (Idaho City, Idaho: DeseretNews Press, 1961), 46-87, see the chapter on: BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD, see p. 74-75. <http://www.ecatholic2000.com/councils/untitled-33.shtml>

1946- Daniel-Rops, Jesus And His Times, (Garden City, NY: Image Books, A Division of Doubleday & Company, Inc., 1958, CR 1954 & 1956 by E. P. Dutton), 2:236. National Geographic, vol. 164, No. 6, p. 774, Dec. 1983, Byzantine Empire, article entitled: Eternal Easter in Greek Village, by Maria Nicolaidis-Karanikolas.

1947- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 223-224, 235, R. N. Swanson, Religion and Devotion in Europe, Cambridge: Un. Press, 1995, 37-38. Thomas Asbridge, The First Crusade, A New History, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2004. Thomas Asbridge, The Crusades, The Authoritative History of the War for the Holy Land, NY, NY: EEE & Imprint of Harper Collins Publishers, 2010.

1948- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 551-52, foot note 21: Charles Philip Steward Clarke, Short History of the Christian Church, (London: Longmans, Green & Company, 1928), 507-508, Appendix.

1949- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 223-227, 235, R. N. Swanson, Religion and Devotion in Europe, (Cambridge: University Press, 1995), 37-38. Roland H. Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back edition, 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville), 59- 60. Rita A. Scotti, Basilica, The Splendor and the Scandal: Building St. Peter's, (New York, New York: Viking, the Penguin Group, 2006).

1950- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 545-57. Roland H. Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back edition, 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville), 46-51, 54, 69, 71, 81, 83, 98, 102, 225, 300, 334, 336. Rita A. Scotti, Basilica, The Splendor and the Scandal: Building St. Peter's, (New York,

New York: Viking, the Penguin Group, 2006), 29, 69, 83, 104, 144–48, 152–53, & 173.

1951- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 551–54. Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, and the Promised Restoration, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book, 2006), 271–73, 450, n. 9. Brigham Henry Roberts, Outlines of Ecclesiastical History, A Text Book, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1979, Classics in Mormon Literature), 221–292. R. A. Scotti, Basilica, The Splendor and the Scandal: Building St. Peter's, (New York, New York: Viking, Penguin Group, 2006). Roland H. Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back edition, 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville).

1952- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 45–47.

1953- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 14.

1954- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 176.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Jacques_de_Vitry - Munro, Dana Carleton, ed., Medieval Sermon Stories (Translations and Reprints from the Original Sources of European History, Vol. II, No. 4. Philadelphia: University of Pennsylvania Press). <http://medievalsourcesbibliography.org/sources.php?id=1153962331> - <https://archive.org/details/historiahierosol00foucouft> - <http://www.newadvent.org/cathen/08266a.htm> -

1955- Alan Richardson and John Bowden, (Editors), Westminster Dictionary of Christian Theology, (Philadelphia, Pennsylvania: The Westminster Press, CR SCM Press Ltd 1983, first Published in Great Britain, 1983, entitled: A New Dictionary of Christian Theology). See the article entitled: The Descent into Hell. by A. T. Hanson. Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986). Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company), Volume 4: Mormonism and Early Christianity, (1987), Nibley, Baptism for the Dead in Ancient Time, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Improvement Era, 51–52, (December 1948–April 1949). Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1981). Lucifer, The Devil In the Middle Age, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1984). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsachsischen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), three volumes. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen.

1956- R. A. Scotti, Basilica, The Splendor and the Scandal: Building St. Peter's, (New York, New York: Viking, Penguin Group, 2006). Roland H. Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back edition, 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville).

1957- Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, NY, San Diego, U.S.A.; Lon.: Harcourt Brace & Co. Robert Hughes, Heaven & Hell in Western Art, NY: Stein & Day/Pub., 1968. Roland H. Bainton, The Horizon History of Christianity, ed. by Marshall B. Davidson of Horizon Magazine, USA: American Heritage Pub. Co., English edition, 1964). Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back edition, 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville). Denise Hooker, (Editor), History of Western Art, (New York: Barnes & Nobles, 1994, text & art work 1989, Bostree Limited). Laurie Schneider Adams, A History of Western Art, (Boston, New York, etc.: McGraw Hill, 1994, 1997, 2001, 3rd edition).

1958- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 203.

1959- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 551–53. The Catholic Encyclopedia, vol. VII, article “Indulgences,” p. 783. Philip Schaff, History of the Christian Church, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: Wm. B. Eerdmans Publishing Company, 1950), 8 vols., vol. VI, (older editions, Vol. V, part 2, p. 757–58. Nicolas Cheetham, Keepers of the Keys, A History of the Popes from St. Peter to John Paul II, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1983). Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsachsischen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), three volumes. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen. And: Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Nigel Morgan and Richard Marks, The Golden Age of English Manuscript Painting, 1200–1500, (New York: George Braziller, 1981), p. 9, fig., 3. Portrait of William de Brailes, Cambridge, Fitzwilliam Museum, MS. 330, The Last Judgment, cleric with a key in left hand, reaching down with right hand to a group below, a person is reaching up, as if before the hand clasp.

1960- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 553–54, foot note 27: Philip Schaff, History of the Christian Church, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: Wm. B. Eerdmans Publishing Company, 1950), 8 vols., vol. VI, (older editions, Vol. V, part 2, p. 757–58).

1961- On the Internet, do an image search, such as also on Google images: Masses and Prayers for the Dead. <http://www.mysticsofthechurch.com/2012/04/amazing-stories-from-purgatory-and.html> - Google Image: Souls Released from Purgatory, <http://www.patriciasplacecatholicgiftshop.com/the-souls-in-purgatory.html> - Shalom, Rosary for the Souls of Priests Suffering in Purgatory. (Had these souls been once sinful, repentant & thus being purged of sins, cleansed?) - <http://www.mysticsofthechurch.com/2014/02/the-holy-souls-of-purgatory.html> - <https://www.pinterest.com/elliething888/holy-souls-in-purgatory/> - <http://devotiontoourlady.com/holy-souls-in-purgatory.html> - Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsachsischen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), three volumes. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen. See also: Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (New York, San Diego, U.S.A.; London, England: Harcourt Brace & Company). Chandler Rathfon Post, A History of Spanish Painting, (Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1930–1958). (New York: Kraus reprint Company, 1970's).

1962- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 554–55. The Catholic Encyclopedia, vol. VII, article “Indulgences,” p. 783. Philip Schaff, History of the Christian Church, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: Wm. B. Eerdmans Publishing Company, 1950), 8 vols., vol. VI, (older editions, Vol. V, part 2, p. 757–58. Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsachsischen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), three volumes. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen. And: Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Nigel Morgan and Richard Marks, The Golden Age of English Manuscript Painting, 1200–1500, (New York: George Braziller, 1981), p. 9, fig., 3. Portrait of William de Brailes, Cambridge, Fitzwilliam Museum, MS. 330, The Last Judgment, cleric with a key in left hand, reaching down with right hand to a group below, a person is reaching up, as if before the hand clasp. Another art work of Pope Gregory (Gregory XII 1406–15, ?), pulling up out of the fires of purgatory an crowned Emperor, by grasping with his right hand to Emperor Trajan's left arm, near left wrist, (reigned as Roman Emperor, 98–117). See: Charles D. Cuttler, Northern Painting, From Pucelle to Bruegel/Fourteenth, Fifteenth, and Sixteenth Centuries, (New York, Chicago, San Francisco, etc.: Holt, Rinehart & Winston, Inc., first printing 1968), p. 286, color plate 22, in between p. 324 & 325, Michael Pachet. Altarpiece of the Church Fathers, c. 1483, Panel. Alte Pinakothek, Munich. And: Craig Harbison, The Last Judgment in Sixteenth Century Northern Europe, (NY, U.S.A., & Lon., Eng.: Garland Pub. Inc., 1976). Robert Hughes, Heaven and Hell in Western Art, (NY: Stein & Day/Pub., 1968). Colleen McDannell & Bernhard Lang, Heaven: A History, (New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1988). Nicolas Cheetham, Keepers of the Keys, A History of the Popes from St. Peter to John Paul II, (NY: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1983), 168–178, Gregory XII, (1406–15).

1963- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 209.

1964- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 233–226. Benedictine Monks of St. Augustine's Abbey, Ramsgate, The Book of Saints, A Dictionary of Servants of God, (Wilton, Connecticut: Morehouse Publishing, 1921, 1989, sixth edition). Dom Hubert Van Zeller, The Holy Rule, Notes on St. Benedict's Legislation for Monks, (New York: Sheed & Ward, 1958). Schroll, Sister M. Alfred, Benedictine Monasticism, as reflected in the Warnefrid-Hildemar commentaries on the Holy Rule, (New York, Columbia University Press, 1941). Guenter B. Risse, Mending Bodies, Saving Souls: A History of Hospitals, (Oxford University Press, 1999). <http://www.buildinghistory.org/articles/heritagemercy.shtml> -

1965- Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 144, 171, 258, etc.

1966- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 181–182, 392, end note 22, p. 416: John of Flamy's Romance of Garin the Lorrainer. See: G. Schreiber, Gemeinschaften des Mittelalters - Recht und Verfassung: Kult und Frömmigkeit, (Münster, 1948), 117n. 'Cluny und die Eligenkirche'. See also: James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 547–557, 587–595, 673–79.

1967- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 738.

1968- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 14–16.

1969- Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (New York, San Diego, U.S.A.; London, England: Harcourt Brace & Company), 127. Nicolas Cheetham, Keepers of the Keys, A History of the Popes from St. Peter to John Paul II, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1983), 207–219, the time mentioned for the Council of Trent, Jan. 1562– 12-4-1563, see p. 211. Brigham Henry Roberts, Outlines of Ecclesiastical History, A Text Book, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1979, Classics in Mormon Literature), 225–228, 239– 241 & 244.

1970- Francis Huxley, The Dragon, Nature of Spirit, Spirit of Nature, NY, Lon., Eng.: Collier Books, A Division of Macmillan Pub. Co., Inc., CR 1979, Thames & Hudson LTD, 37, showing a soul being rescued from the monstrous jaws of hell, French enamel plaque, 14th century A.D. See also: Lilian M.C. Randall, Medieval and Renaissance Manuscripts in the Walters Art Gallery, Vol. I, France, 875-1420, Baltimore & Lon.: The Johns Hopkins Un. Press, with the Walters Art Gallery, 1989, Vol. 1, France, 875-1420, p. 294, pl.viii, Cat. 88, f. 3.

1971- Lilian M.C. Randall, Medieval and Renaissance Manuscripts in the Walters Art Gallery, Vol. I, France, 875-1420, (Baltimore & London: The Johns Hopkins University Press, with the Walters Art Gallery, 1989), Vol. 1, France, 875-1420, p. 294, pl. viii, Cat. 88, f. 3. On p. 320, fig. 101, Cat. 49, f. 64, the descent into the spirit prison house again depicts a hand grip. Christ grasps, with his left hand, the up-lifted hands of a person.

1972- Kathleen Cohen, Metamorphosis Of A Death Symbol, The Transi Tomb in the Late Middle Ages and the Renaissance, (Berkeley, Los Angeles, California; London, England: University of California Press, CR 1973, by the Regents of the University of California), 104– 9.

1973- Maurizio Calvesi, Treasures of the Vatican, St Peter's Basilica, The Vatican Museums & Galleries, The Treasure of the St. Peter's, The Vatican Grottoes & Necropolis, The Vatican Palaces, NY: Portland House 1987, 14.

1974- Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1986). Ariel L. Crowley, BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD, (Boise Idaho: Prepared for Electronic Media by Stanley D. Barker. Francis Bond, Fonts and Font Covers, (London, New York, and Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford University Press, 1908). Geoffrey R. King, The Forty Days, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: W.M. B. Eerdmans, 1949). George Every, 1970 & 1987, Christian Legends, (New York: Peter Bedrick Books). Every, Christian Mythology, (Lon., England; NY, USA; Sydney Toronto: The Hamlyn Pub. Group Limited, 1970, & Middlesex, Eng.: Hamlyn House, Feltham, 1973. Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments Of Romanesque Art, The Art of Church Treasures in North-Western Europe, (The University of Chicago Press, 1954 & 2nd, Edition, 1967). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca & Lon.: Cornell Un. Press, 1985). Roger J. Adam, Baptism for the Dead, (SLC, Utah: The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, Historical Library, Archives, call slip number Res; M234. 62, R216, an unpublished thesis for the degree of Doctor, 1977). Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsächsischen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), three volumes. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, München.

1975- Kathleen Cohen, Metamorphosis Of A Death Symbol, The Transi Tomb in the Late Middle Ages and the Renaissance, (Berkeley, Los Angeles, California; Lon., Eng.: Un. of Calif. Press, CR 1973, by the Regents of the Un. of Calif.), 104-119, figs. 46, & 47-50, on p. 115 it says that one of the symbols for the future resurrection as it was depicted on some funerary monuments was "the hand of God". See: Robert G. Calkins, 1979, Monuments of Medieval Art, (Ithaca, London, New York: E. D. Dutton, Cornell University Press, 1985, fourth printing, 1993), p. 28–31, figs. 24-25, Icon of the twelve liturgical feasts, early 14th century, Mosaic, Museo dell'Opera del Duomo, Florence, (Alinari), shows in different sections, Christ's baptism in Jordan, with angels on the banks, holding garments. Christ on the cross, underneath is the hole with a skull bone, Adam's grave. Followed by Christ's descent into hell, or the Anastasis, the resurrection, the first being raised by a wrist grasp, in this case is a clothed Adam. Rather than being naked, as in other art work. Further down is the passing away & assumption of Mary, her soul is in the arms of Christ, as angels descend with garments. Pages 43, plates 5-6, p. 144– 5, decorations of Hosios Lukas, Greece, 1011 or 1022, (Eric Lessing/Magnum), shows, among other things, the implied salvation of mankind through the rescuing of Adam and Eve from Hell. Pages 84-5, the places for the celebration of the mass, & the songs or chants are done for the living and the dead. Pages 102–103, fig. 84, Gislebertus, Last Judgment, tympanum, Saint-Lazare, Autun, c. 1125– 1135, protective garment, souls huddle behind St. Michael-archangel's robes, during the weighing of souls in judgment, where demons also attempt to tip the scales & get at the souls being judged. See also: L'Europe Des Invasions, by J. Hubert, J. Porcher, & W.F. Volbach, Pub. by Gallimard, 1967, p. 72, fig. 84; Early Christian Art, by Andre Grabar, translated by Stuart Gilbert & James Emmons, Pub. Odyssey Press, N.Y., p. 27, fig.

25, p. 101, fig. 97, p. 142, fig. 146, p. 137, fig. 140; Stones, by Betty Willsher & Doreen Hunter, 1978, Pub. in 1979 by Taplinger Pub., Co., N.Y., pp. 14-15, & 53; Early American Gravestone Art In Photographs, Duval & Rigby, op. cit., pp. 124-5; Of Graves And Epitaphs, Lindley, op. cit., grave marker of Withington, Gloucestershire shows a hand extended to clasp the hand of a soul who is ascending to heaven. Arte Paleocristiano, 146-151, fig. 88, an orant receives the hand of God; A Lithuanian Cemetery, p.65, fig. 15, shows a hand clasp under the cross on a tomb stone.

1976- Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsachsischen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), 3 vols. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen. Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca & London: Cornell Un. Press, 1985).

1977- New International Illustrated Encyclopedia Of Art, Vol. 5, p. 982-3, The Coronation of the Virgin, (1454), altarpiece; hospice of Villeneuve-les-Avignon, Avignon, France; Art, by Frederick Hartt, Vol. II, Pub. Harry N. Abrams, N.Y., 1976, pl. 21, an altarpiece dated 1454 shows, Christ on the cross, while to the lower left side, an angel is about grasp the hands of a soul who is about to be set free from the hell's fire. Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, NY, San Diego, Lon., Eng.: Harcourt Brace & Co., p. 130, in this case, a 15th century work, the French Book of Hours, shows an angel clasp the hand & wrist of two people being raise up out of Purgatory.

1978- Time Sanctified, The Book of Hours in Medieval Art & Life, Roger S. Wieck, Pub. George Braziller, NY., in association with The Walters Art Gallery, Baltimore, p.146, pl. 38. Funeral Mass with Souls Released from Purgatory, (Office of the Dead), France, Anger?, 1460s, by the Coetivy Master (Henri de Vulcop?) Walters 274, fol. 118; Cat. 42). An angel grasps the hands of a soul being released from purgatory during a mass for the dead.

1979- Kelly, The Devil At Baptism; Alice K. Turner, The History Of Hell, (NY; San Diego; London: Harcourt Brace & Company, 1993), pp.114—25; Sheldon Cheney, The Theatre, Three Thousand Years of Drama, Acting and Stagecraft, (NY: Tudor Pub. Co., 1929 CR Longman, Green & Co.), 136-47, 152-63, 172-76.

1980- Miles, Christmas Customs And Traditions, Their History and Significance, p.138-9.

1981- Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, NY, San Diego, USA. Lon., Eng.: Harcourt Brace & Co., 130.

1982- Himmel Holle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen, pp. 23-5, 51, 65, 79, 133, 155, 159-63, 191, 197, & 398, Abbs. 11, 13, 30, 39, 47, 90, 103, 107-112, 117, & 144. On p.109, Abb. 79, Christ clasps the wrist of Adam as he and others come out of the door way of the prison house. A monstrous demon is crushed under the broken doors. See also kat. 18, on p. 191, & Kats. 82-3, p.272, kats. 92-3, p.284, kats. 94-7, pp. 286-305, kats. 98-106, p.341, kat. 131, p.398; The Harvard Classics, Edited by Charles W. Eliot, LL.D., The Pilgrim's Progress, by John Bunyan, Vol. 15, Pub. by P. F. Collier & Son Corp., N.Y., 1910, 1938, & 56th printing 1965, pp. 3-319; Art, by Frederick Hartt, Vol. II, Pub. by Harry N. Abrams, N.Y., 1976, pl.21, among other things depicted, an angel clasps the hand of a soul ascending out of the fires of hell. See also: Religious Art In France, The Late Middle Ages, by Emile Male, 1986, Bollingen Series, Princeton Un. Press, p. 354, fig. 224, soul of a dead man is carried to heaven by an angel. See also pp. 410-11, figs. 255-6, & fig. 261, and p. 436, fig. 273, "Angel and one of the Elect. Rouen (Seine-Maritime), Church of St. Maclou. West facade, central portal, voussure", showing an angelic guide clasping, with the left hand, the right hand of a crowned elect. See also p. 437, fig. 274. See also: A Garland Series, Outstanding Dissertations In The Fine Arts, The Last Judgment in Sixteenth Century Northern Europe: A Study of the Relation Between Art and the Reformation, by Graig Harbison, Garland Pub., Inc., N.Y., & London, 1976, p.316, #8, Martin Schaffner, The Blessed, a fragment of the last Judgment, (Pfullendorf Altar), panel, c. 1500. In this work, the crowned Peter (?) has a glove that has a symbol in the middle of the wrist area. He clasps the wrist of a naked soul who is on the right hand path leading to paradise. On p. 357, #49, another work of The Last Judgment, etc., 1490-1500 A.D., shows, among other things, Peter guiding the souls by the hand towards the doors of paradise. He clasps one person by the hand, as others follow after them. See also p. 383, #72, Jan Provost, 1506, Douai, Museum, showing the last Judgment in which an angel clasp the hand of a person about to ascend up. On p. 425, #115. Jacob van den Coornhuize, Last Judgment, 1576-1578, shows an angel clothing a soul in an ascension robe, while in the background souls are passing through the door way to paradise. See also: Ernest Lotthe, La Pensee Chretienne Dans la Peinture Flamande Et Hollandaise, de Van Eyck (1432 - 1669), Le Christ Et La Vierge Marie, II, Pub., S.I.L.L.I.C., 1947, fig. CCXVI, Roger Van Der Weyden, (686), Le Jugement dernier, Hospice de Beaune. Showing, among other things, an angelic guide clasping the hands of a soul as a number of souls are guided over towards the door way to paradise. See also fig. CCXVII. -b. (688), Bosch. The angelic guides help the blessed as they ascend up through a tunnel towards paradise. On p. 309, fig. CCXIX, Hans Memling, (693), the naked souls ascend up stairs towards Peter and clasp his hand as they ascend towards the doors to paradise. See also: Hieronymus Bosch, by Charles De Tolnay, 1965, by Holle Verlag, pp. 109-115; Romanesque Art In France, by Joseph Gantner & Marcel Pobe, 1956, Thames and Hudson, pl. 135, & p.64. Peter clasp the hand of souls ascending towards the door of paradise. A hand extends to greet a soul. See also: The Horizon History of Christianity, by Roland H. Bainton, English ed., 1964, Pub. by American Heritage Pub., Co., pp. 214-15; Heaven and Hell In Western Art, by Robert Hughes, 1968, pp. 188-190; The Golden Age of English Manuscript Painting (1200-1500), by Richard Marks and Nigel Morgan, 1981, Pub. by George Braziller Inc., N.Y., Fig. III, Portrait of William de Brailes, Cambridge, Fitzwilliam Museum, MS. 330. Detail from a single leaf of the Last Judgment, p.9, showing Peter extending down to clasp the hand of a person, while on the other side an angel clasps the wrist of a soul who seems to be one in many who are being rescued from hell. Another source says that one of the angels who protects and guides soul into heaven is Michael the Archangel, for "He receives the souls of the saints, and leads them into the Paradise of bliss." (The Golden Legend of Jacobus de Voragine, op. cit., p. 578). A depiction of the harrowing of Hell shows Christ delivering the souls out of the jaws of hell, while an angel behind him thrusts a monstrous demon with a lance. (The Winchester Psalter, by Francis Wormald, Pub. N.Y. Graphic Soc., LTD, Harvey Miller & Medcalf 1973, fig. 27).

1983- Deutsche Spatgotische Malerei, 1430-1500, Alfred Stange, Karl Robert Langewiesche Nachfolger, 1965, 62; An Illustrated History of Germany, Andre Maurois, trans. from French by Stephen Hardman, Published by The Bodley Head, Lon., 1966, CR 1965 Librairie Hachette 1965, pp. 100-1; The Encyclopedia Of Visual Art, op. cit., vol. 8, see P, "Michael Pacher c. 1435-98, altarpiece of The Fathers of the Church, 1483 A.D., Alte Pinakothek, Munich; Praeger Encyclopedia of Art, Praeger Pub., NY., Washington, & Lon., 1971, Vol. 4, p. 1502.

1984- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 547.

1985- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 547-48. Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (NY, San Diego, U.S.A.; London, England: Harcourt Brace & Company). 14th century, Christ's descent into purgatory. Claude Schaeffner, Artistic Consultant: Jean-Clarence Lambert & others, Gothic Painting, (England: Ed. S.A. Geneva 1968), vol. I, p. 48), 14th century, the Master of Westphalia, Christ in Purgatory. Roland H. Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back edition, 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville).

1986- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 548–50. Auguste Boulenger, Histoire Générale de l'Eglise, (Paris: Librairie Catholique, Emmanuel Vitte, 1931–1947), 9 vols., (vol. 1 ?), p. 120, 155, 345.

1987- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 549–50, foot notes 15–18: Auguste Boulenger, Histoire Générale de l'Eglise, (Paris: Librairie Catholique, Emmanuel Vitte, 1931–1947), 9 vols., (vol. 1 ?), p. 120, 178. Charles Poulet, A History of the Catholic Church, (St. Louis: B. Herder Book Co., 1951, translated by Sidney A. Raemers.), 2 vols., vol. 1, p. 399.

1988- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 547–49.

1989- Geoffrey Barraclough, The Crucible of the Middle Ages, The Ninth and Tenth Centuries in European History, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 16. Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 72–74. Michael Kerrigan, A Dark History: Catholic Church, Schisms, Wars, Inquisitions, Witch Hunts, Scandals, Corruption, (New York: Metro Books, 2014), 81–91. James L. Barker, Apostasy From The Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 547–57.

1990- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 139–41.

1991- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 139–41. Nicolas Cheetham, Keepers of the Keys, A History of the Popes from St. Peter to John Paul II, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1983), 150–193. Michael Kerrigan, A Dark History: Catholic Church, Schisms, Wars, Inquisitions, Witch Hunts, Scandals, Corruption, (New York: Metro Books, 2014), 72–89. R. A. Scotti, Basilica, The Splendor and the Scandal: Building St. Peter's, (New York, New York: Viking, Penguin Group, 2006), 13–168. Roland H. Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back edition, 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville).

1992- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 140–41.

1993- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 586–87, foot note 4: R. A. Newhall, The Crusades, p. 38. Quoted by Charles Poulet, A History of the Catholic Church, (St. Louis: B. Herder Book Co., 1951. Translated by Sidney A. Raemers), 2 vols., vol. I, p. 474.

1994- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960 , 586–87, foot notes 2–4: Joseph Lortz, History of the Church, (Milwaukee: Bruce Publishing Co., 1939, amended & adapted by Edwin G. Kaiser), 205. R. A. Newhall, The Crusades, p. 38. Quoted by Charles Poulet, A History of the Catholic Church, (St. Louis: B. Herder Book Co., 1951. Translated by Sidney A. Raemers), 2 vols., vol., I, p. 474.

1995- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 586–87, foot notes, 3–6: Joseph Lortz, History of the Church, (Milwaukee: Bruce Publishing Co., 1939, amended and adapted by Edwin G. Kaiser), 205. R. A. Newhall, The Crusades, p. 38. Quoted by Charles Poulet, A History of the Catholic Church, (St. Louis: B. Herder Book Co., 1951. Translated by Sidney A. Raemers), 2 vols., vol., I, p. 474. Qualben, A History of the Christian Church, p. 162. Albert Henry Newman, A Manual of Church History, (Philadelphia: The American Baptist Publication Society, 1953, revised & enlarged), 2 vols., vol. I, p. 461.

1996- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 586–87, foot note 4: R. A. Newhall, The Crusades, p. 38. Quoted by Charles Poulet, A History of the Catholic Church, (St. Louis: B. Herder Book Co., 1951. Translated by Sidney A. Raemers), 2 vols., vol., I, p. 474. See also for cross banners in art works of Christ's militant battles in hell, purgatory, & his post-resurrection cross banners in his hand, as his other clasps the hands & wrists of those liberated from the infernal regions, etc.: See: Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (New York, San Diego, U.S.A.; London, England: Harcourt Brace & Company). Georges Duby, Medieval Art, Foundations of A New Humanism, 1280–1440, (Geneva, Switzerland: Editions d' Art Albert Skira S.A, 1995, first published in 1966–67, this edition BookKing International, 1995), 57–58. Chandler Rathfon Post, A History of Spanish Painting, (Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1930—1958). (NY: Kraus reprint Co., 1970's), numerous volumes. Google image Christ's descent. Darell Thorpe, The Christ In Santa Unmasked [How Modern Traditions & Legends About Santa Can Be Traced Back To The Early Christian Doctrine That Christ Went to Other Nations Around The World]. (CR 1994, revised December 1995, revised edition, first illustrated edition, Salt Lake City, Utah: MMM & R. H. & P.S., 2013 on line at Amazon). Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986). Andrew Martindale, 1967, Gothic Art, From the 12th to 15th Century, (New York: Praegar). Federico Zeri, 1976, Italian Paintings in the Walters Art Gallery, (Baltimore: Publishing by the Trustees). Nigel Morgan, Early Gothic Manuscripts, II, 1250 - 1285, A Survey of Manuscripts Illuminated in the British Isles - General Editor: J. J. G. Alexander, (London: Harvey Miller, 1988). Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments Of Romanesque Art, The Art of Church Treasures in North-Western Europe, (The University of Chicago Press, 1954 and 2nd, Edition, 1967). Jeanne Villette, La Resurrection Du Christ, Dans L'Art Chretien Du Ile Au VIIe Siecle, (Paris, France: Henri Laurens, Editeur, 1957). William Hood, Fra Angelico at San Marco, (New Haven & London: Yale University Press, 1993). Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen. Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, (Washington Square, NY: Pantheon Books, 1947).

1997- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 549.

1998- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 534–35. Joseph McSorley, An Outline History of the Church by Centuries, (St. Louis: B. Herder Book Co., 1957, revised edition), 448, 505.

1999- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 254, 448, n. 104. Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, NY: Simon & Schuster , 1940s-1950s, 11 vols, (1957), vol. 6, The Reformation, A History of European Civilization from Wyclif to Calvin: 1300-1564, p. 16-17, 953, n. 22, p. 947: N. Machiavelli, (Rationalist), his Discourses, iii, I., Modern Library.

2000- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 551. R. A. Scotti, Basilica, The Splendor and the Scandal: Building St. Peter's, (New York, New York: Viking, Penguin Group, 2006).

2001- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 700, foot note 16: Philip Schaff, History of the Christian Church, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: Wm. B. Eerdmans Publishing Co., 1950), 8 vols., vol. 7, p. 153, (in old editions, vol. 6).

- 2002- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 694–700.
- 2003- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 700, foot note 17: Joseph McSorley, An Outline History of the Church by Centuries, (St. Louis: B. Herder Book Co., 1957, revised edition), p. 615, note.
- 2004- John McManners, ed., The Oxford Illustrated History of Christianity, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1990, 244.
- 2005- Carter Lindberg, The European Reformations, (Malden, MA., & Oxford: Blackwell Pub., 1996, 2006), 75.
- 2006- De Lamar Jensen, Reformation Europe, Age of Reform and Revolution, (Lexington, Massachusetts, Toronto: D.C. Heath and Company, 1981, second edition 1992), 59.
- 2007- Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1940s–1950s), 11 vols., vol. 6, The Reformation, A History of European Civilization from Wyclif to Calvin: 1300–1564, (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1957), 338–339, end note 4, on p. 962, 949 of Bibliographical guide, notes source as: Ludwig (C) Pastor, History of the Popes, (St. Louis & London: 1989 & 1910 f.), 14 vols., vol., VII, p. 349.
- 2008- Roland H. Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back edition, 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville), 77–78.
- 2009- Roland H. Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back edition, 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville), 77–78. James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 698–700. Carter Lindberg, The European Reformations, (Malden, MA., & Oxford: Blackwell Publishing, 1996, 2006), 74–76. Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1940s–1950s), 11 vols., vol. 6, The Reformation, A History of European Civilization from Wyclif to Calvin: 1300–1564, (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1957), 338–339, end note 4, on p. 962, 949 of Bibliographical guide, notes source as: Ludwig (C) Pastor, History of the Popes, (St. Louis & London: 1989 & 1910 f.), 14 vols., vol., VII, p. 349.
- 2010- Roland H. Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back edition, 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville), 71–92, etc. In the 1995 edition of Bainton's Here I Stand, (New York: Penguin Group), 55–56. Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 246–47. James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 702.
- 2011- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 700, foot note 16: Philip Schaff, History of the Christian Church, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: Wm. B. Eerdmans Publishing Co., 1950), 8 vols., vol. 7, p. 153, (in old editions, vol. 6).
- 2012- Diarmaid MacCULLOCH, The Reformation, A History, (NY: Penguin Books, 2003, 2004, 2005), 123, end note 22, on p. 725, & 714: Naphy (ed.), Documents: W. R. Naphy (ed.), Documents on the Continental Reformation (Basingstoke, 1996), 11–12.
- 2013- Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1940s–1950s), 11 vols., vol. 6, The Reformation, A History of European Civilization from Wyclif to Calvin: 1300–1564, (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1957), 338, end note 3, on p. 962: "In Robertson, W., Charles V, I, 374.
- 2014- Carter Lindberg, The European Reformations, (Malden, MA., & Oxford: Blackwell Pub., 1996, 2006), 75, & 425: Heiko A. Oberman, Luther: Man between God & the Devil, (New Haven: Yale Un. Press, 1989), 188.
- 2015- Roland H. Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back edition, 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville), 77–78.
- 2016- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 700, foot note 17: Joseph McSorley, An Outline History of the Church by Centuries, (St. Louis: B. Herder Book Co., 1957, revised edition), p. 615, note.
- 2017- Will Durant The Story of Civilization, NY: Simon & Schuster 1940s–50s, 11 vols., vol.6, The Reformation, A History of European Civilization from Wyclif to Calvin: 1300–1564, NY: Simon & Schuster, 1957, 339.
- 2018- Carter Lindberg, The European Reformations, Malden, MA., & Oxford: Blackwell Pub., 1996, 2006, 74–75, 417: Hans J. Hillerbrand, ed., The Reformation: A Narrative History Related by Contemporary Observers and Participants, New York: Harper & Row, 1964, 44–45.
- 2019- John McManners, (Ed.), The Oxford Illustrated History of Christianity, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1990, 245.
- 2020- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black & White, NY, Lon., etc.: Gineeo Books, 2007, 104.
- 2021- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 704–706.
- 2022- James Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC Utah: DNP, 1960, 731, 733–34, & 737.
- 2023- Ariel L. Crowley, Statement of Beliefs of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints: Doctrines and Practices, (Idaho City, Idaho: Deseret News Press, 1961), 55, chap. BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD. Making reference to Luther Encyclopedia 151.
- 2024- Roland H. Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, Paper back ed., 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville, 71–92, etc. 1995 ed. of Bainton's Here I Stand, (NY: Penguin Group), 55–56. Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 246–47. James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 702.
- 2025- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 123–24.
- 2026- Roland H. Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back edition, 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville), 71–92, etc. In the 1995 edition of Bainton's Here I Stand, (New York: Penguin Group), 55–56. Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 246–47. James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 702.
- 2027- John McManners, Ed., The Oxford Illustrated History of Christianity, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1990), 254. Roland H. Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back edition, 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville), 72–101, etc. Michael Kerrigan, A Dark History: Catholic Church, Schisms, Wars, Inquisitions, Witch Hunts, Scandals, Corruption, (NY: Metro Books, 2014), 81–88.
- 2028- John McManners, (Editor), The Oxford Illustrated History of Christianity, (Oxford, New York: Oxford University Press, 1990), 449. Michael Kerrigan, A Dark History: Catholic Church, Schisms, Wars, Inquisitions, Witch Hunts, Scandals, Corruption, (New York: Metro Books, 2014), 81–88, on page 82 is another example of saints pleading to other higher up St., like St. Mary, who in turn will pray for the souls in purgatory in the process of being rescued by angels, who reach down & embrace & grasp the arms of the souls being lifted out of the purgatory. Jacopo Tinoretto's take on Purgatory, 1560. Other examples can be seen in: Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsächsischen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), three volumes. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen. See also: Chandler Rathfon Post, A History of Spanish Painting, (Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1930—1958). (New York: Kraus reprint Company, 1970's), numerous volumes contain numerous examples of souls being lifted up, by hand & wrist grasps, or by their arms, from limbo, & purgatory.

2029- History of Art, A Survey of the Major Visual Arts from the Dawn of History to the Present Day, by H. W. Janson, Pub. by Harry N. Abrams, Inc., NY, 1st printed in Oct., 1962, 19th printing in Dec. 1973, p. 159, 176-7, fig.286, & fig.758. Gothic Painting I, p.48; The Winchester Psalter, by Francis Wormald, Pub., N.Y., Graphic Soc., LTD, Harvey Miller & Medcalf, 1973, fig. 27; The Art of the Illuminated Manuscript, by David M. Robb, Pub., South Brunswick & N.Y.: A.S. Barnes & Co., Lon.: Thomas Yoseloff LTD, 1973, 168-9, fig. 107. Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, & Drama, (Ithaca & Lon.: Cornell University Press, 1985).

2030- Clara Erskine Clement, 1871 & 1881, A Handbook, Legendary & Mythological Art, Boston & New: Houghton Mifflin, Cambridge: The Riverside Press, 288-9.

2031- Clifford Davidson, Ed., The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, & Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Michigan: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan Un., 1994), 11.

2032- Clifford Davidson, ed, The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, & Music, Monograph Series, 21, Kalamazoo, Michigan: Medieval Institute Pub., Western Michigan Un. 1994, 54 & 67, n.76. Frederick S. Paxton, Christianizing Death: The Creation of a Ritual Process in Early Medieval Europe, (Ithaca: Cornell Un. Press, 1990), 43-44, 121—22, 202.

2033- John Coulson, ed., Intro. by C.C. Martindale, S. J., The Saints, A Concise Biographical Dictionary, (NY: Hawthorn Books, 1958, 1960, 332.

2034- The Golden Legend of Jacobus de Voragine, Trans. from Latin, Granger Ryan & Helmut Ripperger 1941 Arno Press A Publishing & Library service of NY Times, NY 1969, 216, 218.

2035- James Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: DNP, 1960, 611, n. 17, 19—20: Auguste Boulenger, Histoire Générale de l' Eglise, Paris: Librairie Catholique, Emmanuel Vitte, 1931—47, 9 vols., 7:387—388. Fernand Mourret, Histoire Générale de l' Eglise, (Paris: Bloud & Gay, 1921—38), 9 vols., 1:181—82.

2036- Ellen Badone, The Appointed Hour, Death, Worldview, & Social Change in Brittany, (Berkeley, Los Angeles, California; London, England: Un. of California Press, 1989), 103.

2037- Sachse, Jules Friedrich. The German Sectarians of Pennsylvania, 1708-1800. A critical & Legendary History of the Ephrata Cloister & Dunkers, Philadelphia, 1899-1900, Chap.24, p.365-66, The Amwell Dunkers.

2038- Thomas A. Kselman, Death & the Afterlife in Modern France, New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1993, 120, & 122-3, see #7, right.

2039- Ellen Badone, The Appointed Hour, Death, Worldview, & Social Change in Brittany, (Berkeley & Los Angeles, California; London, England: Un. of California Press, 1989), 63-65. A hymn sung before the blessing of the corpse seems to have fragments of washings and anointings in it, for it says this about the sprinkling of water on the coffin: "The water that gave you life will cleanse your vision, And your eyes will see the salvation of God." (Diocese de Quimper 1975:376). "Here an explicit parallel is drawn between the holy water used to bless the coffin at the funeral and the water of baptism, without which, according to traditional doctrine, salvation is not possible." (Ibid., p. 92-3). The Reign of Antichrist (Or The Great "Falling Away") by J.M. Sjodahl, 1913, pp.36-45. Death and the Afterlife in Modern France, Kselman, p. 88-93; "There are many popular legends of bodhisattvas who fulfill their vow to save all sentient beings by journeying to retrieve sinners from the deepest hells." Zaleski mentions other traditions in China which speak of different ones who have descended into the underworld to rescue loved ones, and bring them out. (Otherworld Journeys, Zaleski, 24-25).

2040- Ellen Badone, The Appointed Hour, Death, World view, & Social Change in Brittany, Berkeley; LA, Lon.: Un. of Calif. Press, 1989, 103, fig.7, p.104-130.

2041- Ellen Badone, The Appointed Hour,... Berkeley; LA, Lon.: Un. of Calif. Press, 1989, 104.

2042- Ellen Badone, The Appointed Hour,... Berkeley, LA, Lon.: Un. of Calif. Press, 1989, 129.

2043- Ellen Badone, The Appointed Hour,... Berkeley, LA, Lon.: Un. of Calif. Press, 1989, 109.

2044- Ellen Badone, The Appointed Hour,... Berkeley, LA, Lon.: Un. of Calif. Press, 1989, 110—111.

2045- Ellen Badone, The Appointed Hour,... Berkeley, LA, Lon.: Un. of Calif. Press, 1989, 110.

2046- Ellen Badone, The Appointed Hour,... Berkeley, LA, Lon.: Un. of Calif. Press, 1989, 111-12.

2047- Nibley, Mormonism & Early Christianity, p. 121-167. Numerous radio shows over the last two decades have held included many discussions about Christ's descent into hell and baptism for the dead. KZZI 1510 AM, West Jordan, Utah; KTKK 630 AM, Salt Lake City, Utah, and on KSL 1160 AM, Radio One, 1230 AM.

2048- J. Rendel Harris, The Odes and Psalms of Solomon (Cambridge: Cambridge University, 1909), 123.

2049- <http://www.newadvent.org/cathen/02274a.htm> https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Fountain_of_Life Rev. 7:14. Archaeological Discoveries, (Relative to the Judaeo-Christians), Historical Survey by Ignazio Mancini, O.F.M., Pub. of the Studium Biblicum Franciscanum, Collection minor #10, Jerusalem, 1970, pp.165-170, & fig.39, on p.166, "Adam under Calvary in a medieval miniature of Valenciennes, with detail of Adam. (from LTS 1965, p. 278)". And: Christ Lore (Being the Legends Traditions Myths Symbols Customs & Superstitions of The Christian Church, by Fredk. WM. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Pub. in Lon. 1902, Elliot Stock, repub. by Gale Research Co. Book Tower, Detroit, 1969, p.117, "Washing in the Blood of Christ. From an old Florentine tract in defense of Savonarola." And: The Encyclopedia Of Visual Art, Biographical Dictionary of Artists, by Limburg Brothers - Francisco Ribalta, Pub. by Encyc. Britannica Intern., LTD., Lon., Vol.6, see "Attavante degli Attavanti: Crucifixion, a leaf from the missal illuminated for Thomas James, Bishop of Dol; 1483. Nouveau Musee des Beaux-Arts, Le Havre". Kathleen Cohen, Metamorphosis Of A Death Symbol, The Transi Tomb in the Middle Ages and the Renaissance, (Berkeley, Los Angeles, California; London, England: University of California Press, CR by the Regents of the University of California, 1973), p. 104—09; Paul Muratoff, La Peinture Byzantine, (Paris, France: A. Weber, MCMXXXV), plate XCVII, La Crucifixion - Art Byzantin (vers 1100) - Mosaïque Couveni de Daphni (Attique), Christ's blood flows down on to a scull below the crucifixion of Christ. See also: Frederick Hartt History of Italian, Renaissance Art, Painting, Sculpture, Architecture, 4th edition, (Harry N. Abrams, Inc., 1994), p. 44, fig. 19. Byzantine. Crucifixion, 11th century. Mosaic. Monastery Church, Daphni, Greece. See also: Hackwood, Christ Lore, pp. 117, 162; Timothy Verdon & John Henderson, Editors, Christianity And The Renaissance, Image and Religious Imagination in the Quattrocento, (Syracuse, New York: Syracuse University Press, 1990), pp. 136—142, 150—51, figure 5.1, The Tree of Life, mosaic. Rome, San Clemente, early 13th century A.D., see also fig. 5.2, painted by Pacino di Bonaguida, now in the Accademia in Florence, early 14th century. Figures 5.13, & figure 5.10. "If Christ is the fruit of the tree, then surely the water that flows beneath it is his redeeming blood." (Ibid., p. 155). See also note 30 on pp. 141 & 158; Christianity And The Renaissance, p. 12-15, & 135-6; Cohen, Metamorphosis Of A Death Symbol, p. 104-119; Clement, A Handbook of Legendary And Mythological Art, pp. 298-99; Jennifer O'Reilly, A Garland Series, Outstanding Theses In The Fine Arts From British Universities, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, (New York: Garland Pub., 1988), Thesis submitted to the University of Nottingham for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, Oct. 1972), p.226-28, 236—43, & 251—52, 338; Docteur Paul Thoby, Le Crucifix, Des Origines au Concile de Trente, (Bellanger Nantes), Plate XXVII, No. 63, Paris. Musée de Cluny. Ivoire (Xle Siecle), showing Christ on the cross with his blood flowing down from his wounds into a chalice. See also: Christe, Velmans, Losowska and Recht, Art of the Christian World A.D. 200-1500, A Handbook of Styles and Forms, p. 94, fig. 193, p. 95, fig. 195, Ottoman Art: Ivories, Crucifixion, ivory panel, Cologne, Germany, c. 1000, Mus. de Cluny, Paris). See also: Hartt, History of Italian, Renaissance Art, 4th edition, 1994, p. 58, colorplate 18, c. 1230. Descent depiction below crucifixion scene. The Lost Books of The Bible and the Forgotten Books of Eden, (USA, Newfoundland: World Bible Publishers, Inc., 1926 and 1927), The First Book of Adam and Eve, p. 5-28, see Book One, chaps 3-15 & chapter xlii, verses 5-8, p. 28, p. 8-10, 26-8, 30. Isaiah 1:15-20.

2050- http://www.copticchurch.net/topics/thecopticchurch/sacraments/1_baptism.htm
<http://www.daytonlatinmass.org/wp-content/uploads/2009/05/blessing-of-water.pdf>
<http://www.liturgies.net/Epiphany/Baptism/water.htm> <http://www.newadvent.org/fathers/3405.htm>
https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Holy_water_in_Eastern_Christianity#Great_Blessing_of_Waters_at_Theophany

2051- On the internet, there still might be different editions of Bond's, such as on the Internet Archives. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Holy_water_in_Eastern_Christianity#Great_Blessing_of_Waters_at_Theophany
http://www.copticchurch.net/topics/thecopticchurch/sacraments/1_baptism.htm Francis Bond, Fonts and Font Covers, (London, New York, and Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford University Press, 1908). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). <http://www.antiochian.org/midwest/holy-baptism-and-chrismation/>
<http://www.orthodoxartsjournal.org/the-samaritan-woman-baptism-and-the-hexagon/>

2052- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (Lon., Eng.: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 95—97, H. Gee & W. J. Hardy, Documents Illustrative of English Church History, 1896, 122f.

2053- J.G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, Eng.: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962, 94. J. Strype, Ecclesiastical Memorials, I, 2, 1832, 262, 265. Parker Society, P. S., 1844, p. 207, 231.

2054- Ariel L. Crowley, Statement of Beliefs of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints: Doctrines and Practices, (Idaho City, Idaho: Deseret News Press, 1961), 46—87. Louis Herbert, (Editor), The Mythology of All Races, (Boston: Marshall Jones Company, MDCCCXVIII), in 13 vols, see vol. 3, Slavic, by Jan Máchal, Ph.D., p. 253—255. Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 ed., earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 3, 8, 63—65, 71, 78—80, 122—123, 148—150, 157—161, 214—215, 219, 246—247, 258—261, 403, especially for Slaves, p. 490—91. Charles Phillips, Michael Kerrigan, Consultant: Dr. Elizabeth Warner, Myths and Mankind, (series), volume entitled: Slavic Myths and Mankind, Forests of Vampire, (Amsterdam: Time-Life Books, BV, 1999, Text Duncan Baird Publishers, 1999), section entitled: Spirit Masters & Little Demons, by Michael Kerrigan, see Siren of the Stream on p. 66—6.

2055- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 43—178. Pater Cramer, Baptism and change in the early Middle Ages, c. 200-c. 1150, (Cambridge, England; New York, New York, USA: Cambridge University Press, 1993). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Thomas Armitage, D.D., LL.D., A History Of The Baptists, (New York: Bryah, Taylor, & Chicago: Morningside, 1887). Wolfred Nelson Cote, (Missionary in Rome), Baptism and Baptistries, (Philadelphia: The Bible and Publication Society, 1877). Wolfred Nelson Cote, The Archaeology of Baptism, (London: Yates & Alexander, 1876). Ariel L. Crowley, Statement of Beliefs of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints: Doctrines and Practices, (Idaho City, Idaho: Deseret News Press, 1961), 46—87. Louis Herbert, (Editor), The Mythology of All Races, (Boston: Marshall Jones Company, MDCCCXVIII), in 13 volumes, see vol. 3, Slavic, by Jan Máchal, Ph.D., p. 253—255. Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 78—79, 147—150, 160, 258—260, 360, 490—491. Charles Phillips, Michael Kerrigan, Consultant: Dr. Elizabeth Warner, Myths and Mankind, (series), volume entitled: Slavic Myths and Mankind, Forests of Vampire, (Amsterdam: Time-Life Books, BV, 1999, Text Duncan Baird Publishers, 1999), section entitled: Spirit Masters and Little Demons, by Michael Kerrigan, see Siren of the Stream on p. 66—68. J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 77—88. Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company), volume 4: Mormonism and Early Christianity, (1987), 100—167. Nibley, Baptism for the Dead in Ancient Time, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Improvement Era, 51—52, (December 1948—April 1949). Hallenfahrt Christus, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsächsischen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), three volumes. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen. See also: Roger J. Adams, The iconography of early Christian initiation: evidence for baptism for the dead, (The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, LDS Archives, Salt Lake City, Utah, United States of America. If the number hasn't been changed by now, the call slip # is: M234.62 R216i 1977). http://churchhistorycatalog.lds.org/primo_library/libweb/action/dlSearch.do?query=any,contains,Adams%20Roger%20J.,%201935-&vid=CHL_PUBLIC&institution=PCHD&search_scope=CHL&highlight=true

2056- Katharine Briggs, An Encyclopedia of Fairies, Hobgoblins, Brownies, Bogies, & Other Supernatural Creatures, (NY: Pantheon Books, 1976), 381-82, 456, 461. Robert Chambers, Popular Rhymes of Scotland, (Edinburgh, 1870, W. & R. Chambers). Ruth L. Tongue, County Folklore, (Forgotten Society County Publications, vol. 8. E. B. Simpson, Folk Lore in Lowland Scotland, (Dent, Lon.: 1908), Graham's History of Buckhaven.

2057- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, Lon., Eng.: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962, 43—178. Pater Cramer, Baptism & change in the early Middle Ages, c. 200-c. 1150, (Cambridge, Eng.; NY, USA: Cambridge University Press, 1993). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Thomas Armitage, D.D., LL.D., A History Of The Baptists, (New York: Bryah, Taylor, & Chicago: Morningside, 1887). J. M. Sjodahl, The Reign of Antichrist, Or The Great "Falling Away," (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1913). Roger J. Adams, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptisms for the Dead, (unpublished manuscript 1977). John Lawrence Mosheim, D.D., An Ecclesiastical History, (London: Translated from the original Latin and notes by Archibald Maclaine, D.D., 1819), six volumes. Wolfred Nelson Cote, (Missionary in Rome), Baptism and Baptisteries, (Philadelphia: The Bible and Publication Society, 1877). Wolfred Nelson Cote, The Archaeology of Baptism, (London: Yates & Alexander, 1876). Ariel L. Crowley, Statement of Beliefs of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints: Doctrines and Practices, (Idaho City, Idaho: Deseret News Press, 1961), 46–87. Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions and the Rise of Mormonism, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1970). Louis Herbert, (Editor), The Mythology of All Races, (Boston: Marshall Jones Company, MDCCCXVIII), in 13 vols, 3, Slavic, by Jan Máchal, Ph.D., p. 253–255, the Navky and Rusalky, water nymphs in Russian folklore that are believed to be the spirits of babies that died un-baptized, upon hearing their pleas for baptism, a simple baptismal formula prayer will baptize them. See also: Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978).

2058- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 72, foot note 3: V. Gay, Glossaire archéologique, I, 1887, p. 730. For examples of infant sized souls being swathed in protective linen, while ascending in the arms of angels into paradise or heaven, see on the internet, article by Darell Thorpe, Passover, Easter & Garment Types of Deification in the Resurrection (Easter Sunday, 4-8-2012), scroll down to art works of: 9th cent. Cross Pascal Vat. Reliquary cross of Pope Pascal- Lower section show the Baptism of a nude younger looking Christ with the angel holding the white baptismal robe. Also: Matfré Ermengau of Béziers Breviari d'Amor Catalan prose version- f-40- a nude smaller looking soul ride up on protective blanket - last quarter of 14th century. And: Icon with the Koimesis, Falling Asleep of the Virgin Mary, late 10th cent Byzantine - Christ wraps the spirit of the Virgin Mary in protective swaddling clothing, an Angels descend with ascension robes to further protect her spirit during her assumption into heaven. These types of ascension robes, clothing, swaddling cloth, blankets, & martyrs' rewards as garments; are part of the baptismal types of ascending in high realms. 10th century, Constantinople, Soap stone Dormition, Mary's soul is wrapped in a swaddling cloth, to be passed on into the protective care of an angel also descending with ascension clothing. Another shows angels carrying the soul of St Bertin to heaven - From an altarpiece by Simon Marmion 1480. The soul rides up on a protective blanket in the care of guardian angels. In the Book of Hours, Use of Rome- Netherlands, S- c. 1440- Naked souls ride up to paradise on blanket, Angels also for protection, God above blesses their ascension out of their graves. British Library. Book of Hours, Use of Sarum- Netherlands, S- 2nd or 3rd quarter of the 15th century- an older looking naked soul rides up to heaven on white protective blanket, with guardian angels. British Library. In the Book of Hours, Use of Sarum -Netherlands, S Bruges c 1490- a naked younger looking soul wrapped up in protective blanket with Abraham in paradise - Demon attempt to harm soul. British Library. And: Matfré Ermengau of Béziers's Breviari d'Amour of angels carrying the naked soul of a virtuous man to Heaven. Plus: Un'altra Dormitio, anche questa molto frammentaria e danneggiata, è stata dipinta nel 1435 da Masolino a Castiglione Olona. E' ben visibile l'animula di Maria fasciata e con un "cappuccio" sulla testa, proprio come in quella di Tempio.

2059- Louis Herbert, (Editor), The Mythology of All Races, (Boston: Marshall Jones Co., MDCCCXVIII), in 13 vols, vol. 3, Slavic, Jan Máchal, Ph.D., p. 253–255, the Navky and Rusalky, water nymphs in Russian folklore that are believed to be the spirits of babies that died un-baptized, upon hearing their pleas for baptism, a simple baptismal formula prayer will baptize them. Strips of clothing or linen also appeases them too. Being half naked, or only clothed in a white shirt, they are faded reminders of the earlier catechumens that were naked during baptism, & later clothed in white robes, whitsuntide or whitesunday being the traditional time for such reminders of the old ways. See also: Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (NY: Gramercy Books, 2000 ed., earlier eds. Crown Pub., 1978), 3, 8, 63–65, 71, 78–80, 122–23, 148–50, 157–61, 214–15, 219, 246–47, 258–61, 403, especially for Slaves, p. 490–91. Charles Phillips, Michael Kerrigan, Consultant: Dr. Elizabeth Warner, Myths & Mankind, series, vol. entitled: Slavic Myths and Mankind, Forests of Vampire, (Amsterdam: Time-Life Books, BV, 1999, Text Duncan Baird Publishers, 1999), section entitled: Spirit Masters & Little Demons, by Michael Kerrigan, see Siren of the Stream on p. 66–68, about the rusalkas.

2060- George Beahm, Fact, Fiction, & Folklore in Harry Potter's World, Charlottesville, VA: Hampton Roads, 2005, 29.

2061- Robert J. Myers, CELEBRATIONS, The Complete Book of American Holidays, (Garden City, NY: The Editors of Hallmark Cards, Doubleday & Co., 1972), 108 & 156-7; Lillie Patterson, 1966, A Holiday Book, Easter, 21-22; Aileen Fisher, A Crowell Holiday Book, Easter, (New York: Thomas Y. Crowell Co., 1968), pages not numbered; Anthony S. Mercatante, The Facts On File Encyclopedia Of World Mythology And Legend, (NY: Facts On File, Oxford, 1988), 673; Raymond Jahn, Concise Dictionary of Holidays, (NY: Philosophical Library, 1958), 100; Leslie Dunkling, A Dictionary of Days, (NY: Facts On File Pub., Oxford, England), 131; Gilda Berger, Easter And Other Spring Holidays, (NY: Lon. Etc.: Franklin Watts, 1983, A First Book), p.38; Gilbert Thurlow, Biblical Myths & Mysteries, (London: Octopus Books, 1974), p.64). The descent into hell, showing the hand clasping rite of passage, is depicted, among other events, on a robe. Marion P. Ireland, Textile Art in the Church, Vestments, Paraments, & Hangings in Contemporary Worship, Art, & Architecture, (Nashville & NY: Abingdon Press, 1966, 1967 & 1971), 114, figure 52a, the Saccos., 6th or 7th c. Rev. 1:6; 2:17; 3:4-5, 12, 21, 10:7; Rom.16:25; 1 Cor.2:7; 4:1; Col.2:1-3; 1 Tim.3:8-9. Dr. Johann L. Mosheim, 1854, Historical Commentaries on the State of Christianity, Vol.1. p.77, 127, 373, 391, Vol.2 p.472. Gen.3:21; Ex.28:2; 29:4-30; 40:7-16; Lev.14:14-29; Num.18:8; Isa.1:16-18; 22:21-3; 52:15; Ezk.36:24-27; 41:1-23; 42:14; 44:17-21, etc. The Ante-Nicene Fathers = (ANF) 2:49-50, 54, 91-3, 104-5, 174, 198-200, 203-6, 209-11, 213, 215-219, 231, here Clement of Alex., mentions being anointed & clothed in a garment, symbolic of Christ. He also made reference to "the robe of immortality". See also p.234, 253-56, 265-6, 271, 302-3, 312-13, 461-2, etc. Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments of Romanesque Art, (Un. of Chicago Press, 1954 & 1967), pl. 20, fig.45, pl.173, fig. 380, & 381, pl.173; Kartsonis, Anastasis, p.72, etc.; F. E. Halliday, An Illustrated History of England, (New York: The Viking Press, 1967-68), p.47, an art work depicting souls riding up on a garment in the hands of the angel ("St. Michael") towards God. (12th century A.D. Shaftesbury Psalter.); Text by Ernst Murbach, The Painted Romanesque Ceiling Of St. Martin In Zellis, (New York and Washington: Frederick A. Praeger, 1967, English trans., see: J-II; The Toledo Museum of Art European Paintings, Pub. by the Tol. Mu. of A., Toledo Ohio, Dist. by Penn. State Un., Press, 1976), p.389, Spiridon Chrysoloras 17th c. A.D.; Sartell Prentice, 1938, The Voices of the Cathedral, p.174; Marcell Restle 1967, Byzantine Wall Painting In Asia Minor, Plates II, pl.28, & pl.203; Italy, by Mercury Art Books, Florence: Edizioni Mercurio 1954-7, p.231; Otto A. Jager, Ethiopia Illuminated Manuscripts, (NY: New York Graphic Soc. & Unesco), pl.13; Ludmila Kybalova, Coptic Textiles, 1967, p.68-69 fig.15-16, & p.34; Brigham Young University Studies, vol.22, Winter 1982 #1 p.31-45, St. Ambrose, (Hamman, Traite des Mysteries in L' Initiation Chretienne, p.74; Heb. 10:16-22; Brigham Young Un. Studies, vol.22, Winter 1982 #1, p.31-45, Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity, by Blake Ostler; R. McL. Wilson, B.D., Ph.D., The Gospel Of Philip, pp.87-91, etc. We read of garments which were used as part of the baptismal ordinances, & which was symbolic types of what happens to the spiritual & mortal bodies. Thus, in some cases the garment in many Gnostic, & even anti-Gnostic sources, is symbolic of the body. (Ibid., p.87-91).

- 2062- Katharine Briggs, An Encyclopedia of Fairies, Hobgoblins, Brownies, Bogies, & Other Supernatural Creatures, (NY: Pantheon Books, 1976), 30-31, 33, 54, 93, 137, 231, 232, 237-279, 299, 318-20, 335-36, 341, 344-6, 380-2, 390. Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 3, 8, 62-63, 70-71, 79, 94, 148-150, 173, 214, 217, 258-261, 316-318, 363, 385, 457, 464, 490-91, 536. Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (New York; London, England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc., 1989), 39-42, 81-82, 130-34.
- 2063- Katharine Briggs, An Encyclopedia of Fairies, Hobgoblins, Brownies, Bogies, & Other Supernatural Creatures, (NY: Pantheon Books, 1976), 30-33, 93, 110-111, 137, 170-71, 232, 237, 279, 299, 318-20, 335-37,
- 2064- Editors of Time-Life Books, The Enchanted World, Ghosts, (Alexandria, Virginia: Time-Life Books, 1984, series entitled The Enchanted World, Series Director, Ellen Phillips, & others, chief series consultant, Tristram Potter Coffin, Professor of English at University of Pennsylvania), p. 44-45, 140-142, arc credit for p. 44-45, Winslow Pinney Pels, dated about 1984(?). Bibliography p. 140-141, mentions: John Arnott MacCulloch, and Jan Machal, The Mythology of All Races, (New York: Cooper Square, 1964), vol. 3, Celtic, Slavic.
- 2065- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), before p. 1, baptismal font I. Kélibia. This font has four rounded sides that extend out & there are vines & grapes, with birds on the outer circle that has Greek letters on them. In Semitic and Biblical traditions were incorporated into medieval iconography, under the Tree of life a number of birds, etc., "drink from the four Rivers of Paradise which gush from the baptismal Fountain of Life into a continuous stream at the root of the Tree. Jennifer O'Reilly, A Garland Series, Outstanding Theses In The Fine Arts From British Universities, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, (NY, U.S.A., & Lon., Eng.: Garland Publishing, Inc., 1988). Thesis submitted to the University of Nottingham for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, October 1972), 347-49, 358-91, 403, 406, & 410-11, etc. Birds and eagle symbols are also related to the spreading of the gospel, the eagle is a symbol for St. John, for example. But also in the Shepherd of Hermas, The Lost Books of The Bible, 3rd Hermas, Sim. 9:1-3, 13, 15-16, the apostles are part of the missionary efforts who descended & preached the seal, or baptism, the many times the gospel was preached to the spirits of the dead. Birds also help prophets ascend into the heavenly realms. See also a Slavonic Apocalypse of Abraham, c. A.D. 1300, the angel Yahoel (Metatron or Enoch) gestures to the heavens above as he leads a hesitant Abraham by the wrist. They ascend on the wings of eagles (cf. Exodus 19:4), see: Temple and Cosmos, Huge Nibley, The Col. Works, Vol.12, 1992, Pub. by D.B.C., & FARMS, SLC & Provo Ut., p.277-9, fig.49 on p.278. Jeffrey M. Bradshaw, Temple Themes In the Book of Moses, SLC, Utah: Eborn Pub., 2010, 39, 43, fig. 3-20. Abraham ascends with wrist clasping angelic-guide, they stand on the back of eagles or birds. In historic Christendom: "The eagle suggests the soaring of the Gospel of John heavenward in contemplation of Christ's divinity." Marion P. Ireland, Textile Art in the Church, Vestments, Paraments, and Hangings in Contemporary Worship, Art, and Architecture, (Nashville and New York: Abingdon Press, 1966, 1967, 1971), p. 94. George Every, Library Of The World's Myths and Legends, Christian Legends, (New York: Peter Bedrick Books, 1970, as Christian Mythology, revised edition London: Hamlyn Pub. Group, 1987), see frontispiece: The first leaf of the Book of Kells shows the Evangelical symbols. Top left, the man or angel, St. Matthew. Top right, St. Mark the lion. Lower left, the sacrificial calf, St. Luke. Right, the eagle for St. John, the evangelist. Irish eighth-century. Trinity College Library. Dublin. See also p.19, four angels make a possible prayer circle with up-lifted hands. The four winged symbols of the four Gospel writers are also depicted here too. Nigel Morgan, Early Gothic Manuscript [II] 1250 - 1285, A Survey of Manuscripts Illuminated in the British Isles - General Editor: J. J. G. Alexander, (London: Harvey Miller, 1988), see fig. 26. Christ in Majesty. Oxford, All Souls College, 6, f. 6 (cat. 101). Here we see again another depiction of Christ enthroned, with the winged symbols of the 4 gospel writers in the corners. Below, the virgin Mary stands with up-lifted hands as if in praise and prayer to her Son. At the feet of Christ is what could be an orb, the symbol of His universal reign. Ferguson, Encyclopedia of Early Christianity, 1990, p.39.
- 2066- Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (NY; Lon., Eng.: M. E. Sharpe, Inc., 1989), 38, & 64-82.
- 2067- Henry A. Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, & Drama, Ithaca & Lon: Cornell Un. Press, 1985.
- 2068- Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (New York; London, England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc., 1989), 40.
- 2069- Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (New York; London, England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc., 1989), 45.
- 2070- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 490-491.
- 2071- Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (New York; London, England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc., 1989), 80.
- 2072- Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1986). Ignazio Mancini, O.F.M., (Historical Survey), Archaeological Discoveries, Relative to the Judaeo-Christians, (Jerusalem: Studium Biblicum Franciscanum, Collection minor #10, Franciscan Printing Press, 1970).
- 2073- <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dGR3m5Zs9lc> Led Zeppelin In My Time of Dying album 6 Physical Graffiti song 3 2-24-1975 https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/In_My_Time_of_Dying Howling Wolf, Going Down Slow, <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dno8BDVMF6c> https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Goins%27_Down_Slow
- 2074- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, & Other Little People, (NY: Gramercy Books, 2000 ed, earlier editions Crown Pub., 1978), 78-79.
- 2075- Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, & Drama, (Ithaca & Lon. Cornell Un. Press, 1985). Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1986).
- 2076- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (NY: Gramercy Books, 2000 ed, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 147-150.
- 2077- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 258-260.
- 2078- Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (New York; London, England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc., 1989), 136.
- 2079- Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (New York; London, England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc., 1989), 136-37.
- 2080- Psalm 107:1-7, 9-14, 16, 20, 23-4, 26, 30, 40-41. Isaiah 30:14; Zechariah 9:11; Luke 11:14-24; 16:19-31; Habakkuk 2:14; Isa.11:9; Zech.8:12-13; Temple, by Huge Nibley, (IDE-T), (The Idea of a Temple in History), Reprinted by F.A.R.M.S., from: The Millennial Star 120 (Aug. 1958), p.228-237, see pages 234, & 249, ft. nt.s 52, op, cit., & 56. R. Akiba, cited by S. A. Horodezky, in Monatsschr.f. Gesch. u. Wins. des Judentums LXXII. 505; Psa.23; Jer.30:7-17; Isa.30:8-33; Tours Of Hell (An Apocalyptic Form in Jewish and Christian Literature), by Martha Himmelfarb, Un. of Penn. Press, Philadel., 1983, p. 8-19, 50-56, 94-97, 106-120, 122-126, 136-7, & 151-158; Isa. 30:14-15; S. Caecilius Cyprian, 3rd century A.D., cites from Paul's testimony, 1 Cor. 10:4, see: A Library of Fathers of the Holy Catholic Church, Vol.III, p.101, Oxford, John Henry Parker, J. G. F. & J. Rivington, Lon., MDCCCXL; The Forgotten Books of Eden, Edited by Rutherford H. Platt, Jr., Assistant Editor J. Alden Brett, Pub.

- by Alpha House, Inc., 1927, U.S.A., The First Book of Adam & Eve, p.8-10, 12-13, 26-8, 30; Archaeological Discoveries, (Relative to the Judaeo-Christians), Historical Survey, Ignazio Mancini, O.F.M., Pub. of the Studium Biblicum Franciscanum, Collection minor #10, Jerusalem, 1970, p.165-170, & fig.39, on p.166, "Adam under Calvary in a medieval miniature of Valenciennes, with detail of Adam. (from LTS 1965, p. 278)". Christ Lore, Hackwood, p. 117; The Encyclopedia Of Visual Art, Biographical Dictionary of Artists, by Limburg Brothers - Francisco Ribalta, Pub. by Encyc. Britannica Intern., LTD., Lon., Vol.6, see "Attavante degli Attavanti: Crucifixion, a leaf from the missal illuminated for Thomas James, Bishop of Dol; 1483. Nouveau Musée des Beaux-Arts, Le Havre". (Luke 23:32-43); The Encyc. Of Vis. Art, Vol.6, p.32; Ivory Carvings In Early Medieval England, by John Beckwith, 1972, Harvey Miller & Medcalf, p.84, fig. 152. "Deposition. English (Hereford), about 1150. London, Victoria and Albert Museum [Cat. 88]"; Rev.7:13-15, Isa.1:15-20; John 4:1-38; Amos 7:16, 8:7-8, 9, & 11-13.
- 2081- Library of The World's Myths and Legends, Christian Legends, by George Every, 1970, 1987, Peter Bedrick Books, N.Y., p.60, see also p. 61-2. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, Vol.2, p.490-2. Mediaeval Art, by Charles Rufus Morey, Pub. by W. W. Norton Co., 1942, N.Y., N.Y., p.129; The Christian World, text, Geoffrey Barraclough, etc., Pub. by Harry N. Abrams, N.Y., 1981, p.8-9. Christmas Customs And Traditions (Their History and Significance), by Clement A. Miles, Pub. by Dover Pub., Inc., N.Y., 1976, pp.138-9, as a republication of the original work by T. Fisher Unwin in 1912, entitled: Christmas in Ritual and Tradition, Christian and Pagan.) Biblical Myths & Mysteries, by Gilbert Thurlow, Pub. by Octopus Books, London, 1974, p.70; Rev. 22:1-5, 13; Christianity And The Renaissance (Image and Religious Imagination in the Quattrocento), Edited by Timothy Verdon & John Henderson, Pub. by Syracuse Un. Press, 1990, pp.135 & 141, see chapter 5, pp.132-160, entitled: The Tree of Life And The Holy Cross (Franciscan Spirituality in the Trecento and the Quattrocento), by Rab Hatfield; Monumental Christianity, op. cit., Lundy, 1876, pp. 270-1; Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, O'Reilly, 1972, 344-5; Origins of Judaism, Vol. XI, Part 1, The Literature of Formative Judaism: The Midrash-Compilations, edited by Jacob Neusner, 1990, Garland Pub., Inc., NY, & Lon., 5-6, note 3. Some early Christian rings depicted on them the vine for it was a type of Christ. Also a blade of wheat, symbolic of "The Harvest of souls?" Rings For The Finger, Kunz, 1973, p. 253-4.
- 2082- Peter Lasko; Ed.: Nikolaus Pevsner & Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (Australia, etc., Penguin Books, 1972), vol. 36, Ars Sacra, 800-1200, p. xvii, plate 177: Altar cross, with a tree cross as part of its shape, & with 2 people clasping the bottom area. Perhaps Adam & Eve. 1100-30, Ivory. New York, Metropolitan Museum of Art (The Colisters Collection, Purchase 1963).
- 2083- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 1, p.573, XXXI; vol. 2, p. 39-41, The Pastor of Hermas, Book III, Similitude 8, Chap. I-VI; p. 202, Clement of Alex., Exhortation To The Heathen, chap. x; Vol. 3, pp.164, 169-70 & p. 364-5, Tertullian Against Marcion, Book IV, chap. xiii; & p.172, An Answer to the Jews, chap. xiv; Isa. xliiii. 20; John 15:1-8; Rom. chap.10, 11:16-27. In a 13th century depiction, an angel clasps the wrist of person as they ascend up to the heavenly Jerusalem, it also shows a "river of life" which flows from the throne of God, from either side of this river the tree of life grows. The Horizon Book of the Middle Ages, by the Editors of Horizon Magazine, Editor in Charge, Norman Kotker, author, Morris Bishop, Pub. by American Heritage Pub., Co., NY, 1968, p.81.
- 2084- Christianity And The Renaissance (Image and Religious Imagination in the Quattrocento), Edited by Timothy Verdon & John Henderson, Pub. by Syracuse Un. Press, 1990, p.135 & 141, chap. 5, p.132-160, entitled: The Tree of Life And The Holy Cross (Franciscan Spirituality in the Trecento and the Quattrocento), by Rab Hatfield. Monumental Christianity, Lundy, 1876, p.270-1. Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, O'Reilly, 1972, p.344-5. In semitic tradition and the Bible, the Tree is a great cosmological tree piercing the very center of the earth at Jerusalem and, in the dream of Nebuchadnezzar for example, providing refuge for the fowls of the air in its branches reaching up to the heavens and the ends of the earth, shade for the beasts beneath it and nourishment for all (Daniel iv, 10-13). A Garland Series, Outstanding Theses In The Fine Arts from British Universities, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, by Jennifer O'Reilly, Oct. 1972, Pub. by Garland Pub., Inc., N.Y., & London. 1988, see p. 346-7. Museum of Antiquity (A Description of Ancient Life): The Employments, Amusements, Customs and Habits, The Cities, Palaces, Monuments and Tombs, The Literature and Fine Arts of 3,000 Years Ago, by L. W. Yaggy M.S., and T. L. Haines, A.M., Pub. by Western Pub. Co., House, Chicago, 1883, p.940-1. E. Baldwin Smith, The Dome, A Study in the History of Ideas, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1950, 1978), p. 26-28, see note 52: Trees where an important symbol to show that souls had entered paradise.
- 2085- Jennifer O'Reilly, 10-1972, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, 323-41.
- 2086- Jennifer O'Reilly, 10-1972, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, 342.
- 2087- Jennifer O'Reilly, 10-1972, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, 342-45.
- 2088- Jennifer O'Reilly, 10-1972, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, 241, fig. 18b, 256, art works after p. 348, figures 26, 27, p. 356-57, art works after p. 370, fig. 31a & 31b, & p. 391.
- 2089- Jennifer O'Reilly, 10-1972, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, 172-243, 251-64, 331-414.
- 2090- Jennifer O'Reilly, 10-1972, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, 348-59.
- 2091- Jennifer O'Reilly, 10-1972, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, 362-67.
- 2092- Heaven & Hell In Western Art, by Robert Hughes, 1968, p. 192, Giovanni Bellini? Christ's descent into limbo. City Art Gallery, Bristol.) Les Ivories, p. 31; Les Ivories Gothiques, pl. LVI, #220. Berling, coll. du Prof. Weisbach; Greek and Syriac Miniatures In Jerusalem, Hatch, 1931, p. 58-9, pl. II, the harrowing of hell; Ikonen, by Konrad Onasch, Gutersloher Verlagshaus, Gerd Mohn, 1961, see fig. 39, & 73.
- 2093- Herbert H. Wernecke, Celebrating Christmas Around the World, Philadelphia: The Westminster Press, MCMLXII, p. 169.
- 2094- N&PNF, 7:22, Cyril of Jer. lec. iv:14, p.22, xiv:19-20, p.99. Descent into the font (Catech. xvii).
- 2095- De Noord-Nederlandsche Schilderkunst Door G. J. Hoogewerff, 'S-Gravenhage, Martinus Nijhoff, 1936, p.179, Afb. 76. De Passie uit O. L. Vr. Munster te Roermond (rechter helft). Rijksmuseum, Amsterdam, page 187, Afb. 80. Beweenen en Verrijzenis Christi. Onderdeel der Passie uit Roermond; see also p.527, Afb. 292. Meester van den Lantaarn. De Opstanding van Christus. Rijks-museum te Amsterdam. Himmel Holle Fegefeuer, Abb. 6, p. 355, Kat. 143.
- 2096- Alexander Hislop, The 2 Babylons, or The Papal Worship Proved to be The Worship of Nimrod & His Wife, (Neptune, New Jersey: Loizeaux Brothers, 1959, 1st ed. 1916, 1st American ed., 1943, 2nd 1959), 202-5.
- 2097- Daniel C. Peterson & Stephen D. Ricks, Offenders For A Word, How Anti-Mormons Play Word Games to Attack the Latter-day Saints, (SLC, Utah: Aspen Books, 1992), 45.

- 2098- Horst de la Croix, & Richard G. Tansey, Gardner's Art Through The Ages, Eighth Edition, II Renaissance and Modern Art, (Dan Diego; NY; Chicago; Atlanta; Wash., D.C.; London; Sydney; Toronto; Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, Pub., 1954, 64, 79, 86, p. 573, fig. 16-36, Piero Della Francesca, Resurrection, c. 1463. Fresco. Palazzo Comunale, Borgo San Sepolcro, Italy.
- 2099- Robert J. Myers, Celebrations, The Complete Book of American Holidays, NY: Doubleday, 1972, 153-54.
- 2100- Croix, and Tansey, Gardner's Art Through The Ages, II, p. 573, fig. 16-36.
- 2101- Darell Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined, (unpub. research paper, 1995, now on line). Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis The Making of an Image, (New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1986); Geoffrey Barreclough, etc., The Christian World, (Harry N. Abrams, 1981), p. 8-9; George Zarnecki, Art of the Medieval World, (NY: Harry N. Abrams, 1975), p. 135, fig. 132, Christ ascends into heaven with a banner in his right hand, and while grasping the hand of the Father the other. (A.D. 850); John Beckwith, Ivory Carvings In Early Medieval England, (New York: Harvey Miller & Medcalf, New York Graphic Soc., 1972), fig.20, 8th century A.D., Anglo-Saxon; Gertrud Schiller, Iconography of Christian Art, Vol. I, pp. 345-6, fig.346, dated A.D. 330, Rome, Catacombs; Thomas Armitage, 1887, A History of the Baptists, pp. 258-59, fig.4; Charles G. Herbermann, (Editor), The Catholic Encyclopedia, 1907, vol.2, p. 274-76; Belser Verlag, The Golden Age of Dutch Manuscript Painting, (New York: The Pierpont Morgan Library, 1990 p.230 fig.X85; Isaiah 42:6-7; Gothic Painting I, p.48; Lowrie, Art in the Early Church, pl.100; Auclair & others, Christ's Image, p.129; Bainton, Behold the Christ, pp. 170—71, figures 194—95, Christ kicking down the doors of hell; Huyghe, Art and Mankind, pp.149— 50, fig. 296; Dalton, Byzantine Art & Archaeology, p.663, fig.420. Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, pp. 118-122; Morey, Christian Art, p.86, dated A.D. 1100, Venice. The Harrowing of Hell. Christ holds Adam's wrist to lift him up out of the grave. Under his feet is the devil now bound in iron & chains. Also under his feet are the scattered bolts, and parts of the broken down doors of hell. See also: Clifton Harry, (Editor), The Bible in Art, (New York: Garden City, 1936); George Ferguson, Signs & Symbols in Christian Art, (New York: Oxford University, 1959), fig. 42; Michael Batterberry, Art of the Middle Ages, (New York: McGraw-Hill Book Company, 1961-64, & 1977), p. 76 fig. VII-14. The hand of God thrusts a spear into the Jaws of Hell, while Christ thrusts a spear into the jaws too, as he holds the wrist of Adam to free him and the others from the demonic forces attempting to hold their captives. Dated 12th century. Russell, Lucifer, The devil in the Middle Ages, p.145-50, work dated 11th-12th cents. Plus, Edgar Waterman Anthony, Romanesque Frescoes, (New Jersey: Princeton University, 1951), #40. Praying figures with up lifted hands, reach up towards Christ who reaches down to take hold of their hands to lift them up out of the Jaws of Hell. In response to the Jews, Justin Martyr suggest a type of Christ in how Moses had stretched forth his arms in the form of a cross during the battle of Israel with Amalek. He says that it was "a mystic sign, by which some out of all nations have been turned from idols to God". (Lundy, Monumental Christianity, 172-73, 158-59, note 1 on p.159, Dialogue With Trypho).
- 2102- Budge, Miscellaneous Coptic Texts, p. 776-77, The Discourse of Cyril, Archbishop of Jerusalem, On The Cross, (British Museum MS. Oriental, No. 6799).
- 2103- Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined. Some of these aspects show up in later traditions and practices. One tradition is how Adam's body was baptized in Christ's blood, which flowed down into the underworld below the cross. Thus, Adam's grave, according to tradition, was below the cross at Golgotha. Cyril mentions some aspects of these traditions about the blood flowing down, etc. See also: Kelly, The Devil At Baptism. Cyril also says how the Lord "waged war against the wicked Devil..." Budge, Miscellaneous Coptic Texts, 765, 776-80.
- 2104- Henry A. Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, & Drama, Ithaca & Lon: Cornell Un. Press, 1985.
- 2105- Budge, Miscellaneous Coptic Texts, p. 776-79, Cyril of Jerusalem, The Discourse On The Cross.
- 2106- Budge, Miscellaneous Coptic Texts, p. 783-84. Cyril, The Discourse On The Cross.
- 2107- Jaroslav Pelikan The Illustrated Jesus Through The Centuries, New Haven, Lon.: Yale Un. Press 1997, 177.
- 2108- Mit Beiträgen von, Gabriele Atanassiu, Mariano d' Alatri, Stanislaw da Campagnola, Servus Gieben, Engelbert Grau OFM, Raoul Manselli, Raymond Oursel, Clemente Schmitt, Franz von Assisi, (Italy; Stuttgart, Zürich: Belser Verlag, 1990), figures 236-46, 393-96.
- 2109- Pelikan, The Illustrated Jesus Through The Centuries, p. 178-79.
- 2110- Father Louis Coulange, The Life of The Devil, (London, England: Alfred A. Knopf, 1929), translated from the French by Stephen Haden Guest, p. 103-4, & 105-111. Augustine, Sermons 130, 2, 134, 4-6, 263, 1-2; De Trinitate 13, 15--27; De libero arbitrio, 3, 29-31; Gregory the Great, Morals, 33, 16-31; 17.
- 2111- Lundy, Monumental Christianity, 73-74, 98, 266; Thorpe, Early Christian Answers to Primitive Critics, How Their Responses Answer Modern Issues, (Salt Lake City, Utah: An unpublished Research Paper for a College Class, Humanities, Special Studies Class, Instructor: John Fritz, Student: Darell Thorpe, Summer Quarter, August, 1996), 3-4, 7- 11, 16-26; See: 1 Peter 3:15-22, 4:5-6; Ephesians 4:7-10, Isaiah 42:6-7; Alan Richardson and John Bowden, Westminster Dictionary of Christian Theology, (Philadelphia, Pennsylvania: The Westminster Press), p. 153-4, see the article by A. T. Hanson, The Descent into Hell, (CR SCM Press Ltd 1983, first Pub. in Great Britain in 1983 under the title A New Dictionary of Christian Theology); Russell, The Prince of Darkness, p.76-77; Morey, Mediaeval Art, p. 125 & 129, p. 99, fig. 48, & p. 106, fig., 55, p. 127, 150-51.
- 2112- The Nicene and Post-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. 520, Athanasius, 6th Letter, 4.
- 2113- Library Of Fathers, Of the Holy Catholic Church, Anterior to the Division of The East & West, (Lon., Eng.: Oxford; John H. Parker; J.G.F. & J.Rivington, Lon., MDCCCXXXIX), 4:82, Hom. of S.John Chrysostom, Archbishop of Constan., On The 1st Epistle of St. Paul The Apostle to The Corinthians, Part I. Homil. VII:5.
- 2114- James Harvey Robinson, Ph.D., Medieval And Modern Times, An Introduction To The History Of Western Europe From The Dissolution Of The Roman Empire To The Present Time, (Boston; NY; Chicago; Lon.; Atlanta; Dallas; Columbus; San Francisco: Ginn & Co., 1916, 1918, 1919), 75-79, 103-110, see also the hand clasp done between Christian King and noble in fig. 35. "CEREMONY OF HOMAGE". Carlton J. H. Hayes, Parker Thomas Moon & John W. Wayland, World History, (NY: The Macmillan Co., 1939), p. 236, 282-86, 300-88.
- 2115- Bernhardt, 1993, Itinerant Kingship And Royal Monasteries In Early Medieval Germany, c. 936-1075, p.28.
- 2116- O. M. Dalton, Byzantine Art and Archaeology, (NY: Dover Pub., Inc., 1961), p. 408-89, see also fig.240.
- 2117- Peter Jezler (catalog), Himmel Holle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, (Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, 1994), 83, 109, 314, 354, & 365; John Pope-Hennessy, Fra Angelico, Lon., Eng.: Phaidon Press, 1952, p. 184, fig. 24.
- 2118- Francis Bond, Fonts & Font Covers, Lon., NY, & Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford Un. Press, 1908, p. 110, 113, 167, 176, 179—83, 253, & 264.
- 2119- Peter Manns, Martin Luther, An Illustrated Biography, (NY, NY: Crossroad, 1982), fig. 71, Christ as battle banner bearer, thrust the banner into a beasts mouth, while trampling death.

- 2120- Francis Bond, Fonts & Font Covers, Lon; NY, etc: Henry Frowde, Oxford Un. Press, 1908, 67, 46, 93, 110, 113, 135, 167-89, 253-57, 263- 64.
- 2121- Leopold Wagner, Manners, Customs, & Observances, Their Origin & Signification, Lon.: William Heinemann, 1894; Repub. Gale Research Co., Book Tower, Detroit, 1968, 211—12.
- 2122- Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil At Baptism, Ritual, Theology, & Drama, (Ithaca & Lon. Cornell Un. Press, 1985), 10-12, 21-32, 58-77, 86-93, 108- 22, 125, 131-57, 161-278.
- 2123- Oswald A. Erich, Die Darstellung Des Teufels, In Der Christlichen Kunst, (Berlin, Germany: Deutscher Kunstverlag, 1931), 13-25, 83-84.
- 2124- Marcelle Auclair & others, Christ Image, (NY: Tudor Pub.), 129; David Talbot Rice, The Art of Byzantium, (NY: Harry N. Abrams, 1959), 174; Weitzmann, 1980, Icon, p.23, pl. 47; Schaeffner, Gothic Painting I, p. 48. John 10:7-8; Matthew 12:24- 30; Luke 11:14-22. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 1, p.145— 46, Epistle of Barnabas, chapters 11-14; Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, p. 118-122, Tertullian, Res. 44; TANF, vol. 3, p. 157-58, Tertullian, An Answer to the Jews, chap. 7; Geoffrey R. King, 1949, The Forty Days, p.15- 20.
- 2125- King, The Forty Days, p.15-20; 1 Corinthians 15:24— 28; Isaiah 14:12— 19.
- 2126- Thorpe, Upon Them Hath the Light Shined; Alice K. Turner, The History of Hell, NY; San Deigo; London: Harcourt Brace & Co., 1993, 66-70. Notice the expressions on the faces of the demons in the art work on p. 69. They can't believe how easily Christ burst through the doors of hell to liberate their captives. They can't stop the harrowing of hell from taking place.
- 2127- Father Louis Coulange, The Life of The Devil, (Lon.: Alred A. Knopf, 1929, trans. from the French by Stephen Haden Guest), page in between p. 48-49, the descent, 104—115.
- 2128- Thorpe, Upon Them Hath the Light Shined; 1 Corinthians 15:24-28; Isaiah 14:12-19.
- 2129- Gothic Painting I, p.48; Emile Mâle, L' Art Religieux Du XlIe Siecle En France, (Paris, France: Paris Libraire Armand Colin, 1922), 105, fig. 94. Descente aux Limbes. Fragment d' un vitrail du XlIe siecle, n. 2, Hucher, Calques des vitraux peints du Mans (Paris, France: Didronet Morel. Cathedrole du Mans. Jonathan Alexander & Paul Binski, Editors, Age of Chivalry, Art in Plantagenet England 1200-1400, (London: Royal Academy of Arts, with Weidenfeld & Nicolson, 1987), fig.308, p. 328; Nigel Morgan, Early Gothic Manuscripts (II), 1250—1285, A Survey of Manuscripts Illuminated in the British Isles, Editor, J.J.G. Alexander, (Lon., Eng.: Harvey Miller, 1988), fig. 400. Descent into Hell, Krvoklat Castle Lib., I.b.23, f.12 (cat. 184), fig. 272.
- 2130- Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined, 1 Peter 3:15— 22; 4:5-6.
- 2131- See art works on the alabaster columns which support the ciborium in St. Mark's Church at Venice, the Columns of the Ciborium in S. Marco, (4th-5th centuries A.D.?). While Christ crushes under his feet, Hades and those whom he gained the victory over, Adam reaches around a pillar to feel the wound in Christ's palm. "Surgunt corpora sanctorum." "Many bodies of the saints were raised" (Matthew 27:52). Christ descent into the limbo (1 Peter 3:19), to rescue the patriarchs, "while Hades [under Christ's feet] bits his [own] fingers in impotent rage." (Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, p. 184-87, plate 100, a & b).
- 2132- Francois Suchal, Art of the Early Middle Ages, p.134.
- 2133- Art Treasures in Germany, (Monuments, Masterpieces, Commissions and Collections), Introd. by Stephan Waetzoldt, General Ed. Bernard S. Myers, etc., NY; Toronto: McGraw-Hill Book Co., The Hamlyn Publishing Group Limited 1970) p. 45, fig. 58, THE PRESENTATION IN THE TEMPLE, AND THE BAPTISM OF CHRIST.
- 2134- Art Treasures in Germany, p. 30, fig.32, snake or dragon crushed under the feet of Christ on the cross. First cross of Matilda, 973-82. Page 56, fig.76, Tomb of Archbishop Siegfried Von Eppstein, c.1249, Mainz Cathedral. Page 69, fig.97, St George & the Dragon, c.1390, Bayerisches Nationalmuseum, Munich, dragon is speared through the head under the feet of the victorious St. George, p.96, fig. 139; p. 100-1, fig.149; p.136-37, fig. 207.
- 2135- Peter Lasko, 1972, Nikolaus Pevsner and Judy Nairn, Editors, The Pelican History of Art, Ars Sacra 800—1200, (Harmondsworth, Middlesex; Baltimore, Md; Australia Ltd; Ringwood, Victoria, Australia, etc.: The Pelican History of Art series, Penguin Books, 1972), volume Ars Sacra 800—1200, by Peter Lasko, 1972, pp. xi, plate 11, Christ treading on the beasts. Plaque from Genoels—Elderen, early 9th century(?). Brussels, Musées Royaux. Christ also holds a cross over his shoulder, and a book in his hand as if making his victory march to bring the gospel to the nations, as he defeats the forces of evil wherever he goes.
- 2136- Peter Lasko, Editors: Nikolaus Pevsner & Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (Penguin Books: The Pelican History of Art, 1972), vol. 36, Ars Sacra: 800—1200, p. xii, pl.28. Christ treading on the beasts & scenes from the life of Christ. Book-cover. C. 800. Oxford, Bodleian Library. Christ, in militant arms & clothing, crushes the beasts, symbolic of his victory march.
- 2137- John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (New York: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882), 399.
https://archive.org/details/MonumentalChristianity- https://archive.org/details/monumentalchris00lundgoog
- 2138- The Sage Digital Library, CD-Rom: N&PNF, 2:764 & 818, Augustine, City of God, book 17, chap.17.
- 2139- Archibald Robertson, Select Writings & Letters Of Athanasius, Bishop Of Alexandria, p. 50-52.
- 2140- ANF, 8:31; Testament X:7; The Testament of Asher Concerning Two Faces Of Vice And Virtue.
- 2141- Yves Bonnefoy, Mythologies, (Chicago and London: The University of Chicago Press, 1991), vol. 2, p. 653; Alfred Loisy, 1857—1940, The Birth Of The Christian Religion, (University Books, 1962), pp. 235—37; Ferguson, Encyclopedia Of Early Christianity, p. 411; Library of Fathers, vol. 2, pp. 260—66; Art Treasures in Germany, p. 45, fig. 58; Kelly, The Devil At Baptism; Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined.
- 2142- Kurt Weitzmann The Place of Book Illumination in Byzantine Art 40-41 fig.333-34. John Martin The Illustration of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, Prince. Un. Press 1954 LIX, fig.179 Fol.15v; p.43fig. 64
- 2143- Jaroslav Pelikan The Illustrated Jesus Through The Cents, New Haven, Lon.: Yale Un. Press, 1997, 223-25.
- 2144- Daniel 7:10, 14, 27; Psalm 98:2-3, 6, & 9; Revelation 13:7-8.
- 2145- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 7:241, The Epitome Of The Divine Institutes, chapter XLVII.
- 2146- George Ferguson, Signs & Symbols in Christian Art, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1959, introd. comments.
- 2147- Hymns Of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, SLC, Utah: LDS, 1985, 246-47, Text, Sabine Baring-Gould, 1834-1924. Music, Arthur S. Sullivan, 1842-1900. Onward, Christian Soldiers.
- 2148- Hymns, 1985, 250-51, Text: Anon., The New Golden Chain, NY: 1866. Music: William Bradbury 1816-68.
- 2149- Hymns, 60-61, Battle Hymn of the Republic, Text, Julia Ward Howe 1819-1910. Music: Avon., ca. 1861.

- 2150- Hartman, The World We Live In and How It Came To Be, p. 141-142.
- 2151- Charles G. Addison, The History of The Knights Templars, The Temple Church, & The Temple, Lon.: 1842, repub. in Kempton, Illinois: Adventures Unlimited Press, 1997.
- 2152- Jack C. Estrin, M.A., Made Simple Self-Teaching Library, World History, NY: Greystone Press, Made Simple Books, 1957, 101.
- 2153- Jezler, Himmel Holle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 109, 328—32, 353, 354, 365, etc.
- 2154- Some art works may have been inspired by Ephesians 6:10— 18, and in turn may have inspired Christian Knights who may have seen Christ and his angels dressed as Knights. "Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil. For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places. Wherefore take unto you the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand. Stand therefore, having your loins girt about with truth, and having on the breastplate of righteousness; And your feet shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace: Above all, taking the shield of faith, wherewith ye shall be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked. And take the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God: Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the Spirit, and watching thereunto with all perseverance and supplication for all saints..."
- 2155- Cole, and Warren, An Illustrated Outline History of Mankind, vol. 1, p. 213-16, 220-21, 240-54, 269-90; William L. Langer, (General Editor), Paul MacKendrick, Deno J. Geanakoplos, J. H. Hexter, and Richard Pipes, Western Civilization, Paleolithic Man To The Emergence of European Powers, (NY & Lon.: A Harper-American Heritage Textbook, American Heritage Publishing Company, Harper & Row, Publishers Inc., 1968), 502-75.
- 2156- Bailey, The Gospel in Art, 382-85, & 438-444.
- 2157- Zeller The Holy Rule 331-33, n.1, p. 331 & 467, Schroll, Sister M. Alfred. Benedictine Monasticism, p.147
- 2158- David Knowles, 1969, Christian Monasticism, NY: Toronto: World Un. Library; McGraw-Hill Book Co., 10-12, 21-22, 33-35; Powel Mills Dawley, Our Christian Heritage, Church History & the Episcopal Church, NY: Morehouse- Barlow Co., 1959, 3rd print 1960, Episcopal Church Fellowship Series, Course H-1 Reader, 51-56.
- 2159- Hanns Gross, B.A., Alfred Degrazia, Ph.D., Frank L. Esterquest, Ph.D., Charles W. Paape, Ph.D., Fay-Cooper Cole, Ph.D., Sc.D., LL.D., (Editor), & Harris Gaylord Warren, Ph. D., An Illustrated Outline History of Mankind, (Chicago: Consolidated Book Publishers, CR 1951, 1955, 1959, 1963, by Book Production Industries, Inc.), in two volumes, vol. 1, p. 240—54. On page 252, we read that each monastic order attempted to correct the corruption that had entered the Church, and outdo the other monastic orders by coming up with stricter codes of ethics. However, "since all monks were mere men subject to the weaknesses of the flesh, many failed to achieve the perfect monastic life." On pages 252-53, the Albigenses in south France also attempted to live good lives. "There numbers grew rapidly, partly because they taught that only the leaders were expected to be perfect; other should have faith and try to lead a good life, and they could be saved if they received the last rites from the "perfect." Edward McNall Burns, Robert E. Lerner, Standish Meacham, Western Civilizations, Their History and Their Culture, NY: London: W. W. Norton, 1984, CR 1941, 10th ed. 1984, p. 222. In some cases the monks quest for moral perfection went to an extreme, for some of them began to shun women so they wouldn't be tempted by them. Thus, "the most perfect men were expected to shun women." See also p. 227, & p. 362, Christ as a pilgrim in a stone work from the 11th-12th c., from a church in Spain.
- 2160- Robinson, Medieval and Modern Times, p. 245-246.
- 2161- Kartsonis, The Anastasis, the whole book is an excellent source, as is also Kelly's The Devil At Baptism. Jean Danielou, Trans. by John A. Barker, The Development of Christian Doctrine Before the Council of Nicaea, Darton; Longman; Todd; & Chicago: The Henry Regnery Co., vol. 1, The Theology of Jewish Christianity, p. 225, and 228, & The Testament of Asher. Ignatius III.2, baptism destroyed death. Cyril of Jerusalem, Cat. Lect. III:11 says that Christ broke the head of the dragon when he went down to bind the strong one in the waters. Charles T. Wood, The Age of Chivalry, Manners and Morals 1000-1440, NY: University Books; CR 1970, Lon., Eng.: George Weidenfeld & Nicolson, LTD; Ottfried Neubecker, & others, Heraldry , Sources, Symbols, & Meaning, NY; St. Louis; San Francisco; Montreal, etc.: McGraw-Hill Book Company, 1976, 69.
- 2162- St. Francis of Assisi must have learned of these rules and stories about how about how Christ was out wandering throughout the world in the guise of a beggar or pilgrim. For he attempted to follow after the Lord's example, by becoming "the Lord's own beggar." Like the wandering Christ-child legends, St. Francis begged for food from door to door. "He wanted to be poor because Christ was poor, and he was trying to live like his Master." (Maus, The Church And The Fine Arts, pp. 323—26, under the heading: St. Francis of Assisi, abridged from The Book of Saints and Friendly Beasts, by Abbie Farwell Brown, p. 211-25.
- 2163- Charlton J.H. Hayes, Parker Moon, John Wayland, World History, NY: Macmillan Co., 1932, 1939, 324-25.
- 2164- Hayes, Moon, & Wayland, World History, 324-25.
- 2165- The Christmas element, is tied in with the militant element because of how the Christ-child was believed to be the Redeemer of all nations. The Gospel of The Nativity of Mary, Jesus' name, according to the etymology of His name, "shall be the Saviour of all nations." ANF, 8:385, The Gospel of The Nativity of Mary, chap 3-4.
- 2166- William Hood, 1993, Fra Angelico at San Marco, (New Haven & Lon.: Yale Un. Press), 97.
- 2167- Sechrist, Christmas Everywhere, p. 114.
- 2168- Hislop, The Two Babylons, p. 113.
- 2169- Jeff Guinn, ed., The Autobiography of Santa Claus, It's Better to Give, Texas: Summit Group, 1994, 34—35.
- 2170- SCHP: General Christmas traditions, 1-3, Jarno Tarkoma. <http://www.cyberspace.com/santa/general.html>
- 2171- Stephen E. Robinson, Are Mormons Christians?, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Bookcraft, 1991), p. 37, end notes 9—11, on p. 117: Francis X. Weiser, Handbook of Christian Feasts and Customs, (New York: Harcourt, Brace & Co., 1958), 31—32, 39—40, 60—63, 162—63, 128—29, 141—42, 318—19, 329—31, 333, notes many examples of pagan connections with different festival days, pages 60—63, Christmas ones. James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 571—72, foot notes 10—11: Joseph Lortz, A History of the Church, (Milwaukee: Bruce Publishing Co., 1939, translated, amended & adapted by Edwin G. Kaiser), 141, italics Baker's. Also: Charles Poulet, A History of the Catholic Church, (St. Louis: B. Herder Book Co., 1951, translated by Sidney A. Raemers), 2 vols., vol. I, p. 288. See also: Rev. Alexander Hislop, The Two Babylons or The Papal Worship Proved to be the Worship of Nimrod and His Wife, (Eng: A & C Black, LTD., 1916; American ed., Neptune, New Jersey: Loizeaux Brothers, 1943 & 56), 91—125. Tristram Potter Coffin, 1973, The Book of Christmas Folklore, (NY: A Continuum Book, The Seabury Press), 4-5; William Sansom, A Book of Christmas, (NY: Toronto: McGraw-Hill Book Co., 1968), 30. Patricia Bunning Stevens, Merry Christmas! A History of the Holiday, (NY: MacMillan, & Lon.: Collier MacMillan, 1979), 42-43. Pagan elements in Christian Christmas traditions noted by the Puritans, see: Cf. Mason I. Lowance, Increase Mather (New York: Twayne, 1974), 126. See also: Darell Thorpe, The Christ in Santa Unmasked, (Salt Lake City, Utah: MMM, & R.H. & P.S., 1994, revised illustrated edition, 2013), 29-30.

2172- Coffin, The Book of Christmas Folklore, p.3-7.

2173- <https://www.youtube.com/playlist?list=PL0B6EF521DAC91502> – Jeff Guinn, Ed., The Autobiography of Santa Claus, It's Better to Give, (Texas: The Summit Group, 1994), 37, & 104.

2174- Stephen E. Robinson, Are Mormons Christians?, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Bookcraft, 1991), 37.

2175- Hislop, The Two Babylons, p. 113-14, see also p. 91-125.

2176- Robinson, Are Mormons Christians? p. 37.

2177- Thorpe, The Christ In Santa Unmasked, p.20; Tristram Potter Coffin, 1973, The Book of Christmas Folklore, NY: A Continuum Book, The Seabury Press, 4-5; William Sansom, A Book of Christmas, NY; Toronto: McGraw-Hill Book Co., 1968, 30; Patricia Bunning Stevens, Merry Christmas! A History of the Holiday, NY: MacMillan Pub. Co., Inc., & Lon.: Collier MacMillan Pub., 1979, 42-43.

2178- James Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 571-72, foot notes 10-11: Joseph Lortz, A History of the Church, Milwaukee: Bruce Pub. Co., 1939, trans., amended & adapted by Edwin G. Kaiser, 141, italics Baker's. Charles Poulet, A History of the Catholic Church, (St. Louis: B. Herder Book Co., 1951, translated by Sidney A. Raemers), 2 vols., vol. I, p. 288. Rev. Alexander Hislop, The Two Babylons or The Papal Worship Proved to be the Worship of Nimrod and His Wife, (Eng: A & C Black, LTD., 1916; American ed., Neptune, New Jersey: Loizeaux Brothers, 1943 & 56), 91-125. Tristram Potter Coffin, 1973, The Book of Christmas Folklore, (NY: A Continuum Book, The Seabury Press), 4-5; William Sansom, A Book of Christmas, (NY: Toronto: McGraw-Hill Book Co., 1968), 30. Patricia Bunning Stevens, Merry Christmas! A History of the Holiday, (NY: MacMillan, & Lon.: Collier MacMillan, 1979), 42-43. Stephen E. Robinson, Are Mormons Christians?, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1991), p. 37, end notes 9-11, on p. 117: Francis X. Weiser, Handbook of Christian Feasts and Customs, NY: Harcourt, Brace & Co., 1958, 31-32, 39-40, 60-63, 162-63, 128-29, 141-42, 318-19, 329-31, 333, notes many examples of pagan connections with different festival days. Pagan elements in Christian Christmas traditions noted by the Puritans, see: Cf. Mason I. Lowance, Increase Mather, NY: Twayne, 1974, 126. Darell Thorpe, The Christ in Santa Unmasked, SLC, Utah: MMM, & R.H. & P.S., 1994, revised illustrated ed., 2013, 29-30.

2179- Coffin, The Book of Christmas Folklore, p. 3-7.

2180- Webster's Illustrated Encyclopedic Dictionary, 1990, p. 567, see Epiphany.

2181- Charles Rufus Morey, Mediaeval Art, (New York, New York: W. W. Norton Company, 1942), 128.

2182- Thorpe, The Garments of The First and Second Adam: [The Symbolical Meanings of Garments In Early To Later Christendom], (Salt Lake City, Utah: R.H. & P.S., October 1993), an unpublished research paper at this time. The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, vol. 13, p. 3, Prolegomena, p. 13 (xiii) & 29 (xxix), St. Gregory the Great, [born about A.D. 540, died A.D. 12th March 604], Epistle 6, To Januarius, Bishop of Caralis; The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, vol. 10, p. 321—22, St. Ambrose, [born A.D. 340, died A.D. 397], The Book of St. Ambrose, Bishop of Milan, Concerning The Mysteries, chapters 6-7; Thorpe, The Mystery Behind The Mysteries, Ritualistic Realm Pilgrims In Early To Later Christian Mysteries, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Paper for a His 190-01 Special Studies Class, Salt Lake Community College Class. Instructor: Marianne McKnight, Student: DaReil D. Thorpe, Winter Quarter, 1997), p. 3-7, 11-12, 42, 47-50, 92-96; Marion P. Ireland, Textile Art in the Church, (NY; Nashville: Abingdon Press, 1966, 1967, 1971), 73; Robert J. Myers, with the Editors of Hallmark Cards, CELEBRATIONS, The Complete Book of American Holidays, (NY: Doubleday & Co., 1972), 108 & 156-57; Aileen Fisher, A Crowell Holiday Book, Easter, (NY: Thomas Y. Crowell, 1968), pages not numbered.

2183- Thorpe, The Mystery Behind The Mysteries, Ritualistic Realm Pilgrims In Early To Later Christian Mysteries, SLC, Utah: R.H. & P.S., 1997, an unpub. research paper for a college class, Special Studies, HIS 190-01, Instructor, Marianne McKnight, student, Darell Thorpe, p.11-14, 47-51; Thorpe, The Garments of The First & 2nd Adam: The Symbolical Meanings Of Garments In Early To Later Christendom, SLC, Utah: R.H. & P.S., Oct. 1993, an unpub. research paper. BYU Studies, Vol. 22, Winter 1982, #1, p. 31-45, Blake Ostler, Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity; R. Mcl. Wilson, B.D., Ph.D., The Gospel of Philip, 87-91.

2184- Leonid Ouspensky & Vladimir Lossky, The Meaning Of Icons, Mass.: Boston Book & Art Shop, 1952, 168.

2185- Anthony Mercatante, 1988, The Facts On File Encyclopedia Of World Mythology & Legend, NY; Oxford: Facts On File, 673.

2186- Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined; Russell, The Prince of Darkness, p. 122; Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil At Baptism, Ritual, Theology, & Drama, Ithaca, London: Cornell Un. Press, 1985. The whole book is an interesting source for this subject. Thorpe, The Mystery Behind The Mysteries, p.26-58, and endnotes.

2187- Internet article: Passover, Easter & Garment Types of Deification in the Resurrection, Easter Sunday, 4-8-2012, Darell Thorpe. <http://drivetimearchivearchivespromosources.blogspot.com/> Winchester England Priory of St Swithun or Hyde Abbey 1121- 1161 Winchester Psalter of Henry of Blois Psalter of St Swithun -Baptism of Christ, angel holds the traditional white baptismal robes. Symbolic of putting on new clothing. Thus, later Easter traditions of Whitsunday, became the later Easter traditions of giving and getting new clothing. Naked male being raised up out of baptismal water by hand clasp. Baptism from Cemetery of St Callistus Rome, 4th century. Baptism, a ritualistic type of Christ's descent into the watery abyss. Christ having likened himself to Jonah: "For as Jonas was three days and three nights in the whale's belly; so shall the Son of man be three days and three nights in the heart of the earth." (Matt.12:40). 18th century, Russian Icon of the Baptism of Christ. Angels hold the traditional white baptismal garments. 9th century, Cross Pascal Vat. Reliquary cross of Pope Pascal- Lower section show the Baptism of Christ with the angel holding the white baptismal robe. In historic Christian traditions, the blood that flows down from the cross, is a type of baptism. Adam's grave, symbolic in many art works as a skull & cross bones, has Christ's blood flow, or drip down on his grave to baptize him. Thus, faded fragments & later legendized versions of Baptism for the Dead. Adam is sometimes depicted under the cross being lifted out of his grave by different types of hand & wrist grips, just as in many depictions of the harrowing of hell; Christ's descent into hell, hades, limbo, purgatory; or as in Eastern Christianity's iconography, the resurrection, called the anastasis. Christ in Limbo, 1440s Friedrich Pachter - Szépművészeti Múzeum - Budapest. In many cases, souls in limbo, hell, hades, purgatory, etc., are depicted naked, without protective garments, or robes. Thus, according to ritualistic cleansing types; the souls in these lower regions are being purified by the fires of hell; are punished for their sins by the demons there. After this, they are rescued by Christ, angels, prophets, apostles, saints & those who descend to preach the gospel to them, & lift them up out by different types of hand & wrist grips. They ascend up naked, in some cases, because they are eventually going to be clothed in ascension robes, or resurrection robes that are protective garments. These robes are types of how the newly resurrected spirits will be clothed in resurrected bodies. Hjembæk 1475 Harrowing of Hell Sect 2 south arch. Naked souls, first Adam, are raised up out of the jaws of hell by different types of hand & wrist grasping. The traditional trade mark of the resurrection, or the anastasis are different types of hand & wrist grips as Christ resurrects the dead out of their graves. Naked souls being raised out of hell by hand clasp— Descent into hell - Raffaello original - 1514, Raffaello Sanzio AD 1483-1520. Descent into hell - f.20r of MS K.26 one of sequence of 46 biblical illustrations cent. 1270-80, inserted at front of 14th c Psalter. Naked souls raised by hand grips out of the jaws of hell, thus being resurrected. Descent into Limbo, Évrard d'Espinques illumination manuscript, Middle Ages. Christ reaches out his hand to clasp the hand of Adam, the first naked soul to be resurrected out of the jaws of limbo. 14th century, Christ's descent into purgatory. Christ grips the hand of a naked Adam, the first in many to be resurrected out of purgatory. See: Claude Schaeffner, Artistic Consultant: Jean-Clarence Lambert & others, Gothic Painting, (Eng.: Ed. S.A. Geneva 1968), vol. I, p. 48), 14th century, the Master of Westphalia, Christ in Purgatory. 12 oxen, representing the 12 apostles, baptismal font by Renier de Huy, 1107–18. In the church of Saint-Barthélemy, Liège, Belgium. The lower part of the font could represent the 12 apostles in the underworld. In the a book that was in earlier canons of the New Testament, 2nd century, The Shepherd of Hermas, Similitude 9, chapter 16. The apostles are amongst those who descend into the pit of the underworld to preach the seal, or water baptism to those there. Note above, the baptism of Christ, with the angel holding out the baptismal robe, to a naked Christ. The Shepherd of Hermas used garment color symbolism too, with white spotless clothing being a type of purity; where as those in black clothing were a type of those clothed in different negative traits. (Shepherd of Hermas, Similitudes III, 9, 16; we are following the various texts given in Max Dressel, Patrum Apostolicorum Opera (Leipzig, 1863), 548—49, 631. Hans Swarzenski, Monuments of Romanesque Art, Chicago: Un. of Chicago Press, 1954 & 1967, fig. 253; 1 Kings 7:23-24; Jeremiah 52:20; 1 Cor. 10:1-4; Exodus 14:21-23. The garment, with their guardian angels, protects them as they ascend into paradise, or heaven. Baptism was a ritualistic type of all this. They ascend up out of the waters, with a ritualistic helping hand, are anointed again, & clothed in garments. Easter being a popular time of baptism because of how baptism was a ritualistic type of the resurrection, when the soul is clothed in a perfected, deified body. Ascending naked, as in this art works below, St. Peter is often depicted greeting naked souls at the gates or door way to paradise. Note how further on, angels are helping the souls get into clothing. In later centuries, these types were reflected in the ceremonies to Knighthood, with ceremonial baths, taking off the old clothing to be clothed in protective armor. Christ's victory march throughout the world is included in these rituals, in that the Knight, like the initiates in baptism, is clothed upon to thus have the protective armor to continue the battle against the forces of evil throughout the world and after life realms. Ephesians 4:7-10; 6:10-19; Psalms 90:7-8, 17; 91:1-4; Rev. 19:8, 14. Hans Memling 1440 1494 Last Judgement Triptych in Muzeum Narodowe Gdansk Poland 3, naked souls are greeted by hand clasps, by Peter, as they progress towards the doors to paradise. Before entering, angels cloth them in white robes. Matfré Ermengau of Béziers Breviari d'Amor Catalan prose version- f-40- soul ride up on a white protective blanket - last quarter of 14th century. An icon with the Koimesis, Falling Asleep of the Virgin Mary, late 10th cent Byzantine - Christ wraps the spirit of the Virgin Mary in protective swaddling clothing, an Angels descend with ascension robes to further protect her spirit during her assumption into heaven. These types of ascension robes, clothing, swaddling cloth, blankets, & martyrs' rewards as garments; are part of the baptismal types of ascending in high realms. 10th century, Constantinople, Soap stone Dormition Dormition, Mary's soul is wrapped in a swaddling cloth, to be passed on into the protective care of an angel also descending with ascension clothing. Angels carrying the soul of St Bertin to heaven - From an altarpiece by Simon Marmion 1480. The soul rides up on a protective blanket in the care of guardian angels. Book of Hours, Use of Rome- Netherlands, S- c. 1440- Naked souls ride up to paradise on blanket, Angels also for protection, God above blesses their ascension out of their graves. British Library. Book of Hours, Use of Sarum- Netherlands, S- 2nd or 3rd quarter of the 15th century- soul rides up to heaven on white protective blanket, with guardian angels. British Library. Book of Hours, Use of Sarum -Netherlands, S Bruges c 1490- Soul wrapped up in protective blanket with Abraham in paradise - Demon attempt to harm soul. British Library. Virgins, dressed in white, are greeted by Christ at Gates of Paradise. Leaf from the Breviary of Charles the Bold and Margaret of York 1467–70. Christ clasps their hands to welcome them in. In many cases of depictions of ascensions out of the hades, limbo, purgatory, hell or the underworld; souls are naked because eventually they will be clothed in ascension robes, or protective garments of different types, colors, shapes & sizes. In the ritualistic type of this, baptism. The baptismal robes are a type of the spirit being body being clothed again, in a body, during the resurrection. Easter is the time of the Anastasis, the resurrection, where they light of the world, Christ, passes on his light to all nations. Harrowing of hell Caparoso altarpiece of Caparoso 1507 St Mary's Cathedral Pamplona Spain. Naked souls ascend by wrist clasp. Psalter including a calendar ff 13-18v England Central Oxford 1st quarter of the 13th century- angel with a baptismal robe, John the Baptist, baptism of Christ. In this case, the baptismal clothing is rust color. In another depiction of the Descent of Christ to Limbo 1365-68 Andrea da Firenze -Cappella Spagnuolo, Santa Maria Novella, Florence. Christ stands on the fallen devil under the fallen doors of limbo, clasps the hand of Adam, the first to be liberated from the demons, who can't stop the victorious King of Glory! Christ bears the cross banner, a symbol of his victory march throughout the world, which is about to begin. Master of the Narbonne Parament - Entombment, descent into Hell, and Noli me tangere c 1375 Musée du Louvre - Paris. After the harrowing of hell, again naked souls being lifted up by wrist grips. Christ, resurrected, holding the cross banner, appears to Mary, one of the first to witness Christ's resurrected body, as he begins his victory march throughout the whole world. Gregory of Nyssa, 4th century Christian, wrote that baptism was for purification from sins, & in a symbolical way, the old man was to put on the new man. We will be changed into the fairness of that innocence as unto the innocence of an infant who is free from sin & accusations & from penalties, having been released by royal bounty from accountability. Garment types are mentioned as "the clean & fair apparel; teaching us the figurative illustration that verily in the Baptism of Jesus all we, putting off our sins like some poor & patched garment, are clothed in the holy & most fair garment of regeneration.... Thou didst strip off the fig-tree leaves, an unseemly covering, & put upon us a costly garment.... Thou didst sprinkle us with clean water, & cleanse us from our filthiness." The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, 5:519-520, & 524; Gregory of Nyssa: Dogmatic Treatises, reprint June 1972, WM. B. Eerdmans. St. Gregory the Great mentions the "white vestment (birrum)" in which a person "had been clothed when he rose from the font." He also wrote how they: "Receive the white and immaculate garment, which thou mayest bring forth without spot before the tribunal of our Lord Jesus Christ, that thou mayest have eternal life." (Gregory of Nyssa, N&PNF, 5:519-20, & 524, Gregory of Nyssa: Dogmatic Treatises, etc. (reprint June 1972, WM. B. Eerdmans. N&PNF, 13:3, Ep.6; St. Ambrose calls the garments of the early Christian mysteries "the chaste veil of innocence"; again suggesting that the garments were symbolic of righteousness, N&PNF, 10:321-3, chaps 6-7. Powel Mills Dawley: By 200 AD., initiation for baptism were anointed with oil and immersed 3 times, or had water poured on them. The "Apostles' Creed" in coming up from the water, the new-made Christian was anointed with the symbolic oil of Thanksgiving, clothed in white garments, and brought before the bishop to receive the laying-on-of-hands and the gift of the Holy Spirit.

2188- Powel Mills Dawley, Our Christian Heritage, Church History & the Episcopal Church, NY: Morehouse-Barlow Co., 1959, 3rd ed., 1960, 49-50. Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, Ithaca & London: Cornell University Press, 1985.

2189- Darell Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Religious, Historical & Polemical Studies, 1995; now on Amazon, Kindle Edition); Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (New York, San Diego, U.S.A.; London, England: Harcourt Brace & Company). Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986). Ariel L. Crowley, BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD, (Boise Idaho: Prepared for Electronic Media by Stanley D. Barker. Carol Zaleski, Otherworld Journeys, Accounts of Near-Death Experiences In Medieval and Modern Times, (New York and Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987). Chandler Rathfon Post, A History of Spanish Painting, (Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1930—1958). (New York: Kraus reprint Company, 1970's). Clifford Davidson, Editor, The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, and Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Kalamazoo, Michigan: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan University, 1994). Colleen McDannell and Bernhard Lang, Heaven: A History, (New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1988). Craig Harbison, The Last Judgment in Sixteenth Century Northern Europe, (New York, U.S.A., and London, England: Garland Pub. Inc., 1976). Geoffrey R. King, The Forty Days, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: W.M. B. Eerdmans, 1949). Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments Of Romanesque Art, The Art of Church Treasures in North-Western Europe, (The University of Chicago Press, 1954 and 2nd, Edition, 1967). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company). Volume 4: Mormonism and Early Christianity, (1987). Nibley, Baptism for the Dead in Ancient Time, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Improvement Era, 51—52, (December 1948—April 1949). Jeanne Villette, La Resurrection Du Christ, Dans L'Art Chretien Du Ile Au Vile Siecle, (Paris, France: Henri Laurens, Editeur, 1957). Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1981). John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (New York: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882). John Pope-Hennessy, Fra Angelico, (London, England: Phaidon Press, 1952, CR 1974, Phaidon Press, LTD. And in Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1974). J. P. Migne, Patrologiae Cursus Completus; Series Latina, 221 volumes; (Paris: 1844-1864). Patrologia Cursus Completus, Series Graeca (Paris: 1857-1866, 161 volumes). Kurt Weitzmann, (Essays), Studies In The Arts At Sinai, (New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1982). Byzantine Book Illumination & Ivories, (London: Variorum Reprints, 1980). The Miniatures Of The Sacra Parallela (Parisinus Graecus 923), (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1979). Illustrations In Roll & Codex, A Study Of The Origin & Method of Text Illustration, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1947). Weitzmann, (Editor, Herbert L. Kessler), Studies In Classical & Byzantine Manuscript Illumination, (Chicago, U.S.A., and London, England: The University of Chicago Press, 1971). Weitzmann, (Editor), Age Of Spirituality, 1979. Weitzman, The Icon, (New York: Arnoldori Editore, & Alfred A. Knopf., Inc. 1982). Weitzmann's Studies In Classical And Byzantine Manuscript Illumination, edited by Herbert L. Kessler, (Chicago; London: University of Chicago Press, 1971). Weitzmann, & others, Arnoldori Editor, The Icon, (New York: Alfred A. Knopf, 1982). Weitzmann, Illuminated Greek Manuscripts from American Collections, An Exhibition in Honor of Kurt Weitzmann, Edited by Gary Vikan, (The Art Museum, Princeton University Press, 1973, [Dates of exhibition April 14--May 20, 1973]. Martha Himmelfarb, Tours Of Hell, An Apocalyptic Form in Jewish and Christian Literature, (Philadelphia: University of Pennsylvania Press, 1983). O.M. Dalton, Byzantine & Archaeology, (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1911, and New York: Dover Publishing, Inc., 1961). Dalton, East Christian Art, A Survey of the Monuments, (Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1925). Pater Cramer, Baptism and change in the early Middle Ages, c. 200-c. 1150, (Cambridge, England; New York, New York, USA: Cambridge University Press, 1993). Raymond Koechlin, Les Ivoires Gothiques Francais, (Planches), (Paris: Reimpression, F. De Nobele, 1968). R. H. Charles, Dr., The Apocrypha and Pseudepigrapha of the Old Testament, (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1913). Charles, (translator, and others), The Sacred Books And Early Literature Of The East, (New York and London, England: Parke, Austin, & Lipscomb, Inc., 1917), volume 14, The Great Rejected Books of the Biblical Apocrypha, Old Testament Apocrypha, The Books of Adam and Eve. Robert Hughes, Heaven and Hell in Western Art, (New York: Stein and Day/Pub., 1968). Robert S. Nelson, The Iconography of Preface and Miniature in the Byzantine Gospel Book, (New York: New York University Press, 1980). Thomas Armitage, D.D., LL.D., A History Of The Baptists, (New York: Bryah, Taylor, & Chicago: Morningside, 1887). Walter Cahn, Romanesque Bible Illumination, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1982). Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, (Washington Square, New York, New York: Pantheon Books, 1947). William Barclay, The Apostles' Creed For Everyman, (New York and Evanston: Harper and Row, 1967). William Hood, Fra Angelico at San Marco, (New Haven & London: Yale Un. Press, 1993). KTKK, 630 AM Radio, K-Talk, Salt Lake City, Utah: Martin Tanner, host of Religion on the Line. June 2, 1991, Tanner, guest: Darell Thorpe, subject: The Journey of the Soul in Early Christian art works and writings. March 1, 1992, Tanner, guest: Matthew Roper, subject: Early Christianity, and Baptism for the Dead. The Ante-Nicene Fathers = TANF. A set of volumes on the writings of the early Christians before the Nicene Creed era of A.D. 325. (Grand Rapids, Michigan: T & T Clark, Edinburgh, W. M. B. Eerdmans Publishing, reprinted October 1989), nine volumes. The Nicene and Post-Nicene Fathers, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: W. M. B. Eerdmans, reprinted April 1986), fourteen volumes. Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsachsichen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), 3 vols. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen.

2190- Robert Fossier (Editor), The Middle Ages, (The Cambridge Illustrated History of The Middle Ages I, 350-950), translated by Janet Sondheimer, (Cambridge University Press 1989), p. 435, etc. Heinz Edgar Kiewe, 1967, The Sacred History of Knitting, (Oxford, England: Art and Needlework Industrial Limited), chapter 13 entitled: The Sack Royal 970-1961 A.D. Anointed, King In Divine Right, In the Sack Royal, p. 57-58, etc. ABC's of the Bible, (Reader's Digest), Ed. Kaari Ward etc., 1991, cover design picture lower corner Madonna & child and hand clasp similar to those found in the early Christian mysteries. See also: Paintings in the Louvre, by Lawrence Gowing 1987, (New York: Stewart, Tabori and Chang), pp. 35 & 167; Medieval Pageant, by Bryan Holme, (Thames and Hudson, 1987), pp. 28-29; Story of Nations, by Walker Brown, (Holt, Rinehart & Wilson, Inc., 1943), etc., p. 176; A History of the Middle Ages, 284-1500, by Sidney Painter, 1953, p. 430. James Harvey Robinson, PH.D., CR 1902, 1903, 1916, 1918, 1919, Medieval And Modern Times, (Boston, New York, etc., The Athenaeum Press, Ginn and Co., Proprietors, Boston, U.S.A.) pp. 75-76, see also fig. 23. CHARLEMAGNE. Gertrude Hartman's The World We Live In and How It Came To Be, A Pictured Outline of Man's Progress from the Earliest Days to the Present, (CR 1931 Hartman; New York: The Macmillan Co., 1961): Chapter IX, In Feudal Days; p. 127-142. Charlton J. H. Hayes, Parker Thomas Moon, & John W. Wayland, World History, (1932, New York: The Macmillan Co., 1939) pp. 285, 302, 319. Aspects of the early Christian mysteries show up in anointing of Charles Martel's son Pippin the Short. "He was... anointed king by St. Boniface... [and had] the holy oil poured on his head,--in accordance with an ancient religious custom of the Jews... As the historian Gibbon puts it, "A German chieftain was transformed into the Lord's anointed." The pope threatened with God's anger any one who should attempt to supplant the consecrated family of Pippin. It thus became a religious duty to obey the king and his successors. He came to be regarded by the Church, when he had received its approval, as God's representative on earth. Here we have the beginning of the later theory of kings "by the grace of God," against whom it was a sin to revolt, however bad they might be." "...Charlemagne,... became king of all the Frankish realms in 771..." In figure 23 of this source, we see Charlemagne holding an orb in his left hand, while a sword is in his right. Other sources say that orbs are symbolic, among other things, of Kings' or emperors' power to reign and rule; while a sword and the fact that he is depicted on a horse might suggest to me that he is a mighty campaigner who is marching forth during conquests in order to extend his empire. (Medieval And Modern Times, pp. 75-76, see also figure 23. CHARLEMAGNE). "With great ceremony the noble knelt bareheaded before his king, and putting his clasped hands within those of the king, solemnly promised: "For these lands I make homage and fealty to you, my lord." Then placing his hands upon the Bible he declared: "I swear upon these four gospels of God I will always be a faithful vassal to you and defend you and your land against all invaders." Then the king kissed his vassal upon the forehead and answered: "I receive you and take you as my man and give you this kiss in sign of faith." The great nobles, in turn, gave parts of their land to lesser nobles, who in return for their protection, swore similar vows of loyalty to them." (Hartman, The World We Live In and How It Came To Be, Chapter IX, In Feudal Days; p. 127-142). The ceremony by which a man promised to obey and serve his lord was "homage." The ceremony by which a lord handed over a fief and promised to protect the vassal receiving it was "investiture." In homage, the vassal appeared before the lord, in the presence of the latter's court, knelt before him, put his own folded hands into the hand of the suzerain, and said, "I swear to be faithful and attached to you as a man should be to his lord." Then the lord "invested" the Vassal with his fief. He delivers to the Vassal a flag, a staff, a written deed, or perhaps only a twig of a tree or a clod of earth, as a symbol of the property granted and the protection promised. This was investiture. (Hayes, Moon, & Wayland, World History, p. 302).

- 2191- Robert Charles Zaehner, Ed., & others, Living Faiths, NY: Hawthorn Books, 1959, 76-77, 104-5, plate II.
- 2192- Matthew 27:52-53. Ouspensky, Lossky, The Meaning Of Icons, p.167-69, 188-91. V.I. Astroshenko & Judith Collins, The Origins Of The Romanesque, Near Eastern Influences on European Art 4th-12th Centuries, Lon.: Lund Humphries Pub., Ltd., 1985, CR Warwick Arts Trust, 1985, pl. XI. The Beatus Apocalypse manuscript from Gerona Cathedral, AD 975, showing souls being raised up out of hell by a left hand clasp.
- 2193- Otto G. Von Simson, Sacred Fortress, Byzantine Art and Statecraft in Ravenna, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, MCM . LXXXVII; 1948, Un. of Chicago, & 1987, Princeton Un. Press, 88-95.
- 2194- Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil At Baptism, Ritual, Theology, & Drama, Ithaca & Lon.: Cornell Un. Press, 1985. Book on Christ's battle with the devil in the underworld, & how baptism was a symbolical type of this.
- 2195- Kelly, The Devil at Baptism, 10-12, 19, 21, 23-31, 59-62, 66-67, 71-76, 131, 133-34, 140, 143-153, 167-81, 191-203, 213-29, 241-42, 249, 250-51, & 274.
- 2196- Ouspensky, Lossky, The Meaning Of Icons, p.167.
- 2197- Kelly The Devil At Baptism, 26-28 n.24; Ernst Käsemann, A Primitive Christian Baptismal Liturgy, Essays on New Testament Themes, trans. W.J. Montague, Studies in Biblical Theology 41 Naperville 1964, 149-68.
- 2198- Kelly, The Devil At Baptism, p. 213-25, see especially p. 216.
- 2199- Lundy, Monumental Christianity, p. 381.
- 2200- Kelly, The Devil At Baptism, p. 248.
- 2201- Kelly, The Devil At Baptism, 247-53, p. 248; Lundy, Monumental Christianity, 380-85, n.2; Augustine, Tom. X., p. 1845. Alan W. Watts, Myth & Ritual in Christianity, London. NY: Thames & Hudson, 1954, 166-69.
- 2202- Kelly, The Devil at Baptism, 19, 27—28, 165, 248, 250, 258—59, 274.
- 2203- Hood, Fra Angelico at San Marco, p.97.
- 2204- Simson, Sacred Fortress, p.93.
- 2205- Simson, Sacred Fortress, p. 94-95.
- 2206- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. 641, Origen Against Celsus, book 8, chapter 4.
- 2207- ANF 3:40, 145, 156-58, 172, 333, 577, Apology, chap.26; Ad Nationes, bk 2, chaps 15, 17; An Answer to the Jews, chaps 5-7, 14, Tertullian Against Marcion, bk 3, chaps 14; On The Resurrection of the Flesh, c. XLIV.
- 2208- Simon, Sacred Fortress, 93-95; ANF, 3:157-58, Tertullian, An Answer To The Jews, c.7, Adversus Judaeos, 2 of Patrologiae Latinae, 650. ANF, 4:609, 641, Origen Against Celsus, Bk 6, chap. lxxviii- lxxix.
- 2209- ANF, 6:433, The Seven Books Of Arnobius Against The Heathen, Book II:1.
- 2210- Eve Borsook, Messages In Mosaic, The Royal Programmes of Norman Sicily 1130—1187, Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1990, 2, n.17.
- 2211- Rev. Professor James S. Stewart, D.D., in the Foreword to Geoffrey R. King's The Forty Days, From Calvary to Ascension, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: Wm. B. Eerdmans Publishing Company, 1949, first American edition, 1962, Photolithoprinted by Cushing - Malloy, Inc., Ann Arbor, Michigan, USA, 1962), p. 7.
- 2212- Eve Borsook, Messages In Mosaic, The Royal Programmes of Norman Sicily 1130-1187, Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1990, 2- 3, 7, Charles Potter, The Lost Years of Jesus Revealed, From the Dead Sea Scrolls & the Nag-Hammadi discoveries, Greenwich, Conn.: A Fawcett Gold Medal Bk, Fawcett Pub., 1958, 1962, 129.
- 2213- Darell Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined, SLC, Utah: R,H&PS, 1993, 1994, revised 2000. Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, & Drama, Ithaca & Lon.: Cornell Un. Press, 1985. ANF, 2:92, Theophilus to Autolycus, book 1, chap.12, notes 4-5; 1 John 2:20.
- 2214- Geoffrey R. King, The Forty Days, From Calvary to Ascension, Grand Rapids, Michigan: Wm. B. Eerdmans Pub. Co., 1949, 1st USA ed. 1962, Photolithoprinted Cushing- Malloy, Ann Arbor, Michigan, USA, 1962, 26-27.
- 2215- Eve Borsook, Messages In Mosaic, The Royal Programmes of Norman Sicily 1130—1187 Oxford: Clarendon Press 1990, 6.
- 2216- John McManners, Editor, The Oxford Illustrated History of Christianity, (Oxford; New York: Oxford University Press, 1990), 226-27; Webster's Illustrated Encyclopedic Dictionary, (Montreal, Canada: Tormont Publications Inc., 1990 edition), p. 1825, see vicar.
- 2217- Eve Borsook, Messages In Mosaic, The Royal Programmes of Norman Sicily 1130—1187, Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1990, 2-40.
- 2218- Patricia Stevens Merry Christmas! A History of the Holiday, NY, Lon.: Collier Macmillan 1979, 56.

- 2219- Yves Bonnefoy, Mythologies, Chicago & Lon.: The Un. of Chicago Press, 1991, 2:650, 655-65; ANF, 1: 170-71, 173-76, 178, 181-82, Justin Martyr, 110- 165, 1st Apol. Justin, chaps. 23-25, 31-32, 34-40, 46, 54, 56.
- 2220- ANF, 3:157-8, chap. vii, Tertullian, 145-220, An Answer To The Jews; Tertullian, Adversus Judaeos, in vol.2 of Patrologiae Latina, 650; ANF, 4:609, & 641, Origen Against Celsus.
- 2221- Gordon C. Thomasson, Journal of Book of Mormon Studies, Provo, Utah: FARMS, 1993, vol.2, #1, Spring 1993, 21-38, paper entitled: Mosiah: The Complex Symbolism & Symbolic Complex of Kingship in the Book of Mormon, Gordon C. Thomasson, 27-28, figures 1-2.
- 2222- Gordon C. Thomasson, Journal of Book of Mormon Studies, Provo, Utah: FARMS, 1993, 30-31, fig.5.
- 2223- Reader's Digest, ABC's Of the Bible, p.139, Byzantine fresco of the harrowing of hell. Page 219, Russian icon of Christ raising Adam and Eve to life. Page 266, Christ ascends up out of the grave with banner-cross.
- 2224- Metford, Dictionary of Christian Lore & Legend, 83, & 111. Darell Thorpe, The Christ In Santa Unmasked, How Modern Traditions & Legends About Santa Can Be Traced Back to the Early Christian Doctrine That Christ Went to Other Nations Around the World, (SLC, Utah: RH&P S, 1994, revised December 1995), 25-29.
- 2225- ANF, 7:242-43, Lactantius, The Epitome Of The Divine Institutes, chaps XLVIII & LI.
- 2226- André Grabar, Byzantine Painting, Historical and Critical Study by André Grabar, (New York: Skira/Rizzoli International Publications, Inc., 1979, first published in 1953, by Editions d' Art Albert Skira, Geneva), p. 126—27, Christ as Pantocrator, 12th century mosaic in the Apse, Cathedral of Cefalù.
- 2227- The Evidences of The Christian Religion, 1815, volume one, pages 175-76, & link that may or may not still be working. <https://archive.org/search.php?query=The%20Evidences%20of%20The%20Christian%20Religion>
- 2228- Thomasson, Journal Of Book of Mormon Studies, Vol. 2, #1, Spring 1993, p. 28.
- 2229- Robert G. Calkins, Illuminated Books of The Middle Ages, Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1983, 128, pl. 60; p. 180—181, pl. 97, p. 233, pl. 128.
- 2230- André Grabar, Early Christian Art, From the Rise of Christianity to the Death of Theodosius, (NY: Odyssey Press. Published 1968 by arrangement with Editions Gallimard), p. 129.
- 2231- Harold Osborne, The Oxford Companion to Art, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1970, 525-26.
- 2232- Peter D. Roo, History of America Before Columbus, 1900, vol. 1, p. 205.
- 2233- The Book of Art, A Pictorial Encyclopedia of Painting, Drawing, & Sculpture, Vol.4: German & Spanish Art to 1900, Ed. Horst Vey, & Xavier de Salas, Lon., Eng.: George Rainbird Ltd., Nuovo Istituto Italiano d'Arti Grafiche Bergamo 1994, Grolier Inc., 1965, p.169-70, 266, Alonso Cano, The Madonna of the Angels, Madrid, Prado, p. 284, Alonso Cano, The Child Jesus of the Passion, Madrid, Cofradia de los Navarros.
- 2234- Psa.88:27-33 as 89:27-33. Apocrypha, The Wisdom of Iefus the fonne of Sirach, or Ecclesiasticus, 24:3-7.
- 2235- ANF, 5:515-16, The Treatises of Cyprian, Treatise XII: Second Book, Testimonies, 1.
- 2236- ANF, 8:760-61, Melito, The Philosopher, A.D. 160-170-177, see IX.
- 2237- ANF, 3:157-58, Tertullian, An Answer To The Jews, chapter 7.
- 2238- ANF, 7:345, Commentary on The Apocalypse Of The Blessed John.
- 2239- Geoffrey Barraclough, etc, The Christian World, NY: Harry Abrams 1981, Thames & Hudson, Lon. 91.
- 2240- Paul Williamson, Ed., The Medieval Treasure, The Art of the Middle Ages in the Victoria & Albert Museum, (Albert Museum, 1986), 116-17. 12th century, Walrus ivory, depicting the hand of God about to grasp, through the mandorla, the hand of Christ as he ascends towards heaven. Volbach, Early Christian Art, see the top left hand portion of an ivory dated "LATE 11TH OR EARLY 12TH CENTURY." Treasure of the Cathedral of Saint— Just, Narbonne; John Beckwith, Ivory Carvings in Early Medieval England, (London, England: Harvey Miller & Medcalf LTD, 1972), fig. 33, The Ascension. Aethelwold Benedictional, about 971— 984. London, British Museum, Add. Ms. 49598, fol. 64b; Swarzenski, Monuments of Romanesque Art, pl.66, fig.151, etc.; Joseph Gantner & Marcel Pobe, Romanesque Art In France, (Thames & Hudson, 1959), 64, pl. 135; Antoine Bon, Byzantium, (Geneva, Switzerland: Nagel Publishing, 1972). Etc.
- 2241- Darell Thorpe, The Mystery Behind the Mysteries. Darell, Upon Them Hath the Light Shined.
- 2242- Thorpe, Upon Them Hath the Light Shined; Bon, Byzantine, Kartsonis, Anastasis.
- 2243- Post, A History of Spanish Painting, vol. I, (1930), p. 219-221, fig. 49, p. 221-223, fig. 50, p. 223-225, fig. 51, Christ in the mandorla while on his throne as the Pantocrator, p. 248-9, fig. 62, p. 278-285, fig. 77, Christ as the Pantocrator related with St. Martin's life and act of mercy towards Christ in the guise of a beggar. In this work, the saint is giving a cloak to Christ as a beggar. 13th c., p. 296-7, fig.84, Christ in the mandorla symbol as Pantocrator, holds an orb. Volume II (1930), p.62-65, fig.104, p.116-7, fig.121, p.290-1, fig.177, Christ enthroned in a starry mandorla of angels, he also holds an orb in his left hand. For another of this same type see pp. 292-3, fig. 178, both of these also show the angels with their hands held up around Christ. See also pp. 311-313, fig. 188, the Christ child & Mary enthroned, with another portion in the right panel showing saint Martin and Christ disguised as the beggar. Vol. III (1930), pp. 48-50, fig. 265, a portion shows St. Martin and Christ as a beggar. Pages 152, 155, fig. 310, Christ standing on an orb symbol. Pages 212-218, figs. 333-335, the Christ-child and Mary enthroned, Christ is holding an orb. See also fig. 367, Christ is standing, at his feet is an orb with a pictured symbolization of the earth. On p. 330 is mention of a Berlin Salvator (Christ as Saviour of the world), in which Christ's feet rest upon a globe in which the world is depicted. Vol. V, (1934), pp. 245-6, fig. 60, Christ as a beggar receives a cloak from St. Martin. Pages 296, 299, fig. 90, Christ is enthroned as the Pantocrator in the mandorla, holding an orb. Pages 313, 315, fig. 100, the Christ-child on Mary's shoulders, holds an orb. Vol. IV -- Part II, (1933), pp. 570-4, fig. 229, Christ enthroned with a globe with a picture of the world on it, the globe is his foot stool. Vol. VI -- Part I, pp. 33, (fig. 6. Jacomart (?). St. Martin and the beggar. Diocesan Museum, Segorbe), and p. 38, the paintings of St. Martin with the beggar, in the Provincial Museum, Valencia, from the Anthony Abbot and Ursula are dated back to 1443 A.D. See also Vol. VI -- Part II, p. 484, from the San Francisco Master as seen the parish church of Alcudia. St. Martin and the beggar, "conceived, according to the frequent tradition, as a disguise for Our Lord (Fig. 203)." See also pp. 486, 554-6, fig. 241; Vol. VII -- Part I, (1938), pp. 438-9, fig. 155, St. Ausias is depicted as being visited by the Lord in which Christ punishes him for his wrong doings. On pp. 594-5, fig. 226, is another depiction of Christ as a beggar coming to St. Martin. Pages 688-9 fig. 260 shows Christ on the cross, with a "terrestrial globe" as his foot stool. Pages 859, 861, fig. 351, shows Martin giving a cloak to Christ in the guise of a beggar. Pages 875-6, fig. 358, Christ on the cross with a globe under him; Vol. VIII -- Part I, (1941), pp. 259-60, fig. 114, a portion shows Christ enthroned with a globe as his foot stool. Pages 360-2, fig. 156, Martin has clothed Christ-the-beggar with his cloak. Vol. VIII -- Part II, (1941), pp. 575, 577, fig. 269, shows Martin giving a cloak to the wandering Christ-beggar. Vol. IX -- Part II, (1947), pp. 877-8, fig. 379, Martin with Christ-beggar; Vol. XI, (1953), pp. 123-124, fig. 38, Nicolas Falco. 'CHRIST AS BEGGAR,' part of scene of St. Martin's charity, section of Organ-Shutters. Cathedral, Valencia. On p. 123, our Lord Jesus Christ "in the guise of the mendicant with two further members of the military forces as spectators." Vol. XII -- Part I, (1958), pp. 479-80, fig. 207, St. Martin showing charity towards Christ-beggar.

2244- Craig Harbison, The Last Judgment in 16th Century Northern Europe: A Study of the Relation Between Art and the Reformation, (New York & London: Garland Publishing, Inc., 1976), p. 309, fig. 1, Vranche van der Stockt, Last Judgment, panel right wing of the Cambrai Altarpiece, c. 1455—60, Madrid, Prado, invoice # 1891.

2245- Harbison, The Last Judgment In Sixteenth Century Northern Europe, p. 315, fig. 7, Hieronymus Bosch, Last Judgement, c. 1550, or mid-16th century, Philadelphia, John G. Johnson Collection, inv. no. 386.

2246- Harbison, The Last Judgment In Sixteenth Century Northern Europe, 318-19, 390-91, 436-37.

2247- A Garland Series, Outstanding Dissertations In The Fine Arts, Craig Harbison, The Last Judgment in 16th cent. Northern Europe: A Study of the Relation Between Art & the Reformation, NY & Lon.: Garland, 1976, 310, fig.2, p. 315, fig.7, p. 356, fig.48, p. 359, fig.51. Note how on p.358, fig. 50, Christ is in the back ground in this series showing the seven works of Mercy. Thus, he is in the guise of a hungry person, etc. Pages 382-83, figs. 71-72, p. 424, fig. 113, p. 425, fig. 115, p. 426, fig. 116, p. 427, p. 117. Some of the other items of interest in these art works, are the hand clasping angelic guides, angels clothing resurrected souls in robes. Fig. 8, p.316, a religious leader with a glove on, and which has a symbol in the middle of it, is also clasping the wrist of a soul.

2248- David Bland, A History Of Book Illustration, The Illuminated Manuscript and the Printed Book, (Berkeley and Los Angeles: University of California Press, 1969), p. 53, fig.28. The Stavelot Bible, Netherlands, A.D. 1097. Written by Goderamus and Ernestus. British Museum. Add. MS 28107. Showing Christ enthroned in a mandorla, and with the T symbol in the disk at his feet. In the four corners are the symbols for the four Evangelists. Christ holds in his hand a book. In the other hand is a + symbol.

2249- The Pelican History Of Art, vol. 34, Nikolaus Pevsner, Ed., C.R. Dodwell, Painting In Europe 800 to 1200, Harmondsworth, Middlesex; Baltimore, Md.; Ringwood, Victoria, Australia: Penguin Books Ltd., 1971, fig. 33, The hand of God clasps Christ's right hand as he ascends into heaven. Metz School, from the Drogo Sacramentary, A.D. 826/55. Paris, Bibliothèque Nationale, fig. 34. Tour School, Christ in Majesty, sits enthroned in a oval shaped mandorla, and rest his feet on an orb. The four symbols of the Evangelists are there too. From the Stuttgart Gospels, AD 804/34. Stuttgart, Württembergische Landesbibliothek, figs 177, 184, 190.

2250- Mittelalter, Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, 23, 41, 79, 81, note the hand clasping guide bringing souls to Christ in Abb. 49. On the other side of Christ enthroned holding an orb, is Christ displaying his wounds as the Man of Sorrows. Page 83, Thomas' wrist is grasp by Christ's right hand, as he helps him feel the wound in his side. They are behind the throne of God. See also p.103, 109, note Christ's descent, and the wrist grasping in the one that shows Christ with up lifted hands as he displays his wounds. Pages 133, 160-63, 191, 197, 203, showing Christ child & St. Christopher. And p. 295-98, 314, showing the descent into hell, & pages 333, 340-41, 353-54, 365, 380-81. This is a good source that shows not only Christ enthroned over orbs, globes, and holding them, but also of Christ's descent into hell. And of Mary being crowned, souls being rescued out of hell by hand clasping angelic guides. Plus other items of interest that offers sources for this study.

2251- The Pelican History of Art, vol. 36, ed., Nikolaus Pevsner and Judy Nairn. This volume is by Peter Lasko, 1972, Ars Sacra 800-1200, (Penguin Books), see figs. 11, 27—28, 34, Christ being raised into heaven by the hand of God who clasps his right hand). Figs. 64, 76, 170-71, 219-20, 241, 284-86, showing numerous examples of Christ resting his feet on the world and beasts, symbolic of how he has conquered evil, and the world.

2252- 1 Cor.15:24-28; Hebrews 2:8-10; Ephesians 1:22; Isaiah 66:1; Matthew 5:35; Acts 7:49; Lamentations 2:1.

2253- James H. Marrow, Intro., Henri L. M. Defoer, Anne S. Korteweg, Wilhelmina C. M. Wüstefeld, (Catalogue), The Golden Age of Dutch Manuscript Painting, NY: The Pierpont Morgan Library, 1990, 60, fig. 16; p. 230, fig. X 86a; p. 258, fig. XII 100.

2254- Charles G. Addison, The History Of The Knights Templars, The Temple Church, And The Temple, (Kempton, Illinois: Adventures Unlimited Press, 1997, London, 1842). Internet Archives: <https://archive.org/details/historyofknights00addiuoft> - <https://archive.org/details/historyofknights00addi> - <https://archive.org/details/TheHistoryOfTheTempleChurchAndTheTemple-CAdn>

2255- Bernal Diaz del Castillo, The Discovery And Conquest of Mexico, NY, NY: Grove Press Books and Evergreen Books, Barney Rosset at Grove Press, Inc., CR 1956 by Farrar, Straus and Cudahy. Originally pub. in Spain by Genaro Garcia. Translated with Introduction & Notes by A.P. Maudslay. Introduction to the American edition by Irving A. Leonard, American Intro. p. xiii.

2256- Webster's Illustrated Encyclopedic Dictionary, Montreal, Canada: Tormont 1990, 373, see conquistador.

2257- Castillo, The Discovery And Conquest of Mexico, p. 31-254, 391-454.

2258- Budge, Miscellaneous Coptic Texts, 760, A Discourse On the Compassion of God & On The Freedom of Speech of The Archangel Michael, Severus, Archbishop of Antioch, AD 512-19.

2259- E. Baldwin Smith, The Dome, A Study in the History of Ideas, New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1950, 1978, 29-30.

2260- Stephen D. Ricks & John J. Sroka, Temples Of The Ancient World, Ritual & Symbolism, SLC & Provo, Utah: Deseret Book Co. & FARMS, 1994, see their article in chapter 10 entitled: Kings, Coronation & Temple: Enthronement Ceremonies in History, p. 262, #25.

2261- Gertrude Hartman, The World We Live in & How It Came to Be, NY: The Macmillan Co., 1961, p.168.

2262- Ralph L. Boys, The Book of Callum Bala of Camail, Un. of Oklahoma Press, Norman, 1967; Washington: Carnegie Institution of Washington, 1933, 1st ed.), p. 116.

2263- ANF, 7:381, The Teaching Of The Twelve Apostles, chap. XIV, note 17, citing Malachi 1:11, 14.

2264- Hood, Fra Angelico at San Marco, p.69-70, pl. 57. Master of the Dominican Effigies, Panel of the Dominican Effigies. Florence, Santa Maria Novella. After 1336 AD during 14th c.

2265- Walter Cahn, Romanesque Bible Illumination, (Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1982), p.114, fig. 69.

2266- Suzanne Collon-Gevaert, Jean Lejeune & Jacques Stiennon, A Treasury Of Romanesque Art, Metalwork, illuminations and sculpture from the Valley of the Meuse, London, Phaidon Press Limited, 1972. Orig. pub. as Art Roman Dans La Vallée De La Meuse Aux Xie, XIle Et XIIIe Siècles, 1966, Ed. Arcade, Brussels, 164-65.

2267- Gevaert, Lejeune, Stiennon, A Treasury Of Romanesque Art, p. 169-71.

- 2268- Peter Lasko; Editors: Nikolaus Pevsner and Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (Australia, etc.: Penguin Books, 1972), vol. 36, Ars Sacra: 800—1200, p. xviii, plate 219. Christ in Majesty in the mandorla. Top of reliquary casket from Stift Vorau, c. 1150/60. Vienna, Österreichisches Museum für angewandte Kunst.
- 2269- Peter Lasko; Editors: Nikolaus Pevsner and Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (Australia, etc.: Penguin Books, 1972), vol. 36, Ars Sacra: 800—1200, p. xviii, plate 220. Christ holds a ball or orb, while "treading on beasts. Book-cover of the Ratmann Sacramentary, 1159. Hildesheim Cathedral, Treasury.
- 2270- Gevaert, Lejeune, Stiennon, A Treasury Of Romanesque Art, p. 172-81.
- 2271- Lilian M. C. Randall, Images in The Margins Of Gothic Manuscripts, Berkeley & LA: Un. of Calif. Press, 1966, fig. 273, LVII.
- 2272- Randall, Medieval & Renaissance Manuscripts in the Walters Art Gallery, vol. 1, France, 875-1420, p. 242-43, & 294, Pl. VIII, Cat. 88, f. 3.
- 2273- Hackwood, Christ Lore, p. 34.
- 2274- John W. Bernhardt, Itinerant Kingship & Royal Monasteries In Early Medieval Germany, c. 936--1075, NY, NY: Cambridge Un. Press, 1993, 46-51.
- 2275- Peter Lasko; Editors: Nikolaus Pevsner and Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (Harmondsworth, Middlesex; Baltimore, Md.; Australia; Ringwood, Victoria, Australia: The Pelican History of Art, Penguin Books, 1972), vol. 36, Ars Sacra: 800-1200, p. xiii, plate 64. Tuotilo: Christ in Majesty & the 4 Evangelists' symbols. Book-cover (front), c. 900. St. Gall Library. Christ in mandorla symbol, sitting in Majesty, suggesting that he is a travels about his kingdoms. Mandorla is a symbol often used to show other world & realm travels.
- 2276- Hood, Fra Angelico at San Marco, p.97-99, pl.85, Fra Angelico, San Marco altarpiece. Florence, Museo di San Marco. The Christ-child sit on the knee of His Mother as they sit on a throne. In his left hand he holds an orb which has on it a map of the world. See also p.310, notes 1-4, & p. 332 & 335.
- 2277- Christe, Velmans, Losowska & Recht, 1982 Art of the Christian World AD 200-1500 A Handbook of Styles & Forms p.85. fig.166, Christ Pantocrator ivory panel late 8th c. Museum Royaux d'Art et d'Histoire, Brussels.
- 2278- Andre' Grabar, 1968, Christian Iconography, A Study of Its Origins, p. 77.
- 2279- Morey, 1942, Mediaeval Art, p. 129.
- 2280- Christe, Velmans, Losowska & Recht Art of the Christian World AD 200-1500 A Handbook of Styles & Forms 92 fig.184 Majestas Domini Metz Sacramentary Palace School of Charles the Bald 870, Bibliotheque Nat.
- 2281- Peter Lasko, 1972, Nikolaus Pevsner and Judy Nairn, Editors, The Pelican History of Art, Ars Sacra 800—1200, (Harmondsworth, Middlesex; Baltimore, Md; Australia Ltd; Ringwood, Victoria, Australia, etc.: The Pelican History of Art series, Penguin Books, 1972), volume Ars Sacra 800—1200, by Peter Lasko, 1972, p. xi, plate 19. Equestrian figure of Charlemagne (?) from Metz, early ninth century. Bronze work, Paris, Louvre (Giraudon, Paris). King on a horse, holding a ball or an orb in his right hand. The horse is striding forward as if to suggest that the king is traveling throughout his kingdom, if not on a conquest to obtain more lands.
- 2282- New International Illustrated Encyclopedia Of Art, 4:730; Otto G. Von Simson, Sacred Fortress, Byzantine Art & Statecraft in Ravenna, New Jersey: Princeton Un., Press, 1987, CR 1948 the Un. of Chicago), plates 10-11.
- 2283- Encyclopedia of World Art, (NY, Lon.: McGraw-Hill Book, 1958, 1960, & revised printing 1971), 3:601.
- 2284- Baldwin Smith, The Dome, A Study In The History of Ideas, New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1950, 1978, p. 81- 85, 90-94, figs. 8-23, 66-95, 118.
- 2285- Robert Milburn, 1988, Early Christian Art & Architecture, LA; Berkeley, Calif.: Un. of Calif. Press, 223-6.
- 2286- Gerald Gassiot-Talabot, trans. Anthony Rhodes, History of Painting, Roman & Palaeo-Christian Painting, NY: Funk & Wagnalls, 92-94.
- 2287- ANF, 2:474-5, 490-2, 517-8, Stromata, Or Miscellanies, Book V, chap. 14; Book 6, chaps. 6 & 17.
- 2288- John Ernest Leonard Oulton, D.D., & Henry Chadwick, B.D., on Clement of Alexandria in The Library of Christian Classics, Alexandrian Christianity, Selected Translations of Clement & Origen with Introd. & Notes (Philadelphia: The Westminster Press), vol. 2, p. 96-97, Clement of Alexandria, On Spiritual Perfection.
- 2289- On Sunday, April 26, 1998, I called into a radio talk show to make a comment about some of the research I had been doing, seeing that it fit the subjects they were talking about. The radio station, KSL New Radio, 1160 AM Radio, Salt Lake City, Utah, has a religious program hosted by a friend of mine named Martin Tanner. His show is entitled: Religion Today. During our discussion, Martin Tanner pointed out how those who have studied The Dead Sea Scrolls have found on these ancient pre-Christian documents, prophecies about the coming Messiah. Prophecies about how the Messiah would be pierced, and would make the lame to walk, the blind to see, and the deaf to hear, etc. These prophecies, says Martin, are clearer, and plainer references to what would happen to the Messiah than anything now found in the present day Old Testament.
- 2290- The Sage Digital Library, Volumes 1—4, (Albany, OR USA: Sage Software, 1996), CD-Rom, The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 10, p. 512—13, Origen's Commentary on the Gospel of John, Book II, chapter 15: The Gospel is in The Old Testament, and Indeed in the Whole Universe.
- 2291- Sage Digital Library, ANF, 10:512—13, Origen's Commentary on the Gospel of John, Book II, chap.15: The Gospel is in The Old Testament, & Indeed in the Whole Universe.
- 2292- Sage Digital Library, N&PNF, 1st series, 2:922, Augustine City of God, Christian Doctrine, Bk 20, ch.11.
- 2293- Lynn Thorndike, The History of Medieval Europe, Boston; NY; Chicago; Dallas; Atlanta; San Francisco: Houghton Mifflin Co., The Riverside Press Cambridge, 1917, 1928, 1945, 1949, 141.
- 2294- Budge, Miscellaneous Coptic Texts, 1043, 1048—49, & 1053, The Apocalypse of Paul, (British Museum, MS. Oriental, No. 7022).
- 2295- Edward McNall Burns, Robert E. Lerner, & Standish Meacham, Western Civilizations, (New York, London: W. W. Norton and Company, first edition 1941, 10th edition 1984), 1, p. 212.
- 2296- P. D. Roo, History of America Before Columbus, (1900), vol.1, p.208, & note 3, Sahagun, lib. I. p. xviii. <https://archive.org/details/historyamericab01rooogooq> Volumes 1 and 2 on Internet Archives: https://archive.org/details/cihm_06469 - <https://archive.org/details/historyamericab03rooogooq> - https://archive.org/details/cihm_06468 - <https://archive.org/details/historyamericab02rooogooq> - <https://archive.org/details/historyofamerica02derouoft>
- 2297- ANF, 1:10; Clement of Rome, 30-100, The First Epistle of Clement to the Corinthians, chap. 20. ANF, 2: 463, The Stromata, Or Miscellanies, Book V, chap. xii, Clement of Alexandria, cites Clement of Rome).

- 2298- P. D. Roo, History of America Before Columbus, (1900), vol.1, p.208, & note 3, Sahagun, lib. I. p. xviii.
- 2299- Sage Digital Library, N&PNF, 1st Series, vol.1, The Confessions & Letters of Augustin, with a sketch of His life & Work, Ed. by Philip Schaff, D.D., LL.D., Book 1, chap. 2-3, p. 79-80.
- 2300- William G. Rusch, Series Ed., Sources of Early Christian Thought, The Trinitarian Controversy, (Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1980).
- 2301- Professors Daniel C. Peterson and Stephen D. Ricks, Offenders For A Word, [How Anti-Mormons Play Word Games to Attack the Latter-day Saints], SLC, Utah: Aspen Books, 1992, 47-50, 63-69; Stephen E. Robinson, Are Mormons Christians? SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1991, 38-40, 68, 72, 86, 87, 89; Allen H. Richardson, David E. Richardson, and Anthony E. Bentley, 1000 Evidences For The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, Vol.1: The Everlasting Gospel, The First 500 Evidences, SLC, Utah: Hawkes Pub., 1994, 192-204.
- 2302- Victoria Neufeldt, editor in Chief, and David B. Guralink, Editor in Chief Emeritus, Webster's New World Dictionary of American English, (Cleveland & NY: Webster's New World, 1970, 1972, 1974, 1976, 1978, 1979, 1980, 1982, 1984, third College Edition 1988, Simon & Schuster, Inc.), p. 222, see catholic.
- 2303- Sage Digital Library, CD-Rom, N&PNF 1st ser. 1:450-53, #4, Letter 23, AD 392 Augustin to Maximin.
- 2304- Sage Dig. Lib., N&PNF, 1st ser., 1:526, chap.1, #1, Letter 43, AD 397, Augustine to Glorius, Eleusius, the 2 Felixes, Grammaticus.
- 2305- Sage Digital Library, N&PNF, 1st series, 1:573-75, Letter 53, A.D. 400.
- 2306- Sage Digital Library, N&PNF, 1st series, 1:673-76, see # 1-4. Letter 76, A.D. 402.
- 2307- Sage Digital Library, N&PNF, 1st series, 1:827-28, # 7—8.
- 2308- Sage Digital Library, N&PNF, 1st series, 1:921-36, chap.12, #22, Letter 130, AD 412, Augustin to Proba.
- 2309- Sage Dig. Lib., N&PNF, 1st series, 1:1040-55, Letters 163-164, chap.1-7. Augustin writing AD 414.
- 2310- Sage Dig. Lib., N&PNF, 1st series, 1:629-30, Letter 66, AD. 402, Augustin, Bishop of Hippo to Crispinus, Donatist Bishop of Calama.
- 2311- Sage Dig. Lib., N&PNF, 1st ser., 1:756-57, Augustin to Vincentius, Letter 93, written A.D. 408, chap. 1.
- 2312- Sage Dig. Lib., N&PNF, 1st series, 1:771-79, Augustin to Vincentius, Letter 93, chap. 6-8, 20-29.
- 2313- Sage Dig. Lib., N&PNF, 1st series, 1: 1133-36, Augustine, Letter 208, A.D. 423, to the Lady Felica.
- 2314- A Library Of Fathers Of The Holy Catholic Church, Anterior to the division of the east and west, Oxford & Lon., Eng.: John Henry Parker; E. & J. Rivington, 1845, Vol. 2, Parts 3, & 4, p.101; S. Gregory the Great, Morals On The Book Of Job; Roo, History of America Before Columbus, pp. xix, & 209, & note 4.
- 2315- P. De Roo, History of America Before Columbus, According to Documents & Approved Authors, (Philadelphia & London: J. B. Lippincott Co., 1900), Roo references: Oviedo y Valdes, Gonzalo Fernandez de. Historia General de las Indias Occidentales; Sine loco. Fo. ix. lib. ii. cap. vii. Oviedo.
- 2316- P. De Roo, History of America Before Columbus, According to Documents & Approved Authors, (Philadelphia & London: J. B. Lippincott Co., 1900), Moralia, ad cap. xvi., Job.
- 2317- P. De Roo, History of America Before Columbus, According to Documents & Approved Authors, (Philadelphia & London: J. B. Lippincott Co., 1900), Vol.1, p. xix, & 209, & note 4. Roo makes reference to: Tertullian's Contra Iudaeos, cap. vii, & Adversus Marcion, lib. iv. chap.43. St. Chrysostom & Theophylactus, in his note #3, A. Lapide, t. 18 p.182, in Epist. ad Rom. X.17. I-14. In note Roo mentions: Fo. ix. lib. ii cap. vii. Citing from Oviedo. In note 5, Roo mentions: Moralia, ad cap. xvi., Job, for St. Gregory.
- 2318- A. Lapide, Corn. Commentaria in Scripturam Sacram; (Paris: 1877), t. xviii. p. 182, in Epist. as Rom. x. 17. I.--14; Roo, History of American Before Columbus, Vol.1, pp. xi, & 209, note 3; A Library Of Fathers Of the Catholic Church, Oxford & Lon., Eng.: Henry Parker, J. G. F. & J. Rivington, MDCCCXXXIX, 4:vii & note "a" of preface, which the writers here base their information on Palladius, Dialogue on the Life of Chrysostom, & 5. in Bibl. Patr. Gallandi, t. viii; Socrates, E. H. b. vi. & 3; Sozomen. E. H. vii. 2; Fleury, E. H. xix. 1-9.
- 2319- A Library Of Fathers Of the Catholic Church, (MDCCCXLI), Vol.7, pp.320-326, The Homilies of S. John Chrysostom, Archbishop of Constantinople, on the Epistle of St. Paul The Apostle to the Romans. Commenting on Romans chapter 10; and in MDCCCXXXIX, Vol.4, p. 80-1.
- 2320- Lapide, Commentaria in Scripturam Sacram, p. 182, in Epist. as Rom. x. 17. I.--14, as cited by Roo, History of American Before Columbus, Vol.1, p. xi, & 209, note 3; A Library Of Fathers Of the Catholic Church, vol.4, page vii & note "a" of preface; Palladius, Dialogue on the Life of Chrysostom, & 5. in Bibl. Patr. Gallandi, t. viii; Socrates, E. H. b. vi. & 3; Sozomen. E. H. vii. 2; Fleury, E. H. xix. 1-9.
- 2321- A Library Of Fathers Of the Catholic Church, 7:320-326, The Homilies of S. John Chrysostom, Archbishop of Constantinople, on the Epistle of St. Paul The Apostle to the Romans. Commenting on Romans chap.10, etc.
- 2322- A Library of Fathers Of the Catholic Church, vol. 4, p. 80-1.
- 2323- Jacques Lafaye, Quetzalcoatl and Guadalupe, The Formation of Mexican National Consciousness 1531- 1813, Chicago & Lon.: Un. of Chicago Press, 1974, 1976, 46.
- 2324- Bamm, The Kingdoms of Christ, p. 223.
- 2325- A Select Library of N&PNF, Michigan: WM.B. Eerdmans reprint April 1986, 2nd Series, 14 vols. Translated editorial supervision by Philip Schaff, D.D., LL.D., & Henry Wace, D.D., Vol.1, p.82-88, The Church History of Eusebius, Book 1, chap., 2-4; ANF, 4:609, Origen Against Celsus, Book 6, chaps LXXVIII-LXXIX.
- 2326- N&PNF, 1:82-88, Book 1, chaps 3:1-13, 4:3-10, Psalm 2:7-8, ANF, 1:178, Justin Martyr, Apol. 1, 46.
- 2327- ÉMILE MÂLE, Religious Art, Religious Art From The Twelfth To The 18th Century, (Pantheon), 76-77.
- 2328- André Grabar, Early Christian Art, From the Rise of Christianity to the Death of Theodosius, NY: Odyssey Press, 1968, 284.
- 2329- André Grabar, Early Christian Art, From the Rise of Christianity to the Death of Theodosius, NY: Odyssey Press, 1968, 286. Eusebius, The History of the Church from Christ to Constantine, Book 10, chapter 4, translated by G.A. Williamson, (Harmondsworth: Penguin Books, 1965).
- 2330- Gayla Visalli, ed., & others, Reader's Digest's After Jesus, The Triumph of Christianity, Montreal; Pleasantville, NY: The Reader's Digest Association, Inc., 1992, 199-200, comments made about the early anti-Christian Porphyry based on his treatise Against the Christians. He asked: "What about the souls of the people who lived before Jesus and had no opportunity to believe?" Robert L. Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, New Haven & Lon.: Yale Un. Press, 1984, 103, Celsus asked this same question: "If Christians do insist that God appeared in human form at a specific time in history, what happened to the countless generations who lived before Jesus?" "Is it only now after such a long age that God has remembered to judge the human race? Did he not care before?" ©. Cels. 4.8)?" See p. 262-63 for Porphyry's similar charge. Pages 180-81, for Julian the Apostate's charge of neglect. ANF, 3:157-58, Tertullian, An Answer to the Jews, chap. 7. ANF, 4:175-76, 178-79, 182-83, 188, 193, 407-08, 422-24, 447, 464, 468, 557, 609, 641. The Octavius of Minucius Felix, chap. 5-6, 10, 12, 18, 25, 32, & 33. Against Celsus, Book 1, chap. 26-27, 61-62, etc., especially book 8, chapter 4.

2331- ANF, 4:609, Origen Against Celsus, Book 6, chapters LXXVIII— LXXIX.

2332- N&PNF, 1:82-88, ANF, 4:609, Origen Against Celsus, Book 6, chapter LXXIX.

2333- ANF, 7:442, Constitutions of The Holy Apostles, Book V, Section 1, chapter VII.

2334- Ernest Alfred Thompson Wallis Budge, Miscellaneous Coptic Texts, In The Dialect of Upper Egypt, Amen Corner, Lon.: British Museum, Longmans & Co.; Asher & Co., & Humphrev Milford, Oxford Un. Press, 1915, 637-38, Translation of The Coptic Texts, British Museum, MS. Oriental, # 6784, Discourse On Mary Theotokos By Cyril, Archbishop of Jerusalem.

2335- ANF, 7:110, Lactantius, The Divine Institutes, Book 4, chapter XII.

2336- ANF, 6:336, Methodius, The Banquet Of The Ten Virgins, Or Concerning Chastity, Discourse 8. Thekla, chap.4. Exhortation to the Cultivation of Virginity; A Passage From the Apocalypse Is Proposed to Be Examined.

2337- ANF, 5:515, 527-28, 532, Treatises of Cyprian, Treat. 12, 2nd Bk, Heads, 29-30. 3rd Bk, Testimonies, 1.

2338- ANF, 5:540, The Treatises of Cyprian, Treatise XII, Third Book, Heads, Testimonies, 20.

2339- ANF, 8:3, Intro. Notice to The Testaments of the 12 Patriarchs, Robert Sinkler, Trinity College, Cambridge.

2340- ANF, 8:12, Testament II:7; The Testament of Simeon Concerning Envy.

2341- ANF, 8:13, Testament III:2; The Testament of Levi Concerning The Priesthood & Arrogance.

2342- ANF, 8:13 & 15, Testament III:2, 4, & 14. The Testament of Levi Concerning the Priesthood & Arrogance.

2343- ANF, 8:21, Testament IV:24, The Testament of Judah Concerning Fortitude, And Love Of Money, And Fornication.

2344- ANF, 8:16, Testament III:18; The Testament of Levi Concerning the Priesthood & Arrogance.

2345- ANF, 4:395-669, Against Celsus. R. J. Hoffmann, Celsus On The True Doctrine, Oxford Un. Press, 1987.

2346- ANF 1:194-270, Justin Martyr, Dialogue With Trypho. T. E. Lyon, Apostasy to Restoration, SLC, Utah: LDS Church 1960, 75-76.

2347- ANF, 4:169-98, The Octavius of Minucius Felix.

2348- Robert L. Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, New Haven & Lon.: Yale Un. Press, 1984; A.S. Garretson, Primitive Christianity & Early Criticisms, Boston: Sherman, French & Co., 1912. Stephen Benko, Pagan Rome & The Early Christians, Indiana Un. Press, 1984. W. H. C. Frend, Martyrdom & Persecution In The Early Church, Garden City, NY: Anchor Books Doubleday 1967. Lundy, Monumental Christianity.

2349- Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, 162-3, 180-81.

2350- Professor Hilton Hotema, The Secret of Regeneration, (Mokelumne Hill, California: Health Research, 1963), Lessons No. 30, Chapter No. 79, p. 13.

2351- Hotema, The Secret of Regeneration, Lessons No.30, Chap.No.79,p.12. A.Powell Davies, The 1st Christian, A Study of St Paul & Christian Origins, NY: Mentor Bks 1959. New Amer. Lib. 1957 Davies 112-29.

2352- Reader's Digest, Ed., Gayla Visalli, & others, 1992, After Jesus, The Triumph of Christianity, 199-200.

2353- Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, 162-63.

2354- ANF, 4:609.

2355- Jaroslav Pelikan The Illustrated Jesus Through The Centuries, N. H & Lon.: Yale Un. Press 1997, 225-36.

2356- ANF, 4:407, 422-4, 444, 447, 464, 468, 557, 609, & 641; Chronicles 16:12-16, 20-24.

2357- Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, p.162.

2358- Apologeticus 19.1.5*-6*. This slide from posteriority to dependence, in Judaism & Christianity, has been studied by K. Thraede. ("Erfinder," part 2, in Reallexikon fur Antike und Christentum (1962), cols. 1242-61.

2359- Ad Autolycum 1.14; 2:37, translated by Robert M. Grant, Oxford 1970.

2360- Justin Martyr, First Apology 54.1-4, 54.5-10, 55.1; Dialogue With Trypho, 67.1-2; 69.1-5; 70.1-3, 5; 78.5-6), Yves Bonnefoy, Mythologies, (A Restructured Translation of Dictionnaire des mythologies et des religions des societes traditionnelles et du monde antique) Prepared under the Direction of Wendy Doniger, (Chicago & London: The University of Chicago Press, 1991), Vol. 2, p. 659-662, article Christian Judgments on the Analogies Between Christianity and Pagan Mythology, J. P./d.w.

2361- Lundy, Monumental Christianity, p. 98.

2362- ANF, 6:405-7, 425-26, The 7 Books of Arnobius Against The Heathen, (Adversus Gentes), Book I: 46.

2363- ANF, 6:438, The Seven Books Of Arnobius Against The Heathen, Book II:12.

2364- ANF, 4:609, book 6, chaps lxxviii—lxxix, Origen Against Celsus. Vol.3:157-58, Tertullian, An Answer to the Jews. "Remember his marvellous works that he hath done, his wonders, and the judgments of his mouth; O ye seed of Israel his servant, ye children of Jacob, his chosen ones. He is the LORD our God; his judgments are in all the earth. Be ye mindful always of his covenant; the word which he commanded to a thousand generations; Even the covenant which he made with Abraham, and of his oath unto Isaac; And had confirmed the same to Jacob for a law, and to Israel for an everlasting covenant,... And when they went from nation to nation, and from one kingdom to another people; He suffered no man to do them wrong: yea, he reproved kings for their sakes, Saying, Touch not mine anointed, and do my prophets no harm. Sing unto the LORD, all the earth; shew forth from day to day his salvation. Declare his glory among the heathen; his marvellous works among all nations." (1 Chron. 16:12-16, 20-24). The Apostle Paul said in response to some of the pagans who were about to perform a pagan animal sacrifice, that even though God "in times passed suffered all nations to walk in their own ways. Nevertheless he left not himself without witness, in that he did good" (Acts 14:13-17).

2365- ANF, 5:175, Hippolytus: Fragments from Commentaries. Eph.2:19-21, 4:11-14, Rom.16:24-6; Mark 16:14-20, Matt.28:16-20.

2366- ANF, 5:179. The Extant Works And Fragments Of Hippolytus, Part I, On Daniel, II:6.

2367- ANF, 4:641, Origen Against Celsus, Book 8, chapter 4.

2368- N&PNF, 4:166, Athanasius, De Decretis, or Defence Of The Nicene Definition, chapter 5:24.

2369- ANF, 7:461, Constitutions Of The Holy Apostles, Book VI, Section V:XXIII.

2370- The Evidences Of The Christian Religion; Being a Collection of all The Works, Tracts, & Essays, 1815, vol. 2, p.28.

2371- ANF, 2:490-92, Doane, Bible Myths, p. 221; Lundy, Monumental Christianity, p. 266.

2372- ANF, 4:175-77, The Octavius of Minucius Felix.

2373- ANF, 4:178, The Octavius of Minucius Felix, chapter 10. A.D. 210.

2374- ANF, 2:94-95, Theophilus to Autolytus, book 2, chapter 3.

2375- Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, 118-22, n. 39, Tertullian, Res.44: "quae portas adamantinas mortis et aeneas seras inferorum infregit."

2376- ANF, 3:577, Tertullian, On The Resurrection of The Flesh, chap. XLIV, & note 9.

2377- Palms 107:16; "For he hath broken the gates of brass, and cut the bars of iron in sunder." (See also Psalms 107:16; ANF, 3:577, Tertullian, On The Resurrection of The Flesh, chap. XLIV, & note 9, & 157-8, chap.7, Tertullian [A.D. 145-220], An Answer To The Jews, translated by the Rev. S. Thelwall; Tertullian, Adversus Iudaeos, in vol.2 of Patrologiae Latina, 650.

2378- Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, p.118-122, foot note 39 Tertullian, Res. 44; Bainton, Behold the Christ, p.170 fig.194; Weitzmann, Byzantine Book Illumination & Ivories, (Lon., Eng.: Variorum Reprints, 1980), 53. Fol.1v; & fig.12, see also p.162, fig.7; etc. Weitzmann, Studies in the Arts at Sinai, 1982, (New Jersey: Princeton University Press),fig.5-6, & 9 & 11; Roo, History of America Before Columbus, vol.1, pp.205-9; ANF, 3:157-8, chapter 7, Tertullian [A.D. 145-220], An Answer To The Jews; Tertullian, Adversus Iudaeos, in vol.2 of Patrologiae Latina, 650. "All the ends of the world shall remember and turn unto the LORD: and all the kindreds of the nations shall worship before thee. For the kingdom is the LORD'S: and he is the governor among the nations." (Psalms 22:27-28). Zechariah foretold a time when: "the LORD shall be king over all the earth: in that day shall there be one LORD, and his name one." (Zechariah 14:9).

2379- ANF, 3:157-8. Isaiah 45:1-3.

2380- Roo, History of America Before Columbus, p.208-9, & n.4, Solorzano, De Indiarum Jure, p.185, n.52-3.

2381- ANF, 3:423, Tertullian Against Marcion, Book 4, chapter 43.

2382- ANF, 3:152.

2383- ANF, 3:152, An Answer to the Jews, chapter 2.

2384- ANF, 2:40, John 15:1-8.

2385- ANF, 1:391-92, Irenaeus Against Heresies, Book 2, chapter 22:5, see also note 2.

2386- Legge Forerunners & Rivals Of Christianity 2:60-61 ch.8 note 1, p.61, New Hyde Park, NY: Un. Bks, 1964.

2387- Huge Nibley Since Cumorah, The Book of Mormon In the Modern World, SLC, Ut.: Deseret Book 1967, 1976, 73, n.12: G. Homer, Pistis Sophia, London: SPCK, 1924, p. XV-XVI. C. Schmidt, Pistis Sophia, Hauniae 1925.

2388- Collected Works of Huge Nibley, 4: Mormonism & Early Christianity, 1987, 10-11, & notes 1-11, p. 22-23.

2389- ANF, 1:451, book 3, chapter 20:4, Irenaeus Against Heresies.

2390- ANF, 1:472, book 4, chapter 9:1-2, Irenaeus Against Heresies.

2391- The Evidences Of The Christian Religion, 1815, vol. 1, p. 79.

2392- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 38, 43, n. 82: Irenaeus, "Against Heresies," 4.22.1-2, ANF, 1:493-4.

2393- ANF, 1:489-90, book 4, chapter 20:2-7, citing verse 7.

2394- ANF, 1:497, book 4, chapter 26:1; Luke 24:26, 47; Acts 1:3.

2395- ANF, 1:501, book 4, chapter 28:2.

2396- ANF, 1:518, book 4, chapter 36:8.

2397- ANF, 1:548, book 5, chapter 20:1.

2398- ANF, 1:571, Fragments from the Lost Writings of Irenaeus, chapter 17.

2399- ANF, 1:181, Justin Martyr, A.D. 110—165, First Apology, chapter 54.

2400- Doane, Bible Myths, p. 221.

2401- ANF 1:182, 1st Apol. Justin, chap. lvi, p.173, chap.3, p.184-5 chap. lxiv-lxvi, & 2nd Apol. p.190, ch.5.

2402- ANF, 1:10, chapter 20, The 1st Epistle of Clement to the Corinthians.

2403- Roo, History of America Before Columbus, vol.1, p.208, & note 3, Sahagun, lib. I. p. xviii.

2404- Roo goes on to cite Matt.16:15-16, 28:18-20; 1 Tim.2:4; Luke 24:46-48; etc.

2405- Don Juan de Solorzano Pereira, an important Spanish doctor of the sixteenth century, De Indiarum Jure, book 1, chapter 14, p. 177, n. 2, 3.

2406- Adrian Finaeus, Flagelli, book 2, chapter 12.

2407- Fr. Stephen de Salazar, in the third chapter of his sixteenth Discourse on the Symbol of the Apostles.

2408- Acosta, History of the Indies, book 5, chapter 25.

2409- John a Ponte, Utriusque Monarch, bk2, chap.2; Fr. John a Torquemada, Indian Monarchy, bk15, chap.4, 7, xlviii, xlix. Malvenda, bk3, Antichrist, chap.2, 25 John del Cano, com. Psalms.18.

2410- Solorzano, De Indiarum Jure, book 1, chapter 14, 73, p.190.

2411- Roo, History of America Before Columbus, vol.1, p. 209-32.

2412- ANF, 8:755, Melito, The Philosopher, A.D. 160-170-177.

2413- A portion of 2 Chronicles 16:9, seems to suggest that God knew of other areas of the world. "For the eyes of the LORD run to and fro throughout the whole earth." Thus, the knowledge of other parts of the world could have been revealed to the prophets (Amos 3:7).

- 2414- ANF, 3:157-8; Vol.4, p.175-6, & 179; Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, p.118-122; Bainton, Behold the Christ, Roland, p.170, fig. 194. Christ rules over the whole world, "he is the governor among the nations," & universe (Col. 1:10-22; & Psalm 22:25-28).
- 2415- The Golden Legend Of Jacobus de Voragine, trans. Latin by Granger Ryan & Helmut Ripperger, (NY: Arno Press, A Pub. & Library service of The NY Times, 1941, 69), xi, foreword.
- 2416- Lafaye, Quetzalcoatl & Guadalupe, p. 44-45.
- 2417- ANF, 3:36, Tertullian, Apology, chapter 22, p.179, The Soul's Testimony, chapter 6.
- 2418- N&PNF, 5:490, IV. Apologetic, Gregory of Nyssa, The Great Catechism, chapter 18.
- 2419- Nibley, The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, in a number of volumes in this series, Nibley has documented numerous sources from around the world which shows that the Temple endowment has been scattered around the world. Thorpe, Jesus Christ's "Everlasting Gospel" & Ancient Patternism, (SLC, Utah: R.H. & P.S., 1990, unpublished research paper & manuscript at this time. Thorpe, Early Christianity In The Ancient Americas, & Old & New World Parallels, (SLC, Utah: R.H. & P.S., 1991, unpublished research manuscript. Augustus Le Plongeon, Sacred Mysteries, Among The Mayas And The Quiches, 11,500 Years Ago, Their Relation To The Sacred Mysteries Of Egypt, Greece, Chaldea and India, Freemasonry In Times Anterior to The Temple of Solomon, (New York, New York, U.S.A.: Macoy Publishing and Masonic Supply Company, 1909). See also: Donald W. Parry, Editor, Temples of The Ancient World, Ritual and Symbolism, (Salt Lake City, & Provo, Utah: Deseret Book Company, and F.A.R.M.S., 1994). Eugene Seach, Ancient Texts and Mormonism, A Real Answer to Critics of Mormonism, Showing that Mormonism is a genuine restoration of Primitive Christianity, (Murray, Utah: Sounds of Zion, 1983). Blake Ostler, article: Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity, in Brigham Young University Studies, vol. 22, Winter 1982, #1, p. 31-45; Nibley, Temples and Cosmos, (SLC, Utah: Deseret Book, 1992); Nibley, Mormonism and Early Christianity, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Co., 1987); Nibley, The Message of the Joseph Smith Papyri, an Egyptian Endowment, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Co., 1975). Thorpe, The Pilgrimage and Struggle of The Human Family In and Through the Different Realms of Existences; Thorpe, The Mystery Behind The Mysteries, Ritualistic Realm Pilgrims In Early to Later Christian Mysteries, Winter 1997. Truman G. Madsen, Editor, The Temple in Antiquity, Ancient Records and Modern Perspectives, (Provo, Utah: Religious Studies Center, Brigham Young University, 1984).
- 2420- Henry A. Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, & Drama, Ithaca & Lon.: Cornell Un. Press, 1985.
- 2421- N&PNF, 5:524, Gregory of Nyssa, On The Baptism of Christ.
- 2422- Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, 181.
- 2423- Benko, Pagan Rome & The Early Christians, 151, Celsus.
- 2424- Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, 162-63; After Jesus, by Reader's Digest, 199-200.
- 2425- Benko, Pagan Rome And The Early Christians, p. 151.
- 2426- Sage Digital Library, N&PNF, first series, vol. 1, p. 827-8, # 7-8.
- 2427- Allen H. Richardson, David E. Richardson, Anthony E. Bentley, 1000 Evidences For the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, vol. 1, The Everlasting Gospel, The First 500 Evidences, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Hawkes Publishing Inc., 1994), p. 198—201; Roland H. Bainton, Behold the Christ, (Harper, 1974), p. 203; Frederick Buechner, The Faces of Jesus, (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1974), p. 216; Geoffrey Barraclough, The Christian World, (London: Thames & Hudson Ltd., 1981), p. 10; George Every, Christian Legends, (New York: Peter Betrick Books, 1987), p. 18, 20; and Museo Bardini Florence, "The Holy Trinity, 15th Century Marble," in Encyclopedia of World Art, vol. 4, (New York: McGraw-Hill, 1972), plate 231.
- 2428- Sage Digital Library, N&PNF, 1st series, vol.1:827-28, Letter 102, Augustine to Deogratius, #8-15.
- 2429- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 459—467. Augustine, Admonition and Grace, Chap. II—XVI, Augustine, Faith, Hope, and Charity, Chap. XXVII. Augustine, On the Spirit and the Letter, Chap. LX. Augustine, On Nature and Grace, Chap. I—II, X, XXV—XXV. Augustine, On the Grace of Christ, XXVI—XXIX. Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005). Eph. 4:10—14.
- 2430- Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, p.181.
- 2431- ANF, 5:498, The Treatises of Cyprian, Treatise XI:2. God alone must be worshiped, citing Rev.14:6-7.
- 2432- ANF, 5:446, The Treatises of Cyprian, Treatise III:31.
- 2433- Jacob Neusner, Origins of Judaism, History of the Jews in the Second through Seventh Centuries of the Common Era, (NY; Lon.: Garland Pub. 1990), vol.8, part 1, p.608, heading: The Emperor Julian & The Jews.
- 2434- The New Encyclopædia Britannica, Chicago; Auchland; Geneva; Lon.; Manila; Paris; Rome; Seoul; Sydney; Tokyo; Toronto: Un. of Chicago, Encyclopædia Britannica, Inc., 15th ed. 1988, vol. 16, p. 325.
- 2435- ANF, 5:507, The Treatises of Cyprian, Treatise XII.
- 2436- The Library of Christian Classics, vol. 2, Alexandrian Christianity, Selected Translations of Clement & Origen with Introductions and Notes by John Ernest Leonard Oulton, D.D., Regius Professor of Divinity in the University of Dublin; Chancellor of St. Patrick's and Henry Chadwick, B.D., Fellow & Dean of Queens' College, Cambridge. (Philadelphia: The Westminster Press), vol. 2, p. 98. Clement of Alexandria, On Spiritual Perfection.
- 2437- Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, p. 126-130.
- 2438- After Jesus, Reader's Digest, p. 199-200.
- 2439- ANF, 4:609, Origen Against Celsus, book 6, chap. lxxviii-lxxix; 3:157-58, Tertullian, An Answer To The Jews, chap.7. "He is the LORD our God; his judgments are in all the earth. Be ye mindful always of his covenant; the word which he commanded to a thousand generations; Even the covenant which he made with Abraham, and of his oath unto Isaac; And had confirmed the same to Jacob for a law, and to Israel for an everlasting covenant.... And when they went from nation to nation, and from one kingdom to another people; He suffered no man to do them wrong: yea, he reproved kings for their sakes, Saying, Touch not mine anointed, and do my prophets no harm. Sing unto the LORD, all the earth; shew forth from day to day his salvation. Declare his glory among the heathen; his marvellous works among all nations." (1 Chronicles 16:12-16, 20-24). The Apostle Paul said in response to some of the pagans who were about to perform a pagan animal sacrifice, that even though God "in times passed suffered all nations to walk in their own ways. Nevertheless he left not himself without witness, in that he did good" (Acts 14:16-17, see also verses 13-15).
- 2440- ANF, 4:528, Origen Against Celsus, Book 4, chapter LXIX.

- 2441- Before this, Theophilus of Antioch, [A.D. 115-168-181], had asked the early anti-Christian Autolycus, the following: Why was Jupiter found in only one part of the earth and not everywhere? He must have either neglected the other parts of the earth, or was unable to be present everywhere, & thus could not help all people everywhere. (The Ante-Nicene Fathers 2: p.94-5, Theophilus to Autolycus, book 2, chapter 3).
- 2442- R. Joseph Hoffmann, Celsus On The True Doctrine, A Discourse Against the Christians, (New York; Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987), p. 39.
- 2443- Stan-Michel Pellistrandi, The Early Christian Civilization, 1978, 180-200; The Ante-Nicene Fathers, Vol.4, 407, 422, 424, 427-8, 447, 464, 557, 565, 609, & 641, Origen Against Celsus.
- 2444- Lundy Monumental Christianity, 73-74; ANF 4:419-20, 448, Hoffmann, Celsus On The True Doctrine 65
- 2445- Hoffmann, Celsus On The True Doctrine, p. 76-77.
- 2446- Hoffmann, Celsus On The True Doctrine, p. 86.
- 2447- Hoffmann, Celsus On The True Doctrine, p. 41.
- 2448- ANF, 2:490-92; Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, p. 103.
- 2449- Professor Hilton Hotema, The Secret of Regeneration, Mokelumne Hill, Calif.: Health Research, 1963, Lessons No. 21, Chap. No. 53, p. 16.
- 2450- Joseph Wilson Trigg, Origen, The Bible & Philosophy in the 3rd-c. Church, John Knox Press, 1983, 229.
- 2451- ANF, 2:490, Clement of Alexandria, The Stromata, or Miscellanies, book 6, chapter 5, see also note 1.
- 2452- ANF, 2:491, Clement of Alexandria, The Stromata, or Miscellanies, book 6, chapter 6.
- 2453- ANF, 2:490, Clement of Alexandria, The Stromata, Or Miscellanies, book 6, chapter 6.
- 2454- ANF 2:491 n.2, p.49, Stromata, book 6, chap. 6; The Pastor of Hermas, book 3, chaps 15-16.
- 2455- Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined; Kelly, The Devil At Baptism, p. 10-12, 26-32, 50, 59-77, 86-291; Francis Bond, Fonts & Font Covers, Lon., NY, & Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford Un. Press, 1908, 5, 12, 21, 135, 156-57, 162, 167, 171, 173, 179, 253—57, 262; Thorpe, The Grand Pilgrimage, p. 1-F, 32-41.
- 2456- Studies done on the locations of baptismal fonts have given us a deeper understanding of the symbolical meanings & settings for different versions of baptism for the dead in historic Christianity. In many cases, the doctrines of Christ's descent & battle with the devil in the underworld, hades, limbo, purgatory, the pit, the abyss, as this realm was called in different areas of historic Christendom. Different versions, traditions, art works, & types about Christ's descent, influenced the different versions, modes & practices of how the early to later Christians practiced, & performed their rites of baptism, baptism for the dead, & other rites for the dead. Some fonts were a representation of the grave, the pit, limbo, hades, etc. Fonts, during baptism, were types of being in the spirit prison, hades, & limbo. To rise up out of the font, in some cases with a helping hand clasp, or rites of passage hand or wrist grasp was a type of how Christ ascended out of the underworld, the abyss, limbo, hades, etc., during the Anastasis, or resurrection. 1 Corinthians 15. Many Christian baptismal fonts were built in the lower parts of some churches in the likeness & in a similitude of the under world, the pit, limbo, hades, or the realms of the dead. Thus one couldn't ask for a better ancient setting for a baptism for the dead than in such symbolical settings & places as these. Peter Clayton, Treasures of Ancient Rome, (Gallery Books, Bison Books, 1986), 68; Arte Paleocristiana, En Espana, por Pedro de Palol, Ediciones Poligrafa, S.A., p.41, figs.22-24, & p.166, figs.104-5; Theodulf (AD 760-821), De Ordine Baptismi. Roger Adam, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptism for the Dead, (SLC, Utah: Dr. thesis in LDS Church Library in SLC, 1977), 9, 10, 48-9. Col.2:12; Huge Nibley, Baptism for the Dead in Ancient Times, see Improvement Era 51-52 (12-1948-4-1949). Geschichte der Christlichen Kunst. von Franz Xaver Kraus, Freiburg im Breisgau. Herder'sche Verlagshandlung. 1897, p.215, fig. 157, showing a font on the back of 12 oxen, baptism, and angels holding garments, p.233, fig. 174, showing the hand clasp during, "Descensus ad inferos". Page 350-1, fig. 242, "Christus im Limbus. Fresco in S. Maria Novella zu Florenz." Swarzenski, Monuments of Romanesque Art, pl. 218, fig. 515. The Molten Sea carried by 12 Oxen, fig. 516 which shows Moses crossing the Red Sea. The Klosterneuburg Altar. Nicholas Ofverdun, 1181; fig. 253. "The Font carried by Oxen, symbolizing the Molten Sea", & plate 113, fig.258; Zarnecki, Art of the Medieval World, font AD 1107-1118, Baptismal font of Renier de Huy, Church of Saint Barthelemy Liege; Iconography of Christian Art, vol. I, Schiller, fig. 373, font resting on the back of 12 oxen, "Enamel, completed 1181. Klosterneuburg Altar. - Passage through the Red Sea- Baptism- The Brazen Sea." J.G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (Lon.: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 65, fig. 22, (12 oxen around font), & p. 68; Harold Osborne, Editor, The Oxford Companion To Art, (Oxford, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1970), p.427, fig.135. Bronze font 1107), Liege. With 12 oxen carrying baptismal font on the analogy of the Molten Sea in the Temple of Jerusalem (1 Kings 7:23-6). "The twelve oxen symbolize the twelve Apostles" p.1169, fig.382; Germain Bazin's The History of World Sculpture, 1968, fig. 571, 12 oxen around the font represent the apostles. This is interesting, because the baptismal fonts were a type of hades, limbo, the grave, or the spirit prison into which the apostles were said to have descended, like Christ did, to preach gospel & baptize, for the dead. (Adam, Baptism For The Dead, p.115, fig.74; H. W. Janson, Ed., Key Monuments of the History of Art, (NY: Harry N. Abrams, 5th print 1964), 432-33; The Encyclopedia Of Visual Art, (Lon.: Encyclopedia Britannica International, LTD), vol.4, p. 583; Francois Souchal, Art Of The Early Middle Ages, (NY, Lon.: Harry Abrams), 96-97, Metford, Dictionary Of Christian Lore & Legend, 101; 1 Cor.10:1-4; Jer.52:20; 1 Kings 7:23-4; Ex.14:21-31. Adam, Baptism For The Dead, 66-84. Hippolytus, Bishop of Portus, near Rome, AD 220-30, Lundy, Monumental Christianity, p.265, n.3, Adver. Graecos. Fabricius' Ed., p.220. 34; Nibley, in Temples Of The Ancient World, p.597, n.123, p. 619-20. Nibley, Baptism for the Dead in Ancient Times, Improvement Era, 51 (12-1948): 786-88, 836-38; IE, 52 (1-1949): 24-26, 60; IE, 52 (2- 1949): 90-91, 109-10, 112; IE, 52 (3-1949): 146-48, 180-83; IE, 52, (4-1949): 212-14; Nibley, Mormonism & Early Christianity, Collected Works of Huge Nibley, 4:100-167; Mat.12:39-41. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, 1876, p.258, 64.
- 2457- ANF, 2:490, Clement of Alexandria, The Stromata, Or Miscellanies, book 6, chapter 6.
- 2458- ANF, 2:491, Clement of Alexandria, The Stromata, or Miscellanies, book 6, chapter 6.
- 2459- Pellistrandi, Early Christian Civilization, 180-199, about 178 AD, Celsus wrote against early Christians.
- 2460- ANF, 5:189, The Extant Works And Fragments of Hippolytus, III. Scholia On Daniel, Chap. VII:13-14.
- 2461- ANF 5:175, Hippolytus, Fragments from Commentaries; Eph.2:19-21, 4:11-14, Rom.16:24-6; Mark 16:14-20; Matt.28:16-20.
- 2462- Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, p. 162-63.
- 2463- ANF, 1:159, & 170-3, Justin Martyr 1st Apology, chap. xxiii--xxxii, & xxxviii-xl, p.178, chap. xlvi, p.181, chap. liv, p.182, chap. lvi, p.183-5, chap. lxi-lxvi, 2nd Apol. p.190, chap.v; Bonnefoy, Mythologies, 2:659-65.

- 2464- ANF, 1:62, Epistle Of Ignatius to the Magnesians, chap. 9, in Vol. 1, p.173, The First Apology of Justin Martyr, chapter 31; Vol. 1, p. 331, Irenaeus Against Heresies, book 1, chap. 10, & p. 451, book 3, chapter 20, verse 4, p. 468, book 4, chap. 6, verses 2-3, p. 472, chapter 9, verses 1-2, p. 489-90, Book 4, verses 6-7; vol.4 p.407, 422-4, 444, 447, 464, 468, 557, 609, & 641, Origen Against Celsus; Chronicles 16:12-16, 20-24; Vol. 8, p. 91, Recognitions of Clement, chap. LII.
- 2465- ANF, 4:609, Origen Against Celsus, Book VI, chap. LXXVIII-- LXXIX.
- 2466- Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, p.162.
- 2467- ANF, 2:39-40, The Pastor of Hermas, book 3, chapters 1-3; John 15:1-8.
- 2468- ANF, 1:181, Justin Martyr, A.D. 110 165, First Apology, chapter 54.
- 2469- ANF, 1:182, 1st Apology of Justin, chap. lvi, & p. 173, chap. 31.
- 2470- ANF, 1, 1st Apology of Justin, p.173, ch.31, p.184-85, ch. lxiv-lxvi, & 2nd Apol., p.190, chap.5.
- 2471- ANF, 1, 1st Apology of Justin, p.173, chapter 31.
- 2472- Lafaye, Quetzalcoatl & Guadalupe, p. 46.
- 2473- Bonnefoy, Mythologies, vol.2, p.664.
- 2474- ANF, 2:489-90, Clement of Alexandria, The Stromata, or Miscellanies, book 6, chapter 5.
- 2475- ANF, 5:175, Stromateis 5.14, 116.1, Bonnefoy, Mythologies, vol.2, p. 664; Hippolytus hints that Christ spoke to other nations through apostles & prophets?
- 2476- ANF, 2:292, The Instructor, Book 3, chapter 12.
- 2477- ANF, 2:313, Clement of Alexandria, The Stromata, Or Miscellanies, Book I, chapter 14.
- 2478- ANF, 2:519-20, Clement of Alexandria, The Stromata, Or Miscellanies, Book 6, chapter 18.
- 2479- ANF, 7:239, Lactantius, Epitome Of The Divine Institutes, Addressed to His Brother Pentadius, ch. XLIII.
- 2480- ANF, 8:74, 91, Recognitions of Clement, book 1, chap. 51-52, Nibley, The Collected Works of Hugh Nibley, vol. 3: The World & The Prophets, p.168, n.9, p.299, & 311, J.P. Migne, Patrologiae Cursus Completus. Series Graeca (Paris: 1857-1866), 1:1236.
- 2481- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black & White, NY, Lon., etc.: Gineeo Books, 2007, 77.
- 2482- Carl Zaleski, Otherworld Journeys, Accounts of Near-Death Experience In Medieval and Modern Times, (NY; Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1987), 26-74; Colleen McDannell & Bernhard Lang, Heaven A History, (New Haven & Lon.: Yale Un. Press, 1988), p. 135, pl. 23. Dieric Bouts, Paradise. 15th century. Musee des Beaux-Arts, Lille, France, showing a soul ascending up through a tunnel in the clouds. See also p. 141, pl. 26. Jean Bellegambe, Paradise. C. 1526— 30. Part of The Last Judgment panel. Staatliche Museen, East Berlin. Souls ride up on a garment in through a tunnel in the clouds to enter paradise; Alice K. Turner, The History of Hell, (New York; San Diego; London: 1993), 72-73, 87, 91; W.F. Volbach, Early Christian Art, (New York: A. Abrams), pl. 93, Munich, Bavarian National Museum, Ivory panel of Christ on a hill side being pulled into heaven by the hand of the Father, A.D. 400. See also: Walter Oakeshott, Classical Inspiration In Medieval Art, (NY, NY: Frederick A. Praeger, 1959), pl. 80, A Carolingian ivory masterpiece: France, 9th century. From the top of a hill, Christ ascends into heaven through an opening in the clouds. Through this opening, the hand of God extends to grasp Christ's hand before he enters heaven. J. Hubert, J. Porcher, W.F. Volbach, The Carolingian Renaissance, (NY, NY: George Braziller, Inc., 1970). George Zarnecki, Art of The Medieval World, (NY: Harry N. Abrams, 1975), 135, fig.132. Initial C with Ascension of Christ. Sacramentary of Drogo. AD 850, Christ on a hill top being received into heaven by the hand of God; Truman G. Madsen, (Editor), The Temple in Antiquity, Ancient Records and Modern Perspectives, (Salt Lake City and Provo, Utah: Religious Studies Center, BYU, distributed by Bookcraft, 1984), p. 22-25, Nibley, What is a Temple, The Place of Contact; See also: Gilles Quispel Professor of History, (New York: McGraw—Hill Book, 1979), p. 48; Kurt Weitzmann, 1979, Age of Spirituality, # 438; Robert G. Calkins, 1979, Monuments of Medieval Art, fig. 85; Bainton, The History of Christianity, p. 214-15; Robert Hughes, 1968, Heaven and Hell in Western Art, p. 188-90; Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton: Princeton Un. Press, 1986).
- 2483- Darell Thorpe, Jesus Christ's "Everlasting Gospel" & Ancient "Patternism" (1990). Early Christianity In Ancient America & Old & New World Parallels (1990). The Pilgrimage & Struggles of the Human Family In & Through the Different Realms of Existences (1991). The Grand Pilgrimage: (Footnoting In & "Out of the Best Books"), Vol.1, Part 1, Issues 1-4, April-Aug, 1992. The Pre-existence: Our Pre-earth Life As Spirits In A "Family In Heaven" (1992). Upon Them Hath The Light Shined (1995). "Ye Are Gods... Children of the Most High" (CR 1993, revised 1994-1996). The Mystery Behind the Mysteries, Ritualistic Realm Pilgrims (1996—1997). Compton, By Study and Also By Faith, Vol. 1, p. 611-42; Parry (Editor), Temples of the Ancient World, Ritual & Symbolism, p. 280-82, 456, 557- 59. Olga Popova, Russian Illuminated Manuscripts, translated by Kathleen Cook, Vladimir Ivanov and Lenina Sorokina, (Leningrad, Russia: Aurora Art Publishing, & in the U.S.A.: Thames & Hudson, 1984), fig. 42, Christ receiving souls into heaven by taking hold of their wrist. Lenin Library, Moscow (Desnitsky collection 439), about 1475. Lowrie, Art in the Early Church, pl. 100; Swarzenski, Monuments of Romanesque Art, pl.66, fig.151; pl.15, fig. 35. David M. Robb, The Art of Illuminated Manuscript, (Cranbury, New Jersey: A.S. Barnes & Co., 1973), p. 200-201, fig. 135; Kelly, The Devil at Baptism.
- 2484- Jean Porcher, Medieval French Miniatures, (NY: Harry N. Abrams), XXXVIII. Bible, 2nd half of the 12th century (Bibliothèque Nationale, Ms. Lat. 16746, f. 42).
- 2485- Carol Zaleski, Otherworld Journeys, Accounts of Near-Death Experiences in Medieval and Modern Times, (NY, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1987), 17-94; Colleen McDannell & Bernard Lang, Heaven A History, (New Haven & London: Yale Un. Press, 1988). Darell Thorpe, The Pilgrimages and Struggles of the Human Family in & Through Different Realms of Existences, (SLC, Utah: Religious, Historical & Polemical Studies, 1991-92, & unpublished). Thorpe, The Mystery Behind The Mysteries, Ritualistic Realm Pilgrims in Early to Later Christian Mysteries, (SLC, Utah: R.H.&P.S., an unpub. research paper written by Thorpe, for a college class, HIS 190-01 Special Studies, Instructor: Marianne McKnight, Winter Quarter, 1997.
- 2486- Porcher, Medieval French Miniatures, see 38, Bible second half of the 12th century.
- 2487- Robert Fossier, 1989, The Middle Ages, The Cambridge Illustrated History of the Middle Ages, (Cambridge University Press, 1989), translated by Janet Sondheimer, p.470, Carolingian ivory work. Relief, c. 870: David the Psalmist entering the house of the Lord. Carved by artists at the court of Charles the Bald, the piece was made as a cover for the emperor's Prayer Book (Zurich, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum). See also: David M. Wilson, 1984, Anglo/Saxon Art, From the Seventh to the Norman Conquest, (Woodstock, New York: Overland Press), pp.182-83. Page 229 from the Utrecht Psalter, illustrating Psalm 27: 'Though an host should encamp against me, my heart shall not fear....for in the time of trouble the Lord shall hide me in his pavilion.' (Utrecht, University Library, Script. eccl. 484, fol. 15r.). Another depiction shows the same sort of scene, see 230, copied from the Utrecht Psalter by an English scribe. (London, British Library, Harley 603, fol. 15r.). The first portion was produced by a number of artists at Christ Church, Canterbury, around A.D. 1000. Further works, during the second quarter of the 11th—12th centuries A.D. David also hints to symbols of safety, & being saved, by being led to heavenly realms by the hand (Palms 16:8-10; 17:4-7, 20:6, 24:3-10, 25:4-5, 68:18, Ephesians 4:7-10, Psalms 73:23-4, 89:13, 118:16-21, Psalm 23). In one depiction, an angel conducts the souls of the virtuous to Paradise, with another angel standing inside the half-open door, welcoming a soul by clasping the soul's hand through the door way. 13th-century mosaic on the cupola of the Baptistry of S. Giovanni, Florence. Hughes is of the opinion that the angel within the door is adapted from the classical prototype of Hermes Psychopompos. (Robert Hughes 1968, Heaven & Hell in Western Art, 190-91). "In art, Hermes Psychopompos appears in two general forms. As a rule, he is seen taking a soul by the hand or arm before leading him down to Hades. But he is sometimes depicted standing just inside or half-way through the door of Hades, which is ajar. There is a carving of Hermes Psychopompos in this pose on a Roman monumental sarcophagus of the 3rd century AD which stands outside the south door to the Baptistry in Florence..." (p. 190).

2488- Gilles Quispel Professor, 1979, The Secret Book of Revelation, p.48.

2489- Kurt Weitzmann, 1979, Editor, Age Of Spirituality, # 438; Ernst Kjellberg & Gosta Saflund, Greek & Roman Art, 3000 B.C. to A.D. 550, (NY: Thomas Y. Crowell Company, English CR 1968 by Faber & Faber Limited), p. 208 fig. 192. Detail from wooden doors at Santa Sabina, Rome, AD 432, showing Christ being lifted into heaven by 2 angels who grasp his hands.

2490- Celia McInnes, An English Christmas, (New York: Henry Holt & Company), 28.

2491- Ichikawa, Merry Christmas, see under the heading Great Britain and the United States, 30-31.

2492- Leonard Cowie 1962 The March Of The Cross, NY Lon. McGraw-Hill Book, 166-97, fig.228; JCY Metford, Dictionary of Christian Lore & Legend, Eng.: Thames & Hudson, 1983, 161.

2493- Gardner, Let's Celebrate Christmas, Parties, Plays Legends, Carols, Poetry, Stories, p. 18.

2494- Ernest Alfred Thompson Wallis Budge, M.A., Litt. D., Miscellaneous Coptic Texts in The Dialect of Upper Egypt, (London: The British Museum, Oxford University Press, etc., 1915), 915-16, Encomium of Theodosius, Archbishop of Alexandria, On Saint Michael The Archangel, (British Museum, MS. Oriental, No. 7021).

2495- Darell Thorpe, THE PRE-EXISTENCE: OUR PRE-EARTH LIFE AS SPIRITS IN A "FAMILY IN HEAVEN" (SLC, Utah: R.H. & P.S., REVISED JANUARY 1, 1992 & MARCH- APRIL 1993, an unpub. research paper & computer file at this time). William G. T. Shedd, D.D., A History of Christian Doctrine, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1883), vol. II, pp.3-5; The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, vol.1, p. 84—87; William Hood, Fra Angelico at San Marco, (New Haven, London: Yale University Press, 1993), p.109; The G. H. Box translation: "This is my will with regard to those who exist in the [divine] world-council, and it seemed well-pleasing before my sight, and then afterward I gave commandment to them through my Word." (Dr. Hugu Nibley, Abraham in Egypt, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Co., 1981), pp.16-7, & 34-5. John 1:1-14; Hebrews chapters 1-2; John 7:28-33; 16:28; 17:5, 24; 17:18; 3:13; 6:33—51, 62; 12:44, 49, 16:5, 20:21; Exodus 3:1-14; John 8:57-59; Acts 7:1, 30, 38, Isaiah 63:9, 15-16. John symbolically identified Christ as the "Lamb" of the sacrificial law, thus Christ is the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world. And thus, the atonement was planned from the beginning, or from "the foundation of the world" (Revelation 13:8). See also: The Lost Books of the Bible, p. 143, 2nd Clement, chapter 4:2; Anthony S. Mercatante, The Facts On File Encyclopedia Of World Mythology & Legend, (New York, Oxford: Facts On File, 1988), p.56; Angelo S. Rappoport, Ph.D., Ancient Israel Myths & Legends, (New York: Bonanza Books, 1987), 3 Volumes in 1, vol.1, pp.6-9, etc. Frederic R. Crownfield, (Prof. of Bib. Lit. & Rel. Guilford Col.), A Historical Approach to the New Testament, (New York, Evanston, London: Harper & Row, 1960), chapter 7, Judaism, p.108, etc. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 2, p.3, intro. n. p.12, The Shepherd of Hermas, book 1, Vision 2, chap. 4, p. 35-6, book 3, Similitude. 5, chap. 5-6, n.9, & 4, & p.47, book 3, Similitude 9, chap.12; The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 2: p.103, chap. 22. Clement of Alexandria, [153-193-217 A.D.], wrote of Christ's pre-existence "the Angel of great Counsel." (The Ante-Nicene Fathers 2: p.215, see also pp. 446, 493, 525; In The Recognitions of Clement, 1st - 4th c. AD, The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 8: p.74; Nibley, Old Testament And Related Studies, p.175-6, & n. 35 on p.195. Nibley, Temple & Cosmos, p.188; Nibley, The World And The Prophets, p.168.

2496- Paul Muratoff, La Peinture Byzantine, Paris: A. Weber, MCMXXXV, pl. XLV; Yves Christe, Tania Velmans, Hanna Losowska & Roland Recht, Art of the Christian World, A.D. 200-1500, A Handbook of Styles and Forms, 1982, p. 72, fig.119, p.73, fig. 122; p.76, fig. 134; p.92, figs. 184 & 185; p.95, figs. 195-7; p.97, fig. 204; & p. 333, fig. 352; Ernst Kitzinger, Byzantine Art in the Making, Main lines of stylistic development in Mediterranean Art, 3rd-7th Century, Cambridge, Mass.: Harvard Un. Press, 1977, p.64, fig. 109; Otto Pacht, Book Illumination In The Middle Ages, Oxford: Harvey Miller Pub., Oxford Un. Press, 1984, by Prestel-Verlag Munich, & 1986 Miller), pl. XX; Emile Male, Religious Art in France, The 12th Century, (Princeton Un., Press, 1978), fig.41; Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, pp.164-5; Gustav Davidson, 1967, A Dictionary of Angels, Including The Fallen Angels, p.24, see the heading: Angel of the Burning Bush -- "A strict interpretation of the use of the term (Exodus 3:2; Luke 20:37; Acts 7:35) would suggest that it is the Lord Himself who is the angel of the burning bush, made manifest in angelic guise." See also: George Every, Library Of The World's Myths and Legends, Christian Legends, (NY: Peter Bedrick Books, 1970, as Christian Mythology, revised edition London: Hamlyn Pub. Group, 1987), see frontispiece: The first leaf of the Book of Kells shows the Evangelical symbols. Top left, the man or angel, St. Matthew. Top right, St. Mark the lion. Lower left, the sacrificial calf, St. Luke. Right, the eagle for St. John, the evangelist. Irish 8th-c. Trinity College Library. Dublin. Page 19, four angels make a possible prayer circle with up-lifted hands. The four winged symbols of the four Gospel writers are also depicted here too. See also: Nigel Morgan, Early Gothic Manuscript [II] 1250 - 1285, A Survey of Manuscripts Illuminated in the British Isles - General Editor: J. J. G. Alexander, Lon.: Harvey Miller, 1988, see fig. 26. Christ in Majesty. Oxford, All Souls College, 6, f. 6 (cat. 101). Here we see again another depiction of Christ enthroned, with the winged symbols of the 4 gospel writers in the corners. Below, the virgin Mary stands with up-lifted hands as if in praise and prayer to her Son. At the feet of Christ is what could be an orb, the symbol of His universal reign. Ferguson, Encyclopedia of Early Christianity, 1990, p.39.

2497- Budge, Miscellaneous Coptic Texts, 893, 895, 897-98, 908. Encomium of Theodosius, Archbishop of Alexandria, On Saint Michael The Archangel, (British Museum, Oriental, #7021).

2498- ANF, 2:517, The Stromata, Or Miscellanies, book 6, chapter 17.

2499- Sir John Rothenstein, C.B.E., Ph.D., LL.D., General Editor, Consultant, New International Illustrated Encyclopedia Of Art, (New York: Greystone Press), vol.4, p.12, p.2375.

2500- Grabar, Byzantine Painting, Historical And Critical Study, p.126-7.

- 2501- The Evidences Of The Christian Religion; Being A Collection Of All The Works, Tracks, & Essays, Of The Most Established Authors Who Have Written Upon The Evidences Of The Christian Faith, (London: Conway and Rayer, Harvey's Buildings, Strand; The Historical Classics And Military Chronicle, 1815), 5 vols, vol. 1, p.79.
- 2502- Granger Ryan & Helmut Ripperger, Trans., from Latin, The Golden Legend Of Jacobus de Voragine, (NY: Arno Press, A Pub. & Lib., The NY Times, 1969, 1941), p. xi, foreword.
- 2503- ANF, 2:490-92, Clement of Alexandria, Miscellanies, book 6, chap. 6.
- 2504- ANF, 3:246-47, Tertullian, On Prescription Against Heretics, chapter vi, viii & p. 252, chapter xx.
- 2505- ANF, 3:252, Tertullian, On Prescription Against Heretics, chap. xx. Recognitions of Clement. Lord sent apostles to preach to all nations. Peter: Apostles, "are sent; and of necessity he who is sent delivers the messages as he has been ordered, and sets forth the will of the sender." ANF, 8:106, Recog. of Clement, Book 2, chap. 33.
- 2506- Cynthia Pearl Maus, The Church And The Fine Arts, 108 & 114.
- 2507- Gilda Berger, Easter & Other Spring Holidays, NY, etc.: Franklin Watts, 1983, A First Book, 37-8.
- 2508- ANF, 8:658, The Teaching of Addæus The Apostle.
- 2509- ANF, 8:667, Ancient Syriac Documents, The Teaching of The Apostles.
- 2510- ANF, 8:667-68, Ancient Syriac Documents, The Teaching of The Apostles.
- 2511- ANF, 7:241, The Epitome Of The Divine Institutes, chapter XLVII.
- 2512- ANF, 8:388, The History of Joseph the Carpenter, 1.
- 2513- N&PNF, 1:132, The Church History of Eusebius, Book III, chapter 1:1.
- 2514- Lundy, Monumental Christianity, p.188-190, & 282, fig. 126. "And this gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world for a witness unto all nations; and then shall the end come." (Matthew 24:14). In John's book of Revelation we read: "AND I saw in the right hand of him that sat on the throne a book written within and on the backside, sealed with seven seals.... And I beheld... in the midst of the throne and of the four beasts, and in the midst of the elders, stood a Lamb as it had been slain, having seven horns and seven eyes, which are the seven Spirits of God sent forth into all the earth. And he came and took the book of the right hand of him that sat upon the throne. And when he had taken the book, the four beasts and four and twenty elders fell down before the Lamb,... And they sung a new song, saying, Thou art worthy to take the book, and to open the seals thereof: for thou wast slain, and hast redeemed us to God by thy blood out of every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation; And hast made us unto our God kings and priests: and we shall reign on the earth." (Revelation 5:1, 6-10). Further on we read how John saw "a great multitude, which no man could number, of all nations, and kindreds, and people, and tongues, stood before the throne, and before the Lamb, clothed with white robes, and palms in their hands..." (Revelation 7:9). "And the nations of them which are saved shall walk in the light of it; [the heavenly city of light] and the kings of the earth do bring their glory and honour into it.... And they shall bring the glory and honour of the nations into it. And there shall in no wise enter into it any thing that defileth, neither whatsoever worketh abomination, or maketh a lie: but they which are written in the Lamb's book of life." Rev. 21:24, 26-27; 1 Peter 3:15-22; 4:5-6; Eph.4:7-10.
- 2515- H. W. Janson, (Professor of Fine Arts, New York University), with Dora Jane Janson, History of Art, A Survey of the Major Visual Arts from the Dawn of History to the Present Day, (NY: Harry N. Abrams, Inc., Publishers, first printing October 1962, revised & enlarged in 1969, 19th printing 1973), p. 221-23, fig. 354. A detail of fig. 354, is figure 355, showing two figures clasping hands, represents "Pig-Snouted Ethiopians". Other races around the world are represented here as having heard the gospel preached to them too.
- 2516- Kenneth Clark, 1969, Civilisation, A Personal View, NY: Harper & Row, Evanston, illust. ix, #32, p.41-45.
- 2517- Gustav Künstler, Editor, Romanesque Art In Europe, (Greenwich Connecticut: New York Graphic Society LTD., 1968), p. 26, explanation for figures 14-16.
- 2518- See sections in this study about the Pre-existence, descent, & world-wide treks. The polemical issues over if God neglects other realms & nations, etc.
- 2519- Francesco Gabrieli, Arab Historians of the Crusades, Selected and Translated from Arabic Sources, (New York: Barnes & Noble, 1993), translated from the Italian by E. J. Costello, 1957 by Giulio Einaudi Editore S.p.A. Turin. This translation 1969, by Routledge & Kegan Paul Limited). Jonathan Riley-Smith, The Crusades, A Short History, (New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1987). Regine Pernoud, (Editor), Enid McLeod, (Translator), The Crusades, History in the Making, (New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1963, CR Martin Secker & Warburg Ltd., 1962, France title; Les Croisades, CR 1960, Rene Julliard). Steven Runciman, A History of the Crusades, (London: Cambridge Un. Press, 1st ed., 1951, 1952, reprinted 1954, 1957, 1962, 1968), vol. 1, The First Crusade, and the Foundation of the Kingdom of Jerusalem, (1951), Volume two, The Kingdom of Jerusalem and the Frankish East, 1100-1187, vol. 3, The Kingdom of Acre and the Later Crusades, (1954). Thomas Asbridge, The Crusades, The Authoritative History of the War for the Holy Land, (New York, New York: EEE and Imprint of Harper Collins Publishers, 2010). Thomas Asbridge, The First Crusade, A New History, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2004). William H. Prescott, (1796-1859), History of the Conquest of Mexico and History of the Conquest of Peru, (New York: the Modern Library, Random House, Inc., Date?). James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (New York, New York, Doubleday, 2005). Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (NY, Sydney, etc.: Ginee seo Books, 2007).
- 2520- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Prince_Henry_the_Navigator – James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (NY, Doubleday, 2005), 13-14. Toby Lester, The Fourth Part of the World, An Astonishing Epic of Global Discovery, Imperial Ambition, & the Birth of America, (NY, Lon., Toronto, Sydney: Free Press, 2009, first Free Press trade paperback edition July 2010), 183-97, 191-96, 207-8, 237.
- 2521- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, NY, etc.: Ginee seo Books, 2007, 88-89.
- 2522- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (New York, London, Toronto & Sydney: Ginee seo Books, 2007. Kenneth Clark, 1969, Civilisation, A Personal View, (New York: Harper & Row, and Evanston), illustrations, ix, #32, & p. 41, 44— 45. Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (Armonk, New York & London England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc. 1989). Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978). Louis Herbert Gray, A.M., PH.D., Editor, George Foot Moore, A.M., D.D., LL.D. The Mythology of All Races (Boston: Marshall Jones Company, 1917; New York: Cooper Square, 1964), thirteen volumes. Van Hale, HOW COULD A PROPHET BELIEVE IN MOONMEN? (Sandy, Utah: Mormon Miscellaneous, Response Series #4, April 1983). Citing among other things the Painesville Telegraph, 11 September 1835. From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia, Great Moon Hoax, http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Great_Moon_Hoax - Also: <http://cyber-space-war.blogspot.com/2011/04/great-moon-hoax> http://www.museumofhoaxes.com/hoax/archive/permalink/the_great_moon_hoax#daythree Rev. Timothy Harley, Moon Lore (Swan Sonnenchein, London, 1885) p. 241, 256. Patrick Moore, New Guide to the Moon (W.W. Norton & Co, NY, 1976) p. 128-29.

2523- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (New York, London, Toronto & Sydney: Gineeo seo Books, 2007). Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass, An American Slave, (Boston, New York: Bedford Books, 1993), 2, 4-5, 8, 59-60, 64, 70, 73, 104-109.

2524- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 673-766. Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 144-45, 302. Roland H. Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back edition, 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville), 30, 47, 69, 71-86, 89, 91-92, 98, 102, 118, 124, 126-27, 139, 143, 145, 155, 176, 197-98. Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, and the Promised Restoration, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book, 2006), 271-73, 450, n. 9.

2525- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 673-766. Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 144-45, 302. Roland H. Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back edition, 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville), 30, 47, 69, 71-86, 89, 91-92, 98, 102, 118, 124, 126-27, 139, 143, 145, 155, 176, 197-98. Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, and the Promised Restoration, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book, 2006), 271-73, 450, n. 9.

2526- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 428-762. John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150-1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998). R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (London: The Folio Society, 1998).

2527- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (New York, London, Toronto & Sydney: Gineeo seo Books, 2007), 107-09.

2528- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (New York, London, Toronto & Sydney: Gineeo seo Books, 2007), 71-73, & 93-94.

2529- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (NY: Gineeo seo Books, 2007), 122-23.

2530- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, NY, etc.: Gineeo seo Books, 2007), 122-23.

2531- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (New York, London, Toronto & Sydney: Gineeo seo Books, 2007), 59-181, etc. James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (New York, New York, Doubleday, 2005). Jon Manchip White, Cortés and the Downfall of the Aztec Empire, (New York: Carroll & Graf Publishers, Inc., 1971, 1989). Nancy Isenberg, White Trash, The 400-Year Untold History of Class in America, (New York, New York: Viking, Penguin Random House, LLC, 2016). Winthrop D. Jordan, White Over Black, American Attitudes Towards the Negro 1550-1812, (Baltimore, Maryland: Penguin Books Inc., 1968, 1969, paper back edition. First published by University of North Carolina Press for the Institute of Early American History and Culture of Williamsburg, Virginia, Chapel Hill, 1968). Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions and the Rise of Mormonism, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1970). James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker). Francesco Gabrieli, Arab Historians of the Crusades, Selected and Translated from Arabic Sources, (New York: Barnes & Noble, 1993), translated from the Italian by E. J. Costello, 1957 by Giulio Einaudi Editore S.p.A. Turin. This translation 1969, by Routledge & Kegan Paul Limited. Jonathan Riley-Smith, The Crusades, A Short History, (New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1987). William H. Prescott, (1796-1859), History of the Conquest of Mexico and History of the Conquest of Peru, (New York: the Modern Library, Random House, Inc., Date?). Albert Marrin, Aztecs and Spaniards, Cortes and the Conquest of Mexico, (New York: Atheneum 1986). Kirkpatrick Sale, The Conquest of Paradise, Christopher Columbus and the Columbian Legacy, (New York, London: A Plume Book, Penguin Books, 1990, Plume printing, 1991). Leonard W. Cowie, 1962, The March of the Cross, (New York, U.S.A.; Toronto, Canada; and London, England: McGraw-Hill Book). Reader's Digest, After Jesus, The Triumph of Christianity, (Pleasantville, New York and Montreal, Canada: The Reader's Digest Associations, Inc., 1992). Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1940s), 11 volumes, vols. 3-11.

2532- Lenet H. Read's series of articles: How the Bible Came to Be, pub. in The Ensign, (SLC, Utah: The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, 1982), Jan. 1982 - Sep. 1982, see: Part 2: The Word is Preserved. See: The Ensign, February 1982, p. 36 & 37, see note 6: Huge Nibley, "A Strange Thing in the Land: The Return of the Book of Enoch." Ensign, July 1976, p. 65.

2533- Lafaye, Quetzalcoatl & Guadalupe, 44-5; TANF, vol. 3, p.36, Tertullian, Apology, chapter xxii, p.179, The Soul's Testimony, chap.vi; Robert J. Myers, Celebrations, The Complete Book of American Holidays, (New York: Doubleday & Company, 1972), 206-08; Vincent Cronin, Mary Portrayed, 1968, p.18-20, 88-89, pl. 47; & 1 Corinthians chapters 12-14.

2534- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. 281, Origen De Principiis, Book 2, chapter 5:1.

2535- Fredk. W.M. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Christ Lore, Being The Legends, Traditions, Myths, Symbols, Customs, & Superstitions of the Christian Church, (London: Elliot Stock, 62 Paternoster Row, E.C., 1902; Republished in Detroit: Gale Research Company, Book Tower, 1969), 36-37.

2536- John Pope-Hennessy, Fra Angelico, (London: Phaidon Press, 1952), p. 173, plates 38, 44, 45. X. Zanobi Strozzi: The Coronation of the Virgin. Uffizi, Florence. Page 200, XL. Zanobi Strozzi: The Burial and Assumption of the Virgin, with the apostles there. Gardner Museum, Boston.

2537- Lafaye, Quetzalcoatl & Guadalupe, p. 44-45.

2538- ANF, 3:36, Tertullian, Apology, chapter xxii; see also p.179, The Soul's Testimony, chapter vi.

2539- ANF, 8:671, The Teaching of the Apostles.

2540- ANF 8:658, The Teaching of Addæus The Apostle.

2541- Lundy says how Christ had come to earth to make one great brotherhood of all the various tribes, families and nations of mankind in His eternal and glorious Kingdom. Speaking of the symbolical symbolism behind an ancient Christian work, he says that: "The doves in the corners outside the circle, with olive branches in their claws, may signify the holy and all-prevailing spirit of God, giving life and peace to men in every part of the world; and as sent forth of the Father by the Son for this purpose." (John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, 1876, pp.188-190). Lundy also wrote of a sculpture which dates back to the 4th century A.D. Among other symbolical types, part of which depicts the Lord as "He stands on the mystic mount from which the four streams of Paradise flow forth, indicative of the heavenly origin of the Four Gospels, that were to water the four corners of the world, and make its waste and barren places like the Garden of the Lord." (Lundy, ibid., p.282, fig. 126). During the 6th century A.D., about 560 A.D., in the S. Apollinare Nuovo, Ravenna, on the east end of the south wall is a mosaic of Christ enthroned. Four angels, two on each side, stand near Christ. In the Archbishop's Chapel, Ravenna, there is a depiction of four angels with up-lifted hands as if in a possible prayer circle. The symbols of the four gospel writers are also part of this art work. It may be that these works may reflect the early Christian doctrine that the gospels were to go forth into all the 4 quarter parts of the world. (See: Ernst Kitzinger, Byzantine Art in the Making, Main lines of stylistic development in Mediterranean Art 3rd-7th Century, (Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1977), p.62, fig. 106, & p. 64, fig. 109; See also: Yves Christe, Tania Velmans, Hanna Losowska and Roland Recht, Art of the Christian World, A.D. 200-1500, A Handbook of Styles and Forms, (New York: Rizzoli International Publishing, Inc., 1982; CR 1982 by Office du Livre), see pp.72-4, figs. 119: The Four Living Creatures and the Triumphal Cross carried by Angels, mosaic, century 500 A.D., Archiepiscopal Chapel, Ravenna. And: fig. 121, Christ Triumphant, detail from apsidal painting at Bawit, Egypt, late 6th century A.D., Cairo Mus. Here, we see Christ enthroned, with angels and the 4 gospel writers' symbols. See also fig. 122 Symbolic Transfiguration, apse mosaic, S. Apollinare in Classe, Ravenna, mid-6th century A.D. The four gospel writers' symbols are depicted here with a number of sheep under them which are coming out of buildings. See also fig. 123: Christ Enthroned, flanked by St. Vitale, Bishop Ecclesius and two Angels, apse decoration, S. Vitale, Ravenna, mid-6th century A.D. See also fig. 124: Triumph of the Lamb, mosaic, presbytery vault, S. Vital, Ravenna. Here, four angels with up-lifted hands form a possible prayer circle around the lamb encircled about with decorations. The 4 angels may be those which other art works and writings have suggested govern certain quarter parts of the world under Christ's reign as the great Pantocrator. See also: Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, pp.144—45, pl. 64a & b, 69b, 104a. Four angels with up-lifted hands form a possible prayer circle around the Lamb of God. This art work is from Ravenna, S. Vital, completed 546-8. Vault of chancel. (See: Richard Krautheimer, Early Christian And Byzantine Architecture, (Baltimore, Maryland: Penguin Books, 1965—1967), p. 82, fig. B. See also: New International Illustrated Encyclopedia Of Art, vol.17, p.3511, shows four angels with up-lifted hands in a circle around the lamb. This apse is in the church of San Vitale (521-548); Ravenna). There are also 4 angels with up-lifted hands holding the circle, thus they seem to have formed a prayer circle. The 4 symbols of the 4 gospel writers, with 4 books might suggest that the gospel was for all the 4 quarter parts of the world. (See: Paul Muratoff, La Peinture Byzantine, (Avec 262 Reproductions Hors Texte) Traduction de Jean Chuzeville, Published in Paris, A Weber, MCMXXXV), pl. XLV, Christ en Glorie, Art Byzantin (550), Mosaïque, Oratoire de S. Andrea, Arch., of Ravenne. See also pl. LXIV: In this case the 4 gospel symbols are not included while Christ is in the circle with the 4 angels with up-lifted hands holding the circle. The casket of the Agates, Base has a type of cross the looks like the plus sign, + with the symbols of the 4 gospel writers around it. This one dates back to 910 A.D. (See: Juan Ainaud de Lasarte, Introduction, Art Treasures In Spain, Monuments, Masterpieces, Commissions and Collections, (New York, Toronto: The Hamlyn Publishing Group, 1969), p. 31, fig. 42). In the mosaic of Christ as "The Pantocrator." A mosaic from the cupola of the church of the Martorana, Palermo dated back to the 12th century A.D., Christ sits enthroned holding a book, "the Gospels." It is interesting to note that the symbols on the book may suggest that the Gospels was for the 4 directions, the 4 corners of the earth. For in the middle of the book is the + symbol. While around this is also four corner angles with the points pointing outward. Thus, could this be a symbolical type of how the Gospel was spread into the 4 quarter parts of the earth? As if descending down from heaven, 4 angels with veiled hands or with garments in their hands, are descending down in the same directions as the four points of the angles are pointing to. Thus, could these angels also represent God's angelic messengers which were also sent to govern the four quarter parts of the world, and to reveal the gospel message in their assigned areas? (See: Harold Osborne, Editor, The Oxford Companion To Art, (Oxford, New York: Oxford University Press, 1970), p. 239. See also: Andreas Stylianou and Judith A. Stylianou, The Painted Churches Of Cyprus, Treasures Of Byzantine Art, (London: Triglyph - London, for the A.G. Leventis Foundation, 1985), the page before the title page, & pp.451 & 495, fig. 300). See also: Andre' Grabar, Christian Iconography, A Study of Its Origins, (The A. W. Mellon Lectures in the Fine Arts, 1961, The National Gallery of Art, Washington D.C., Bollingen Series, XXXV, Princeton University Press, 1968), p.132.

2542- Kitzinger, Byzantine Art in the Making, p.62, fig. 106, & p. 64, fig. 109; Christe, Velmans, Losowska and Recht, Art of the Christian World, A.D. 200-1500, pp.72-4, figs. 119 & fig. 121, fig. 122, fig. 123. See also: Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, pp.144—45, pl. 64a & b, 69b, 104a. Krautheimer, Early Christian And Byzantine Architecture, p. 82, fig. B. See also: New International Illustrated Encyclopedia Of Art, vol.17, p.3511; Muratoff, La Peinture Byzantine, pl. XLV; pl. LXIV; Ainaud de Lasarte, Art Treasures In Spain, Monuments, Masterpieces, Commissions and Collections, p. 31, fig. 42; Osborne, Editor, The Oxford Companion To Art, p. 239. See also: Stylianou, The Painted Churches Of Cyprus, Treasures Of Byzantine Art, the page before the title page, & 451, 495, fig. 300; Grabar, Christian Iconography, A Study of Its Origins, p.132.

2543- Metford, Dictionary Of Christian Lore & Legend, 88—89, Eagle. An Outline of Christianity the Story of Civilization, NY: Bethlehem Pub., Dodd, Mead & Distribution, 1926, 1:342; Hackwood, Christ Lore, p.185-86.

2544- ANF, 8:760, IX, Melito, The Philosopher, A.D., 160-170-177.

2545- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 550—51, foot note 19; Albert Henry Newman, A Manual of Church History, (Philadelphia: The American Baptist Publication Society, 1953, Revised and enlarged), 2 vols., vol. 1, 457.

2546- Zeller, The Holy Rule, 331-33, n.1, p.467. Schroll, Sister M. Alfred, Benedictine Monasticism, p.147.

2547- Grabar, Christian Iconography, p.133, fig.322, p.76-7, fig.194. Four angels ascend with Christ. Down below this scene is Mary making the traditional prayer gesture with up-lifted hands. The apostles are gather there too. "The Ascension, with the orant Mary. Palestinian ampulla, Treasure of the Collegiale, Monza [76]."

2548- James L Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC. Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 521-22, notes 9-10; Alfred Wesley Wishart, A Short History of Monks and Monasteries, (Trenton, N. J.: Albert Brandt, 1900), 131-148. Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, NY: Simon & Schuster, 1940s-1950s, 11 vols., vol. 4, The Age of Faith, (1950), p. 518-519. Rule of Benedict, chap. 53.

2549- David Knowles, Christian Monasticism, NY, Toronto: World Un. Library, McGraw-Hill 1969, 72 & 77, p. 35, n.12, on p.245.

2550- Knowles, Christian Monasticism, 33-35, Zeller, The Holy Rule.

2551- Ohler, THE MEDIEVAL TRAVELLER, 82, 84, 85, & 89; David Knowles, 1969, Christian Monasticism, NY; Toronto: World Un. Library; McGraw-Hill Book Co., 33-35.

2552- Zeller, The Holy Rule, 30-31, 222, 244-6, 330-1, 334, & 430.

2553- Internet: The Order of Saint Benedict, The Rule of Benedict: An index to texts on-line and gateway to its Bibliographic Index, 2. <http://www.osb.org/osb/rb/text/rbeaad1.html#53>

- 2554- R.W.Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages Lon.: Folio Soc., 1998, 167–8, n.41, letter to Bruno in A. Wilmart, Deux lettres concernant Raoul le Verd, l'ami de saint Bruno, in Revue Bénédictine, 1939, LI, 257–74.
- 2555- Cynthia Pearl Maus, The Church And The Fine Arts, 446-47; under the heading: Thoughts in a Cathedral, from The Christian Century, May 1, 1946, by Thomas Curtis Clark.
- 2556- Albert E. Bailey, (Director of Religious Education Worcester Academy, Mass., 1916), The Gospel In Art, (Boston & Chicago: Pilgrim Press), 382-85, 438-44.
- 2557- Lynn Thorndike, The History of Medieval Europe, (Boston; NY; Chicago; Dallas; Atlanta; San Francisco: Houghton Mifflin Co., The Riverside Press Cambridge, 1917, 1928, 1945, 1949), p. 357, fig. 43.
- 2558- Bailey, The Gospel in Art, p. 382-85, & 438-44.
- 2559- David M. Robb, The Art of the Illuminated Manuscript, (Cranbury, Jew Jersey: A.S. Barnes & Co., Inc., 1973), 200-1, fig. 135, Lon., British Museum, Add. Ms. 17737-8, f. 199. Bible from Floreffe, The Ascension of Our Lord, A.D. 1160; Robert G. Calkins, Monuments of Medieval Art, (New York: E. P. Dutton, 1979), 223-25, fig. 186, Story of Enoch & Noah, Moralized bible. France, AD 1250, Oesterreichische Nationalbibliothek (MS 2554, fol. 3), Vienna; The New Catholic Encyclopedia, Vol. I, (A to Art), 1968, p. 932-33, fig. 2, The Ascension of Jesus, early 14th c. fresco by Giotto in the Scrovegni Chapel at Padua, Italy; Roland H. Bainton, The Horizon History of Christianity, (U.S.A.: The American Heritage Pub. Co., English ed., 1964), 214-15.
- 2560- David Knowles, Christian Monasticism, NY, Toronto: McGraw-Hill Book Co., World Un. Library, 1969, 10-11, 21-22, 33-35, 76-77. Leonard W. Cowie, The March of The Cross, NY; Toronto; Lon.: McGraw-Hill Book, 1962, 33-34, 186-87, fig. 228.
- 2561- Bailey, The Gospel In Art, 382-85, 438-44, John Pope-Hennessy, Fra Angelico, Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1952, 1974, pl.70.
- 2562- Bianca Kuhnelt, From the Earthly To The Heavenly Jerusalem, Representations of the Holy City in Christian Art of the Holy City in Christian Art of the First Millennium, Herder, Rom-Freiburg-Wien, CR Verlag Herder Freiburg im Breisgau, 1987, fig.87. Lucaa, Public Lib., cod.1275, fol.12. R.G.Hammerton-Kelly, Pre-Existence, Wisdom, & The Son of Man, A Study of the Idea of Pre-existence in the New Testament, Eng.: Cambridge Un. Press, 1973, 29, 65, 127-30, 148-53, 183-85, 191-96, 250-53, 265-70.
- 2563- John Pope-Hennessy, 1952, 1974, Fra Angelico, (Ithaca, NY, Cornell Un. Press), pl.70. "CHRIST AS PILGRIM RECEIVED BY TWO DOMINICANS. Cloister, San Marco, Florence." Compare: Docteur Paul Thoby, etc., Le Crucifix, des Origines au Concile de Trente, (Bellanger Nantes), pl.27, #63, & pl.26, #59; Walter Oakeshott, Classical Inspiration In Medieval Art, (NY, NY: Frederick A. Praeger, 1959), pl.79. Italy, 5th c. AD, & pl.80, 9th c. John Beckwith, Ivory Carvings in Early Medieval, (Lon., Eng.: Harvey Miller & Medcalf Ltd., 1972), p.33, pl.33. The Ascension. Aethelwold Benedictinal, about 971-984. London, British Museum, Add. Ms. 49598, fol. 64b"; Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments of Romanesque Art, (Un. of Chicago Press, 1967), pl. 15, figs.34-35, & plate 66, figure 151, late 10th cent.; W.F. Volbach, Early Christian Art, pl.93, etc.; Jean Porcher, Medieval French Miniatures, 38, etc.; New Catholic Encyclopedia, 1967, Vol. 1, figure 10, & p.931-36, figs. 1-3, The Lost Books of the Bible, between p.240-1; Roland Bainton, Behold the Christ, p.166, fig.192.
- 2564- The Lost Books of The Bible, & The Forgotten Books of Eden, (U.S.A.: World Bible Pub., Inc.; Alpha House, Inc., 1926 & 1927), 80-88, art work in between p. 224 & 225; Nicodemus chap. 13-21; The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 8, p. 416—58; Olive Beaupré Miller, The Story Of Mankind, A Picturesque Tale of Progress, (Lake Bluff, Illinois: The Book House For Children, Tangley Oaks Educational Center, 1933, 1935, 1949, 1952, 1957, 1963), Explorations Part I, vol.4, p. 86, showing Christ raising up Adam by the hand during the descent into hell.
- 2565- Hood, Fra Angelico at San Marco, 158, & 160, pl.152. Fra Angelico, Christ Being Received as a Pilgrim, Florence, San Marco, cloister; The Bible In Art, 20 Centuries Of Famous Bible Paintings, (NY: Covici, Friede, Edited with Commentary by Clifton Harby).
- 2566- Art & Archaeology, The Arts Throughout the Ages, vol.25, Jan.1928, #1, p.24, Tanner's Altar, Museum of Barcelona.
- 2567- Mit Beiträgen von, etc., Franz von Assisi, Stuttgart, Zürich: Belser Verlag, 1990, figs 236-46; & 393-96.
- 2568- Alan W. Watts, Myth & Ritual In Christianity, Lon.; NY: Thames & Hudson 1954, 46-48; The Lost Books of The Bible, art in between p.32-33: The Birth of Christ. From "Book of the Evangelists." Greek Manuscript of the 12th Cent. Page 255: III Hermas, Similitude 9:110. J.CJ Metford, Dictionary Of Christian Lore And Legend, (London: Thames and Hudson Ltd, 1983), p. 29: A 16th cent. depiction of the Annunciation. A small baby spirit of Jesus descends from heaven towards Mary to be incarnated through her. Barthel Bruyn?, AD 1510-20; Wolfgang E. Pax, In The Footsteps Of Jesus, (Jerusalem, Tel-Aviv, Haifa: Steimatzky's Agency, together with Nateeiv Publishing, 1970, p. 70: When Christ said in Luke 2:49 that he must be in his Father's house, speaking of the Temple, "he speaks of God for the first time as his father and so reveals the secret of his descent." John 6:38-40, 51, 62-65; 16:28-33; Hebrews 11:9-19; R. G. Hammerton-Kelly, Society For New Testament Studies Monograph Series, 21: Pre-Existence Wisdom & The Son of Man, A Study of the Idea Of Pre-existence In The New Testament, NY, Lon.: Cambridge Un. Press, 1973, 29, 65, 143, 149-55, 197, 207, 219, 230-35.
- 2569- Luke 2:52; John 6:38-40; Philip 2:5-11; R.G. Hammerton-Kelly, Pre-Existence, Wisdom, & The Son of Man, p. 29, 65-66, 115.
- 2570- Horst de la Croix and Richard G. Tansey, Gardner's Art Through The Ages, II Renaissance & Modern Art, (San Diego; NY; Chicago; Atlanta; Washington, D.C.; London; Sydney; Toronto: Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, Pub., 1926, 36, 48, 59, 70, 75, 80, 1986), vol. 2, p.745-46, figures 19-47: Rembrandt Van Rijn, Supper at Emmaus, c. 1628-1630. Musée Jacquemart-André, Paris. Christ's face is hidden in the shadows to conceal his identity from those he sups with. See also figure 19-48, Rembrandt Van Rijn, Supper at Emmaus, c. 1648. Louvre, Paris.
- 2571- Reader's Digest, Jesus & His Times, (NY; Montreal: The Reader's Digest Associations, Inc., 1987), 269: The Supper at Emmaus by the Spanish painter Diego Velázquez (1599—1660).
- 2572- Hackwood, Christ Lore, p. 171.
- 2573- Horton & Marie-Helene Davies, Holy Days & Holidays, The Medieval Pilgrimage to Compostela, Lon. & Toronto: Lewisburg, Bucknell Un. Press, & Associated Un. Press, 1982, p. 22, 41, 133, & 135.
- 2574- Darell Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined, SLC, Utah: R.H.&P. S., 1994-96. Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making Of An Image, (Princeton Un. Press, 1986). T. W. Doane, Bible Myths & Their Parallels In Other Religions, (NY: The Truth Seeker Co., 1882 & 1910, 7th ed.), chaps. XXII-XIII, p. 211-6. Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil At Baptism, Ritual, Theology, & Drama, (Ithaca, Lon.: Cornell Un. Press, 1985).
- 2575- Emile Male, Religious Art From the 12 to the 18th Century, NY: Pantheon Books, Inc., 1949, 26.

- 2576- Male, Religious Art, p. 26.
- 2577- Matthew, Atlas of MEDIEVAL EUROPE, p. 102.
- 2578- Male, Religious Art, 27—28.
- 2579- Franz von Assisi, Mit Beitragen von Gabriele Atanassiu, Mariano d' Alatri, Stanislaw da Campagnola, Servus Gieben, Engelbert Grau OFM, Raoul Manselli, Raymond Oursel, Clemente Schmitt, (Belser Verlag, Stuttgart, Zurich), CR 1990 by Editoriale Jaca Book, Milano, figures 394-396. Elisabeth is depicted giving a drink to Christ, greeting Christ as a pilgrim, feeding Christ, and helping cripples. 1410-1420, Leitbuch des Nurnberger Heiliggeistspitals, Nurnberg, Stadtarchiv, D2/II HGS-Amtsbucher 4 u. 5. Linke Seite: 392 Der hl. Franz predigt den Vogeln. The Pierpont Morgan Library, M 72, f. 139v. New York. And: 395 Szene aus dem Leben der hl. Elisabeth: Ich war ein Pilger und Leidender und Ihr habt mich beherbergt... Leitbuch des Nurnberger Heiliggeistspitals, Nurnberg, Stadtarchiv D2/II HGS-Amtsbucher 4 u. 5. And: 396 „Die hl. Elisabeth war die Tochter des Konigs von Ungarn ...“ Szene aus dem Leben der hl. Elisabeth, 1410-1420. Leitbuch des Nurnberger Heiliggeistspitals. Nurnberg, Stadtarchiv D 2/II HGS-Amtsbucher 4 u. 5.
- 2580- Norbert Ohler, The MEDIEVAL TRAVELER, (English trans. Caroline Hillier 1989, Boydell Press, translated from Norbert Ohler, Reisen im Mittelalter, 1986 by Artemis Verlag), 79.
- 2581- Richard Lewis & Susan I. Lewis, The Power of Art, (Forth Worth; San Diego; NY; etc.: Harcourt Brace College Pub. 1995), 287, fig.13-7, Caravaggio, The Supper at Emmaus, c. 1598.
- 2582- R. G. Hamerton-Kelly, Pre-existence Wisdom & The Son of Man, A Study of the Idea of Pre-existence In the New Testament, (Euston Road, London, and American Branch in New York: Syndics of Cambridge University Press, 1973), p.29, making reference to Sir. 24:7, I Enoch 42.
- 2583- Portions from another version read: "the sheep which went astray from...the wandering sheep..." The New Testament in Basic English= Bas; "the house of Israel"; The New Testament According to the Eastern Texts (George N. Lamsa) = Lam. (Vaughan, The New Testament in Twenty Six Translations, p.63).
- 2584- Italics added, Ezekiel 14:22-23: "Yet, behold, therein shall be left a remnant that shall be brought forth, both sons and daughters: behold, they shall come forth unto you, and ye shall see their way and their doings: and ye shall be comforted concerning the evil that I have brought upon Jerusalem, even concerning all that I have brought upon it. And they shall comfort you when ye see their ways and their doings: and ye shall know that I have not done without cause all that I have done in it, saith the Lord God."
- 2585- Max I. Dimont, 1962, Jews, God & History, (NY: A Signet Book, The New American Library), 16-17.
- 2586- Isa.56:8; 43:5-9; John 21:14-17; Acts 1:13-26; 10:9-43, 11:7-20; Hebrews 13:20; 1 Peter 2:25, 5:4, sheep.
- 2587- Luke 15:3-7; John 10:1-28; Leviticus 26:33, 42; Deut.4:25-31, 28:37, 64; Psalms 1:15-20, 95:7; Ezek. 28:24-26; 33:15-20, 30-33, chap. 34, 36:19-38; 37:15-28; Jer. 25:26-36; Zech.13:7-9; & Matthew 9:35-38.
- 2588- The Great Commentary of Cornelius A Lapide, Translated by Thomas W. Mossman, B.A., (a translation into English of the "Great Commentary upon the Gospels of Cornelius a Lapide), Commenting on John's Gospel, Chapters 1-11, (London, England: John Hodges, Henrietta St. 1887), p.364, 366, 367, & 371-2.
- 2589- Lapide, The Great Commentary, 1889, p. 430.
- 2590- Albert Barnes, Notes, Explanatory & Practical, On The Gospels: Designed for Sunday School Teachers and Bible Classes, (Harper & Brothers, 1850), Vol. 2, p. 299-300.
- 2591- Lundy, 1875, Monumental Christianity, 401-03, 65-66, 98, (his 1876 edition), p. 150-196.
- 2592- Lundy, 1876 ed., Monumental Christianity, p.150.
- 2593- ANF, 1:234-35, 455, Ezek.16:6-9; Rev.1:5-7. Thorpe, Upon Them Hath the Light Shined.
- 2594- Isaiah 9:2, "The people that walk in darkness have seen a great light: they dwell in the land of the shadow of death, upon them hath the light shined."
- 2595- Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined; Robert Fulton, Eric Markusen, Greg Owen & Jane L. Scheiber, (Editors), Death & Dying, Challenge & Change, (Massachusetts; Menlo Park, Calif.; Lon.; Amsterdam; Don Mills, Ontario; Sydney: Addison-Wesley Publishing Co., Courses by Newspaper, A project of University Extension, Un. of California, San Diego, Funded by The National Endowment for the Humanities, CR 1978 by the Rents of the Un. of California), 127-53; Lundy, Monumental Christianity, chap. on The Good Shepherd.
- 2596- Hackwood, Christ Lore, p.81-2; Bamm, The Kingdoms of Christ, p.93-4; Isaiah 40:11.
- 2597- George Frederick Kunz, Ph.D., Sc.D., A.M., Rings For the Finger, (J. B. Lippincott Company, 1917, 1945, Mrs. Ruoy Kunz Zinsser, & in New York: Dover Pub., 1973), p.253; Oakeshott, Classical Inspiration In Medieval Art, pl.18, a. "Ceiling fresco in the cemetery of Petrus and Marcellinus. The Good Shepherd. Third century."
- 2598- Lundy, Monumental Christianity, p.317, fig.153.
- 2599- Lundy, Monumental Christianity, p. 320-1, fig.156, 2nd or 3rd century depiction.
- 2600- Walter Lowrie, Art in the Early Church, NY: Pantheon Bks 1947, 69, 184-187, pl.100, a & b, Isa. 40:11.
- 2601- E. Baldwin Smith, The Dome, A Study in the History of Ideas, New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1950, 1978, p. 33, note 72, fig. 70, & p. 86.
- 2602- Ireland, Textile Art in the Church, p. 92-93, fig.44.
- 2603- Ireland, Textile Art In The Church, p. 92-93, fig. 44; Isaiah 56:8; 43:5-9; Matthew 10:5-6; John 21:14-17; Acts 1:13-26; 10:9-43, 11:7-20; Hebrew 13:20; 1 Peter 2:25, 5:4; 2 Chronicles 18:16; Psalms 78:52; 190:175-176, 16:10; Acts 2:27, 31, 13:33-37; Psalms 107:1-7, 9-14, 16, 20, 23-4, 26, 30, 40-41; Isaiah 9:2-6.
- 2604- Oscar G. Brockett, History of the Theatre, Boston, Lon.: Allyn & Bacon, 1968, 1974, 1977, 1982, 4th ed., 111.
- 2605- Metford, Dictionary Of Christian Lore and Legend, p. 182-83.
- 2606- The Lost Books of the Bible, 232 & 233, 12th c. Christ as a gardener appearing to Mary Magdalene.
- 2607- R. G. Hamerton-Kelly, Pre-Existence Wisdom & The Son of Man, A Study Of The Idea Of Pre-existence In The New Testament, Cambridge Un. Press, 1973, 124-25.
- 2608- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. 528, Origen Against Celsus, Book 4, chapter LXIX.
- 2609- Tristram Potter Coffin, The Book of Christmas Folklore, NY: Continuum Bk, Seabury Press, 1973, 53-54.

2610- Millard Meiss, Sharon Off Dunlap Smith, Elizabeth Home Beatson, The Limbours & Their Contemporaries, (The Pierpont Morgan Library, 1974), French Painting in the Times of Jean De Barry, see both plates and Text volumes, pl. 167, & fig. 169, with footnote 184 on p. 44. Harvard Hannibal Master, A.D. 1420, God the Father performs the hand clasping rite of marriage in the garden of Paradise. Thus, Adam and Eve are joined in a junctio dextrarum, a right hand clasp. God brought their hands together by clasping their wrists. Thomson, A History of Tapestry, p. 201, the hand clasping ceremony in the garden wedding of Tobit.

2611- Joseph Campbell, with Bill Moyers, The Power of Myth, (New York; London; Toronto; Sydney; Auckland: Doubleday, 1988, CR Apostrophe S Productions, Inc., and Alfred van der Marck Editions, 1988), 43, Garden of Earthly Delights, Hieronymus Bosch, A.D. 1450—1516, Christ grasps the wrist of Eve. See also: Miniature Fiorentina Del Rinascimento 1440—1525, Un Primo Censimento A cura di Annarosa Garzelli II Illustrazioni Giunto Regionale Toscana La Nuova Italia, 1985, p. 14, fig. XIV. Firenze, Museo dell'Opera del Duomo, Corale D f. 2v., Monte di Giovanni. And: Hennessy, Italian Renaissance Sculpture, fig. 110, and fig. 116; Mentre, Creation et Apocalypse, p. 94, 115; George Robinson, The Florence Baptistery Doors, (New York: The Viking Press, 1980), 197 & 222, Panel 1, Genesis: Ghiberti's work showing the creation, and which includes a portion in which Yahweh grasps hold of the left hand of Adam. See also: Huge Nibley, Old Testament And Related Studies, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: F.A.R.M.S. and Deseret Book Co., 1986), 152—53.

2612- Marie Luise Gothein, Walter P. Wright, Editor, Mrs. Archer Hind, M.A., Translator from the German, A History of Garden Art, (London & Toronto: J. M. Dent & Sons Limited; New York: E. P. Dutton & Co., LTD., 1928), volume I, pp. 182, fig. 128, p. 186—87, figures 133—134. As early as the 10th century A.D., psalter art works show the two Maries meeting with the risen Lord in a flower meadow. Figure 134 shows Christ in the far distant back ground coming towards two women clasping hands, while they greet each other in a garden. As if preserving this hint to the early Christian mystery drama, depictions of Roman De La Rose shows couples clasping hands before the door to the garden (see figure 133 on p. 186).

2613- Gothic & Renaissance Art in Nuremberg 1300-1550, (The Metropolitan Museum of Art, NY, 1986, Germanisches Nationalmuseum, Nuremberg Prestel-Verlag, Munich, exhibition held April 8- June 22, 1986, and at the Germanisches Nationalmuseum, Nuremberg, July 24- September 28, 1986), 372-75. Redrawn by Darell Thorpe 1997; H.W. Janson, & Joseph Kerman, A History Of Art & Music, (NY: Harry N. Abrams, Inc., Publishers), 95, fig. 118, St. Dorothy, AD 1420, wood cut. Staatliche Graphische Sammlung, Munich.

2614- The spreading of the knowledge God and His word, in some cases, was by giving the people a little at a time, or as much as they had shown that they were worthy and ready to receive. Thus, if they were wicked, they would not be given as much (Isaiah 28:7-15). "Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I lay in Zion for a foundation a stone, a tried stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation: he that believeth shall not make haste." (Isaiah 28:16). The writer to the Ephesians wrote that the church was "built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief corner stone; In whom all the building fitly framed together groweth unto an holy temple in the Lord" (Ephesians 2:20). Christ is the chief corner stone, the apostles & prophets are part of the foundation of the holy Temple. (Daniel 2:24-45; 7:9-28). "Rocks are a symbol of the Lord. This meaning is derived from the story of Moses, who smote the rock from which a spring burst to refresh his people. Christ is often referred to as a rock from which flow the pure rivers of the gospel. St. Peter, too, is referred to as a rock, the cornerstone of the Church, because Christ statement: '...that thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build by church...' (Matthew 16:18)." (George Ferguson, Signs & Symbols in Christian Art, (New York: Oxford University Press, 1959), p.24. The Pastor of Hermas, [A.D. 160], symbolically called Christ the "rock" which pre-existed & was "a fellow-councillor with the Father in His work of creation." The apostles were symbolically called "stones" that descended down into the spirit prison to preach the gospel. They ascended up out of that realm to become part of a building or temple. (The Ante-Nicene Fathers, Vol.2, p.47, & 49; & Vol. 3, p.172; Tertullian). Isaiah wrote that "the vineyard of the LORD if hosts is the house of Israel, and the men of Judah his pleasant plant" (Isaiah 5:7). "Thus saith the LORD of hosts, They shall thoroughly glean the remnant of Israel as a vine: turn back thine hand as a grapegather into the baskets." (Jeremiah 6:9). "Thorns", "wild grapes", & "briers", etc., seem to symbolically represent, in some cases, groups of people, or a person gone bad. Or people that have gone astray, & fallen into apostasy. Isaiah made reference to a song which he used as a symbolical type of the conditions in Israel. In this "song" a vine was planted in the hopes that it would bring forth grapes. But instead the vine brought forth "wild grapes". (Isaiah 5:1-7, 7:23-25, & 32:12-16; Romans 9:1-17, chapter 10, 11:16-27). Roots of a plant often go down into the earth. The underworld is where many believed the realm of the dead was located. The cross is sometimes called a "tree" in some cases in early Christendom. Adam and Eve were likened unto roots of plants or trees, thus they were the "roots" of the human family on earth, when God had "planted" them in the garden of Eden. In some cases, Christian legends and traditions say that the place of Adam's grave was underneath the cross. Some art works show skulls, & in some cases an open pit, as symbols for the place of Adam's grave. Others show a hand extending down to take hold of the hand of Adam to raise him & others out a pit under the cross. Many early to later Christians may have saw symbolical types in the roots, trunk, branches, & the higher portions of a tree as being types of those held in different realms of existence. Those in heaven, (the upper up branches), on the earth, (the trunk.) And those underneath the earth, (the roots,) perhaps could have been considered as being a type of those who were in the underworld, or the lower regions, the grave, Hades, limbo, the pit, etc. Perhaps "roots" may have been considered by some early Christians to be a symbolical type, in some cases, to the descendants of Israel who had died before the time of Christ, and who had gone down into "the pit"? After Isaiah describes, with these symbolical types, some of the Israelites' rebellious, apostate, sinful attitudes & actions. He warns that they have gone down, or descended into captivity. And upon being in hell they are "dried up with thirst." Many Jews & early to later Christians believed that in the underworld, the pit, or the infernal regions was a hot region where there was no water. Thus, those who go there are amongst a "multitude dried up with thirst." (Isaiah 5:1-14). In some cases in early to later Christendom, Christ's flowing blood from the cross is like a live giving stream that washes over those in the pit below the cross. Thus, the blood of the covenant waters the roots of Israel who extended down from the tree into the lower regions of the earth. Some Christian translations of The Old Testament reflect these traditions too. David wrote that those who sat in the shadows of death, or in the underworld were those who had been rebellious against the words of God, & "contemned the counsel of the Most High." Thus, they had fallen into the pit, or into the darkness of the shadow of death. Hungry & thirsty, their soul fainted in them. They pray unto the Lord & He came down unto them & satisfied their hunger & thirst by giving to them his word, which heals them. He breaks down the gates of brass, and bursts through the bars of iron which held them prisoners & guides them out of captivity, up out of hell. They ascended up the right hand path into the heavenly city? (Psalm 107:1—41). "And he shall break it as the breaking of the potters' vessel that is broken in pieces; he shall not spare: so that there shall not be found in the bursting of it a sherd to take fire from the hearth, or to take water withal out of the pit. (Isaiah 30:14.) Zechariah wrote that it was "by the blood of thy covenant I have sent forth thy prisoners out of the pit wherein is no water." (Zechariah 9:11). Christ hints to the dry places in hell when, after casting out demons, He said: "When the unclean spirit is gone out of a man, he walketh through dry places, seeking rest; and finding none, he saith, I will return unto my house" [or attempt to enter the body of the person again] "whence I came out." (Luke 11:14-24). When Lazarus died he was carried by the angels into Abraham's bosom. Where as the rich man, upon his death, found himself in the fires of hell. Being in torment, he cried unto Abraham to send Lazarus "that he may dip the tip of his finger in water, and cool my tongue; for I am tormented in this flame." (Luke 16:19-31). In a 11th century depiction of this parable. Angels come to Lazarus, one clasps the hands of Lazarus's soul, while the other angel lifts him up. In the case with the rich man, dark demons come to take his soul away. (Jeffery Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil And the Power of Good In History, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988), p.134, Manuscript illumination from the Pericope Book of Henry II, Germany, eleventh century). The Pastor of Hermas, or the Shepherd, [A.D. 160], wrote how those who were down in "the pit" were able to ascend after receiving the "seal" of the water, or baptism. (The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 2, p.49). Clement of Alexandria, [A.D. 153-193-217], with the help of symbolical types, wrote that the three days that Christ was in the grave was a type of the three immersions, or "The three days may be the mystery of the seal," [Baptism]. The dead were able to receive the seal or water of baptism because there were angels of God who initiated them in that realm (The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 2: p.462). Huge Nibley tells us that R. Akiba, cited by S. A. Horodezky, wrote that the Jews "once taught that when Michael and Gabriel led all the sinners up out of the lower world, "they will wash and anoint them of their wounds of hell, and cloth them with beautiful pure garments and bring them into the presence of God." (Huge Nibley, What is a Temple, The Idea of a Temple in History, Reprinted by F.A.R.M.S., from: The Millennial Star 120 (Aug. 1958), pp. 228-237, see pages 234, & 249, foot notes 52, & 56; R. Akiba, cited by S. A. Horodezky, in Monatsschr.f. Gesch. u. Wins. des Judentums LXXII. 505; Psalm 23; Jeremiah 30:7-17; Isaiah 30:8-33; Martha Himmelfarb, Tours Of Hell, An Apocalyptic Form in Jewish and Christian Literature, (Philadelphia: University of Pennsylvania Press, 1983), pp. 8-19, 50-56, 94-97, 106-120, 122-126, 136-7, & 151-158; S. Caecilius Cyprian, 3rd century A.D., cites from Paul's testimony, 1 Cor. 10:4, see: A Library of Fathers of the Holy Catholic Church, Vol.III, p.101, (Oxford, London: John Henry Parker, J. G. F. & J. Rivington, MDCCCXLI); The Forgotten Books of Eden, Edited by Rutherford H. Platt, Jr., Assistant Editor J. Alden Brett, (U.S.A.: Alpha House, Inc., 1927), The First Book of Adam & Eve, pp.8-10, 12-13, 26-8, 30; Mancini, Archaeological Discoveries, pp.165-170, & fig.39, on p.166, "Adam under Calvary in a medieval miniature of Valenciennes, with detail of Adam. (from LTS 1965, p. 278)"; Hackwood, Christ Lore, p.117, "Washing in the Blood of Christ. From an old Florentine tract in defense of Savonarola." See also: Limburg Brothers - Francisco Ribalta, The Encyclopedia Of Visual Art, Biographical Dictionary of Artists, (London, England: Encyclopedia Britannica International, LTD.), volume 6, p. 32, see "Attavante degli Attavanti: Crucifixion, a leaf from the missal illuminated for Thomas James, Bishop of Dol; 1483. Nouveau Musee des Beaux-Arts, Le Havre." (Luke 23:32-43); John Beckwith, Ivory Carvings In Early Medieval England, (Harvey Miller & Medcalf, 1972), p.84, fig. 152. "Deposition. English (Hereford), about 1150. London, Victoria and Albert Museum [Cat. 88]"; Revelation 7:13-15, Isaiah 1:15-20. Water was used by the ancients as a symbolical type of the law or words of God that comes down from heaven, and flows over the earth, and down under the earth. Thus, rain seems to have been a symbolical type of how the Lord covers the earth with the words of knowledge. "For the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the LORD, as the waters cover the sea." (Habakkuk 2:14; Isaiah 11:9; Zechariah 8:12-13). In the places of the earth where the water (or word of God) is dried up, the people wander to and fro to find water (the word). In order for them to grow, they must have the water of life, which in some cases, has to be brought to them. This we see in the symbolical types mentioned in Jewish and Christian parables, and similitudes. Prophets, missionaries, angelic messengers, etc., take water "or the seal" to those in the pit, as Hermas symbolically wrote. Or to other parts of God's vineyards, or parts of the world. Or Christ "the Word" take the life giving water (or gospel) to other nations too. And just as plants need water in order to grow, so also must the human family have water (or the word of God) in order to grow in the different parts of God's vineyards or places of the world, & in the under world. The word, then, is like the water that feeds the plants and vineyards, or people of the earth. Some plants, and vineyards need more care and protection than others. Christ, called "the Word" (John 1:1-17), promised the woman of Samaria, who had come to draw water out of a well, that He could give to the world "living water." Thus, he spoke of water in a symbolical way, for it was a type of spiritual nourishment that the spirit needs in order to grow in the knowledge of Christ & His saving gospel (John 4:1-38). Earlier, Amos seemed to have used this same type of symbolism when he wrote: "Now therefore hear thou the word of the LORD: Thou sayest, Prophecy not against Israel, and drop not thy word against the house of Isaac." Later on, Amos predicts a time when a famine would come upon the land. "The LORD hath sworn by the excellency of Jacob, Surely I will never forget any of their works. Shall not the land tremble for this, and every one mourn that dwelleth therein? and it shall rise up wholly as a flood; and it shall be cast out and drowned, as by the flood of Egypt. And it shall come to pass in that day, saith the Lord GOD, that I will cause the sun to go down at noon, and I will darken the earth in the clear day... Behold, the days come, saith the Lord GOD, that I will send a famine in the land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the words of the LORD: And they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the north even to the east, they shall run to and fro to seek the word of the LORD, and shall not find it. In that day shall the fair virgins and young men faint for thirst." (Amos 7:16, 8:7-8, 9, & 11-13). An ancient fresco from the Dura Europus synagogue depicts Moses producing twelve streams of water, and figures representing the 12 tribes of Israel. [Before AD 256. National Museum. Damascus.] This also shows a sort of prayer circle, in that the 12 are depicted almost in a complete circle with up-lifted hands. "Here the miraculous spring is shown as a well, from which the water flows in twelve streams.... In the well some archaeologists have discerned fishes - living creatures in the Water of Life." (The Crucible of Christianity, Judaism, Hellenism and The Historical Background to the Christian Faith, Edited by Arnold Toynbee, (Cleveland; New York: World Publishing, Company, and London: Thames & Hudson, 1969), 20-21, & 358, comments to I, 21 I). Dr. Huge Nibley dates this art work A.D. 245, and wrote that Moses is depicted "as he creates the well of living water at the door of the Tabernacle... A symbol of the Divine Law, it flows to each of the tents of the Twelve Tribes, where praying figures receive it with joy." (Dr. Huge Nibley, 1992, The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, volume 12, Temple & Cosmos, (SLC, & Provo, Utah: Deseret Book Co.), p. 110, fig.26-A; Mosiah 2:1-9; Erwin R. Goodenough, Jewish Symbols in the Greco-Roman Period, (Bollingen Series XXXVII, 1964, Pantheon Books), vol.11, illustrations XV, #331. "Moses Gives Water to the Tribes, WB1, Gute's Copy (X, 27)."

2615- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, volume 4, p.641, Origen Against Celsus 8:IV.

2616- The "briers" & "thorns" among the "vines" are symbolic of apostates amongst the different areas of scattered Israelite groups. Isaiah 7:23-25, 9:13-18, 10:17-22, 14:12-19, 29-30, 16:8, 24:5, 27:1-4, 11, 32:13, 33:8-12, 34:13; Jeremiah 12:10-17, 23:1-6, 25:33-38, 50:6, Ezekiel 28:24-25; chapter 31; Daniel 4:11-17.

2617- ANF, 7:357, Victorinus, Commentary On The Apocalypse Of The Blessed John, 14:15.

2618- Ezekiel 20:32-42; 31:5-12; 33:7-20; 34:5-31; 36:6-38, c.37; 39:27-29; & Micah 4:1-7.

2619- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 7, p. 470, Constitutions Of The Holy Apostles, Book VII, Section II:XXV.

2620- Amedeo Storti, Venice Inside And Out, (Italy: Edizioni Storti Venezia, 1979), 3, 6, see the art works on the outside of the Cathedral in St. Mark's Square. Christ's descent, second over from the left going right. See also pp. 8, 10, 22, 26, & 44, St. Mark's Basilica, High Alter. The Pala d' Oro (Golden Altarpiece), second over from the left going right, top row, Christ's descent into hell. See also: Alice K. Turner, The History of Hell, (New York, San Diego, London: Harcourt Brace & Company, 1993), 66-69. On p. 95 is a 15th century fresco in Sta. Maria in Piano, Italy, of a bridge over a river of water. The bridge narrows down into a rounded rod. Those, who cling to this rod, make it across, and are helped by a hand clasping angel. Those who let go of the rod, drown in the river below. See also p. 96.

2621- Joseph Campbell, The Mythic Image, (New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1974), p. II. 190-91.

2622- Robertson, Select Writings & Letters, p. 55.

2623- O. Preston Robinson, The Challenge of the Scrolls, How Old is Christ's Gospel? (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1963), p.47; The Testament of Levi, 2:11, 10:2.

2624- ANF 8:13, Testament of the 12 Patriarchs, 3.Test. of Levi Concerning the Priesthood & Arrogance, 2.

2625- ANF, 4:528, Origen Against Celsus, Book 4, chapter LXIX.

2626- ANF, 1:573, Fragments From The Lost Writings of Irenæus, XXXI.

2627- ANF, 2:3, 39-40, The Pastor of Hermas, Book 3, Similitude 8, chapters I--III.

2628- ANF, 1:573, Fragments From The Lost Writings of Irenaeus, chap.31; ANF, 2:39-41, The Pastor of Hermas, Book 3, Similitude 8, chapters 1-6; and p. 202, Clement of Alexandria, Exhortation To The Heathen, chapter 10; The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 3, pp.164, 169-70 & pp.364-5, Tertullian Against Marcion, Book 4, chapter 13; & p.172, An Answer to the Jews, chapter 14; Isaiah 43:20; John 15:1-8; Romans chapter 10; 11:16-27.

2629- ANF, 8:130, Recognitions of Clement, book 3, chapter LXI.

2630- Toynbee, The Crucible of Christianity, pp.20-21, & 358, comments to I, 21 I.

2631- Nibley, Temple & Cosmos, 110, fig.26-A. Goodenough, Jewish Symbols in the Greco-Roman Period, vol.11, #331.

2632- Com. Dan., I, 17; Griechische christliche Schriftsteller, p.29, lines 16-19.

2633- ANF, 8:733, Ancient Syriac Documents, Bardesan, The Book Of The Laws of Divers Countries.

2634- Danielou, Primitive Christian Symbols, p.24-25, Chapter II, The Vine and the Tree of Life.

2635- Ireland, Textile Art in the Church, p.92, notes 14-15.

2636- Jacob Neusner, 1990, Origins of Judaism, vol. 3, Part 1, Judaism & Christianity in the First Century, p.120, Early Christian Archaeology From the Jewish Point of View, by Ludwig Blau, p.208. In the section: The Diminutive and Precious Plastic Art, Wood, Ivory, and Metal Sculptures, p. 516-550.

2637- ANF, 1:573, Fragments From The Lost Writings of Irenaeus, chapter 31.

2638- Hackwood, Christ Lore, p. 6.

2639- ANF, 2:40, The Pastor of Hermas, Book 3, chap.3, n. 6-8, & John 15:1-8, p. 39-40, Bk 3, Sim.8, chaps. 1-2.

2640- A Library of Fathers of The Holy Catholic Church, Anterior To The Division Of The East and West, (Oxford, London: John Henry Parker, J. G. F. and J. Rivington, MDCCCXL), vol. 3, p. 131, 135, The Treatises of S. Cæcilius Cyprian, Bishop of Carthage, & Martyr. Treatise V; J. H. Hexter, General Editor, John W. Snyder, and others, Traditions Of The Western World, (Chicago: Rand McNally & Co., 1967), p. 143-44.

2641- ANF, 6:307. Introductory Notice to Methodius.

2642- ANF, 6:350, Methodius, The Banquet of The Ten Virgins, Discourse X, Domnina, chap. vi, notes 8-9.

2643- The Nicene and Post-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. 55, Athanasius, On The Incarnation of the Word, 35:6.

2644- Vincent Cronin, 1968, Mary Portrayed, (London: Darton, Longman & Todd Limited), 6.

2645- Cronin, Mary Portrayed, p. 35.

2646- The World's Orators, Editor in Chief, Guy Carleton Lee, Ph.D., (NY; Lon.: Un. Edition, G.P. Putnam's Sons, The Knickerbocker Press, 1900), 307, 314, 317-18.

2647- Daniel Foley, The Christmas Tree, An Evergreen Garland Filled with History, Folklore, Symbolism, Traditions, Legends, & Stories, Philadel., NY: Chilton, Book Division, 1960, 30-1.

2648- Hackwood, Christ Lore, p. 119.

2649- Hood, Fra Angelico at San Marco, p. 269.

2650- Joseph Campbell, Historical Atlas Of World Mythology, Volume II, The Way Of The Seeded Earth, Part 1, The Sacrifice, (New York, New York: Harper & Row Publishers, 1988), p. 36-37, figures 69-70. The Dream of Mary: Christoforo Simone dei Crocefissi c AD 1350.

2651- Jeffrey M. Bradshaw, Temple Themes In the Book of Moses, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Publishing, 2010), 61-90, see chapter 5. The Symbolism of the Tree of Life and the Tree of Knowledge. Also chapter 6: The "Sacred Center" of the Garden of Eden. See also: Joseph Campbell, Historical Atlas of World Mythology, Vol. 2, The Way Of The Seeded Earth, Part 1, The Sacrifice, (New York, New York: Harper & Row, 1988). Joseph Campbell, The Mythic Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, Bollingen Series C, 1974, second printing, 1975, paper back printing 1981), 58-64, 190-208, 237-260. The Forgotten Books of Eden, Edited by Rutherford H. Platt, Jr., Assistant Editor J. Alden Brett, Pub. by Alpha House, Inc., 1927, U.S.A., The First Book of Adam & Eve, p.8-81. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 1, p.573, XXXI; vol. 2, p. 39-41, The Pastor of Hermas, Book III, Similitude 8, Chap. I-VI; p. 202, Clement of Alex., Exhortation To The Heathen, chap. x; Vol. 3, p.164, 169-70 & pp.364-5, Tertullian Against Marcion, Book IV, chap. xiii; & p.172, An Answer to the Jews, chap. xiv; Isa. xliii. 20; John 15:1-8; Rom. chap.10, 11:16-27. In a 13th century depiction, an angel clasps the wrist of person as they ascend up to the heavenly Jerusalem, it also shows a "river of life" which flows from the throne of God, from either side of this river the tree of life grows. (See: The Horizon Book of the Middle Ages, by the Editors of Horizon Magazine, Editor in Charge, Norman Kotker, author, Morris Bishop, Pub. by American Heritage Pub., Co., N.Y., 1968, p.81). Later Christian artists depicted Christ as the true vine which branches are his disciples. In the Painting by Pacino di Bonaguida, some of the symbolical types were that of a great river from which the roots of a tree would be watered. Thus, there were "four heads, to water the paradise of the whole Church. Next, from the trunk of the tree let there come forth twelve branches adorned with fronds, flowers, and fruits; and let the leaf of the tree be a most effective medication, both preventing and healing, against every kind of disease, because the word of the cross is the virtue of God for the health of every believer." (Christianity And The Renaissance (Image and Religious Imagination in the Quattrocento), Edited by Timothy Verdon & John Henderson, Pub. by Syracuse Un. Press, 1990, p.135 & 141, see chapter 5, pp. 132-160, entitled: The Tree of Life And The Holy Cross (Franciscan Spirituality in the Trecento and the Quattrocento), by Rab Hatfield; Monumental Christianity, op. cit., Lundy, 1876, pp.270-1; Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, O'Reilly, 1972, op. cit., pp.344- 5. "In semitic tradition and the Bible, the Tree is a great cosmological tree piercing the very centre of the earth at Jerusalem and, in the dream of Nebuchadnezzar for example, providing refuge for the fowls of the air in its branches reaching up to the heavens and the ends of the earth, shade for the beasts beneath it and nourishment for all (Daniel iv, 10-13)." A Garland Series, Outstanding Theses In The Fine Arts from British Universities, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, by Jennifer O'Reilly, Oct. 1972, Pub. by Garland Pub., Inc., N.Y., & London. 1988, see pp.346-7. Museum of Antiquity (A Description of Ancient Life): The Employments, Amusements, Customs and Habits, The Cities, Palaces, Monuments and Tombs, The Literature and Fine Arts of 3,000 Years Ago), by L. W. Yaggy M.S., and T. L. Haines, A.M., Pub. by Western Pub. Co., House, Chicago, 1883, p. 940-1; E. Baldwin Smith, The Dome, A Study in the History of Ideas, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1950, 1978), p. 26—28, see note 52: Trees where an important symbol to show that souls had entered paradise. The Forgotten Books of Eden, p.131, Ode 22:1, 3, & 5. The early Christian Odes of Solomon (70-100 A.D.), also describe the pre-existent Church as a Community of "fruit-bearing tree," whose crown is "self-grown", and whose roots are "from an immortal land", watered by a "river of gladness" (Ode 11). Dan.4:11-15, & 17, 20-27. Ezek.31:8-18. Christianity And The Renaissance, (Image and Religious Imagination in the Quattrocento), edited by Timothy Verdon & John Henderson, Pub. by Syracuse Un. Press, Syracuse, N.Y., 1990, p. 136-142, Figure 5.1. The Tree of Life, mosaic. Rome, San Clemente, early 13th century A.D., see also fig. 5.2, painted by Pacino di Bonaguida, now in the Accademia in Florence, early 14th century. Figures 5.13, is said to be of the annunciation to Mary, "the second Eve who reopened the door to Paradise" and it is explicitly related to the scene of Adam's burial depicted. Psalm 107:1-7, 9-14, 16, 20, 23-4, 26, 30, 40-41. Isaiah 30:14; Zechariah 9:11; Luke 11:14-24; 16:19-31; Habakkuk 2:14; Isa.11:9; Zech. 8:12-13; Temple, by Huge Nibley, (IDE-T), (The Idea of a Temple in History), Reprinted by F.A.R.M.S., from: The Millennial Star 120 (Aug. 1958), p.228-237, see pages 234, & 249, ft. nt.s 52 & 56. R. Akiba, cited by S. A. Horodezky, in Monatsschr.f. Gesch. u. Wins. des Judentums LXXII. 505; Psa.23; Jer.30:7-17; Isa.30:8-33; Tours Of Hell (An Apocalyptic Form in Jewish and Christian Literature), by Martha Himmelfarb, Un. of Penn. Press, Philadel., 1983, pp. 8-19, 50-56, 94-97, 106-120, 122-126, 136-7, & 151-158; Isa. 30:14-15; S. Caecilius Cyprian, 3rd century A.D., cites from Paul's testimony, 1 Cor. 10:4, see: A Library of Fathers of the Holy Catholic Church, Vol.III, p.101, Oxford, John Henry Parker, J. G. F. & J. Rivington, Lon., MDCCCXLI; The Forgotten Books of Eden, Edited by Rutherford H. Platt, Jr., Assistant Editor J. Alden Brett, Pub. by Alpha House, Inc., 1927, U.S.A., The First Book of Adam & Eve, pp.8-10, 12-13, 26-8, 30. Archaeological Discoveries, (Relative to the Judaeo-Christians), Historical Survey by Ignazio Mancini, O.F.M., Pub. of the Studium Biblicum Franciscanum, Collection minor #10, Jerusalem, 1970, pp.165-170, & fig.39, on p.166, Adam under Calvary in a medieval miniature of Valenciennes, with detail of Adam. (from LTS 1965, p. 278). Christ Lore, Hackwood, p. 117. The Encyclopedia Of Visual Art, Biographical Dictionary of Artists, by Limburg Brothers - Francisco Ribalta, Pub. by Encyc. Britannica Intern., LTD., Lon., Vol.6, see "Attavante degli Attavanti: Crucifixion, a leaf from the missal illuminated for Thomas James, Bishop of Dol; 1483. Nouveau Musee des Beaux-Arts, Le Havre". (Luke 23:32-43); The Encyc. Of Vis. Art, Vol.6, p.32; Ivory Carvings In Early Medieval England, by John Beckwith, 1972, Harvey Miller & Medcalf, p.84, fig. 152. "Deposition. English (Hereford), about 1150. London, Victoria and Albert Museum [Cat. 88]. Rev.7:13-15, Isa.1:15-20. John 4:1-38; Amos 7:16, 8:7-8, 9, & 11-13. Every notes that the root of the connection between the tree of life and Christ's death goes back to the beginnings of Christianity. "Jesus, the second Adam, dying on Golgotha, the place of Adam's skull, must pass down the tree into the nether world, to the root of the tree in his throat, and come up again through the sepulcher, bringing Adam and Eve with him, for hell must be harrowed if the human race is to be saved. The fruit of the tree, of life or of knowledge, must be below the crucifix, on the way whereby Christ finds man, even at hell's bottom." Library of The World's Myths and Legends, Christian Legends, by George Every, 1970, 1987, Peter Bedrick Books, N.Y., p.60, see also pp. 61-2; The Ante-Nicene Fathers, Vol.2, pp.490-2; Mediaeval Art, by Charles Rufus Morey, Pub. by W. W. Norton Co., 1942, N.Y., N.Y., p.129; The Christian World, text, Geoffrey Barraclough, etc., Pub. by Harry N. Abrams, N.Y., 1981, pp.8-9; Christmas Customs And Traditions (Their History and Significance), by Clement A. Miles, Pub. by Dover Pub., Inc., N.Y., 1976, p.138-9, as a republication of the original work by T. Fisher Unwin in 1912, entitled: Christmas in Ritual and Tradition, Christian and Pagan.) Biblical Myths & Mysteries, by Gilbert Thurlow, Pub. by Octopus Books, London, 1974, p.70; Rev. 22:1-5, 13. Christianity And The Renaissance (Image and Religious Imagination in the Quattrocento), Edited by Timothy Verdon & John Henderson, Pub. by Syracuse Un. Press, 1990, pp.135 & 141, chap. 5, p. 132-160, entitled: The Tree of Life And The Holy Cross (Franciscan Spirituality in the Trecento and the Quattrocento), by Rab Hatfield; Monumental Christianity, Lundy, 1876, pp. 270-1; Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, O'Reilly, 1972, p. 344- 5; Origins of Judaism, Vol. XI, Part 1, The Literature of Formative Judaism: The Midrash-Compilations, edited by Jacob Neusner, 1990, Garland Pub., Inc., N.Y., & Lon., p. 5-6, note 3. Some early Christian rings depicted on them the vine for it was a type of Christ. Also a blade of wheat, symbolic of "The Harvest of souls?" Rings For The Finger, Kunz, 1973, p. 253-4.

2652- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 1, p. 268. Justin Martyr, Dialogue With Trypho, chapter cxxxviii.

2653- Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined; Thorpe, The Mystery Behind The Mysteries, Ritualistic Realm Pilgrims In Early To Later Christian Mysteries, p. 53.

2654- O'Reilly, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, pp. 347-8, 348-9, 358-91, 403, 406, & 410-11; Kurt Rudolph, Gnosis, The Nature and History of Gnosticism, translation edited by Robert McLachlan Wilson, (San Francisco, California: Harper & Row Publishers, 1977, 1980, 1984), p. 104.

2655- Hackwood, Christ Lore, p. 41, & 140.

2656- Timothy Verdon & John Henderson, Eds, Christianity & the Renaissance, Image & eligious Imagination in the Quattrocento, (Syracuse University Press, 1990), 35 & 141, see chap.5, p.132-160; Rab Hatfield, The Tree of Life And The Holy Cross, Franciscan Spirituality in the Trecento and the Quattrocento; Lundy, Monumental Christianity, p. 270-01; O'Reilly, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, p. 344-5.

2657- Carl Van Treeck & Aloysius Croft, Symbols in the Church, Milwaukee: Bruce 1936, 110-111, pl.33, fig.4.

2658- Grabar, The Golden age of JUSTINIAN, p. 289, 306.

2659- Gevaert, Lejeune, Stiennon, A Treasury Of Romanesque Art, p. 204-5, fig. 25.

2660- Ferguson, Signs & Symbols in Christian Art, p. 24.

2661- Ferguson, Signs & Symbols in Christian Art, p.24; Matthew 16:18.

2662- Carl Van Treeck & Aloysius Croft, M.A., Symbols In The Church, (Milwaukee: The Bruce Publishing Co., 1936), p. 38—39, plate IX, fig. 7, see also plate XXIV, figure 1.

2663- Elizabeth Hallam, General Editor, Gods And Goddesses, A Treasury of Deities and Tales from World Mythology, (New York, New York: Macmillan, A Simon & Schuster Macmillan Company, 1996), p. 133; Thomas Stuart Ferguson, One Fold And One Shepherd, (S LC, Utah: Olympus Publishing Company, 1958, revised edition, 1962), Deseret News Press), p. 116-118, fig. 72, p. 201-202; T. J. O'Brien, Fair Gods and Feathered Serpents, A Search for Ancient America's Bearded White God, (Bountiful, Utah: Horizon Publishers, 1997), p. 53—56, & 88; Milton R. Hunter and Thomas Stuart Ferguson, Ancient America and The Book of Mormon, (Oakland, California: Kolob Book Company, 1950), 200-222; Hunter, Christ in Ancient America, Archaeology and The Book of Mormon, Volume II, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1959), p. 116-19, 128-53.

2664- Carl Van Treeck and Aloysius Croft, M.A., Symbols In The Church, (Milwaukee: The Bruce Publishing Co., 1936), 38-39, plate IX, fig. 7, see also plate XXIV, figure 1.

2665- Webster's Illustrated Encyclopedic Dictionary, Montreal, Canada: Tormont Pub., Inc., 1987, 1990, 910.

2666- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. 609, Origen Against Celsus, book 6, chapters LXXVIII—LXXIX.

2667- Dr. Huge Nibley points out that, in Jewish and early Christian writings, stars have represented pre-existing spirits, angels, messengers, and apostles, see Since Cumorah, 172-74); R. G. Hammerton-Kelly, Pre-Existence, Wisdom, & The Son Of Man, A Study Of The Idea Of Pre-Existence In The New Testament, (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1973), p. 15-21, 77-83, 97-102, 114-156, 207-09, 211-42, 245, 247, 256, etc. Nibley, The Old Testament and Related Studies, and Temples and Cosmos.

2668- Gardner, Let's Celebrate Christmas, p. 14.

2669- ANF, 4:609, Against Celsus, Bk 6, chaps LXXVIII—LXXIX; Pellistrandi, Early Christian Civ., 180-199.

2670- ANF, 4:609, book 6, chap. lxxviii—lxxix, Origen Against Celsus; Vol. 3, p.157-58, Tertullian, An Answer to the Jews. "Remember his marvellous works that he hath done, his wonders, and the judgments of his mouth; O ye seed of Israel his servant, ye children of Jacob, his chosen ones. He is the LORD our God; his judgments are in all the earth. Be ye mindful always of his covenant; the word which he commanded to a thousand generations; Even the covenant which he made with Abraham, and of his oath unto Isaac; And had confirmed the same to Jacob for a law, and to Israel for an everlasting covenant,... And when they went from nation to nation, and from one kingdom to another people; He suffered no man to do them wrong: yea, he reproved kings for their sakes, Saying, Touch not mine anointed, and do my prophets no harm. Sing unto the LORD, all the earth; shew forth from day to day his salvation, Declare his glory among the heathen; his marvellous works among all nations." (1 Chronicles 16:12-16, 20-24). The Apostle Paul said in response to some of the pagans who were about to perform a pagan animal sacrifice, that even though God "in times passed suffered all nations to walk in their own ways. Nevertheless he left not himself without witness, in that he did good" Acts 14:13-17.

2671- ANF, 6:45, Part II. Dubious Or Spurious Writings, A Sectional Confession of Faith, XIX.

2672- ANF, 5:515 & 516, The Treatises of Cyprian, Treatise XII, Second Book, Heads, 3.

2673- The Nicene and Post-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. 45, Athanasius, On The Incarnation of The Word, 16:3.

2674- N&PNF, 4:61-62, Athanasius, On The Incarnation of the Word, 45:4-6; 46:1-5. Page 63, see 48:4.

2675- Betty Willsher & Doreen Hunter, Stones, (NY: Taplinger Pub. Co. 1978 & 1979). Carl Van Treeck and Aloysius Croft, M.A., Symbols in the Church, 1936. Clara Erskine Clement, edited by Katherine E. Conway, A Handbook Of Christian Symbols And Stories Of The Saints As Illustrated In Art, (Boston; New York: Houghton Mifflin Company, The Riverside Press Cambridge, 1871, 1881, and 1886). Erwin R. Goodenough, Jewish Symbols in the Greco-Roman Period, (Bollingen Series XXXVII, 1964, Pantheon Books). Multiple volume series. Fredk, WM. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Christ Lore (Being the Legends, Traditions, Myths, Symbols, & Superstitions of The Christian Church), (London: 1902, republished, Detroit: Gale Research Company, Book Tower, 1969). George Ferguson, Signs & Symbols In Christian Art, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1959). Goblet D'Alviella, (The Count), The Migration of Symbols, (Westminster, 1894, reproduced by University Books, 1956). John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art & Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (NY: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882). Rev. Alexander Hislop, The 2 Babylons (or The Papal Worship Proved to be the Worship of Nimrod & His Wife), (Eng.: A & C Black, LTD., 1916; American eds, Neptune, New Jersey: Loizeaux Brothers, 1943 and 1956).

2676- ANF, 5:515, 522-23, The Treatises of Cyprian, Treatise XII, Second Book, Heads, 16-17.

2677- ANF, 2:47, & 49; 3:172.

2678- In 1957, a number of poems were published by Ideals as part of a Christmas Issue. In the poem: Not Forgotten, by Helen Welshimer, the lighted candle left in the window sill is said to guide the wandering Christ-child "should He come a wanderer". Further on in this issue is a beautiful colored picture of a lighted red candle in the window sill. Looking out through the window past the candle, is a snow covered way, a number of houses with lights on, and a church off in the distance. The next page over shows a young child who perhaps is eagerly looking out the frosted window for the gift-bringer to come. (Van B. Hooper, Christmas Issue Ideals, (Wisconsin: Quarterly by Ideals Pub. Co., 1957), vol.14, No.5, October, 1957. Not Forgotten, Helen Welshimer.

2679- Coffin, The Book of Christmas Folklore, p. 21-22. Coffin cites Mary Vorse's book: Time and the Town, a Provincetown Chronicle how Menin Jesu used to be celebrated on Cape Cod. Also: Joy Through the World, (An Allen D. Bragdon Book, 1985, Produced in cooperation with the U.S. Committee for UNICEF), p.95.

2680- Ichikawa, Merry Christmas, p.29-31, 39, & 51; Patterson, A Holiday Book, Christmas Feasts and Festivals, p.28, 51 & 53; Auld, Christmas Traditions, p.130-31; Krythe, All About Christmas, p.114-15; Sechrist, Woolsey, It's Time For Christmas, p.78-9, 81, 83, & 113-115; Miles, Christmas Customs & Traditions.

2681- Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined; Isaiah 9:2; SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH CHAPTER OF THE FRIENDS OF IANDS. NEWS LETTER #7, MARCH 1993; George G. Ritchie, My Life After Dying; Geoffrey R. King, 1949, The 40 Days, see The Golden Legend, A Medieval legend, p.15-20; Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, this book shows many early Christian art works of Christ lighting up the underworld during his descent to free the captive spirits. New Letter, FOIANDS MEETING #9, APRIL 15, 1993, THE GREAT LIGHT BEYOND THE VEIL OF DEATH AND THE SPIRITUAL ENERGY OF THAT LIGHT & LOVE, BY DARELL THORPE, NOVEMBER 1993; In a talk given in a world wide general conference of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, Gordon B. Hinckley, in April 1975, entitled: The Symbol of Christ, Christ is: "the light beyond the veil of death." (The Ensign, May 1975, p. 92-94). Nibley, Teachings of the Book of Mormon, (Provo, Utah: F.A.R.M.S.), Semester 1, Transcripts of 29 Lectures, 1998-90, Lecture 13, p. 3; Semester 3, Lecture 83, p. 329-30. Christ is often depicted in early to later Christian art works as having a face or body that is giving off light. Other nations' "gods" around the world, have also come to different people as moral teachers, & lawgivers. Their legends speak of these "gods" as glowing bright beings of light & love. If Christ visited other nations, perhaps these legends could be faded legendized memories of those visits. Light is said would be given to them that sit in darkness in the shadow of death

(Luke 1:76-79). The Lord's face shines, (Numbers 6:25). The ancients would compare the bright light or glory by comparing, or likening it unto the glow of "fire," the "sun," or "lightning." While modern experiences' comparisons, use modern terms & types, such as "welders' lamps," etc. But many of them feel that these earthly types & comparisons do not fully explain the glorious light they see. (An Experience of Howard Storm, transcript of the 1989 tapes; George G. Ritchie, Return From Tomorrow, p. 35-74; KTKK 630 AM Radio, "K-talk" interview, 11-12-1989, Martin Tanner host, Ritchie as guest. SLC, Utah. Ritchie, My Life After Dying, p.108-9, 130, 135-40, 145-147).

2682- William L. Langer, etc., Western Civilization, 1968, p.282.

2683- ANF, 2:202-3, Exhortation to The Heathen, chapter x, & p.223, The Instructor, Book 1, chapter 7.

2684- Lundy, Monumental Christianity, p. 177-78.

2685- Lundy, Monumental Christianity, p. 286-87.

2686- Doane, Bible Myths, p. 82, note 7.

2687- ANF, 3:173, An Answer to the Jews, chap. xiv; p.346, Tertullian Against Marcion, book IV, chap. I, p.356, book IV, chap. ix.

2688- ANF, 3:606, Tertullian Against Praxeas, chapter xi.

2689- ANF, 7:128, Lactantius, The Divine Institutes, Book 4, chapter XXVI.

2690- ANF, 7:329-30, Poem Of Venantius Honorius Clementianus Fortunatus, On Easter.

2691- ANF, 7:461, Constitutions Of The Holy Apostles, Book VI, Section V:XXIII.

2692- ANF, 8:406, The Infancy of The Saviour, 6.

2693- ANF, 8:449, The Gospel of Nicodemus, Part II, Christ's Descent into Hell. Latin. 1st Version, chap. 2:18.

2694- ANF, 8:451, The Gospel of Nicodemus, Part 2. Christ's Descent Into Hell. Latin. 1st Version, chap.6:22.

2695- Turner, The History of Hell, p. 66-70, 72, 87, 96, 117, 131; Bainton, The Horizon History of Christianity, p. 214-15; Gantner & Pobe, Romanesque Art In France, p. 64, pl. 135; Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, pl.100.

2696- ANF, 8:450-51, The Gospel of Nicodemus, Part II, Christ's Descent Into Hell. Latin. 1st version, chaps 5:21; 6:22, p. 451-52, chaps 8:24, 9:25, 10:26; The Lost Books of The Bible, p. 82-88, The Gospel of Nicodemus, formerly called the Acts of Pontius Pilate, chaps XV-XX, art work in between 128 & 129, & 224 & 225.

2697- Turner, The History of Hell, 66-70, 72, 87, 96, 117, 131; Bainton, The Horizon History of Christianity, 214-15; Gantner & Pobe, Romanesque Art In France, p. 64, pl. 135; Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, pl.100.

2698- ANF, 6:386, Oration Concerning Simeon And Anna, On The Day That They Met In The Temple, V.

2699- ANF 6:351-53 The Banquet of The Ten Virgins; or, Concerning Chastity, Discourse XI, Arete, ch. II:1-24.

2700- ANF 6:336 Banquet of the 10 Virgins; or, Concerning Chastity, Discourse 8, chap.5, p.350, Dis. X, ch. II.

2701- ANF, 8:506, The Acts of Philip. Acts of Saint Philip The Apostle When He Went to Upper Hellas.

2702- N&PNF, 4:84, 89, Athanasius, In Illud 'Omnia,' Etc., On Luke X. 33 (Matt. XI,27), 4:1.

2703- Metford, Dictionary Of Christian Lore & Legend, p. 58-59, see Candle, Candlemas and Candlestick.

2704- ANF, 7:552, Early Liturgies, The Divine Liturgy of The Holy Apostle & Evangelist Mark, The Disciple Of The Holy Peter, III.

2705- ÉMILE MÂLE, Religious Art From the 12th To The 18th Century, Pantheon, 192-3, pl.47. Bernini AD 1598, personified Truth, 1644 Villa Borghese Rome. In stone, naked female personified Truth relating to light.

2706- The Nicene And Post-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. 4, Athanasius, Against The Heathen, 1:3-6.

2707- N&PNF, vol. 4, p. 51-52, Athanasius, On The Incarnation of The Word, 29:1-5, p. 45; 16:3.

2708- Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, Chicago: Open Court Pub. Co. 1900), 445, Müller & Mathe's Archaeology.

2709- Eve Borsook, Messages In Mosaic, The Royal Programmes of Norman Sicily (1130—1187), (Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1990), 9, 21-22, 27, 33-35.

2710- Hugu Nibley, Since Cumorah, The Book of Mormon In the Modern World, (SLC, Ut.: Deseret Book, 1967 & 1976), 74-75, n. 17: M. R. James, Apocryphal New Testament, (1925 ed.), p. 33.

2711- Eve Borsook, Messages In Mosaic, The Royal Programmes of Norman Sicily (1130—1187), Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1990, 33-35.

2712- 1 Peter 3:18-22; 4:5-6; Ephesians 4:7-10; Matthew 27:45, 52—53; The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 5, p. 525; Cyprian, A.D. 200-258, Treatise 12; 2nd book, Testimonies 23. Kelly, The Devil At Baptism.

2713- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 5, p. 515, The Treatises Of Cyprian, Treatise XII, Second Book, Heads, 23-25.

2714- ANF, 5:525, The Treatises of Cyprian, Treatise XII, 2nd Book, Heads, 23-25, on Christ's descent & ascension out of hell. Matthew 27:45. Did Cyprian have a different earlier version of Matthew to cite from?

2715- ANF, 6:136, The Extant Writings of Julius Africanus, III. The Extant Fragments Of The 5 Books Of The Chronography Of Julius Africanus, XVIII, On the Circumstances connected with our Saviour's Passion of His Life-giving Resurrection.

2716- ANF, 6:136-137, III, The Extant Fragments of the 5 Books of The Chronography of Julius Africanus, XVIII.

2717- ANF, 8:88, Recognitions of Clement, Book I, chapter XLI.

2718- ANF, 8:420, The Gospel of Nicodemus, First Greek Form, Part I. The Acts of Pilate, chapter 11.

2719- ANF, 8:430-31, The Gospel of Nicodemus, The Second Greek Form, chapter 11.

2720- ANF, 8:461, The Report of Pilate the Procurator Concerning Our Lord Jesus Christ, First Greek Form.

2721- ANF, 8:464, The Giving Up of Pontius Pilate.

2722- ANF, 8:469, The Narrative of Joseph, chapter 3.

2723- ANF, 8:658-59, Ancient Syriac Documents, The Teachings Of Addæus The Apostle.

2724- ANF, 8:662, Ancient Syriac Documents, The Teachings Of Addæus The Apostle.

2725- ANF, 8:674, Ancient Syriac Documents, The Teaching of Simon Cephas In The City of Rome.

2726- ANF, 8:681, Ancient Syriac Documents, Acts Of Sharbil, Who Was A Priest Of Idols, And Was Converted To The Confession of Christianity In Christ.

2727- ANF, 8:705, Ancient Syriac Documents, Moses of Chorene, History of Armenia, VIII.

2728- ANF, 8:750, 756-57, Remains of the 2nd & 3rd Centuries, Melito, The Philosopher, AD 160-170-177; II; V.

2729- ANF, 8:668, Ancient Syriac Documents, The Teaching Of The Apostles, 4.

2730- ANF, 6:405-7, 425-26, The 7 Books of Arnobius Against The Heathen, (Adversus Gentes), Book I: 53-55.

2731- ANF, 6:405-7, 425-26, The 7 Books of Arnobius Against The Heathen, (Adversus Gentes), Book I: 53-54.

2732- ANF, 6:405-7, 425-26, The 7 Books of Arnobius Against The Heathen, (Adversus Gentes), Book I: 54-55.

2733- ANF, 8:16. Testament III:18; The Testament of Levi Concerning the Priesthood & Arrogance.

2734- Doane, Bible Myths, p. 206-10. Rev. Dr. Geikie, Life of Christ, vol. 2, p. 643; Prog. Religious Ideas, vol. 1, p. 71; Rhys David's Buddhism, pp. 36, 37; Potter's Æschylus, "Prometheus Chained," last stanza. Farrar's Life of Christ, p. 52; Higgin's Anacalypsis, vol. 1, p. 616-17, and others cited in his Doane's notes.

2735- Pellistrandi, citing Celsus, in his Early Christian Civilization, p. 180-199; Doane, Bible Myth, p.384; Lundy's Monumental Christianity, p.98.

2736- Here Doane cites from an early Christian who offers the answer we have been discussing throughout this book, and that is if Christ went throughout the world; and this knowledge was lost in later nations' mythologies and legends. Then, of course there are going to be parallels to the original accounts, or the pre-Christian time prophesies recorded by the prophet throughout the world. What Doane seems to pass over and reject is the part by Clement of Alexandria: "The Lord preached the gospel to those in Hades, as well as to all in earth, in order that all might believe and be saved, wherever they were." (Doane, Bible Myths, p. 211, note 2, Strom. vi. C. 6. For another translation of this work see: ANF, 2:490, Clement of Alexandria, The Stromata, or Miscellanies, book 6, chapter 6.

2737- Doane, Bible Myth, p.384; Lundy, Monumental Christianity, p. 98.

2738- Pellistrandi, citing Celsus, in his Early Christian Civilization, 180-199; Doane, Bible Myth, p.384; Lundy's Monumental Christianity, p.98. Thorpe, EARLY CHRISTIAN ANSWERS TO PRIMITIVE CRITICS, HOW THEIR RESPONSES ANSWER MODERN ISSUES, (SLC, Utah: Salt Lake Community College, HU. 190-01, Special Studies. Instructor: John Fritz. Student: Darell Thorpe, Summer Quarter, 1996, an unpublished research paper for a college class, 8-1996. A. Powell Davies, The Meaning of the Dead Sea Scrolls, (USA: The New American Library, 1959), 120-31; Dr. Charles Francis Potter, The Lost Years of Jesus Revealed, From the Dead Sea Scrolls and the Nag-Hammadi discoveries, (Greenwich, Conn.: Fawcett World Library, A Fawcett Gold Medal Book, Fawcett Publications, Inc., 1958, 1962), 12-13, 46-47, & 141; O. Preston Robinson, The Challenge of the Scrolls, How old is Christ's Gospel, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book, 1963), 1-16.

2739- John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (New York: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882). Internet Archives, (1976), 98. <https://archive.org/details/MonumentalChristianity> - <https://archive.org/details/monumentalchris00lundgoog> -

2740- Doane, Bible Myths, 206-10; Viscount Amberly, Analysis of Religious Belief, p. 268; Rev. Dr. Geikie, Life of Christ, 2:643. He mentions how that there was darkness & other destruction during the death of the Hindoo Saviour Crishna. (Prog. Religious Ideas, vol. 1, p. 71. Other sources are mentioned in connection with parallels with Buddha, & Quetzalcoatl.

2741- Joshua Moses Bennett, The Gospel of the Great Spirit, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Morning Star Publishing, 1990), p. 320, citing Hubert Howe Bancroft, Natives Races, 1883, vol. iii., ch. iii., p. 110.

2742- Amos 5:14-20; Nibley, Since Cumorah, p.266-269. For references to other nations of traditions concerning times of darkness, see Doane, Bible Myths, p.206-210; M. R. James gives the following additions to Mark 16:3, found in some early texts: "In the third hour of the day there came darkness throughout all the globe of the earth, and angels came down from heaven." (M. R. James, Apocryphal New Testament (1925 ed.), p.33).

2743- Elizabeth Hallam, General Editor, Gods & Goddesses, A Treasury of Deities and Tales from World Mythology, (NY, NY: Macmillan, A Simon & Schuster Macmillan Co., 1996), 83.

2744- P. De Roo, History of America Before Columbus, (J. B. Lippincott Co., 1900), 1:431.

2745- Milton R. Hunter, Ph.D., Thomas Stuart Ferguson, LL.B., Ancient America & The Book of Mormon, (Oakland, California: Kolob Book Company, 1950), 189-94; Bennett, The Gospel of the Great Spirit, 315-38.

2746- Allen, A Comparative Study of Quetzalcoatl, The Feathered-Serpent God of Meso-America, With Jesus Christ, The God of the Nephites, p. 133-34, citing from Anaes de Cauhtitlan, 1945:7.

2747- Paul R. Cheesman, The World of The Book of Mormon, Bountiful, Utah: Horizon Pub., 1984, p. 185.

2748- Dr. Bruce W. Warren, & Thomas Stuart Ferguson, The Messiah in Ancient America, (Provo, Utah: Book of Mormon Research Foundation, 1987), 39-48. Warren, on K-Talk, KTKK 630 AM Radio, 12-4-1988, Utah; Ferguson, One Fold & One Shepherd, p. 204.

2749- National Geographic, vol. 162, No. 5, 11-1982, p. 654-84, The Disaster of El Chichón, photos Guillermo Aldana E. and Kenneth Garrett. See also the article: Fire and Ash, Darkness at Noon, by Boris Weintraub, 664-65.

2750- National Geographic, vol. 162, No. 5, 11-1982, p. 654-84, The Disaster of El Chichón, photos Guillermo Aldana E. & Kenneth Garrett. Article: Fire & Ash, Darkness at Noon, Boris Weintraub, 660-70, 676-79, & 684.

2751- The Maya Book of Counsel, the Popol Vuh, 16th century Guatemala, contains fragments of possible hints to the descent into the underworld. In addition to this, carvings show the journey into the underworld, except in a somewhat apostate legendized form. (See: National Geographic, vol. 158, No. 2, August 1980, p. 203-223, see article: Man's Eighty Centuries in Veracruz, by S. Jeffrey K. Wilkerson).

2752- Elizabeth Hallam, General Editor, Gods and Goddesses, A Treasury of Deities and Tales from World Mythology, (New York, New York, U.S.A.: Macmillan, A Simon & Schuster Macmillan Company, 1996), p. 23.

2753- Allen, A Comparative Study of Quetzalcoatl, The Feathered-Serpent God of Meso-America, With Jesus Christ, The God of the Nephites, p. 133-34, citing Ixtlilxochitl, 1965: 1:14; Ferguson, One Fold & One Shepherd, p. 136; Cheesman, The World of The Book of Mormon, p. 47.

2754- William E. Berrett, The Restored Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1961), p. 64, note 16, see Bancroft, Native Races, Vol. V, p. 210.

2755- William E. Berrett, The Restored Church, 64-65, notes 17-18, Nadaillic, Prehistoric America, p. 16-17; Prescott, Conquest of Mexico, vol. I, p. 105-6.

2756- David Hatcher Childress, Lost Cities & Ancient Mysteries Of South America, (Stelle, Illinois: Adventures Unlimited Press, 1986), 76-77.

2757- Edna Barth notes how that among those of the Greek Orthodox church, on Easter Eve, at the stroke of midnight, everyone would go out side the church, "with a lighted candle." Then at the front door, one would knock and ask, "Is Jesus in there?" From inside would come the answer, "No, he is not here. He is risen!" Then the door would open and everyone would troop back into the lighted church. Edna Barth, Lilies, Rabbits, and Painted Eggs, The Story of the Easter Symbols, (NY: The Seabury Press, 1970), 18-19.

2758- Biblical Archaeology Review 3 & 4-1998 vol.24, No.2 Illuminating Byzantine Jerusalem, 4, 40-47, 70-1. Article: Illuminating Byzantine Jerusalem, Oil Lamps Shed Light On Early Christian Worship, Jodi Magness.

2759- Daniel-Rops, Jesus And His Times, (NY: Image Books, A Division Of Doubleday & Co., Inc., 1954, 1956, 1958, CR by E. P. Dutton & Co., Inc.), vol.2, p.236, p. 233-35.

2760- See the cover design & credits for Biblical Archaeology Review, March/April 1998, vol. 24, No.2, Illuminating Byzantine Jerusalem, p. 4, & p. 40-43, 46-47, 70-71. Article: Illuminating Byzantine Jerusalem, Oil Lamps Shed Light On Early Christian Worship, by Jodi Magness.

2761- Kartsonis, Anastasis, Thorpe, Upon Them Hath the Light Shined. Turner, The History of Hell, 67-117.

2762- Huge Nibley, The 3 Facsimiles from the Book of Abraham, (Provo, Utah: F.A.R.M.S., 1985, Preliminary Report, Huge Nibley Archive N—THE), p.53.

2763- Rutherford H. Platt, Jr., Editor, & J. Alden Brett, Assistant Editor, The Forgotten Books of Eden, USA, & Newfoundland: Alpha House, 1927, in 1 vol. with The Lost Books of The Bible, World Bible Pub., Inc., The First Book of Adam & Eve, or The Conflict of Adam & Eve with Satan, 3-59, 2nd Book of Adam & Eve, 60-80. Darell Thorpe, The Mystery Behind The Mysteries, Ritualistic Realm Pilgrims In Early To Later Christian Mysteries, (SLC, Utah: HIS 190-01 Spec. Studies; Instructor: Marianne McKnight, paper written for a college class, Winter 1997).

2764- For a number of references, (out of many more which could be mentioned), about deification in early Christian writings see: The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 1, p.262, chap. cxxiv, Justin Martyr's Dialogue With Trypho. Vol.1, p.419, 478-89, & 522, 560; vol.2, p.206, 215, 364, 374, 411-13, 416-17, 426-41; vol.3, p.480, & 608; vol.4, p. 344-45, 509; vol. 5 p. 263-4, & 518, 631; The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. lxxxv, lxxxvii, & 329; vol. 7, p. l, xi, 2; The Homilies of St. Jerome, (Washington D.C., The Catholic Un. Press, 1964), p.106-7 & 353; Keith Edward Norman, Deification: The Content Of Athanasian Soteriology, (Dept. of Religion, Duke University), thesis for degree of Doctor of Philosophy, 1980.

2765- John 17:17-24; Matthew 5:48; Luke 6:40; Romans 8:16-18; 1 Corinthians 15; 2 Corinthians 3:7-18; Philippians 2:5-12; 3:20-21; Matthew 41:22-23; Daniel 12:3; Colossians 1:27-28; 3:14; 2 Timothy 3:15-17; Hebrews 2:9-11; Isaiah 1:16-20; Hebrews 10:16-22; 1 Corinthians 6:9-11; Isaiah 41:22-23; Revelations 3:21; 2 Timothy 4:7—8; Revelation 19:10; 1:10-15; 19:6-10; 22:7-12; 1 Peter 1:3-16; 2 Peter 1:2-11; The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 1, p. 17, 1st Epistle of Clement of Rome to the Corinthians, chapters xlv-xlvi; Vol. 1, p. 488, Irenaeus, Against Heresies, book iv, chap. xx, verse 2; The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. 509, Origen Against Celsus, Book 4, chapter 29; The Nicene And Post-Nicene Fathers, vol. 8, p. 15-16, Basil: On the Spirit IX.23.

2766- ANF, 1:326, 386-7, 403, 405, 430-31, 433, 435, 448, 450, 455-57, 473-74, 478-79, 488-90, 497, 521-26, 531-33, 535, 540, 544, 548, 560-61, 567, 569-70, 2:104-05, Ignazio Mancini, O.F.M., Archaeological Discoveries, Relative to the Judeseo-Christians, (Jerusalem: Studium Biblicum Franciscanum, Franciscanum Print Press, 1970), 165-70; Kartsonis, Anastasis, p. 72; 1 Corinthians 15; Jennifer O'Reilly, A Garland Series, Outstanding Theses In The Fine Arts From British Universities, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, (London & New York: Garland Publishing, Inc., 1988, Thesis submitted to the University of Nottingham for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, Oct. 1972, 226-7, 234; Nibley, Old Testament And Related Studies, SLC, & Provo, Utah: FARMS, & Deseret Book Co., 1986, The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, 1: 49-214; Albert E. Bailey, The Gospel In Art, Boston & Chicago: Pilgrim Press, 1916, 386-85, 438-44.

2767- Rutherford H. Platt, Jr., Editor, and J. Alden Brett, Assistant Editor, The Forgotten Books of Eden, (U.S.A., & Newfoundland: Alpha House, Inc., 1927, put into one volume with The Lost Books of The Bible, by World Bible Publishers, Inc.), The First Book of Adam and Eve, also called The Conflict of Adam & Eve with Satan, 3-59, The Second Book of Adam and Eve, 60-80.

2768- Edna Barth, Lilies, Rabbits & Painted Eggs The Story of the Easter Symbols, NY: Seabury Press 1970, 44

2769- Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined; Kartsonis, Anastasis; Turner, The History of Hell, 66-96.

2770- Kartsonis, Anastasis; Kelly, The Devil At Baptism, p. 213-31, etc.

2771- Kelly, The Devil At Baptism, the book presents different aspects of this whole drama practiced in different sects in Christendom. See p. 250 for this quote. Kartsonis, Anastasis; Thorpe, Upon Them Hath the Light Shined.

2772- David Hatcher Childress, Lost Cities Of North & Central America, Stelle, Illinois: Adventures Unlimited Press, 1992, 247-48.

2773- Lapide, The Great Commentary, 1889, p. 430, italics added.

2774- Michel Pierre, Morgan - Antoine Sabbagh, The Human Story, Europe In The Middle Ages, New Jersey: Sliver Burdett Press, 1988, 34, orig. pub. in 1986 by Casterman, title: L' Histoire des Hommes: L' Europe du Moyen Age; Donald Matthew, Atlas of MEDIEVAL EUROPE, NY, Oxford: Facts On File, CR Equinox (Oxford), Ltd, 1983, An Equinox Book, p. 102.

2775- George Holmes, ed., The Oxford Illustrated History of Medieval Europe, Oxford Un. Press, 1988, 198-99.

2776- Holmes, The Oxford Illustrated History of Medieval Europe, 198-99; Marjorie Rowling, Drawings by John Mansbridge, Text B.T. Batsford Ltd., 1971, & 1989, Everyday Life of Medieval Travellers, (Dorset Press), 147; Ohler, The MEDIEVAL TRAVELLER, 186. Shell symbols can be seen on the badge of Saint James. See the detail from a cloister at Mosaic, not far from one of the great pilgrim roads.

2777- Tristram P. Coffin, The Book of Christmas Folklore, NY: A Continuum Book, Seabury Press, 1973, 51.

2778- Leonard W. Cowie, 1962, The March of the Cross, NY, London, etc.: McGraw-Hill Book, 80, fig.87.

2779- ANF, 6:392, Oration Concerning Simeon & Anna, On the Day That They Met in The Temple, XII.

2780- Sage Digital Library, N&PNF, 1st series, 2:749-50, Augustine, City of God, book 17, chapter 8.

2781- Leonard W. Cowie, 1962, The March of the Cross, NY, Lon., etc.: McGraw-Hill Book, 80, fig.87.

2782- N&PNF, 13:293-301; Joseph Gantner & Marcel Pobe, Romanesque Art In France, Thames & Hudson, 1956, pl.135, p. 64. Roland H. Bainton, The Horizon History of Christianity, USA.: Eng. Ed., American Heritage Co., 1964, 214-15; Zaleski, Otherworld Journeys, 17-74; Lundy, Monumental Christianity, 259 & 262. Thorpe, The Pilgrimage & Struggle of The Human Family In & Through The Different Realms of Existences, 1991; Thorpe, Jesus Christ's Everlasting Gospel & Ancient "Patternism" (SLC, Utah: 1990 unpublished manuscript).

2783- Ephrem, of the Syrian Church, born at Nisibis in Mesopotamia about 306 A.D., and died about 378 A.D. In a work entitled: The Pearl, Or, Seven Rhythms On The Faith, Ephrem Syrus (Ephraim Syrus) presented a number of types for baptism, the mysteries, & the descent of Christ into the abyss. The sea was a type of baptism and tomb which divers came up from. Divers were also a type of those who went through the mysteries, for they put on Christ, were anointed with oil, took off garments to be clothed in raiments of glory and light, and were crowned. "The naked men in a type saw thy rising again by the seashore; and by the side of the lake the Apostles, truly naked, saw the rising again of the Son of thy Creator.... The diver arose from the sea and put on his garments; and from the lake also Simon Peter came swimming, and put on his garments; each was clad, as with clothes, with love for both of you." Ed. in Chief, Guy Carleton Lee, Ph.D., The World's Orators, NY; Lon.: Un. Edition, G.P. Putnam's Sons, The Knickerbocker Press, 1900, 193-214.

2784- Andre Maurois An Illustrated History of Germany from French, Stephen Hardman Lon.: Bodley Head 1966
Librairie Hachette 1965, 80-1. 13th c. MINNESANG. Hesso II of Reinach d.1280 lord of Aargau receives poor.

2785- John McManners, Editor, The Oxford Illustrated History of Christianity, New York, Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1990, p.632.

2786- Fra Angelico, Giovanni Guido, A.D. 1387— 1455, depicts, Christ the Pilgrim, 1440 AD. In the Monastery of San Marco, Florence, Italy. Christ is greeted by hand clasps, by two Dominican monks. For original see: John Pope-Hennessy, Fra Angelico, (1952), & 1974, Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, pl.70. "CHRIST AS PILGRIM RECEIVED BY TWO DOMINICANS. Cloister, San Marco, Florence. AD 1440]. He is in the guise of a Pilgrim. Albert E. Bailey, (Director of Religious Education Worcester Academy, Mass., 1916), The Gospel in Art, (Boston & Chicago: Pilgrim Press), 382-385, 438-444.

2787- George Ferguson, Signs & Symbols In Christian Art, (New York: Oxford University Press), p. 206. Great Art and Artists of the World, German And Spanish to 1900, Edited by Dr. Horst Vey, and Dr. Xavier de Salas, (575 Lexington, New York: Franklin Watts, Inc.,) 1965, page 113. St. Dorothy clasping the hand of the wandering Christ child. Based on a 15th work, 1420 A.D. See: H. W. Janson & Joseph Keman, A History of Art & Music, (New York, New York: Harry N. Abrams, Publishers), 95, fig. 118.

2788- Alla Rusakova, Mikhail NESTEROV, (Leningrad, Russia: Aurora Art Publishers, 1990), p. 17, The Way to Christ, 1908-11, Wall painting in the refectory of the Convent of Sts Martha and Mary in Moscow. Cat. No. 266. Christ grasping the hands of those bowed down before in, as he greets people in Russia.

2789- Lundy, Monumental Christianity, p. 264. Marion P. Ireland: "The fish has been identified with baptism by the early Christian writers, such as Tertullian who wrote: "But we, little fish, are born in water." (Van der Meer and Mohrmann, Atlas of the Early Christian World, p.55). "In Jewish art, water filled with fish signifies resurrection." (Goodenough, Jewish Symbols V, 36-61. Running water, or "living water" also represented the life giving water, or "living water" which Christ offers to his followers (John 4:10, 13—14; Matthew 3:11; Jeremiah 2:13; Ezekiel 36:25). Marion P. Ireland, Textile Art in the Church, Vestments, Paraments, & Hangings in Contemporary Worship, Art, & Architecture, (Nashville & NY: Abingdon Press, 1966, 67, 71), 86-87, 90-91. Clement, edited by Katherine E. Conway, A Handbook Of Christian Symbols And Stories Of The Saints As Illustrated In Art, (Boston; New York: Houghton Mifflin Company, The Riverside Press Cambridge, 1871, 1881, & 1886). Fredk, WM. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Christ Lore (Being the Legends, Traditions, Myths, Symbols, & Superstitions of The Christian Church), (London: 1902, repub., Detroit: Gale Research Co., Book Tower, 1969). George Ferguson, Signs & Symbols In Christian Art, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1959). Goblet D'Alviella, (The Count), The Migration of Symbols, (Westminster, 1894, reproduced by Un. Books, 1956). Heather Child & Dorothy Colles, 1971, Christian Symbols Ancient & Modern, (Charles Scribner's Sons, Great Britain).

2790- Pellistrandi, The Early Christian Civilization, p.180-99; Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, p.123—26; Frend, Martyrdom & Persecution In The Early Church, p. 124-25; (PC&EC), Garretson, Primitive Christianity and Early Criticisms, p. 10-11, 71-73, & 87-88; Mortan Smith, The Secret Gospel, The Discovery & Interpretation of the Secret Gospel According to Mark, (New York, Harper & Row, 1973), p. 72-123; Benko, Pagan Rome & Early Christianity, p.1-162; F.A. Wright, Fathers of the Church, (London: George Routledge & Sons, 1926), p. 26-51; Hoffmann, Celsus On The True Doctrine, p. 95-96; Robert M. Grant, David Noel Freedman, The Secret Sayings of Jesus, Garden City, NY: Doubleday & Co., 1960, p.17-187; Thorpe, When Our Faith Is Challenged, vol. 2, p. 55-69; By Study & Also by Faith, vol.1 p. 202-21, chapter 11, Aspects of an Early Christian Initiation Ritual, William J. Hamblin. Chap. 24: The Handclasp & Embrace as Tokens of Recognition.

2791- Hackwood, Christ Lore, p. 5.

2792- F.R. Webber, Church Symbolism, Cleveland: J. H. Jansen, 1938, & reprint Detroit: Gale Research Co., Book Tower, 1971, 57, pl. 6, fig. 4; p. 45, pl. 4, fig.19; p. 46-47.

2793- Metford, Dictionary Of Christian Lore & Legend, p. 99-100.

2794- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 8, p. 473, The Avenging Of The Saviour.

2795- Sir John Rothenstein, C.B.E., Ph.D., LL.D., General Editorial Consultant, New International Illustrated Encyclopedia Of Art, NY: Greystone Press, MCMLXVII, 2:402-03: Is the panel altar of Saint Peter, church of Santa Maria in Tarrasa, near Barcelona, Spain. The art work is by Luis Borassa, early 15th c. Peter is half way in and out of the water, as Christ clasps, with his left hand, the right hand of Peter, to raise him up. Kelly, The Devil At Baptism, 9-12, 20-32. In Anthony Cutler's Transfigurations, Studies in the Dynamics of Byzantine Iconography, Park & Lon.: The Pennsylvania State Un., 1975, fig. 65, Monreale, Duomo: St. Peter is saved from drowning, for Christ stands on top of the waves as he pulls him up by grasping, with his right hand, the right wrist of Peter. This is very similar to wrist grasps in numerous depictions of Christ's descent into hell. Ibid., fig. 85, Athos, Lavra, skevophylakion, fol. 1v, Anastasis, & fig.87, Trebizond, Hagia Sophia, St. John; Anastasis. Peter, in turn, is also one who was given power from Christ to raise souls up too. For in a number of art works, Peter was given keys to loose or to bind, or lock hell's gate. He descends into hell with his key and reaches down to those in hell, (just like Christ did), and raises them up by the hand, and guides them over into paradise. In some cases, he stands before the door to paradise and greets with hand grasps as they ascend to paradise. Richard Marks & Nigel Morgan, The Golden Age of English Manuscript Painting 1200-1500, NY: George Braziller, Inc., 1981, fig.III, Portrait of William de Brailes, Cambridge, Fitzwilliam Museum, MS. 330, last Judgment, p. 9.

2796- Anthony S. Mercatante, The Facts On File Encyclopedia Of World Mythology & Legend, NY, Oxford: Facts On File, 1982, 108-9.

2797- In early to later scattered branches of Christianity, there are many differences of course. However, a common element to becoming divine, is seen in the spirits' (in some cases), or the newly resurrected persons' ascension with Christ, or the angels, into heaven. Christ is the example, as Clement of Alexandria has suggested: "...How, then, may I ascend to heaven, is it said? The Lord is the way; a strait way,..." (The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 2: pp.199-

200; & John 3:13). In what way did Christ ascend into heaven? In the early to later Christian art works of Christ's ascension into heaven. We see a number of examples & cases in which the Father's right hand is depicted as extending down from heaven to clasp Christ's right hand. These hand clasping 'rites of passage' are performed, in many cases, before entering into other realms, such as heaven. For example, Christ is "raised up" by the Father, with a helping hand clasp, as he ascends into heaven. Which hand shake also acts as a Divine welcome, & greeting-token, as God the Father greets & welcomes His Son back into His Heavenly home, & the Father's Heavenly Kingdom. There to reign, & sit on the right hand of blessedness, in radiant glory, love, & power, etc., with the Father. Christ, in turn, raises up the repentant in the resurrection from the place of the dead, or the grave, limbo, hades, the pit, &, or "the lower parts of the earth," etc. Again, the art works also show different kinds of hand clasps involved in this very act. And in thus resurrecting the soul & freeing the captive spirits, Christ is also in the process leading us back into heaven, thus the ascension. Again, hinted to by Clement in the words that Christ was in the act of "leading back to heaven" the pure ones who had been washed (The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 2: p. 199-200). Or as Peter puts it: "that He [Christ] might bring us to God" after having preached the gospel to the spirits in prison. And having led the captives free from the prison house, by clasping a hold of their hands (1 Peter 3:18-22; 4:5-6; & Isaiah 42:6-7). And as Paul wrote to the Ephesians. "Wherefore he saith, When he ascended up on high, he led captivity captive, and gave gifts unto men, (Now that he ascended, what is it but he also descended first into the lower parts of the earth? He that descended is the same also that ascended up far above all heavens, that he might fill all things.)" (Ephesians 4:8-14). In the mysteries, there were many types of hints as to what would happen to the body & spirit in the resurrection. Christ was the example to follow, the mysteries centered around the life He lived & the death He died, the manner in which he was resurrected, & His ascension into heaven. All these things were types & examples of that which would also happen, eventually, to the repentant & righteous. (Oakeshott, Classical Inspiration In Medieval Art, pl.80; Swarzenski, Monuments of Romanesque Art, pl. 15, fig.34 & 35, & pl. 66, fig.151; Anthony, Romanesque Frescoes, #40; Bergman, The Salerno Ivories, p.103 & 106, fig.179 & 185; By Study & Also By Faith, vol. 1, pp. 611—42, Compton. See also: Williamson, The Medieval Treasury, p.116-7; Beckwith, Ivory Carvings in Early Medieval England, #33; Bianca Kuhnel, 1987, From the Earthly to the Heavenly Jerusalem, fig. 87; Rhodes, Art Treasures Of Europe, p. 284, & 360, fig.294; The Lost Books of the Bible, the depiction in between pp. 240 & 241; Cheney, Sculpture of the World, p. 305. And others have depicted the point at which Christ's right hand clasps the Father's right hand (Zarnecki, Art Of The Medieval World, p.135, fig.132; Volbach, Early Christian Art, pl.93; Robb, The Art of the Illuminated Manuscript, p. 200—01, fig.135. Some art works show different kinds of hand clasps. Still, other artists have depicted the part in the ascension, at the point where Christ is in the process of being, pull up, or "raised up," by the Father into heaven. For Christ's hands are almost covered, & we don't see the Father's hand any more (The New Catholic Encyclopedia, vol. 1, p. 933, fig.2). While other artists have depicted the point where Christ's legs extend down, his upper part is already within the heavenly realm. Then others at the point at which Christ's entrances is almost completed, except for his feet. Thus we see just Christ's feet. Then others at the point in which Christ had completely entered the heavenly realm, leaving only feet prints where Christ had once stood. (See: Otto Pacht, The Rise Of Pictorial Narrative In Twelfth-Century England, (Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1962), pl.1, #1. "Enoch's translation. Caedmon MS., Oxford"). Some artist have depicted Enoch's ascension with angels in a similar way that Christ has been depicted. In some art works the artist had decided to depict a certain point in the motion, thus in some cases Christ's ascension is almost all the way into heaven except for his legs & feet which extend down into the realm He is almost exiting from (see plate VIII, 26. "The Ascension. Missal, Rouen"; 28. "Christ disappearing at Emmaus St. Albans Psalter, Hildesheim"). See also: Margaret M. Manion and Vera F. Vines, Medieval And Renaissance Illuminated Manuscripts In Australian Collections, (London; New York: Thames & Hudson, Melbourne, 1984), p.67, pl. 15, Ascension. No. 19, f.Ir; J. Boudet, Editor, Jerusalem A History, (New York: G.P. Putnam's Sons, 1967, Paul Hamlyn), p.172, The Ascension, Memling, right panel, Louvre, Paris.

2798- Thorpe, Water Spirits; Upon Them Hath the Light Shined; Kelly, The Devil at Baptism.

2799- Thorpe, The Pilgrimage & Struggles of The Human Family In & Through the Different Realms of Existences, (Salt Lake City, Utah: R. H. & P.S., 1990, an unpublished research paper and series at this time). See also: Kelly, The Devil At Baptism; Thorpe, The Mystery Behind The Mysteries, Ritualistic Realm Pilgrims In Early To Later Christian Mysteries, (Salt Lake City, Utah: An unpublished research paper for a College class. HIS 190-01 Special Studies. Instructor: Marianne McKnight. Student: DaReil Don Thorpe, Winter Quarter, 1997). See also: Zaleski, Otherworld Journeys, pp. 17—18; Thorpe, Ancient & Modern Near Death Experiences, (Salt Lake City, Utah: An unpublished research paper written for a College class, Fall Quarter, November 1996), p. 1-41; Thorpe, Pilgrimages Through Worlds And Realms, The Soul's Journey In Religious Histories, (Salt Lake City, Utah: An unpublished research paper compiled for a College class: HU-190-01. Instructor: Judy Lunt, student: Darell D. Thorpe, Fall Quarter, October 1996), p. 1-183; Donald W. Parry, Editor, Temples Of The Ancient World, Ritual and Symbolism, (Salt Lake City, & Provo, Utah: F.A.R.M.S., & Deseret Books, 1994).

2800- Albrecht Durer, Lucas Cranach, Hans Holbein, & Pieter Bruegel, Great Artists Of The Western World, The Northern Renaissance, (London; New York: Marshall Cavendish, 1985 & 1988, Sydney, Reference Edition published in 1988); Powel Mills Dawley, Christian Heritage, Church History and the Episcopal Church, (New York: Morehouse-Barlow Co., 1959, 3rd edition, 1960), p.49-50; Thorpe, THE HOLY GARMENTS OF THE FIRST AND SECOND ADAM: THE SYMBOLICAL MEANINGS OF GARMENTS IN EARLY TO LATER CHRISTENDOM, (Salt Lake City, Utah: R.H.&P.S., October, 1993, an unpublished research paper in a computer file). See also: Platt, Jr., The Forgotten Books of Eden; Jeffrey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988), p.122; Dr. Hugu W. Nibley, What is a Temple, (IDE-T), The Idea of a Temple in History, Reprinted by F.A.R.M.S., from: The Millennial Star 120 (Aug. 1958), 228-37; Cyril of Jerusalem [A.D. 315-386], see his Lectures On The Mysteries, in The Post Nicene and Nicene Fathers, vol. 7, p. 144-157, Five Catechetical Lectures, Lecture XIX, First Lectures On The Mysteries. See all 5 lectures.

2801- Thorpe, Jesus Christ's Everlasting Gospel and Ancient "Patternism"; Thorpe, The Pilgrimage and Struggle of the Human Family in and Through the Different Realms of Existences.

2802- C. R. Dodwell; Editors: Nikolaus Pevsner and Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (Harmondsworth, Middlesex; Baltimore, Md.; Ringwood, Victoria, Australia: Penguin Books, 1971), vol. 34, Painting in Europe 800 to 1200, p. xvii, plate 190. Salzburg: 12th c. Vienna, Nationalbibliothek, Christ appearing to his disciples, from an Antiphonary. Early Italian Art, (Boston: University Prints), Series B, see B 357, The Incredulity of Thomas, Academy, Venice, Cima da Conegliano. A.D. 1459—1517, Venetian School. Christ clasps Thomas' wrist as he feels side wound with his finger. Another saint is present witnessing this event. On the glove of his left hand is a symbol in the middle of it. Fernandez, Arte Mexicano, fig. 144—López de Arteaga, Santo Tomás, s. XVII. México. MNAP. Christ grasps, with his right hand, the right wrist of saint Thomas, and thus helps him feel the wound in his side. The Early Italian Schools (Before 1400), (National Gallery Catalogues) by Martin Davies, revised by Dillian Gordan, Pub. & CR by the National Gallery 1988 in London, see pl. 52, Master of the Blessed Clare, Vision of the Blessed Clare of Rimini (No. 6503); The French Primitives And Their Forms (From their Origin to the End of the 15th Century), by Albert C. Barnes & Violette De Mazia, Pub. by Barnes Foundation Press, Merion, PA., USA, 1931, p. 271; Gothic and Renaissance Art in Nuremberg 1300-1550 by the Metropolitan Museum of Art, N.Y., & Germanisches Nationalmuseum, Nuremberg, CR 1986 Philippe de Montebello, Director, see p. 151, fig. 28, Master of the Bamberg Altarpiece, showing Christ as the man of sorrows, has his left hand raised, while his right arm is down and is extended out, he is being embraced by the Virgin Mary. See also: Italian Renaissance Sculpture, by John Pope-Hennessy, Pub. by Phaidon Press in London, 1958, fig. 81, Verrocchio: Christ displays his wounds, see also detail in fig. 57, San Michele, Florence.

2803- They hoped to enter into schools which would help them progress towards developing different Christ like traits. Thus, numerous monasteries were built all over Christendom, as if they were schools to help those who became monks to advance through: "the degrees of self-improvement and penance, leading to the attainment of moral perfection and the soul's ascent to heaven. This process is symbolized by a ladder of thirty rungs, to be climbed by the faithful who wish to enter the gates of heaven. The righteous are welcomed at the top by Christ. . ." Olga Popova, Russian Illuminated Manuscripts, (Leningrad, Russia: Aurora Art Publishers, 1984, translated by Kathleen Cook, Vladimir Ivanov & Lenina Sorokina, Pub. in the USA by Thames & Hudson, see #42.

2804- Popova, Russian Illuminated Manuscripts, #42; Geoffrey Barraclough, Editor, The Christian World, (New York: Harry N. Abrams, 1981), p.100-101; Antione Bon, The Ancient Civilizations of Byzantium, (London: Barrie & Jenkins, 1972), p. 114, fig. 71; Martin, The Illustration of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus; Kurt Weitzmann, The Place of Book Illumination in Byzantine Art, p. 40-41, figures 33- 34.

2805- Christ himself had used the story as a type while predicting his descent, "for as Jonas was three days and three nights in the whale's belly, so shall the Son of Man be three days and three nights in the heart of the earth" (Matt. 12:39-41); Lundy, Monumental Christianity, 1876, p. 258-264; G. Elliott Smith, Elephants & Ethnologists, (NY: E. P. Dutton & Co., 1924), p.78, note 2, William Simpson, The Jonah Legend, 1899, p.127; Metford, Dictionary Of Christian Lore & Legend, see hell. "Hell is symbolized by the mouth of a whale, recalling Jonah in the belly of a great fish, Leviathan, the sea monster mentioned by Job (Job 41:1)." The Development of Christian Doctrine Before the Council of Nicaea, vol. 1, The Theology of Jewish Christianity, by Jean Danielou, (Darton, Longman & Todd & Chicago: The Henry Regnery Co.), Translated by John A. Barker, p. 225; & the Testament of Asher. Cyril of Jerusalem, Cat. Lect. III:11 says that Christ broke the head of the dragon, for he went down to bind the strong one in the waters: "The theme of the dragon in the waters of death, and Christ's baptism as a descent into the dragon's domain was to endure in tradition." Per Lundberg, La Typologie baptismale dans l' Ancienne Eglise, p.64-166. Olivier Rousseau showed it was symbolic of Christ's descent, & his victory over satan. (' La descente aux enfers figure du bapteme Chretien', Mel. Lebreton, II, p. 286). Anton Baumstark shows that it persisted in Greek prayers over baptismal water to consecrate the water (Liturgie comparée, 1st ed., Chevetogne, 1939, p.147). Danielou also shows that baptism was a type of Christ's descent. (The Development of Christian Doctrine Before the Council of Nicaea, vol.1, p. 228, Ignatius III.2, baptism destroyed death). Christ's descent into the waters purified it from the presence of demonic beings. Danielou, vol. 1, p. 227.

2806- Thorpe, Upon Them Hath the Light Shined; Kelly, The Devil At Baptism.

2807- G. Elliott Smith, Elephants & Ethnologists, (New York: E. P. Dutton & Co., 1924), p. 78, note 2, William Simpson, The Jonah Legend, 1899, p. 127). Metford, Dictionary Of Christian Lore and Legend, Manly P. Hall, 1977, The Secret Teachings of All Ages, LXXXV Fishes. Christ's descent into the waters of Jordan, according to Jewish Christian texts, was regarded as a type of descent into the waters of death where the dragon lives. (See: Jean Danielou, Translated by John A. Barker, The Development of Christian Doctrine Before the Council of Nicaea, vol. 1, The Theology of Jewish Christianity, (Todd & Chicago: Darton, Longman & The Henry Regnery Company), p. 225; & the Testament of Asher. Cyril of Jerusalem, Cat. Lecture III: 11 says that Christ broke the head of the dragon, for he went down to bind the strong one in the waters. "The theme of the dragon in the waters of death, and Christ's baptism as a descent into the dragon's domain was to endure in tradition." (Per Lundberg, La Typologie baptismale dans l' Ancienne Eglise, p. 64-166). Olivier Rousseau showed it was symbolic of Christ's descent, & his victory over satan. (' La descente aux enfers figure du bapteme Chretien', Mel. Lebreton, II, p. 286). Anton Baumstark shows that it persisted in Greek prayers over baptismal water to consecrate the water (Liturgie comparée, (Chevetogne, 1939), p. 147.

2808- Thorpe, Upon Them Hath the Light Shined; Kelly, The Devil At Baptism; Thorpe, Water Spirits.

2809- N&PNF, 4:406, Four Discourses Against The Arians, Discourse III, Chapter 25:23.

2810- Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, p.74-75.

2811- ANF, 5:515, The Treatises of Cyprian, Treatise XII, Second Book, Heads, 23-25.

2812- ANF, 5:515-16, The Treatises of Cyprian, Treatise XII, Second Book, Testimonies, 1. Citing from the Apocrypha, Ecclesiasticus 27:3--7.

2813- Guy Carleton Lee, Ph.D. , Editor in Chief, The World's Orators, (New & London: University Edition, G.P. Putnam's Sons, The Knickerbocker Press, 1900), p. 193-214; The Nicene And Post-Nicene Fathers, Vol. XIII, pp. 293-301; Sir John Rothenstein, C.B.E., Ph.D., LL.D., General Editorial Consultant, New International Illustrated Encyclopedia Of Art, (New York: Greystone Press, MCMLXVII, etc.), in Vol. 2, p. 402—03.

2814- ANF, 6:62; The Second Homily, On the Annunciation To The Holy Virgin Mary.

2815- ANF, 4:288, Origen De Principiis, Book 2, chapter 8:3.

2816- Sage Digital Library, see: N&PNF, 1st series, vol. 2, p. 928, Augustine, City of God, book 20, chap.15.

2817- Geoffrey Barraclough, The Christian, (New York: Harry N. Abrams, 1981), p. 8-9; Thorpe, Water Spirits (SLC, Utah: Research Paper for a college class, History 190—History Through Films. Instructor: Ernest Randa. Student: Darell Thorpe. Paper on the 5th Annual International Film Festival, April 28—May 3, 1997. Spring Quarter, 1997), p. 4-8; Manly P. Hall, The Secret Teachings of All Ages, (1977), LXXXV, fishes, etc. See also: Metford, Dictionary Of Christian Lore and Legend, p. 118, Hell.

2818- Another art work shows a pregnant woman standing near water out of which comes a 7-headed dragon. See: Lilian M. C. Randall, etc., Medieval and Renaissance Manuscripts in the Walters Art Gallery, vol. 1, France. 875-1420, (Baltimore and London: The John Hopkins University Press in Association with The Walters Art Gallery, 1989), p. 292, pl. vic, cat. 74, f. 262v; Kelly, The Devil At Baptism, pp. 10-12 & 17-24, etc.; George Frederick Kunz, Rings For The Finger, (New York: Originally published in 1917, republished by J. B. Lippincott. Republished by Dover Publishing Inc., 1973), pp. 254-55, see also note 8, Raoul Rochette, "Tableau des Catacombes de Rome," (Paris: 1837), pp. 235, 236; Rowling, Everyday Life of Medieval Travellers, p. 147; Morgan, Early Gothic Manuscripts, [II], 1250 - 1285, fig.5; See also: Margaret E. Tabor, The Saints In Art, With Their Attributes And Symbols Alphabetically Arranged, (New York: Frederick A. Stokes Co.), see title pages. Morgan, A Survey of Manuscripts Illuminated in the British Isles, fig. 308, fig. 5; McGraw-Hill Dictionary of Art, vol. 5, p.269; Janson, History of Art, pp. 303, fig.466; Clement, A Handbook Of Legendary And Mythological Art, pp.74-77; Mercatante, The Facts On File Encyclopedia Of World Mythology And Legend, pp. 108—09, 177-8; Lundy, Monumental Christianity, p. 259; 279-80, fig. 124, & pp. 286, & 291; Jacob Neusner, Editor, Origins of Judaism, vol. III, Part 1, Judaism and Christianity in the First Century, (New York; London: Garland Publishing, Inc., 1990), pp. 104-109, & 267; Metford, Dictionary Of Christian Lore and Legend, p. 100; Osborne, The Oxford Companion To Art, pp.525 & 526; Harby, The Bible In Art, p. 265; Huges, Heaven and Hell in Western Art, p. 187, the shape of the mouth of the cave reminds us of the jaws of hell. See also pp. 195-7, the shape of hell is in the "traditional fish-shape," and "through gaping fish-mouth pour jubilant flocks of redeemed souls, raising their arms towards the mandorla in which Christ has floated down to them." See also: Barracough, The Christian World, pp. 8-9; Cheney, A World History of Art, p. 467; Bonnefoy, Mythologies, vol. 2, p. 653; Alfred Loisy, [1857-- 1940], The Birth Of The Christian Religion, (University Books, Inc., 1962), pp. 235-7; Ferguson, Encyclopedia Of Early Christianity, p. 411: In the Latin west, the baptismal creed of the Italian see of Aquileia (Rufinus, Symb. 18;28) made reference to the descent. S. Cyril of Jerusalem, Library of Fathers, vol. II, pp. 260—66, Lectures XIX—XX, Cyril on the Mysteries, (Oxford, London: John Henry Parker, MDCCCXXXIX). Lundy wrote that Ciampini explains an ancient mosaic on the right of the altar, in the chapel of St. Pudentiana, in Rome, as representing nude trine immersion and Confirmation together. "The legend is significant enough. "Here in the living font the dead are born again." (Lundy, Monumental Christianity, p. 388—89; Millet, L'Iconographie De L'evangile, p.199, fig. 172.

2819- Thorpe, Water Spirits; Upon Them Hath the Light Shined. Kelly, The Devil At Baptism, 11-32, 59-87.

2820- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 3, 8, 62–63, 70–71, 79, 94, 148–150, 173, 214, 217, 258–261, 316–318, 363, 385, 457, 464, 490–91, 536. Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (New York; London, England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc., 1989), 39–42, 81–82, 130–34.

2821- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 3, 8, 62–63, 70–71, 79, 94, 148–150, 173, 214, 217, 258–261, 316–318, 363, 385, 457, 464, 490–91, 536. Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (New York; London, England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc., 1989), 39–42, 81–82, 130–34.

2822- Budge, Miscellaneous Oriental Coptic Texts, p. 763, The Discourse of Cyril, Archbishop of Jerusalem, On the Cross, (British Museum, Oriental, No. 6799); Daniel 7:27; Psalm 72:8; 145:13.

2823- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 8, p. 242, The Clementine Homilies, Homily III, chaps. XIX & XX.

2824- David Hatcher Childress, Lost Cities of Ancient Lemuria & The Pacific, (Stelle, Illinois: Adventures Unlimited Press, 1988), p. 150-51.

2825- Childress, Lost Cities Of North & Central America, Stelle, Illinois: Adventures Unlimited Press, 1992, 247-49.

2826- Childress, Lost Cities & Ancient Mysteries Of South America, (Stelle, IL.: Adventures Unlimited Press, 1986), p. 21.

2827- Lee Roddy & Charles E. Sellier Jr., In Search of Historic Jesus, (New York, Toronto & London: Bantam Books, December 1979, paper back edition), 9.

2828- Vaughn E. Hansen, 1993, Whence Came They? Israel, Britain & The Restoration, (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, Inc.) introduction xi-xv.

2829- Hansen, Whence Came They?, p.19.

2830- Darell Thorpe, Christ's Pilgrimage Unto The Ends Of The Earth, SLC, Utah, 1997, unpub. manuscript.

2831- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 3, p. 157-58, Tertullian, An Answer To The Jews, Chapter, VII.

2832- Thorpe, Christ's Pilgrimage Unto The Ends Of The Earth.

2833- Hansen, Whence Came They?, p.19.

2834- Hansen, Whence Came They? p.43.

2835- Reader's Digest, After Jesus, p.23; Maus, The Church And The Fine Arts, p.300-303, from New Six O'Clock Saints, by Joan Windham, p. 92-97, CR 1945 by Sheed Ward, Inc.

2836- Coffin, The Book of Christmas Folklore, p.64.

2837- Hansen, Whence Came They? p. 92, 114-5, 129, & 132, reference 11 & 38, C. C. Dobson. Did Our Lord Visit Britain as They Say in Cornwall & Somerset? Lon.: Covenant Pub., Co., Ltd., 1986, p. 31-33, And reference 38, Ernest L. Whitehead, The House of Israel (Independence, Missouri: Zion Printing & Pub., Co., 1947), p.167.

2838- Hansen, Whence Came They?, p. 92-93.

2839- Hansen, Whence Came They?, p. 92, & 130, reference 13. Isabel Hill Elder, Joseph of Arimathea (Glastonbury, England: Real Israel Press, 1988), p.13-14.

2840- Eichler, 1924, The Customs Of Mankind, p. 463-64; Crawford, Survival of Legends, 1952, p.62-3, see also notes 74 & 79, & p.82, which makes reference to R. H. Schauffler's book: Christmas, (New York: 1907), see introduction xi; Mabie, The Book of Christmas, p.38; Smith & Hazeltine, The Christmas Book of Legends & Stories, p.277-279, 353-361, & 385-400; Ichikawa, text Willson, 1983, Merry Christmas, p.29-31, 39, & 51; Sansom, A Book of Christmas, p.80 & 168-9; Crippen, Christmas And Christmas Lore, p.105.

2841- Maus, The Church And The Fine Arts, pp. 259-60, under the title: St. Augustine of Canterbury, abridged from The Golden Legend, Vol. 3, translated by William Caxton in 1483; Wence Came They, Hansen, p. 6-7.

2842- Art and Archaeology, The Arts Throughout the Ages, volume 25, January, 1928, #1, p. 24, article entitled: The Royal Academy of History in Spain, by Vicente Castaneda. "SAINT AUGUSTINE WASHING THE FEET OF CHRIST AS A PILGRIM. TANNER'S ALTAR. MUSEUM OF BARCELONA."

2843- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 8, p. 433, The Gospel of Nicodemus, Second Greek Form, chapter 15.

2844- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 8, p. 474, The Avenging Of The Savior.

2845- Coffin, The Book Of Christmas Folklore, p. 59.

2846- Phillips, British Library Series No. 3, The Benedictines In Britain, see the chapter by D. H. Turner, 'Guests, Who Are Never Lacking In A Monastery' p. 54-57.

- 2847- From the Internet: Van Morrison Glossary entry for "Jesus Walking Down by Avalon" <http://www.harbour.sfu.ca/~hayward/van/glossary/avalon.html>, article entitled: Glossary entry for Jesus Walking Down by Avalon, pages one through two, rock & roll singer & song writer, Van Morrison song lyrics: Common One album, <http://www.harbour.sfu.ca/~hayward/van/lyrics/commonone.html> # track 2, article entitled: Van Morrison song lyrics: Common One album, p. 1-3.
- 2848- From the Internet, Van Morrison Glossary entry for "Jesus Walking Down by Avalon" <http://www.harbour.sfu.ca/~hayward/van/glossary/avalon.html>, article entitled: Glossary entry for Jesus Walking Down by Avalon, p. 1-2.
- 2849- Eleanor C Merry, The Flaming Door, The Mission of the Celtic Folk-Soul, (Edinburgh: Floris Books, 1962, 1983, first published in 1936 by Rider & Co. Revised in 1962 by New Knowledge Books, East Grinstead, Sussex. Reprinted, 1983 by Floris Books), 195-209, etc., especially p. 208 for mention of the Bride legend, Celtic folk-lore blended with Christian legends.
- 2850- Elva Sophronia Smith & Alice Isabel Hazeltine, The Christmas Book of Legends & Stories, (New York: Lee & Shepard Co., 1944, Lothrop, 3rd printing, Oct. 1945), 277-279, 353-361, & 385-400. James Charlton & Barbara Gilson, (editors), A Christmas Treasury of Yuletide Stories & Poems, (USA: Barnes & Nobles Books, 2002, Guild America Books, 1976), 272-74.
- 2851- Bart D. Ehrman, The New Testament, A Historical Introduction to the Early Christian Writings, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2000, 2nd Ed.), 10, 181-261.
- 2852- Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1993, 10 & 181-261, p. 36, note 35, p. 245, note 21: Clement, Strom. VI, 9; Origen, SerMt 100. Acts of John, 89-93. John A. McGuckin, "The Changing Forms of Jesus."
- 2853- Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (New York, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993), 10 & 181-261, p. 36, note 35, p. 245, note 21: Clement, Strom. VI, 9; Origen, SerMt 100. Acts of John, 89-93. John A. McGuckin, "The Changing Forms of Jesus." See: Luke 22:13-27, (sacrament), appears, Matt. 25:13-14, 31-46, 28:9-10, Mark 16:9-15, Luke 24:13-48, John 20:11-31. Darell Thorpe, The Christ in Santa Unmasked [How Modern Traditions & Legends About Santa Can Be Traced Back To The Early Christian Doctrine That Christ Went to Other Nations Around The World]. (CR 1994, revised December 1995). Thorpe, Christ's Pilgrimage Unto the Ends of the Earth (1996). Jesus Christ, The World Wide Wounded Wanderer, 1992, 1998, Revised 2011, 2ND Ed. 2013, First illustrated Ed., 3rd Text, 12-12-2013).
- 2854- Chandler Rathfon Post, A History of Spanish Painting, (Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1953, and in New York: Kraus reprint Company, 1970), vol. 11, p. 123-24, figure 38, Nicolas Falco. "CHRIST AS BEGGAR." 16th century. See other volumes in this series.
- 2855- Smith & Hazeltine, The Christmas Book of Legends & Stories, 277-279, 353-361, & 385-400.
- 2856- Krythe, All About Christmas, p.128.
- 2857- C.R. Dodwell; Eds: Nikolaus Pevsner & Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, Harmondsworth, Middlesex; Baltimore, Md.; Ringwood, Victoria, Australia: Penguin Books, 1971, vol.34, Painting in Europe 800 to 1200, p.xvii, pl.190. Salzburg: 12th c. Vienna, Nationalbibliothek, Christ appears to disciples, an Antiphony.
- 2858- Eugene Seach, Was Freemasonry Derived From Mormonism? (Salt Lake City, Utah: From the Internet, <http://www.shields-research.org/Masonry.html> p.8, & notes 32--33, on p. 16. Benjamin F. Bart & Robert Francis Cook, The Legendary Sources of Flaubert's Saint Julian, (Toronto & Buffalo, 1977), p. 46-8, 134-6, 151; Joachim Jeremias, in Theological Dictionary of the New Testament, (Grand Rapids: 1976, editors: Kittel & Friederich), vol. 5, p. 690; Raphael Patai, The Messiah Texts, 20, 31-2, 105.
- 2859- Eugene Seach, Was Freemasonry Derived From Mormonism? (Salt Lake City, Utah: From the Internet, <http://www.shields-research.org/Masonry.html> p.7 & note 32 on p. 16. Benjamin F. Bart and Robert Francis Cook, The Legendary Sources of Flaubert's Saint Julian, (Toronto and Buffalo, 1977), 46-8, 134-6, 151.
- 2860- Hartman Rector, Jr. The Ensign, January 1974, p. 105-107. Talk: You Shall Receive the Spirit.
- 2861- Marjorie R. Kaufman, (revised Lowell's works, see: The Poetical Works of James Russell Lowell, Cambridge Edition, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1978), 106-11. Lowell A.D. 1816-1891. "The Vision of Sir Launfal", written early in 1848, published in the middle of December, 1848. Derived from the mythological stories about the Holy Grail which Christ drank from at the 'Last Supper'. The following poem enlarges on the circle of knights who sought after the grail during and after King Arthur's reign.
- 2862- Lillian Eichler, The Customs Of Mankind (With Notes on Modern Etiquette & the Newest Trend in Entertainment, Garden City, NY: Nelson Doubleday, 1924, 463-4; Roselle Williams Crawford, Survival of Legends, Legends & Their Relation to History, Literature and Life of the Southwest, (San Antonio, Texas: The Naylor Company, 1952), p. 62-63, notes 74 & 79, & p.82; Robert Haven Schauffler, (Editor), Christmas, Its Origin, Celebration And Significance As Related In Prose and Verse, NY: 1907, Dodd, Mead & Company, 1947, introd. xi; Hamilton W. Mabie, The Book of Christmas, (Toronto, Canada: Macmillan Co., LTD.), p.38.
- 2863- In the 20th century, St. Christopher, the patron of travelers. There is a church in the Javel area of Paris where certain cars are made. He is dedicated to his patronage and the motorists' plaques often bear the ancient inscription: "Behold St. Christopher and go thy way in safety." In 1969 the Holy See reduced his feast of July 25th. (H. Usener, Acta S. Marinae et S. Christophori (1886), 54-76; W. Morris and F.S. Ellis (edd.), The Golden Legend (1892); H. C. Waite, St. Christopher in English Medieval Wallpainting (1929); H. F. Rosenfeldt, Der hl. Christophorus (1937); C. Johnson, St. Christopher (1938); A. Masseron, Saint Christopher, patron des auto-mobilistes (1933); A. Caiger-Smith, English Medieval Mural Paintings (1963); G. McN. Rushforth, Medieval Christian Imagery (1936), 221-4.
- 2864- Justino Fernandez, Arte Mexicano, De Sus Origenes a Nuestros Dias, Av. República Argentina, 15; México, D. F.: Editorial Porrúa, S.A., 1961, Segunda Edición. Figs 86-87, Pereyñs, San Cristóbal, s. XVI. Catedral México.
- 2865- Mrs. Clara Erskine Clement, A Handbook Of Legendary And Mythological Art, (Boston & New York: Houghton Mifflin Company, The Riverside Press Cambridge 1871 & 1881), pp. 74-77; Anthony S. Mercatante, The Facts On File Encyclopedia Of World Mythology And Legend, 1988, Facts On File, pp.177-8; Sechrist and Woolsey, It's Time For Christmas, pp.54-57; Elva Sophronia Smith & Alice Isabel Hazeltine, The Christmas Book of Legends & Stories, (New York: Lothrop, Lee & Shepard Company, 1944, 3rd printing October, 1945), pp. 272-276; Rowling, Everyday Life of Medieval Travellers, p.147.

2866- Henry Trivick, 1971, The Picture Book of Brasses in Gilt, (London: John Baker 5 Royal Opera Arcade Pall Mall London SW 1), fig.99. "St Christopher on brass of William Complyn 1498, Weeke, Hants." Fig.100 "St. Christopher on brass of Ralph Tattershall c. 1470." Malcolm Norris, 1978, Monumental Brasses, The Craft, (London & Boston: Faber and Faber), fig.72.

2867- Jean Talaron, & Roseline Maitre Devallon, Treasures Of The Churches of France, NY: George Braziller, 1966), 271, fig. 13, Statuett Reliquary of St. Christopher, end of 15th c. Christ child holding orb.

2868- Band 1959, (Im Gemeinschaftsverlag, G. Grotesche Verlagsbuchhandlung Kg. Gebr. Mann, Verlagsort Berlin, p. 112, & 115, Abb. 54, St. Christopher and the Christ child who hold an orb in his hand. See also Volume Neunter Band 1967, pages 182, Abb. 5, Georg Petel, Hl. Weidenfeld & Nicolson, Lon., page 135, Deutsche Malerei 13.-16. Jh. 158, Österreichisch. Um 1420-30, Der Hl. Christophorus. Kat. Nr. 1890; p. 484, Italienische Malerei 17./18.Jh., figure 1394 Orazio Gentileschi, Landschaft mit dem Hl. Christophorus. Kat. Nr. 1707; Jahrbuch Der Berliner Museen, Jahrbuch der Preußischen Kunstsammlungen Neue Folge, In the same series, volume Neunter Band 1967, pages 182, Abb. 5, Georg Petel, Hl. Christophorus Gottingen, Kunstsammlung der Universität; and page 183, Abb. 6. Georg Petel, Hl. Christophorus Augsburg, Kath. Stadtpfarrkirche St. Moritz.

2869- Webster's Illustrated Encyclopedic Dictionary, Mont. Canada: Tormont Publications 1990, 1196 orb, #5.

2870- Saint Christopher holds the Christ-child in his arms while going through a river. (Rowling, Everyday Life of Medieval Travellers, p.147; Mrs. Clement, A Handbook Of Legendary And Mythological Art, p. 74-77; Mercatante, The Facts On File Encyclopedia Of World Mythology And Legend, pp. 177-8; Sechrist and Woolsey, It's Time For Christmas, (Written and Compiled by Elizabeth Hough 1959), pp. 54-57; Elva Sophronia Smith & Alice Isabel Hazeltine, The Christmas Book of Legends & Stories, (New York: Lothrop, Lee & Shepard Company, 1944, 3rd printing October 1945, pp. 272-276; Trivick, The Picture Book of Brasses in Gilt, fig.99. St Christopher on brass of William Complyn 1498, Weeke, Hants. Fig.100 St. Christopher on brass of Ralph Tattershall c. 1470; Malcolm Norris, Monumental Brasses, The Craft, (London and Boston: Faber and Faber, 1978), fig. 72; Eichler, The Customs Of Mankind, With Notes on Modern Etiquette and the Newest Trend in Entertainment, (Garden City, New York: Nelson Doubleday, Inc., 1924), pp. 463-64; The Renaissance, (Six Essays), (Harper Torchbook, 1962, CR 1953, by The Metropolitan Museum of Art), see Erwin Panofsky, pp.160-163, fig. 20. Conard Witz, St. Christopher, (Basel, Kunstmuseum), dated A.D. 1440; The Catholic Encyclopedia, (New York: The Gilmary Society, 1908), Vol. 3, pp. 728-29; Essays in Northern European Art, Presented to Egbert Haverkamp-Begemann, (Davaco Publishing, 1983, see 1 & 2, Albrecht Durer's 1512 versions & his 1511 depiction, 3. Chandler Rathfon Post, A History of Spanish Painting, (Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1935, Kraus reprint Company, New York, 1970, Vol. 2 (1930), pp. 91-3, fig. 115, p. 206; Vol. 4, Part I, (1933), pp. 193-5, fig. 53; Vol. 5, (1934), p. 51, fig. 17, the Christ child holds an orb while riding on the saints back. Vol. 6, Part II, pp. 479, fig. 199, p. 636-7, fig. 285; Vol. 7, Part I, (1938), pp. 796, 798, fig. 308; Vol. 8, Part I, (1941), pp. 354-7, fig. 153; Vol. 8, Part II, (1941), fig. 292, fig. 343, Christ holds an orb-cross banner while on Christopher's back, p. 727, fig. 347; Vol. 10, (1950), pp. 40-1, fig. 5; Vol. 11, (1953), pp. 356 & 358, fig. 148; Vol. 12, Part I, (1958), pp. 257-8, fig. 99, pp. 351-2, fig. 145, the Christ-child on St. Christopher's back appears to be holding an orb/cross-banner, a banner which he often takes with him on pilgrimages down into the underworld, hades, limbo or the spirit prison. See also pp. 488-9, fig. 212, pp. 688-9, fig. 303, pp. 694-5, fig. 307, Christ holding an orb. See also: Luzerner Historische Veröffentlichungen Band 24, Kloster und Pfarrei zu Franziskanern in Luzern, Clemens Hegglin/Fritz Glauser (Hg.), Rex-Verlag Luzern/Stuttgart 1989, page 344, fig. 3; Florens Deuchler, Marcel Roethlisberger, & Hans Luthy, Swiss Painting, From the Middle Ages to the Dawn of the Twentieth Century, (New York: Skira Rizzoli, 1976), p. 45, St. Christopher with Christ-child on his shoulder by Heinrich Buchler active 1466-1483; De Noord-Nederlandsche Schilderkunst, Door G. J. Hoogewerff, Pub. Martinus Nijhoff, 1939, p. 25, Afb. 3, on p. 70, Afb. 32, the Christ-child on his shoulders holding an orb-cross. Page 123, Afb. 62, Christ stands on an orb. Page 360, Afb. 190, a small Christ-child rides on top of a very large orb-cross that Christopher is being weighed down with while crossing a river. A similar depiction is found on p. 361, Afb. 191, and pp. 362-7; In the 1936 vol. p. 79, Afb. 28, one dated 1375, see also p. 332, Afb. 162, a number of depictions have the Christ-child holding an orb while on the back of St. Christopher, p. 365, Afb. 182, & p. 462, Afb. 243, p. 568, Afb. 322, and in the 1941-42 Vol. p.42, Afb. 16; New Catholic Encyclopedia, Vol. 3, p. 663, 15th century; John Coulson, (Editor), The Saints, (New York: Hawthorn, Books, Inc., 1958), pp. 110-111, p. 118, Christ-child holding an orb-cross while riding on the back to Christ, by Jan van Eyck (1380—1390—1441). The Book of Saints, Compiled by the Benedictine monks of St. Augustine's Abbey, Ramsgate, (Pub. by Morehouse Pub., Wilton, Conn., 1989, first pub. in 1921, p. 123-4; Meisterwerke Der Altdeutschen Malerei Von Gerhard Ulrich, Somogy Paris . Hamburg, Alle Rechte Vorbehalten 1957, p. 52; Duitse Middeleeuwse Beeldhouwwerken In Belgische Verzamelingen R. Didier, H. Krohm, 6 Oktober 30 November 1977, pp. 206-209; David Oldfield, German Paintings In The National Gallery Of Ireland, (The National Gallery Of Ireland, 1987), pp. 3-6, Christopher says that he felt like he had "borne the whole world" on his shoulders, Christ told him that he had, plus he who had created the world. Christ identified himself as Christ the King. In another work, no. 973, the Christ child holds in his left hand an orb which is the "symbol of earthly power." See also fig. 2; Butler's Live Of The Saints, Edited, etc., by Herbert Thurston, S.J., and Donald Attwater, Vol. 3, July - August - September, (New York: P. J. Kenedy & Sons, 1956), pp. 184-87; Andre Leclerc, Flemish Drawings, XV-XVI Centuries, (New York; Paris; and London: The Hyperion Press, 25, after Van Eyck, Christ-child on Christopher's shoulder holding an orb-cross. See also: Tomie dePaola, Christopher, The Holy Giant, (New York: Holiday House, 1994); Swiss Drawings (Masterpieces of Five Centuries), Introduction & Notes by Walter Hugelshofer, (Washington, D.C.: Smithsonian Institution Press, 1967), see title p. & p. 28, fig. 19; Father of Western Civilization, Batselier O.S.B., p. 114; The Golden Legend, (Readings on the Saints), by Jacobus de Voragine, (Princeton New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1993), volume 2, pp. 10-14; Rev. S. Baring-Gould, M.A., Lives of the Saints, (Edinburgh: John Grant, 1914), volume 8, part 2, pp. 553-559; John J. Delaney, Dictionary of Saints, (Garden City, New York: Doubleday & Company), pp. 146-47; Miklos Boskovits, General Editor, Irene Martin, The Thyssen-Bornemisza Collection, 1990, Early Italian Painting 1290-1470 A.D., (Sotheby's Publications), p. 57, fig. 1, p. 122; Emile Male, L'Art Religieux, De La Tin Du Moyen Age, En France, (Paris, Librairie Armand Colin, 1931), p. 178, fig. 100; Rev. Hugo Hoever, (Editor), Lives of the Saints, For Every Day of the Year, (New York: Catholic Book Pub., 1955), pp. 283-4, Christ holds the orb-cross while on Christopher's shoulders. Nigel Morgan, Early Gothic Manuscripts, [II], 1250 - 1285, (London, England: Harvey Miller - 1988), fig. 5; Margaret E. Tabor, The Saints In Art, With Their Attributes And Symbols Alphabetically Arranged, (New York: Frederick A. Stokes Company), see title pages. St. Christopher with the Christ-child on his shoulders is depicted with other saints in a work from the painting by Giovanni Bellini, in the Church of St. Chrysostom, Venice, see also pp.47-50, on p.49, St. Christopher is depicted in the middle of a river with the Christ-child on his shoulders. This work is from the painting by Dierick Bouts at Munich. Federico Zeri, 1976, Italian Paintings in the Walters Art Gallery, (Baltimore: The Trustees), volume 1, pp. 23, fig.14, pl. 10; H. W. Janson, History of Art, pp. 303, fig.466, Woodcut of St. Christopher, detail from the Annunciation by Jacques Daret (?) c. 1435. Royal Museums of Fine Arts, Brussels; Alonso Berruguete's

[c. 1488-1561] work shows the wandering Christ-child hold what could be an orb in his hand while riding on the back of the saint. (Art Treasures In Spain, (Monuments, Masterpieces, Commissions and Collections), Introduction by Juan Ainaud de Lasarte, (New York and Toronto: CR The Hamlyn Pub. Group 1969, McGraw-Hill Book Company), p.87, fig. 139, St. Christopher. Museo Nacional de Escultura, Valladolid; 16th century, 1521 version by Albert Durer shows the wandering Christ child on the back of St. Christopher while crossing a river (Clement, A Handbook, Legendary And Mythological Art, p.73, see also pp. 344-5; David Huge Farmer, The Oxford Dictionary Of Saints, (Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1978), p. 78—79; Jan Bialostocki, The Art of the Renaissance in Eastern Europe, Hungary, Bohemia, and Poland, (The Wrightsman Lectures delivered under the auspices of the New York Un., Institute of Fine Arts), (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press), vol.8, CR 1976 by Phaidon Press, Limited, p. 88, figs. 349-50.

2871- Jahrbuch Der Berliner Museen, Ehemals Jahrbuch der Preußischen Kunstsammlungen Neue Folge, (Berlin, Germany: Gebr. Mann Verlag, 1989), Einunddreissigster Band, 1989, p. 157, fig. 10. Jan van Scorel. Memorial triptych of Herman van Lochorst oil on panel, about 1526. Utrecht, Centraalmuseum. Christ-child, holding orb.

2872- H. W. Janson, & Joseph Kerman, A History of Art & Music, (NY: Harry N. Abrams, Publishers), 95, fig. 118. St. Dorothy. c. 1420. Woodcut. Staatliche Graphische Sammlung, Munich.

2873- Great Art and Artists of the World, German And Spanish to 1900, Edited by Dr. Horst Vey, and Dr. Xavier de Salas, (575 Lexington, New York: Franklin Watts, Inc.,) 1965, page 113.

2874- George Ferguson, Signs & Symbols in Christian Art, (New York: Oxford University Press), 206.

2875- Mrs. Clara Erskine Clement Waters, A Handbook of Legendary & Mythological Art, Boston: James R. Osgood & Co., 1883, 344-5.

2876- Jahrbuch Der Berliner Museen, Jahrbuch der Preußischen Kunstsammlungen Neue Folge, In the same series, volume Funfundzwanzigster Band 1983, Gebr. Mann Verlag. Berlin, page 127, fig. 19, Simone Martini, Saint Martin Dividing his Cloak with the Beggar (as in fig. 17).

2877- Chandler Rathfon Post, A History of Spanish Painting, (Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1930-1958). (New York: Kraus reprint Company, 1970's), vol. II (1930), p. 240-242, note 1, fig. 155.

2878- It is said to be Tanner's Altar. Museum of Barcelona, Art & Archaeology, The Arts Throughout the Ages, vol. XXV, Jan. 1928, #1, p.25; Adalbert de Vogue, Cistercian Studies Series, # 54, The Rule of Saint Benedict, A Doctrinal and Spiritual Commentary, Michigan: Cistercian Pub., Kalamazoo, 1983, 205-6; Lewis & O'Kun, One-Minute Easter Stories, NY; Lon; Sydney & Auckland: Doubleday, 1990, 40-41, story Tom Gentry and the Queen, On Thursday before Easter. The Queen washes as many feet of as many beggars as she was years old.

2879- Chandler Rathfon Post, A History of Spanish Painting, (Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1930-1958). (New York: Kraus reprint Company, 1970's), vol. II (1930), (1935), Vol. XII - Part I, (1958), p. 470, note 22, for St. Pantaleon, see the Bollandists under the day of his feast, July 27; and for a Spanish account, Alonso de Villegas, Flos sanctorum, Madrid, 1593, Vol. I, 336.

2880- Maymie R. Krythe, All About Christmas, 1954, (New Yew; Evanston, & London: Harper & Row), 40-41. T. G. Crippen, Christmas & Christmas Lore, (Detroit: Gale Research Company, Book Tower, 1971, from facsimile reprint of the 1923 edition first published in London: Blackie & Son Limited), 147-48.

2881- Bobbie Kalman, Early Christmas, The Early Settler Life Series, (Toronto, New York: Crabtree Publishing Company, 1981, 1990, 1991), 45.

2882- Lillie Patterson, 1968, A Holiday Book, Christmas Feasts & Festivals, (Champaign, Illinois: Garrard Pub., Co.), 28, 51 & 53.

2883- William Auld, Christmas Traditions, NY: Macmillan 1931, Detroit: Gale Research, Bk Tower 1968, 130-1.

2884- Terence Goldsmith, edited by Jacqueline Ridley, etc., Christmas Around The World, A Celebration, (New York: Sterling Publishing Co., CR 1978, Blandford Press, Ltd., This edition published by New Orchard Editions Ltd., Robert Rogers House, New Orchard Dorset, 1985), p. 59.

2885- Elizabeth Hough Sechrist and Janette Woolsey, 1959, It's Time For Christmas, Reisie Lonette, Philadelphia: Pub. by Macrae Smith Co., 78-9, 81, 83, & 113-115; Sansom, A Book of Christmas, p.107.

2886- Satomi Ichikawa, Robina Beckles Willson, Merry Christmas, NY: Philamel Books, 1983, 29-31, 39, & 51.

2887- Darell Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined, SLC, Utah: R.H.&P.S., 1994-97. Isaiah 9:2.

2888- Kurt Weitzmann, 1980, Icons, p. 151, 177, & 228; Geoffrey R. King, The Forty Days, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: WM. B. Eerdmans, 1949), p. 15-20; etc., The Golden Legend.

2889- Ruth Sawyer, The Long Christmas, (New York: The Viking Press, 1941), 17.

2890- ANF 6:65; Four Homilies, The 2nd Homily, On the Annunciation To The Holy Virgin Mary, Discourse 2.

2891- Archibald Robertson, Select Writings And Letters Of Athanasius, Bishop Of Alexandria, p. 50-52.

2892- Ruth Sawyer, the Long Christmas, NY:Viking Press, 1941, 12-13, 17; JCJ Metford, Dictionary Of Christian Lore & Legend, Lon.: Thames & Hudson, 1983, 82-3, 153, 161; Isa.9:2; Eph.4:7-10, 1 Pet.3:15-22, 4:5-6.

2893- Herbert H. Wernecke, Ed., Celebrating Christmas Around The World, (Philadelphia: the Westminster Press, CR W. L. Jenkins, MCMLXII), 165-68.

2894- Auld, Christmas Traditions, 156-57; Lisl Weil, 1987, Santa Claus Around the World, (NY: Holiday House), pages not numbered; Sansom, A Book of Christmas, 81.

2895- James Snyder, Northern Renaissance Art, Painting, Sculpture, The Graphic Arts From 1350 to 1575, Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Prentice-Hall. Inc., Harry N. Abrams, NY, 1985, 438, left Colorplate 72. MASTER OF ALKMAAR. Feeding the Hungry. First Panel of the Seven Acts of Mercy (see fig. 517). 1504. Rijksmuseum, Amsterdam." For comments about this work see Chapter XXIII, Holland: Amsterdam, Delft, and Haarlem).

2896- James Snyder, Northern Renaissance Art, Painting, Sculpture, The Graphic Arts From 1350 to 1575, Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Prentice-Hall. & Harry N. Abrams, NY, 1985, 438, left Colorplate 72. MASTER OF ALKMAAR. Feeding the Hungry. First Panel of the 7 Acts of Mercy (fig.517). 1504. Rijksmuseum, Amsterdam." For comments about this work see Chapter XXIII, Holland: Amsterdam, Delft, and Haarlem. Another source shows art works that depict the "works of Mercy." Roland H. Bainton, Christendom A Short History of Christianity & Its Impact on Western Civilization, Vol. 1, From the Birth of Christ to the Reformation, NY: Harper & Row, Harper Torchbooks, The Cloister Library, CR 1964, 1966, by American Heritage Pub. Co., Inc., text first published in The Horizon History of Christianity in 1964, figures 75a, b, & c. Fig.75a, from the 14th century work showing St. Louis washing the feet of beggars, 1507 AD 75b shows a person giving alms to a crippled man. 75c is on a window in the

- abbey of St. Denis, 14th c., depiction of St. Louis feeding a leper.
- 2897- Italy, History-Art-Landscape, 206-7. Jahrbuch Der Berliner Museen, Jahrbuch der PreuBischen Kunstsammlungen Neue Folge, Siebenter Band 1965 Heft 2, (Im Gemeinschaftsverlag, G. Grote'sche Verlagsbuchhandlung Kg. Gebr. Mann, Verlagsort Berlin, p.193, Abb. 9 St. Christopher, & Abb. 10.
- 2898- Jeff Guinn, Editor, The Autobiography of Santa Claus, It's Better to Give, (Fort Worth, Texas: The Summit Group, 1994), 162-164. Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 109-110, 139-40, 147, 293.
- 2899- Clement A. Miles, Christmas Customs & Traditions, Their History & Significance, NY: Dover 1976, 230.
- 2900- T.G. Crippen, Christmas & Christmas Lore, (Detroit: Gale Research Co., Book Tower, 1971, from facsimile reprint of the 1923 edition first published in London: Blackie & Son Limited), 147-8.
- 2901- Jeff Guinn, The Autobiography of Santa Claus, It's Better to Give, Texas: Summit Group 1994, 176-77.
- 2902- Robin Crichton, Who is Santa Claus? The true story behind a living legend, Jeffrey Street, Edinburgh: Canongate Pub. Limited, 1987, 76-79.
- 2903- Robin Crichton, Who is Santa Claus? The true story behind a living legend, (Jeffrey Street, Edinburgh: Canongate Publishing Limited, 1987), 76.
- 2904- Robin Crichton, Who is Santa Claus? The true story behind a living legend, (Jeffrey Street, Edinburgh: Canongate Publishing Limited, 1987), 76-77.
- 2905- Jeff Guinn, Editor, The Autobiography of Santa Claus, It's Better to Give, (Fort Worth, Texas: The Summit Group, 1994), 176-179, & 182. Robin Crichton, Who Is Santa Claus? The True Story Behind a Living Legend, (Edinburgh, Scotland: Canongate Publishing Limited, 1987).
- 2906- William S. Walsh, The Story Of Santa Klaus, Told for Children of all Ages From Six to Sixty, (New York: Moffat, Yard & Co., 1909, republished by Omnigraphics, Penobscot Building, Detroit, 1991), 58, 70-71 & 79.
- 2907- Earl W. Count, 4000 Years of Christmas, (New York: Henry Schuman, 1948), 54.
- 2908- Elizabeth Hough Sechrist, 1936, Christmas Everywhere, A Book of Christmas Customs of Many Lands, (Philadelphia: Macrae Smith Co., 1962), revised edition, p. 116.
- 2909- Elizabeth Hough Sechrist, Christmas Everywhere, A Book of Christmas Customs of Many Lands, Philadelphia: Macrae Smith Co., 1931 1936 & 1962, 119.
- 2910- Dorothy Gladys Spicer, 46 Days of Christmas, A Cycle of Old World Songs, Legends, & Customs, NY: Coward-McCann, 1960, 52.
- 2911- William Walsh, The Story Of Santa Klaus, Told for Children of all Ages From 6 to 60, NY: Moffat, Yard & Co., 1909, Omnigraphics, Penobscot Building, Detroit, 1991, 58, 70-71, 79.
- 2912- William Walsh, The Story Of Santa Klaus, Told for Children of all Ages From 6 to 60, NY: Moffat, Yard & Co., 1909, 58, 70-71, & 79.
- 2913- Jean LemMon, (Chief Editor), Ann Omvig Maine, (Ed.), etc., Country Home, Magazine, An Old-Fashion Christmas, (Des Moines, Iowa: Meredith Corporation, 1992), 59-60.
- 2914- Christkindl is German for Christ-child, and some of the publications which help popularize the name Kriss Kringle during the 1840s were the Philadelphia books published by Thomas, Cowperthwaite, & Co., under the title Kriss Kringle's Book. Another is by E. Ferrett & Co., entitled: Kriss Kringle's Christmas Tree. A Holiday Present for Boys and Girls. (Coffin, The Book of Christmas Folklore, p.92. Coffin says that: "This, as best I can determine, stems from the popularity of two Philadelphia books of the 1840s. One published by Thomas, Cowperthwaite, & Co., was entitled Kriss Kringle's Book; the other, by E. Ferrett & Co., was called Kriss Kringle's Christmas Tree. A Holiday Present for Boys and Girls."
- 2915- As English settlers joined the Germans in their communities, the name Christkindl was gradually simplified to "Kriss Kringle." This upset many German-speaking ministers, who felt the new name insulted the Christ child. Later on, children in Pennsylvania & other places began calling St. Nicholas "Kriss Kringle," & by the 1870s it became another name for Santa Claus. James Cross Giblin 1985 The Truth About Santa Claus NY: Thomas Y. Crowell, 33-5, 53-55.
- 2916- Jean LemMon, (Chief Editor), Ann Omvig Maine, (Ed.), etc., Country Home, Magazine, An Old-Fashion Christmas, (Des Moines, Iowa: Meredith Corporation, 1992), 61.
- 2917- James Cross Giblin, 1985, The Truth About Santa Claus, NY: Thomas Y. Crowell, 33-35, 53-55; Sansom, A Book of Christmas, 68, 81, 105-115.
- 2918- T. E. Lyon, Apostasy to Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Bk, 1960, 216-20. Hislop, 2 Babylons, 91-114.
- 2919- The Life Book of Christmas, Vol. 3, The Merriment of Christmas, by the Editors of Life, (New York: A Stonehenge Book, Time Inc., 1963), p.24; Grabar, Byzantine Painting, p.91, pl.30, & 34; New International Illustrated Encyclopedia Of Art, Vol.4, p.730; Otto G. Von Simson, Sacred Fortress (Byzantine Art and Statecraft in Ravenna), pl.10-11; Velmans, Losowska and Recht, 1982, Art of the Christian World, A.D. 200-1500, p.92, fig.184; Hood, 1933, Fra Angelico at San Marco, p. 69-70, pl. 57, p.97-99, pl.85, p.310, notes 1-4, & p.332 & 335, p.107-109, pl.94; Cahn, 1982, Romanesque Bible Illumination, p.114, fig.69.
- 2920- Barbara G. Walker, The Woman's Encyclopedia of Myths & Secrets, (NY: Harper San Francisco, a Division of Harper Collins Publishers, 1983), 1098-99, see Yule.
- 2921- Orbs were symbolic of royalty & reigning over their kingdom. Millia Davenport, The Book of Costume, (New York: Crown Publishing, Inc., 1948 & 1976), vol 1, p. 111, fig. 346, Xc. Ottonian, German. (Conde Museum, Chantilly Registerum Gregorii. King Otto II (955-983) enthroned, holding a orb, with others hold orbs, symbolic of the provinces of Germania, Francia, Italia, Alemania, paying homage. See also p. 112, fig. 350, 115, 359, Christ as Pilgrim, cockle-shell-pouch. Page 174, fig. 483, wandering Christ-child holding an orb, while being carried by St. Christopher. First half of 13 c., English. British Museum, drawing by Matthew Paris. Etc.
- 2922- Sansom, A Book of Christmas, 105-6.
- 2923- William Sansom, 1968, A Book of Christmas, (New York and Toronto: McGraw-Hill Book Co.), 105, for the depiction of "The Christ Child by Thomas Nast, 1889. A Book of Christmas, Sansom, 105-6. "Frontispiece of the very first Strand Magazine, strangely captioned 'Santa Claus'"
- 2924- Elizabeth Hough Sechrist, 1936, Christmas Everywhere, A Book of Christmas Customs of Many Lands, (Philadelphia: Macrae Smith Company, 1962), revised edition, 116.

2925- Where Love is, There God is Also, is also called, "Martin the Cobbler," the title references title references the Catholic hymn Ubi Caritas. Translated by Nathan Haskell Dole uses the alternate title translation of "Where Love Is, There God Is Also". It was published in the United States under Crowell Company's "Worth While Booklet" Series. It was written in 1885, originally written by Leo Tolstoy. Over the years it was adapted to music, TV & film, such as in the television series, Katha Sagar (1986), episode "Patiksha," directed by Ved Rahi, & a 1977, special animated by Will Vinton. The Christmas Guest, a holiday poem written & recorded by Grandpa Jones & later recorded by Johnny Cash & Reba McEntire, is based on this story. A Haitian Creole translation was produced by Haitian author, Carrié Paultre, published by the Presse Evangélique and the University of Kansas (Bryant C. Freeman). It was adapted as a made-for-TV movie, "Winter Thaw" (2016) for BYUTV, starring John Rhys-Davies, and filmed in Lithuania. The film was produced by Utah based Kaleidoscope Pictures. Directed by Adam Thomas Anderegg and Produced by Russ Kendall. See also link that may or may not still be working. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Where_Love_Is,_God_Is_Also – <https://thevalueofsparrows.com/2016/01/03/story-where-love-is-there-god-is-also-by-leo-tolstoy/> – <https://archive.org/details/whereloveisther00dolegoog> – Internet Archives: Where Love is There God is Also, by Leo Tolstoy, Nathan Haskell Dole, Published 1887. Elva Sophronia Smith & Alice Isabel Hazeltine, The Christmas Book of Legends & Stories, (New York: Lee & Shepard Co., 1944, Lothrop, 3rd printing, Oct. 1945), 277-279, 353-361, & 385-400. James Charlton & Barbara Gilson, (editors), A Christmas Treasury of Yuletide Stories & Poems, (USA: Barnes & Nobles Books, 2002, Guild America Books, 1976), 246-260.

2926- Alice Dalgliesh, (selected stories), Christmas, A Book of Stories Old & New, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1934, 1950, 1962, p. 81-84, Christmas Customs, Alice Dalgliesh.

2927- Satomi Ichikawa Merry Christmas Children at Christmastime Around the World, NY: Philomel 1983, 50.

2928- Alla Rusakova, Mikhail NESTEROV, Leningrad, Russia: Aurora Art Pub. 1990, 15-18. Christ in Russia, one version entitled Holy Russia, 1901-5, Cat. #203. Another by the same painter, 1908-11, is entitled: The Way to Christ, this one shows Christ grasping the hands of those bowed down before him, as he visits people in Russia. The hand grasping greeting could be derived from earlier traditions, art works, legends, & customs.

2929- Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Beliefs, Armonk, NY: Lon. Eng.: M. E. Sharpe, Inc., 1989, 25, note 35, p. 211 & 235, Afanas'ev, A. N. Narodnye russkie skazki I legendy , 2 vols, (Berlin: Ladyzhnikov, 1922), 464.

2930- Clement Miles, Christmas Customs & Traditions, Their History & Significance, NY: Dover 1976, 229-30.

2931- Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Beliefs, Armonk, NY: Lon. Eng.: M. E. Sharpe, 1989, 25, note 35, p. 211 & 235, Afanas'ev, A. N. Narodnye russkie skazki I legendy , 2 vols, (Berlin: Ladyzhnikov, 1922), 461-64.

2932- Herbert Spencer Robinson, & Knox Wilson, Myths & Legends of All Nations, NY: Bantam Books, 1950, & Doubleday, 1950, 233-34.

2933- Robert J. Myers, Celebrations, The Complete Book of American Holidays, (NY: Doubleday & Co., 1972), 110, 320, & 344; Miles, Christmas Customs & Tradition, 230 & 277.

2934- Sansom, A Book of Christmas, p.122.

2935- Series Editor, Margaret E. Martignoni, Editor-in-Chief Dr. Louis Shores, Volume Ed. Ruth Weeden Stewart, Harvest of Holidays, A Collier's Junior Classics Series, (NY: The Crowell-Collier Publishing Company, 1962), 402-05: So Hallowed and So Gracious Is the Time, Anne Thaxter Eaton, from: The Animals' Christmas, compiled by Anne Thaxter Eaton, CR 1944, by Eaton and Valenti Angelo, (The Viking Press).

2936- Satomi Ichikawa, text by Robina Beckles Willson, Merry Christmas, Children at Christmastime Around the World, (New York: Philomel Books, 1983), 29-31, 39, & 51.

2937- George Ferguson, Signs & Symbols in Christian Art, (New York: Oxford University Press, 1959), 7.

2938- In 1843, Henry Cole, commissioned by John Calcott Horsely to illustrate a Christmas card; has on it, the naked being clothed, and the hungry being fed. This is an important tradition that has its roots in numerous earlier wandering Christ traditions. <http://www.execpc.com/~vefor/legend7.html>, Christmas card, p. 1.

2939- Miles, Christmas Customs And Traditions, p.154, & 370, note 60, Madame Calderon de la Barca, Life in Mexico, (London, England: 1843), 237 f.

2940- Anna Gyles & Chole Sayer Of Gods & Men The Heritage of Ancient Mexico, NY: Harper & Row 1980, 18

2941- Lillie Patterson 1968, A Holiday Book, Christmas Feasts & Festivals, Illinois: Garrard Pub. p. 28, 51, 53.

2942- William Muir Auld, Christmas Traditions, 130-1; Joy Through the World, 95; Krythe, All About Christmas, 114-5; Sechrist, Woolsey, It's Time For Christmas, 78-9, 81, 83, & 113-115.

2943- On the Internet: <http://www.osmond.net/chill/christmas/stories/38.htm>. Is another Christmas story by an unknown author entitled: A Precious Gift. In this story, Christ appears and wanders about during a modern Christmas season. At first, no one seems to recognize who he really is as he passes through crowds of people. However, an old blind man happened to touch his garments and perceived who he really was. He cried out to the wandering Christ to heal him, and of course, he does. A small heaven sent child then living on the streets, felt his influence and grasped his hand. As he passed on by, he felt and discerns the feelings and spirits of the different mortals all about him. And yet, no one seems to see him for who he really is, except for a few.

2944- From the Internet: <http://www.osmond.net/c...christmas/stories/8.htm>. Christmas story entitled: The Cobbler and His Guest. In this story, in the city of Marseilles, & during the Christmas season; Christ appears in several different guises to a shoemaker named "Father Martin." (Pages 1-2).

2945- Tristram Potter Coffin, The Book of Christmas Folklore, 1973, NY: A Continuum Book, The Seabury Press, 143-6. Thomas Hardy, The Return of the Native, Book 2, chaps. 4, 5, William Archer, Real Conversations.

2946- On the Internet: Stories - Christmastime Celebration, see also link that may or may not still work: <http://www.osmond.net/chill/christmas/stories/71.htm> See: The Stranger Child A Legend, by Count Franz Pocci, p. 1-2. In this story, Christ comes to the door of a wood cutter's home during one cold Christmas winter evening. He was in the guise of a little hungry and cold child. The family took him in, fed him, gave him a warm bed to sleep in, and thanked God for their blessings. After they went to bed, they were awakened by beautiful angels sing praises to the child. When they turned to look at the stranger child, they saw that he was clad in a golden garment, and wore a golden crown on his head. He told them that he was "the Christ Child, who wanders about the world seeking to bring joy and good things to loving children."

2947- Elizabeth Hough Sechrist, Christmas Everywhere, (Philadelphia: Roland Swain, 1931), p.114; Sechrist, Woolsey, It's Time For Christmas, p.114; Krythe, All About Christmas, p.41; Crippen, Christmas And Christmas Lore, p.148; Sansom, A Book of Christmas, p.107.

- 2948- Sechrist, Woolsey, It's Time For Christmas, p.78-9, 81, 83, & 113-115.
- 2949- Francis X. Weiser The Christmas Book, Robert Frankenberg, NY: Brace, 1952, 111, 152, 160-1, & 168-70.
- 2950- Ichikawa, Willson, Merry Christmas, Children at Christmastime Around the World, 29-31, 39, 51. Earl W. Count, 4000 Years of Christmas, NY: Henry Schuman, 1948, 34, 83-84.
- 2951- <http://www.indobase.com/holidays/christmas/legends/legend-of-the-christ-child.html> Internet article at: Indobase Holidays, link entitled: Legend of the Christ Child, section heading, "Miracle Of Jesus," No author stated, or sources given to where this story comes from.
- 2952- The Christmas Book of Legends & Stories, 1944 Lothrop, Lee & Shepard, N.Y., 3rd print 10-1945, The Christmas Book of Legends & Stories, p. 277-279, 353-361, & 385-400.
- 2953- Elizabeth Hough Sechrist & Janette Woolsey, It's Time For Christmas, (Written & Compiled by Decorations by Reisie Lonette, Philadelphia: Published by Macrae Smith Co., 1959, 78-9, 81, 83, 113-15.
- 2954- Tristram P. Coffin, The Book of Christmas Folklore, NY: A Continuum Book, Seabury Press 1973, 148-49.
- 2955- Different ones hope that the Christ-child will come to put presents in their wooden shoes that are left by the fire place in a Christmas story by Francois Coppee, entitled: The Wooden Shoes of Little Wolff. Like unto the story Little Jean, the wandering Christ-child is in the guise of a little child dressed in a white garment and with bare feet exposed to the cold. Also, the little boy in the story puts one of his shoes on the child and hops on one foot through the snow, all the way home. From. the Internet: Stories - Christmastime Celebration. <http://www.osmond.net/chill/christmas/stories/75.htm> See p. 1-3.
- 2956- Francis X. Weiser, 1952, The Christmas Book, NY: Illustr. Robert Frankenberg, Harcourt, Brace & Co., 111, 152, 160-61, & 168-70. Maymie Krythe All About Christmas, NY, Lon.: Harper & Row, 1954, 42.
- 2957- Herbert Wernecke, Celebrating Christmas Around The World, Philad.: Westminster Press, MCMLXII, 228.
- 2958- Herbert Wernecke, Celebrating Christmas Around The World, Philad.: Westminster Press, MCMLXII, 246.
- 2959- Elizabeth Hough Sechrist & Janette Woolsey, It's Time For Christmas, Reisie Lonette, Philad.: Macrae Smith, 1959, 50-1 & 243-249.
- 2960- Phebe A. Curtiss, Christmas Stories & Legends, Indianapolis, IND.: Meigs Publishing Co., 1916, 71-5, n.* p.75 says that this was "Adapted from the French of Francois Coppee, by Nannie-Lee- Frayser."
- 2961- Robert Rosenblum, and H. W. Janson, 19th Century Art, NY: Harry N. Abrams, 1984, 409, fig. 330, Nationalgalerie, Staatliche Museen Preussischer Kulturbesitz, West Berlin.
- 2962- Lacinda Hawksley, Essential Pre-Raphaelites, Intro. Dr. Juliet Hacking, UK, Dempsey Parr Book, 2000, Parragon 1999, 6-7 & 50-51, William Holman Hunt's rest on each others' second depiction of the wandering Christ, entitled: The Light of the World. 1853. Leonard W. Cowie, The March of the Cross, NY, London: McGraw-Hill, 1962, 186-89, 1853, Christ knocking on door.
- 2963- T.G. Crippen, 1923, Christmas & Christmas Lore, Detroit: Gale Research, Book Tower, 1971, 105.
- 2964- Satomi Ichikawa, Robina Beckles Willson, Merry Christmas, NY: Philamel Books, 1983, 29-31, 39, & 51.
- 2965- Satomi Ichikawa, Robina Beckles Willson, Merry Christmas, NY: Philamel Books, 1983, 51.
- 2966- Robert Myers Celebrations the Complete Book of American Holidays, NY: Doubleday 1972, 110, 320, 344
- 2967- Lillie Patterson, A Holiday Book, Christmas Feasts & Festivals, Illinois: Garrard 1968, A Holiday Book, Christmas Feasts & Festivals, 28, 51, 53.
- 2968- Herbert Wernecke Celebrating Christmas Around The World, Philadel.: Westminster Press, W.L. Jenkins, MCMLXII, 168.
- 2969- Daniel Foley, The Christmas Tree, An Evergreen Garland Filled with History, Folklore, Symbolism, Traditions, Legends & Stories, Philadel., NY: Chilton Co. Book Division, 1960, 19.
- 2970- Francis X. Weiser 1952 The Christmas Book, NY: Illust. Robert Frankenberg, Harcourt, Brace, 111, 152, 160-1, & 168-170.
- 2971- T. G. Crippen, Christmas & Christmas Lore, (Detroit: Gale Research, Book Tower, 1971, reprint of 1923 ed., London: Blackie & Son Limited), 105.
- 2972- James Cross Giblin, The Truth About Santa Claus, NY: Thomas Y. Crowell, 1985, 33-5, 53-55.
- 2973- Herbert Wernecke, Celebrating Christmas Around The World, Philad.: Westminster Press, MCMLXII, 30.
- 2974- Herbert H. Wernecke, Christmas Around the World, A Celebration, Pub. New Orchard Editions, 1985, CR 1978, Blandford Press, LTD, p. 30.
- 2975- Dalglish, Christmas, p.81-84, 94, see: Lizette Woodworth Reese's Christmas Folksong.
- 2976- Gothic & Renaissance Art in Nuremburg 1300-1550, (NY; Nuremburg; Munich: The Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York; Germanisches Nationalmuseum, Nuremberg; Prestel-Verlag, Munich, 1986), 120- 21.
- 2977- Darell Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined; Kelly, The Devil at Baptism.
- 2978- Gothic and Renaissance Art in Nuremburg 1300-1550, p. 120-21, 150-54, 200-1, 346- 47.
- 2979- Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen.
- 2980- Jennifer Reilly, 10-1972, A Garland Series, Outstanding Thesis in The Fine Arts from British Universities, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, NY & Lon.: Garland 1988, 228-35.
- 2981- Jan Bialostocki, The Art of the Renaissance in Eastern Europe, Hungary, Bohemia, Poland, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell Un. Press, 1976), fig. 208. Stanislaw Samostrzelnik: Sigismund I adoring Christ as the Man of Sorrows appearing with a chalice filling up with the blood from his wounds. Miniature, Sigismund I Book of Hours. Lon., British Museum Ms. Add. 15281, fol. 59r.
- 2982- Joseph Campbell, Creative Mythology, The Masks of God, NY: Penguin Books, 1976, 405-13, 425, 429, 483, 530, 534-35, 541-42.
- 2983- Joseph Campbell, Creative Mythology, The Masks of God, NY: Penguin Books, 1976, 530, 541-42; Dr. James E. Talmage, D.Sc.D., Ph.D., F.R.S.E., 1909, The Great Apostasy, Considered In The Light Of Scriptural And Secular History, SLC, Utah: The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, 1968, 120, 128-29.
- 2984- Antonín Matějček and Jaroslav Pešina, Czech Gothic Painting 1350—1450, (Czechoblovakia: Melantrich Praha, 1950), fig. 176. The Roudnice Altar: Christ the Sufferer.

- 2985- Thomas A. Kempis, translated by William Benham, The Harvard Classics, Edited by Charles W. Eliot, LL.D., The Confessions of St. Augustine, Translated by Edward B. Pusey, and The Imitation of Christ, by Kempis, (New York: P. F. Collier and Son Corporation, 1909, 51st print, 1959), vol. 7, p. 335-337, book 4, verses 5 & 9. Christ present at sacramental altar.
- 2986- What was the Holy Grail? And where is it now?, King Arthur, The Celtic church, & 570, wysiwyg://main.4/http://www.geocities.com/Athens/Olympus/5234/grail2.htm), p. 1-9.
- 2987- Joseph Campbell, Creative Mythology the Masks of God, NY: Penguin Bks 1976, 425, 530, 534-5, 541-2.
- 2988- Frank Phillips, British Library Series No. 3, The Benedictines In Britain, Lon., Eng.: The British Library, 1980), see the chapter by D. H. Turner, 'Guests, Who Are Never Lacking In A Monastery' p. 54-57.
- 2989- Edith W. Kirsch, 5 Illuminated Manuscripts Of Giangaleazzo Visconti, Un. Park & Lon.: The Pennsylvania State Un. Press, 1991, fig.55, Lombard, 1380, Man of Sorrows. Paris France, Bibl., nar., Latin, 757, fol. 237.
- 2990- Clara Erskine Clement, A Handbook Of Legendary And Mythological Art, (Boston and New York: Houghton Mifflin Co., The Riverside Press, Cambridge, 1871 & 1881), 288—89.
- 2991- Tristram P. Coffin, The Book of Christmas Folklore, 1973, NY: A Continuum Book, Seabury Press, 51.
- 2992- Norman Davies, Europe, A History, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1996, 1036, 1042, 1044, 1061, 1110. The meeting of "The Big Three," must have been between U.S. President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Russian Communist dictator, Joseph Stalin, & British Prime Minister, Winston Churchill, at the close of World War 2, at Yalta.
- 2993- Spencer W. Kimball (Of the Council of the Twelve Apostles), Ensign of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, Report and Proceedings of the 143rd Semiannual General Conference. Address delivered at the Sunday afternoon session, October 7, 1973: The Rewards, The Blessings, The Promises, SLC, Utah: The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, January 1974, 14-15. Kimball quotes from a story written by Roy H. Stetler, publisher of a religious journal in the East. And then cites from: Doctrine & Covenants 45:51-52.
- 2994- Todd M. Compton's article as chapter 24: The Handclasp & Embrace as Tokens of Recognition. See: By Study and Also By Faith (SLC, & Provo, Utah: Deseret Book & Foundation for Ancient Research & Mormon Studies, 1990), in 2 vols, see vol. 1, p. 611-42, p. 620 & 634, note 40: P. Verdier, "Descent of Christ into Hell," New Catholic Encyclopedia (NY: McGraw-Hill, 1967—79), 4:788—93, esp. 791, fig. 2-6.
- 2995- Darell Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined (SLC, Utah: Religious, Historical & Polemical Studies, 1995, an unpublished computer file and manuscript at this time). Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton: Princeton Un. Press, 1986), fig. 21, Vatican, Museo Sacro. Silver reliquary of Pascal I. The raising of Adam). 1 Peter 3:15-22, 4:5-6; Ephesians 4:7-10; Isaiah 41:10, 13; 42:6-7.
- 2996- Darell Thorpe, The Mysteries Behind The Mysteries, Ritualistic Realm Pilgrims In Early to Later Christian Mysteries, (SLC, Utah: R.H. & P.S., historical paper for a college class, HIS 190-01 Spec. Stud., Winter 1997, Salt Lake City Community College, Instructor: Marianne McKnight, Student: Darell Thorpe). Donald W. Parry, Editor, Temples Of The Ancient World, Ritual and Symbolism, (Salt Lake City, and Provo, Utah: Deseret Book Company, & Foundation For Ancient Research and Mormon Studies, 1994). Leo the Great, The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, vol. 12, p.163-90, see especially p.163, 165, 167—69, 176, 179, 182—83, 188 & 190.
- 2997- Hugu W. Nibley, Since Cumorah, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Co, 1967, 75, n.18: Origen, Peri Archon, II, iii, 6, in Patrologia Graeca 11:194.
- 2998- Jean Porcher, Medieval French Miniatures, (NY: Harry N. Abrams), 38: The Annunciation to Zacharias. Bible, second half of the 12th c. (Bibliothèque Nationale, Ms. Latin, 16746, f. 42).
- 2999- H. Clay Trumbull, D.D., The Blood Covenant, A Primitive Rite & its Bearings on Scriptures, NY: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1885. Dr. Hugu W. Nibley, The Message of the Joseph Smith Papyri, an Egyptian Endowment, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1975). Ed. by John M. Lundquist, & Stephen D. Ricks, By Study & Also By Faith, (Salt Lake City, & Provo Utah: Deseret Book Company & Foundation for Ancient Research & Mormon Studies, F.A.R.M.S., 1990), volumes 1 & 2, see in vol. 1, p. 611—42, Todd M. Compton's article as chapter 24: The Handclasp and Embrace as Tokens of Recognition. Stephen D. Ricks, & LeGrand L. Barker, Who Shall Ascend Into the Hill of the Lord? The Psalms In Israel's Temple Worship In The Old Testament and in the Book of Mormon, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Books, 2009). Jeffrey M. Bradshaw, Temple Themes In The Book of Moses, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Publishing, 2010). Donald W. Parry, (Editor), Marion D. Hanks, Hugu W. Nibley, Andrew F. Ehat, Truman G. Madsen, John M. Lundquist, Stephen D. Ricks, Donald W. Parry, Michael A. Carter, John J. Sroka, John W. Welch, M. Catherine Thomas, William J. Hamblin, Brian M. Hauglid, John A. Tvedtnes, and many others providing research papers, and unpublished works for authors to consider, Temples Of The Ancient World, Ritual and Symbolism, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1994, & Provo, Utah: Foundation For Ancient Research and Mormon Studies). Hugu Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company), Volume 1: Old Testament and Related Subjects, (1986), Volume 4: Mormonism and Early Christianity, (1987), Nibley, What is a Temple, The Idea of a Temple in History, reprint by F.A.R.M.S., Nibley, (IDE-T). From: The Millennial Star 120 (August 1958). Nibley, The Early Christian Church in the Light of Some Newly Discovered Papyri from Egypt, (Provo, Utah: F.A.R.M.S. reprint, Nibley 1985. From a talk given by Dr. Nibley during a Tri-Stake Fireside, Brigham Young University, March 3, 1964).
- 3000- Dr. Hugu W. Nibley, The Message of the Joseph Smith Papyri, an Egyptian Endowment, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1975), explanation xxi.
- 3001- John McManners, Editor, The Oxford Illustrated History of Christianity, (Oxford; NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1990), 217, see CHARITY WAS A DUTY, work dated before the middle of the 12th century, showing Matthew 25 being illustrated with a royal clasping the wrist of the wandering homeless, & the sick on their bed. Made in the Kingdom of Jerusalem for Queen Melisande.
- 3002- Jaroslav Pelikan, The Illustrated Jesus Through The Centuries, NH & Lon.: Yale Un. Press, 1997, 126-27.
- 3003- Jean-Clarence Lambert & others, Gothic Painting I, (S.A. Geneva: Editions Rencontre Lausanne 1965, English Ed., Edito-Service, 1968), 48.
- 3004- Reader's Digest, ABC's Of The Bible, Intriguing Questions and Answers About the Greatest Book Ever Written, Kaari Ward, and others, (Pleasantville, New York/ Montreal: The Reader's Digest Association, Inc., 1991), p. 18, see the 15th century Dutch illustration of God creating Eve. J.C.J. Metford, Dictionary of Christian Lore And Legend, (London: Thames and Hudson, 1983), p. 269, French Bible, A.D. 1585, showing the 5 days of creation; John Pope-Hennessy, Italian Renaissance Sculpture, (London: Phaidon Press, 1958), fig. 110, Grotto Vaticane, Rome; Morey, 1935, Christian Art, p. 86; Lowrie, Art In the early Church, plate 100; Robert Hughes, 1969, Heaven and Hell

in Western Art, (New York, New York: Stein & Day, 1968), p. 76-77, Bas-relief by Wiligelmo, facade of Modena Cathedral, c. 1100, and Romanesque fresco c. 1125, from Church of the Holy Cross, Maderuelo, Spain. Prado, Madrid; Virginia Chieffo Raguin, Stained Glass In Thirteenth Century Burgundy, fig. 8, Auxerre 51:7-12; George Robinson, The Florence Baptistery Doors, (New York: A Studio Book, The Viking Press, 1980), p. 197, & 222, Panel 1, Genesis: Ghiberti's p. 226-27.

3005- Anthony S. Mercatante, The Facts On File Encyclopedia of World Mythology & Legend, NY, Oxford: Facts on File, 1988, 12.

3006- Deutsche Spätgotische Malerei, 1430-1500, Alfred Stange, Karl Robert Langewiesche Nachfolger, 1965, see p.62; Andre Maurois, translated from the French by Stephen Hardman, An Illustrated History of Germany, (London, England: The Bodley Head, 1966, CR 1965 Librairie Hachette 1965), 100-101; The Encyclopedia Of Visual Art, vol. 8, Michael Pacher c. 1435-98, altarpiece of The Fathers of the Church, A.D. 1483, Alte Pinakothek, Munich; Praeger Encyclopedia of Art, Praeger (NY; Washington; & London: 1971), Vol. 4, p. 1502.

3007- Lowrie, Art In the early Church, pl. 100; Claude Schaffner, & others, (Collection directors), Gothic Painting I, (Geneva, Switzerland: Editions Rencontre Lausanne, 1965; English Edition, Editorial Service S.A. Geneva, 1968), p. 48. Master of Westphalia, 14th century, Christ in Purgatory, Wallraf-Richartz Museum, Cologne; Volbach, Early Christian Art, fig. 83, Venice, St. Mark's, 5th century (?). Christ's descent into limbo.

3008- Colleen McDannell & Bernhard Lang, Heaven: A History, New Haven & Lon.: Yale Un. Press, 1988, 132, pl.22, Giovanni di Paolo, Paradise. AD 1445. Metropolitan Museum of Art New York. Hermit or monk is grasping the hand of a woman in the company of another woman, his thumb rests on the middle of her left-hand palm.

3009- The Book of Art, A Pictorial Encyclopedia of Painting, Drawing, and Sculpture, Lon.: George Rainbird Ltd.; Grolier Inc., 1965, vol.4, German And Spanish Art To 1900, ed. by Dr. Horst Vey, & Dr. Xavier de Salas, p.20 & 113, St. Dorothy clasping the hand of the Christ child. Munich, Staal. Graphische Samml., AD 1410-25.

3010- Daniel C. Peterson & Stephen D. Ricks, Offenders For A Word, How Anti-Mormons Play Word Games to Attack the Latter-day Saints, (SLC, Utah: Aspen Books, 1992), 110—16.

3011- Eugene Seach, Notes On Ancient Temple Worship, (Salt Lake City, Utah: an unpublished research paper, LDS Research Library, CR ?), p. 3-4; Encyclopedia of World Art, Vol. I, pl. 292; Thorpe, Upon Them Hath the Light Shined. Kelly, The Devil at Baptism.

3012- New International Illustrated Encyclopedia of Art, NY: Toronto; Lon.: Greystone Press, MCMLXLII, General Editorial Consultant, Sir John Rothenstein, C.B.E., Ph.D., LL.D., vol. 1, p. 129. Albrecht Altdorfer: Detail from the St. Florian Altar c. 1516-18), oil; St. Florian's Monastery, Linz, Austria. This altarpiece was painted during the period in which this German Renaissance master was increasing the sizes of figures in proportion to landscape.

3013- Stephen Ernest Benko, Pagan Rome & The Early Christians, Bloomington: Indiana Un. Press, 1984, 60.

3014- Benko, Pagan Rome And The Early Christians, p. 65; Compton, in By Study & Also By Faith, vol. 1, p. 635, note 48, and p. 633, note 23.

3015- Hackwood, Christ Lore, p. 5; Benko, Pagan Rome And The Early Christians, p. 126-27.

3016- John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art & Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (New York: J W Bouton 707 Broadway, 1882), p. 27.

3017- Valentin Denis, Professeur à l' Université de Louvain, L' Art D' Occident, Des Catacombes A La Fin Du Xve Siècle, (Editions Meddens, 1965), II—Fra Angelico, Giovanni de Fiesole, La Vierge à l' Enfant avec les saints Jean-Baptiste, Dominique, Francois et Paul (Parme, Galerie Nationale). See the monks clasping each others' hand in the lower portions of this work.

3018- Pamela B. DeVinnie, (Coordinating Editor, with other Editors), Webster's Illustrated Encyclopedic Dictionary, (Montreal, Canada: Tormont Publications 1990), 929, see: kiss of peace.

3019- Christopher Brooke, The Monastic World 1000—1300, Lon., Eng.: Paul Elek Ltd., 1974, p.63, fig. 91.

3020- Benedictine Monks of St. Augustine's Abbey, Ramsgate, The Book of Saints, A Dictionary of Servants of God, (Wilton, Connecticut: Morehouse Publishing, 1921, 1989, sixth edition). Dom Hubert Van Zeller, The Holy Rule, Notes on St. Benedict's Legislation for Monks, (New York: Sheed & Ward, 1958). Schroll, Sister M. Alfred, Benedictine Monasticism, as reflected in the Warnefrid-Hildemar commentaries on the Holy Rule, (New York, Columbia University Press, 1941). The Book of Saints, by the Benedictine monks of St. Augustine's Abbey, (Wilton, Connecticut: Ramsgate, Morehouse Publishers, 1989, first published in 1921).

3021- Dom Pieter Batselier, O.S.B., Saint Benedict: Father of Western Civilization, (NY, NY: Publishers of Fine Art Books, 1981, CR by Mercatorfonds Antwerp), 48-49.

3022- Norbert Ohler, The MEDIEVAL TRAVELER, (English translation Caroline Hillier 1989, (Boydell Press, translated from Norbert Ohler, Reisen im Mittelalter, 1986 by Artemis Verlag), 82, 84, 85, & 89.

3023- Cyril of Jerusalem, A.D. 386, "O strange and inconceivable thing! We did not really die, we were not really buried, we were not really crucified and raised again; but our imitation was but a figure, while our salvation is in reality... and all these things have been vouchsafed to us, that we, by imitation communicating in His sufferings, might gain salvation in reality.... Christ received the nails in His undefiled hands and feet, and endured anguish; while to me without suffering or toil, by the fellowship of His pain He vouchsafes salvation." (A Library Of Fathers of the Holy Catholic Church, (London: John Henry Parker; J. G. F. Rivington, MDCCCXXXIX), Vol. II; pp. 264-65, The Catechetical Lectures of S. Cyril, Archbishop of Jerusalem, A.D. 386, Lecture XX, On the Mysteries, II, On the Rites of Baptism, verse 5). According to The Acts of John, John learned in secret different symbolical types of Christ's suffering: "Now what these are, I secretly show you; for I know that you will understand. You must know me, then, as the torment of the logos, the piercing of the logos, the blood of the logos, the wounding of the logos, the fastening of the logos, the death of the logos.... The first then that you must know is the logos, then you shall know the Lord; and thirdly the man, and what he has suffered. [Thus] ...the Lord had performed everything as a symbol and a dispensation for the conversion and salvation of man." (The Other Bible, Edited by Willis Barnstone, (San Francisco: Harper and Row, 1984), pp. 419-20, Revelation of the Mystery of the Cross, from (Christian Apocrypha) The Acts of John; See also: John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, pp. 26-27). Hackwood tells us that early Christian symbolism was "secretly fostered by the horrors of the persecutions through which the early Church of Christ had to pass. Symbols were invented and used as secret signs by which the Christian brethren could recognize each other. In addition to visible signs & symbols, it may be taken that the early Christians were driven to the use of watchwords also." (Christ Lore, p.5, see also: H. Spencer Lewis, F. R. C., Ph.D., The Secret Doctrines of Jesus, (San Jose California: Rosicrucian Library, 1937 & 1965 by Supreme Grand Lodge of A.M.O.R.C.), Vol.4 p. 23, 25-9, 84 & 146).

3024- Thomas Armitage, 1887, A History Of the Baptists, p.258-9, #4; Gertrud Schiller, Iconography of Christian Art, Vol. I, p. 345-46, fig.346; Christian-Art, Vol.1, #5, p.204-5, Aug. 1907. A work which shows the ascension out of the grave, or the resurrection, shows Christ with a banner in his right hand while he holds the hands of a naked soul to lift them up out of the under-world below his tomb. By the tomb, a number of guards lay fast asleep. And so it seems that the artist decided to depict the later moments of the descent drama, or the moment when Christ is almost out of the grave and is ascending up out of the under-world. Another work shows the harrowing of hell taking place in the background, for Christ clasps a hold of Adam's wrist to raise him up. Others follow close behind Adam as being next in line to be rescued from hell. Another portion shows Christ coming out of the tomb during the resurrection. (De Noord-Nederlandsche Schilderkunst Door G. J. Hoogewerff, 'S-Gravenhage, Martinus Nijhoff, 1936, p.179, Afb. 76. De Passie uit O. L. Vr. Munster te Roermond (rechter helft). Rijksmuseum, Amsterdam. Page 187, Afb. 80. Beweenen en Verrijzenis Christi. Onderdeel der Passie uit Roermond; see also p.527, Afb. 292. Meester van den Lantaarn. De Opstanding van Christus. Rijks-museum te Amsterdam. Himmel Holle Fegefeuer, Abb. 6, p. 355, Kat. 143).

3025- Kathleen Cohen, Metamorphosis Of A Death Symbol, The Transi Tomb in the Late Middle Ages & the Renaissance, Berkeley, & LA, Calif.; Lon., Eng.: Un. of Calif. Press, 1973, 104-119, figs. 46, & 47-50, p. 115 is says that one of the symbols for the future resurrection, as it was depicted on some funerary monuments, is "the hand of God." See also: Robert G. Calkins, 1979, Monuments of Medieval Art, NY: E. D. Dutton, 84-5; J. Hubert, J. Porcher, & W.F. Volbach, L' Europe Des Invasions, (Gallimard, 1967), 72, fig. 84; Andre Grabar, translated by Stuart Gilbert & James Emmons, Early Christian Art, NY: Odyssey Press, 27, fig. 25, p.101, fig 97, p. 142, fig. 146, p. 137, fig. 140; Betty Willsher & Doreen Hunter, 1978, Stones, NY: Taplinger Pub., Co., 1979, 14-15, & 53; Duval & Rigby, Early American Gravestone Art In Photographs, 124-25; Lindley, Of Graves And Epitaphs, grave marker of Withington, Gloucestershire shows a hand extended to clasp the hand of a soul who is ascending to heaven. Arte Paleocristiano, p. 146-151, fig. 88, an orant—or person with up-raised hands in prayer, receives the hand of God; A Lithuanian Cemetery, p.65, fig. 15, shows clasped hands under the cross on a tomb stone.

3026- Himmel Holle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen, pp. 23-5, 51, 65, 79, 133, 155, 159-63, 191, 197, & 398, Abbs. 11, 13, 30, 39, 47, 90, 103, 107-112, 117, & 144. On p.109, Abb. 79. Christ grasps the wrist of Adam to rescue him and others who come out of the door way of the prison house. A demon is crushed under the broken doors. See also kat. 18, on p. 191, & Kats. 82-3, p.272, kats. 92-3, p.284, kats. 94-7, p. 286-305, kats. 98-106, p.341, kat. 131, p.398; Charles W. Eliot, LL.D., (Editor), The Harvard Classics, The Pilgrim's Progress, by John Bunyan, Vol. 15, (New York: P. F. Collier & Son Corp., 1910, 1938, & 56th printing 1965), p. 3-319; Frederick Hartt, Art, (NY: Harry N. Abrams, 1976), vol.II, pl.21, among other things depicted, an angel clasps the hand of a soul ascending out of the fires of hell. See also: Emile Male, 1986, Religious Art In France, The Late Middle Ages, (Princeton University Press, Bollingen Series), p. 354, fig. 224, soul of a dead man is carried to heaven by an angel. See also pp. 410-11, figs. 255-6, & fig. 261, and p. 436, fig. 273, Angel and one of the Elect. Rouen (Seine-Maritime), Church of St. Maclou. West facade, central portal, voussure, "showing an angelic guide clasping, with the left hand, the right hand of a crowned elect." See also p. 437, fig. 274. See also: Graig Harbison, A Garland Series, Outstanding Dissertations In The Fine Arts, The Last Judgment in Sixteenth Century Northern Europe: A Study of the Relation Between Art and the Reformation, (New York & London: Garland Pub., Inc., 1976), p.316, #8, Martin Schaffner, The Blessed, a fragment of the last Judgment, (Pfullendorf Altar), panel, c. 1500. In this work, the crowned Peter (?) has a glove that has a symbol in the middle of the wrist area. He holds the wrist of a naked soul who is on the right hand path leading to paradise. On p. 357, #49, another work of The Last Judgment, etc., 1490-1500 A.D., shows, among other things, Peter guiding the souls by the hand towards the doors of paradise. See also p. 383, #72, Jan Provost, 1506, Douai, Museum, showing the last Judgment in which an angel grasps the hand of a person about to ascend up. On p. 425, #115. Jacob van den Coornhuize, Last Judgment, 1576-1578, shows an angel clothing a soul in an ascension robe, while in the background souls are passing through the door way to paradise. See also: Ernest Lotthe, La Pensee Chretienne Dans la Peinture Flamande Et Hollandaise, de Van Eyck (1432 - 1669), Le Christ Et La Vierge Marie, II, Pub., S. I. L. I. C., 1947, fig. CCXVI, Roger Van Der Weyden, (686), Le Jugement dernier, Hospice de Beaune. Showing, among other things, an angelic holding the hands of a soul as souls are guided towards the door way to paradise. See also fig. CCXVII. -b. (688), Bosch. The angelic guides help the blessed as they ascend up through a tunnel towards paradise. On p. 309, fig. CCXIX, Hans Memling. (693), the naked souls ascend up stairs towards Peter who greets by grasping their hands as they ascend towards the doors to paradise. See also: Charles De Tolnay, Hieronymus Bosch, Holle Verlag, 1965, 109-115; Joseph Gantner & Marcel Pobe, 1956, Romanesque Art In France, (Thames and Hudson), pl. 135, & p. 64; Hughes, 1968, Heaven and Hell In Western Art, p. 188-90; Richard Marks and Nigel Morgan, 1981, The Golden Age of English Manuscript Painting (1200-1500), (New York: George Brazillier Inc.), fig. III, Portrait of William de Brailles, Cambridge, Fitzwilliam Museum, MS. 330. Detail from a single leaf of the Last Judgment, p.9. Another source says that one of the angels who protects and guides soul into heaven is Michael the Archangel, for "He receives the souls of the saints, and leads them into the Paradise of bliss." (The Golden Legend of Jacobus de Voragine, p. 578). A depiction of the harrowing of Hell shows Christ delivering the souls out of the jaws of hell, while an angel behind him thrusts a demon with a lance. (Francis Wormald, The Winchester Psalter, NY: Graphic Soc., LTD, Harvey Miller & Medcalf 1973, fig. 27. See also: Bainton, The Horizon History of Christianity, pp. 214-15; Joseph Gantner and Marcel Pobe, 1956, Romanesque Art In France, pl. 135, & p. 64; Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, NY; San Diego; London: Harcourt Brace, 87-88.

3027- Rutherford H. Platt, Jr., and J. Alden Brett, (Editors), The Forgotten Books of Eden, (U.S.A.: Alpha House, 1927), The First Book of Adam and Eve; Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image; Clifton Harry, The Bible In Art, (Garden City, New York: 1936); Roland H. Bainton, 1974, Behold the Christ, p.171, fig.195; Marcelle Auclair & others, Christ's Image, p.129; Edgar Waterman Anthony, Romanesque Frescoes, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1951), #40; Michael Batterberry, 1961—1964, 1968, Art of the Early Renaissance, plate 130, pp.120-121; Ignazio Mancini, O.F.M., Archaeological Discoveries, Relative to the Judaeo-Christians, Historical Survey, (Jerusalem: The Studium Biblicum Franciscanum, Collection minor, #10, 1970), pp.165-170, & fig.39, on p.166, Adam under Calvary in a medieval miniature of Valenciennes, from LTS 1965, page 278; Hackwood, Christ Lore, p.117, people washing in the blood of Christ. From an old Florentine tract in defense of Savonarola. See also: Reader's Digest, ABC's of the Bible, Intriguing Questions And Answers About the Greatest Book Ever Written, (Pleasantville, New York/Montreal: The Reader's Digest Association, Inc., 1991), editor: Kaari Ward, and others, p. 18, 15th century Dutch illustration, shows God taking Eve by her hand as he pulls her out of Adam's side. The same type lifting and pulling is seen in depictions that show Christ's raising Adam and Eve, and others out of limbo, hades, and Purgatory. See: Claude Schaffner, and others, Gothic Painting I, (A.S. Geneva: Editions Recontre Lausanne, 1965, English edition, 1968), p. 48, Master of Westphalia 14th century, Christ in Purgatory; Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, (New York, New York: Pantheon Books, 1947), p. 184-87, plate 100, a & b; Early Christian Art, The Late Roman and Byzantine Empires from the 3rd century to the 7th century, see figure 83, Venice, St. Mark's 5th century (?). The stigmata symbol, or the wounds of Christ, is seen in the middle of that same hand that is doing the lifting, and in the middle of his other hand that is holding the cross-banner. See: Richard H. Randall Jr., & texts by a number of others, The Masterpieces of Ivory, From the Walters Art Gallery, p. 187, figure 46, the Harrowing of Hell, from the Biblia Pauperum, woodcut, Flemish or German, A. D. 1430 or later. See also: Richard Lewis and Susan I. Lewis, The Power of Art, p. 246, fig. 11-37, and page 247, fig. 11-38; Morey, Christian Art, (New York and Toronto: Longmans, Green Company, 1935), 86, The Harrowing of Hell: mosaic of about the 1100 A.D., in Saint Mark's Venice (Page 31), showing the stigmata in middle of Christ's hand as he raises Adam out of his grave. Robert Hughes, 1968, Heaven & Hell In Western Art, NY: Stein and Day/Publishers, p. 76, Romanesque fresco, c. 1125, from the Church of the Holy Cross, Maderuelo, Spain. Prado, Madrid. Creation drama of Christ holding, with his left hand, the left wrist of Adam as if he is thrusting Adam's hand into his side to show him another area where his body will be wounded when he is crucified. See also: La Resurrection du Christ, dans L'Art Chretien Du Iie Au Allie Siecle, Quarante - Huit Planches Hors - Texte, by Jeanne Villette, (Paris: Henri Laurens, Editeur, 1957), pl. XLII, Decente aux Enfers. Colonne du Ciborium de Saint-Marc a Venise (cl. Osvaldo Bohm). Christ's descent into limbo. See also plates XLIV-XLVIII; Swarzenski, Monuments of Romanesque Art, pl. 15, fig. 35, & pl. 66, fig. 151; David M. Robb, 1973, Art of The Illuminated Manuscript, (Cranbury, New Jersey: A.S. Barnes & Company), p. 200-201, fig. 135; Oakeshott, Classical Inspiration In Medieval Art, pl. 80; Christie, etc., Art of the Christian World A.D. 200-1500, p. 60, fig. 68, p. 95, fig. 195, p. 365, fig. 504, & p. 372, fig. 542.

3028- Chandler Rathfon Post, A History of Spanish Painting, vol. IV-Part I, The Hispano-Flemish Style in North-Western Spain, (Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1933, reprinted in New York: Kraus Reprint Company, 1970), p. 304, 306, fig. 115. Christ as the Man of Sorrows, displaying his wounds with upraised hands, with two angels, one on each side. Art work now in the Museum of the Colegiata at Covarrubias. School of Burgos. Pages 306-7, fig. 116; Post, (1950), Vol. 10, The Early Renaissance in Andalusia, p. 290, fig. 110. Andalusian School, 16th depiction of Christ delaying his wounds during the Mass of St. Gregory. Cathedral, Malaga; Post, (1935), vol. 6, Part 2, The Valencian School in The Late Middle Ages & Early Renaissance, p. 362, fig. 150; p. 392, 394, fig. 164; p. 412, 415, fig. 174; p. 422-23, fig. 179; p. 449-50, fig. 190. Showing Christ visit with his Mother after the ascension out of the underworld. Saint Christopher bearing the Christ-child. The Descent into hell, etc. Metford, Dictionary of Christian Lore and Legend, p. 166- 67, Man of sorrows.

3029- David: "Nevertheless I am continually with thee: thou hast holden me by my right hand. Thou shalt guide me with thy counsel, and afterwards receive me to glory" (Psalm 73:23-24, italics added). Kartsonis, Anastasis; Oakeshott, Classical Inspiration In Medieval Art, pl. 80; Swarzenski, Monuments of Romanesque Art, pl. 15, fig. 34 & 35, & pl. 66, fig. 151; Anthony, Romanesque Frescoes, #40; Ezra 9:8; Sheldon Cheney, 1968, Sculpture of the World, p. 305; Paul Thoby, Le Crucifix, pl. 26 & 27. In depictions of Christ's ascension into heaven, some artists depict the point in the journey where Christ is reaching up towards the hand of the Father, while the hand of the Father is extending down from above. The rest of the Father's body is hid from our view. (Williamson, The Medieval Treasury, pp. 116-7; Beckwith, Ivory Carvings in Early Medieval England, #33. Gothische Malerei, p. 173-4, fig. 158; Bianca Kuhnel, 1987, From the Earthly to the Heavenly Jerusalem, fig. 87). While other artists depicted the part where Christ is just about to clasp a hold of the Father's right hand. (Rhodes, Art Treasures Of Europe, p. 284, & 360, fig. 294; The Lost Books of The Bible, the depiction in between p. 240 & 241; Cheney, Sculpture of the World, p. 305; Thoby, Le Crucifix, pl. 27). While others depict the moment when Christ hand is held in different ways by the Father. (Zarnecki, Art Of The Medieval World, p. 135. fig. 132; Oakeshott, Classical Inspiration In Medieval Art, pl. 80; Volbach, Early Christian Art, pl. 93; Robb, The Art of the Illuminated Manuscript, p. 200-201, fig. 135. Others at the point where Christ is being pulled up, or "raised up," by the Father into heaven. Thus, Christ's hands are almost covered, & we don't see the Father's hand any more. (The New Catholic Encyclopedia, Vol. 1, p. 933, fig. 2). Others depict the moment when Christ has almost entered heaven, for his upper part of his body is in heaven, while his legs extend down. Others at the point at which Christ's entrances is almost complete, except for his feet. Others at the point in which Christ has completely entered, leaving only foot prints where he once stood. (Otto Pacht, The Rise Of Pictorial Narrative In Twelfth-Century England, (Oxford: The Clarendon Press, 1962), pl. 1, #1. "Enoch's translation. Caedmon MS., Oxford". See Plate VIII, 26. The Ascension. Missal, Rouen; 28. "Christ disappearing at Emmaus St. Albans Psalter, Hildesheim." Margaret M. Manion & Vera F. Vines, 1984, Medieval And Renaissance Illuminated Manuscripts In Australian Collections, (London & New York: Thames & Hudson, Melbourne), p. 67, pl. 15, Ascension. No. 19, f. Ir.; J. Boudet, (Editor), Jerusalem A History, (New York: G.P. Putnam's Sons, 1967), Paul Hamlyn, p. 172. The Ascension (Memling, right panel, Louvre, Paris). Kurt Weitzmann, The Place of Book Illumination in Byzantine Art, pp. 40-41, fig. 33-4; Gilles Quispel, 1979, The Secret Book of Revelation, p. 48, Revelation 4:1; Antion Bon, 1972, The Ancient Civilizations of Byzantium, p. 114, etc. Some art works also depict Christ at the door, or gate way, raising up different ones who have made it up to the top of the ladder, by holding their hand. Thus, Christ is there to greets them in this way as they enter heaven. The ladder also represents the struggles towards moral perfection. (John Rupert, 1954, The Illustration of the Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, (Princeton University Press), figures 108-120, 265, 269, 273, 274-77, 281, 293, 296-7; Olga Popova, Russian Illuminated Manuscripts, #42, see also explanation to #42; The World Of Giotto, c. 1267-1337, (NY: Sarel Eimerl & Editors of Time-Life Bks. 1967), p. 190-91, Andrea da Firenze, The Way of Truth, 1366-1368; Bainton, 1964, The Horizon History of Christianity, p. 214-15; John Harthan, 1977, The Book of Hours; Gantner & Pobe, Romanesque Art In France, p. 64, pl. 135; Richard Marks & Nigel Morgan, 1981, The Golden Age Of English Manuscript Painting (1200-1500), (NY: George Braziller Inc.), figure III; O. Popova, Les Miniatures Russes Du Xle Au XVe Siecle; O. Popova, Russian Miniatures of The 11th to the 15th Centuries, p. 86 & 89, fig. 49.

3030- New International Illustrated Encyclopedia Of Art 5:982-3 The Coronation of the Virgin, 1454, altarpiece; hospice of Villeneuve-les-Avignon, Avignon, France; Hartt, Art, NY: Harry N. Abrams, 1976, vol. II, pl. 21.

3031- The Lost Books of The Bible, USA.: Alpha House 1926, 17-20, Gospel of the Birth of Mary, 2:12, 3:5.

3032- Jahrbuch Der Berliner Museen, Ehemals Jahrbuch der Preußischen Kunstsammlungen Neue Folge, (Berlin, Germany: Gebr. Mann Verlag, 1994), SECHSUNDREISSIGSTER BAND, 1994, p. 94, Abb. 1. Stuttgart, Württembergisches Landesmuseum. Riß für das Hochaltarretabel des Ulmer Münsters (Schreinbekrönung), vor 1474. Mary is being crowned. See also: NEUNUNDZWANZIGSTER UND DREISSIGSTER BAND, 1987/1988, p. 146, Abb. 16. Malibu, J. Paul Getty Museum, Ms. Lunwig IX. F. 155v. Crowning.

3033- J. E. Gillet, Tres pasos de la [Passion] y una Egloga de la Resurreccion, (The Modern Language Association of America, 1932), p. 949 ff. See also Miss King, article in the Art Bulletin, XVI (1934), 298; Post, A History Of Spanish Painting, Vol. VI, Part II, p. 394, fig. 164, & pp. 392, 412, 414-15, fig. 174, & pp. 448-9, fig. 190; Early Christian Art, fig. 83; Lowrie, Art in the Early Church, pl. 100; & Gothic Painting I, p. 48; Post, A History Of Spanish Painting, Vol. XI, p. 172-3, fig. 64; Vol. X, p. 122-3, fig. 40.

- 3034- Fredk, WM. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Christ Lore, Being the Legends, Traditions, Myths, Symbols, & Superstitions of The Christian Church, London: 1902, republished, Detroit: Gale Research Company, Book Tower, 1969, 171. <https://archive.org/details/christlorebeing00hackgoog> – <https://archive.org/details/ChristLore>
- 3035- Ernest Alfred Thompson Wallis Budge, M.A., LITT.D., Miscellaneous Coptic Texts, In The Dialect of Upper Egypt, (Amen Corner, London: The British Museum, Longmans & Co.; Asher & Co., and Humphrey Milford, Oxford University Press, 1915), 643--45, Translation of The Coptic Texts, (British Museum, MS. Oriental, No. 6784), Discourse On Mary Theotokos By Cyril, Archbishop of Jerusalem.
- 3036- Clara Erskine Clement, 1871 & 1881, A Handbook of Legendary & Mythological Art, Boston & NY: Houghton Mifflin Co., The Riverside Press Cambridge, 197-209, on the death & assumption of the Virgin Mary.
- 3037- Father L. Coulange, The Life of the Devil Lon.: Alfred A. Knopf, 1929, art work in between p. 48 & 49, photo, Giraudon. Christ's dead body being buried in the tomb, descent into hell, & with Mary in the garden.
- 3038- Hart, Art, Vol. 1, p. 327, fig. 410, Benedetto Antelami. 1150- 1230 A.D. Descent from the Cross, Relief, 1178, Cathedral of Parma, Italy; Franz Unterkircher, A Treasury of Illuminated Manuscripts, pl. II, p. 54-5, & 58, lower portion, Antiphonary of St. Peter's Salzburg, c. 1160, p. 630; W.G. Thomson, A History of Tapestry (From the Earliest Times until the Present Day), 3rd Ed., with revisions edited by F.P. & E.S. Thomson, (EP Pub. Lim. First edition 1906, this one, 1973), 237. This version of the descent from the cross is after Salviati. Florence; Great Centers of Art, Prague, Allanteld and Schram Montclair, (Leipzig, London: George Prior, 1970), p. 246, fig. 173, the risen Lord's embrace with Mary, from the Passion of Abbess Kunhuta. Prague. 1314-1321. See also p. 81, from a collection of mystic tracts by Dominican Friar Kolda of Koldice, written for Kunhuta, abbess at Benedictine Convent at St. George's in Prague Castle. State Library of Czech Socialist Republic XIV A 17, fol. 16V. Brian De Breffny and George Mott, The Churches and Abbeys of Ireland, (New York: W. W. Norton, & Co., CR 1976 Thames and Hudson LTD., London), p. 87, tomb-niche at Strade, Co. Mayo. About the 13th-14th centuries A.D. In the north wall of the Dominican friary a tomb has an engraving of four people on it. One is of Christ with both hands raised up as he displays his wounds. For additional depictions of the risen Lord displaying his wounds, while making different types of gestures, etc., see: Martin Davies, The Early Italian Schools, Before 1400, (National Gallery Catalogues), revised by Dillian Gordan, (London: CR by the National Gallery 1988), see pl. 52, Master of the Blessed Clare, Vision of the Blessed Clare of Rimini (No. 6503); Albert C. Barnes & Violette De Mazia, The French Primitives And Their Forms (From their Origin to the End of the 15th Century), (Merion, P.A., USA: Barnes Foundation Press, 1931), p. 271; Gothic and Renaissance Art in Nuremberg 1300-1550 by the Metropolitan Museum of Art, (New York & Germanisches Nationalmuseum, Nuremberg, CR 1986, Philippe de Montebello, Director), p. 151, fig. 28, Master of the Bamberg Altarpiece, showing Christ as the man of sorrows, has his left hand raised, while his right arm is down and is extended out, he is being embraced by the Virgin Mary. See also: John Pope-Hennessy, Italian Renaissance Sculpture, (London: Phaidon Press, 1958), fig. 81, Verrocchio: Christ displays his wounds, see also detail in fig. 57, San Michele, Florence; Otto Pacht, Book Illumination In The Middle Ages, pp. 34-35, figs. 32-33; Roger Hinks, Carolingian Art (A study of early Medieval painting and sculpture in Western Europe), (Ann Arbor Paperbacks 1962, The University of Michigan Press), p. 167, fig. a & b. XVI; Peter Brown, Society And The Holy In Late Antiquity, (Berkeley and Los Angeles: University of California Press, 1982, p. 258, & note 30, 10th century depiction of gestures made during the mass. See also: G. Millet, Les Iconoclastes et la Croix. A propos d'une inscription de Cappadoce, (Bulletin de correspondance hellénique XXXIV (1910): 96-109; The Lost Books of the Bible and the Forgotten Books of Eden, p. 86-88. In the Discourses of the Apostles, Jesus went down into the underworld to speak with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob and the other old times fathers and declared to them how that they might be raised up by his right hand. He said: "with my right hand I gave them the baptism of life and release and forgiveness of all evil, even as I do to you here and to all who believe on me from this time on." (Dr. Hugu Nibley, Mormonism and Early Christianity, note 119; Schmidt, Gesprache Jesu, 315; cf. 317-18; John 3:22-26; 4:1).
- 3039- William H. Forsyth, The Entombment of Christ, French Sculptures of the 15th & 16th Centuries, Cambridge, Massachusetts: Metropolitan Museum of Art, 1970, figs. 72, 77, 169, 174, (202 kiss of peace?)
- 3040- G. J. Hoogewerff, De Noord-Nederlandse Schilderkunst, Door ('S-Gravenhage: Martinus Nijhoff, 1936), page 457, Afb. 239. Meester der H. barbara. De Beweeing onder her Kruis. Miniatuur in het Getijdenboek der Univ. Bibl. te Leiden. Mary, with her hands, examines and feels the wounded right hand of her son, who has just been taken down from the cross.
- 3041- Miklós Boskovits, The Thyseen—Bornemisza Collection, Early Italian painting 1290-1470, Lon.: Sotheby's Publications, 1990, p. 34-35, Mary Enthroned, p. 36-37, 56-57, Christ child on St. Christopher. See also p. 96-97, Mary crowned. Pages 114-19, & 138-39, fig. 22, Christ's hands are being clasped and examined up close, if not undergoing the kiss of peace, as his body is being taken down from the cross. See also p. 140-41, Christ's hands are clasped during the descent from cross. And p. 158- 59, the Coronation of Mary.
- 3042- Lilian M. C. Randall, Medieval and Renaissance Manuscripts in the Walters Art Gallery, (Baltimore and London: The John Hopkins University Press in Association with the Walters Art Gallery, 1989), volume I, France, 875—1420. Assisted by Judith Oliver, Christopher Clarkson, Jeanne Krochalis, and Jennifer Morrish, p. 292, Pl. Vid, Cat. 78, f. 101V. Mary clasps the hand of Christ as his body is taken down from the cross. "Christ bent over backwards, supported by man on ladder, Virgin kissing Christ's right hand." (p. 210-11). Webster's Illustrated Encyclopedic Dictionary, Montreal, Canada: Tormont Publications, 1990, p. 929, see kiss of peace.
- 3043- Encyclopedia of World Art, (McGraw-Hill, 1959), Vol. I, pl. 292.
- 3044- Hartt, 1979, Art, pp. 325—27; The Encyclopedia of Visual Art, (London, England: Encyclopaedia Britannica International, LTD.), vol. 6, p.20. Benedetto Antelami: Deposition from the Cross; A.D. 1178. Parma Cathedral. Mary's right hand thumb clasps the nail mark wound in Christ's right hand palm, while her right hand finger, on the other side, feels where the nail came through. This is done with the help of an angel.
- 3045- Jahrbuch Der Berliner Museen, Jahrbuch der Preußischen Kunstsammlungen Neue Folge, Erster Band - 1959, (Verlagsort, Berlin, Germany: Im Gemeinschaftsverlag, G. Grotes'sche Verlag Buchhandlung KG - Gebr. Mann, 1959), p. 98-103, Abbs 41-45, Gnadenstuhl. Berlin. Christ's wounded hands are examined, held, and kissed, like unto the kiss of peace.
- 3046- Lilian M. C. Randall, Medieval and Renaissance Manuscripts in the Walters Art Gallery, (Baltimore and London: The Johns Hopkins University Press in Association with the Walters Art Gallery, 1989), vol. I, France, 875—1420, p.292, Pl. vid, Cat. 78, f. 101V. Showing Mary doing the hand clasp, or what looks like the kiss of peace on the nail mark wound of Christ hand, as they take his body down from the cross.

- 3047- Werner R. Deusch, Deutsche Malerei, Des Dreizehnten Und Vierzehnten, Jahrhunderts, Die Frühzeit der Tafelmalerei, (Berlin, Germany: Genius Verlag, 1940), figure 76, Meister Bertram von Minden, Kreuzabnahme vom Passionsalter. Hannover, Landesmuseum. In this version of the descent from the cross, Mary clasps the right hand of Christ, and examines the nail mark wound in that hand, and give it the kiss of peace. Her right hand is on his fingers, while her left is grasping his wrist.
- 3048- Bernard S. Myers, Editor, McGraw—Hill, Dictionary Of Art, Vol. 2, Cezanne— Greco— Roman Style, NY; Toronto; London; Sydney; Johannesburg: McGraw—Hill Book Co., 1969, p. 511, see Giotto Di Bondone. See also: Luisa Marcucci and Emma Micheletti, A History of European Painting, Medieval Painting, (New York: The Viking Press, A Studio Book, 1960; original titled: La Pittura In Europa, CR FabbriStampa, Milan), p. 141.
- 3049- In another work, A.D. 1312-1321, Christ, with wounds in his hands and feet, embraces Mary. See: Prague, Allantleld and Schram Montclair, Great Centers of Art, (Leipzig, London: George Prior, CR 1979, Edition), p. 246, fig. 173, "Christ's Mystic Embrace with Mary. From Passional of Abbess Kunhuta. Prague. 1314-1321." Collection of mystic tracts by Dominican Friar Kolda of Koldice, written for Kunhuta, abbess at Benedictine Convent at St. George's in Prague Castle. State Library of Czech Socialist Republic XIV A 17, fol. 16V.
- 3050- G. J. Hoogewerff, De Hoord-Nederlandsche Schilderkunst, Door, ('S-Gravenhage, Martinus Nijhoff, 1936), page 187, Afb. 80 Beweenen en Verrijzenis Christi. Onderdeel der Passie uit Roermond. The descent from the cross, with another section showing the ascension of grave with the hand clasp, like into the descent into hell depictions. See also page 457, Afb. 239. Meester der H. Barbara. De Beweenen onder het Kruis. Miniatuur in het Getijdenboek der Univ. Bibl. te Leiden. Mary examines up close and feels, with her hands, the wounded right hand of Christ, after his body has been taken down from the cross. Page 527, Afb. 292. Meester van den Lantaarn. De Opstanding van Christus. Rijksmuseum te Amsterdam. The harrowing of hell scene is not far from Christ ascending out of the tomb with his cross banner. Page 565, Afb. 319. Meester „Zenobius”. De Graflegging. Miniatuur in het Horarium van Gijsbrecht van Brederode. In this work, Mary examines the body of Christ by lifting up his left hand. Other smaller portions show some of Christ's post-resurrection visitations, such as to Mary in the Garden, and to the disciple pilgrims going to Emmaus.
- 3051- H.W. Janson, Joseph Kerman, A History Of Art & Music, (NY: Harry N. Abrams, Inc.), 76, colorplate 10. Bohemian Master depicting the death of Mary. Christ appears as a crowned King, and holds Mary's soul in his hand. Apostles are also gathered around to be there too. Dated AD 1350-60, Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, p.95, fig.118, shows Christ child with St. Dorothy.
- 3052- Donald E. Strong, The Book of Art, A Pictorial Encyclopedia of Painting, Drawing, & Sculpture, (Grolier Inc., 1965), vol.1, Origins Of Western Art, p. 133, fig. C, p. 138-39, figs. A-C.
- 3053- Jeffrey Ruda, Fra Filippo Lippi, Life and Work with a Complete Catalogue, (New York: Harry N. Abrams, A Time Mirror Company, CR 1993 Phaidon Press Limited), p. 56-57, plate 22. Madonna & Child enthroned with Angels, a Carmelite and other Saints. Empoli, Museo della Collegiata Cat. 3. Page 66, plate 28, p. 87, pl. 44, p. 91, pl.47, p.138, pl. 76, coronation, p.140, pl.77, p.142, pl.78, p.146, pl.80, p.147, pl.81, p.149, & pl. 82.
- 3054- Ernest Alfred Thompson Wallis Budge, M.A., LITT.D., Miscellaneous Coptic Texts, In The Dialect of Upper Egypt, (Amen Corner, London: The British Museum, Longmans & Co.; Asher & Co., and Humphrev Milford, Oxford University Press, 1915), 719-24, Translation of The Coptic Texts, (British Museum, MS. Oriental, No. 6782), Discourse Of Saint Cyril, Archbishop of Rakote, On The Virgin Mary.
- 3055- Budge, Miscellaneous Coptic Texts, p. 643-51, Translation of The Coptic Texts, (British Museum, MS. Oriental, No. 6784), Discourse On Mary Theotokos By Cyril, Archbishop of Jerusalem; p. 717-24, Discourse of Saint Cyril.
- 3056- Hackwood, Christ Lore, p. 30—31, 36—39.
- 3057- Juliana and Dumitru Dancu, Romanian Folk Painting on Glass, (Bucharest: Meridiane Publishing House, 1979), translated into English by Andreea Gheorghitoui, see 123, Dormition of the Virgin. Laz Pavel Zamfir 1897. Jianu Collection (Museum of Oltenia, Craiova. Jesus is "holding the kneeling Virgin by the hand" as she ascends into heaven.
- 3058- Henri Ghéon, The Madonna In Art, (Paris, France: Éditions—Pierre Tisné, 1947), 29, 80, 120, 123-25, 132-34, 137, 140, 144, 146-47.
- 3059- Darell Thorpe, Jesus Christ's "Everlasting Gospel" and Ancient "Patternism" 1990; Thorpe, The Pilgrimages and Struggles of the Human Family in and through the Different Realms of Existences, 1991—92; Thorpe, The Pre-existence: Our Pre-earth Life in a Family In Heaven, 1993, 1995; Thorpe, Upon Them Hath the Light Shined, 1993—94; Thorpe, The Garments Of The First And Second Adam: [The Symbolical Meanings Of Garments In Early to Later Christendom, Oct. 1993; Thorpe, The Mystery Behind The Mysteries, Ritualistic Realm Pilgrims In Early to Later Christian Mysteries; Kelly, The Devil At Baptism; Lundy, Monumental Christianity; Adam, Baptism For the Dead, 1977; Kartsonis, The Anastasis; Nibley, Mormonism and Early Christianity, 1987; Das Jenseits im Millelalter, Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, 1994; Swarsenski, Monuments of Romanesque Art, 1954 & 1967; Nibley, Temple and Cosmos; Ostler, Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity, 1982, BYU Studies, vol. 22, Winter 1982, #1, p. 31—45; Compton, The Handclasp and Embrace as Tokens of Recognition, chapter 24 in By Study and Also By Faith, vol. 1. R. G. Hammerton-Kelly, Pre-existence Wisdom & The Son of Man, 1973.
- 3060- Clement, A Handbook Of Legendary And Mythological Art, p.200—09.
- 3061- Himmel Holle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, München; Thorpe, Jesus Christ's "Everlasting Gospel" and Ancient "Patternism", (Salt Lake City, Utah: Religious, Historical and Polemical Studies, 1990, an unpublished research paper at this time). See also: Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined. See also: J.E. Gillet, Tres pasos de la [Passion] y una Egloga de la Resurreccion, (Publications of the Modern Language Association of America, XLVII, 1932), pp. 949 ff. See also Miss King's article in the Art Bulletin, XVI (1934), 298; Chandler Rathfon Post, A History Of Spanish Painting, vol. VI, Part II, p.394, fig. 164, & pp.392, 412, 414-15, fig. 174, & pp. 448-9, fig. 190; Hart, Art, vol. 1, p. 327, fig. 410, Benedetto Antelami (A.D. 1150—1230); Brian De Breffny and George Mott, The Churches and Abbeys of Ireland, (New York: W. W. Norton, & Company, 1976, Thames and Hudson LTD., London), p. 87, tomb-niche at Strade, Co. Mayo. About the 13th—14th centuries A.D. In the north wall of the Dominican friary a tomb has an engraving of 4 people on it. One is of Christ with both hands raised up as he displays his wounds. See also: Martin Davies, revised by Dillian Gordon, The Early Italian Schools (Before 1400), (National Gallery Catalogues), (London: National Gallery, 1988), pl. 52, Master of the Blessed Clare, Vision of the Blessed Clare of Rimini (No. 6503); Albert C. Barnes & Violette De Mazia, The French Primitives And Their Forms (From their Origin to the End of the 15th Century), (Merion, P.A., U.S.A.: Barnes Foundation Press, 1931), p. 271; Gothic and Renaissance Art in Nuremberg 1300-1550 by the Metropolitan Museum of Art, N.Y., & Germanisches Nationalmuseum, Nuremberg, CR 1986

Philippe de Montebello, Director, see p. 151, fig. 28, Master of the Bamberg Altarpiece, showing Christ as the man of sorrows, has his left hand raised, while his right arm is down and is extended out, he is being embraced by the Virgin Mary. See also: John Pope-Hennessy, Italian Renaissance Sculpture, (London: Phaidon Press, 1958), fig. 81, Verrocchio: Christ displays his wounds, see also detail in fig. 57, San Michele, Florence. See also: Otto Pacht, Book Illumination In The Middle Ages, pp. 34-5, figs. 32-33; Roger Hinks, Carolingian Art, A study of early Medieval painting and sculpture in Western Europe, (Ann Arbor Paperbacks 1962, The University of Michigan Press), p. 167, fig. a & b. XVI, Ivory panels with liturgical scenes, for a 10th century depiction of the celebration of the mass which depicts a number of people around the altar making different gestures, some of which are the same, if not similar to the gestures of Christ when he displays his wounds during post-resurrection visitations. The sign of the cross was also said to be a "sacramental gesture" plus a rites of passage gesture, which traditions say, Adam use to pass by the angel who guarded to gates to paradise, after He and a host of others had been rescued by Christ out of hell. Christ is said to have showed them these rites of passage hand clasp, and the sign of the cross for this very reason. (Peter Brown, Society And The Holy In Late Antiquity, (Berkeley and Los Angeles, California: University of California Press, 1982), p. 258, & note 30, see G. Millet, Les Iconoclastes et la Croix. A propos d'une inscription de Cappadoce. Bulletin de correspondance hellénique XXXIV (1910): 96-109. See also: The Lost Books of the Bible and the Forgotten Books of Eden, pp. 86-88; Luke 24:13-53; Acts 1:3; Hackwood, Christ Lore, p. 172. The 4th century Christian Father S. Cyril of Jerusalem talked about the ritualistic types of Christ's suffering which the Christians passed through while going through the Christian mysteries: "we did not really die, we were not really buried, we were not really crucified and raised again; but our imitation was but in a figure, while our salvation is in reality. Christ was actually crucified, and actually buried, and truly rose again; and all these things have been vouchsafed to us, that we, by imitation communicating in His sufferings, might gain salvation in reality. . . . Christ received the nails in His undefined hand and feet, and endured anguish; while to me without suffering or toll, by fellowship of His pain He vouchsafes salvation." (Library of Fathers, (Oxford, London: John Henry Parker, MDCCCXXXIX), vol. II, pp. 260-66, Lecture XIX-XX, Cyril on the Mysteries); Lundy, Monumental Christianity, 1882, p. 264-5, note 1 Lib. v. c. 20, of Har.

3062- Werner R. Deusch, Deutsche Malerei, Des Funfzehnten Jahrhunderts, Die Malerei Der Spatgotik, Berlin, Germany: Kurt Wolff Verlag, 1936, pl.81, Johann Koerbecke, Himmelfahrt Mariae. 1457 Lugano, Sammlung Baron Thyssen-Bornemisza.

3063- JCI Metford, Dictionary of Christian Lore and Legend, (London: Thames and Hudson, 1983), p. 73.

3064- Colleen McDannell & Bernhard Lang, Heaven: A History, (New Haven & London: Yale Un. Press, 1988), p. 160-61, pl.30, & p. 162-65; Meisterwerke der Gemälde—Galerie, Hamburger Kunsthalle, (Herausgegeben von Alfred Hentzen unter Mitarbeit von Gerhard Gerkens, Hans Werner Grohn, Hanna Hohl, Michael Schwarz, Wolf Stubbe und Georg Syamken, 1969), fig.16, Mary crowned & enthroned with Christ. Fig.38, Mary, crown.

3065- McDannell and Lang, Heaven: A History, p. 105, plate 9, p. 164, & plate 32.

3066- McDannell and Lang, Heaven: A History, p. 136—37, & 140—41.

3067- McDannell and Lang, Heaven: A History, p. 160, 163, & 165.

3068- Vincent Cronin, Mary Portrayed, (London, England: Darton, Longman & Todd, 1968), pp.3, 16-17, fig.6, p.20-1, fig.8, pp.24-5, fig. 10, p.28, fig. 13, pp.31-2, 34-5, 38, figs. 20-1, p.44, 53-5, fig.28, p.88-9, fig. 47, p.92-4, 99, 116-7, fig. 65, p. 128-9, fig.83, & p.156; Janson, History of Art, pp.178, fig. 289, p.252, fig. 402, p. 262, figs. 414-15, p.268, figs. 426-7, p. 270-1, fig.431, fig. 463, pp.324-5, fig. 495-6, & p.380, fig.562; Hennessy, Fra Angelico, p. 173, fig. X, p.200, figs. XXXIX & XL., p.203, fig. XLVII; Ruda, Fra Filippo Lippi, pp.56-7, pl.22, p.66, pl.28, p.84, 87, pl.44, pp.90-1, pl.47, p.136-153, plates 76-83, p.297-9, plates 169 & 171, p.368, plate 200, etc.; Burns, Western Civilizations, vol. 1, page in between pp. 224-5, Sieneese Madonna and Child, Byzantine School, 13th century A.D. (National Gallery; Mary crowned, 14th c., ivory from Louvre, Paris. Mary as the "Queen of Heaven"; Clark, Civilisation, vii, #9 in color & 47 in black and white, pp.68-71. Mary is being crowned queen during an after-life realm coronation ceremony taking place in heaven. See also: Martin, Textiles in Daily Life in the Middle Ages, p.20-1, fig. 7, The Coronation of the Virgin. Embroidery. Italy, Florence, 1st half of the 15th century, CMA 53. 129 (cat. no. 5), And fig.8, Lorenzo Monaco, Italian, 1370/71-1425. Panel, 1414. Galleria degli Uffizi, Florence; Hollister, 1968, Medieval Europe, A Short History, pp. 334-336. Another Altarpiece, from the Dominican convent of San Vincenzo di Annalena, The Virgin and Child enthroned. The coronation. "CA. 1430-1440"; Giulio Carlo Argan, Fra Angelico, Biographical and Critical Study (The World Pub., Co.), p.61-62, The Coronation, Louvre, Paris. ENTHRONED, 1437, CONVENT OF SAN MARCO, FLORENCE, p.90-91. A number of art works during 13th-17th centuries show Mary crowned. The dates to some of these are A.D. 1249, 1320-30, 1430s, & 1616, while others shows her as if she is one of the members of the Godhead, as she is under going the coronation ceremony in heaven. One dates back to A.D. 1453-4, another to A.D. 1516. (Hartt, Art, vol. II, pl.21, Renaissance. Enguerrand Quarton. Coronation of the Virgin. Panel Painting, Musée de l'Hospice, Villeneuve-les-Avignon, France; Bernard S. Myers, (General editor), Art Treasures in Germany, Monuments, Masterpieces, Commissions of Collections, (New York; and London: Terwin Copplestone, and Hamlyn Pub. Group Limited, 1970), p. 55, fig.73, p.56-7, fig.76, p.69, fig.96, p.70, fig.99, p.89, fig.126, & p.94, fig.135; Clark, Civilisation, p.156-7, #22, Holbein, Madonna of Bugomaster Meyer. Mary crowned. Another depiction, 1st half of the 16th c. shows Mary & Christ enthroned; Treasures From The Kremlin, p.32, pl.5, & p.140. In 1560s, from the chapel of the Assembly of the Virgin in the Cathedral of the Annunciation, Moscow Russia. The Virgin and Child in the circles of glory, the lower portion shows groups of people, some of which depict monks praising the Virgin. And p.33-36, & 140, #7. The Synaxis, or Assembly, of the Virgin. Inv. no. 5062, Provenance: Side chapel of the Assembly of the Virgin in the Cathedral of the Annunciation, Moscow Kremlin, Moscow School, 1560s. Crowned and enthroned along side Christ. And pp.58 & 157, pl.22, Gold reliquary diptych, front, inside, reverse. A gift from Czar Fedor Ivanovich to Czaritsa Irina. Accessioned from the Monastery of the Ascension, Moscow Kremlin, in 1918 (Inv. no. 15400). Moscow, Kremlin workshop, AD 1589; McDannell and Lang, Heaven: A History, p.136, 161, pl.30, dated 1575 AD., Antonino Politi, O.P., Della felicità suprema del cielo (Perugia: Rastelli, 1575). Another "the Virgin Enthroned with the Child" 1589.

3069- Dr. Hugu Nibley, Mormonism and Early Christianity, (Salt Lake City, & Provo, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies, and Deseret Book Company, 1987), see chapter 3, Early Christian Prayer Circles. Mary is often part of this ritual, and plays an important part in it.

3070- Carol Zaleski, Otherworld Journeys, Accounts Of Near-Death Experience In Medieval And Modern Times, (New York; Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987), 17—18.

3071- Juliana and Dumitru Dancu, 1979, Romanian Folk Painting on Glass, 123.

- 3072- Rev. Alexander Hislop, The Two Babylons, or The Papal Worship Proved To Be The Worship of Nimrod And His Wife, (Neptune, New Jersey: Loizeaux Brothers, 2nd English edition, 1959, first edition, 1916), p. 74, 83, 266—67; Ralph Woodrow, Babylon Mystery Religion, Ancient And Modern, (Riverside, California: Ralph Woodrow Evangelistic Associations, Inc., 1966, 9th printing April 1975), p. 21—29; Maria-Gabriele Wosien, 1974, Sacred Dance, Encounter with the Gods, (New York, New York: Thames and Hudson, 1986), p. 26—29; Juliana and Dumitru Dancu, (Translated into English by Andreea Gheorghitioiu), Romanian Folk Painting on Glass, (Bucharest: Meridiane Publishing House, 1979), 123, Dormition of the Virgin, Laz Pavel Zamfir 1897, Jianu Collection, Museum of Oltenia, Craiova. Above the scene which shows different saints gathered around Mary's body at the moment of her death, is Mary's soul being welcomed into heaven by Christ. Mary is grasping the middle of Christ's hand with her hands. According to other art works, Christ then will conduct her through the rest of the heavenly mysteries in which she will be crowned, enthroned, glorified, and deified.
- 3073- Bernard S. Myers, McGraw-Hill Dictionary of Art, NY, etc.: McGraw—Hill Book Co., 1969, 269.
- 3074- Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, page 79, Abb. 47. Jüngstes Gericht, Huth-Psalter, nach 1280. London, British Library, Add. 38116, fol. 13. - Eine der frühesten bildlichen Umsetzungen der Heilstreppe. Showing an angelic guide grasping the wrist of the first, in many, to be guided into paradise on the right-hand side of Christ, who sits enthroned, with both hands raised.
- 3075- Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, page 81, Abb 49. "Interzession, Glasfenster, 1. Hälfte 14. Jahrhundert. Freiburg i.Br., Münster, nördliches Seitenschiff, zweites Fenster von Westen."
- 3076- Matthew 27:52-53; Acts 1:3, Dr. Hugu Nibley, Since Cumorah, The Book of Mormon In the Modern World, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Co. 1967, 96-126.
- 3077- Dr. Hugu W. Nibley, Christ Among The Ruins, in The Ensign, July 1983, vol. 13, #7, p. 17.
- 3078- Nibley, Christ Among The Ruins, Ensign, July 1983, vol. 13, #7, p. 16-19.
- 3079- Jay A. Levenson, Editor, Art in the Age of Exploration, Circa 1492, p. 167-68, see 50: Diego de Siloe, Spanish, active 1517-1563, Man of Sorrows, A.D. 1522.
- 3080- Propyläen Kunstgeschichte, In Achtzehn Bänden, Band 3, (Berlin: Propyläen Verlag Berlin), Byzanz Und Der Christliche Osten, Von Wolfgang Fritz Volbach Und Jacqueline Lafontaine-Dosogne, (Berlin: Propyläen Verlag Berlin, MCMLXVIII, 1968), pl.15. Anastasis, Mosaik, Kloster Lukas, Phokis, Katholikon, 1. Drittel des 11. Jhs.
- 3081- Docteur Paul Thoby, Le Crucifix, des Origines au Concile de Trente, (Bellanger Nantes), Planche CLXXXI, No. 376, Fribourg. Musée. Pffinture de Hans Friess. Christ's descent into hell. Also showing the hand of God in different locations, and the sacrament in the background.
- 3082- Joseph Campbell, Historical Atlas of World Mythology, Vol. 2, The Way Of The Seeded Earth, Part 1, The Sacrifice, (New York, New York: Harper & Row, 1988), p. 39.
- 3083- David Talbot Rice, The Art of Byzantium, (New York: Harry N. Abrams, 1959), p. 306, plate 73; Richard I. Abrams, and Warner A. Hutchinson, An Illustrated Life Of Christ, From The National Gallery of Art Collection, (Nashville: Abingdon, 1982), pp. 16—17; Kurt Weitzmann, Editor, Age of Spirituality, Late Antique and Early Christian Art, Third to Seventh Century, New York Metropolitan Museum of Art, Exhibited November 19, 1977—February 12, 1978, see pp. 283, fig. 261; p. 285, fig. 263; p. 413; Guido Gregorietti, translated from Italian into English by Helen Lawrence, Jewelry Through The Ages, (New York: American Heritage, CR Hamlyn Publishers Group Limited, 1969), p. 166; H. Clay Trumbull, D.D., The Blood Covenant, A Primitive Rite and its Bearings on Scriptures, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1885), p. 65-75; Anne Ward, John Cherry, Charlotte Gere, Barbara Cartledge, (U.S.A.: Rizzoli International Publishing Inc., English edition, 1981), p. 54, fig. 7; p. 60, plate 114; pl. 137, p. 68, 101, figure or plate 211, p. 59, 107, 114, pl. 245; Charles Oman, 1973, British Rings, (Totowa, New Jersey: Rowman and Littlefield, 1974), see 54, a—c; Thorpe, Early Christianity In The Ancient Americas, & Old & New World Parallels, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Religious, Historical & Polemical Studies, 1991, an unpublished research manuscript at this time). Thorpe, Jesus Christ's "Everlasting Gospel" and Ancient "Patternism" (SLC, Utah: R.H. & P.S., 1990, an unpub. research paper at this time).
- 3084- Leonard W. Cowie, The March of the Cross, NY; Toronto; Lon.: McGraw-Hill Book Co., Inc., 1962, p. 196-97, pl.27, The Crucifixion, by Pietro Annigoni, born in Milan in 1910, this painting was done in 1958 for the church of Castagno di Andrea, a small village near Florence. Nails are driven through wrists.
- 3085- Justino Fernandez, Arte Mexicano, De Sus Origenes A Nuestros Dias, (Av. República Argentina, 15, Méxioc, D. F.: Editorial Porrúa, S.A., 1961), fig. 114— Santuario. Camarin de la Virgen, s. XVII. Ocotlán. Hand-or-wrist clasping wedding scene.
- 3086- Mary L Davis and Greta Pack, Mexican Jewelry, (Austin Texas: University of Texas Press, 1963), pp. 20-21, pl. 12; Hugu Tait, Editor, Jewelry 7000 Years, An International History and Illustrated Survey from the Collections of the British Museum, (New York: Harry N. Abrams, Inc., 1986), p. 238, figures 614 & 615; Margaret Baker, Wedding Customs And Folklore, (New Jersey: David & Charles, & R. & L. Tor., 1977), p. 33; New Catholic Encyclopedia, vol. XXI, p. 809; Nigel Morgan, Early Gothic Manuscript II, 1250—1285, (London: Harvey— Miller, 1988), fig. 107; Encyclopedia of World Art, vol. 5, pl. 279, & pl. 226; Madeleine Jarry, World Tapestry, From Its Origins to the Present, (New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1968 & 1969), pp. 78—79; Brian Murphy, The World of Weddings, (New York; London: Paddington Press Ltd., 1978), p. 99; Marcus von Wellnitz, Brigham Young University Studies, (Provo, Utah: Brigham Young University Press, 1979), vol. 21, Winter 1981, #1, p. 28, his article entitled: The Catholic Liturgy and the Mormon Temple; Geoffrey Barraclough, Editor, The Christian World, (New York: Harry N. Abrams, CR 1981 Thames and Hudson Ltd., London), p. 144; Richard I Abrams, Warner A. Hutchinson, An Illustrated Life Of Jesus, From the National Gallery of Art Collection, (Nashville: Abingdon, 1982), p. 17.
- 3087- I was watching a classic version of the movie, Ivanhoe, the one with Elizabeth Taylor in it. When Ivanhoe and his "lady" met again and exchanged kisses and hugs. Then Ivanhoe look at his right hand and she did too. The camera did a close up of their hands at this point, and they talked about the time that they cut their wrists, and placed them together while making their vow to God. There were small scars on each of their wrists. See also: Trumbull, Blood Covenant, p. 72-75, & 266-86.
- 3088- Leonard W. Cowie, The March of the Cross, NY; Toronto; London: McGraw-Hill Book, 1962, p. 196-97, pl. XXVII, The Crucifixion, by Pietro Annigoni, born in Milan in 1910, painted in 1958, for the church of Castagno di Andrea, a village near Florence. The nails driven through Christ's wrists.

3089- Kaiser Heinrichs Romfahrt, Die Bilderchronik von Kaiser Heinrich VII. und Kurfürst Balduin von Luxemburg 1308—1313, (Germany: Deutscher Taschenbuch Verlag GmbH & Co., KG, München; Harald Bolt Verlag, Boppard am Rhein 1965; Umschlaggestaltung: Celestino Piatti; Gesamtherstellung: C. H. Beck'sche Buchdruckerei, Nördlingen), p. 52—53, & 60—61; New Catholic Encyclopedia, XXI: 809; Morgan, Early Gothic Manuscripts II, 1250—1285, fig. 107; Encyclopedia of World Art, 5, pl. 226; Margaret M. Manion and Vera F. Vines, Medieval and Renaissance Illuminated Manuscripts, In Australian Collections, (Melbourne; London; New York: Thames & Hudson, 1984), 144 & 173, pl. 36; Jaroslav Folda, Crusader Manuscript Illumination at Saint—Jean d'Acre, 1275-91, (New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1976), figs. 137, & 252; Françoise Robin (Docteur ès lettres), (Picard Editeur, 1985), fig. 124; Ferdinand Seibt, Erich Bachmann, Hilde Bachmann, Gerhard Schmidt, Götz Fehr, Christian Salm, Edited by Erich Bachmann, Gothic Art in Bohemia, (Phaidon Press Lim., 1977, originally published as Gotik in Böhmen, (Phaidon Press Lim., 1969), fig. 80; Georges Dogaer, Flemish Miniature Painting in the 15th and 16th Centuries, (B.M. Israël B. V. Amsterdam, 1987. Translated by Anne E. C. Simoni and others), p. 78, fig. 39; Gabriel Bise, translated by G. Ivins and D. MacRae, The Illuminated Naples Bible, Old Testament, 14th Century Manuscript, (Crescent Books), p. 60, fig. VIII; The Nicene and Post Nicene Fathers, 6:67, 233, 347, & 507, (Grand Rapids Michigan: WM. B. Eerdmans, reprinted Feb. 1979), see St. Jerome, Finger Language; Jerome Letter XLVIII: To Pammachius; Letter CXXIII: To Ageruchia; Jerome Against Jovinianus Book I. Robert Branner, Manuscript Painting In Paris During the Reign Of Saint Louis, A Study of Styles, (Berkeley and Los Angeles California; London England: University of California Press, CR Shirley Prager Branner, 1977), fig. 192; Thomson, A History of Tapestry, p. 210; The Other Bible, The Gospel of Philip, p. 92—95. These sources seem to point out that there were many cases in which the bride and grooms hands were pulled together by the religious leader, as he grasped their wrist to have them join hands in matrimony. The Gospel of Philip, likens the mystery of marriage as a type of Christ's redemptive works to drawing together both the living and the dead unto Christ.

3090- Walter Howell Deverell, 1827-54, his, As You Like It, painted 1853, shows Celia in the guise of a boy, pretending to officiate at the "marriage" of Orlando & Rosalind, in guise of boy. The interesting thing about this "so-called marriage" is the right handed clasp, for their thumbs rest on each others' second knuckle down. See p. 6-7 & 50-51, for Homan Hunt's, The Light of the World, 1853, Christ knocking on door.

3091- Joshua Moses Bennett, The Gospel of The Great Spirit, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Morning Star Publishing Company, Inc., 1990), 543-53, & note 24, on p. 615, making reference to: Haas N: Anthropological observations on the skeletal remains from Giv'at ha-Mivtar. Israel Explor J 1970;20:38-59.

3092- Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, (NY, NY: Pantheon Books, 1947), plate 100,a, and p. 184-87, Columns of the Ciborium, in S. Marco. Christ's descent into limbo, depicted on one of the columns of alabaster, which support the ciborium in St. Mark's Church at Venice. Early Christian art from the 5th century A.D. Plate 100a "Surgunt corpora sanctorum. "Many bodies of the saints were raised" (Mt. 27:52). This is depicted on the left. On the right Christ descends to the limbus (I Pet. 3:19), rescuing the patriarchs, while Hades bites his fingers in impotent rage." Adam and Christ are reaching around a pillar to perform the hand clasping rite of passage. In ancient Near Eastern temples, "Covenants are sealed in temples or near pillars standing near temples" writes John M. Lundquist. See his article: The Legitimizing Role of the Temple in the Origin of the State, published as chapter 9 in Temples of The Ancient World. Edited by Donald W. Parry, (Salt Lake City; Provo, Utah: Deseret Book Company, and Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies, 1994), pp. 179—235, see p. 220. Furthermore, "the king stood by a pillar and made a covenant before the Lord." (Ibid., p. 220, citing 2 Kings 23:2-3, see also foot note 148 on p. 148, and pp. 284—86). Isaiah 49:8—10 tells of a covenant, and of how God would guide the prisoners out of darkness. And then in verse 16: "Behold, I have graven thee upon the palms of my hands". In Isaiah 41:10 & 13, the Lord will uphold with his right hand of righteousness, and will hold "thy right hand." In Isaiah 42:6-7, prisoners are led out of the darkness of the prison house by a covenant made with a hand clasp. "I the LORD have called thee in righteousness, and will hold thine hand, and will keep thee, and give thee for a covenant of the people, for a light of the Gentiles; To open the blind eyes, to bring out the prisoners from the prison, and them that sit in darkness out of the prison house." See also: Ezra 9:5—9, The Lord shows grace and mercy by giving a nail in his holy place, that a remnant may escape from bondage. See also: Isaiah 22:23, 25; Exodus 13:16. The hand clasp around this pillar could represent a covenant clasp between the Lord and Adam. Adam's thumb rest in the middle of Christ's right hand as if to feel the nail mark wound. In having received this hand token, the saints of old were delivered from hell (Psalm 86:13—17). One of the types for Christ descent into hell was in how the Lord brought, with a strong hand, the Israelites out of the bondage they were under, when slaves to the Pharaoh of Egypt. The Pharaoh was likened, in early Christian types, and similitudes, to how death & the devil held the spirits of the dead in bondage in their prison house. In Exodus 13:8—16, this act was to become a sign, and a token upon the hand. A similitude of how the Lord's hand can rescue, guide and redeem captive souls out of bondage. But souls seeking to be delivered and redeemed were to stretch forth their hand unto the Lord as his arm or hand is revealed. And while his arm of mercy is extended to them. When this happens, they were to cleave unto God as he cleaveth unto them, in so doing this, he would redeem and rescue them out of bondage (See: Psalms 86:12-17; 88:9; 138:8-10; 143:6-11; Nibley in Temples of The Ancient World, p. 557-62; Jacob 6:4-13; Mosiah 15:30-31; 16:1-12). In another depiction of Christ's descent into hell, the clasp is made on the wrist of Adam. Christ's nail mark wound is in the middle of his left hand which is clasping Adam's right wrist. The clasp lines up with a pillar, except the pillar stop short of being extended down under where the clasping is taking place. It is as though the pillar is likened unto a nail which is driven into their hands to bind the covenant being performed. If so, then another pillar in the church seems to have nailed the jaws of hell open so that the prisons may come forth. (See: Raymond Koechlin, Les Ivoires Gothiques, Francis, Planches, (Paris, France: F. De Noble, 1968), no. 34, Petrograd, Musée de l'Ermitage). See also: Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Religious, Historical and Polemical Studies, 1994, revised 1997, an unpublished manuscript and computer file at this time).

3093- Jeanne Villette, La Résurrection Du Christ, Dans L' Art Chrétien Du Ile Au VIIe Siècle, (Paris, France: Henri Laurens, Éditeur, 1957), pl. XLIII, Descente aux Enfers. Colonne du Ciborium de Saint-Marc à Venise (cl. Osvaldo Böhm); plates XLV, XLVII, and others.

3094- Lowrie, Art in the early Church, pl. 100; Gothic Painting I, p. 48.

3095- Eine Bayerische Malerschule Des XI. Und XII. Jahrhunderts, Von, E.F. fehn. See: Taf. 60: 164, München: Staatsbibl., Clm. 2939. See also: Antione Bon, The Ancient Civilizations of Byzantium, (1972), p. 114, fig. 71; Olga Popova, Russian Illuminated Manuscripts, (Leningrad, Russia: Aurora Art Publishing, 1984; 1st pub. in the USA by Thames and Hudson), translated by Kathleen Cook, Vladimir Ivano and Lenina Sorokina, see fig. 42.

3096- W. F. Volbach, Early Christian Art, (NY: Harry A. Abrams), fig. 93; Walter Oakeshott, Classical Inspiration In Medieval Art, (NY, NY: Frederick A. Praeger, Inc., 1959), pl. 80.

3097- Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments of Romanesque Art, (Chicago: The University of Chicago, 1954, & 2nd edition 1967), pl. 66, fig. 151, Christ ascension, Anglo-Saxon, late 10th c. A.D.

- 3098- Edith W. Kirsch, Five Illuminated Manuscripts Of Giangaleazzo Visconti, (London: College Art Association, The Pennsylvania State University Press, University Park and London, 1991), fig. 55, Lombard, c. 1380, Paris. Bibl. nar., Lat. 757, fol. 237.
- 3099- C. J. P. Cave, Roof Bosses In Medieval Churches, An Aspect of Gothic Sculpture, Cambridge: At The Un. Press, 1948, see fig. 180, p. 10-59, fig. 34, Christ displays his wounds with both hands raised up. Fig. 88, Christ right hand is raised up, while his left exposes the wound in his side. Fig. 98, Mary passing through heavenly coronation ceremony. Fig. 146. God raises Eve out of Adam's side by clasping her hand. Fig. 162, the harrowing of Hell. Clasp made on Adam's wrist. Fig. 240, hands, heart, and feet are symbols of the five wounds of Christ.
- 3100- A Library Of Fathers Of The Holy Catholic Church, (Oxford, London: John Henry Parker; J. G. F. Rivington, MDCCCXXXIX), vol. 2, pp. 264—65, The Catechetical Lectures of S. Cyril of S. Cyril, Archbishop of Jerusalem, Lecture XX, On the Mysteries, II, On the Rites of Baptism, verse 5; Dr. Hugué W. Nibley, Mormonism & Early Christianity, notes: 3:8, see: Cyril of Jerusalem, Catechesis XX, Mystagogica II, de Baptismi Caeremoniis (Catechetical Lecture on the Rites of Baptism), in PG 33:1081; also in Nibley's, The Message of the Joseph Smith Papyri (Salt Lake City: Deseret, 1976), p. 282.
- 3101- Willis Barnstone, Editor, The Other Bible, (San Francisco, California: Harper & Row, 1984), Christian Apocrypha, Revelation of the Mystery of the Cross, The Acts of John, p. 419-20.
- 3102- Early Italian Art, Boston: Un. Prints, Series B, see B 357, Incredulity of Thomas, Academy, Venice, Cima da Conegliano. AD 1459-1517, Venetian School. Christ clasps Thomas' wrist as he feels side wound with his finger. On the glove of his left hand is a symbol in the middle of it.
- 3103- Fernandez, Arte Mexicano, fig. 144, López de Arteaga, Santo Tomás, s. XVII. México. MNAP. Christ grasps, right hand to right-wrist of Thomas, helps him feel the wound in his side.
- 3104- Hackwood, Christ Lore, p. 172; Age of Chivalry, Art in Plantagenet England 1200-1400, ed. by Jonathan Alexander & Paul Binski, Weidenfeld & Nicolson, Lon.: Royal Academy of Arts, Lon., 1987, 306, fig. 255, Christ guides souls out of the jaws of hell over the broken doors by grasping the wrist of the first to be rescued. The ascension into heaven is also seen here too, in this case the artists decided to show the moment in the motion at the point in which the legs of Christ have not yet entered into heaven with the rest of the upper half of Christ.
- 3105- Alfred Stange, German Painting, XIV-XVI Centuries, NY; Paris & Lon.: The Hyperion Press, 92, Master Of The St. Bartholomew's Altar, St. Thomas Altar. Central Panel. 1501, Cologne, Wallraf-Richartz-Museum.
- 3106- Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, page 83, "Abb. 52. Konrad Witz (zugeschrieben) Fürbittbild, um 1450. Gemälde auf Holz, H: 135, B: 165 cm. Kunstmuseum Basel."
- 3107- ANF 8:538-49, Acts of The Holy Apostle Thomas, When He Came Into India, & Built the Palace in The Heavens.
- 3108- ANF 8:544, Acts of The Holy Apostle Thomas, When He Came Into India, & Built The Palace In The Heavens.
- 3109- Peter Bamm, The Kingdoms of Christ, 223; Reader's Digest, After Jesus, The Triumph Of Christianity, p.266.
- 3110- The World's Great Religions, 1957, p.287.
- 3111- Caroline Walker Bynum, Jesus as Mother, Studies in the Spirituality of the High Middle Ages, (Berkeley; Los Angeles; London: Un. of California Press, 1982), 119-20.
- 3112- Caroline Walker Bynum, Jesus as Mother, Studies in the Spirituality of the High Middle Ages, (Berkeley; Los Angeles; London: Un. of California Press, 1982), 120.
- 3113- Ephrem, of the Syrian Church, was born at Nisibis in Mesopotamia about A.D. 306, and died about A.D. 378. In a work entitled: The Pearl, Or, Seven Rhythms On The Faith, Ephrem Syrus (Ephraim Syrus) presented a number of types for baptism, the mysteries and hints to the descent of Christ. The sea was a type of baptism and tomb which divers came up from. Divers were also a type of those who went through the mysteries, for they put on Christ, were anointed with oil, took off garments to be clothed in raiments of glory and light, and were crowned. "The naked men in a type saw thy rising again by the seashore; and by the side of the lake the Apostles, truly naked, saw the rising again of the Son of thy Creator.... The diver arose from the sea and put on his garments; and from the lake also Simon Peter came swimming, and put on his garments; each was clad, as with clothes, with love for both of you." (Guy Carleton Lee, Ph.D., (Editor in Chief, The World's Orators, (New York and London: University Edition, G.P. Putnam's Sons, The Knickerbocker Press, 1900), 193-214; N&PNF, Vol. XIII, p. 293-301). In the New International Illustrated Encyclopedia Of Art, General Editorial Consultant, Sir John Rothenstein, C.B.E., Ph.D., LL.D., (New York: Greystone Press, MCMLXVII, etc.), in Vol. 2, p.402-3, it shows the panel altar of Saint Peter, church of Santa Maria in Tarrasa, near Barcelona, Spain. The art work was by Luis Borassa, early 15th century A.D. Peter is half way in & out of the water as Christ clasps, with his left hand, the right hand of Peter to raise him up. This, may have reminded the Christians of similar depictions of the descent, and may have been considered a type for baptism.
- 3114- Lundy, Monumental Christianity, p. 264-65, note 1, Lib. v. c. 31, iii c. 20, of Har. Also, Harvey's Creds, Vol. I. p. 333-4.
- 3115- N&PNF, (series), Vol. XII, p. 182-83, Leo The Great, Sermon LXXI: III.
- 3116- N&PNF, Vol. XII, p.163-69, & 176, 179. 182-3, 188, & 190, Leo the Great, p. 186-87, citing from Sermon LXXIII, On The Lord's Ascension, II.
- 3117- Dom Pieter Batselier O.S.B., Saint Benedict: Father of Western Civilization, (NY, NY: The Alpine Fine Arts Collection Ltd., Publishers of Fine Books, 1981 CR Mercatorfonds Antwerp. Translated from French by Elise Callender, Edited by Diana de Froment, Published in), 74-75.
- 3118- Early Italian Art, (Boston: University Prints), Series B, see B 351, showing Madonna and Child with saints, National Museum, Berlin. Crivelli, A.D. 1430—1495, Venetian School. One of the saints has a glove on with a symbol in the middle of his glove. See also B 357, Thomas wrist is being grasped by the risen Christ. And while Christ's right hand shows the mark of the nail in the middle of the hand. The saint next to him has a glove on which has a symbol in the middle of the hand too. See also B 349, church leader's glove symbol in the middle of the hand. See also: Felipe Cossio Del Pomar, Peruvian Colonial Art, The Cuzco School of Painting, (NY, NY: Wittenborn & Co., 1964), translated from the Spanish by Genaro Arbaiza, p. 84, see the symbol in the middle of the glove of the martyred saint Pedro Nolasco's left hand. Art-work in the Monastery of La Merced, Cuzco.
- 3119- Sarel Eimerl The World of Giotto, c. 1267-1337, NY: Time-Life Books, 1967, 94, symbol on the sleeping Pope's glove, p. 106-7, St. Francis receiving the wounds of Christ; Leonard W. Cowie, The March Of The Cross, NY; Toronto; Lon.: McGraw-Hill Book, 1962, 116-17, fig.138, symbol in middle of hand of Pope Boniface VIII.
- 3120- Felipe Cossio Del Pomar, Peruvian Colonial, The Cuzco School of Painting, (NY, NY: Wittenborn & Co., 1964), 64, note the hand mark in the middle of the saint's glove or hand.

- 3121- Federico Zeri, Italian Paintings in the Walters Art Gallery, (Baltimore: Pub. by the Trustees, 1976), pl. 41, fig. 54. Neri di Bicci, The Coronation of the Virgin. Religious leaders' glove have on the monial symbol which looks like nail mark wounds in the middle of their hands. Christ & Mary is encircled by praying angels, while the coronation & crowning of Mary.
- 3122- ÉMILE MÂLE, Religious Art, From the Twelfth to the Eighteenth Century, (Pantheon), 145, pl.33. Guyot Marchant: Danse Macabre. AD 1485. Symbols in gloves & wrist-clasp. fig.27.
- 3123- Darell Thorpe, The Mystery Behind The Mysteries, Ritualistic Realm Pilgrims In Early to Later Christian Mysteries, (Salt Lake City, Utah: an unpublished research paper written for a college class, HIS 190-01 Special Studies, Salt Lake Community College, Winter Quarter 1997). Michael Baigent and Richard Leigh, 1989, The Temple and The Lodge, 8, 10—11, 49, 115, 127.
- 3124- Baigent and Leigh, The Temple and the Lodge, p. 8, 10—11, 49, 115, 127, etc.; Bainton, The Horizon History of Christianity, p. 214—15; Joseph Gantner and Marcel Pöbe, Romanesque Art In France, (Thames & Hudson, 1956), pl. 135, p. 64; Alice K. Turner, The History of Hell, (NY; San Diego; Lon.: Harcourt Brace & Company, 1993), p. 87 & 117; Colleen McDannell & Bernhard Lang, Heaven A History, New Haven & Lon.: Yale Un. Press, 1988, p. 187, pl. 34, a stone carving of an angel clasping the hand of a soul ascending out of the sea of death. This is by John Flaxman, The Sea Shall Give up the Dead. Sarah Morley Memorial, 1784. Gloucester Cathedral, England. See also: Leonard W. Cowie, The March Of The Cross, (NY; Toronto; Lon.: McGraw-Hill Book, 1962, p.68, fig. 74; Francis Y. Duval & Ivan B. Rigby, Early American Gravestone Art in Photographs, (NY: Dover Pub., 1978), 124-25; Betty Willsher & Doreen Hunter, 1978, Stones, A Guide to some remarkable 18th Century Gravestones, NY: Taplinger Pub., Co., Inc., 1979, 14-15, 16a.
- 3125- Art & Archaeology, The Arts Throughout the Ages, vol. XXIV, Dec. 1927, #6, p. 219, Panels by Theodoricus Pragensis, the Altar of the Church at Roudnice, Bohemia. Clerics grasping hands with gloves on.
- 3126- Österreichische Akademie Der Wissenschaften Historisches Institut Beim Österreichischen Kulturinstitut In Rom. Publikationen Des Historischen Instituts Beim Österreichischen Kulturinstitut In Rom. Herausgegeben Von. Otto Kresten Und Adam Wandruszka. I. Abteilung Abhandlungen 10. Band. Sculptur Und Grabmal Des Spätmittelalters In Rom Und Italien. Verlag Der Österreichischen Akademie Der Wissenschaften Wien 1990. Sculptur Und Grabmal Des Spätmittelalters In Rom Und Italien. Jörg Garms Und Angiola Maria Romanini, Abb. 4: Burgos, Kathedrale. Garb des Erzdisehofs Lope de Fontecha, A.D. 1352, religious leaders grave sculpture, showing his hands with the gloves with symbols in the middle of the hand. See also: Abb 36, dated A.D. 1348, shows a couple in a clasp. The Knights right hand thumb rests of the middle of the hand of the woman's right hand. See also fig. 54, note the arm gestures that the angels are making. And: Abbs 3, & 5 dated A.D. 1944, the gloves with symbols in the middle of the hand. Abbs. 15, 27, 32, p. 265, fig. 3; figs. 26, 27, 29, 33, Abbs. 12, 13, 15, Abb.3, Abb. 4, Fig. 5. This book has a number of examples of symbols in the middle of gloves.
- 3127- Malcolm Norris, Monumental Brasses, The Craft, (London & Boston: Faber and Faber, 1978), figures 22, 81, 94, 106, 112, 136, 146, 162 163, 178, 204, 208, & 260.
- 3128- Kurt Weitzmann, Age of Spiritually, Late Antique and Early Christian Art, 3rd to 7th Centuries, NY: Metropolitan Museum of Art, exhibited 11-19-1977—2-12-1978, p. 285, fig. 263, p. 413, # 371, p. 283, fig. 261; H. Clay Trumbull, The Blood Covenant, A Primitive Rite & its Bearings on scripture, NY: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1885, 65-75; Guido Gregorietti, translated from Italian into English by Helen Lawrence, Jewelry Through The Ages, NY: American Heritage, 1969, 166, 198. Anne Ward & John Cherry, Charlotte Gere, Barbara Cartlidge, Rings Through the Ages, Rizzoli International Pub., 1981, p. 54, pl. 7, p. 60, pl. 114, p. 67, plates 136-37, p. 68, 101, pl. 211, p. 59, 107, pl. 221, p. 114, pl. 245; Mary L. Davis & Greta Pack, Mexican Jewelry, (Texas: University of Texas Press Austin, 1963), pp. 20—21, pl. 12; Huge Tait, Editor, Jewelry 7000 years, An International History and Illustrated Survey from the Collections of the British Museum, (New York: Harry N. Abrams, 1986), p. 238, fig. 614 & 615; Ernst A. and Jean Heiniger, and others, The Great Book Of Jewels, (Edita Lausanne, 1974), p. 77; Charles Oman, (Formerly Keeper of the Dept. Of Metalwork at the Victoria & Albert Museum), 1973, British Rings 800—1914, (Totowa, New Jersey: Rowman & Littlefield, 1974), see 54; Margaret Baker, Wedding Customs & Folklore, (Tor., New Jersey: David & Charles, R & L., 1977), p. 33.
- 3129- John Page-Phillips, (re-writer), Macklin's Monumental Brasses, Including a bibliography and a list of figure brasses remaining in churches in the United Kingdom, (Lon., Eng.: George Allen And Unwin LTD., 1st edition 1969, 2nd 1972), pp. 50 & 53, William Ermyr, rector, 1401, Castle Ashby, Northants; Sculptur Und Grabmal Des Spätmittelalters In Rom Und Italien, Akten Des Kongresses, Scultura E Monumento Sepolcrale Del Tardo Medioevo A Roma E In Italia (Rom, 4--6. Juli 1985), Herausgegeben von Jorg Garms Und Angiola Maria Romanini, Verlag Der Österreichischen Akademie Der Wissenschaften, Wien 1990, fig. 14, an angel holds a curtain with the right hand raised up, while the left rest on the middle of the chest. Figures 14, 15, Abbs. 5, 15, 27, 32, p. 265, fig. 3, Figs. 26-27, 29, p. 272, fig. 33, Abb. 12-13, p. 393, abbs. 1-2, Abb. 3 of Mailand. S. Gottando, Grabmal des Azzo Visconti, Liegefigur, handclasp. Abbs 9-10, Abb 4, fig. 5; Julian Gardner, The Tomb And The Tiara, Curial Tomb Sculpture in Rome and Avignon in the Later Middle Ages, (Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1992), figs. 18-19, 25-6, 66, 74-5, 81-2, 108, 111-12, 125-7, 144, 204, 220, & 224-7; Henry Trivick, 1971, The Picture Book of Brasses in Gilt, (London, England: 5 Royal Opera Arcade Pall Mall London SW 1, John Baker), pp. 169, 172, 198-99; Craig Harbison, The Last Judgment in Sixteenth Century Northern Europe, (New York, and London: Garland Pub. Inc., 1976), p. 316, fig. 8 of Martin Schaffner, The Blessed, fragment of a Last Judgment, (Pfullendorf Altar), panel, c. 1500, Freiburg, Diözesanmuseum, (inv. no. Mla/D). The symbol in the glove is seen on a religious leader who is grasping the wrist of a naked soul about to enter into paradise. See also: Deusch, Deutsche Malerei Des Dreizehnten Und Vierzehnten Jahrhunderts, Die Frühzeit der Tafelmalerei, (Berlin, Germany: Genius Verlag, 1940), see 57 Nachfolger Des Theodorich Von Prag um 1375, two religious leaders with gloves on, as they meet, one is on his knees, the other grasps, with his right hand, the wrist of the other leader's left wrist. See also: Antonin Matejcek & Jaroslav Pesina, Czech Gothic Painting 1350 - 1450, (Melantrich Praha 1950), see figs. 31, 74, 76, & 80; Stange, German Painting, XIV--XVI Centuries, p. 54, lower section, School of Theoderic of Prague, Votive Picture of Ocko Von Vlasim, A.D. 1380, Prague, Gemaldegalerie, two religious leaders clasp each others' hands. John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1954), p. 43, XIV, 64. Fol. 187 v: Tranquillity, Princeton, Univ. Lib. Garrett MS 16, showing Christ raising up a monk out a sarcophagus by grasping, with his right hand, the right hand of the monk. "The half-figure of Christ leans forward from above to grasp his right hand; his left is clutched by a small black demon... while other demons in the sarcophagus cling to his feet." A verse from Psalm 113:7 was paraphrased; 'the Lord lifteth up the needy from the earth, and from the dung-hill of his passions raiseth up the poor man, him that is humble in heart.' The author's definition of tranquillity is said to be "the resurrection of the soul before that of the body". "The picture has, accordingly, been adapted from the Anastasis—Christ's descent into Hell to raise up Adam and other righteous persons of the Old Testament." (Ibid., Martin, p. 43). The clasp on grave: Betty Willsher and Doreen Hunter, 1978, Stones, (New York: Taplinger Pub. Co., 1979), pp. 14-15, 16a, & p. 53; Francis Y. Duval & Ivan B. Rigby, 1978, Early American Gravestone Art In Photographs, (New York: Dover Pub. Inc.), pp. 124-25; Kenneth Lindley, Of Graves And Epitaphs, (London: Hutchinson, 1965), grave marker of Withington, Gloucestershire shows a hand extended to clasp the hand of a soul who is ascending to heaven. See also: Arte Paleocristiana, En Espana, Por Pedro de Palol, Ediciones Poligrafa, S. A., pp. 146-151, fig. 88, Sogenannter Auferstehungs - Sarkophag, Krypta von Santa Engracia, Zaragoza. An orant, or person making a prayer gesture with up-raised hands, receives the hand of God. A Lithuanian Cemetery, St. Casimir Lithuanian, Cemetery in Chicago, Illustrated, (Chicago: Lithuanian Photo Library and Loyola, Chicago University Press, 1976), p.65, fig. 15, clasp under the cross on a tomb stone.

3130- Andre Maurois, An Illustrated History of Germany, (Translated from the French by Stephen Hardman, (London: The Bodley Head, 1966; Librairie Hachette 1965), 80-81. 13th Century Minnesang, Hesso II of Reinach (died around 1280), a Lord of Aargau, receives the poor and others at his door way. With his right hand raised in blessing, his left hand clutches the right wrist of a poor person supporting himself with a crutch.

3131- Christopher Brooke, The Monastic World 1000—1300, (London, England: Paul Elek Ltd., 1974), p. 63, fig. 91, showing monks receiving postulants at their door. Part of a series from Bede's Life of St. Cuthbert, British Museum Add. MS 39, 943.

3132- John Pope-Hennessy, Fra Angelico, (London: Phaidon Press, 1952), p. 203, plate XLVI. Workshop of Fra Angelico: Virgin & Child With Saints John the Baptist, Dominic. Francis and Paul. Pinacoteca, Parma. Two saints or monks, clasping both of each others' hands.

3133- Caroline Walker Bynum, Jesus as Mother, Studies in the Spirituality of the High Middle Ages, (Berkeley; Los Angeles; London: University of California Press, 1982), 89.

3134- Maus, The Church & The Fine Arts, p. 323-26, under the heading: St. Francis of Assisi, abridged from The Book of Saints and Friendly Beasts, by Abbie Farwell Brown, p. 211-25.

3135- Clement A. Miles, Christmas Customs & Traditions, Their History & Significance, 38-9, 68, 73, 78, 85, & 91-2.

3136- C. Warren Hollister, Medieval Europe, A Short History, (NY, Lon., Sydney: John Wiley & Sons, Inc., 1964, & 1968, 2nd ed.), 175-81.

3137- Piero Torriti, La Pinacoteca Nazionale Di Siena, I dipinti dal XV al XVIII secolo, (Sagep Editrice Genova, 1978), p. 53, fig. 406.

3138- "What are these wounds in thine hands?" (Zechariah 13:6). A different wound from the old covenant of circumcision is mentioned by the apostle Paul to the Galatians. "From henceforth let no man trouble me: [about the controversy over circumcision, see Galatians chapters 1-5] for I bear in my body the marks of the Lord Jesus." (Galatians 6:17).

3139- Torriti, La Pinacoteca Nazionale Di Siena, p. 54; Hackwood, Christ Lore, p. 120-22; Ferguson, Signs & Symbols in Christian Art, p. 28.

3140- Richard G. Tansey and Fred S. Kleiner, Gardner's Art Through The Ages, (Fort Worth, Philadelphia; San Diego; etc.: Harcourt Brace College Publishers, 1996, 10th edition), volume II, Renaissance and Modern, p. 640, figure 19-14. Giotto, Death of St. Francis, A.D. 1320. Bardi Chapel, Santa Croce, Florence.

3141- Reader's Digest, After Jesus, The Triumph of Christianity, p. 141, see heading: The Holy Kiss, which notes how the kiss of peace was done on the hand, and that it developed into hand grasping greetings. See also p. 91.

3142- David Knowles, Christian Monasticism, (NY, Toronto: McGraw-Hill Book Company, 1969), 33-35.

3143- Budge, Miscellaneous Coptic Texts, p. 735 & 752, A Discourse On The Compassion Of God And On The Freedom Of Speech Of The Archangel Michael, By Severus, Archbishop of Antioch, A.D. 512—19. Citing from a letter to John, the Archbishop of Ephesus.

3144- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 8, p. 524, Acts of Andrew and Matthias.

3145- Herbert Spencer Robinson & Knox Wilson, Myths & Legends Of All Nations, (New York: Bantam Books, 1961; CR 1950, by Doubleday & Co., Inc.), see under the heading: Legendary Heroes Of Russia, ILYA Murometz, p. 233—34. In this Russian legend, ILYA is healed by the wandering Christ and two of his apostles.

3146- David Knowles, Christian Monasticism, (New York; Toronto: World University Library, McGraw-Hill Company, 1969, reprinted 1972 & 1977), p.35, & note 12 on p.245.

3147- Gayla Visalli, Reader's Digest, After Jesus, The Triumph of Christianity, (Pleasantville, NY; Montreal: The Reader's Digest Association, 1992), 321, 13th c., receiving medical care.

3148- Visalli, Reader's Digest, After Jesus, The Triumph of Christianity, p. 279, see hand clasp in art work.

3149- Turner, The History of Hell, p. 130, in this case, a 15th century work, the French Book of Hours, shows an angel clasping the hand & wrist of two people being raise up out of Purgatory. An altarpiece dated 1454 shows, Christ on the cross, while to the lower left side, an angel is about grasp the hands of a soul who is about to be set free from the hell's fire. New International Illustrated Encyclopedia Of Art, vol. 5, pp. 982-3, The Coronation of the Virgin, (1454), altarpiece; hospice of Villeneuve-les-Avignon, Avignon, France. See also: Frederick Hartt, Art, vol. II, (NY: Harry N. Abrams, 1976), pl. 21. Moreover, a 1480 work shows a priest as he raised up the sacrament over his head, (reminding us of the traditional prayer gesture with up-lifted hands). At that very moment, angels on the other side of the veil of death were also in the very act of lifting up souls out of purgatory. And like the hand clasps depicted in the works showing Christ's descent into purgatory, there are angels clasping the wrists of the souls they are lifting up. A number of art works show how that when the rites for the dead were being performed, the angels descended down to take the souls by the hand to raise them up out of purgatory. In some cases, they ride up on a garment, as the angels guide them over into paradise where Peter is there to clasp their hands as they entered through the door or gates to paradise. (See: Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen, pp. 23-5, 51, 65, 79, 133, 155, 159-63, 191, 197, & 398, Abbs. 11, 13, 30, 39, 47, 90, 103, 107-112, 117, & 144. On p.109, Abb. 79, Christ clasps the wrist of Adam as he and others come out of the door way of the prison house. A demon is crushed under the broken doors. See also kat. 18, on p. 191, & Kats. 82-3, p.272, kats. 92-3, p.284, kats. 94-7, pp. 286-305, kats. 98-106, p.341, kat. 131, p.398; Charles W. Eliot, LL.D., Editor, The Harvard Classics, The Pilgrim's Progress, by John Bunyan, vol. 15, (New York: P. F. Collier & Son Corp., 1910, 1938, & 56th printing 1965), pp. 3-319. Emile Male, Religious Art In France, The Late Middle Ages, (Bollingen Series, Princeton University Press, 1986), p. 354, fig. 224, soul of a dead man is carried to heaven by an angel. See also p. 410-11, figs. 255-6, & fig. 261, p. 436, fig. 273, p. 437, fig. 274. See also: Graig Harbison, A Garland Series, Outstanding Dissertations In The Fine Arts, The Last Judgment in Sixteenth Century Northern Europe: A Study of the Relation Between Art and the Reformation, (NY; London: Garland Pub.,

Inc., 1976), p.316, #8, Martin Schaffner, The Blessed, a fragment of the last Judgment, (Pfullendorf Altar), panel, c. 1500. In this work, the crowned Peter (?) has a glove that has a symbol in the middle of the wrist area. He clasps the wrist of a naked soul who is on the right hand path leading to paradise. On p. 357, #49, another work of The Last Judgment, etc., 1490-1500 A.D., shows, among other things, Peter guiding the souls by the hand towards the doors of paradise. He clasps one person by the hand, as others follow after them. See also p. 383, #72, Jan Provost, 1506, Douai, Museum, showing the last Judgment in which an angel clasp the hand of a person about to ascend up. On p. 425, #115. Jacob van den Coornhuize, Last Judgment, 1576-1578, shows an angel clothing a soul in an ascension robe, while in the background souls are passing through the door way to paradise. See also: Ernest Lotthe, La Pensee Chretienne Dans la Peinture Flamande Et Hollandaise, de Van Eyck (1432 - 1669), Le Christ Et La Vierge Marie, II, (Pub., S. I. L. I. C., 1947), fig. CCXVI, Roger Van Der Weyden, (686), Le Jugement dernier, Hospice de Beaune. Showing, among other things, an angelic guide clasping the hands of a soul as a number of souls are guided over towards the door way to paradise. See also fig. CCXVII. -b. (688), Bosch. The angelic guides help the blessed as they ascend up through a tunnel towards paradise. On p. 309, fig. CCXIX, Hans Memling. (693), the naked souls ascend up stairs towards Peter and clasp his hand as they ascend towards the doors to paradise. See also: Hieronymus Bosch, by Charles De Tolnay, 1965, by Holle Verlag, pp. 109-115; Gantner & Pobe, Romanesque Art In France, pl. 135, & p.64. Peter clasp the hand of souls ascending towards the door of paradise. A hand extends to greet a soul. See also: Bainton, The Horizon History of Christianity, pp. 214-15; Robert Hughes, Heaven and Hell In Western Art, p. 188-190; Marks & Morgan, The Golden Age of English Manuscript Painting (1200-1500), fig. III, Portrait of William de Brailles, Cambridge, Fitzwilliam Museum, MS. 330. Detail from a single leaf of the Last Judgment, p.9, showing Peter extending down to clasp the hand of a person, while on the other side an angel clasps the wrist of a soul who seems to be one in many who are being rescued from hell. Another source says that one of the angels who protects and guides soul into heaven is Michael the Archangel, for "He receives the souls of the saints, and leads them into the Paradise of bliss." (The Golden Legend of Jacobus de Voragine, p. 578). Another depiction that dates back to 1483, shows a soul ascending out of the fire from the underworld, the soul is being raised up by a person who is clasping his wrist in a similar manner as many depictions of Christ's descent. (Deutsche Spatgotische Malerei, 1430-1500, Alfred Stange, Karl Robert Langewiesche Nachfolger, 1965, see p.62; Andre Maurois, An Illustrated History of Germany, translated from the French by Stephen Hardman, (London: The Bodley Head, 1966, CR 1965 Librairie Hachette 1965), p. 100-01; The Encyclopedia Of Visual Art, vol. 8, see P, "Michael Pachet c. 1435-98, altarpiece of The Fathers of the Church, 1483 A.D., Alte Pinakothek, Munich, showing a crowned person being raised up out of the underworld fire by an enthroned church Father who has grasped, with his right hand, the left wrist of the person.

3150- Psalms 107:1-7, 9-14, 16, 20, 23-4, 26, 30, 40-41. Isaiah 11:9; 30:14; Zechariah 8:12—13; 9:11; Luke 11:14-24; 16:19-31; Habakkuk 2:14; Dr. Hugu Nibley, see a series of articles entitled: Temple, The Idea of a Temple in History, reprinted by FARMS, (IDE-T), from: The Millennial Star 120 (Aug. 1958), 228-237, 234, & 249, notes 52, & 56. R. Akiba, cited by S. A. Horodezky, in Monatsschr.f. Gesch. u. Wins. des Judentums LXXII. 505; Psalms 23; Jeremiah 30:7-17; Isaiah 30:8-33; Martha Himmelfarb, Tours Of Hell, An Apocalyptic Form in Jewish and Christian Literature, (Philadelphia: University of Penn. Press, 1983), pp. 8—19, 50-56, 94-97, 106-120, 122-126, 136-37, & 151-58; Isaiah 30:14-15; S. Caecilius Cyprian, 3rd century A.D., cites from Paul's testimony, 1 Corinthians 10:4, see: A Library of Fathers of the Holy Catholic Church, (Oxford, London, England: John Henry Parker, J. G. F. & J. Rivington, MDCCCXI), vol. III, p.101; Hackwood, Christ Lore, p. 41, & 140.

3151- Blake Ostler, in Brigham Young University Studies, (Provo, Utah: BYU Press, 1982), vol. 22, Winter 1982, #1, p. 31-45, Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity.

3152- Darell Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined. Thorpe, The Mystery Behind The Mysteries, p. 11—51; Thorpe, "Ye Are Gods... Children of The Most High. And: The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 2, p. 217, 215, 231, 265-56, 452-54, 490-92; Isaiah 42:5-7; Kartsonis, Anastasis.

3153- Horst de la Croix & Richard G. Tansey, Gardner's Art Through The Ages, Eighth Edition, II Renaissance and Modern Art, (San Diego; New York; Chicago, etc.: Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, Publishers, 1986, etc.), pp. 684—87, figures 18-34 & 18-35, Matthias Grünewald, Crucifixion from The Isenheim Altarpiece, c. 1510—1515, Musée Unterlinden, Colmar. Sick and dying people saw in this depiction of the resurrection, the hope of being made whole again in the after life.

3154- Jabez Richardson, A.M., Richardson's Monitor of Free-Masonry; Being a Practical Guide to the Ceremonies in All the Degrees, Conferred In Masonic Lodges, Chapters, Encampments, &c. Explaining the Signs, Tokens and Grips, and Giving all the Words, Pass-words, Sacred Words, Oaths, and Hieroglyphics used by Masons. (NY: Lawrence Fitzgerald, 1860), p. 10-13, 22, 30, 36, 48, 61, 64, 111-27.

3155- History of the English Speaking Peoples, vol. 3, p. 780. Brass rubbing of Sir Maunteel and his wife from a Northamptonshire church. A.D. 1487, Victoria and Albert Museum. Hand grip. Muriel Clayton, M.A., Brass Rubbings, Victoria and Albert Museum, Catalogue of Rubbings of Brasses and Incised Slabs, (London: Her Majesty's Stationery Office, 1968), plate 6, c. 1380. Sir J. de la Pole and wife, Chrishall, Essex clasping hands. Plate 9, A.D. 1384. Sir J. Harsick and wife gripping each others' right hands. Southacre, Norfolk. Plate 12, c. 1410. R. de Frevile and wife, grasping each others' right hands. Little Shelford, Cambs. Plate 14, A.D. 1408. J. Hauley and two wives, one of which this Christian soldier grasps, with his right hand, the right hand of the wife on his right. St. Saviour, Dartmouth. Plate 15, A.D. 1419. Baron Camoys and wife shaking each others' right hands. Trotton, Sussex. Plate 16, c. 1430. P. Halle & wife, right hand shake. Herne, Kent. Plate 25, A.D. 1487. Sir W. Mauntell and wife, grip each others' right hands. Nether Heyford, Northants. Plate 40, A.D. 1356. R. Torryington and wife, right hand grip. Gt. Berkhamstead, Herts. Plate 48, A.D. 1640. G. Coles grips each hand of his two wives, St. Sepulchre, Northampton. Plate 52, A.D. 1370. T. de la Mare, St. Albans Abbey. Here, two circular symbols can be seen in the middle of the gloves of this church leader's hands. Plate 53, A.D. 1417. T. Cranley, New College, Oxford. This church leader also has a symbol in the middle of his gloved hand too. Plate 54, A.D. 1579. R. Pursglove, Tideswell, Derby. Church leader with oval shaped symbol in the middle gloved hand.

3156- Lawrence Gowing 1987, Paintings in the Louvre, (NY: Stewart, Tabori & Chang), 35, & 167; Byran Holme, Medieval Pageant, (Thames & Hudson, 1987), 28-9, & p. 34; Robert Fossier, 1989, The Middle Ages, 435; Lester B. Rogers, Fay Adams, & Walker Brown, Story of Nations, (Holt, Rinehart & Wilson, Inc., 1943), 176; Sidney Painter, 1953, A History of the Middle Ages, 284-1500 A.D., p. 430.

3157- Lawrence Gowing, Paintings in the Louvre, (NY: Stewart Tabori & Chang, 1987), 167, Ulrich Apt The Elder, Augsburg 1455/60—1532.

3158- John McManners, Ed., The Oxford Illustrated History of Christianity, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1990, 632.

3159- Frederic W. Farrar, The Life Of Christ As Represented In Art, Lon.: Adam & Charles Black, 1894, 46.

3160- Farrar, The Life Of Christ As Represented In Art, 38-49; F.R. Webber, Church Symbolism, Detroit: Gale Research Co., Book Tower, 1971, 55-57; Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, NY, NY: Pantheon Books, 1947, 69-70, 75-76, pl. 100-d.

3161- John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, NY: J W Bouton 706 Broadway, 1876, 142, fig.57, p.150-96.

3162- Lowrie, Art In The Early Christian Church, 69-70, 162-63, pl.100 a & d; Lundy, 1876, Monumental Christianity, 7, 190-91, 257-59, 264-72, fig. 118, p. 270, 317, fig. 153, p. 320-21, fig. 156, p. 400-02; Farrar, The Life of Christ As Represented In Art, p. 30, 37-47; J.C.J Metford, Dictionary Of Christian Lore & Legend, (London: Thames & Hudson, 1983), 113.

3163- Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton Un. Press, 1986). Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, 69, 162, 184-87, pl. 100; Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, (München: Wilhelm Fink Verlag, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zürich), 109, 314, 354, 365.

3164- Ferguson, Signs & Symbols in Christian Art, p. 27.

3165- The Other Bible, The Gospel of Philip, p. 92-95.

3166- David T. Harris, Truth From The Earth, Is The Holy Bible Infallible And All The Word of God?, (Oakland, California: Resource Communications, 1995), 143.

3167- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 7, p. 111, Lactantius, The Divine Institutes, Book 4, chapter XII.

3168- Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, p. 70-72; Luke 13:29; Matthew 8:11; Luke 16:22—23; John 13:23.

3169- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 7, p. 555, Early Liturgies, The Divine Liturgy Of The Holy Apostle And Evangelist Mark, The Disciple Of The Holy Peter, III: XIII.

3170- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 7, p. 470, Constitutions Of The Holy Apostles, Book VII, Section II:XXV.

3171- ANF, 7:522, An Ancient Homily, Commonly Styled, The Second Epistle of Clement, Chapter XVII.

3172- McManners, The Oxford Illustrated History of Christianity, p.632; Robert G. Calkins, 1979, Monuments of Medieval Art, (New York: E. P. Dutton), p. 223-25, fig. 186; Andrew Martindale, 1967, Gothic Art, From the 12th to 15th Century, (New York: Praeger), 132- 33, illustration 98; The Book of Mormon, Jacob chapters 5-6; 6:4-5. Bible, New Testament, Ephesians 2:4-22; 4:13; John ch.17; 10:16; Philippians 1:27; Acts 4:32; Romans 15:5-7; H. Clay Trumbull D.D., The Blood Covenant, A Primitive Rite and its Bearing on Scripture, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1885), 65-75. In early Christian marriage ceremonies, the clasped hand of the couple represented how God had brought them together into "one flesh." Meaning that what God has joined together, let no one break apart. Paul, in writing to the Ephesians, likened marriage to the uniting of the different members of the Church into one body of believers (Eph.5:29-32). Numerous early Christian art works and rings depict clasped hands to symbolize the two families being joined together in the uniting of the bride and groom. (Anne Ward, John Cherry, Charlotte Gere, Barbara Cartlidge, Rings Through the Ages, (Rizzoli International Publishing Inc., English edition 1981), p. 54, fig.7, p. 60, plate 114, p. 67-68, plates 136-37, p. 101, plate 211, p. 107, plate 221, p. 114, plate 245. Darell Thorpe, Early Christianity In The Ancient Americas, & Old & New World Parallels, (SLC, Utah: Religious, Historical & Polemical Studies, 1991, an unpublished research manuscript). Madeleine Jarry, World Tapestry, From Its Origins to the Present, NY: G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1968 & 1969, 78-79; Brian Murphy, The World of Weddings, NY & Lon.: Paddington Press LTD, 1978, 99.

3173- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 1:506, Irenaeus Against Heresies, Book IV, chapter XXXIII: 1.

3174- Webster's Illustrated Encyclopedic Dictionary, p. 894.

3175- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. 281, Origen De Principiis, Book II, chapter VI:1.

3176- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 5, p. 513-14, The Treatises of Cyprian, Treatise XII:21.

3177- Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined; Kelly, The Devil At Baptism; Darell Thorpe, Water Spirits, (research paper written for a college class: History 190—History Through Films, Salt Lake Community College, Redwood Road Campus), Instructor: Ernest Randa. Paper on the 5th Annual International Film Festival, 4-28—5-3-1997, Spring Quarter, 1997, 1-20.

3178- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 6, p. 336, Methodius, The Banquet Of The Ten Virgins, Or Concerning Chastity, Discourse VIII.—Thekla, chapter V. The Woman Who Brings Forth , To Whom The Dragon Is Opposed, The Church; Her Adornment & Grace.

3179- ANF, 6:336, Methodius, The Banquet Of The Ten Virgins, Or Concerning Chastity, Discourse VIII.—Thekla, chap.V. The Woman Who Brings Forth, To Whom the Dragon Is Opposed, The Church; Her Adornment & Grace.

3180- Louis Reau, La Miniature, Histoire De La Peinture Au Moyen-Age, (Melun Librairie D'Argences, MCMXLVI), p. 121, pl. IV, "La Femme Et Le Dragon" = The Female and the Dragon. "Apocalypse de Bamberg, 1007. Bibliotheque de Munich." In the same book, pl.39, "La Femme Vetue de Soleil, Hortus Deliciarum." See also: The Great Centuries of Painting) Romanesque Painting, From the 11th to the 13th century, p. 91, "Apocalyptic Scene. CA 1100, Fresco in the Porch. Saint-Savin-Sur-Gartempe (Vienna)." Dmitri Kessel, Commentary by Henri Peyre, Splendors Of Christendom, Great & Architecture in European Churches, (S.A. Lausanne: Edita Lausanne, 1964), p.123, 126-27. In some of these later Christian art work that depict Revelation chapter 12, and during the war in heaven drama, similar types of rites of passage hand clasps take place between an angel who descends from heaven & the child. The angel in turn passes the child into the hands of the Father. The Father takes the child by the hands and pulls the child into heaven, away from the dragon. Thus: "her child was caught up unto God, and to his throne." (Revelation 12:5). Paul also speaks of one who was "caught up" into the third heaven, and was also "caught up" into paradise. (2 Corinthians 12:1—4). It seems that in the act of being caught up; different kinds of hand clasps are depicted. (By Study & Also By Faith, vol.1, p. 620-21, see notes 43—45 on p. 634, of Chapter 24, entitled: The Handclasp and Embrace as Tokens of Recognition, by Todd M. Compton, making reference in the notes 43-5 to: M.R. James, The Apocryphal New Testament, (Oxford: Clarendon, 1955), p.95, & 137-39; 1 Enoch 71:3, in James H. Charlesworth, ed., The Old Testament Pseudepigrapha, 2 Vols. (NY: Doubleday, 1983), 1:49. The Lost Books of the Bible, p.63, 81-2, 85-88, The Gospel of Nicodemus, formerly called the Acts of Pontius Pilate, dated here to be from about the later end of the 3rd century A.D., translated the gospel published by Grynaeus in the Orthodoxographia, vol. I, tom. ii, p.643. See also a Slavonic Apocalypse of Abraham, c. A.D. 1300, the angel Yahoel (Metatron or Enoch) gestures to the heavens above as he leads a hesitant Abraham by the wrist. They ascend on the wings of eagles (cf. Exodus 19:4), see: Nibley, Temple and Cosmos, (The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, vol.12, p. 277-9, fig.49 on p.278. ANF, 8:353, 435-58, 577-8. In some depictions of Paul being caught up or "raised" to the 3rd Heaven. See also: Luba Eleen, The Illustration of the Pauline Epistles in the French and English Bibles of the 12th and 13th Centuries, (Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1982), see figs. 264 & 265. Lambert of St-Omer, twelfth century, Liber Floridus, early Italic tradition. Wolfenbuttel, Herzog August Bibliothek, cod. Guelf. Gud. lat. 2, 14V.; Meer, Apocalypse, p.128-9, fig.85; Swarzenski, Monuments Of Romanesque Art, The Art of Church Treasures in North-Western Europe, pl.128, fig. 291, depicting an angel coming down out of heaven to take hold of the Christ child's right wrist, with his right hand. [Adaption XII. English, cent. 1140 A.D.]. See also: Harper's Encyclopedia Of Art, vol. II, p.312. SAINT SAVIN (Vienne, France).-The Church of St. Savin, 11th century. See frescoes, which date from the 12th century A.D. In the porch, are scenes from the Apocalypse. See also the drawing of the art work on p.312, far left col., lower portion of page, ST. SAVIN: SCENE FROM THE APOCALYPSE. (After the monograph by Merimee). Jeffrey F. Hamburger, The Rothschild Canticles, Art & Mysticism in Flanders & The Rhineland Circa 1300, (New Haven & London: Assistance of the Getty Grant Program, Yale University Press, 1990), see #184, "New Testament (Vatican City, Biblioteca Vaticana, MS Vat. Lat. 39), f. 163r. (Photo: Biblioteca Vaticana)" Dr. Donald E. Strong, Text, etc., The Book of Art, A Pictorial Encyclopedia of Painting, Drawing, & Sculpture, Origins Of Western Art, (Grolier, 1965), vol. 1, pp.148-9, B. "Illustration to St. John's Book of Revelation, Chapter 12: from the Apocalypse Manuscript, about 1250 Aachen, Germany, coll. Dr. Peter Ludwig". See also: Meer, pp.146-7, fig.98, & pp.160-1, fig.108; Morgan, Early Gothic Manuscripts (II) 1250-1285, fig.37; See also: Revelation 3:5, 11-12, 19:7-9; 22:14; Matthew 22:2, 11-13, Hebrew 2:11, 11:13-16; ANF, 1:27, 2:173-4, 195-206, 215-219, 230-1, 234, 238, 235-257, 265-70, 302, 354-361, 409-441, 453-464, 490-495, 583-4, 602; Seach, Ancient Texts & Mormonism, pp.29-31 & 57-59; Ephesians 3:3-16; Interpreter's Bible X:541, etc. By Study & Also by Faith, vol.1, pp. 611-42. Brian Murphy, The World of Weddings, 1978, p.99, etc. Notice verses 7-9 of Revelation 19. The wife (or church) was made ready for the marriage to the Lamb (Christ). "She" should be arrayed in fine linen, and clean white, for "the fine linen is the righteousness of saints" (Revelation 19:8, KJV). Some references to the "Lamb" are, in many cases, symbolical types of Christ who brought about the atonement, thus Christ was chosen to be the sacrificial lamb before the world began. See for example: Ex. 12:3-17; Isa.53:1-12; John 1:29, 36, Acts 8:32-35; 1 Pet.18-20; Rev.5:12-13, 7:13-17, 13:8, 19:7-9, 21:9-27, 22:3. Christ seems to also hint to this symbolical type in a parable about those who were not clothed in a wedding garment. (Matthew 22:2, 11-13). Isaiah 61:10; R.G. Hamerton-Kelly, Pre-existence, Wisdom, & the Son of Man, pp.9-10, 16-21, 39, 53, 112, 124-130, 146-153, 174-189, etc. Jean Porcher, French Miniatures, or Medieval French Miniatures, NY: Harry N. Abrams, top portion of page, XLV-Scenes from the Apocalypse. Lambert de Saint-Omer, Liber Floridus, circa 1260 (Bibliothèque Nationale, Ms. Lat.8865, f. 39).

3181- ANF, 6:336, Methodius, The Banquet Of The 10 Virgins, Or Concerning Chastity, Discourse 8. Thekla, chap.V. The Woman Who Brings Forth, To Whom the Dragon Is Opposed, The Church; Her Adornment & Grace.

3182- Archibald Robertson, Select Writings & Letters of Athanasius, Bishop of Alexandria, 49, verse 25; p. 56-7.

3183- Stephen Benko, Pagan Rome & The Early Christians, Bloomington: Indiana Un. Press, 1984, 88-89.

3184- Benko, Pagan Rome And The Early Christians, p. 89-90, n. 40-43, p. 100. Irenaeus, Adv. Haer. 5.1ff.; Augustine, In Ps.96.15; Origen, De Principiis 1.6.1, E.T., ANF 4:260.

3185- Archbishop Pitirim of Volokolamsk, Archimandrite Longin of Düsseldorf, Leonid Uspensky, Bishop Serafim of Zurich, V. Feodorav, The Orthodox Church in Russia, A Millennial Celebration, NY, Paris: The Vendome Press, 1982, 202.

3186- Julian Hawthorne, John R Young, John R. Lamberton, Ed., The Literature Of All Nations & All Ages, History, Character, & Incident, (Chicago: St. Louis: E. R. Du Mont, 1900), 7:23.

3187- Fay-Cooper Cole, & Harris Gaylord Warren, An Illustrated Outline History of Mankind, (Chicago: Consolidated Book, 1963, 59, 55, 51), 1:288, hand clasp greeting in the depiction showing the visit of Richard II to his uncle, John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster, at his castle at Pleshy. It is similar to clasp seen in works on Christ's descent into limbo, & creation dramas.

3188- The Latin hymn, O Come, O Come, Emmanuel, expressed the longing of "captive Israel" for the promised Messiah, whom many believed would come to release the nation from bondage and unite all peoples. During the 12th century, this hymn was written and sung in Latin. During the 19th century, John M. Neale, [A. D. 1818-1866], translated the hymn into English. The 3rd verse of this hymn is of interest here, it says: "O come, Desire of nations, bind All peoples in one heart and mind; Bid envy, strife, and quarrels cease; Fill the whole world with heaven's peace." (Maus, 1960, The Church And The Fine Arts, p. 32—33).

3189- Even the late 19th century anti-Christian and occult writer, H. P. Blavatsky notes that: "Primitive Christianity had its grip, passwords, and degrees of initiation. The innumerable Gnostic gems and amulets are weighty proofs of it. It is a whole symbolical science." (Blavatsky, 1877, 1888, Isis Unveiled, A Master-Key to the Mysteries of Ancient and Modern Science & Theology, (Pasadena, California: Theosophical University Press, 1988), in two volumes, see vol. 2: Theology, p. 204. The other sources in the endnotes I have provided in this book, also point out that the Gnostic were not the only ones who had this type of symbolical science, but most of historic Christendom had it too. Each, with their own particular versions.

3190- J.C.J Metford, Dictionary of Christian Lore and Legend, (London, England: Thames and Hudson, 1983), 268, see wounds of Christ, five, & p. 233, see Stigmata. Pages 104-105, see Francis of Assisi, St. And p. 166-67, see Man of sorrows; McDannell and Lang, Heaven A History, p. 104, pl. 8. The soul as a queen, enthroned with Christ. 12th c. Manuscript lat. 4450, fol. 1 verso. Bavarian State Library, Munich. The hand of a soul, enthroned with Christ, has a nail mark wound in the middle of the palm, from this flows blood. This hand also extends through a door way of the heavenly Temple, or church, to let blood flow down on another soul.

3191- Spencer W. Kimball, Oct. 7, 1973, Conference, The Rewards, The Blessings, The Promises, (SLC, Utah: The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, The Ensign, January 1974), 14-15. Kimball quotes from a story written by Roy H. Stetler, publisher of a religious journal in the East. See also Doctrine and Covenants 45:51-52; S. Cyril, Archbishop of Jerusalem, A.D. 386, A Library of Fathers Of The Holy Catholic Church, (Oxford, London, England: John Henry Parker; J. G. Rivington, MDCCCXXXIX), vol. 2, p. 264-65, The Catechetical Lectures of S. Cyril, Archbishop of Jerusalem, Lecture 20, On The Mysteries 2.; Willis Barnstone, (Editor), The Other Bible, (San Francisco, California: Harper and Row, 1984), p. 419- 21, Revelation of the Mystery of the Cross, from Christian Apocrypha, The Acts of John. The Nicene and Post-Nicene Fathers, vol. 12, p.163-90, Leo the Great. Seach, Notes On Ancient Temple Worship, 3-4.

3192- The late 19th century anti-Christian & occult writer Helena Petrovna Blavatsky (1831— 1891), notes that: "Primitive Christianity had its grip, passwords, and degrees of initiations. The innumerable Gnostic gems and amulets are weighty proofs of it. It is a whole symbolical science." (Helena Petrovna Blavatsky, Isis Unveiled, Two Volumes, vol. 2: Theology, 1877, (Pasadena, California: Theosophical University Press, 1988), 204. Another late 19th century anti-Christian writers, T. W. Doane notes that "the ancient Etruscans revered the cross as a religious emblem... [depicting two angels clasping hands in front of a cross] would answer perfectly for a Christian cemetery." (Bible Myths, p. 344, Fig. No. 27, taken from the work of Gorrio (Tab XXXV.). See also: Morris Bishop, The Horizon Book of the Middle Ages, Editors of Horizon Magazine, Editor in Charge, Norman Kotker, (New York: American Heritage Pub., Co., 1968), 81.

3193- Psalm 73:23-4; 89:13; 118:16-21; Psalm 23, italics added; Oakeshott, Classical Inspiration In Medieval Art, pl. 70, & 80; Anthony, Romanesque Frescoes, #40; David Talbot Rice, 1968, Byzantine Painting, (The Last Phase), (New York: The Dial Press, Inc.), #61, 78, 87 & 94. In #80, two people support a person by holding his hands as he passes over a river on a narrow bridge. In some cases water represented the abyss of hell, thus by holding his hands, they keep him from slipping and falling into the river. This art work is in the Mount Athos, Karyes, Church of the Protaton. Number 80 is a detail "from the scene of the Baptism; c. 1300." See also: Psalm 17:5-7, 73:23-4, 138:7, Isaiah 41:13, 43:2; Jude 23-4; The Ante-Nicene Fathers, Vol.2, pp.215-7, 231-3; John Beckwith, Ivory Carvings In Early Medieval England, (New York: Graphic Society LTD, Harvey Miller & Medcalf, 1972). Fig.20; Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985); Darell Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined.

3194- Mary Ann Woloch Vauhn, 1983, Ukrainian Christmas, Traditions, Folk Customs, and Recipes, (1st printing November 1982, 8th April 1990), p. III-7.

3195- Izaak Walton, The Harvard Classics, The Pilgrim's Progress, by John Bunyan, The Lives of John Donne and George Herbert NY: P. F. Collier & Son Corporation, 1938, 56th print. 1965, 74, 179, 192-93, 196, 201, 223, 254-55.

3196- J. M. Sjodahl, The Reign of Antichrist, Or The Great "Falling Away," (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1913), 36, authority needed to perform rituals. Simony, is the buying or attempts to buy up positions of authority or church offices, Acts 8:5-24. Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Co., 1968), 72-73. Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions & the Rise of Mormonism, (SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Co., 1970), 18-25, 57-58, 62-63, 66-68, 98-99, 102, 136, 139-140, & 143-185. Later centuries, we see how that different rich people, nobles, & others, could gain even more political religious theocracy powers by buying up positions of church-state offices, or buy their way into being a bishop, or other leadership positions. As the churches became wedded with the State powers, or powers of Emperors, Kings & Queens, the different ones in positions were also the ones who could spend the "tithing" or forced taxes mandated by the theocracies that eventually came along. Different religious leaders also started charging fees for the performances of different religious ceremonies too. Indulgences could also be bought by the peasantry who thought that future sins & the sins of their relatives in limbo, hades, or purgatory, could be forgiven with such purchases, & thus they could be released from the fires, or their time spent burning, could be reduced. The commercialization of relics, pilgrims & the common folk, thinking they had divine healing or other miraculous powers, would pay a fee to see & in some cases touch the relics. Thus, different religious leaders used these things to make money off of fees to see. Thus, Simony, & these other aspects of purchasing indulgences, or fees for services & masses, etc., were parts of the later apostate conditions that had corrupted later Christendom. Brigham Henry Roberts, Outlines of Ecclesiastical History, A Text Book, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Co., 1979, Classics in Mormon Literature, 154-160, 167, 170, 201-206, 221, 225-229, 242-243, 247-248, 253-258, 279 & 282. John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150-1309, Lon.: Folio Society, 1998, 17-18, 226-228, 233-36, 327-29, 337, 353, 364-65, 372-73. R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, Lon.: Folio Society, 1998, 36, 53, 121-151, 161, 253-255. H. St. L. B. Moss, The Birth of the Middle Ages 395-814, Lon.: Folio Society, 1998, 37-38, 40, 72, 122, 139-142, 201-202, 214-15, 222, 231-33, 240. Geoffrey Barraclough, The Crucible of the Middle Ages, The 9th & 10th Centuries in European History, Lon.: Folio Society, 1998, 16, 137, 159, 191-92.

3197- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Foot_washing, Wikipedia, Foot Washing. Scott Petersen, Where Have All the Prophets Gone? Springville, Ut.: CFI, 2005, 103, 138, n.78, Ambrose, On the Mysteries 7, N&PNF, 2:10:321.

3198- Steven E. Robinson, "The Apocalypse of Adam," BYU Studies 17 (Winter 1977): 132-33. A complete list of seals and passwords is included in Erbetta, Gli Apocrifi, p. 318ff., and in E. Testa, Il Simbolismo dei Gudeo-Christiani (Jerusalem: n.p., 1962), p. 115ff.

3199- BYU Studies, Vol.22, Winter 1982, #1, Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity, Blake Ostler, 31-45. Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, & Drama, Ithaca & London: Cornell University Press, 1985. Dr. Hugu Nibley, collected works vol.16: The Message of the Joseph Smith Papyri, An Egyptian Endowment, (Provo & SLC, Utah: FARMS, & Deseret Book Co., 2005, 2nd ed.), 135-158, 173-190, 447-532. Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, Ben Lomond, Calif.: FAIR, 1999, 294-96, 308-317, 350-351. Roger J. Adam's, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptism for the Dead, (SLC, Utah: unpub. thesis in LDS Church Archives, 1977.

3200- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 23-24, 187, Didache, VII. Kent P. Jackson, From Apostasy to Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Co., 1996, 26-27. Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (Ben Lomond, California: Foundation for Apologetic Information & Research, F.A.I.R., 1999), 29.

3201- The Westminster Dictionary of Christian Theology, Edited by Richardson & Bowden, p. 22, see Anointing, by J. Martos. Powel Mills Dawley, Our Christian Heritage, Church History and the Episcopal Church, (NY: Morehouse-Barlow Co., 1959, 3rd ed., 1960), 49-50.

3202- Scott Petersen Where Have All The Prophets Gone? Springville Ut: CFI, 2005, 25, 41, n. 25: Justin Martyr, 1st Apol., in Ancient Christian Writers, trans. Leslie William Barnard, Mahwah, N.J.: Paulist Press, 1997, 66.

3203- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 2: p. 231, Clement of Alexandria, The Instructor, book 1, chapter 9.

3204- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 2:215, Clement of Alexandria, The Instructor, book 1, chapter 6.

3205- Scott Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone?, Springville Ut: CFI, 2005, 25, 41, Hippolytus, Discourse on the Holy Theophany 10, ANF, 5:237.

3206- ANF, 7:477, Constitutions Of The Holy Apostles, Book VII, Section IV:XLIII, see also p. 476; Kelly, The Devil at Baptism, p. 11, 65, 74, 82, 87, 89, 91, 111, 115-22, 127, 129, 131, 132-35, 138-39, 146-48, 150, 167, 169, 175, 179-80, 184-200, 204-05, 211, 222, 227-31, 233-34, 240, 243-44, 267, 269-70, 273-74, & 283.

3207- Origen Against Celsus, The Ante-Nicene Fathers, Vol. 4, p. 407, 422, 424, 447, 464, 557, 565, 609, & 641.

3208- Robert L. Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, (New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1984), 162-3, & p. 94-196. After Jesus, by Reader's Digest, p. 199-200. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 4: p. 407, 419-20, 422, 444, 447-8, 454, 458, 464, 468, 528, 557, 609, 617, 634, 641, & 660, Origen Against Celsus. Joseph Wilson Trigg, Origen, The Bible & Philosophy in the Third-century Church, (Atlanta: John Knox Press, 1983), pp. 222-243; John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (New York: J W Bouton, Broadway, 1875, 2nd Edition, 1882), p. 73-4; Joseph R. Hoffmann, Celsus On The True Doctrine, (Oxford Un. Press, 1987), p.65; Dr. Hugu W. Nibley, The World And The Prophets, (Salt Lake City and Provo, Utah: Deseret Book and Foundation For Ancient Research and Mormon Studies, 1987), volume 3 in The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, p. 18-19.

3209- Roger J. Adam's, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptism for the Dead, (Salt Lake City, Utah: an unpublished thesis found in the LDS Church Library in Salt Lake City, 1977). Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsachsichen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), three volumes. Himmell Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen. Also: John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (New York: J W Bouton, Broadway, 1875, 2nd Edition, 1882). Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, (Washington Square, New York, New York: Pantheon Books, 1947), plate 100, etc. 1 Corinthians 15:20-56, Acts 2:22-35, 10:38-40, Romans 6:3-9, Colossians 2:12, Hebrews 10:13-22, Isaiah 14:9-27. Ephesians chapters 5 & 6. Francis Bond, Fonts and Font Covers, (London, New York, and Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford University Press, 1908). Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments Of Romanesque Art, The Art of Church Treasures in North-Western Europe, (The University of Chicago Press, 1954 and 2nd, Edition, 1967). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, & Drama, (Ithaca & London: Cornell Un. Press, 1985).

3210- Charles T. Wood, The Age of Chivalry, Manners and Morals 1000--1440, (NY, Lon., England: Un. Books, CR 1970 by George Weidenfeld & Nicolson LTD). Jonathan Alexander and Paul Binski, (Editor), Age of Chivalry, Art in Plantagenet England 1200--1400, (Weidenfeld and Nicolson, London: Royal Academy of Arts, London, 1987). The Age of Chivalry, (USA: National Geographic Society, 1969). Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Co., 1968), 143. R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 86--88, 121--132, 139--143. Note 11 on p. 86. P.E. Schramm, Die Krönung bei den West-franken und Angelsachsen von 878 bis um 1000 (Zeitschrift der Savigny- Stiftung für Rechtsgeschichte, LIV, Kanonistische Abteilung XXIII, 1934, 117--242). P.E. Schramm, History of the English Coronation, (transl. L. G. W. Legg), 1937. H. St. L. B. Moss, The Birth of the Middle Ages 395--814, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 138--141, 201--202, 213--216, 220--223. Geoffrey Barraclough, The Crucible of the Middle Ages, The Ninth and Tenth Centuries in European History, (Lon.: The Folio Society, 1998), 69, 139, 159, 191--192. John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150--1309, (Lon.: The Folio Society, 1998), 17--18, 37, 197--199, 205--206, 209--211. Gertrude Hartman's The World We Live In and How It Came To Be, (A Pictured Outline of Man's Progress from the Earliest Days to the Present), (CR 1931 Hartman; NY: The Macmillan Co., 1961): Chapter IX, In Feudal Days, p. 127-142. Jonathan Riley-Smith, The Crusades, A Short History, (New Haven & Lon.: Yale Un. Press, 1987). Regine Pernoud, (Editor), Enid McLeod, (Translator), The Crusades, History in the Making, (New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1963, CR Martin Secker & Warburg Ltd., 1962, France title: Les Croisades, CR 1960, Rene Julliard). Steven Runciman, A History of the Crusades, (London: Cambridge University Press, first edition, 1951, 1952, reprinted 1954, 1957, 1962, 1968), vol. 1, The First Crusade, and the Foundation of the Kingdom of Jerusalem, (1951), Volume two, The Kingdom of Jerusalem and the Frankish East, 1100--1187, vol. 3, The Kingdom of Acre and the Later Crusades, (1954). Thomas Asbridge, The Crusades, The Authoritative History of the War for the Holy Land, (NY, New York: EEE and Imprint of Harper Collins Publishers, 2010).

3211- J. M. Sjodahl, The Reign of Antichrist, Or The Great "Falling Away," SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1913, 24--45. Jeffrey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, (Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988), 122. Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Leo MacCauley and Anthony Stephenson, The Works of Saint Cyril of Jerusalem, (Washington D.C.: Catholic University Press, 1964). The Library of Christian Classics, volume 4, Cyril of Jerusalem And Nemesius of Emesa, edited by William Telfer, (Philadelphia: Westminster Press, MCMLV), see Cyril's Lectures on the Mysteries. Library of Fathers Of The Holy Catholic Church, Vol. II, p. 260-69, The Catechetical Lectures of S. Cyril, Archbishop of Jerusalem, (A.D. 386), Lec. XX, On the Mysteries II, On the Rites of Baptism, verse 5, (Pub. by Oxford, John Henry Parker; J. G. F. Rivington, London, MDCCCXXXIX). The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 2, p. 49-50, 54, 91-3, 104-5, 174, 198-200, 203-6, 209--219, 231., 234, 253-56, 265-6, 271, 302-3, 312-13, 461-2, etc. The Nicene And Post Nicene Fathers, (2nd Series), Vol. X, St. Ambrose, On the Mysteries, Chapters VI-VIII, p. 321-3; reprinted Aug. 1979; see also Vol. V, p. 321, Gregory, Bishop of Nyssa, 4th cent., and p. 269-71, Ephraim Syrus, in the 15 Hymns for the feast of the Epiphany, translated by Rev. A. Edward Johnston, B.A., see Hymn III; & pp 518-25, Gregory of Nyssa; Vol. XII, pp. 152-3, see note 6; New Catholic Encyclopedia, CR 1967, by the Catholic Un. of America, Wash., D.C., Vol. I, p. 567-8.

3212- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, Lon., England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962, 26, 38, 40--41.

3213- Bernhardt, 1993, Itinerant Kingship And Royal Monasteries In Early Medieval Germany, c. 936-1075, p.28.

3214- Eve Borsook, Messages In Mosaic, The Royal Programmes of Norman Sicily (1130--1187), (Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1990), p. 2, see also note 17.

3215- J.M. Sjodahl, The Reign of Antichrist, Or The Great Falling Away, SLC, Ut: DNPress, 1913, 24--45.

3216- J. M. Sjodahl, The Reign of Antichrist, Or The Great "Falling Away," (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1913), 24--45. Jeffrey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988), 122. Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Roger J. Adam's, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptism for the Dead, (Salt Lake City, Utah: an unpublished thesis found in the LDS Church Library in Salt Lake City, 1977). Dr. Hugu Nibley, collected works volume 16: The Message of the Joseph Smith Papyri, An Egyptian Endowment, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company, 2005, second edition), 478--483, 489--532. J. Rendel Harris, The Odes and Psalms of Solomon (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1909), 123, in the earliest times, the baptism of Christ was the occasion of his triumph over Hades, which baptism included anointing of holy oil.

3217- The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, vol. 1, p.86, Book 1, chapter 3:7--8, Eusebius.

3218- Library of Fathers, (Lon.: Oxford, John Henry Parker, MDCCCXXXIX), vol. 2, p. 260-269, Lectures On the Mysteries, XIX-XXI, S. Cyril of Jerusalem, Archbishop, 4th cent. A.D. See also: Library of Fathers, vol. 2, p. 267-9; Eph.6:10-19; The Westminster Dictionary of Christian Theology, Edited by Richardson and Bowden, p. 22, see Anointing, by J. Martos, "An anointing with oil which signified the reception of the Holy Spirit very early became part of the rite of baptism..." Powel Mills Dawley, Our Christian Heritage, Church History and the Episcopal Church, (New York: Morehouse-Barlow Co., 1959, 3rd ed., 1960), pp. 49-50; Adam, 1977, Baptism For The Dead, p. 48; Willis Barnstone, The Other Bible, (San Francisco, California: Harper & Row, 984), "The Gospel of Philip" [2nd half of the 3rd cent. A.D.], p.96; Joseph C. Muren, The Temple And Its Significance, (Ogden, Utah: Temple Publications, 1973, 3rd printing), p. 208-9, & saying No. 95; Philip Schaff, D.D. LL.D., The Teaching of The Twelve Apostles Or, The Oldest Church Manual The Didache and Kindred Documents in the Original, (NY: Funk & Wagnalls, Pub., Astor Place, 1890), p. 275-6; The Nicene And Post Nicene Fathers, (2nd Series, reprinted Aug.

- 1979), vol. 10, St. Ambrose, On the Mysteries, chapters 6--8, pp. 321-3; see also vol. 5, p. 321, Gregory, Bishop of Nyssa, 4th cent., & p. 269-71, Ephraim Syrus, in the 15 Hymns for the feast of the Epiphany, translated by Rev. A. Edward Johnston, B.A., see Hymn III; & pp 518-25, Gregory of Nyssa; vol. 12, p. 152-3, see note 6; New Catholic Encyclopedia, (Washington, D.C.: Catholic University of America, 1967), vol. I, pp. 567-8). In earlier centuries the anointing ritual was often connected with baptism, which was a ritualistic type of death, burial and the resurrection. (Colossians 2:12; Romans 6:2-6; Basil, De Baptismo; Chrysostom, Hom. xxv, In Joannem; Hom. xl., In Epist. ad Rom.; Adam, Baptism For The Dead, pp. 9-10, & 48-9, etc.) Perhaps as time went by this type may have become part of the "Extreme Unction" which was given to a person who was sick, etc., and who was believed to be near death. Even though baptism had been the ritualistic type of death, burial and resurrection; the extreme unction was often given to those who were believed to be facing, not the ritualistic type of death, but the real thing. Consequently, the dying person would be anointed on the eyes, mouth, nose, ears, hands and feet. (See: David Ayerst & A.S.T., Fisher, CR Basil Blackwell, Records of Christianity, (NY: Harper & Row, Inc., & Barnes & Noble Books, 1977), vol. II, (Christendom), 225.
- 3219- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 190-91, foot note 10: F. J. Foakes-Jackson, History of the Christian Church, ... to A.D. 461, p. 576, 577.
- 3220- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 89-90.
- 3221- Jeffrey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell Un. Press, 1988), 122.
- 3222- Clara Erskine Clement, edited by Katherine E. Conway, A Handbook Of Christian Symbols And Stories Of The Saints As Illustrated In Art, (Boston & NY: Houghton Mifflin Co., The Riverside Press Cambridge, 1871, 1881, 1886), 108.
- 3223- Powel Mills Dawley, Our Christian Heritage, Church History & the Episcopal Church, (NY: Morehouse-Barlow Co., 1959, 3rd ed., 1960), 49-50.
- 3224- Henry Bettenson, The Early Christian Fathers, A Selection from the writings of the Fathers from St. Clement of Rome to St. Athanasius, (London; New York; Toronto: Geoffrey Cumberlege, Oxford University Press, 1956), 198. Tertullian, De Resurrection Carnis, 8.
- 3225- Interpretive comments in [], by J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 164.
- 3226- Kurt Rudolph & Robert McLachlan Wilson, Gnosis The Nature & History of Gnosticism, (San Fran., Calif.: Harper & Row, 1984), 345, 360-2, 378, fig. 44.
- 3227- The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, vol.5, p. 519-520, & 524, Gregory of Nyssa: Dogmatic Treatises, etc. reprint June 1972, by WM. B. Eerdmans.
- 3228- N&PNF, 2nd series, vol. 10, Ambrose, p. xiii, III. Historical Summary & Chronological Tables, & p.315-325; p. 411-22, see Ep.18:30-32, on p.421, Ambrose reply (Ep.17, 18) has been dated about 384, according to the III. Historical Summary & Chronological Tables, on p. xiii of Prolegomena of St. Ambrose.
- 3229- David Larsen at Heavenly Ascents, notes from his attendance at the Temple Studies Group Symposium in London last about 2009. Recently he posted his notes on Archimandrite Ephrem's presentation about the Holy Oil in the Orthodox Church. Father Ephrem gave out a handout which included detailed notes on the anointing rite in the Orthodox Church. See link that may or may not still be working at the time of this reading. http://www.templestudy.com/2009/11/06/anointing-rite-orthodox-church/#footnote_0_2118
- 3230- Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 143. R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 86-88, 121-132, 139-143. Note 11 on p. 86. P.E. Schramm, Die Krönung bei den Westfranken und Angelsachsen von 878 bis um 1000 (Zeitschrift der Savigny-Stiftung für Rechtsgeschichte, LIV, Kanonistische Abteilung XXIII, 1934, 117-242), P.E. Schramm, History of the English Coronation, (transl. L. G. W. Legg), 1937. H. St. L. B. Moss, The Birth of the Middle Ages 395-814, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 138-141, 201-202, 213-216, 220-223. Geoffrey Barraclough, The Crucible of the Middle Ages, The Ninth and Tenth Centuries in European History, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 69, 139, 159, 191-192. John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150-1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 17-18, 37, 197-199, 205-206, 209-211. Brigham Henry Roberts, Outlines of Ecclesiastical History, A Text Book, (SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1979, Classics in Mormon Literature), 153-159, 165-291.
- 3231- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 86-87.
- 3232- Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 14, art work credits, p. 329, for p. 14, Giraudon / Art Resource, New York. If this art work is for the first Clovis, see for reign time: Gene Gurney, Kingdoms of Europe, An Illustrated Encyclopedia of Ruling Monarchs from Ancient Times to the Present, (New York: Crown Publishers, Inc., 1982), 54.
- 3233- Kurt Weitzmann, Editor, Age of Spirituality, Late Antique and Early Christian Art, Third to Seventh Century, (New York: The Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, 1979). C. 610--630, on a Byzantine silver dish, excavated on the island of Cyprus, there is a depiction of the anointing of David by Samuel, who holds a horn filled with oil, over David's head. See also: The New Catholic Encyclopedia, vol. 1, p. 566.
- 3234- Eve Borsook, Messages In Mosaic, The Royal Programmes of Norman Sicily (1130--1187), (Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1990), p. 3, see also foot notes 35 & 36.
- 3235- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 191-92, end note 13: Duchesne, Origines du Culte Chretien, p. 326-333.
- 3236- Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 22.
- 3237- Robert Fossier, Editor, Translated by Janet Sonheimer, The Middle Ages, The Cambridge Illustrated History of the Middle Ages I, 350-950, (Cambridge University Press, 1989), p. 434. See also: George Holmes, Editor, The Oxford Illustrated History of Medieval Europe, (Oxford University Press, 1988), p. 84.
- 3238- Geoffrey Barraclough, The Crucible of the Middle Ages, The Ninth and Tenth Centuries in European History, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 158-59. F. M. Stenton, Anglo-Saxon England, (Oxford, 1943), 538.
- 3239- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 86-87. Foot note 11: P. E. Schramm, Die Krönung bei den Westfranken und Angelsachsen von 878 bis um 1000 (Zeitschrift der Savigny-Stiftung für Rechtsgeschichte, LIV, Kanonistische Abteilung XXIII, 1934, 117-242). Schramm, History of English Coronation, (transl. L. G. W. Legg), 1937.
- 3240- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 86-87.

- 3241- Geoffrey Barraclough, The Crucible of the Middle Ages, The 9th & 10th Centuries in European History, (Lon.: The Folio Society, 1998), 69, 195, end not 15 & 17; H. von Schubert, Geschichte der christlichen Kirche im Frühmittelalter, 410.
- 3242- John Beckwith, The Art of Constantinople, An Introduction to Byzantine Art 330-1453, (Greenwich - Connecticut: Phaidon Publishers Inc., Distributed by New York Graphic Society, 1961), p. 72, fig. 86. A.D. 920-30, in the Bible of Leo the Patrician, made at Constantinople, is a depiction of The Anointing of David, for over his head is held a horn filled with anointing substance. Vatican, Reg. gr. I, fol. 263r.
- 3243- Morris Bishop, Norman Kotker, Editor in charge, Middle Ages, The Horizon Book of The Middle Ages, (USA: American Heritage Magazine, 1968), p. 39. On p. 16, there is mention of the baptism of Clovis, and the oil used for the ceremony. A.D. 962, Duke Otto of Saxony was anointed emperor et augustus by the pope. Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 47. Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions and the Rise of Mormonism, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1970), 22.
- 3244- Eve Borsook, Messages In Mosaic, The Royal Programmes of Norman Sicily (1130-1187), (Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1990), 2-3.
- 3245- Albrecht Durer, Lucas Cranach, Hans Holbein, & Pieter Bruegel, Great Artists Of The Western World, The Northern Renaissance, (Lon.: NY; Sydney: Marshall Cavendish, 1985 & 1988, Reference Ed. pub. in 1988).
- 3246- Geoffrey Barraclough, The Crucible of the Middle Ages, The 9th & 10th Centuries in European History, (Lon.: Folio Society, 1998), 158-59. P. E. Schramm, A History of the English Coronation, (Oxford, 1937).
- 3247- John W. Bernhardt, Itinerant Kingship & Royal Monasteries In Early Medieval Germany, c. 936-1075, (NY: Cambridge Un., Press, 1993), 48-49.
- 3248- Eve Borsook, Messages In Mosaic, The Royal Programmes of Norman Sicily (1130—1187), (Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1990), 2-3.
- 3249- Albrecht Durer, Lucas Cranach, Hans Holbein, & Pieter Bruegel, Great Artists Of The Western World, The Northern Renaissance, Lon.; NY; Sydney: Marshall Cavendish, 1985 & 1988, Reference Ed. published in 1988.
- 3250- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 86-87, note 13 on p. 87, 'Anonymous of York' (MGH, Libelli de Lite Imperatorum et Pontificum, III, 663-5. If it was even at York or as other suggest, Rouen.
- 3251- Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 130.
- 3252- Nigel Morgan, Early Gothic Manuscripts 2, 1250-1285, (London: Harvey-Miller, 1988), figures 6 & 7. Coronation of King Arthur. 6. Manchester, Chetham Lib., 6712, f. 53 (cat. 96); 7. Coronation of Richard I. Manchester, Chetham Lib., 6712, f. 141 (Cat. 96). Showing coronation ceremonies, in which Kings are being anointed on their heads.
- 3253- See this link, that may, but also may not still be working by the time of this reading. http://4.bp.blogspot.com/_zVu0FGxQvzg/SrqdGrippkI/AAAAAAAAABHo/dGDJUGZ29eQ/s400/Anointing+of+David+by+Samuel.png
- 3254- Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 316.
- 3255- Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 316-318. Gene Gurney, Kingdoms of Europe, An Illustrated Encyclopedia of Ruling Monarchs from Ancient Times to the Present, (New York: Crown Publishers, Inc., 1982), 84-85.
- 3256- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 173.
- 3257- Michel Pierre, Morgan - Antoine Sabbagh, The Human Story, Europe In The Middle Ages, (Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Sliver Burdett Press, 1988. Orig. pub. in 1986, Casterman, L' Histoire des Hommes: L' Europe du Moyen Age), 34.
- 3258- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 152-194. Ariel L. Crowley, BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD, (Boise Idaho: Prepared for Electronic Media by Stanley D. Barker. Louis Herbert Gray, A. M. Editor, PH.D., Mythology of All Races, (Boston: Marshall Jones Co., 1918), in 13 vols, vol. 3, Slavic, by Jan Machel, PH. D, chap. 5, Navky & Rusalky, p. 253-255, example of baptism for the dead lore in Slavic traditions, with baptismal prayer for the dead, when upon hearing these water nymphs giggle, or making noises, crying to be baptized, having died as infants before their parents could have them baptized. Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (NY: Gramercy Books, 2000 ed., earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 148-150, 157-162, 214-15, 258-61, 360, 407, 490-491, (Rusalkis were believed to be water nymphs in Russia folk beliefs, unbaptized dead baby, or water spirits, seeking baptism, appearing near water on Whitsuntide, the custom of white baptismal robes, Whitesunday).
- 3259- Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (Ben Lomond, Calif.: F.A.I.R., 1999), 184-186.
- 3260- Isa. 4:3-4, Jer. 8:1-3, 16:14, 25:33, Mal. 2:2-3, Ezk. 4:9, 12-17, Duet. 23:12-15). Psalm 113: 7, the Lord lifts the needy out of the dunghill, (in art this is by hand clasps, to lift them up. Bring them to spiritual cleansing & purity?) The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, by John Rupert Martin, Princeton Un. Press, 1954, p. 43, XIV, 64. Fol. 187 v: Tranquillity, Princeton, Univ. Lib. Garrett MS 16, showing Christ raising up a monk out a sarcophagus by grasping, with his right hand, the right hand of the monk. "The half-figure of Christ leans forward from above to grasp his right hand; his left is clutched by a small black demon... while other demons in the sarcophagus cling to his feet." A verse from Psalm 113:7 was paraphrased; 'the Lord lifteth up the needy from the earth, and from the dung-hill of his passions raiseth up the poor man, him that is humble in heart.' The author's definition of tranquillity is said to be "the resurrection of the soul before that of the body". "The picture has, accordingly, been adapted from the Anastasis--Christ's descent into Hell to raise up Adam and other righteous persons of the Old Testament." (Ibid., Martin, p. 43).
- 3261- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 72-74.
- 3262- James Reston Dogs of God Columbus the Inquisition & the Defeat of the Moors NY Doubleday 2005, 283-8
- 3263- Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions & the Rise of Mormonism, SLC Ut: Deseret Book 1970, 52.
- 3264- Thomas Armitage, D.D., LL.D., A History Of The Baptists, (New York: Bryah, Taylor, & Chicago: Morningside, 1887). Ariel L. Crowley, BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD, (Boise Idaho: Prepared for Electronic Media by Stanley D. Barker. Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Dr. Hugu W. Nibley, Baptism for the Dead in Ancient Time, (Salt Lake City, Utah:

Improvement Era, 51—52, (December 1948—April 1949). J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962). Pater Cramer, Baptism and change in the early Middle Ages, c. 200-c. 1150, (Cambridge, England; New York, New York, USA: Cambridge University Press, 1993). Roger J. Adams, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptisms for the Dead, (unpublished manuscript 1977). Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (Ben Lomond, California: Foundation for Apologetic Information & Research, F.A.I.R., 1999), 185–86, 331–317, 350–351. Brigham Henry Roberts, Outlines of Ecclesiastical History, A Text Book, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1979, Classics in Mormon Literature), 141–142. John Lawrence Mosheim, D.D., An Ecclesiastical History, (London: 1819, Translated by Archibald Maclaine), 6 volumes.

3265- Ellen Badone, The Appointed Hour, Death, Worldview, and Social Change in Brittany, (Berkeley & Los Angeles, Calif., Lon., Eng.: Un. of Calif. Press, 1989), 63-65, 92-3. Diocese de Quimper 1975:376. J. M. Sjødahl, The Reign of Antichrist, Or The Great "Falling Away", (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1913), 36-45. Thomas A. Kselman, Death & the Afterlife in Modern France, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1993), 88-93.

3266- Ellen Badone The Appointed Hour, Death, Worldview, & Social Change in Brittany, (Berkeley; Lost Angeles, USA; Lon., Eng.: Un. of Calif. Press, 1989), 103, fig.7, p.104-130. Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsachsischen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), 3 vols. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen.

3267- Gertrude Hartman's The World We Live In and How It Came To Be, (A Pictured Outline of Man's Progress from the Earliest Days to the Present), (CR 1931 Hartman; NY: The Macmillan 1961): Chap. IX, In Feudal Days, p. 127-142. Robert Fossier (Editor), The Middle Ages, (The Cambridge Illustrated History of The Middle Ages I, 350-950), translated by Janet Sondheimer, (Cambridge University Press 1989), p. 435, etc. Heinz Edgar Kiewe, 1967, The Sacred History of Knitting, (Oxford, England: Art and Needlework Indust. Lim.), chapter 13 entitled: The Sack Royal 970-1961 A.D. Anointed, King In Divine Right, In the Sack Royal, pp. 57-58, etc. Paintings in the Louvre, by Lawrence Gowing 1987, (New York: Stewart, Tabori and Chang), p. 35 & 167; Medieval Pageant, by Bryan Holme, (Thames & Hudson, 1987), p. 28-29; Story of Nations, by Walker Brown, (Holt, Rinehart & Wilson, Inc., 1943), p.176; A History of the Middle Ages, 284-1500, by Sidney Painter, 1953, p. 430. Geoffrey Barraclough, The Crucible of the Middle Ages, The Ninth and Tenth Centuries in European History, (Lon.: The Folio Society, 1998), 37–38, 44, 69, 97–98, 139, art works between 148 & 149, 191–192. Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 46, 76–78, etc. A case in point of a dramatized version of 11th century Spain's bouts between Christian kings' champions, see the classic movie, El Cid.

3268- Gertrude Hartman's The World We Live In and How It Came To Be, (A Pictured Outline of Man's Progress from the Earliest Days to the Present), (CR 1931 Hartman; New York: The Macmillan Co., 1961), 132-33. Brigham Young University = BYU Studies, Vol.22, Winter 1982, #1, Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity, by Blake Ostler, p. 31-45. Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). The Library of Christian Classics, volume 2, Alexandrian Christianity, Selected Translations of Clement & Origen with Introductions and Notes by John Ernest Leonard Oulton, D.D., Regius Professor of Divinity in the University of Dublin; Chancellor of St. Patrick's and Henry Chadwick, B.D., Fellow & Dean of Queens' College, Cambridge. (Philadelphia: The Westminster Press), volume 4, Cyril of Jerusalem And Nemesius of Emesa, edited by William Telfer, (Philadelphia: Westminster Press, MCMLV), see Cyril's Lectures on the Mysteries.

3269- Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 78.

3270- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought & the Art in France & the Netherlands in the 14th & 15th Centuries, Lon.: Folio Society, 1998, 61–2.

3271- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought & the Art in France & the Netherlands in the 14th & 15th Centuries, (Lon.: Folio Society, 1998), 75.

3272- David Ayerst & A.S.T., Fisher, CR Basil Blackwell, Records of Christianity, (NY: Harper & Row, & Barnes & Noble Books, 1977), vol. 2, p. 225.

3273- Ellen Badone, The Appointed Hour, Death, Worldview, & Social Change in Brittany, (Berkeley; L.A, USA; Lon., England: Un., of Cal. Press, 1989), 53.

3274- Darell Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined - Christ's Descent into Hell to Preach the Gospel, (Kindle Edition on line, 11-29-2011), (SLC, Utah: Religious, Historical & Polemical Studies, rough draft, 1995); Francis Bond, Fonts & Font Covers, (Lon., NY, & Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford Un. Press, 1908). Geoffrey R. King, The Forty Days, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: W.M. B. Eerdmans, 1949); Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments Of Romanesque Art, The Art of Church Treasures in North-Western Europe, (The Un. of Chicago Press, 1954 and 2nd, Edition, 1967); Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985); Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company); volume 4: Mormonism and Early Christianity, (1987); Nibley, Baptism for the Dead in Ancient Time, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Improvement Era, 51—52, (December 1948—April 1949); Jeanne Villette, La Resurrection Du Christ, Dans L'Art Chretien Du Ile Au VIIe Siecle, (Paris, France: Henri Laurens, Editeur, 1957); John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (New York: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882); Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, (Washington Square, New York, New York: Pantheon Books, 1947); William Barclay, The Apostles' Creed For Everyman, (New York and Evanston: Harper and Row, 1967); Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsachsischen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), three volumes. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen; Les Ivoires Gothiques, Français, Par Raymond Koechlin, Planches, Reimpression, (Paris, France: F. DE Nobele, 1968); Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (New York, San Diego, U.S.A.; London, England: Harcourt Brace & Company); Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986); Clifford Davidson, Editor, The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, and Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Kalamazoo, Michigan: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan University, 1994); Colleen McDannell and Bernhard Lang, Heaven: A History, (New Haven & London: Yale University Press, 1988); Alan Richardson and John Bowden, (Editors), Westminster Dictionary of Christian Theology, (Philadelphia, Pennsylvania: The Westminster Press, CR SCM Press Ltd 1983, first Published in Great Britain, 1983, entitled: A New Dictionary of Christian Theology). Article: The Descent into Hell, by A. T. Hanson.

3275- Isa. 1:15-19, 22:21-25, 64:4-8; Rev. 3:5, 11-22, 6:9-11, 7:9-17, 19:7-9; The Ante-Nicene Father, 2:18-19, 28, 36, (note 10), 48-50, & 53-5. Note verses 7-9 of Rev. 19. The wife (or church) was made ready for the marriage to the Lamb (Christ). "She" should be arrayed in fine linen, and clean white, for "...the fine linen is the righteousness of saints." (Rev. 19:8, KJV). A portion from another version read: "Now the fine linen signifies the righteousness of deeds of God's people. New English Bible.

3276- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 2:9-13, 18-19, 36-37, & 44-55. The Pastor, Book 1, Visions 1-4; Book 3, Similitude 5, chap. 5-7; Sim. 6, chap. 1-4; Sim. 9, chap. 3-33; Sim. 10, chap. 1-4.

3277- Acts of Thomas 5-6, 26, (Sage Digital Lib. ANF, 8:1135-1156, Acts of the Holy Apostle Thomas). ANT, 366-67, 375; W. Wright, Apocryphal Acts of the Apostles, 2:245-51, Rev.19:7-8.

3278- Gospel of Truth, 23:33, 24:7 Nag Ham Lib. E. 41 Huge Nibley, Temple & Cosmos, 122, n. 67-8, p.136.

3279- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 63-64, 338, end note 101: The Song of the Pearl, trans. Han J. W. Drijvers, Robert M. Grant, Bentley Layton & Willis Barnstone, in Barnstone & Meyer, Gnostic Bible, 388-94. Stephen D. Ricks, & LeGrand L. Barker, Who Shall Ascend Into the Hill of the Lord? The Psalms In Israel's Temple Worship In The Old Testament and in the Book of Mormon, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Books, 2009), introduction, p. 83-97. Willis Barnstone & Marvin Meyer, (Editors), The Gnostic Bible, Gnostic Texts of Mystical Wisdom from the Ancient and Medieval Worlds, (Boston & London: Shambhala, 2003, 2009, Revised Edition, to include the Gospel of Judas), 406-14. Willis Barnstone, (Editor), The Other Bible, (San Francisco, California: Harper & Row, 1984), 308-13. Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). R. G. Hamerton-Kelly, (Professor of the New Testament McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago), Society for New Testament Studies Monograph Series 21, Pre-Existence, Wisdom And The Son of Man, A Study of the Idea of Pre-existence in the New Testament, (Cambridge University Press; Cambridge, Great Britain, 1973). Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company), vol. 4: Mormonism and Early Christianity, (1987). Dr. Huge Nibley, collected works volume 16: The Message of the Joseph Smith Papyri, An Egyptian Endowment, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company, 2005, second edition), 456-532, The Pearl, on p. 487-501. Willis Barnstone, Hymn of the Robe of Glory, see link that still might be working, but also may not. <https://archive.org/details/HymnOfTheRobeOfGlory> - The Gnostic Hymn of the Pearl, <https://archive.org/details/TheHymnofthePearl> - <http://baptismforthehead.blogspot.com/> - <https://www.youtube.com/playlist?list=PL96CD5639D3ED8CBE> - Jeffrey M. Bradshaw, Temple Themes In The Book of Moses, (SLC, Ut: Eborn Pub., 2010). Blake Ostler, Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity, BYU Studies, Winter 1982, 31-45. As with many internet links, they can be taken down, changed or still work too. <https://byustudies.byu.edu/content/clothed-upon-unique-aspect-christian-antiquity> - Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986). Ed. by John M. Lundquist, & Stephen D. Ricks, By Study & Also By Faith, (Salt Lake City, & Provo Utah: Deseret Book Company & Foundation for Ancient Research & Mormon Studies, F.A.R.M.S., 1990), volumes 1 & 2.

3280- Henry Bettenson, The Early Christian Fathers, A Selection from the writings of the Fathers from St. Clement of Rome to St. Athanasius, (Lon.: NY; Toronto: Geoffrey Cumberlege, Oxford University Press, 1956), 198. Tertullian, De Resurrection Carnis, 8; De Baptismo, 11 & 13.

3281- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 102, 138, n. 74; J. G. Davies, The Early Christian Church, (NY: Holt, Rinehart & Winston, 1965), 59.

3282- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All the Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 102.

3283- Powel Mills Dawley, Our Christian Heritage, Church History & the Episcopal Church, (New York: Morehouse-Barlow Co., 1959, 3rd ed., 1960), 49-50.

3284- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 2:217, 265--66, 452--54. Clement of Alexandria, The Instructor, book 1, chapter 6, book 2, chapter 11; The Stromata, or Miscellanies, book 5, chapter 6.

3285- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 94, 343, end note 99: Origen, Against Celsus, IV.40. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 4:516.

3286- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 26-27.

3287- W. H. C. Frend, Martyrdom & Persecution In The Early Church, (Garden City, New York: Anchor Books Doubleday & Co., 1967). Edward Gibbon, Gibbon's Decline and Fall of The Roman Empire, Illustrated and Abridged, (New York, Avenel, New Jersey: Crescent Books, 1994, Brompton Books Corp., 1979), 11-147. Gene Gurney, Kingdoms of Europe, An Illustrated Encyclopedia of Ruling Monarchs from Ancient Times to the Present, (New York: Crown Publishers, Inc., 1982), 17-48.

3288- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, Lon., Eng.: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962, 1-42. Wolfred Nelson Cote, (Missionary in Rome), Baptism and Baptistries, (Philadelphia: The Bible and Publication Society, 1877). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, & Drama, (Ithaca & Lon.: Cornell Un. Press, 1985). Wolfred Nelson Cote, The Archaeology of Baptism, (Lon.: Yates & Alexander, 1876).

3289- B. H. Roberts, Outlines of Ecclesiastical History, A Text Book, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 1979, 132.

3290- N&PNF, 2nd series, vol. 10, Ambrose, p. xiii, III. Historical Summary & Chronological Tables, & p.315-325; p. 411-22, see Ep.18:30-32, on p. 421, Ambrose reply (Ep.17, 18) has been dated about 384, according to the III. Historical Summary & Chronological Tables, on p. xiii of Prolegomena of St. Ambrose.

3291- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, Lon., Eng.: Barrie & Rockliff 1962, 165, n.1-2. Ambrose, De Sacramen., V.14.

3292- N&PNF, 5:519-520, & 524; Gregory of Nyssa: Dogmatic Treatises, reprint June 1972, WM. B. Eerdmans.

3293- The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, 10:321-3, chap. 6-7. Library of Fathers, 2:260-66, Lectures 19-20.

3294- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 106-7, 345, n. 26-30: Richard A. Layton, Didymus the Blind & His Circle in Late-Antique Alexandria: Virtue & Narrative in Biblical Scholarship, Urbana: Un. of Illinois Press, 2004, 1.72-73, 109, 152.

3295- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 106-7. R. G. Hamerton-Kelly, (Professor of the New Testament McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago), Society for New Testament Studies Monograph Series 21, Pre-Existence, Wisdom And The Son of Man, A Study of the Idea of Pre-existence in the New Testament, (Cambridge University Press; Cambridge, Great Britain, 1973). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Brigham Young University Studies, Vol.22, Winter 1982, #1, p.31-45, (& some of the notes), Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity, by Blake Ostler. The Lost Books of The Bible & The Forgotten Books of Eden, (USA, Newfoundland: Alpha House, 1926 & 1927, World Bible Publishers), see The First Book of Adam & Eve, also called, The Conflict of Adam and Eve with Satan. Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series):

The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company), vol. 1: Old Testament and Related Subjects, (1986), 156–7. Stephen D. Ricks, & LeGrand L. Barker, Who Shall Ascend Into the Hill of the Lord? The Psalms In Israel's Temple Worship In The Old Testament and in the Book of Mormon, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Books, 2009), 83–97. The Hymn of the Pearl. See also: Dr. Hugu W. Nibley, Temple & Cosmos, (Salt Lake City & Provo, Utah: Deseret Book, & F.A.R.M.S., 1992), 108. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, Vol.2, p. 9-13, 18-19, 36-37, & 44-55, Shepherd of Hermas. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 2, p. 215–17, 222–24, 263, 265–66, 581–3, etc. Clifford Davidson, Editor, The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, and Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Kalamazoo, Michigan: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan University, 1994). Colleen McDannell and Bernhard Lang, Heaven: A History, (New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1988). Millia Davenport, The Book of Costume, (New York: Crown Publishing, Inc., 1948 & 1976), vol. 1, p. 79–373, etc. Vincent Cronin, Mary Portrayed, (London, England: Darton, Longman & Todd, 1968). Darell Thorpe, The Mystery Behind The Mysteries, Ritualistic Realm Pilgrims In Early to Later Christian Mysteries, (Salt Lake City, Utah: R.H. & P.S., an unpublished research paper for a college class. HIS 190-01 Spec. Studies. Instructor: Marianne McKnight. Student: Darell Thorpe, Winter 1997, Salt Lake Community College, Winter Quarter, 1997). Darell Thorpe, THE ARMOR OF GODS- PROTECTIVE SKINS OR GARMENTS IN HISTORY and COLOR SYMBOLISM, (SLC, Utah: R.H & P.S., rough draft, revised 9-1-2013). Revelation 19:8. Roger Adam, Baptism for the Dead, 1977, p.51, & 61, n. 5- Danielou, Liturgy, 13, citing Theodore's commentary on the sacrament of baptism. Darell Thorpe, Holy & Protective Garments in Historic Christianity: Symbols of Deification, Resurrection, Clothed in Righteousness [Kindle Edition, 2011]. See also internet article by Darell Thorpe, by scrolling down to: Passover, Easter & Garment Types of Deification in the Resurrection, (Easter Sunday, 4-8-2012). <http://drivetimelivearchivespromosources.blogspot.com/>

3296- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, NY: Oxford Un. Press 2010, 111, 346, n.43: Augustine, 2 Books on Genesis against the Manichees, De Genesi adversus Manichaeos, II.3.4-5, in On Genesis, trans. Roland J. Teske (Wash. D.C.: Catholic Un. of America Press, 1990), 96–98.

3297- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (Lon. Eng.: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 26, 38, 40–41.

3298- Roger J. Adam, Baptism for the Dead, (SLC, Utah: LDS Church Historical Library, Archives, call slip number Res; M234. 62, R216, an unpublished thesis for the degree of Doctor, 1977), p. 58, see note 26 on page 62, Gregory the Great, Ad Fabiolam, Epistle cxxvii, 54. The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, 13:3, Ep.6.

3299- Internet posting, at Temple Studies, Sustaining & Defending the LDS Temple, posted by Bryce Haymond on February 8, 2008, concerning: An exhibition back in 2000 at The Israel Museum, Jerusalem, which was curated by Yael Israeli and David Mevorah, shows artifacts from the early years of the Christian church. The exhibition was entitled "The Cradle of Christianity" Point 6. See link, that may or may not still be working at this time of reading: <http://www.templestudy.com/2008/02/08/an-early-christian-church-exhibit/>

3300- Walter Lowrie Art in the Early Church pl.121. Iconography of Christian Art Gertrud Schiller Vol.I, fig.376. Zech.3:1-4. Behold the Christ, Roland Bainton p.79, fig.76. Rev.7:14-17 Christ Lore, Fredk. Hackwood, 117. Baptism For the Dead, Roger Adam, pl.16, p.29, n.23, Cote, Archaeology, 53; Ad Fabiolam, Ep. cxxvii.

3301- Willaim N. Guthrie, D.D., The Forgotten Books of Eden, (USA, Newfoundland: Alpha House, Inc., 1927; World Bible Publishers, Inc.), Intro., vii-viii.

3302- The Forgotten Books of Eden, The First Book of Adam and Eve, p. 12—13.

3303- The Forgotten Books of Eden, The First Book of Adam, 28. The narrative goes on to say that satan had really not wished to raise Adam on high as he claimed that he did, for he really had it in his mind "...to make thee come out of light into darkness; and from an exalted state to degradation; from glory to abasement; from joy to sorrow;..." etc. (The Forgotten Books of Eden, The First Book of Adam & Eve, p.30). Satan had really sought to pull down Adam & Eve further than where they were really at then in their fallen conditions. For rather than bringing them towards deification, as he had claimed that he would do. He really had intended to drag them down towards demonification, where they would become like unto him & his demons. The narrative says that God warned Adam saying: "...know that it [the fire in hell] will encompass about both thee and thy seed," [descendants] "when ye hearken to his behest; that he will plague you with fire; and that ye shall go down into hell after ye are dead.... There shall be no deliverance from it for you, but at My coming;... [for until then the fire will be too great to pass through] "...until My Word shall come that will make a way for thee on the day My covenant is fulfilled. There is no way for thee at present to come from hence to rest, not until My Word comes, who is My Word. Then will He make a way for thee, and thou shalt have rest." (Ibid., p.30). This narrative later goes on to say how that the Word came to Adam & Eve had them cloth themselves in a garments made out of the skins of sheep. (Ibid., p.33). And then taught them a type & similitude. In that satan had caused them to lose their garment of light & glory. "...This is he who promised you majesty and divinity. Where, then is the beauty that was on him? Where is his divinity? Where is his light? Where is the glory that rested on him? Now his figure is hideous; he is become abominable among angels; and he has come to be called Satan...." (Ibid., p.34). The narrative says that the Word said to Adam & Eve that satan had intended on taking away their earthly garment of sheep-skins, and destroy it. Could this garment have helped to protect Adam & Eve against the powers of the devil & his fallen angels? The Word again ask them, what is his (satan's) beauty that you should listen to him. Adam and Eve are also clothed in other garments. (Ibid., p.34). Other angels are said to have come down to Adam and Eve. (Ibid., p.36). Adam says to these angels: "O Spirits, who wait upon God, look upon me, and upon my being unable to see you! For when I was in my former bright nature, then I could see you..." (Ibid., p.36). Adam again notes that he had lost his former bright nature because he had transgressed God's commandment. He asks the angels to restore him to his former state of glory. But the angels point out that he had fallen because he had listen to satan and had believed that satan would fulfil all he had promised him. Later, Adam again was seeking to be restored to his former state of glory, where he would once again be clothed in a garment of light. (Ibid., pp.37-42) There is further references to anointing, garments, & prayer gestures with uplifted hands. (Ibid., pp.68-74). Included in with this collection of books, is one entitled: "The Book of the Secrets of Enoch". (Slavonic version). God says to Michael to anoint Enoch and cloth him in a garment of glory. (Ibid., p.89). A Swede by the name of Widengren is said to have written a book about the "Sent One", Nibley tells us. "...We meet with the "sent one" most frequently and most dramatically in the story of Adam. "After the physical Adam was created, a messenger was sent to the head of all generations (that is, Adam), and at his call, Adam awoke and said, 'How the precious, beautiful life has been planted in this place. But it's hard for me down here.'" The "sent one" then reminded Adam, "But your beautiful throne still awaits you, Adam...." [Adam is asked why he sits there complaining when all this was for his good, then the messenger says], "...I have been sent down to teach you, Adam, and to free you from this world. Listen and return to the light."... "The Ginza (488) tells how when Adam stood praying for light and knowledge, a helper came to him and gave him a garment and said to him, "Those men who gave you the garment will assist you throughout your life until you are ready to leave the earth." (Old Testament And Related Studies, by Dr. Hugu Nibley, (The Collected Works of H.N.: Vol.1), 1986 Deseret Book Co., SLC., Ut., &

F.A.R.M.S., Provo Ut., 152-3). A 17th century A.D. woodcut depicts an angel coming down out of heaven to visit Adam & Eve. He hands a garment to each of them. The angel's right hand is raised up as if to bless them, (or perhaps, to teach them a sign-gesture, as part of an oath?). "The Russian tradition of Picture Bible goes back to German models, but in many scenes the Russian view was a 17th century woodcut, a benevolent angel hands clothes to Adam and Eve before they are expelled from Eden." (The Christian World, Edited by Geoffrey Barraclough, 1981 Thames & Hudson, LTD., Lon., Pub. Harry N. Abrams, Inc., N.Y., p.119). Adam & Eve play an important part in early to later Christian mystery dramas, which included baptism. In such an ordinance, a garment is given to those who pass through the mysteries (= ordinances). (Baptism for the Dead, by Roger Adam, 1977, (Thesis located in the SLC LDS Church Lib.), 46-50, etc.

3304- Archaeological Discoveries, Relative to the Judaeo-Christians, Historical Survey by Ignazio Mancini, O.F.M., Pub. of the Studium Biblicum Franciscanum, Collection minor #10, Jerusalem, 1970, p.165-170, & fig.39, on p.166, Adam under Calvary in a medieval miniature of Valenciennes, with detail of Adam. (from LTS 1965, p. 278); Byzantine and Russian Painting, Kostas Papaioannou, Translated by Janet Sondheimer, Pub. by Funk & Wagnalls, NY, p.82-3, & 90-1; Christ Lore, Being the Legends Traditions Myths Symbols Customs & Superstitions of The Christian Church, by Fredk. WM. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Pub. in Lon. 1902, Elliot Stock, repub. by Gale Research Co. Book Tower, Detroit, 1969, p.117, "Washing in the Blood of Christ. From an old Florentine tract in defense of Savonarola." And: The Encyclopedia Of Visual Art, Biographical Dictionary of Artists, by Limburg Brothers - Francisco Ribalta, Pub. by Encyc. Britannica Intern., LTD., Lon., Vol.6, see "Attavante degli Attavanti: Crucifixion, a leaf from the missal illuminated for Thomas James, Bishop of Dol; 1483. Nouveau Musee des Beaux-Arts, Le Havre". This art work shows a number of things of interest. The soul or spirit of one of the persons to Christ's right, who was also crucified along side of him, & who had acknowledged Christ & asked Him if He would remember him when he had entered His kingdom. (Luke 23:32-43). This person's spirit, upon this person's death, is depicted in the arms of an angel. While dark colored demons come to take away the soul or spirit of the other malefactor who had nailed on Christ, & who was crucified to the left hand side of Christ. (The Encyc. Of Vis. Art, Vol.6, p.32.) At the foot of the cross, is a skull, which may perhaps be a traditional symbol for the tradition of Adam's grave. Ivory Carvings In Early Medieval England, by John Beckwith, 1972, Harvey Miller & Medcalf, p.84, fig. 152. "Deposition. English (Hereford), about 1150. London, Victoria and Albert Museum [Cat. 88]". Another skull is depicted here at the foot of the cross.

3305- Baptism for the Dead, Roger Adam, 1977, p.51, & 61, n.5, Danielou, Liturgy, 13, citing Theodore's commentary on the sacrament of baptism.

3306- Charles T. Wood, The Age of Chivalry, Manners and Morals 1000--1440, (NY, U.S.A.: & London, England: Un. Books, CR 1970 by George Weidenfeld & Nicolson LTD). Grant Uden, A Dictionary of Chivalry, (New York: Thomas Y. Crowell Company, 1968, illustrations by Pauline Baynes, 1968). Jonathan Alexander and Paul Binski, (Editor), Age of Chivalry, Art in Plantagenet England 1200--1400, (Weidenfeld and Nicolson, London: Royal Academy of Arts, London, 1987). National Geographics: The Age of Chivalry, (USA: National Geographic Society, 1969). Andrea Hopkins, Knights, (Chancellor Press, 1999), 13, 22, 31--32, 39--43, 70--97. Frances Gies, The Knight In History, (NY, etc., Harper & Row, Perennial Library, 1984), 26--27, 57, 122--23, etc.

3307- E. S. Drower, (Dr.) The Secret Adam, A Study of Nasoraean Gnostic, (London, England: Oxford University Press, 1960), 24. See also: Creation: Adam & Eve, Gate of Paradise, Battistero di San Giovanni, Florence, Lorenzo Ghiberti, 1378 -1, 12-1455. See link that might or might not still be workings, as links can be taken down. https://upload.wikimedia.org/wikipedia/commons/6/6d/Wga_ghiberti_creation_of_adam_and_eve.jpg - Deutsch: Fresko Stufenleiter der Tugenden an der Kirche im Kloster Sucevita. Photo, Dirk D. 6-21-2012, https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:Fresco_Stufenleiter_der_Tugenden.jpg - Other examples of what could be the pre-existing Christ involved in the Creation drama, which often include different types of hand & wrist grasping between Adam & Eve, are: Hjembæk. c.1475. (M-K 11-091) Creation of Adam and Eve. And: Gjerrild. c.1500. (M-K 10-006) Creation of Eve. And: BIBLE German Nuremberg Anton Koberger 17 February 1483 God, or possibly Christ, because God the Father is up above, with a gray beard, symbolic of being older, and the Father, while down below, Christ with a dark beard, pulls Eve out Adam's side, by hand clasping. And: Meister Bertram von Minden, 1375-1383, the pre-incarnate Christ with Adam & Eve. See also: Douglas McCready. He Came Down From Heaven: The Preexistence of Christ and the Christian Faith. Downers Grove: Inter Varsity, 2005. To mention some examples, see other sources, elsewhere.

3308- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 52--55, foot note 5 on p. 55, 317 in Bibliography, make reference to: Eustache Deschamps, Oeuvres complètes, ed. De Queux de Saint Hilaire et G. Raynaud, Société des anciens textes français, II vols., 1878--1903.

3309- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (Lon., Eng.: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 92, n. 1: The C. S. I. baptismal rite, restores both the giving of the white robe & lighting candles, & the revised order given by Archbishops' Liturgical Commission.

3310- Clement of Alexandria, 3rd century, wrote how the garment is a symbol of Christ. "And I will be" He [Christ] says, "their Shepherd," and will be near them, as the garment to their skin. He wishes to save my flesh by enveloping it in the robe of immortality, and He hath anointed my body." (ANF, 2:231, Clement of Alexandria, The Instructor, book 1, chap. 9). Historic Christian art show people whitening their robes in Christ's blood as it flows from cross (Rev. 7:13 -15). In the Forgotten Books of Eden, 1st Book of Adam & Eve: Adam & Eve cloth themselves in garments made out of skins of sheep. Garments, placed upon early Christian catechumens at baptism = "the garment of skins placed upon Adam." (Roger Adam, Baptism for the Dead, 1977, p.51, & 61, n. 5- Danielou, Liturgy, 13, citing Theodore's commentary on the sacrament of baptism). 3rd cent., Clement of Alexandria, wrote how the garment is a symbol of Christ. "And I will be" He [Christ] says, "their Shepherd," and will be near them, as the garment to their skin. He wishes to save my flesh by enveloping it in the robe of immortality, and He hath anointed my body." (ANF, 2:231, Clement of Alexandria, The Instructor, book 1, chapter 9). The Forgotten Books of Eden, Edited by Rutherford H. Platt, Jr., Assistant Editor J. Alden Brett, Pub. by Alpha House, Inc., 1927, U.S.A., The First Book of Adam & Eve, this narrative say how the Word, or pre-mortal Christ, came to Adam & Eve had them cloth themselves in garments made out of the skins of sheep (p.33). And then taught them, a type & similitude. In that Satan had caused them to lose their garment of light & glory. "...This is he who promised you majesty and divinity. Where, then is the beauty that was on him? Where is his divinity? Where is his light? Where is the glory that rested on him? Now his figure is hideous; he is become abominable among angels; and he has come to be called Satan...." (Ibid., p.34). The narrative says that the Word said to Adam & Eve that satan had intended on taking away their earthly garment of sheep-skins, and destroy it. Isaiah 1:18: "Come now, & let us reason together, saith the LORD: though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool." In an internet article: Mighty Peace Masonic Districe, Ancient Free & Accepted Masons, Grand Lodge of Alberta, concerning masonic color symbolism & white, we read how: "In the [Masonic] Craft and throughout the world it [the color white] is a natural emblem of purity, truth, innocence, and hope. It is first met in Freemasonry in the white lambskin apron, which is the badge of innocence and bond of friendship. It can also be symbolic of regeneration or resurrection. Biblical references in support of this are many." Black has different meanings in different historical settings, & is said in this article to be traditionally for grief, mourning, sorrow, but also "silence and secrecy." (From: 'Talks on Freemasonry' W. Bro. Kenneth J. Tuckwood, District Chairman of Masonic Education 2002-2003 UGLE, (see link that might or might not still work): http://www.mightypeace.ca/masonic_colors.htm). E. Cecil McGavin wrote of "The Discovery of the High Priest's Vestments". "...A few years ago Bishop E. P. Pectol, of Torrey, Wayne County, Utah, was excavating in the sand-covered ruins of an ancient Indian village and found several articles of clothing made from buckskin. Mr. Frank Beckwith, a non-Mormon, was among the first to call attention, through the public press, to this remarkable discovery. He did not scruple to label these ancient articles of wearing apparel "The High Priest's Vestment." Soon after its discovery Bishop Pectol wrote this description to Mr. McGavin, among other things the "robe" "...By the mark we call the left breast mark is a patch of splendid workmanship, indicating that this mark was wanted or it also would have been patched over. Placing this mark at the breast and letting the skin fall as it naturally would, a mark appears in the proper place. Now from the left breast, passing the skin under the arm and then over the right shoulder, a perfect right breast mark appears at the right place. Four belts of equal length that would fasten this robe to the body were in the bundle. We liken these to the girdle. A skin tanned with the hair on we call the apron, and another smaller one we call the cap. The marks are in the robe. Whether this is a coincidence or not, you can use your own judgment as well as I. If this is truly intended for the purpose it suggests, then the shields I have represent the remainder of the Temple ordinances." (Mormonism & Masonry, by E. Cecil McGavin, Pub. by Stevens & Wallis, Inc., S.L.C., Ut., 1947, p.72-3). Veils and Garments having the same types of symbols on them, & being made out of animal skins, also shows up in ancient Christianity too. See also: Exodus 36:14, 19, 35; 39:34. Some of garments are said to have marks or symbols on them, & it is possible that a Coptic Christian tunic (shirt) may have markings very similar to other markings found on garments found in other parts of the world. There is a tunic-shirt that has been dated "4th to 5th cent." AD. A navel mark can be seen (-). But also over the left breast area, is a faded (V) mark, or possible symbol. On the side of the right breast area is what just might be a reverse (L) mark or symbol, but this one has faded out, & is hard to discern, & therefore it could also be just folds in this ancient garment. The Coptic Christians believed that "The dead" are "dressed in the clothes they had worn in life, . . . Women often had their heads covered with a veil or kerchief; men wore a cap." Ludmila Kybalova, Coptic Textiles, (Artia, Prague: Paul Hamlyn Ltd., 1967), 34, 68-69, fig.15-16. Possible marks or symbols in Tunic, 4 or 5th century, Pushkin Museum, Moscow; Inventory # 5823. Purchased in Egypt by V.S Golenishchev. Brigham Young University Studies, vol. 22, Winter 1982, #1 pp. 31-45, St. Ambrose, Hamman, Traite des Mysteres in L' Initiation Chretienne, p.74. Heb. 10:16-22. Art & Mankind (Larousse Encyc. Of Renaissance & Baroque Art), Gen. Ed., Rene Huyghe, Excal., Bk., N.Y., pp.49-50, fig.78; Signs & Symbols In Christian Art, by George Ferguson, p.209, XI. Frescoes Of The Church Of The Assumption At Volotovo Polyte, text by L. A. Alpatov, 66; The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers = (N&PNF) Vol. 7, p.91, etc.; The Art & Architecture of Russia, George Heard Hamilton, 1954 & 75, Penguin Bks., p.105; Origines sive antiquitates Ecclesiasticae, Bingham, Halle, 1727, vol. iii, p.215; A Short History of Tapestry, by Eugene Muntz, p.56-8; The Painted Churches of Cyprus, by Andreas & Judith A. Stylianou, p.131, fig.66, p.169, fig.92, p.200, fig.113, p.260, fig.151, p.291, fig.172, p.335, fig.199, p.356-7, fig.s 211-12, p.450, fig.267. Timothy Ballard, The American Covenant, One Nation Under God, Volume I, Discovery Through Revolution, (NY: Digital Legend, 2011), 318, Templars wore tight sheepskin undergarments, which were symbolic of their vows. Masons also wear white sheepskin aprons, which they were told represented a badge of innocence. See also: Matthew B. Brown, Girded about with a Lambskin, Journal of Book of Mormon Studies, (Provo, Utah: Maxwell Institute, 1997), vol. 6, Issue 2, p. 124-151. Various traditions hold that different Old Testament Prophets, Elijah, Elisha, Ezekiel the temple priest, and several early Christian Saints wore sheepskin clothing. See: F. F. Bruce, The Epistle to the Hebrews, rev. ed. (Grand Rapids: Eerdmans, 1990), 329 n. 291; William L. Lane, Hebrews 9—13 (Dallas: Word Books, 1991), 391; Janet Mayo, A History of Ecclesiastical Dress (London: Batsford, 1984), 17, 27. Genesis 3:21. Sheep skins were some of the animal skins used, in some cases, ritualistically. See also: Rutherford H. Platt Jr., ed., The Forgotten Books of Eden (Cleveland: World Publishing, 1927), 33—34; Graves and Patai, Hebrew Myths, 77—78. Revelation 7:13—14, white garments worn by the Saints, ritualistically connected to animal skins types, the sacrificial Lambs of the Law of Moses. Animal skins, the leather for Adam and Eve's clothing, possibly obtained through ritual sacrifice of an animal. This was a type and shadow of the future sacrifice of Jesus Christ, the Lamb of God, so often mentioned in the Book of Mormon. See Robert S. Candlish, Studies in Genesis (Grand Rapids: Kregel, 1979), 81—82; Franz Delitzsch, A New Commentary on Genesis (Minneapolis: Klock & Klock, 1978), 1:171; Adam Clarke's Commentary (Nashville: Abingdon, 1977), 1:55; Matthew Henry and Thomas Scott, Commentary on the Holy Bible, (Nashville: Nelson, 1979), 1:14. Moses 5:5—7 and Abel's sacrifice of sheep (Moses 5:17, 20). Jacob's ritualistic investiture with sacrificial goatskins in the blessing of the firstborn son. See also: Susan Ackerman, "The Deception of Isaac, Jacob's Dream at Bethel, and Incubation on an Animal Skin," in Priesthood and Cult in Ancient Israel, ed. Gary A. Anderson and Saul M. Olyan (Sheffield: JSOT, 1991), 92—120; see Genesis 27:15—16. Hebrew tradition, Jacob was dressed in the priestly robes of Adam. Ginzberg, Legends of the Jews, 1:332. The whitening, purification types, or ritualistic washing of animal skins as types of Christ washing away of sins, is also part of the animal skins color garment symbolism ritualistic settings. Fuller's soap was a type of the Messiah's cleansing powers. Fuller's soap was used to clean woolen clothing before it was made into garments. Malachi 3:2, prophetically says that the Messiah is like a refiner's fire, and like fullers' soap. What does soap do, it cleans. In ancient Messiah's atonement types, what are being cleaned off spotted ritualistic animal skin garments are the spots of sins. Isaiah 1:16-18: "Wash you, make you clean; put away the evil of our doings from before mine eyes; cease to do evil; Learn to do well; seek judgment, relieve the oppressed, judge the fatherless, plead for the widow. Come now, and let us reason together, saith LORD: though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool." Note the ritualistic washing of animal skins types, with the mention of wool. Also, all throughout the law of Moses & The Book of Mormon prophetic types of Christ, is spotless garment types in unblemish lambs, unspotted lambs, the Lamb of God that is to be without spots or blemishes. Exodus 12:5, 21; Leviticus 14:10; 23:12. Ex.12:3-17; Isa.53:1-12; John 1:29, 36, Acts 8:32-35; 1 Pet.18-20; Rev.5:12-13, 7:13-17, 13:8, 19:7-9, 21:9-27, 22:3. As the garment or animal skins of life are put on to cloth the ancients of their nakedness, & as they were worn, they got soiled, stained, spotted as life went on. The hands becoming soiled, or bloody by choices, the blood & stains on the garments or animal skins need to be washed away. This is the ritualistic types that early to later Christian used as illustrations on how they would be cleaned of their sins. There are many art works that show below Christ on the cross, different ones washing their garments or clothing in the stream of Christ's blood that flows down from Christ crucified. See: Byzantine and Russian Painting, Kostas Papaioannou, Trans. by Janet Sondheimer, Pub. by Funk & Wagnalls, N.Y., pp.82-3, & 90-1; Christ Lore, Being the Legends Traditions Myths Symbols Customs & Superstitions of The Christian Church, by Fredk. W.M. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Pub. in Lon. 1902, Elliot Stock, repub.

by Gale Research Co. Book Tower, Detroit, 1969, p.117, "Washing in the Blood of Christ. From an old Florentine tract in defense of Savonarola." And: The Encyclopedia Of Visual Art, Biographical Dictionary of Artists, by Limburg Brothers - Francisco Ribalta, Pub. by Encyc. Britannica Intern., LTD., Lon., Vol.6, see "Attavante degli Attavanti: Crucifixion, a leaf from the missal illuminated for Thomas James, Bishop of Dol; 1483. Nouveau Musee des Beaux-Arts, Le Havre". This art work shows a number of things of interest. The soul or spirit of one of the persons to Christ's right, who was also crucified along side of him, & who had acknowledged Christ & asked Him if He would remember him when he had entered His kingdom. (Luke 23:32-43). This person's spirit, upon this person's death, is depicted in the arms of an angel. While dark colored demons come to take away the soul or spirit of the other malefactor who had railed on Christ, & who was crucified to the left hand side of Christ. (The Encyc. Of Vis. Art, Vol.6, p.32.) At the foot of the cross, is a scull, which may perhaps be a traditional symbol for the tradition of Adam's grave. See also: Ivory Carvings In Early Medieval England, by John Beckwith, 1972, Harvey Miller & Medcalf, p.84, fig. 152. "Deposition, English (Hereford), about 1150. London, Victoria and Albert Museum [Cat. 88]". Another scull is depicted here at the foot of the cross. Washing clothing in blood types is mentioned in Genesis 49:11-12, in the King James Version, "washed his garments in wine; and his clothes in the blood of grapes". Which reminds us of Christ trampling in the wine press alone, where they would crush grapes, the fluid would flow down into containers. This was a type of Christ's working out the atonement alone. In some art works, Christ is in the wine press, while people wash their garments in the stream of blood color grape fluid flowing from Christ's work to crush and trample the juice from the grapes. Rev. 14:19-20; Isaiah 63:3, New International Version: "I have trodden the winepress alone; from the nations no one was with me. I trampled them in my anger and trod them down in my wrath; their blood spattered my garments, and I stained all my clothing." New Living Translation: "I have been treading the winepress alone; no one was there to help me. In my anger I have trampled my enemies as if they were grapes. In my fury I have trampled my foes. Their blood has stained my clothes." English Standard Version: "I have trodden the winepress alone, and from the peoples no one was with me; I trod them in my anger and trampled them in my wrath; their lifeblood spattered on my garments, and stained all my apparel." King James Bible - Cambridge Edition: "I have trodden the winepress alone; and of the people there was none with me: for I will tread them in mine anger, and trample them in my fury; and their blood shall be sprinkled upon my garments, and I will stain all my raiment." See also: Karen Boren and Teri Williams, Messiah of the Winepress: Christ & the Red Heifer, (Beit Parah Pub., 2002). Like the garments that are to be washed clean of the spots of sins, in this Messiah prophetic type, the Red Heifer is to be spotless. "If we wish to understand the power of Christ's blood, we should go back to the ancient account of its prefiguration in Egypt. "Sacrifice a lamb without blemish," commanded Moses, "and sprinkle its blood on your doors." If we were to ask him what he meant, and how the blood of an irrational beast could possibly save men endowed with reason, his answer would be that the saving power lies not in the blood itself, but in the fact that it is a sign of the Lord's blood. In those days, when the destroying angel saw the blood on the doors he did not dare to enter, so how much less will the devil approach now when he sees, not that figurative blood on the doors, but the true blood on the lips of believers, the doors of the temple of Christ. If you desire further proof of the power of this blood, remember where it came from, how it ran down from the cross, flowing from the Master's side. The gospel records that when Christ was dead, but still hung on the cross, a soldier came and pierced his side with a lance and immediately there poured out water and blood. Now the water was a symbol of baptism and the blood, of the holy Eucharist. The soldier pierced the Lord's side, he breached the wall of the sacred temple, and I have found the treasure and made it my own. So also with the lamb: the Jews sacrificed the victim and I have been saved by it." "There flowed from his side water and blood." Beloved, do not pass over this mystery without thought; it has yet another hidden meaning, which I will explain to you. I said that water and blood symbolised baptism and the holy Eucharist. From these two sacraments the Church is born: from baptism, "the cleansing water that gives rebirth and renewal through the Holy Spirit," and from the holy Eucharist." (From the Catecheses by Saint John Chrysostom, bishop. <http://liturgyhours.wordpress.com/>). The hands do a lot of the sinful acts, the feet walk in the paths of sins, which is why there are washing of hands & feet in ancient mystery religions, including Jewish, early to later Christianity, & Roman mystery religions & Islamic washing rites. Cain having bloodied his hands with the first murder, marked & spotted his animal skins with the sin of murder. Thus, he was cursed & marked. These are the ancient types, rather than the traditional ones that have been passed down, that falsely claims that Cain's actual skin color was changed to darker colors. It is more likely that the mark mentioned, related to ancient color garment animal skins types. Curses be Canaan, (Gen. 9:25), how that Canaan would be a servant, (verse 25), this was used by Christians of slavery days, to justify that the black skin Africans were destined to be slaves. Josephus, the Jewish Historian of the 1st century A.D., wrote that when the Essene would assemble, they would "put on linen aprons, and bath in cold water." This he suggests, was part of their "rite of purification." Their rites also included "white sacred garments" too. In The Forgotten Books of Eden, The First Book of Adam & Eve, the narrative says how Adam & Eve had made fig-leaves and covered themselves & hid from God. "...Seest thou not these figs and their leaves, with which we covered ourselves when we were stripped of our bright nature?" Adam says to Eve, (p.25). Adam again mentions how they were "stripped of their bright nature". The Word (or the pre-existing Christ) again came to Adam and mentions the covenant he had made with them. And goes on to later speak of the road or way back into the Kingdom of Heaven. He was not going to be allowed to go in just yet, but was given the promise that he and his righteous descendants would be allowed to enter into the Kingdom. Christ is said here to have also promised to one day descend into hell. "...I shall descend into hell, and break the gates of brass, and bruise in pieces the kingdoms of iron. Then will I in mercy save thy soul and the souls of the righteous, to give them rest in My garden. And that shall be when the end of the world is come. And, again, as regards the Water of Life thou seekest, it will not be granted thee this day; but on the day that I shall shed My blood upon thy head in the land of Golgotha. For My blood shall be the Water of Life unto thee, at that time, and not to thee alone, but unto all those of thy seed who shall believe in Me; that it be unto them for rest for ever." (26-8). Again this narrative seems to give itself away as being a later Christian work, than one of very ancient antiquity. For a tradition is hinted to here in the words: "...I [Christ] shall shed My blood upon thy" [Adam's] "head in the land of Golgotha. For My blood shall be the Water of Life unto thee, at that time, and not to thee alone,..." (28). In The Forgotten Books of Eden, The First Book of Adam & Eve, we see hints to a traditional place of burial for which Adam's body is said to have been laid to rest in the earth. That place, according to later Christian traditions, which is also reflected in early to later Christian art works, was Golgotha. Thus, Adam's skull is often depicted at the foot of the cross, and Christ's life giving blood flows down upon Adam's skull, and eventually, Adam is said to have been resurrected out of this traditional burial place. Some art works show Christ's blood flowing down into an open pit (symbolic in many cases of the underworld, the place of Adam's grave, perhaps even limbo, & hades). This bloody flowing stream of Christ's blood washes over those who stand under it as it flows down from Christ on the cross. Another faded and somewhat legendized fragment for a baptism for the dead? Those who have thus washed themselves in the blood of Jesus, come out of captivity. In some cases, different concepts of the descent of Christ into the spirit prison, shows up too, in some art works that depict this traditional place of Adam's grave. Some art works, (which may have been based on Rev.7:13-15, Isa.1:15-20, show people washing themselves, &, or their robes or garments in a stream of blood which flows down from Christ on the cross. There is a lot of symbolic meaning behind all this of course. But its interesting to note how such symbolical passages were later literalized by many later Christian artists. When we also consider the use of garments & robes in early Christian mystery dramas, (or ordinances). And the symbolical connections of garments & robes with the descent, baptism, & baptism for the dead, washings & anointings, the resurrection, & deification, etc. We might wonder if such garments & robes in some of these later depictions of this kind could be considered as being possible faded & legendized hint to the garments & robes of the mysteries too? The narrative goes on to say that satan had really not wished to raise Adam on high as he claimed that he did, for he really had it in his mind "...to make thee come out of light into darkness; and from an exalted state to degradation; from glory to abasement; from joy to sorrow;..." etc. (30). Satan had really sought to pull down Adam & Eve further than where they were really at then in their fallen conditions. For rather than bringing them towards deification, as he had claimed that he would do. He really had intended to drag them down towards demonification, where they would become like unto him & his demons. The narrative says that God warned Adam saying: "...know that it" [the fire in hell] "will encompass about both thee and thy seed," [descendants] "when ye hearken to his behest; that he will plague you with fire; and that ye shall go down into hell after ye are dead....There shall be no deliverance from it for you, but at My coming;... [for until then the fire will be too great to pass through] "...until My Word shall come that will make a way for thee on the day My covenant is fulfilled. There is no way for thee at present to come from hence to rest, not until My Word comes, who is My Word. Then will He make a way for thee, and thou shalt have rest." (30). This narrative later goes on to say how that the Word came to Adam & Eve had them cloth themselves in garments made out of the skins of sheep. (33). And then taught them a type & similitude. In that satan had caused them to lose their garment of light & glory. "...This is he who promised you majesty and divinity. Where, then is the beauty that was on him? Where is his divinity? Where is his light? Where is the glory that rested on him? Now his figure is hideous; he is become abominable among angels; and he has come to be called Satan...." (34). The narrative says that the Word said to Adam & Eve that satan had intended on taking away their earthly garment of sheep-skins, and destroy it. Could this garment have helped to protect Adam & Eve against the powers of the devil & his fallen angels? The Word again ask them, what is his (satan's) beauty that you should listen to him. Adam and Eve are also clothed in other garments. (34). Other angels are said to have come down to Adam and Eve. (36). Adam says to these angels: "O Spirits, who wait upon God, look upon me, and upon my being unable to see you! For when I was in my former bright nature, then I could see you..." (36). Adam again notes that he had lost his former bright nature because he had transgressed God's commandment. He asks the angels to restore him to his former state of glory. But the angels point out that he had fallen because he had listen to satan and had believed that satan would fulfil all he had promised him. Later, Adam again was seeking to be restored to his former state of glory, where he would once again be clothed in a garment of light. (37-42) There is further references to anointing, garments, & prayer gestures with up-lifted hands. (68-74). Archaeological Discoveries, (Relative to the Judaeo-Christians), Historical Survey by Ignazio Mancini, O.F.M., Pub. Studium Biblicum Franciscanum, Collection minor #10, Jerusalem, 1970, 165-70, & fig.39, p.166, Adam under Calvary, medieval miniature of Valenciennes, (from LTS 1965, p. 278).

3311- Demonification, the complete opposite of deification, is found in historic Christian types & writings. It's also illustrated in art works too. In The Forgotten Books of Eden, Edited by Rutherford H. Platt, Jr., Assistant Editor J. Alden Brett, Pub. by Alpha House, Inc., 1927, U.S.A., The First Book of Adam & Eve, the narrative tells how Satan had really not wished to raise Adam on high, as he claimed that he did, for he really had it in his mind "...to make thee come out of light into darkness; and from an exalted state to degradation; from glory to abasement; from joy to sorrow;..." p.30. Satan had really sought to pull down Adam & Eve further than where they were really at then in their fallen conditions. For rather than bringing them towards deification, as he had claimed that he would do. He really had intended to drag them down towards demonification, where they would become like unto him & his demons. The narrative says that God warned Adam saying: "...know that it" [the fire in hell] "will encompass about both thee and thy seed," [descendants] "when ye hearken to his behest; that he will plague you with fire; and that ye shall go down into hell after ye are dead....There shall be no deliverance from it for you, but at My coming;... [for until then the fire will be too great to pass through] "...until My Word shall come that will make a way for thee on the day My covenant is fulfilled. There is no way for thee at present to come from hence to rest, not until My Word comes, who is My Word. Then will He make a way for thee, and thou shalt have rest." (Ibid., p.30).

3312- Deification is the early to later Christian concept, that the saints, in the after life heavenly realms, would become like Christ, become gods or goddesses, rank below Christ & the Godhead. The virgin Mary is deified as queen of heaven, passing through a heavenly coronation ceremony as she is being deified. Garments are part of heavenly coronation ceremonies & are illustrated in art in historic Christianity. Diverse versions of deification are seen in how different sects interpreted & argued over what perfection & deification meant, and what the saved would become like in the eternities. Darell Thorpe, Ye are gods. . . Children of the Most High, Deification & Perfection as the Ultimate Reward & Destiny for the Righteous in Eternity, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Religious, Historical & Polemical Studies, January 2000, research file, un-published).

3313- Isa. 1:16-20; Rev. 3:4-5; 7:14; 19:8; Jude 23-24; Eph. 5:26-27; 6:10-19; 2 Cor. 5:1-10. Enoch fell down and worshiped. "...Thereupon the archangel Michael divested him of his earthly robes, and anointed him with oil from the tree of mercy, and clothed him in the raiment of God's glory, and he became like one of the glorious inhabitants of the celestial regions." (Charles and Morfill, The Secrets of Enoch. Angelo S. Rapoport, Ancient Israel Myths & Legends, (NY: Bonanza Books, 1987), 1:23, & note 1. Clement of Alexandria, early Christian Fathers, 153-193-217 AD. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 2:199-200, 206, 215-17, 231, 263, 266, 374, 437, etc.

3314- ANF, vol. 2, p.231, Clement of Alexandria, A.D. 153-193-217, The Instructor, Book 1, chapter 9.

3315- Liturgical Vestments, <http://www.fisheaters.com/vestments.html> In the New Testament, Pilate washed his hands at Christ's trial, symbolic of showing the people that he was innocent of the blood of Christ which the mob sought to take. He knew that they would understand this act. Darell Thorpe, The Armor of Gods, (Protective Skins or Garments In History & Color Symbolism, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Religious, Historical & Polemical Studies, 2012, revised 2013, on line Kindle edition).

3316- Millia Davenport, The Book of Costume, (New York: Crown Publishing, Inc., 1948 & 1976), vol. 1, p. 149, fig. 428, homage type hand clasp. Page 236, fig. 662, hand clasping homage being done between Charles V receiving Louis II, Duke of Bourbon, for the county of Clermont, (1378-9, French. (Paris, Bib. Nat. Estampes.). H. Clay Trumbull, D.D., The Blood Covenant, A Primitive Rite and its Bearings on Scriptures, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1885), <https://archive.org/details/bloodcovenantap04trumgoog> - Hugu Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company), volume 1: Old Testament and Related Subjects, (1986), Nibley, volume 16: The Message of the Joseph Smith Papyri, An Egyptian Endowment, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company, 2005, second edition), 461-532. Donald W. Parry, (Editor), Marion D. Hanks, Hugu W. Nibley, Adrew F. Ehat, Truman G.

Madsen, John M. Lundquist, Stephen D. Ricks, Donald W. Parry, Michael A. Carter, John J. Sroka, John W. Welch, M. Catherine Thomas, William J. Hamblin, Brian M. Hauglid, John A. Tvedtnes, and many others providing research papers, and unpublished works for authors to consider, Temples Of The Ancient World, Ritual and Symbolism, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Desert Book Company, 1994, & Provo, Utah: Foundation For Ancient Research and Mormon Studies). Jeffrey M. Bradshaw, Temple Themes In The Book of Moses, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Publishing, 2010). Ed. by John M. Lundquist, & Stephen D. Ricks, By Study & Also By Faith, (Salt Lake City, & Provo Utah: Deseret Book Company & Foundation for Ancient Research & Mormon Studies, F.A.R.M.S., 1990), volumes 1 & 2. Stephen D. Ricks, & LeGrand L. Barker, Who Shall Ascend Into the Hill of the Lord? The Psalms In Israel's Temple Worship In The Old Testament and in the Book of Mormon, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Books, 2009). Brigham Young University Studies, Vol.21, Winter 1981, #1, p. 17, notes 89-92, The Catholic Liturgy and the Mormon Temple, by Marcus von Wellnitz. See also, for illustrations of the two ways: Illuminated Manuscripts From The Library Of Matthias Corvinus, by Ilona Berkovits, 1964, Pub. by Corvina Press. Budapest, p.71-2, fig.19. Last Judgment (folio 14a, Fig. 19). The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 1, p. 61; Epistle of Ignatius to The Magnesians, chapter 5. Here Ignatius mentions the two ways. Also on p. 148, The Epistle of Barnabas, chapter 18, Barnabas mentions the "two ways" too. Graig Harbison, A Garland Series, Outstanding Dissertations In The Fine Arts, The Last Judgment in Sixteenth Century Northern Europe: A Study of the Relation Between Art and the Reformation, (New York & London: Garland Pub., Inc., 1976), for examples of the two ways. Charles De Tolnay, Hieronymus Bosch, (Holle Verlag, 1965), pp. 109-115; Joseph Gantner & Marcel Pobe, 1956, Romanesque Art In France, (Thames and Hudson), pl. 135, & p. 64; Hughes, 1968, Heaven and Hell In Western Art, p. 188-190; Richard Marks and Nigel Morgan, 1981, The Golden Age of English Manuscript Painting (1200-1500), (New York: George Braziller Inc.), fig. III, Portrait of William de Brailes, Cambridge, Fitzwilliam Museum, MS. 330. Detail from a single leaf of the Last Judgment, p.9.

3317- Frances & Joseph Gies, Daily Life in Medieval Times, A Vivid, Detailed Account of Birth, Marriage and Death; Food, Clothing and Housing; Love and Labor in the Middle Ages, (New York: Barnes & Noble Books, 1969, 1974, illustrated edition, 1990), 26-29. Gertrude Hartman's The World We Live In and How It Came To Be, A Pictured Outline of Man's Progress from the Earliest Days to the Present, (CR 1931 Hartman; New York: The Macmillan Co., 1961): Chapter IX, In Feudal Days; pages 127-142. Robert Fossier (Editor), The Middle Ages, (The Cambridge Illustrated History of The Middle Ages I, 350-950), translated by Janet Sondheimer, (Cambridge University Press 1989), p. 435, etc. Heinz Edgar Kiewe, 1967, The Sacred History of Knitting, (Oxford, England: Art and Needlework Industrial Limited), chapter 13 entitled: The Sack Royal 970-1961 A.D. Anointed, King In Divine Right, In the Sack Royal, p. 57-58, etc. Paintings in the Louvre, by Lawrence Gowing 1987, (New York: Stewart, Tabori and Chang), pp. 35 & 167; Medieval Pageant, by Bryan Holme, (Thames and Hudson, 1987), pp. 28-29; Story of Nations, by Walker Brown, (Holt, Rinehart & Wilson, Inc., 1943), etc., p. 176; A History of the Middle Ages, 284-1500, by Sidney Painter, 1953, p. 430. James Harvey Robinson, PH.D., CR 1902, 1903, 1916, 1918, 1919, Medieval And Modern Times, (Boston, New York, etc., The Athenaeum Press, Ginn and Co., Proprietors, Boston, U.S.A.) pp. 75-76, see also fig. 23.

3318- Hugu Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, (Provo & SLC, Utah: FARMS & Deseret Book, 1987), Vol. 3: The World & The Prophets, 197, 313, notes 9 & 11: Maximilian Bittner, Der vom Himmel gefallene Brief Christi in seinen morgenländischen Versionen und Rezensionen, in Denkschriften der kaiserlichen Akademie der Wissenschaften: Philosophisch-Historische Klasse 51 (Vienna: Hölder, 1906): 71, 107ff.

3319- R.W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, Lon.: Folio Soc., 1998, ix, 129, & n.11, Eadmer, Historia Novorum, ed. M. Rile, Rolls Series, 114. Nicolas Cheetham, Keepers of the Keys, A History of the Popes from St. Peter to John Paul II, NY: Charles Scribner's Sons 1983, 100-113, ch.: Crusades & Investitures, 1085-1154.

3320- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 220, foot note 27, Isa. lxiii I, & xxxiv, 6, with that of the passages of Peter of Blois.

3321- Eric Maple, Superstition & The Superstitious, South Brunswick, NY: A. S. Barnes & Co., 1972, 105.

3322- Oxford English Dictionary, 1933, Clarendon Press, see White, Pure, p. 70 & 1614.

3323- Ecclesiastes 9:8; Daniel 7:9; 11:35; 12:10; Matthew 17:2; Mark 9:3; Luke 9:29; John 20:12; Act 1:10; Revelation 3:4-5; 18; 4:4; 6:11; 7:9; 13-14.

3324- At a Christian web site, "Riding the Best.com," in the article: "Color Symbolism and Color Meaning in the Bible," concerning black we read how "Black is primarily associated with the negative aspects of human experience..." White "is a color of purity and righteousness." Job 6:15-16; Jude 1:12-13.

3325- Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (NY: Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, orig.pub. in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Co. 1900), 173-179, see p. 178.

3326- Edna Barth, Lilies, Rabbits, & Painted Eggs, The Story of the Easter Symbols, NY: Seabury 1970, 44.

3327- Exodus 12:5, 21; Leviticus 14:10; 23:12; "Lamb" are, in many cases, symbolical types of Christ who brought about the atonement, thus Christ was chosen to be the sacrificial lamb before the world began. Ex.12:3-17; Isa.53:1-12; John 1:29, 36, Acts 8:32-35; 1 Pet.18-20; Rev.5:12-13, 7:13-17, 13:8, 19:7-9, 21:9-27, 22:3.

3328- Byzantine and Russian Painting, Kostas Papaioannou, Translated by Janet Sondheimer, Pub. by Funk & Wagnalls, N.Y., p.82-3, & 90-1; Christ Lore, (Being the Legends Traditions Myths Symbols Customs & Superstitions of The Christian Church, by Fredk. W.M. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Pub. in Lon. 1902, Elliot Stock, repub. by Gale Research Co. Book Tower, Detroit, 1969, p.117, "Washing in the Blood of Christ. From an old Florentine tract in defense of Savonarola." And: The Encyclopedia Of Visual Art, Biographical Dictionary of Artists, by Limburg Brothers - Francisco Ribalta, Pub. by Encyc. Britannica Intern., LTD., Lon., Vol.6, see "Attavante degli Attavanti: Crucifixion, a leaf from the missal illuminated for Thomas James, Bishop of Dol; 1483. Nouveau Musee des Beaux-Arts, Le Havre". This art work shows a number of things of interest. The soul or spirit of one of the persons to Christ's right, who was also crucified along side of him, & who had acknowledged Christ & asked Him if He would remember him when he had entered His kingdom. (Luke 23:32-43). This person's spirit, upon this person's death, is depicted in the arms of an angel. While dark colored demons come to take away the soul or spirit of the other malefactor who had nailed on Christ, & who was crucified to the left hand side of Christ. (See also: The Encyc. Of Vis. Art, Vol.6, p.32). At the foot of the cross, is a scull, which may perhaps be a traditional symbol for the tradition of Adam's grave. See also: Ivory Carvings In Early Medieval England, by John Beckwith, 1972, Harvey Miller & Medcalf, p.84, fig. 152. "Deposition. English (Hereford), about 1150. London, Victoria and Albert Museum [Cat. 88]". Another scull is depicted here at the foot of the cross. Washing clothing in blood types is mentioned in Genesis 49:11-12, in the King James Version, "washed his garments in wine; and his clothes in the blood of grapes". Which reminds us of Christ trampling in the wine press alone, where they would crush grapes, the fluid would flow down into containers. This was a type of Christ's working out the atonement alone. In some art works, Christ is in the wine press, while people wash their garments in the stream of blood color grape fluid flowing from Christ's work to crush and trample the juice from the grapes. Rev. 14:19-20; Isaiah 63:3, New International Version: "I have trodden the winepress alone; from the nations no one was with me. I trampled them in my anger and trod them down in my wrath; their blood spattered my garments, and I stained all my clothing." New Living Translation: "I have been treading the winepress alone; no one was there to help me. In my anger I have trampled my enemies as if they were grapes. In my fury I have trampled my foes. Their blood has stained my clothes." English Standard Version: "I have trodden the winepress alone, and from the peoples no one was with me; I trod them in my anger and trampled them in my wrath; their lifeblood spattered on my garments, and stained all my apparel." King James Bible - Cambridge Edition: "I have trodden the winepress alone; and of the people there was none with me: for I will tread them in mine anger, and trample them in my fury; and their blood shall be sprinkled upon my garments, and I will stain all my raiment." See also: Karen Boren and Teri Williams, Messiah of the Winepress: Christ and the Red Heifer, (Beit Parah Publishing, 2002). Like the garments that are to be washed clean of the spots of sins, in this Messiah prophetic type, the Red Heifer is to be spotless. In The Forgotten Books of Eden, The First Book of Adam & Eve, the narrative says how Adam & Eve had made fig-leaves and covered themselves & hid from God. "...Seest thou not these figs and their leaves, with which we covered ourselves when we were stripped of our bright nature?" Adam says to Eve, (p.25). Adam again mentions how they were "stripped of their bright nature". The Word (or the pre-existing Christ) again came to Adam and mentions the covenant he had made with them. And goes on to later speak of the road or way back into the Kingdom of Heaven. He was not going to be allowed to go in just yet, but was given the promise that he and his righteous descendants would be allowed to enter into the Kingdom. Christ is said here to have also promised to one day descend into hell. "...I shall descend into hell, and break the gates of brass, and bruise in pieces the kingdoms of iron. Then will I in mercy save thy soul and the souls of the righteous, to give them rest in My garden. And that shall be when the end of the world is come. And, again, as regards the Water of Life thou seekest, it will not be granted thee this day; but on the day that I shall shed My blood upon thy head in the land of Golgotha. For My blood shall be the Water of Life unto thee, at that time, and not to thee alone, but unto all those of thy seed who shall believe in Me; that it be unto them for rest for ever." (26-8). Again this narrative seems to give itself away as being a later Christian work, than one of very ancient antiquity. For a tradition is hinted to here in the words: "...I" [Christ] "shall shed My blood upon thy" [Adam's] "head in the land of Golgotha. For My blood shall be the Water of Life unto thee, at that time, and not to thee alone,..." (28). In The Forgotten Books of Eden, The First Book of Adam & Eve, we see hints to a traditional place of burial for which Adam's body is said to have been laid to rest in the earth. That place, according to later Christian traditions, which is also reflected in early to later Christian art works, was Golgotha. Thus, Adam's skull is often depicted at the foot of the cross, and Christ's life giving blood flows down upon Adam's skull, and eventually, Adam is said to have been resurrected out of this traditional burial place. Some art works show Christ's blood flowing down into an open pit (symbolic in many cases of the underworld, the place of Adam's grave, perhaps even limbo, & hades). This bloody flowing stream of Christ's blood washes over those who stand under it as it flows down from Christ on the cross. Another faded and somewhat legendized fragment for a baptism for the dead? Those who have thus washed themselves in the blood of Jesus, come out of captivity. In some cases, different concepts of the descent of Christ into the spirit prison, shows up too, in some art works that depict this traditional place of Adam's grave. Some art works, (which may have been based on Rev.7:13-15, see also: Isa. 1:15-20; Jacob 1:18-19; 3 Nephi 27:14-19), show people washing themselves, &, or their robes or garments in a stream of blood which flows down from Christ on the cross. There is a lot of symbolic meaning behind all this of course. But its interesting to note how such symbolical passages were later literalized by many later Christian artists. When we also consider the use of garments & robes in early Christian mystery dramas, (or ordinances). And the symbolical connections of garments & robes with the descent, baptism, & baptism for the dead, washings & anointings, the resurrection, & deification, etc. We might wonder if such garments & robes in some of these later depictions of this kind could be considered as being possible faded & legendized hint to the garments & robes of the mysteries too? The narrative goes on to say that satan had really not wished to raise Adam on high as he claimed that he did, for he really had it in his mind "...to make thee come out of light into darkness; and from an exalted state to degradation; from glory to abasement; from joy to sorrow;..." etc. (30). Satan had really sought to pull down Adam & Eve further than where they were really at then in their fallen conditions. For rather than bringing them towards deification, as he had claimed that he would do. He really had intended to drag them down towards demonification, where they would become like unto him & his demons. The narrative says that God warned Adam saying: "...know that it" [the fire in hell] "will encompass about both thee and thy seed," [descendants] "when ye hearken to his behest; that he will plague you with fire; and that ye shall go down into hell after ye are dead....There shall be no deliverance from it for you, but at My coming;... [for until then the fire will be too great to pass through] "...until My Word shall come that will make a way for thee on the day My covenant is fulfilled. There is no way for thee at present to come from hence to rest, not until My Word comes, who is My Word. Then will He make a way for thee, and thou shalt have rest." (30). This narrative later goes on to say how that the Word came to Adam & Eve had them cloth themselves in a garments made out of the skins of sheep. (33). And then taught them a type & similitude. In that satan had caused them to lose their garment of light & glory. "...This is he who promised you majesty and divinity. Where, then is the beauty that was on him? Where is his divinity? Where is his light? Where is the glory that rested on him? Now his figure is hideous; he is become abominable among angels; and he has come to be called Satan...." (34). The narrative says that the Word said to Adam & Eve that satan had intended on taking away their earthly garment of sheep-skins, and destroy it. Could this garment have helped to protect Adam & Eve against the powers of the devil & his fallen angels? The Word again ask them, what is his (satan's) beauty that you should listen to him. Adam and Eve are also clothed in other garments. (34). Other angels are said to have come down to Adam and Eve. (36). Adam says to these angels: "O Spirits, who wait upon God, look upon me, and upon my being unable to see you! For when I was in my former bright nature, then I could see you..." (36). Adam again notes that he had lost his former bright nature because he had transgressed God's commandment. He asks the angels to restore him to his former state of glory. But the angels point out that he had fallen because he had listen to satan and had believed that satan would fulfil all he had promised him. Later, Adam again was seeking to be restored to his former state of glory, where he would once again be clothed in a garment of light. (37-42). There is further references to anointing, garments, & prayer gestures with up-lifted hands. (68-74). Archaeological Discoveries, (Relative to the Judaeo-Christians), Historical Survey by Ignazio Mancini, O.F.M., Pub. of the Studium Biblicum Franciscanum, Collection minor #10, Jerusalem, 1970, p.165-170, & fig.39, on p.166, Adam under Calvary in a medieval miniature of Valenciennes, with detail of Adam. (from LTS 1965, p. 278).

3329- From the Catecheses by Saint John Chrysostom, bishop. <http://liturgyhours.wordpress.com/>.

3330- J.G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (Lon., Eng.: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 25, n.1: Joannem 25, 2; J.P. Migne, Patrologia Cursus Completus, Series Graeca (Paris: 1857-66, 161 vols), P.G., 59, 151.

- 3331- Liturgical Vestments, at "Fisheaters.com," <http://www.fisheaters.com/vestments.html> Rev.7:14; 19:8. "White symbolizes Purity, virginity, innocence & virtue." Internet article: Meaning of Colors in Christian Art, <http://www.medieval-life-and-times.info/medieval-art/meaning-of-colors-in-christian-art.htm>).
- 3332- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (NY, etc.: Gineeo Books, 2007), 64-65.
- 3333- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (NY, etc.: Gineeo Books, 2007), 64–69. Jonathan Riley-Smith, The Crusades, A Short History, (New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1987). Regine Pernoud, (Editor), Enid McLeod, (Translator), The Crusades, History in the Making, (New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1963, CR Martin Secker & Warburg Ltd., 1962, France title; Les Croisades, CR 1960, Rene Julliard). Steven Runciman, A History of the Crusades, (London: Cambridge University Press, first edition, 1951, 1952, reprinted 1954, 1957, 1962, 1968), vol. 1, The First Crusade, and the Foundation of the Kingdom of Jerusalem, (1951), Volume two, The Kingdom of Jerusalem and the Frankish East, 1100–1187, vol. 3, The Kingdom of Acre and the Later Crusades, (1954). Thomas Asbridge, The Crusades, The Authoritative History of the War for the Holy Land, (New York, New York: EEE and Imprint of Harper Collins Publishers, 2010).
- 3334- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (NY, etc.: Gineeo Books, 2007), 66.
- 3335- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (NY, etc.: Gineeo Books, 2007), 69.
- 3336- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 195.
- 3337- Millia Davenport, The Book of Costume, (NY: Crown Publishing, 1948 & 1976), vol. 1, 242–373. J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 194-97, 203-204.
- 3338- Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History & Myths Revealed, NY: Metro Books, Sterling Pub., 2008, 82-83.
- 3339- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (Lon.: The Folio Society, 1998), 130, note 12. Eadmer, Historia Novorum, 150, ed., M. Rule, Rolls Series.
- 3340- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 215–217. Millia Davenport, The Book of Costume, (New York: Crown Publishing, Inc., 1948 & 1976), vol. 1, p. 190–373. Andrea Hopkins, Knights, The Complete Story of the Age of Chivalry, From Historical Fact to Tales of Romance and Poetry, (London: Chancellor Press, 1999). Charles T. Wood, The Age of Chivalry, Manners and Morals 1000–1440, (New York, U.S.A.; and London, England: University Books, CR 1970 by George Weidenfeld & Nicolson LTD). Grant Uden, A Dictionary of Chivalry, (New York: Thomas Y. Crowell Company, 1968, illustrations by Pauline Baynes, 1968). Jonathan Alexander and Paul Binski, (Editor), Age of Chivalry, Art in Plantagenet England 1200-1400, (Weidenfeld and Nicolson, London: Royal Academy of Arts, London, 1987). National Geographic: The Age of Chivalry, (USA: National Geographic Society, 1969).
- 3341- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 551–53. The Catholic Encyclopedia, vol. VII, article "Indulgences," p. 783. Philip Schaff, History of the Christian Church, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: Wm. B. Eerdmans Publishing Company, 1950), 8 vols., vol. VI, (older editions, Vol. V, part 2, p. 757–58).
- 3342- James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (New York, New York, Doubleday, 2005), 72-73, see also 62-98. Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (New York, London, Toronto, Sydney: Gineeo Books, Atheneum Books for Young Readers, 2007), 83-89.
- 3343- Internet Archives: Erasmus in Praise of Folly, (London: Reeves & Turner, 1876), 154–157. <https://archive.org/details/erasmusinpraise00erasgoog> Desiderius Erasmus, 1465–1536.
- 3344- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 761–62.
- 3345- Terry L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 107–10, 117–18, 156. William G. T. Shedd, D.D., A History of Christian Doctrine, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, third edition, 1883). Vol. II, p. 3-5. <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Traducianism> Internet, Wikipedia, see Traducianism. <http://www.newadvent.org/cathen/15014a.htm> - <https://archive.org/details/completepemsofd00morerich> - <https://archive.org/details/collectionofseve00more>
- 3346- Terry L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 255, 366, end note 46: Thomas Carlyle, Sartor Resartus (Chicago: Scribner's, 1921), 63.
- 3347- Timothy Ballard, The American Covenant, One Nation Under God, Volume I, Discovery Through Revolution, (NY: Digital Legend, 2011), 253, p.272, note 64: Thanksgiving Proclamation 11-1-1777, as quoted by Waldman, Founding Faith, 71, 87.
- 3348- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press 1960, 617, n.3. Immaculate Conception, R. C. Ch.
- 3349- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 551–53. The Catholic Encyclopedia, vol. VII, article "Indulgences," p. 783. Philip Schaff, History of the Christian Church, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: Wm. B. Eerdmans Publishing Company, 1950), 8 vols., vol. VI, older editions, Vol. V, part 2, p. 757–58.
- 3350- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 618–19, foot note 4: Auguste Boulenger, Histoire Générale de l'Eglise, (Paris: Librairie Catholique, Emmanuel Vitte, 1931–1947), 9 vols., vol. IX, p. 407.
- 3351- E. And M. A. Bradford, The Encyclopedia of Superstitions, (NY: Metro Books, 2002), 215.
- 3352- <http://www.thefreedictionary.com/Dark+Age> See the meaning of the era called "the Dark Ages."
- 3353- The Age of Enlightenment was described by famous philosopher, Baron d'Holbach, as this: "Let us then endeavor to disperse those clouds of ignorance, those mists of darkness, which impede man in his journey, which block his progress, which prevent his marching through life with a firm and steady step. Let us try to inspire him...with respect for his own reason-with an inextinguishable love of truth...." Preserve Articles, Short Essay on the Meaning Age of Enlightenment, SAMIR Short Essays, preservearticles.com
- 3354- Marion P. Ireland, Textile Art in the Church, (NY; Nashville: Abingdon Press, 1966, 67, & 1971), 73.
- 3355- E. And M. A. Bradford, The Encyclopedia of Superstitions, (NY: Metro Books, 2002), 350.
- 3356- E. And M. A. Bradford, The Encyclopedia of Superstitions, (NY: Metro Books, 2002), 350-51.

3357- Liturgical Vestments, <http://www.fisheaters.com/vestments.html>

3358- Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 150.

3359- James Reston Dogs of God, Columbus the Inquisition & the Defeat of the Moors NY: Doubleday 2005, 39

3360- Internet Archives, <https://archive.org/details/GiambattistaTiepolo16961770> - Keith Christiansen ed., essays by others. Giambattista Tiepolo, 1696-1700, (NY: The Metropolitan Museum of Art, Harry N. Abrams, 1996, 144–47, fig. 5.2. <https://www.nortonsimon.org/art/detail/F.1972.26.P> - https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:Giovanni Battista Tiepolo 091.jpg - Different interpretations for this picture have been given on different blogs, & on a card that has the picture. The consistent interpretation for white clothing being positive traits, virtue, purity.

3361- The term "darken the hearts," (Romans 1:16-21), is colored symbolism to indicate an unrepentant sinner retrogressing in their own apostasy from God. The opposite color of black represents progression towards deification. Jeffery Burton Russell's 3 books: Satan, The Early Christian Tradition; Lucifer, The Devil In The Middle Ages; The Prince of Darkness. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 1:7, 17, 55, 61, 87, 139, Barnabas, iv; mentions Satan as "the Black One," & p.148—49; The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 4:509, 526-7, 538, 544-5, 547-51, 563, 589, 591-96, 602, 638, 640-1, 645-51, & 658, Origen Against Celsus; Italy, p.200—01; Batterberry, Art of the Early Renaissance, pl.130, p.120-21; McDannell & Lang, Heaven: A History, p.113, pl.10, p.129, pl.19.

3362- ANF, 1:549 & 550, Against Heresies, book 4, chap. 21:2 & 3; Russell, The Prince of Darkness, p.65.

3363- Russell, The Prince of Darkness, p.54; The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol.1, p.133, 139, 148.

3364- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 1: p.139.

3365- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 107, 345, n.31–32. Arnobius, Against the Heathen, I.29, II.47, 51, ANF, 6:420, 451–53.

3366- Fredk. WM. Hackwood, Christ Lore (Being the Legends, Traditions, Myths, Symbols, & Superstitions of The Christian Church), (London: 1902, repub. Detroit: Gale Research Co., Book Tower, 1969), 2, <https://archive.org/stream/christlorebeing00hackgoog/page/n23/mode/2up> – tanners played the fall of Lucifer. <https://archive.org/details/christlorebeing00hackgoog> – 1902 edition: <https://archive.org/details/ChristLore> – Sylvan Barnet, Morton Berman & William Burto, (Editors, Introduction), The Genius of the Early English Theater, The Complete Texts of Seven Great Plays Of Medieval and Renaissance English Drama, (New York, New York & Scarborough, Ontario: A Mentor Book from New American Library, Times Mirror, The New English Library Limited, London, 1962), 103–166, Doctor Faustus. See also: Elizabeth R. Hayes, The Evolution of Visual, Literary, and Performing Arts, From Tribal Cultures Through The Middle Ages, (Herriman, Utah: Blue Ribbon Books, 2004, Freethinker Press), 200–203, Mystery plays of the Middle Ages, those who played devils were dressed as hairy, black devils with pitchforks. See also: Oscar G. Brockett, History of the Theatre, (Boston, London, Sydney & Toronto: Allyn and Bacon, Inc., 1968, 1974, 1977, 1982, fourth edition), 118–152, p. 133, figure 5.10, redrawing of a fresco in the Chapel of the Holy Cross, Stratford-on-Avon. From: Thmas Sharp, (1770–1841), A Dissertation on the Pageants or Dramatic Mysteries, (1825). Links often subjected to changes : <https://archive.org/details/dissertationonpa00sharuoft> – <https://archive.org/details/dissertationonpa00sharuoft> dark devils, with horns on head, & tails. Also: John Russell Brown, The Oxford Illustrated History of Theatre, (Oxford, New York: Oxford University Press, 1995), 63–92. Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 266, difficult times symbolically called “long dark times,” with Mystery plays, where different ones would play the part of demons with horns, forked tails, horrible masks.

3367- Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900). Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black & White, (New York, London, Toronto & Sydney: Gineeo Books, 2007). Bernard J. Bamberger, Fallen Angels, Soldiers of Satan's Realm, (Philadelphia, Jewish Publication Society of America, 1952). Gustav Davidson, 1967, A Dictionary Of Angels, Including the Fallen Angels, (New York; London: The Free Press, and Collier-Macmillan Limited). Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca, London: Cornell Un. Press, 1981). Lucifer, The Devil In The Middle Age, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1984). The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell Un. Press, 1988). A History of Heaven, The Singing Silence, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1997). Merritt Y. Hughes, editor, John Milton Complete Poems and Major Prose, (Indianapolis: The Bobbs-Merrill Company, Inc., The Odyssey Press, 1957), 207– 530, first published in London, 1674, as Paradise Lost A Poem in Twelve Books. And: Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company), vol. 2: Enoch The Prophet, (1986). Walter Kaufmann, Goethe's Faust, The Original German and New Translation & Introduction, by Walter, (New York: Anchor Books, A Division of Random House, Inc., 1961, Anchor 1963, & 1990). Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978). Carl A. Raschke, Painted Black, From Drug Killings to Heavy Metal—The Alarming True Story of How Satanism is Terrorizing our Communities, (New York, New York: Harper Paperbacks, 1990). Maury Terry, The Ultimate Evil, (Garden City, New York: Dolphin Book, Doubleday and Company, 1987). Richard Cavendish, The Black Arts, (New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1967). Richard Cavendish, editor, Man, Myth & Magic, (New York: Marshal Cavendish, 1983), 11 volumes.

3368- Internet links are always subject to possible changes, & may , or may not always work by this time. <https://www.amazon.fr/PROTECTIVE-GARMENTS-HISTORY-SYMBOLISM-English-ebook/dp/B00DP476FA> – Darell Thorpe, The Armor of Gods (Protective Skins or Garments in History & Color Symbolism), (Kindle edition, 2012). Examples of dark colors, black, & blackness associated with evil thoughts, evil deeds, negative traits. Rom.1:16-21, 8:7, James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (New York, New York, Doubleday, 2005), 158-59. Edward Timperlake & William C. Triplett II, Year of the Rat, How Bill Clinton Compromised U.S. Security for Chinese Cash, (Washington D.C.: Regnery Pub., 1998), 87. Dan Bridody, The Halliburton Agenda, The Politics of Oil and Money, (New Jersey, U.S.A., and Canada: John Wiley & Sons, Inc., 2004), 169 & 204, etc. Ji Li Jiang, Red Scarf Girl, A Memoir of The Cultural Revolution, (New York, New York: Harper Trophy, A Division of Harper Collins Publishers, 1977), 47, 58, 74, 101, 102-103, 108-109, 214, 220, 224, 232-33, 250, 269, 273, 277. Marietta Davis, 1823-1848, Caught Up Into Heaven, (New Kensington, PA: Whitaker House, 1999), 11, 13, 16-17, 21-26, 28, 34-48, 57-63, 69-73, 78-96, 116, 122-24, 128-129, 132-135, 140, 144, 147, 151, 154, 162, 170, 177-180, Isa.1:18; 61:10. Donald Thomas, The Victorian Underworld, (Washington Square, New York: New York University Press, 1998), 1–8, Prologue, Darkest England, darkness used as a type for criminal activities, negative criminal environments created by dark choices of individuals, gangs & power hungry corrupt cops & politicians. See other chapters in said book.

3369- Keith Thomas, Religion & the Decline of Magic, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1971). Eric Maple, Superstition and the Superstitious, (South Brunswick, New York: A. S. Barnes & Company, 1971, first American Edition, 1972, Cranbury, New Jersey). E. And M. A. Radford, The Encyclopedia of Superstitions, (USA: Metford, 2002). Fredk, WM. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Christ Lore (Being the Legends, Traditions, Myths, Symbols, & Superstitions of The Christian Church), (London: 1902, republished, Detroit: Gale Research Company, Book Tower, 1969). <https://archive.org/details/christlorebeing00hackgoog> – <https://archive.org/details/ChristLore> – (1902 edition). Iona Opie and Moira Tatem, (Editors), A Dictionary of Superstitions, (Oxford, New York: Oxford University Press, 1989). Louis Herbert Gray, A.M., PH.D., Editor, George Foot Moore, A.M., D.D., LL.D. The Mythology of All Races (Boston: Marshall Jones Company, 1917; New York: Cooper Square, 1964), thirteen volumes. Internet Archives: <https://archive.org/search.php?query=The%20Mythology%20of%20All%20Races> – Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (New York, London, Toronto & Sydney: Ginee seo Books, 2007). Daniel Lawrence O'Keefe, Stolen Lightning, (Continuum Publishing Company, 1982). Sir James Frazer, The Golden Bough, A Study in magic and religion, (Ware, Hertfordshire: Wordsworth Editions, LTD., Cumberland House, 1993), The Golden Bough by Sir J.G. Frazer (3rd Ed. 1932). Dr. Theodor H. Gaster, The New Golden Bough, A New Abridgment of the Classic Work by Sir James George Frazer, Edited, and with Notes & Forward, by Gaster, (New York, New York: Criterion Books, Inc., 1959, paper back edition, A Mentor Book from New American Library, Times Mirror). https://archive.org/details/golden_bough_0904_librivox – <https://archive.org/details/goldenbough035510mbp> – <https://archive.org/details/cu31924021569086> - (1890 edition). See links that may, but may not still be working. Internet article: <https://recipes.hypotheses.org/149> – Magic or Medicine? Healing Charms in Fifteenth-Century English Recipe Collections, by Laura Mitchell, 2012. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Medieval_medicine_of_Western_Europe – Medieval medicine of Western Europe. See also: Alexander Macgregor, Highland Superstitions: Connected with the Druids, Fairies, Witchcraft, Second-sight, Hallowe'en, Sacred Wells & Lochs, With Several Curious Instances of Highland Customs & Beliefs, (London: Gibbings & Co., Limited, 1901), <https://archive.org/details/highlandsuperst00macgggoog> – Howard Williams, M. A., The Superstitions of Witchcraft, (London: Longman, Green, Longman, Roberts, & Green, 1865). Links always subject to possible changes: <https://archive.org/details/superstitionswi01willgoog> – <https://archive.org/details/superstitionswi00willgoog> – William R. Sunman, Superstitions of the Church: Ancient and Modern, (Manchester: Tubbs & Brook, Market Street & Simpkin & Co., Stationers' Hall Court, 1874). <https://archive.org/details/superstitionsch00sunmgoog> – Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978). Michael Kerrigan, A Dark History: Catholic Church, Schisms, Wars, Inquisitions, Witch Hunts, Scandals, Corruption, (New York: Metro Books, 2014).

3370- Jeffrey Burton Russell, Lucifer, The Devil In the Middle Age, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1984). The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988). Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Ernst and Johanna Lehner, Devils, Demons, Death and Damnation, (New York: Dover Pictorial Archive Series, Dover Publishing Inc., 1971). Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (New York, San Diego, U.S.A.; London, England: Harcourt Brace & Company). Daniel Defoe, The History of the Devil, (Boston: D. C. Strong, 1851), <https://archive.org/details/cu31924013176452> – Earlier publication: (Boston: Dow & Jackson, 1845, sixth edition), <https://archive.org/stream/historyofdevilin00deforich#page/n5/mode/2up> – <https://archive.org/details/historyofdevilin00deforich> Michael Wood, In Search of the Dark Ages, (New York, New York, Oxford, England: Facts On File Publications, 1987). Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978). Eric Maple, Superstition and the Superstitious, (South Brunswick, New York: A. S. Barnes & Company, 1971, first American Edition, 1972, Cranbury, New Jersey). E. And M. A. Radford, The Encyclopedia of Superstitions, (USA: Metford, 2002). Fredk, WM. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Christ Lore (Being the Legends, Traditions, Myths, Symbols, & Superstitions of The Christian Church), (London: 1902, republished, Detroit: Gale Research Company, Book Tower, 1969). Iona Opie and Moira Tatem, (Editors), A Dictionary of Superstitions, (Oxford, New York: Oxford University Press, 1989).

3371- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (NY, etc.: Ginee seo Books, 2007). Winthrop D. Jordan, White Over Black, American Attitudes Towards the Negro 1550–1812, (Baltimore, Maryland: Penguin Books Inc., 1968, 1969, paper back edition. First published by University of North Carolina Press for the Institute of Early American History and Culture of Williamsburg, Virginia, Chapel Hill, 1968). David W. Blight, Editor, Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass, (Boston, New York: Bedford Books, 1993), 104–109, APPENDIX, Frederick Douglass, Lynn, Mass., April 28, 1845. Nancy Isenberg, White Trash, The 400-Year Untold History of Class in America, (New York, New York: Viking, Penguin Random House, LLC, 2016). Peter Kolchin, American Slavery, 1619–1877, (New York: Hill and Wang, A division of Farrar, Straus and Giroux, 1993, 2003). Edmund S. Morgan, American Slavery American Freedom, The Ordeal of Colonial Virginia, (New York: W. W. Norton & Company 1975, 1995, Norton paperback edition). Trevor Burnard, Mastery, Tyranny, & Desire, Thomas Thistlewood & His Slaves In The Anglo-Jamaican World, (Chapel Hill and London: The University of North Carolina Press, 2004). Gary B. Nash, Race and Revolution, (New York, Lanham, Boulder, Oxford: A Madison House Book, Rowman A Littlefield Publication, Inc., 1990, Rowman edition, 2001). Frederick Douglass, My Bondage and My Freedom, Part I. – Life as a Slave. Part II. Life as a Freeman, (New York & Auburn: Miller, Orton & Mulligan, 1855, New York: Dover Publications Inc., 1969). David W. Blight (Editor, with Introduction, Yale University), Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass, an American Slave, Written by Himself, With Related Documents, (NY, Boston: Bedford St. Martin's 2003, second edition). Leslie Howard Owens, This Species of Property, Slave Life and Culture in the Old South, (Oxford, New York: Oxford University Press, 1976). Jill Lepore, New York Burning, Liberty, Slavery, and Conspiracy in Eighteenth-Century Manhattan, (New York: Vintage Books, A Division of Random House, Inc., 2005, 2006). Ida B. Wells, (Jacqueline Jones Royster, Editor & Introduction, Ohio State University), Southern Horrors and Other Writings, The Anti-Lynching Campaign of Ida B. Wells, 1892–1900, (New York, Boston: Bedford/St. Martin's 1997). William H. Prescott, (1796–1859), History of the Conquest of Mexico and History of the Conquest of Peru, (New York: the Modern Library, Random House, Inc., Date?). Buddy Levy, Conquistador, Hernán Cortés, King Montezuma, and the Last Stand of the Aztecs, (New York, New York: Bantam Dell, A Division of Random House, Inc., 2008). Jonathan Riley-Smith, The Crusades, A Short History, (New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1987). Regine Pernoud, (Editor), Enid McLeod, (Translator), The Crusades, History in the Making, (New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1963, CR Martin Secker & Warburg Ltd., 1962, France title; Les Croisades, CR 1960, Rene Julliard). Steven Runciman, A History of the Crusades, (London: Cambridge University Press, first edition, 1951, 1952, reprinted 1954, 1957, 1962, 1968), vol. 1, The First Crusade, and the Foundation of the Kingdom of Jerusalem, (1951), Volume two, The Kingdom of Jerusalem and the Frankish East, 1100–1187, vol. 3, The Kingdom of Acre and the Later Crusades, (1954). Thomas Asbridge, The Crusades, The Authoritative History of the War for the Holy Land, (New York, New York: EEE and Imprint of Harper Collins Publishers, 2010).

3372- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (New York, London, Toronto & Sydney: Gineeo seo Books, 2007). Winthrop D. Jordan, White Over Black, American Attitudes Towards the Negro 1550–1812, (Baltimore, Maryland: Penguin Books Inc., 1968, 1969, paper back edition. First published by University of North Carolina Press for the Institute of Early American History and Culture of Williamsburg, Virginia, Chapel Hill, 1968). Dr. Paul Carus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900). Emyl Jenkins, The Book of American Traditions, Stories, Customs, and rites of passage to celebrate our cultural heritage, (NY: Crown Publishers, Inc., 1996). Samuel Eliot Morison, The European Discovery of America, The Northern Voyages, A.D. 500–1600, (New York: Oxford University Press, 1971). John Eidsmoe, Columbus & Cortez, Conquerors for Christ, (Greenforest, Arizona: New Leaf Press, 1992, fourth printing June 1998). Kirkpatrick Sale, The Conquest of Paradise, Christopher Columbus and the Columbian Legacy, (New York, London: A Plume Book, Penguin Books, 1990, Plume printing, 1991). William H. Prescott, (1796–1859), History of the Conquest of Mexico and History of the Conquest of Peru, (NY: The Modern Library, Random House, Inc., Date?). James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (NY: Doubleday, 2005).

3373- B.Y.U. Studies, Vol.22, Winter 1982, #1, pp.31-45, Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity, by Blake Ostler.) Darell Thorpe, The Armor of Gods (Protective Skins or Garments in History & Color Symbolism), (Kindle Edition, 2012). Links sometimes subject to deletions, changes, or may still work. <https://www.amazon.fr/PROTECTIVE-GARMENTS-HISTORY-SYMBOLISM-English-ebook/dp/B00DP476FA> – Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985. Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History and Myths Revealed, (New York: Metro Books, an imprint of Sterling Publishing, 2008), 19, 26–32, 38–39, 51–52, 83–84, 182. Walter Leslie Wilmshurst, 1867–1939, The Meaning of Masonry, (New York: Gramercy Books, Crown Publishers, Inc., 1980), 9, 12, 31–43, 48–52, 72–80, 96–97, 99–169, 173–216. Links may or may not still work & are subject to changes at times. https://archive.org/details/The_Meaning_Of_Masonry_-_W_L_Wilmshurst_-_CELEBRATIONS,_The_Complete_Book_of_American_Holidays,_by_Robert_J._Myers,_with_The_Editors_of_Hallmark_Cards,_Garden_City,_New_York:_Doubleday_&_Co.,1972\),_108_&_156-7._Lillie_Patterson,_1968,_A_Holiday_Book,_Christmas_Feasts_and_Festivals,_Champaign,_Illinois:_Garrard_Publishers_Company\),_21–22._Aileen_Fisher,_A_Crowell_Holiday_Book,_Easter,_New_York:_Thomas_Y._Crowell_Co.,_1968\),_pages_not_numbered._Sir_Paul_Harvey,_The_Oxford_Companion_to_English_Literature,_London,_Edinburgh_Glasgow,_etc.,_Oxford_University_Press,_1932,_March_1933,_At_the_Clarendon_Press\),_p._841._http://www.archive.org/details/oxfordcompanion011492mbp,_108_&_156-7._Lillie_Patterson,_1968,_A_Holiday_Book,_Christmas_Feasts_and_Festivals,_Champaign,_Illinois:_Garrard_Publishers_Company),_21–22._Aileen_Fisher,_A_Crowell_Holiday_Book,_Easter,_New_York:_Thomas_Y._Crowell_Co.,_1968),_pages_not_numbered._Sir_Paul_Harvey,_The_Oxford_Companion_to_English_Literature,_London,_Edinburgh_Glasgow,_etc.,_Oxford_University_Press,_1932,_March_1933,_At_the_Clarendon_Press),_p._841._http://www.archive.org/details/oxfordcompanion011492mbp) – The Facts On File Encyclopedia Of World Mythology And Legend, by Anthony S. Mercatante, 1988, Facts On File, N.Y., Oxford, p.673. Winchester England Priory of St Swithun or Hyde Abbey 1121- 1161 Winchester Psalter Psalter of Henry of Blois Psalter of St Swithun -Baptism of Christ, angel holds the traditional white baptismal robes. Symbolic of putting on new clothing. Thus, later Easter traditions of Whitesunday, became the later Easter traditions of giving and getting new clothing. Darell Thorpe, internet article: Passover, Easter & Garment Types of Deification in the Resurrection (Easter Sunday, 4-8-2012), <http://drivetimetolivearchivespromosources.blogspot.com/> – 18th cent. Russian Icon of the Baptism of Christ. Also: Angels hold the traditional white baptismal garments. 9th cent. Cross Pascal Vat. Reliquary cross of Pope Pascal- Lower section show the Baptism of Christ with the angel holding the white baptismal robe. Also: Hans Memling 1440 1494 Last Judgement Triptych in Muzeum Narodowe Gdansk Poland 3, Peter clasps hands of souls on right hand side of Christ's judgment, these souls are naked, but are clothed in white clothing, by angels, as they go towards the doors of paradise. Also: Matfré Ermengau of Béziers Breviari d'Amor Catalan prose version- f-40- soul ride up on protective blanket - last quarter of 14th century. And: Icon with the Koimesis, Falling Asleep of the Virgin Mary, late 10th cent Byzantine - Christ wraps the spirit of the Virgin Mary in protective swaddling clothing, an Angels descend with ascension robes to further protect her spirit during her assumption into heaven. And: Angels carrying the soul of St Bertin to heaven - From an altarpiece by Simon Marmion 1480. The soul rides up on a protective blanket in the care of guardian angels. Also: Book of Hours, Use of Rome- Netherlands, S- c. 1440- Naked souls ride up to paradise on blanket, Angels also for protection, God above blesses their ascension out of their graves. British Library. And: Book of Hours, Use of Sarum- Netherlands, S- 2nd or 3rd quarter of the 15th century- soul rides up to heaven on white protective blanket, with guardian angels. British Library). Also: Book of Hours, Use of Sarum -Netherlands, S Bruges c 1490- Soul wrapped up in protective blanket with Abraham in paradise - Demon attempt to harm soul. British Library. Also: J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962). Pater Cramer, Baptism and change in the early Middle Ages, c. 200-c. 1150, (Cambridge, England; New York, New York, USA: Cambridge University Press, 1993). Thomas Armitage, D.D., LL.D., A History Of The Baptists, (New York: Bryah, Taylor, & Chicago: Morningside, 1887). Internet Archives, 1887 edition: <https://archive.org/details/ahistorybaptist00armigoog> – <https://archive.org/details/historyofbaptis00armi> (1893 edition). Clifford Davidson, Editor, The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, and Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Kalamazoo, Michigan: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan University, 1994). Colleen McDannell and Bernhard Lang, Heaven: A History, (New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1988). Jeffrey Burton Russell, A History of Heaven, The Singing Silence, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1997). Mabel Williams & Marcia Dalphin, (Editors), The Junior Classics, The Young Folks' Shelf of Books, (U.S.A.: P. F. Collier & Son Corporation, 1938, 1948, 1949, 1961), vol. 4, 185– 222, Hero Tales, see: Stories From the Chronicle of The Cid, by Mark Wright Plummer, illustrations by D. J. Luis Pellicer, in this story, a leper is treated kindly, given a place to sleep, he transforms into his true identity as St. Lazarus, clothed in white garments, according to the legend. Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 60, top of ivory carving, depicting the death of Thomas Becket, his soul is riding up to heaven on a white blanket, held on each side by probably angel figures.

3374- Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, Boston: Houghton Mifflin 1968, 48–51, 78, about year 1200, candidates for knighthood would be cleansed of their former sins by a ceremonial bath, they would be donned in clean white clothes. Pages 92, & 94, 99–100, red cross-cloth symbol on clothing for vowing to go on a crusade, 1095 A.D., 1118, white cross symbol, & Benedictine monastic vows, to help & care for the sick pilgrims in Jerusalem. Pages 121, 128, 131, white clothing & other clothing as symbolic of class status. Page 141, a knight seeks to be buried in a monk's robe, with a post-death sort of legendized washing, or baptism(?), in that some people during the 13th century, before they died, they asked to be buried beneath the walls of the church so that the rainwater blessed them by having first had contact with the roof of the church. Page 150, 11th century-chronicler, as a type of goodness, the world was said to be "clothed in the white garments of the churches." Page 154, baptismal robes of infants. Page 161, Monks' gowns varied in cut and color, according to the different Monastic orders. Some clothed in garments of coarse material. Page 162, boredom described as “black boredom,” thus black symbolic as a negative trait. Pages 163–64, clothed in sheepskins, symbolic of dedication to helping the poor. St. Francis, said to change his fine clothes for beggar’s rags. Gray-brown tunics symbolic for the Italians as beast color. Thus, different types of clothing & colors, as symbolic of removing themselves of material wealth, renouncing all worldly goods, becoming humble beggars, to develop humility, & other monastic traits, according to their vows of poverty, or other vows & commitments. Pages 197, 199, 201, 205–6, expensive good clothing as status symbols, Lordy garments, yellow patch star of David to mark the Jews, also dress in a horned cap. Page 232, black costume, symbolic of negative, situations, lepers, white patches on black to be seen, and warn people that the person is a leper? Page 242, educational clothing symbol, master degree reached, person is crowned with a master’s cap. Page 266, difficult, negative times called “long dark times.” Page 272, the “white robe of churches” that covers Europe, is a wonder & delight, thus white robes as a positive type & symbol. Page 295, noblesse de robe, gowns symbolic of magistrates and government officials. Page 309, 15th century, a personified death, black in color, with white burial clothing on him & covering a coffin in left hand, symbolic of death & burial.

3375- Clifford Davidson, Editor, The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, and Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Kalamazoo, Michigan: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan University, 1994). Colleen McDannell and Bernhard Lang, Heaven: A History, (New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1988). John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1954). Richard Cavendish, The Black Arts, (New York: G. P. Putnam’s Sons, 1967). Richard Cavendish, editor, Man, Myth & Magic, (New York: Marshal Cavendish, 1983), 11 volumes. Daniel Lawrence O’ Keefe, Stolen Lightning, (Continuum Publishing Company, 1982). Keith Thomas, Religion & the Decline of Magic, (New York: Charles Scribner’s Sons, 1971). Sir James Frazer, The Golden Bough, A Study in magic and religion, (Ware, Hertfordshire: Wordsworth Editions, LTD., Cumberland House, 1993), The Golden Bough by Sir J.G. Frazer (3rd Ed. 1932). Dr. Theodor H. Gaster, The New Golden Bough, A New Abridgment of the Classic Work by Sir James George Frazer, Edited, and with Notes & Forward, by Gaster, (New York, New York: Criterion Books, Inc., 1959, paper back edition, A Mentor Book from New American Library, Times Mirror). Anthony S. Mercatante, The Facts On File Encyclopedia Of World Mythology And Legend, (Oxford, New York: Facts On File, 1988). Arthur Cotterell, The Macmillan Illustrated Encyclopedia of Myths & Legends, (New York: Macmillan Publishing Company, CR 1989, by Marshall Editions Limited). Carl A. Raschke, Painted Black, From Drug Killings to Heavy Metal—The Alarming True Story of How Satanism is Terrorizing our Communities, (New York, New York: Harper Paperbacks, 1990). Ean Begg, The Cult of the Black Virgin, (London, England: Penguin Books, 1985, first published in Arkana, revised 1996). Johannes Nohl, The Black Death, A Chronicle of the Plague, (Yardley, Pennsylvania: Westholme, first paper back edition, 2006, originally published in 1926, by George Allen & Unwin Ltd.). Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (New York, London, Toronto & Sydney: Ginee seo Books, 2007). Rev. Alexander Hislop, The Two Babylons (or The Papal Worship Proved to be the Worship of Nimrod and His Wife), (England: A & C Black, LTD., 1916; American editions, Neptune, New Jersey: Loizeaux Brothers, 1943 and 1956). Maury Terry, The Ultimate Evil, (Garden City, New York: Dolphin Book, Doubleday and Company, 1987).

3376- David Pickering, Cassell, Dictionary of Superstitions, Strand, Lon.: Wellington House, 1995, A Cassell Book, 1995, 34.

3377- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (NY, etc.: Ginee seo Books, 2007), 99-103.

3378- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (NY, etc.: Ginee seo Books, 2007), 99-100.

3379- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (NY, etc.: Ginee seo Books, 2007), 102.

3380- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (NY, etc.: Ginee seo Books, 2007), 100.

3381- Art depicts Satan as a normal looking angel before his fall, he even has a halo around his head. The traditional wings of an angel are spread out behind him. And he has not been "darkened" yet by his fall, having not fallen yet. Dark colors were used in early to later Christendom to suggest the retrogression process of someone's apostasy. In the case with the angels who apostatized, they are seen as bright beings before their fall, or apostasy from heaven & against God. But in their fall from heaven, they underwent a change, in that there minds, spirits, & ways were "blackened". Meaning that they had become evil rebellious beings who sought after darkness rather than light. Who now still seek to pervert anything good by turning it into evil things. Thus, this symbolical term should not be confused with actual skin color of a race. But rather, its symbolic of the evils & sins that one does. It is possible, however, that this symbolism was connected in the minds of many later Christians to be literal, as though a persons skin color had something to do with racial superiority or inferiority. For in earlier centuries, though some art works show the devil and his angels as normal looking beings, or in other cases, as bright beings before their fall. There are others which show the changes they went through after their fall. In fact, they are depicted as dark colored beings in some cases. While in others, they are gross monstrous looking beings with dark skins, horns, claws, & sharp teeth, etc. Perhaps symbolic of their evil & fallen conditions. Consequently, in later ages of Christendom, this may have been considered to be literally how they looked. (Dr. Paul Carus, The History of the Devil, And The Idea of Evil, From the Earliest Times to the Present Day, (Open Court Pub. Co.), p.462-3, "LUCIFER BEFORE THE FALL. From the Horus Deliciarum." (Ibid., p.462). And: "THE FALLEN LUCIFER. (After Dore.)", (Ibid., p.463); Jeffery Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness. The Forgotten Books of Eden.

3382- L.M.J. Delaisse, Medieval Miniatures, from the Department of Manuscripts, formerly the Library of Burgundy, The Royal Library of Belgium, NY: Harry Abrams, 96-98, creation & fall of the Angels, Historiated Bible of Guiard Des Moulins, 1st part Paris 1410. Ms. 9001, f.19. Jeffrey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness.

3383- Right Rev. Charles Joseph Hefele, D.D., Late Bishop of Rottenburg, Formerly Professor of Theology in the University of Tübingen, A History of the Councils of the Church, From the Original Documents, (T. & T. Clark, 38 George Street, U.S.A.: Edinburgh, 1895; translated from German and edited by William R. Clark, M.A., HON. LL.D., F.R.S.C., Professor of Philosophy in Trinity College, Toronto; HON. Professor in Hobart College, Geneva, NY. First AMS ed. published in 1972; (NY, NY: AMS Press, Inc., 1972), vol. 4, p. 226, (AD 451-680).

3384- David Pickering, Cassell, Dictionary of Superstitions, (Strand, London: Wellington House, 1995, A Cassell Book, 1995), p. 34, see black.

3385- James Reston Dogs of God, Columbus the Inquisition & the Defeat of the Moors, NY Doubleday 2005, 116.

3386- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (NY, etc.: Ginee seo Books, 2007), 121.

3387- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (NY, etc.: Ginee seo Books, 2007), 75.

3388- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 64.

- 3389- Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 274–321, etc. Jeffrey Burton Russell, Lucifer, The Devil In the Middle Ages, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1984). Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988). Keith Thomas, Religion & the Decline of Magic, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1971). Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978). Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (New York, London, Toronto & Sydney: Gineeo Books, 2007). Johannes Nohl, The Black Death, A Chronicle of the Plague, (Yardley, Pennsylvania: Westholme, first paper back edition, 2006, originally published in 1926, by George Allen & Unwin Ltd.). Fredk, WM. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Christ Lore (Being the Legends, Traditions, Myths, Symbols, & Superstitions of The Christian Church), (London: 1902, republished, Detroit: Gale Research Company, Book Tower, 1969). J.C.J Metford, Dictionary of Christian Lore and Legend, (London, England: Thames and Hudson, 1983). Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968).
- 3390- Paul Carcus 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books 1996, 282–87.
- 3391- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (NY, etc.: Gineeo Books, 2007), 74.
- 3392- Editors of Time-Life Books, The Enchanted World, Ghosts, (Alexandria, Virginia: Time-Life Books, 1984, series entitled The Enchanted World, Series Director, Ellen Phillips, & others, chief series consultant, Tristram Potter Coffin, Professor of English at University of Pennsylvania), 14–27.
- 3393- Katharine Briggs, An Encyclopedia of Fairies, Hobgoblins, Brownies, Bogies, & Other Supernatural Creatures, (NY: Pantheon Books, 1976), 24-25, 74-75, 98, 134-35, 207, 301.
- 3394- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (NY, etc.: Gineeo Books, 2007), 99.
- 3395- Editors of Time-Life Books, The Enchanted World, Ghosts, (Alexandria, Virginia: Time-Life Books, 1984, series entitled The Enchanted World, Series Director, Ellen Phillips, & others, chief series consultant, Tristram Potter Coffin, Professor of English at University of Pennsylvania), p. 32–37, for the story: Song of the Sorrowing Harp. No date given for story, assuming it was about the 15th century, or about that time frame setting. Bibliography mentions: Robert Graves, English and Scottish Ballads, (London: Heinemann, 1969), Elliott O'Donnell, Scottish Ghost Stories, (Norwich, England: Jarrold Colour Publications, 1981, (reprint).
- 3396- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 141.
- 3397- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought & the Art in France & the Netherlands in the 14th & 15th Centuries, Lon.: Folio Society, 1998, 253–54, 317, Eustache Deschamps, Oeuvres complètes, ed. De Queux de Saint Hilaire et G. Raynaud, Société des anciens textes français, 11 vols., 1878–1903.
- 3398- James Reston Dogs of God, Columbus the Inquisition & the Defeat of the Moors, NY Doubleday 2005, 13.
- 3399- James Reston Dogs of God, Columbus the Inquisition & the Defeat of the Moors, NY Doubleday 2005, 14.
- 3400- Geoffrey Abbott, Rack, Rope & Red-Hot Pincers, A History of Torture & Its Instruments, (London: Brockhampton Press, 1993), 47–48.
- 3401- James Reston Dogs of God, Columbus the Inquisition & the Defeat of the Moors NY Doubleday 2005, 12.
- 3402- James Reston Dogs of God, Columbus the Inquisition & the Defeat of the Moors NY Doubleday 2005, 39.
- 3403- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black & White, NY, etc.: Gineeo Books, 2007, 93-99.
- 3404- Russell, The Prince of Darkness, p.189.
- 3405- Paul Carcus 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY: Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, 377–8.
- 3406- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (NY, etc.: Gineeo Books, 2007), 123-24.
- 3407- Paul Carcus 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books 1996, 254–60.
- 3408- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (NY, etc.: Gineeo Books, 2007), 96.
- 3409- 14th century, Last-Judgment, Triptych- Hans-Memling, dark skin demon. Also: Altarpiece of the Holy Sepulcher- Descent Into Limbo - Jaime Serra. Dark skin monstrous demons at top of jaws of hell. Ascension-Descent into Hell - Icon from the Cathedral of the former Uspensky-Gorny Convent in Vologda - 2nd quarter of 16th cent - angels bind black devil. Bible historiée et Vie des Saints 1390 fall of satan - rebel angels falling from heaven, dark black demons, falling down. Book of Hours, Use of Sarum -Netherlands, S Bruges c 1490- Soul wrapped up in protective blanket with Abraham in paradise - Black demon attempt to harm soul. Breviari d Amor- The fall of the rebel devils at top, depicting dark monstrous demons. Other illuminations all date between the 12th - 16th century and show themes of the Last Judgement and Fall of the Rebel Angels, different colors, some black demons. Also: Commentary on the Apocalypse by Saint Beatus of Liebana c 730 - 800. Black skin devil in irons. Also: Descent of Christ to Limbo 1365-68 Andrea da Firenze -Cappella Spagnuolo, Santa Maria Novella, Florence. Different color demons, some black, watch, but can't stop Christ from freeing spirits out of the spirit prison. Descent of the Lords Percy- England S E London 2nd quarter of the 16th cent - battle against demon like war in heaven. Some of the demons are dark skins, with spots on them. Entombment of Jesus Christ and The Harrowing of Hell by Giovanni Canavesio. Dark color demons crushed under the doors of hell. Jacques Legrand- Le livre des bonnes moeurs- The book of good manners ff. 1-86v - Council in heaven - war - fall of demons -France N or Netherlands S- 2nd quarter of 15th cent. Dark demons in this depiction too. Jean de Meun, Le codicile de maistre Jehan de Meun - France N Rouen - 2nd or 3rd quarter of 15th c. Dark color demons. Also: Ladder to heaven 11th c monks attempting to climb the ladder all failing except the abbot Climacus. Black color demons attempting to cause the fall of the people of the ladder to perfection. Another depiction of a ladder to heaven clasp - war Sts Xenophon and Maria, shows dark demons attempting to pull people off ladder that goes up to Christian moral perfection. In the MASTER OF THE REBEL ANGELS-XX-Fall of the rebel angels, the fallen angels are blackened the farther they fall. Matfré Ermengau of Béziers's Breviari d'Amour - Yates Thompson 31 - f.44- War in heaven - thrusting out fall - last quarter of 14th cent. Gray color demons. Memling_Gdansk_Resurrection, Triptych Triptych of The Last Judgment c 1473 Marienkirche - Gdansk. On the left hand side of Christ's judgment, dark color demons, some black. Also: Müden-Örtze, Niedersachsen, Laurentiuskirche, vaults - King paying homage to satan, dark color demons there too. Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, NY, San Diego, U.S.A.; Lon., Eng.: Harcourt Brace). Ernst & Johanna Lehner, Devils, Demons, Death and Damnation, (NY: Dover Pictorial Archive Series, Dover Publishing Inc., 1971). Gustav Davidson, 1967, A Dictionary Of Angels, Including the Fallen Angels, (New York; London: The Free Press, & Collier-Macmillan Limited). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca & London: Cornell Un. Press, 1985). J. Charles Wall, Devils, (London, England: Methuen & Company, 1904;

Detroit: Singing Tree Press, Book Tower, 1968, reissued). Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca, London: Cornell Un. Press, 1981). Lucifer, The Devil In the Middle Age, (Ithaca, London: Cornell Un. Press, 1984). The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell Un. Press, 1988). Paul Carus, Dr., The History Of The Devil And The Idea Of Evil, From the earliest times to the present, (La Salle, Illinois: Open Court Publishing Company). Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsachsischen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), three volumes. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen.

3410- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (NY, etc.: Gineeo Books, 2007), 70-255.

3411- Eric Maple, Superstition & The Superstitious, South Brunswick, NY: A. S. Barnes & Co., 1972, 169.

3412- Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass, p. 64 & 70, & 105.

3413- Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass, p. 4, 5, 8, 59-60.

3414- Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass, p. 4.

3415- Frederick Douglass, Lynn, Mass., April 28, 1845, Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglas, 104-9.

3416- Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglas, p. 2 & 73.

3417- Peter Levanda, Unholy Alliance, A History of Nazi Involvement with the Occult, (NY, NY: Avon Books, December 1995); See also the video series: The Occult History of the Third Reich, Vol. 1-4, by Video Treasures, Troy Michigan, 1991. See also the video documentary entitled: The Nuremberg Trials. Anti-Semitic attitude date back into the early centuries of Christendom. A later example is of these attitudes and anti-Semitic beliefs is a swastika from the 11th century, see: Michael Grant, Dawn of the Middle Ages, (Maidenhead, England: McGraw-Hill Book Co., 1981. This edition 1986 by Bonanza Books, distributed by Crown Publishers, NY, NY), 148.

3418- Henry Louis Gates, Jr., The Classic Slave Narratives, (NY: Signet Classic, 2002), 323-436, appendix, 429-36, Lynn, Mass., 4-28-1845, Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass, An American Slave, (Boston: Published At the Anti-Slave Office, 1845).

3419- Gary H. Kah, En Route To Global Occupation, (Lafayette, Louisiana: Huntington House Publishers, 1991), 13-140; Constance Cumbey, The Hidden Dangers Of The Rainbow, Lafayette, Louisiana: Huntington House Publishers, 1983). Tape interview of Constance Cumbey on KTKK 630 AM Radio, "K-Talk" host Mills Crinshaw, 12-18-1988, Salt Lake City Utah.

3420- Peter Levanda, Unholy Alliance, A History of Nazi Involvement with the Occult, (New York, New York: Avon Books, December 1995), p. 13-29. Cumbey, The Hidden Dangers of the Rainbow, pp. 16-18, 44-59, 90-2. And the Dec. 18, 1988 KTKK interview. See also the video series: The Occult History of the Third Reich, Vol. 1-4, by Video Treasures, Troy Michigan, 1991. See also the video documentary entitled: The Nuremberg Trials. And on CD-ROM disks: Compton's Interactive Encyclopedia, version 1.0, 1997 edition, CR 1996; Microsoft Bookshelf 1994, Chronology. The Axis powers made different pact during 1936. The Rome-Berlin pact on October 25, and later, the Anti-Comintern Pact (Berlin and Japan) November 25, 1936. On Sunday December 7, 1941 Japan bombed Pearl Harbor in Hawaii to keep their end of the pact. Anti-Semitic swastika from the 11th century, see: Michael Grant, Dawn of the Middle Ages, (Maidenhead, England: McGraw-Hill Book Co., 1981. This edition 1986 by Bonanza Books, distributed by Crown Publishers, NY, NY), p. 148.

3421- Constance Cumbey, The Hidden Dangers Of The Rainbow, The New Age Movement And Our Coming Age of Barbarism, (Lafayette, La.: Huntington House, Inc., 1983), 16, 44-47, 57-58, 64-65, 68-69, 72-73, 76-83, 90-92, 99-120; H. P. Blavatsky, The Secret Doctrine, (Lon.: The Theosophical Publishing Co., Limited, 1888), in 2 vol. Video: The Occult History of The Third Reich, (Troy, Michigan: Video Treasures, 1991), 4 volumes.

3422- Richard Cavendish, Man, Myth & Magic, (Freeport, Long Island, New York: Marshall Cavendish, 1985), Vol. 7, pp. 1944-1948; Painted Black, by Carl A. Raschke, 1990; Video series: The Occult History of the Third Reich, volumes 1-4; and Mein Kampf (documentary). Levanda, Unholy Alliance, p. 42-55.

3423- Video series: Hitler: The Whole Story, Volumes 1-2; The Occult History of the Third Reich, Volumes 1-4.

3424- DARELL THORPE, ENDANGERED SPECIES: HUMANITY, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Salt Lake Community College, WINTER 1997), POL. SCIENCE SPEC. STUD. Instructor: Shari Sowerdes. Student: DaRel D. Thorpe, Research Paper, March 1997, and documentary video Endangered Species: Humanity.

3425- Robin Lane Fox, Pagans and Christians, (New York: Alfred A. Knopf, Inc., 1987), 419-92.

3426- Robert L. Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, (New Haven & London: Yale Un. Press, 1984), p. 1-67, etc.; Stephen Benko, Pagan Rome & The Early Christians, (Indiana: Indiana Un. Press, 1984); W.H.C. Frend, Martyrdom & Persecution in the Early Church, (NY: Anchor Books, Doubleday & Co., 1967).

3427- Crane Brinton, John B. Christopher, & Robert Lee Wolff, Civilization in the West, Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Prentice-Hall, 1964, 180-88.

3428- The Noble Qur'an in the English Language, (Kingdoms of Saudi Arabia: Maktaba Dar-us-Salam, 1993), part 2, p. 44-46, verse 191.

3429- Robin Lane Fox, Pagans and Christians, (New York: Alfred A. Knopf, Inc., 1987), 48, 343, 351, 382.

3430- Robert L. Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, (New Haven & Lon.: Yale Un. Press, 1984), p. 1-67. Stephen Benko, Pagan Rome & The Early Christians, (Indiana Un. Press, 1984). W.H.C. Frend, Martyrdom & Persecution in the Early Church, (Garden City, New York: Anchor Books, Doubleday, 1967).

3431- Darell Thorpe, EARLY CHRISTIAN ANSWERS TO PRIMITIVE CRITICS, HOW THEIR RESPONSES ANSWER MODERN ISSUES, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Religious, Historical & Polemical Studies, 1999, revised and published on the Internet. Original paper was part of a college class: HUM. SPEC. STUD. Instructor: John Fritz. Student: Darell Thorpe, Summer, 1996; (Salt Lake City, Utah: Salt Lake Community College, August, 1996). ANF, series and N&PNF, Series 1 & 2, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: W. M. B. Eerdmans Publishing Co., T&T Clark Edinburgh); Paul Johnson, A History of Christianity, (New York: Atheneum, 1979), pp. 3--67; A. S. Garretson, Primitive Christianity & Early Criticisms, (Boston: Sherman, French & Co., 1912); Robert L. Wilken, The Christians As The Romans, (Yale Un. Press, 1984); Stephen Benko, Pagan Rome and The Early Christians, (Indiana Un. Press, 1984); W.H.C. Frend, Martyrdom & Persecution In The Early Church, (Garden City, New York: Anchor Books, Doubleday & Co., 1967).

3432- Mark 15:16-20, John 19:2-5, Rev. 1:5, 19:6, 1 Pet. 2:9, Jer. 10:8-9, Ezek. 27:3-7, Rev. 17:4-6.

3433- Noel B. Reynolds, (Editor), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research & Mormon Studies, and Brigham Young University Press, 2005), 189–190, The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 1.7; 9:231), 1 Clement 8:3.

3434- The Lost Books of The Bible & The Forgotten Books of Eden, (USA, Newfoundland: Alpha House, 1926 & 1927, World Bible Publishers), 257, The Shepherd of Hermas, Similitude IX:144, see also verses 140–145, other negative traits are Sadness, Malice, Lust, Anger, Lying, Foolishness, Pride, and Hatred.

3435- Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, (NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 283–285.

3436- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All the Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 99-101, 138, n. 70: Shepherd of Hermas, Sim. 9, in Apostolic Fathers, 2:217-97.

3437- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, NY: Gramercy Books, 2000 ed., earlier ed. by Crown Pub., 1978). Jeffrey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988). Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, orig. pub. in Chicago: Open Court Pub. Co. 1900.

3438- Movie: Legend, taps into British folklore, legends, & traditions about goblins, Lord of Darkness, fairies, strange evil creatures of the filthy swamps, unicorns, & other magical creatures of Celtic legends. It's a 1985 British-American fantasy adventure film directed by Ridley Scott, & starring Tom Cruiser, Mia Sara, Tim Curry, David Bennent, Alice Playten, Billy Barty, Cork Hubbert & Anabelle Lanyon. It is a darker fairy tale http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Legend_%28film%29 examples of color symbolism, light & darkness symbolism. Watch DVD with commentaries on to her the inspirations & interpretations of the scenes.

3439- Rev.12. Allegories Et Symboles Dans L'Hortus Deliciarum, par Gerard Cames, Pub. Leiden E. J. Brill, 1971, pls. LXVII-LXIX, figs. 124-128. In fig.124. "Hortus fol. 3v Chute des mauvais anges". Pl. LXVIII, fig.126. "Hortus fol. 261v La Femme de l' Apocalypse." Apocalypse, Visions from the Book of Revelation in Western Art, Frederick Van Der Meer, C/R 1978 Mercatorfonds Antwerp, Pub. Alpine Fine Arts Collection, NY, p.97-8, figs.60 & 61. C. R. Dodwell; Eds.: Nikolaus Pevsner & Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (Harmondsworth, Middlesex; Baltimore, Md.; Ringwood, Victoria, Australia: Penguin Books, 1971), vol. 34, Painting in Europe 800 to 1200, p. xv, pls. 124 & 125. Magius: The 7-headed dragon attacks the Woman & the angels, from a Beatus. 922. NY, Pierpont Morgan Library. War in heaven drama. Paul Carcus, 1900, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, NY: Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996). Ernst & Johanna Lehner, Devils, Demons, Death & Damnation, NY: Dover Pictorial Archive Series, Dover Pub. Inc., 1971. James Charles Wall, Devils, Lon., Eng.: Methuen & Co., 1904. Jeffrey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988.

3440- Walt Disney, Fantasia, (1941), featuring the classical song: Night on Bald Mountain, shows a traditional black skinned devil, horns on his head, large bat like wings on his back. He conjures up a number of ghostly demons, & spirits from a town below, & a few ghostly water-spirits from under a dark water, to which they return, after their night time devilish fiery dance with the devil. You Tube: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=SLCuL-K39eQ> See also: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Fantasia_\(1940_film\))

3441- The protective symbolism of white baptismal robes, banner-sized white blankets, that souls ride up on, during their ascension into heaven. Or the protective white cloths, white clothing, white blanket-sized-shield, white protective-canopies, are sometimes seen in art depicting the battles over souls during their ascensions into heaven, or during the moments of death. Battles rage in the air, (Eph. 6:11-12), between dark demons & brightly white clothed angels, & so the soul has need to have put on the whole armor of God, through having repented, made themselves ready for a righteous passing at death by having been repentant, by clean living, having put on Christ like traits, & not being clothed in vanity, pride & other negative traits, symbolized ancient by clothing types, & imageries, (Psalm 90:7-8, 17; 91:1-4, 132:9, Ezk. 44:17, Isa. 1:16–20, 3:8-26, 14:12–19, note 19, raiment of those slain in battle, & trodden under foot. 61:1-3, 10, Further clothing types, 1 Peter 3:2–11, Eph. 4:22-32, 5:3-5, 26–27, 6:10–19, Rev. 19:7-9, Rom.13:12). Such clothing color symbolism, & their getting stained, dirty, bloodied, (Psa. 24:3-5, Isa.59:1-3), & defiled by sinful life styles, or the putting on the dark colors of pride, etc. Such types & symbolism could have been passed down to the symbolism in battle flag traditions, white flags, meaning that those who surrender should be protected from being fired upon, as they negotiate a truce, or give in to their victors. See: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Christian_Flag A Theological Miscellany, Thomas Nelson. 24 March 2005. "The flag is white (for purity and peace), with a blue field (faithfulness, truth, and sincerity) and a red cross (the sacrifice of Christ)." The white field draws on symbolism throughout the Bible equating white clothes with purity and forgiveness. People who have been "washed white as snow" in the Bible have been cleansed from their sins (Isaiah 1:18; Psalm 51:2). Thus, the white in some Christian flags, represents peace, purity and innocence. Also: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/White_flag "The white flag is an internationally recognized protective sign of truce or ceasefire, and request for negotiation. It is also used to symbolize surrender, since it is often the weaker party which requests negotiation. A white flag signifies to all that an approaching negotiator is unarmed, with an intent to surrender or a desire to communicate. Persons carrying or waving a white flag are not to be fired upon, nor are they allowed to open fire. The use of the flag to surrender is included in the Hague Conventions of 1899 and 1907." Also: "The white flag was widely used in the Middle Ages in Western Europe to indicate an intent to surrender. The color white was used generally to indicate a person was exempt from combat; heralds bore white wands, prisoners or hostages captured in battle would attach a piece of white paper to their hat or helmet, and garrisons that had surrendered and been promised safe passage would carry white batons". Keen, Maurice Hugh (1965). The Laws of War in the Middle Ages. London: Routledge & K. Paul. Also: Concerning white Christian flags, Charles Overton, who in 1897 was superintendent of the Congregational Sunday School at Brighton Chapel, Coney Island, New York, USA: "...white, the universal peace color, representing peace, purity, and innocence. In the upper corner is a blue square, the color of the unclouded sky, emblematic of heaven, the home of the Christian, also a symbol of faith and truth. In the center of the blue is the cross, the ensign and chosen symbol of Christianity. The cross is red, typical of Christ's blood. Every sect of Christ's followers can indorse the flag, and it is equally acceptable to all nations. It stands for no creed or denomination, but for Christianity." Deruyter Gleaner, 18 August 1898, p.8, American Sentinel, vol 14, no 17 of 27 April 1899, p. 262. Missionary Education in Home and School, R. E. Diffendorfer, NY: Abingdon Press, 1917, p. 183ff. The Epworth Era, 12 Jan. 1919, p. 150. Links subject to changes, & might not work. <http://christianity.stackexchange.com/questions/16353/what-is-the-purpose-and-meaning-of-the-christian-flag> - https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Christian_Flag#cite_note-McTavish-5 - Also: "The white flag is an internationally recognized protective sign of truce or ceasefire, and request for negotiation. It is also used to symbolize surrender, since it is often the weaker party which requests negotiation. A white flag signifies to all that an approaching negotiator is unarmed, with an intent to surrender or a desire to communicate. Persons carrying or waving a white flag are not to be fired upon, nor are they allowed to open fire. The use of the flag to surrender is included in the Hague Conventions of 1899 and 1907." https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/White_flag

- 3442- James M. Robinson, The Nag Hammadi Library In English, Calif.: Harper & Row, 1977, 180–187.
- 3443- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 537–38, foot note 22: Pocket Prayer Book, “Ordinary of the Mass,” Part II, p. 72, 81–82, 105.
- 3444- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 235, 445, notes 53-54: Brigham Henry Roberts, Outlines of Ecclesiastical History, A Text Book, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Co., 1979, 140. John Lawrence Mosheim, D.D., An Ecclesiastical History, (London: Translated from the original Latin & notes by Archibald Maclaine, D.D., 1819), 6 vols., 1:293, book 1, part 2, chap. 4.
- 3445- Philip Schaff, ed., TN&PNF, 2nd series, vol.7, p.114–115, PROCATECHESIS, OR, PROLOGUE TO THE CATECHETICAL LECTURES OF OUR HOLY FATHER, CYRIL, ARCHBISHOP OF JERUSALEM, verses 1-6. (Albany, USA: Sage Digital Library Collection, version 1.0, 1996 on CD), Italics added along with some in the original of this formatted version.
- 3446- Norman Davies, Europe, A History, (Oxford, New York: Oxford University Press, 1996), 248 & 1199, note 1 for Taxis: See S. MacCormack, Art and Ceremony in Late Antiquity, (Berkeley, California, 1981). https://orthodoxwiki.org/Constans_II – https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Byzantine_Empire – <https://archive.org/search.php?query=Byzantine%20Empire>
- 3447- James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, NY, Doubleday, 2005, 39-40, 283– 288. James L. Barker, Apostasy From The Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 513–625. Brigham Henry Roberts, Outlines of Ecclesiastical History, A Text Book, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1979, Classics in Mormon Literature), 146, 154–159, 173, 180, 195–210, 241–43. Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions and the Rise of Mormonism, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1970), 62–64, 113, etc. Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 36, 49–50, 72–74, 101–102, 141, 150, 154–164, 170–175, 295, etc. John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1954), examples of striving towards Christian moral perfection up ladder, each run representing a Christ like trait, with distractions of riches, temptations, & other things down below, which if those ascending should look upon & be distracted by, could cause them to fall, such as lusty women, fine apparel, riches, etc. Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, orig. pub. in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Co., 1900, 339, Satanic Temptations and the Ladder of Life, from Heradis von Lansperg’s Hortus Deliciarum.
- 3448- John Russell Brown, The Oxford Illustrated History of Theatre, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1995, 88.
- 3449- John Russell Brown, The Oxford Illustrated History of Theatre, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1995, 69-172.
- 3450- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Branded_\(TV_series\)) - Millia Davenport, The Book of Costume, (New York: Crown Publishing, Inc., 1948 & 1976), vol. 1. Michael and Ariane Batterberry, Fashion, The Mirror of History, (New York: Greenwich House, 1982, Distributed by Crown Publishers, Inc., 1977), 60–127, etc. Geoffrey Barraclough, The Crucible of the Middle Ages, The Ninth and Tenth Centuries in European History, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), color plate 7, in between p. 68 & 69. Rev. 19:8. A 17th century fictional allegorical story about adultery, presents the symbolism of Puritan New England morality issues. How a woman was made to display a scarlet letter to mark her as an adulterous woman. Nathaniel Hawthorne, introduction by Kathryn Harrison, notes by Gretchen Short, The Scarlet Letter, (New York: The Modern Library, 2000). Darell Thorpe, The Armor of Gods (Protective Skins or Garments in History & Color Symbolism), (Salt Lake City, Utah: Religious, Historical & Polemical Studies, rough draft on line at Amazon, Summer 2013). Arthur Goldhammer, A History of Private Life, From Pagan to Byzantium, (Cambridge, Massachusetts, London, England: The Belknap Press of Harvard University Press, 1987), vol. 1, From Pagan Rome to Byzantium, p. 114, Roman youth advancing to the age of adults, would be donned in a toga of adulthood. Page 165, Roman female, dressed as a bride, hand-clasp with groom, second century. Pages 272-273, new togas, new robes symbolic of political ranks, see also 279– 281. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, (Albany, OR, USA: SAGE Software, version 1.0, 1996), edited by A. Roberts and J Donaldson, vol. 1, p. 296, Justin Martyr, “wore his philosopher’s gown after his conversion, as a token that he had attained the only true philosophy. And seeing, that, after the conflicts and tests of ages, it is the only philosophy that lasts and lives and triumphs, its discoverer deserves the homage of mankind. Of the philosophic gown we shall hear again when we come to Tertullian.” Different types of clothing throughout history have been used to represent advancements in education, political rank, ranks in classes, levels of righteousness or wickedness, & these types often were derived from the symbolical clothing in the mystery religions. Dr. Hugu W. Nibley, Sacred Vestments, (Provo, Utah: Maxwell Institute). Many of these symbols seen in early to later Christian robes & clothing, are also seen on curtains, veils in ritualistic settings too. They are called gammadia patterns or markings. Early to later Christian art works are filled with these symbols. See for example: Yigael Yadin, Bar-Kokhba: The Rediscovery of the Legendary Hero of the Second Jewish Revolt against Rome, (New York: Random House, 1971), 76-77, 79, and the accompanying plates. Arnold Toynbee, (Editor), The Crucible of Christianity, Judaism, Hellenism and The Historical Background to the Christian Faith, (New York, and Cleveland, World Publishing Company, CR Thames & Hudson, 1969), 82–83, 192, L type letter in robe of Christ as Pantocrator, p. 360, for illustration 40, Rome: apse-mosaic from Santa Pudenziana; A.D. 401-17, Max Hirmer. See also p. 248–249, top right art work, another symbol in the robes, p. 361, illustration note 37, Rome: Moses striking the rock, from the catacomb at Callistus; 4th century A.D., Courtesy Sadea. See also p. 263, cross or + symbol in the robes of female, p. 361, illustration note 1, Rome: mosaics with personification of Jewish and gentile churches, from Santa Sabina; c. AD 410, De Antonis. Page 265, angle symbol, p. 361, note 4, Rome: the Presentation in the Temple, from Santa Maria Maggiore; 12th century reconstruction of fourth century original. Mansell. Page 273, numerous letters in the robes of 12 apostles around the baptismal scene of Christ, see page 362, note 26, Ravenna: mosaic with the Apostles, from the Arian baptistery; 5th century, Mansell. See also p. 277, Coptic textile, 1, symbol said to represent an the up raised hands of early Christian prayer gestures. For other Coptic textile symbols, see p. 280, 5, 6, p. 289, 9, mosaic p. 306– 307. Claims to masonic type symbols in early Christian clothing was noted by late 19th century anti-Christian writer, T. W. Doane, Bible Myths, And Their Parallels In Other Religions, (New York: The Truth Seeker Company, 1882 & 1910), 358. Don E. Norton, Editor, Temples Of The Ancient World, Ritual and Symbolism, (Salt Lake City and Provo, Utah: FARMS & Deseret Book, 1994), also edited by Donald W. Parry, chapter 23, Priestly Clothing in Bible Times, by John A. Tvedtnes, pp.649-704, and chapter 24, The Garment of Adam in Jewish, Muslim, and Christian Tradition, by Stephen D. Ricks, p. 705-39. Gregory of Nyssa, ‘On The Baptism of Christ,’ The Nicene and Post-Nicene Fathers, vol.5, p. 519–520, & 524, Gregory of Nyssa: Dogmatic Treatises, etc. (reprint June 1972, W.M. B. Eerdmans). <http://www.newadvent.org/fathers/2910.htm> - Blake Ostler’s article in Brigham Young University Studies, (Provo, Utah: Brigham Young University Press, 1982), vol. 22, Winter 1982, #1, p. 31–45, Clothed Upon: Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity. Cyril of Jerusalem, Lectures on the Mysteries, <https://archive.org/details/CyrlJCatLects01> - <http://www.ccel.org/ccel/schaff/npnf207.ii.xxiii.html> -

- 3451- Geoffrey Barraclough, The Crucible of the Middle Ages, The Ninth and Tenth Centuries in European History, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), color plate 7, in between p. 68 & 69.
- 3452- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 20–21. See also: Liudprandi episcopi Cremonensis Opera, ed. Joseph Becker (MGH, Scriptores rerum Germanicarum in usum scholarum, 1915). Also, translation by F. A. Wright in the Broadway Library, 1930. For the Byzantine silk regulations and the symbolism, see: R. S. Lopez, The Silk Industry in the Byzantine Empire, (Speculum, XX, 1945, 1–42). Mark 15:16–20, John 19:2–5, Rev. 1:5, 19:6, 1 Pet. 2:9, Jer. 10:8–9, Ezek. 27:3–7, Rev. 17:4–6.
- 3453- Geoffrey Barraclough, The Crucible of the Middle Ages, The Ninth and Tenth Centuries in European History, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), plate 15, in between p. 148–49.
- 3454- For examples of references & demons depicted with dark skins, etc., see: Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black & White, (NY, etc.: Gineeo Books, Atheneum Books for Young Readers, 2007), 64–89. Dr. Paul Carus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, orig. pub. in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 213, 236–240, 248, 255–59, 378, 436, & 451. Malcolm Godwin, Angels, An Endangered Species, (New York, London, Toronto, Sydney, Tokyo, Singapore: Simon & Schuster, 1990), 36–39, 50–51, 79, 104–105, 108–109, 116–17, & 236–237. Georges Duby, Medieval Art, Foundations of A New Humanism, 1280–1440, (Geneva, Switzerland: Editions d'Art Albert Skira S.A, 1995, first published in 1966–67, this edition BookKing International, 1995), 84–85, 185. Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1981). Russell, Lucifer, The Devil In the Middle Age, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1984), Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell Un. Press, 1988).
- 3455- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 65, 385, end note 18: Liber extra, 5, 6, 14, in C1Can II, 776, or Corpus iuris canonici, ed. Emil Friedberg, 2 vols., (Leipzig, 1879–81). See links that may or may not still be working: https://archive.org/details/bub_gb_sfwfAQAAMAAJ-https://archive.org/search.php?query=Corpus%20iuris%20canonici - <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Whitsun> - <http://www.newadvent.org/cathen/15614b.htm> - Elizabeth Hough Sechrist & Janette Woolsey, Its Time For EASTER, (Philadelphia: Macrae Smith Co., 1961), 21, & 24–5. The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, 5:519–520, & 524. Gregory of Nyssa: Dogmatic Treatises, (reprint June 1972, by WM. B. Eerdmans). Marion P. Ireland wrote that "White was the robe for newly baptized Christians in the primitive church," (Textile Art in the Church, by Marion P. Ireland, 1966, 67, & 1971, Pub. Abingdon Press., Nashville & N.Y., p. 73). CELEBRATIONS, The Complete Book of American Holidays, by Robert J. Myers, with The Editors of Hallmark Cards, (NY: Doubleday & Co., 1972), 108 & 156–7. Aileen Fisher, A Crowell Holiday Book, Easter, (New York: Thomas Y. Crowell Co., 1968), pages not numbered. Winchester England Priory of St Swithun or Hyde Abbey 1121–1161 Winchester Psalter of Henry of Blois Psalter of St Swithun -Baptism of Christ, angel holds the traditional white baptismal robes. Symbolic of putting on new clothing. Thus, later Easter traditions of Whitesunday, became the later Easter traditions of giving and getting new clothing.
- 3457- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought & the Art in France & the Netherlands in the 14th & 15th centuries, (Lon.: Folio Society, 1998), 44.
- 3458- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought & the Art in France & the Netherlands in the 14th & 15th Centuries, (Lon.: Folio Society, 1998), 14. Gene Gurney, Kingdoms of Europe, An Illustrated Encyclopedia of Ruling Monarchs from Ancient Times to the Present, (NY: Crown Publishers, Inc., 1982), 82–84, Burgundians & Armagnacs, (1415–22), for this era in French royal history.
- 3459- James Reston Dogs of God, Columbus the Inquisition & the Defeat of the Moors, NY Doubleday 2005, 52
- 3460- James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (New York, New York, Doubleday, 2005), 62–71. William L. Shirer, 1959, The Rise and Fall Of The Third Reich, A History of Nazi Germany, (New York: Simon and Schuster, 1960). The documentary series: The World At War, (England: Thames Television, 1973), numerous episodes.
- 3461- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black & White, NY, etc.: Gineeo Books, 2007, 121.
- 3462- For cockle-shell symbols for pilgrimages, some worn by Christ as a pilgrim, see: Donald Matthew, Atlas, MEDIEVAL EUROPE, (New York, Oxford: Facts On File, CR Equinox (Oxford), Ltd., 1983, An Equinox Book), 102–103. Mid 11th century. Benedictine monastery at Silos. Les Ivories Gothiques, Français, Par Raymond Koechlin, Planches, (Reimpression, F. DE NOBELE PARIS, 1968), Pl. CLIV, No 853, Paris, Musée de Cluny. Michel Pierre, Morgan -- Antoine Sabbagh, The Human Story, Europe In The Middle Ages, (Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Sliver Burdett Press, 1988), p.34, originally published in 1986 by Casterman, under the title: L' Histoire des Hommes: L' Europe du Moyen Age. Leonard W. Cowie, 1962, The March of the Cross, (New York, Toronto, & London: McGraw-Hill Book), p.80, fig.87. For sources on symbols on garments, garments of investing for ranks in clerical & state offices, etc., see: Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 48–51, 53, 78, 92, 94, 99–100, 108, 115, 128, 131, 141, 149–150, 161, 164, 171, 201, 205–206, 232, 242, 272, & 295. Roger J. Adam's, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptism for the Dead, (Salt Lake City, Utah: an unpublished thesis found in the LDS Church Library in Salt Lake City, 1977), pl.16, p.29, etc., note 23, from Cote, Archaeology, 53; Ad Fabiolam, Ep. cxxvii. Michael & Ariane Batterberry, Fashion, The Mirror of History, (New York: Greenwich House, 1982, Distributed by Crown Publishers, Inc., 1977), this edition 1982, see pages 60– 191, etc.
- 3463- Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 92 & 94, & 99–100.
- 3464- Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 128.
- 3465- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black & White, NY: Gineeo Books, 2007, 83–85.
- 3466- Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History & Myths Revealed, NY: Metro Books, Sterling Pub., 2008, 82–83.
- 3467- William Andrews, F.R.H.S., Old Church Lore, Lon. Simpkin, Marshall, Hamilton, Kent, 1891, 12–13.
- 3468- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought & the Art in France & the Netherlands in the 14th & 15th centuries, (Lon.: Folio Society, 1998), 194.
- 3469- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought & the Art in France & the Netherlands in the 14th & 15th centuries, Lon.: Folio Society, 1998, 196–7. Michael and Ariane Batterberry, Fashion, The Mirror of History, NY: Greenwich House, 1982, Distributed by Crown Publishers, Inc., 1977, 74–102. Millia Davenport, The Book of Costume, NY: Crown Publishing, 1948 & 1976, vol. 1, p. 190–373.

3470- Millia Davenport, The Book of Costume, (New York: Crown Publishing, Inc., 1948 & 1976), vol. 1, p. 93–373. Donald W. Parry, (Editor), Marion D. Hanks, Hugu W. Nibley, Adrew F. Ehat, Truman G. Madsen, John M. Lundquist, Stephen D. Ricks, Donald W. Parry, Michael A. Carter, John J. Sroka, John W. Welch, M. Catherine Thomas, William J. Hamblin, Brian M. Hauglid, John A. Tvedtnes, and many others providing research papers, and unpublished works for authors to consider, Temples Of The Ancient World, Ritual and Symbolism, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Desert Book Company, 1994, & Provo, Utah: Foundation For Ancient Research and Mormon Studies). Noel B. Reynolds, (Editor), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research & Mormon Studies, and Brigham Young University Press, 2005), 295–324, chapter: The Decline of Covenant in Early Christian Thought, by Noel B. Reynolds. See also: H. Clay Trumbull, D.D., The Blood Covenant, A Primitive Rite and its Bearings on Scriptures, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1885). <https://archive.org/details/bloodcovenantap04trumgoog> Also: Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (Ben Lomond, California: Foundation for Apologetic Information & Research, F.A.I.R., 1999), 283–351. Darell Thorpe, The Armor of Gods (Protective Skins or Garments in History & Color Symbolism), (Kindle Edition, 2012). Brigham Young University Studies, Vol.22, Winter 1982, #1, p.31-45, article: Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity, by Blake Ostler. <https://byustudies.byu.edu/content/clothed-upon-unique-aspect-christian-antiquity> – Darell Thorpe, by scrolling down to: Passover, Easter & Garment Types of Deification in the Resurrection, (Easter Sunday, 4-8-2012). <http://drivetimearchivespromosources.blogspot.com/> – http://ldstempleendowment.blogspot.com/2010/03/garments-veil-and-gammadia-markings_03.html – <http://www.templestudy.com/2008/04/17/early-byzantine-veil-with-gammadia/> – Dr. Hugu W. Nibley, Sacred Vestments, (Provo, Utah: Maxwell Institute), the symbolical gammadia patterns or markings in Christian robes, & clothing, are often seen on early to later Christian art works. See for example: Yigael Yadin, Bar-Kokhba: The Rediscovery of the Legendary Hero of the Second Jewish Revolt against Rome, (New York: Random House, 1971), 76-77, 79, and the accompanying plates. Arnold Toynbee, (Editor), The Crucible of Christianity, Judaism, Hellenism and The Historical Background to the Christian Faith, (New York, and Cleveland, World Publishing Company, CR Thames & Hudson, 1969), 82–83, 192, L type letter in robe of Christ as Pantocrator, p. 360, for illustration 40, Rome: apse-mosaic from Santa Pudenziana; A.D. 401-17, Max Hirmer. See also p. 248–249, top right art work, another symbol in the robes, p. 361, illustration note 37, Rome: Moses striking the rock, from the catacomb at Callistus; 4th century A.D., Courtesy Sadea. See also p. 263, cross or + symbol in the robes of female, p. 361, illustration note 1, Rome: mosaics with personification of Jewish and gentile churches, from Santa Sabina; c. AD 410, De Antonis. Page 265, angle symbol, p. 361, note 4, Rome: the Presentation in the Temple, from Santa Maria Maggiore; 12th century reconstruction of fourth century original. Mansell. Page 273, numerous letters in the robes of 12 apostles around the baptismal scene of Christ, see page 362, note 26, Ravenna: mosaic with the Apostles, from the Arian baptistery; 5th century, Mansell. See also p. 277, Coptic textile, 1, symbol said to represent an the up raised hands of early Christian prayer gestures. For other Coptic textile symbols, see p. 280, 5, 6, p. 289, 9, mosaic p. 306–307. Claims to masonic type symbols in early Christian clothing was noted by late 19th century anti-Christian writer, Thomas William Doane, Bible Myths, & Their Parallels In Other Religions, (NY: The Truth Seeker Co., 1882 & 1910). Links might still work, but are subject to changes too. <https://archive.org/details/biblemythsandthe00doanoft> — (1882), <https://archive.org/details/biblemythsandthe00doanoft> (1910 edition), 358. Philippe Aries & Georges Duby, General Editors, Translator, Arthur Goldhammer, A History of Private Life, From Pagan to Byzantium, (Cambridge, Massachusetts, London, England: The Belknap Press of Harvard University Press, 1987), vol. I, From Pagan Rome to Byzantium, p. 279, veiled female, praying with up-lifted hands, with symbols on her clothing, explained as: The deceased Comminia, fourth or fifth century. Prayer with up raised hands is also said to be a pagan gesture, this art found in Naples, Catacombs of Saint Januarius. Ludmila Kybalova, Coptic Textiles, (Artia, Prague: Paul Hamlyn Ltd., 1967), p. 34, 68-69, fig.15-16. Possible marks or symbols in Tunic, 4 or 5th century, Pushkin Museum, Moscow; Inventory # 5823. Purchased in Egypt by V. S. Golenishchev. See also: Reader's Digest, The Story of Jesus, (Pleasantville, New York and Montreal, Canada: The Reader's Digest Associations, Inc., 1993), 19, letter symbol in the robe, mosaic of Isaiah, portrait is from the sixth century church of San Vitale in Ravenna, Italy. See also p. 125, Ravenna: mosaic with the Apostles, from the Arian baptistery; dated 6th century. Page 141, sixth century basilica of San Apollinare Nuovo in Ravenna, Italy, angle or letter in robe of person with Christ in fishermen scene miracle. Page 170, angle symbol, or letter in the robe of a person with Christ, from a 15th century, devotional book. Marilyn Stokstad, Art History, (New York: Harry N. Abrams, Inc., 1995, revised edition, 1999), 303, figure 7-19, Mausoleum of Galla Placidia, eastern bays with sarcophagus in the arms and lunette mosaic of the Martyrdom of Saint Lawrence. The art in the background shows two men with raised right hands, perhaps oath gestures, they have a letter or symbol in each of their robes. Horst de la Croix and Richard G. Tansey, GARDNER'S ART THROUGH THE AGES, Eighth Edition, (Gardner, Helen, 1986), (San Diego; New York; Chicago; Atlanta; Washington, D.C.; London; Sydney; Toronto: Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, Publishers HBJ), vol. 1, Ancient, Medieval, and Non-Europe Art, p. 257, fig. 7-12, The Parting of Lot and Abraham, mosaic from Santa Maria Maggiore, Rome, c. 430, one angle or letter in each of the robes of two of the men with a group of people. Page 266, fig. 7-25, Interior of the mausoleum of Galla, Placidia, two men with raised right hands, perhaps oath gestures, they have a letter or symbol in each of their robes. Page 268, fig. 7-28, depicting the miracle of the loaves and the fishes, mosaic from the nave wall of Sant' Apollinare Nuovo, c. 504, angle or letter symbols in the robes of three of the men with Christ. Page 275, fig. 7-38, Christ enthroned, between two angels who have angle symbols on their robes. Art entitled the Second Coming, apse mosaic from San Vitale, c. 547. John Lowden, Early Christian and Byzantine Art, (NY: Phaidon Press Ltd., 1997, reprinted 1998, 2001, 2005, 2008), 109, 114–115, figs.65–66, p. 123, fig. 73, S. Apollinare Nuovo, c. 500 & c. 561, mosaic, showing curtains with angle mark symbols on them, on the pillars are hand symbols too. Pages 126, 131.

3471- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 215. Millia Davenport, The Book of Costume, (New York: Crown Publishing, Inc., 1948 & 1976), vol. 1, p. 190–373. Michael and Ariane Batterberry, Fashion, The Mirror of History, (New York: Greenwich House, 1982, Distributed by Crown Publishers, Inc., 1977), 74–89. Frances & Joseph Gies, Daily Life in Medieval Times, A Vivid, Detailed Account of Birth, Marriage and Death; Food, Clothing and Housing; Love and Labor in the Middle Ages, (New York: Barnes & Noble Books, 1969, 1974, illustrated edition, 1990), 86–95. Gene Gurney, Kingdoms of Europe, An Illustrated Encyclopedia of Ruling Monarchs from Ancient Times to the Present, (New York: Crown Publishers, Inc., 1982), 63–88, 386–93.

3472- James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (New York, New York, Doubleday, 2005), 72-73, see also 62-98. Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (New York, London, Toronto, Sydney: Gineeo see books, Athenium Books for Young Readers, 2007), 83-89.

- 3473- Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 315. James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (New York, New York, Doubleday, 2005), in between p. 204 & 205, third page of art works in, showing "heretics" with different symbols on the clothing, \ X & other symbols included. See also p. 11, 68–69, 108–109, forced confessions, 200–208. Geoffrey Abbott, Rack, Rope and Red-Hot Pincers, A History of Torture And Its Instruments, (London: Brockhampton Press, 1993), 47–49.
- 3474- James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (NY, NY: Doubleday, 2005), 77, 138, between p. 204-5, 256, "garments of shame." The penitent were to put on the drab yellow garment, the traditional penitential cloak known as the sanbenito. New styles were developed, which had black or gray sackcloths with large red cross symbols on the back and front. The saying how people wear what they are, might go back to these ancient clothing traditions. Jail clothing, for example, told the on looker that the person was part of the jail system, black & white lined jail clothing. "Additionally the black-and-white horizontal stripes symbolically represented prison bars that not only surrounded the inmate but were also imprinted on the convict's body and thus became an embodiment of imprisonment." Genesis 38:14-19, garments of widowhood. The expression, "starting out with a clean slate," or the blotting out of sin from the records, seems to also have garment types too. (Exodus 32:30-33). Deuteronomy 22:15-17, cloth representing virginity. 2 Samuel 13:18-18, garments of divers colors, symbolic of virgins. 2 Chronicles 6:41-42, clothed with salvation. LeGrand L. Baker & Stephen D. Ricks, Who Shall Ascend Into The Hill of the Lord? The Psalms In Israel's Temple Worship in the Old Testament And the Book of Mormon, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Books, 2011), 81-99, 112, 116, 144, 183, 189-90. 201, 315-359. Links subjected to changes & might not, but could still work by the time of this reading. <http://www.usprisonculture.com/blog/2010/12/14/sagging-pants-criminality-and-prison-clothing/>
- 3475- John Laurence (Pritchard), A History of Capital Punishment, with a Comment of Capital Punishment by Clarence Darrow, (NY: The Citadel Press, 1960), the comment is from Crimes, Its Cause and Treatment, by Clarence Darrow, 1922, (Tomas Y. Crowell Co., 1950), 7.
- 3476- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, NY, etc.: Ginee Seo Books, 2007, 137.
- 3477- <http://www.bing.com/search?q=judiciary+robes&FORM=PERNSB&PC=PE01>
- 3478- Larry Abraham, Call It Conspiracy, (Seattle, Washington: Double A Publications, 1971, 1983, 1985), xiv.
- 3479- Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History & Myths Revealed, NY: Metro Books, Sterling Pub., 2008, 26-27.
- 3480- Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History & Myths Revealed, NY: Metro Books, Sterling Pub., 2008, 28-30, 82-83.
- 3481- Sackcloth and ashes were used in Old Testament times as a symbol debasement, to lower the quality, value, or character of someone, or some bad event that took place, such as a death, or someone missing, a tragic situation. Also for mourning, repentance, penitence, like during the Middle Ages. Genesis 37:29–30, 34–35, Joshua 7:1-9, Judges 11:29–35. 1 Samuel 16:7, 2 Samuel 11:1-11, 1 Kings 21:20–28, Ezra 9:1-4, Esther 3:8–15, 4:3, Jonah 3:5–10, Ezekiel 27:31, Lamentations 2:10, Isaiah 3:24, 15:3, 37:1, 50:3, 58:5, Jeremiah 6:26, 49:3, 2 Kings 19:2, Daniel 9:3, Psalm 30:11, Joel 1:8, 13, Amos 8:10, 1 Chronicles 21:16, Nehemiah 9:1, Matthew 11:21, Luke 10:13, Revelation 6:12, 11:3. <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Sackcloth> Mark 14:62–64, tore his clothes, Matt. 26:65, Acts 14:13–14, Isa. 37:1, Jer. 36:23–24.
- 3482- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 545–546, foot note 7: Auguste Boulenger, Histoire Générale de l'Eglise, (Paris: Librairie Catholique, Emmanuel Vitte, 1931–1947), 9 vols., (vol. 1 ?), p. 118.
- 3483- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 546. Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 48–51, 78, 92, 94, 99–100, 108, 115, 121, 128, 131, 141, 149–50, 154–55, 161–65, etc. Millia Davenport, The Book of Costume, (New York: Crown Publishing, Inc., 1948 & 1976), vol. 1. John Laurence (Pritchard), A History of Capital Punishment, with a Comment of Capital Punishment by Clarence Darrow, (New York: The Citadel Press, 1960), the comment is from Crimes, Its Cause and Treatment, by Clarence Darrow, 1922, (Tomas Y. Crowell Company, 1950).
- 3484- Cyril of Jerusalem, Arch-Bishop, fourth century, The Catechetical Lectures on the Mysteries. <http://www.newadvent.org/fathers/3101.htm> Gregory of Nyssa, fourth century, On the Baptism of Christ, <http://www.newadvent.org/fathers/2910.htm>. Leo MacCauley and Anthony Stephenson, The Works of Saint Cyril of Jerusalem, (Washington D.C.: Catholic University Press, 1964). The Library of Christian Classics volume 4, Cyril of Jerusalem and Nemesius of Emesa, edited by William Telfer, (Philadelphia: Westminster Press, MCMLV). The Ante-Nicene Fathers = TANF. A set of volumes on the writings of the early Christians before the Nicene Creed era of A.D. 325. (Grand Rapids, Michigan: T & T Clark, Edinburgh, W. M. B. Eerdmans Publishing, reprinted October 1989), 9 vols. Clement of Alexandria, etc., The Nicene and Post-Nicene Fathers, (Michigan: W. M. B. Eerdmans, reprinted April 1986), fourteen volumes. Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company), volume 4: Mormonism and Early Christianity, (1987). Nibley, The Early Christian Church in the Light of Some Newly Discovered Papyri from Egypt, (Provo, Utah: F.A.R.M.S. reprint, Nibley 1985). From a talk given by Dr. Nibley during a Tri-Stake Fireside, Brigham Young University, March 3, 1964). Dr. Huge Nibley, collected works volume 16: The Message of the Joseph Smith Papyri, An Egyptian Endowment, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company, 2005, second edition), 487–532. John Lawrence Mosheim, D.D., An Ecclesiastical History, (London: 1819, Translated by Archibald Maclaine), 6 volumes. Pater Cramer, Baptism and change in the early Middle Ages, c. 200-c. 1150, (Cambridge, England; NY, NY, USA: Cambridge Un. Press, 1993). <http://emp.byui.edu/SATTERFIELD/Rel327/ClothedUpon.pdf> BYU Studies, Vol.22, Winter 1982, #1, p.31-45, Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity, by Blake Ostler. <http://drivetimearchivespromosources.blogspot.com/> article: Passover, Easter & Garment Types of Deification in the Resurrection (Easter Sunday, 4-8-2012), Darell Thorpe.
- 3485- The Lost Books of The Bible & The Forgotten Books of Eden, (USA, Newfoundland: Alpha House, 1926 & 1927, World Bible Publishers), 120–140, The Odes of Solomon. Links can sometimes be subjected to change, taken down, or still work too. <http://emp.byui.edu/SATTERFIELD/Rel327/ClothedUpon.pdf> BYU Studies, Vol.22, Winter 1982, #1, p.31-45, Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity, Blake Ostler, p. 3.
- 3486- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 56, Odes of Solomon, 8:13-14, 23:2-3.

3487- The Lost Books of The Bible & The Forgotten Books of Eden, (USA, Newfoundland: Alpha House, 1926 & 1927, World Bible Publishers), 3– 81. Links sometimes are subject to change, thus fall out of use. <http://ahooz.com/isom/Resources%20English/Christian%20Ebooks/Extrabiblical%20The%20Forgotten%20Books%20of%20Eden.pdf> See also: https://archive.org/details/firstbook_adameve_1001_librivox_And:/http://sacred-texts.com/bib/fbe/fbe005.htm

3488- Stephen D. Ricks, & LeGrand L. Barker, Who Shall Ascend Into the Hill of the Lord? The Psalms In Israel's Temple Worship In The Old Testament and in the Book of Mormon, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Books, 2009), 80–97. Dr. Huge Nibley, collected works volume 16: The Message of the Joseph Smith Papyri, An Egyptian Endowment, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company, 2005, second edition), 487–501. Willis Barnstone & Marvin Meyer, (Editors), The Gnostic Bible, Gnostic Texts of Mystical Wisdom from the Ancient and Medieval Worlds, (Boston & London: Shambhala, 2003, 2009, Revised Edition, to include the Gospel of Judas), 406–414. Willis Barnstone, (Editor), The Other Bible, (San Francisco, California: Harper & Row, 1984), 308–313.

3489- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All the Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 102-3, 138, n. 76-77. Cyril of Jerusalem, Catechetical Lecture 20-21, in N&PNF, 2:7:146-51. Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo & SLC, Utah: FARMS, & Deseret Book Co.), vol. 16: The Message of the Joseph Smith Papyri, An Egyptian Endowment, 2005, 2nd ed.), 517-18. N&PNF, 2nd series, vol. 7.

3490- <http://www.newadvent.org/fathers/2910.htm> NPNF, Michigan: W.M.B. Eerdmans, reprints 1972, 86, 14 vols, 5:518-24 Gregory of Nyssa: Dog. Treatises, On the Baptism of Christ.

3491- R.W. Southern The Making of the Middle Ages, Lon.: Folio Soc., 1998, 171–72, St. Augustine, Bishop of Hippo, De Doctrina Christiana, ii, 6 (Patrologiae Cursus Completus, series latina, ed. J. P. Migne), vol. 34, 38–9.

3492- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 115, 142, 388–89. Brigham Henry Roberts, Outlines of Ecclesiastical History, A Text Book, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1979, Classics in Mormon Literature), 151–72. Irenaeus, Against Heresies, III. 1. 1. Millia Davenport, The Book of Costume, (New York: Crown Publishing, Inc., 1948 & 1976), 73–75, 85, 93–102. A 17th century fictional allegorical story about adultery, presents the symbolism of Puritan New England morality issues. How a woman was made to display a scarlet letter to mark her as an adulterous woman. Nathaniel Hawthorne, introduction by Kathryn Harrison, notes by Gretchen Short, The Scarlet Letter, (New York: The Modern Library, 2000). Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 48–51. The passing on of a clothing item, in some cases more ceremonial, with a symbol of the rank of the office, was the passing on of “the mantle of authority,” (the passing of Elijah's cloak (his mantle) to Elisha (2 Kings 2:13). Or the stripping of Aaron's garment to be passed on to Eleazar, (Numbers 20:26–28, Exod. 28:2, 29:29). Don E. Norton, Editor, Temples Of The Ancient World, Ritual and Symbolism, (Salt Lake City and Provo, Utah: FARMS & Deseret Book, 1994), also edited by Donald W. Parry, chapter 23, Priestly Clothing in Bible Times, by John A. Tvedtnes, pp.649-704, and chapter 24, The Garment of Adam in Jewish, Muslim, and Christian Tradition, by Stephen D. Ricks, p. 705-39. Gregory of Nyssa, ‘On The Baptism of Christ,’ The Nicene and Post-Nicene Fathers, vol.5, p. 519—520, & 524, Gregory of Nyssa: Dogmatic Treatises, etc. (reprint June 1972, WM. B. Eerdmans). <http://www.newadvent.org/fathers/2910.htm>

3493- Nicolas Cheetham, Keepers of the Keys, A History of the Popes from St. Peter to John Paul II, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1983), 34–35.

3494- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 582–4. Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 48–51. Gene Gurney, Kingdoms of Europe, An Illustrated Encyclopedia of Ruling Monarchs from Ancient Times to the Present, (New York: Crown Publishers, Inc., 1982), 33–34. Nicolas Cheetham, Keepers of the Keys, A History of the Popes from St. Peter to John Paul II, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1983), 86–98, art work before p. 121 of Henry IV abasing himself before a haughty Gregory VII at Canossa (1077), stripped of his crown & royal regalia, clothed in penitent's coarse garb, & bare-foot, to humble him.

3495- Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 50–51.

3496- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 334, 404, end note 33: De novitatibus huius temporis 12 in Monumenta Germaniae Historica, Libelli de lite, III, 297–7. <https://archive.org/search.php?query=Monumenta%20Germaniae%20Historica> - <https://archive.org/details/monumentageneacro3geseuoft>

3497- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 190, & 393, end note 54: Rota veneris (ed. Friedrich Baethgen, Rome, 1927), 20. Song of Solomon 2:12. Phrase “putting off” honor of the world, for religious garb, such as those put on to enter a convent, is garment types & lore. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Boncompagno_da_Signa

3498- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 215–16, foot note 32: Eccl 30:1, Psa. Lxxvii.6, Gen. 39:13, Matt. 9:9, Mark 14:51, John 4:28, Psa. Lxviii, 28, Joshua 6:26.

3499- <http://drivetimearchivespromosources.blogspot.com/> scroll down to article by Darell Thorpe, Passover, Easter & Garment Types of Deification in the Resurrection (Easter Sunday), 4-8-2012). Winchester England Priory of St Swithun or Hyde Abbey 1121- 1161 Winchester Psalter Psalter of Henry of Blois Psalter of St Swithun - Baptism of Christ, angel holds the traditional white baptismal robes. Symbolic of putting on new clothing. Thus, later Easter traditions of Whitesunday, became the later Easter traditions of giving and getting new clothing. Baptism from Cemetery of St Callistus Rome, 4th c. Baptism, a ritualistic type of Christ's descent into the watery abyss. Christ having likened himself to Jonah: "For as Jonas was three days and three nights in the whale's belly; so shall the Son of man be three days and three nights in the heart of the earth." (Matt.12:40). 18th cent. Russian Icon of the Baptism of Christ. Angels holds the traditional white baptismal garments). (9th cent. Cross Pascal Vat. Reliquary cross of Pope Pascal- Lower section show the Baptism of Christ with the angel holding the white baptismal robe. In historic Christian traditions, the blood that flows down from the cross, is a type of baptism. Adam's grave, symbolic in many art works as a skull & cross bones, has Christ's blood flow, or drip down on his grave to baptize him. Thus, faded fragments & later legendized versions of Baptism for the Dead. Adam is sometimes depicted under the cross being lifted out of his grave by different types of hand & wrist grips, just as in many depictions of the harrowing of hell; Christ's descent into hell, hades, limbo, purgatory; or as in Eastern Christianity's iconography, the resurrection, called the anastasis). Christ in Limbo, 1440s Friedrich Pacher - Szépművészeti Múzeum - Budapest. In many cases, souls in limbo, hell, hades, purgatory, etc., are depicted naked, without protective garments, or robes. Thus, according to ritualistic cleansing types; the souls in these lower regions are being purified by the fires of hell; are punished for their sins by the demons there. After this, they are rescued by Christ, angels, prophets, apostles, saints & those who descend to preach the gospel to them, & lift them up out by different types of hand & wrist grips. They ascend up naked, in some cases, because they are eventually going to be clothed in ascension robes, or resurrection robes that are protective garments. These robes are types of how the newly resurrected spirits will be clothed in resurrected bodies). John the Baptist preaching the gospel in Hades, is later joined by Christ, who also preaches & resurrects the dead. Church of the Holy Apostles, 13th century Fresco, Pec. Serbia. During the 3rd century, Origen of Alexandria, a student scholar of Clement of Alexandria, wrote that John the Baptist had died before Christ, "so that he might descend to the lower regions and announce [preach] his coming. For everywhere the witness and forerunner of Jesus is John, being born before and dying shortly before the Son of God, so that not only to those of his generation but likewise to those who lived before Christ should liberation from the death be preached, & that he might everywhere prepare a people trained to receive the Lord." Hippolytus, also wrote that John the Baptist had died first that he might prepare those in Hades for the gospel. Thus John became the forerunner there, also, "announcing even as he did on this earth, that the Savior was about to come to ransom the spirits of the saints from the hand of death." Later, a medieval Easter drama, the "Harrowing of Hell," John descends first, then is there to greet Christ when Christ descended. Many art works depict this sort of thing. The Old Testament Saints, the prophets, are there to greet the glorious King upon his descent. Sources: Origen, In Lucam Homiliae (Homily on Luke), 4, in PG = [J. P. Migne, Patrologiae Cursus Completus; Series Latina, 221 volumes; (Paris: 1844-1864)], 12:1811, & Origen, Commentaria in Evangelium Joannis (Commentary on John), 2, 30, in PG 14:181. Hippolytus, On Christ & the Antichrist, 5, 45, in PG = [J. P. Migne, Patrologiae Cursus Completus; Series Latina, 221 vols; (Paris: 1844-1864)], 10:764). John the Baptist, Forerunner for Christ, preaching the gospel in Hades. A Reader's Guide to Orthodox Icons: Hymns, sung on August 29th proclaim: "The glorious beheading of the Forerunner, became an act of divine dispensation, for he preached to those in hell the coming of the Savior..." (Hjembaek 1475 Harrowing of Hell Sect 2 south arch. Naked souls, first Adam, are raised up out of the jaws of hell by different types of hand & wrist grasping. The traditional trade mark of the resurrection, or the anastasis are different types of hand & wrist grips as Christ resurrects the dead out of their graves. Descent into hell - Raffaello original - 1514, Raffaello Sanzio AD 1483-1520). Descent into hell - f.20r of MS K.26 one of sequence of 46 biblical illustrations cent. 1270-80, inserted at front of 14th c Psalter. Naked souls raised by hand grips out of the jaws of hell, thus being resurrected. Descent into Limbo, Évrard d'Espinques illumination manuscript, Middle Ages. Christ reaches out his hand to clasp the hand of Adam, the first naked soul to be resurrected out of the jaws of limbo). 14th century, Christ's descent into purgatory. Christ grips the hand of a naked Adam, the first in many to be resurrected out of purgatory. Art redrawn by Debra Wirth, for an original see: Claude Schaeffner, Artistic Consultant: Jean-Clarence Lambert & others, Gothic Painting, (England: Ed. S.A. Geneva 1968), vol. I, p. 48), 14th century, the Master of Westphalia, Christ in Purgatory). Hans Memling 1440 1494 Last Judgement Triptych in Muzeum Narodowe Gdansk Poland 3. Matfré Ermengau of Béziers Breviari d'Amor Catalan prose version- f-40- soul ride up on protective blanket - last quarter of 14th century). Icon with the Koimesis, Falling Asleep of the Virgin Mary, late 10th cent Byzantine - Christ wraps the spirit of the Virgin Mary in protective swaddling clothing, an Angels descend with ascension robes to further protect her spirit during her assumption into heaven. These types of ascension robes, clothing, swaddling cloth, blankets, & martyrs' rewards as garments; are part of the baptismal types of ascending in high realms. 10th c., Constantinople, Soap stone Dormition Dormition, Mary's soul is wrapped in a swaddling cloth, to be passed on into the protective care of an angel also descending with ascension clothing. Angels carrying the soul of St Bertin to heaven - From an altarpiece by Simon Marmion 1480. The soul rides up on a protective blanket in the care of guardian angels. Book of Hours, Use of Rome- Netherlands, S- c. 1440- Naked souls ride up to paradise on blanket, Angels also for protection, God above blesses their ascension out of their graves. British Library. Book of Hours, Use of Sarum- Netherlands, S- 2nd or 3rd quarter of the 15th c. - soul rides up to heaven on white protective blanket, with guardian angels. British Library. Book of Hours, Use of Sarum- Netherlands, S Bruges c 1490- Soul wrapped up in protective blanket with Abraham in paradise - Demon attempt to harm soul. British Library. Virgins, dressed in white, are greeted by Christ at Gates of Paradise. Leaf from the Breviary of Charles the Bold & Margaret of York 1467-70. Christ clasps their hands to welcome them in. Harrowing of hell Caparrosio altarpiece of Caparrosio 1507 St Mary s Cathedral Pamplona Spain. Psalter including a calendar ff 13-18v England Central Oxford 1st quarter of the 13th c.- angel with baptismal robe, John the Baptist, baptism of Christ. Master of the Narbonne Parament - Entombment, descent into Hell, and Noli me tangere c 1375 Musee du Louvre - Paris. After the harrowing of hell, Christ, resurrected, holding the cross banner, appears to Mary, one of the first to witness Christ's resurrected body, as he begins his victory march throughout the whole world. Matfré Ermengau of Béziers's Breviari d'Amour of angels carrying the soul of a virtuous man to Heaven. Hans Memling - Memline 1430-94 German-born Early Netherlandish painter: Last Judgment, souls on right hand of Christ, greeted by St. Peter by hand shakes, clothed in garments before entering door to paradise! Un'altra Dormitio, anche questa molto frammentaria e danneggiata, è stata dipinta nel 1435 da Masolino a Castiglione Olona. E' ben visibile l'animula di Maria fasciata e con un "cappuccio" sulla testa, proprio come in quella di Tempio.

3500- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150-1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 281.

3501- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150-1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 133.

3502- Michael and Ariane Batterberry, Fashion, The Mirror of History, (New York: Greenwich House, 1982, Distributed by Crown Publishers, Inc., 1977), 14, 60-90. Philippe Aries & Georges Duby, General Editors, Translator, Arthur Goldhammer, A History of Private Life, From Pagan to Byzantium, (Cambridge, Massachusetts, London, England: The Belknap Press of Harvard University Press, 1987), vol. I, From Pagan Rome to Byzantium, p. 257-59, 276-279, 281, 532, 617-18, 622, 632. Compiled by Mrs. Aria, Illustrated by Percy Anderson, Costume: Fanciful, Historical & Theatrical, (London, New York: MACMILLAN & Co., Limited, 1906), <https://archive.org/stream/costumefanciful00ariagoog/page/n11/mode/2up> - Carolyn G. Bradley, A History of World Costume, (London: Peter Owen Limited, 1960). Many links are subject to change, might no longer work. <https://archive.org/details/in.ernet.dli.2015.531086> - Millia Davenport, The Book of Costume, (New York: Crown Pub., Inc., 1948, 1976), vol. 1, p. 79-503, etc. S. W. Fairholt, Costume In England: A History of Dress from the Earliest Period till the close of the 18th century, (London: Chapman & Hall, 1846), p. 45-52. Links might still work by the time of this reading. <https://archive.org/details/in.ernet.dli.2015.208951> - <https://archive.org/stream/in.ernet.dli.2015.208951/2015.208951.Costume-In#page/n57/mode/2up> - Mary Margaret Egerton (Countess of Wilton), The Book of Costume: Or, Annals of Fashion from the earliest period to the Present time, (London: Henry Colburn, Publishers, 1846). J. R. Planche, History of British Costume, From the Earliest Period to the Close of the 18th century, (London: C. Cox, 1847). Link still might, but might not work. <https://archive.org/details/bookcostumeoran00wiltgoog> - Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 48-50, 60, 78, 92, 94, 99-100, 108, 115, 121, 128, 131, 141, 149-50, 154-55, 161-64, 171, 197, 199, 201, 205-06, 232, 242, 272, 294-95, 306. This link might be amongst the many that get taken down, but could still work too. <https://speeches.byu.edu/talks/hugh-nibley/leaders-managers/> - <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=NSjE2Ks38uE> - <https://archive.org/details/bookcostumefrom00rankgoog> - 3503- Sara Robbins, (Editor), Law, A Treasury of Art and Literature, Beaux Arts Editions, (New York: A & S Graphics, Inc., Wantagh, Editorial production, Harkavy Publishing Service, New York, Huge Lauter Levin Associates, Inc., 1990), 38, colorplate 5, Giotto (Giotto DI Bondone), Last Judgment, 1304, Fresco. Cappella Scrovegni (Arena Chapel), Padua. Those on the right side of Christ's judgment are clothed in different clothing, while those on the left are naked, being dragged down to hell & punished. Pages 68–69, color plate 18, Padro Berruguete, Saint Dominic Presiding over an Auto-da-fé. c. 1475, Prado Museum, Madrid. Born in Castile in 1170, Dominic founded the order of Preaching Friars, the Dominican Order, confirmed 1216. Inquisition's heresy trials followed, with them as taking judgmental positions, like in later depictions. This work shows 2 members of the Albigensian sect condemned as a heretical sect of south France, marked by wearing caps & tunics that identify them as the accused. Two others being burned at the stake, have been stripped of their clothing, except a loin covering. See also: Philippe Aries & Georges Duby, General Editors, Translator, Arthur Goldhammer, A History of Private Life, From Pagan to Byzantium, (Cambridge, Massachusetts, London, England: The Belknap Press of Harvard University Press, 1987), vol. I, From Pagan Rome to Byzantium, p. 257–59, 276–279, 281, 532, 617–18, 622, 632. Craig Harbison, The Last Judgment in Sixteenth Century Northern Europe, (New York, U.S.A., and London, England: Garland Pub. Inc., 1976). Jennifer O'Reilly, A Garland Series, Outstanding Theses In The Fine Arts From British Universities, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, (New York, U.S.A., and London, England: Garland Publishing, Inc., 1988). Thesis submitted to the University of Nottingham for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, October 1972). Robert Hughes, Heaven and Hell in Western Art, (New York: Stein and Day/Pub., 1968). James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (New York, New York, Doubleday, 2005). Clifford Davidson, Editor, The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, and Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Kalamazoo, Michigan: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan University, 1994). Colleen McDannell and Bernhard Lang, Heaven: A History, (New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1988). Jeffrey Burton Russell, A History of Heaven, The Singing Silence, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1997).

<https://archive.org/details/historybritishc02plangoog> - Darell Thorpe, THE ARMOR OF GODS (PROTECTIVE SKINS OR GARMENTS IN HISTORY & COLOR SYMBOLISM) (Salt Lake City, Utah: Religious, Historical & Polemical Studies, 2014), Kindle Edition, uncorrected rough draft, 6-24-2014, the use of different types of garments throughout history, etc. All links can be subjected to changes & some may not work, but still do too. https://www.amazon.com/PROTECTIVE-GARMENTS-HISTORY-SYMBOLISM-ebook/dp/B00DP476FA/ref=sr_1_1?s=digital-text&ie=UTF8&qid=1372505435&sr=1-1

3504- 1867–1939, Walter Leslie Wilmhurst, The Meaning of Masonry, (New York: Gramercy Books, Crown Publishers, Inc., 1980), 35–37, see also p.12, 31, 75–76, 99–100, 131–137, etc.

3505- Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Co., 1968), 48. Ann Kramer, Jean Cook, Theodore Rowland-Entwistle, Editor, Fay Franklin, History's Time Line, A 40,000 Year Chronicle of Civilization, (NY: Barnes & Noble Books, 1981, revised & updated, 2005), 66, 69, see year 1075, dispute between pope and emperor over who should appoint bishops.

3506- Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 48–50.

3507- Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (New York, San Diego, U.S.A.; London, England: Harcourt Brace & Company). Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986). Ostler, Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity, 1982, BYU Studies, vol. 22, Winter 1982, #1, p. 31—45. Acts 18:1-6, 20:26, Romans 6:3–9, 13:8-14, Colossians 2:12, 1 Corinthians 15:53–58, 2 Cor. 5:1–4, Ephesians 4:7-25, 5:2–11, 26–27, 6:11–19, Rev. 3: 18, 6:11, 7:14, 19:8, 14, 22:11–12, Psalms 90:7–8, 17, 91:1–4. 1 Peter 3:17–21, 4:5-6. James 5:2, Jude 6, 12, 23.

3508- Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 48–51.

3509- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press 1960, 681–89.

3510- James Reston Dogs of God Columbus the Inquisition & the Defeat of the Moors NY: Doubleday 2005, 23–4

3511- Geoffrey Abbott, Rack, Rope & Red-Hot Pincers, A History of Torture & Its Instruments, (Lon.: Brockhampton Press, 1993), 48, citing Limborch, 1731, The History of the Inquisition.

3512- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought & the Art in France & the Netherlands in the 14th & 15th Centuries, (Lon.: Folio Society, 1998), 3–4.

3513- John Russell Brown, The Oxford Illustrated History of Theatre, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1995), 89-90.

3514- Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 115, 128 & 131.

3515- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Every_After

3516- Walter Leslie Wilmhurst, 1867-1939, The Meaning of Masonry, NY: Gramercy Books, 1980, Crown Pub., p. 12–18, 29–215.

3517- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Branded_\(TV_series\))

3518- Superman, Clark Kent, is played by Tom Welling, in the 10 seasons series, Smallville, based on DC comic book series, see on line dcomics.com & Warner Brothers, television, & wbtvondvd.com. The series, came out about 2000, & ran through to the tenth & final season about 2011. In season 9, superman adds the cloak & S insignia to his dark costume. Could it be that his costume is dark so that it's harder for the bad guys to see in the dark? Or does it have other meanings?

3519- Elizabeth Hough Schestr & Janette Woolsey, Its Time For EASTER, (Philadelphia: Macrae Smith Co., 1961), 21, & 24-5. In: The Gospel Of Philip, by R. Mcl. Wilson, B.D., Ph.D., 87-91, garments were used as part of the baptismal ordinances, & were symbolic types of what happens to the spiritual & mortal bodies. Thus, in some cases the garment in many Gnostic & even anti-Gnostic sources, are symbolic of the body. (The Gospel Of Philip, p.87-91. ANF, 2:165-169, 215-219, 230-1, 253-254, 263, 265-6, 453-4, & 582-3.

3520- Aileen Fisher, A Crowell Holiday Book, Easter, (NY: Thomas Y. Crowell, 1968), pages not numbered.

3521- Eric Maple, Superstition & The Superstitious, (South Brunswick, NY: A. S. Barnes & Co., 1972), 119.

3522- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press 1960, 190–91, foot note 10: F. J. Foakes-Jackson, History of the Christian Church, ... to A.D. 461, p. 576, 577.

3523- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 191–92, end note 13: Duchesne, Origines du Culte Chretien, p. 326–333.

- 3524- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 156–157, foot note 30: Gesta Karoli, by the Monk of St Gall, (Monumenta Germaniae Historica, Scriptores, II, 734, VIII, 269. (Chronicon Sancti Laurentii Leodiensis).
- 3525- John Russell Brown, The Oxford Illustrated History of Theatre, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1995), 76.
- 3526- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought & the Art in France & the Netherlands in the 14th & 15th Centuries, Lon.: Folio Society, 1998, 5-6.
- 3527- Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 162, 266, 272, & 309.
- 3528- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought & the Art in France & the Netherlands in the 14th & 15th Centuries, Lon.: Folio Society, 98, 23–25.
- 3529- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought & the Art in France & the Netherlands in the 14th & 15th Centuries, (Lon.: Folio Society, 1998), 41.
- 3530- James Reston Dogs of God Columbus the Inquisition & the Defeat of the Moors NY Doubleday 2005, 283-8
- 3531- Eric Maple, Superstition & The Superstitious, (South Brunswick, NY: A. S. Barnes & Co., 1972), 89.
- 3532- Eric Maple, Superstition & The Superstitious, (South Brunswick, NY: A. S. Barnes & Co., 1972), 90. Recently in London, death for some reason is associated symbolically with black.
- 3533- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought & the Art in France & the Netherlands in the 14th & 15th Centuries, Lon.: Folio Society, 1998, 218.
- 3534- Eric Maple, Superstition & The Superstitious, (South Brunswick, NY: A. S. Barnes & Co., 1972), 90.
- 3535- Eric Maple, Superstition & The Superstitious, (South Brunswick, NY: A. S. Barnes & Co., 1972), 101.
- 3536- Eric Maple, Superstition & The Superstitious, (South Brunswick, NY: A. S. Barnes & Co., 1972), 102.
- 3537- Eric Maple, Superstition & The Superstitious, (South Brunswick, NY: A. S. Barnes & Co., 1972), 103.
- 3538- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 92–93.
- 3539- CELEBRATIONS, The Complete Book of American Holidays, by Robert J. Myers, with The Editors of Hallmark Cards, (Garden City, New York: Doubleday & Co., 1972), 108 & 156-7.
- 3540- Eric Maple, Superstition & The Superstitious, (South Brunswick, NY: A. S. Barnes & Co., 1972), 88.
- 3541- Eric Maple, Superstition & The Superstitious, (South Brunswick, NY: A. S. Barnes & Co., 1972), 140.
- 3542- A Holiday Book, Easter, by Lillie Patterson, 1966, 21-22.
- 3543- Sir Paul Harvey, The Oxford Companion to English Literature, (London, Edinburgh Glasgow, etc., Oxford University Press, 1932, March 1933, At the Clarendon Press), p. 841. Link might still work, but also might not by the time of this reading. <http://www.archive.org/details/oxfordcompanion011492mbp>
- 3544- The Facts On File Encyclopedia Of World Mythology & Legend, Anthony S. Mercatante, 1988, Facts On File, NY, Oxford, 673.
- 3545- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, & Other Little People, (NY: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier ed. by Crown Pub., 1978), 156–158, also p. 60–71, 76–79, 109–111, 147–150, etc.
- 3546- Concise Dictionary of Holidays, Raymond Jahn, Pub. by Philosophical Library, N.Y., 1958, p.100.
- 3547- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 135.
- 3548- A Dictionary of Days, by Leslie Dunkling, Pub. Facts On File Pub., N.Y., N.Y., Oxford, England, p.131.
- 3549- Easter & Other Spring Holidays, by Gilda Berger, Pub. by Franklin Watts, NY, Lon., Toronto, Sydney 1983, A First Book, p.38; Biblical Myths & Mysteries, Gilbert Thurlow, Pub. Octopus Books, 1974, Lon., p.64.
- 3550- Peter Watkins & Erica Hughes, 1981, Here's the Year, (Great Britain: Camelot Press, Southampton; New York; Julia MacRae Books, 1981), 90.
- 3551- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 72, foot note 3: V. Gay, Glossaire archéologique, I, 1887, p. 730. For examples of infant sized souls being swathed in protective linen, while ascending in the arms of angels into paradise or heaven, see on the internet, article by Darell Thorpe, Passover, Easter & Garment Types of Deification in the Resurrection (Easter Sunday, 4-8-2012), scroll down to art works of: 9th cent. Cross Pascal Vat. Reliquary cross of Pope Pascal- Lower section show the Baptism of a nude younger looking Christ with the angel holding the white baptismal robe. Also: Matfré Ermengau of Béziers Breviari d'Amor Catalan prose version- f-40- a nude smaller looking soul ride up on protective blanket - last quarter of 14th century. And: Icon with the Koimesis, Falling Asleep of the Virgin Mary, late 10th cent Byzantine - Christ wraps the spirit of the Virgin Mary in protective swaddling clothing, an Angels descend with ascension robes to further protect her spirit during her assumption into heaven. These types of ascension robes, clothing, swaddling cloth, blankets, & martyrs' rewards as garments; are part of the baptismal types of ascending in high realms. 10th century, Constantinople, Soap stone Dormition Dormition, Mary's soul is wrapped in a swaddling cloth, to be passed on into the protective care of an angel also descending with ascension clothing. Another shows angels carrying the soul of St Bertin to heaven - From an altarpiece by Simon Marmion 1480. The soul rides up on a protective blanket in the care of guardian angels. In the Book of Hours, Use of Rome- Netherlands, S- c. 1440- Naked souls ride up to paradise on blanket, Angels also for protection, God above blesses their ascension out of their graves. British Library. Book of Hours, Use of Sarum- Netherlands, S- 2nd or 3rd quarter of the 15th century- an older looking naked soul rides up to heaven on white protective blanket, with guardian angels. British Library. In the Book of Hours, Use of Sarum -Netherlands, S Bruges c 1490- a naked younger looking soul wrapped up in protective blanket with Abraham in paradise - Demon attempt to harm soul. British Library. And: Matfré Ermengau of Béziers's Breviari d'Amour of angels carrying the naked soul of a virtuous man to Heaven. Plus: Un'altra Dormitio, anche questa molto frammentaria e danneggiata, è stata dipinta nel 1435 da Masolino a Castiglione Olona. E' ben visibile l'anima di Maria fasciata e con un "cappuccio" sulla testa, proprio come in quella di Tempio.
- 3552- Louis Herbert, (Editor), The Mythology of All Races, (Boston: Marshall Jones Co., MDCCCXVIII), in 13 vols, vol. 3, Slavic, Jan Máchal, Ph.D., p. 253–255, the Navyk and Rusalky, water nymphs in Russian folklore that are believed to be the spirits of babies that died un-baptized, upon hearing their pleas for baptism, a simple baptismal formula prayer will baptize them. Strips of clothing or linen also appeases them too. Being half naked, or only clothed in a white shirt, they are faded reminders of the earlier catechumens that were naked during baptism, & later clothed in white robes, whitsuntide or whitesunday being the traditional time for such reminders of the old ways. See also: Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, & Other Little People, (NY: Gramercy Books, 2000 ed., earlier eds. Crown Pub., 1978), 3, 8, 63–65, 71, 78–80, 122–23, 148–50, 157–61, 214–15, 219, 246–47, 258–61, 403, especially for Slaves, p. 490–91. Charles Phillips, Michael Kerrigan, Consultant:

Dr. Elizabeth Warner, Myths & Mankind, series, vol. entitled: Slavic Myths and Mankind, Forests of Vampire, (Amsterdam: Time-Life Books, BV, 1999, Text Duncan Baird Publishers, 1999), section entitled: Spirit Masters & Little Demons, by Michael Kerrigan, see Siren of the Stream on p. 66–68, about the rusalkas.

3553- George Beahm, Fact, Fiction, & Folklore in Harry Potter's World, Charlottesville, VA: Hampton Roads, 2005, 29.

3554- Robert J. Myers, CELEBRATIONS, The Complete Book of American Holidays, (Garden City, NY: The Editors of Hallmark Cards, Doubleday & Co., 1972), 108 & 156-7; Lillie Patterson, 1966, A Holiday Book, Easter, 21-22; Aileen Fisher, A Crowell Holiday Book, Easter, (New York: Thomas Y. Crowell Co., 1968), pages not numbered; Anthony S. Mercatante, The Facts On File Encyclopedia Of World Mythology And Legend, (NY: Facts On File, Oxford, 1988), 673; Raymond Jahn, Concise Dictionary of Holidays, (NY: Philosophical Library, 1958), 100; Leslie Dunkling, A Dictionary of Days, (NY: Facts On File Pub., Oxford, England), 131; Gilda Berger, Easter And Other Spring Holidays, (NY: Lon. Etc.: Franklin Watts, 1983, A First Book), p.38; Gilbert Thurlow, Biblical Myths & Mysteries, (London: Octopus Books, 1974), p.64). The descent into hell, showing the hand clasping rite of passage, is depicted, among other events, on a robe. Marion P. Ireland, Textile Art in the Church, Vestments, Paraments, & Hangings in Contemporary Worship, Art, & Architecture, (Nashville & NY: Abingdon Press, 1966, 1967 & 1971), 114, figure 52a, the Saccos., 6th or 7th c. Rev. 1:6; 2:17; 3:4-5, 12, 21, 10:7; Rom.16:25; 1 Cor.2:7; 4:1; Col.2:1-3; 1 Tim.3:8-9. Dr. Johann L. Mosheim, 1854, Historical Commentaries on the State of Christianity, Vol.1. p.77, 127, 373, 391, Vol.2 p.472. Gen.3:21; Ex.28:2; 29:4-30; 40:7-16; Lev.14:14-29; Num.18:8; Isa.1:16-18; 22:21-3; 52:15; Ezk.36:24-27; 41:1-23; 42:14; 44:17-21, etc. The Ante-Nicene Fathers = (ANF) 2:49-50, 54, 91-3, 104-5, 174, 198-200, 203-6, 209-11, 213, 215-219, 231, here Clement of Alex., mentions being anointed & clothed in a garment, symbolic of Christ. He also made reference to "the robe of immortality". See also p.234, 253-56, 265-6, 271, 302-3, 312-13, 461-2, etc. Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments of Romanesque Art, (Un. of Chicago Press, 1954 & 1967), pl. 20, fig.45, pl.173, fig. 380, & 381, pl.173; Kartsonis, Anastasis, p.72, etc.; F. E. Halliday, An Illustrated History of England, (New York: The Viking Press, 1967--68), p.47, an art work depicting souls riding up on a garment in the hands of the angel ("St. Michael") towards God. (12th century A.D. Shaftesbury Psalter.); Text by Ernst Murbach, The Painted Romanesque Ceiling Of St. Martin In Zellis, (New York and Washington: Frederick A. Praeger, 1967, English trans., see: J-II; The Toledo Museum of Art European Paintings, Pub. by the Tol. Mu. of A., Toledo Ohio, Dist. by Penn. State Un., Press, 1976), p.389, Spiridion Chrysoloras 17th c. A.D.; Sartell Prentice, 1938, The Voices of the Cathedral, p.174; Marcell Restle 1967, Byzantine Wall Painting In Asia Minor, Plates II, pl.28, & pl.203; Italy, by Mercury Art Books, Florence: Edizioni Mercurio 1954-7, p.231; Otto A. Jager, Ethiopia Illuminated Manuscripts, (NY: New York Graphic Soc. & Unesco), pl.13; Ludmila Kybalova, Coptic Textiles, 1967, p.68-69 fig.15-16, & p.34; Brigham Young University Studies, vol.22, Winter 1982 #1 p.31-45, St. Ambrose, (Hamman, Traite des Mysteries in L' Initiation Chretienne, p.74; Heb. 10:16-22; Brigham Young Un. Studies, vol.22, Winter 1982 #1, p.31-45, Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity, by Blake Ostler; R. Mcl. Wilson, B.D., Ph.D., The Gospel Of Philip, pp.87-91, etc. We read of garments which were used as part of the baptismal ordinances, & which was symbolic types of what happens to the spiritual & mortal bodies. Thus, in some cases the garment in many Gnostic, & even anti-Gnostic sources, is symbolic of the body. (Ibid., p.87-91).

3555- Katharine Briggs, An Encyclopedia of Fairies, Hobgoblins, Brownies, Bogies, & Other Supernatural Creatures, (NY: Pantheon Books, 1976), 30-31, 33, 54, 93, 137, 231, 232, 237 279, 299, 318-20, 335-36, 341, 344-6, 380-2, 390. Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 3, 8, 62-63, 70-71, 79, 94, 148-150, 173, 214, 217, 258-261, 316-318, 363, 385, 457, 464, 490-91, 536. Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (New York; London, England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc., 1989), 39-42, 81-82, 130-34.

3556- Katharine Briggs, An Encyclopedia of Fairies, Hobgoblins, Brownies, Bogies, & Other Supernatural Creatures, (NY: Pantheon Books, 1976), 30-33, 93, 110-111, 137, 170-71, 232, 237, 279, 299, 318-20, 335-37,

3557- Myth and Man, Heroes of the Dawn: Celtic Myth, section by C. Scott Littleton & Linda A. Malcor, (Legends of Arthur), (Lon.: Duncan Baird Pub., 1996, Time & Life Books), 111.

3558- The Reign of Antichrist, Or The Great "Falling Away" by J.M. Sjodahl, 1913, p.36-45.

3559- Darell Thorpe, The Mystery Behind The Mysteries, Ritualistic Realm Pilgrims In Early to Later Christian Mysteries, (SLC, Utah: R.H. & P.S., unpublished research paper for a college class. HIS 190-01 Spec. Studies. Instructor: Marianne McKnight. Student: Darell Thorpe, Winter 1997, SLCC, Winter Quarter, 1997.

3560- E. And M. A. Bradford, The Encyclopedia of Superstitions, NY: Metro Books, 2002, 55.

3561- E. And M. A. Bradford, The Encyclopedia of Superstitions, NY: Metro Books, 2002, 304.

3562- Eric Maple, Superstition & The Superstitious, South Brunswick, NY: A. S. Barnes & Co, 1972, 170.

3563- Right Rev. Charles Joseph Hefele, D.D., Late Bishop of Rottenburg, Formerly Professor of Theology in the University of Tübingen, A History of the Councils of the Church, From the Original Documents, (T. & T. Clark, 38 George Street, U.S.A.: Edinburgh, 1895; translated from German and edited by William R. Clark, M.A., HON, LL.D., F.R.S.C., Professor of Philosophy in Trinity College, Toronto; HON, Professor in Hobart College, Geneva, NY. First AMS edition pub. 1972; (NY, NY: AMS Press, Inc., 1972), vol. 4, p. 234, (A.D. 451 to 680).

3564- Links might not work at the time of this reading, but still might work. <http://www.thefullwiki.org/Saint> See also: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Halo_%28religious_iconography%29 Halo (religious iconography) in Wikipedia The Free Encyclopedia on line.

3565- 2 Timothy 4:5-8; Frederick Hartt, Art, vol. 2, pl.21; Sheldon Cheney, 1968, Sculpture of the World: A History, p.305; John P. Lundy, 1876, Monumental Christianity, p.99, fig.36, depicting the "Divine hand holding a crown". An angel descends out of heaven with a crown, in a depiction of the martyrdom of Saint Sebastian - Andrea Del Castagno AD 1390?-1457. Florence, intro. by Masaccio, Masolino and Pollaiuolo after 1430; Francis Henry Taylor, Fifty Centuries of Art, NY: The Metropolitan Museum of Art & Harper & Brothers, 1954, 46.

3566- R. Mcl. Wilson, The Gospel Of Philip, (London: A.R. Mowbray), p.179.

3567- A number of early Christians, such as Irenaeus, Clement of Alexandria, & Gregory of Nyssa saw in the sacrament different types & symbols for the deification process. Thus, in some cases, it seems that the sacrament was considered a type & symbol of Christ's immortality which was taken into the bodies of the believers by the partaking of the sacramental meals. And even though this symbolical type had it's roots, & was based on the doctrine of deification to a certain extent, these symbolical types & symbolism, in later centuries, may have become literalized to an extreme in the doctrine of transubstantiation in which many later Christians believed that the sacramental meal had somehow been transformed into Christ's blood and body. (Orat. Catech. Par. 37; ANF 1: p.521; 2: p.598; John 6:33, 38-40, & 51-69; Luke 22:7-20; Acts 2:42; 1 Cor. 10:1-21; Heb.9:7-28, 10:1-34; 1 Cor.10:14-21; J. M. Sjodahl, The Reign of Antichrist, (Salt Lake City, Utah: The Deseret News, 1913), pp.18, & 46-7; Stephen

Benko, Pagan Rome & The Early Christians, p.1-78. N&PNF 5:502-506, Gregory of Nyssa, The Great Catechism, Chaps. xxxv--xxxvii.

3568- Mary Portrayed, by Vincent Cronin, Pub. by Darton, Longman & Todd, 1968, London, p.3, 16-17, fig.6, p.20-1, fig.8, p.24-5, fig.10, p.28, fig.13, p.31-2, 34-5, 38, figs. 20-1, p.44, 53-5, fig.28, p.88-9, fig.47, p.92-4, 99, 116-7, figs.65, p.128-9, fig.83, & p.156; History of Art, H.W. Janson, Pub. by Harry N. Abrams, Inc., N.Y., first printing Oct., 1962, 19th printing Dec. 1973, p.178, fig.289, p.252, fig.402, p.262, figs.414-15, p.268, figs.426-7, p.270-1, fig.431, fig.463, p.324-5, fig.495-6, & p.380, fig.562; Fra Angelico, by John Pope-Hennessy, Pub., by Phaidon Press, 1952, p.173, fig.X, p.200, figs. XXXIX & XL., p.203, fig. XLVII; Fra Filippo Lippi, by Jeffery Ruda, Pub. by Harry N. Abrams, 1993, Phaidon Press, pp.56-7, pl.22, p.66, pl.28, pp.84, 87, pl.44, p.90-1, pl.47, p.136-153, pls.76-83, pp.297-9, pls.169 & 171, p.368, pl.200, etc.; Western Civilizations, Burns, Vol.1, page in between pp.224-5, Sienese Madonna and Child, Byzantine School, 13th century A.D. (National Gallery; Mary crowned, 14th c., ivory from Louvre, Paris. Mary as the "Queen of Heaven"; Civilisation (A Personal View), by Kenneth Clark, 1969, Harper & Row, Pub., N.Y., & Evanston, vii, #9 in color & 47 in black and white, p.68-71; Mary being crowned queen of heaven during heavenly coronation ceremony. See: Textiles in Daily Life in the Middle Ages, by Rebecca Martin, Pub. The Cleveland Muse. of Art, Cleveland Ohio, 1985, pp.20-1, fig.7, The Coronation of the Virgin. Embroidery. Italy, Florence, 1st half of the 15th c. CMA 53.129 (cat. no. 5), And fig.8, Lorenzo Monaco, Italian, 1370/71-1425. Panel, 1414, Galleria degli Uffizi, Florence; Medieval Europe (A Short History), Hollister, 1968, pp.334-336; Another Altarpiece, from the Dominican convent of San Vincenzo di Annalena, The Virgin and Child enthroned. The coronation. "CA. 1430-1440"; Fra Angelico, (Biographical and Critical Study) by Giulio Carlo Argan, Pub. The World Pub., Co., p.61-2, The Coronation, Louvre, Paris. ENTHRONED, 1437, CONVENT OF SAN MARCO, FLORENCE; Argan, ibid., pp.90-1. A number of art works during 13-17th centuries show Mary crowned, the dates to some of these are 1249, 1320-30, 1430s, & 1616 A.D., while others shows her as if she is one of the members of the Godhead, as she is under going the coronation ceremony in heaven. One dates back to 1453-4, another to 1516 A.D. (Art, by Frederick Hartt, Vol. II, Pub. by Harry N. Abrams, N.Y., 1976, pl.21, Renaissance. Enguerrand Quarton, Coronation of the Virgin. Panel Painting, Musée de l'Hospice, Villeneuve-les-Avignon, France; Art Treasures in Germany, Monuments, Masterpieces, Commissions of Collections, Gen. Eds. Bernard S. Myers, N.Y., Terwin Copplestone, Lon., Pub. by Hamlyn Pub. Group Lim., 1970, p.55, fig.73, p.56-7, fig.76, p.69, fig.96, p.70, fig.99, p.89, fig.126, & p.94, fig.135; Civilisation, Clark, pp.156-7, #22, Holbein, Madonna of Bugomaster Meyer. Mary crowned. Another depiction, 1st half of the 16th c. shows Mary & Christ enthroned; Treasures From The Kremlin, (An Exhibition from the State of Museums of the Moscow Kremlin at the Metropolitan Museum of Art), N.Y., May 19-Sept.1979, and Grand Palais, Paris, Oct. 12, 1979 & Jan. 7, 1980, Pub. by Metro. Mus., of Art, N.Y., Distrib. by Harry N. Abrams, Inc., p.32, pl.5, & p.140. In 1560s, from the chapel of the Assembly of the Virgin in the Cathedral of the Annunciation, Moscow Russia. The "Virgin and Child in the "circles" of glory", the lower portion shows groups of people, some of which depict "monks praising the Virgin." Treasures From The Kremlin, p.33-36, & 140, #7. The Synaxis, or Assembly, of the Virgin. Inv. no. 5062, Provenance: Side chapel of the Assembly of the Virgin in the Cathedral of the Annunciation, Moscow Kremlin, Moscow School, 1560s. Crowned and enthroned along side Christ. Heaven: A History, p.136, 161, pl.30, dated 1575 A.D., Antonino Polti, O.P., Della felicità suprema del cielo (Perugia: Rastelli, 1575). Another depicts "the Virgin Enthroned with the Child" A.D. 1589; Treasures From The Kremlin, op. cit., pp.58 & 157, pl.22, Gold reliquary diptych, front, inside, reverse. A gift from Czar Fedor Ivanovich to Czaritsa Irina. Accessioned from the Monastery of the Ascension, Moscow Kremlin, in 1918 (Inv. no. 15400). Moscow, Kremlin workshop, 1589 A.D. During the 19th century in England and Rome, the Virgin Mary was still believed to have been deified, and raised up to divine rank even to the point where she was still being worshipped as a partaker of the Godhead. See: The 2 Babylons, by Rev. Alexander Hislop, 1916, & 1959 ed., Pub. in Amer. by Loizeaux Brothers, Inc., Neptune, N.J., p.83 & 265-7. See also: A History by Colleen McDannell & Bernhard Lang, Yale Un. 1988 p.83-4, etc., & Art, by Frederick Hartt, Vol.2, Pub. Harry N. Abrams, NY 1976 see pl.21, the Virgin Mary Crowned, dated 1453-54. A.D.; Roman & Palaeo-Christian Painting, by Gerald Gassiot-Talabot, Trans. by Anthony Rhodes, Pub. Funk & Wagnalls, N.Y., p.92-3, depicting Saints with crowns; The Rothschild Canticles, by Jeffrey F. Hamburger, fig.106, 126-7; Byzantine Painting, by Andre Grabar, 1st Ed. 1953, this Ed. 1979, p.54-5, depicting Martyrs with crowns, 6th cent. A.D. Russian Illuminated Manuscripts, by Olga Popova, Trans., by Kathleen Cook, & others, 1984, Aurora Art Pub., Len. p.20, dated about the 15th cent. AD.

3569- Dr. Host Vey, Editor, and Dr. Xavier de Salas, Great Art and Artists of the World, German And Spanish Art to 1900, (New York: Franklin Watts, Inc., A Division of Grolier Incorporated, 1965), p.57. The Coronation of the Virgin, about A.D. 1475. Munich, Alte Pin. Mary crowned by the Father.

3570- Hamburger Kunsthalle, Meisterwerke der Gemälde-Galerie, (Verlag M.DuMont Schauberg; Herausgegeben von Alfred Hentzen unter Mitarbeit von Gerhard Gerkens, Hans Werner Grohn, Hanna Hohl, Michael Schwarz, Wolf Stubbe und George Syamken. Alle Rechte vorbehalten. Nachdruck verboten. CR 1969 by Verlag M.DuMont Schauberg, #16: Meister Bertram, Werkstatt. Der Buxehuder Altar, um 1410. Rechter Flügel, Außenseite Die Krönung Mariä. Dauernde Leihgabe des Kirchenvorstandes der Gemeinde St. Petri, Buxtehude. Christ & Mary enthroned on the same wide throne. Christ is about to place a crown on the head of Mary. #38: Hans Fries um 1470 bis nach 1518. Krönung Mariä, 1512. Vermächtnis des Herrn Siegfried Wedells 1919 an die Freie und Hansestadt Hamburg. Christ & Father, who both look like each other, plus the dove in between them, representing the Holy Spirit, are crowning Mary who is bowed down before them. Jahrbuch Der Berliner Museen, Jahrbuch der Preußischen Kunstsammlungen Neue Folge, Fünfter Band-1963, (Verlagsort, Berlin, Germany: Im Gemeinschaftsverlag, G. Grotes'Sche Verlag Buchhandlung KG - Gebr. Mann, 1963), fig.1. Giotto(?)?. Incoronazione della Vergine Firenze. Museo Nazionale del Bargello. Christ placing a crown on Mary's head. Pages 16-17, figs 2-3. Maso di Banco, Incoronazione della Vergine. Firenze, Museo di Santa Croce. p.23, fig.8.

3571- John Pope-Hennessy, Fra Angelico, Lon.: Phaidon Press, 1952, p.173, pl.38, 44, 45. X. Zanobi Strozzi: The Coronation of the Virgin. Uffizi, Florence. Page 200, XXXIX. Zanobi Strozzi: The coronation of the Virgin. Museo di San Marco, Florence; Marion P. Ireland, Textile Art in the Church, Vestments, Paraments, & Hangings in Contemporary Worship, Art, and Architecture, Nashville & NY: Abingdon Press, 1966, 1967, 1971, p.74.

3572- E. Baldwin Smith, The Dome A Study in the History of Ideas, N. Jersey: Princeton Un. Press 50, 1978, 69.

3573- Mit Beiträgen von, Gabriele Atanassiu, Mariano d' Alatri, Stanislao da Campagnola, Servus Gieben, Engelbert Grau OFM, Raoul Manselli, Raymond Oursel, Clemente Schmitt, Franz von Assisi, (Italy; Stuttgart, Zürich: Belser Verlag, 1990), 176—177, Meister der Stichkappen: Allegorie der Armut, um 1320. Assisi, Unterkirche, Gewölbe über dem Hauptaltar. The arms of God extend out of heaven over a wrist grasping marriage ceremony, above which an angel holds a vest or garment. See also figures 233—35, crowning of saint in a heavenly coronation ceremony, encircled by angels, some of which are making the prayer gesture, with hands placed together in front of them, their fingers pointing upward. See also: Miklós Boskovits & Serena Padovani, The Thyssen-Bornemisza Collection, Early Italian painting 1290—1470, (London: Sotheby's Publication, Philip Wilson Publishers Ltd, 1990; General Editor, Irene Martin), pp. 34—37, #4: The Madonna and Child enthroned with a female martyr, St John the Baptist and four angels. Bartolomeo di Messer Bulgarino (or Bulgarini) A.D. 1300/10—1378. Pages 56—57, Cenni and Giovanni de Biondo worked together on the panel that depicts St. John the Evangelist enthroned (Florence. Accademia, no. 444). Pages 96—97, #15, The Coronation of the Virgin and four angels. Giovanni da Bologna, 1377—89. Pages 114—117, #18: The Madonna and Child enthroned with six angels. Lorenzo Monaco, late 1380's; died 1426. Pages 140—141, 158—159, #25: The Coronation of the Virgin with five angels. Master of 1355, active 1325—75. Etc.

3574- R. McL. Wilson, The Gospel Of Philip, (London: A.R. Mowbray), p.179; Martha Himmelfarb, Tours of Hell, An Apocalyptic Form in Jewish and Christian Literature, (Philadelphia: University of Pennsylvania Press, 1983), pp.156-7; Brigham Young University = BYU Studies, Vol.22, Winter 1982, #1, Blake Ostler, Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity, pp. 31-45; Nibley, The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, Old Testament and Related Studies, (Salt Lake City & Provo, Utah: FARMS & Deseret Book Co., 1986), vol. 1, pp.77, 91, 139-214; Nibley, vol.2, Enoch The Prophet, pp. 32-33, 38-40, 143-46, 168-175, 228-30, 232, 259, edited by Stephen D. Ricks, 1986, Nibley, vol.12, Temples And Cosmos, Nibley, 1992, pp.91-138, & 233-4, 238-9, & 299-318; Don E. Norton, Editor, Temples Of The Ancient World, Ritual and Symbolism, (Salt Lake City and Provo, Utah: FARMS & Deseret Book, 1994), also edited by Donald W. Parry, chapter 23, Priestly Clothing in Bible Times, by John A. Tvedtnes, pp.649-704, and chapter 24, The Garment of Adam in Jewish, Muslim, and Christian Tradition, by Stephen D. Ricks, pp.705-39; DaReil D. Thorpe, The Holy Garments Of The First And Second Adam: The Symbolical Meanings Of Garments In Early To Later Christendom, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Religious, Historical & Polemical Studies, OCT. 1993), an unpublished research paper and computer file prepared for Prof. Stephen D. Ricks of FARMS; R. G. Hammerton-Kelly, Prof. of the N.T., McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago, Society For New Testament Studies Monograph Series, 21, Pre-existence Wisdom & The Son of Man, A Study Of The Idea Of Pre-existence In The New Testament, (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1973), 146, 148-9, & 153.

3575- Scott Petersen Where Have All the Prophets Gone? Ut.: CFI 2005, 103, 138, n. 79: Cyril of Jerusalem, Catechetical Lecture 22.8, in N&PNF, 2:7:153. Hugu Nibley, Collected Works, Provo & SLC, Ut.: FARMS, & Deseret Book, vol.16: The Message of the Joseph Smith Papyri, An Egyptian Endowment, 2005, 2nd ed., 517.

3576- Jennifer O'Reilly, October 1972, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, A Garland Series, Outstanding Thesis in The Fine Arts from British Universities, (New York and London: Garland Publishing, Inc., 1988), 172.

3577- Jennifer O'Reilly, October 1972, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, A Garland Series, Outstanding Thesis in The Fine Arts from British Universities, (New York and London: Garland Publishing, Inc., 1988), 172—79.

3578- Jennifer O'Reilly, 10-1972, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, 172.

3579- Jennifer O'Reilly, 10-1972, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, 172-3.

3580- Timothy Ballard, The American Covenant, One Nation Under God, Volume I, Discovery Through Revolution, (New York: Digital Legend, 2011), 354-55.

3581- Walter Leslie Wilmshurst, 1867—1939, The Meaning of Masonry, (NY: Gramercy Books, 1980), 12.

3582- Walter Leslie Wilmshurst, 1867—1939, The Meaning of Masonry, NY: Gramercy Books, 1980, 9—210.

3583- Pilgrimage: A sacred journey in search of God, William Hamblin, Daniel Peterson, Deseret News, 6-14-12 <http://www.deseretnews.com/article/765589691/A-sacred-journey-in-search-of-God.html>

3584- Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 147.

3585- Brigham Young University = BYU Studies, Vol.22, Winter 1982, #1, Blake Ostler, Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity, p. 31-45. Don E. Norton, Editor, Temples Of The Ancient World, Ritual and Symbolism, (Salt Lake City and Provo, Utah: FARMS & Deseret Book, 1994), also edited by Donald W. Parry, chapter 23, Priestly Clothing in Bible Times, by John A. Tvedtnes, pp.649-704, and chapter 24, The Garment of Adam in Jewish, Muslim, and Christian Tradition, by Stephen D. Ricks, p.705-39. Dareil Thorpe, The Holy Garments Of The First And Second Adam: The Symbolical Meanings Of Garments In Early To Later Christendom, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Religious, Historical & Polemical Studies, OCT. 1993). Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986). Carol Zaleski, Otherworld Journeys, Accounts of Near-Death Experiences In Medieval and Modern Times, (New York and Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987). Clifford Davidson, Editor, The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, and Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Kalamazoo, Michigan: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan University, 1994). Craig Harbison, The Last Judgment in Sixteenth Century Northern Europe, (New York, U.S.A., and London, England: Garland Pub. Inc., 1976). Geoffrey R. King, The Forty Days, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: W.M. B. Eerdmans, 1949). Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments Of Romanesque Art, The Art of Church Treasures in North-Western Europe, (The University of Chicago Press, 1954 and 2nd, Edition, 1967). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Hugu Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, (Provo & Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company), 4: Mormonism and Early Christianity, (1987). Nibley, Baptism for the Dead in Ancient Time, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Improvement Era, 51-52, (December 1948-April 1949). Robert Hughes, Heaven and Hell in Western Art, (New York: Stein and Day/Pub., 1968). Vincent Cronin, Mary Portrayed, (London, England: Darton, Longman & Todd, 1968). Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, (Washington Square, New York, New York: Pantheon Books, 1947). William Barclay, The Apostles' Creed For Everyman, (New York and Evanston: Harper and Row, 1967). Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsachsichen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), three volumes. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen. See also: Jennifer O'Reilly, A Garland Series, Outstanding Theses In The Fine Arts From British Universities, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, (New York, U.S.A., and London, England: Garland Publishing, Inc., 1988). Thesis submitted to the University of Nottingham for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, October 1972). Roger J. Adams, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptisms for the Dead, (unpublished manuscript 1977). Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (New York, San Diego, U.S.A.; London, England: Harcourt Brace & Company). Ariel L. Crowley, BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD, (Boise Idaho: Prepared for Electronic Media by Stanley D. Barker. Chandler Rathfon Post, A History of Spanish Painting, (Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1930—1958). (New York: Kraus reprint Company, 1970's). Thomas Armitage, D.D., LL.D., A History Of The Baptists, (New York: Bryah, Taylor, & Chicago: Morningside, 1887). J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962). Pater Cramer, Baptism and change in the early Middle Ages, c. 200-c. 1150, (Cambridge, England; New York, New York, USA: Cambridge University Press, 1993). Francis Bond, Fonts and Font Covers, (London, New York, and Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford University Press, 1908). Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1981). Russell, Lucifer, The Devil In the Middle Age, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1984). Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988).

3586- Rutherford H. Platt, Jr., Assistant Editor J. Alden Brett, The Forgotten Books of Eden, (U.S.A.: Alpha House, Inc., 1927), The First Book of Adam and Eve, p.34.

3587- Anthony S. Mercatante, The Facts On File Encyclopedia Of World Mythology & Legend, 1988, p.57; The World Of Giotto c. 1267-1337, p.189, etc. Italy, (Mercury Books, 1954-7), p.200-1. Kurt Weitzmann, The Place of Book Illumination in Byzantine Art, p.40-1, figs 33-34; John Rupert, Martin, The Illustration of the Heavenly Ladder Of John Climacus, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1954), LIX, fig.179, etc.; Antione Bon, The Ancient Civilizations of Byzantium, p.144, etc. Barraclough, The Christian World, p.100-1, Olga Popova, Translated by Kathleen Cook, Vladimir Ivanov and Lenina Sorokina, Russian Illumination Manuscript, (Leningrad: Aurora Art Publishing, 1984; U.S.A.: Thames and Hudson, Inc.), # 42: The Ladder to Paradise of St John Climacus. The Ladder, f.2 Lenin Library, Moscow (Desnitsky collection, Φ. 439, ms 21, 1 Moscow, dated first third part of the 15th century Paper 20; 431 ff., 2 Collection of professor Vasily Desnitsky A.D. 1878-1958; 1962, MSS Dept., of the Lenin Library, Moscow Russia, with the Desnitsky collection.

3588- Ignazio Mancini, O.F.M., Archaeological Discoveries, Relative to the Judaeo-Christians, (Jerusalem: Studium Biblicum Franciscanum, Fran. Print. Press Jer. 1970), 165-170.

3589- Roland H. Bainton, The Horizon History of Christianity, 1964, p. 214-15; John Harthan, The Book of Hours, 1977; Joseph Gantner & Marcel Pobe, Romanesque Art In France, (Thames & Hudson, Publishing, 1956), p.64, pl.135; Richard Marks & Nigel Morgan, The Golden Age Of English Manuscript Painting (1200-1500), (New York: George Braziller Inc., 1981), figure III. p.9; Kartsonis, Anastasis, p.72, etc.

3590- Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 141.

3591- Paul Carcus, 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, 213.

3592- Sir Herbert Read, Dr. Donald E. Strong, Professors David Talbot Rice and Giuseppe Bovini, & G. Zarnecki, Peter Lasko, Dr. George Henderson, The Book of Art, A Pictorial Encyclopedia of Painting, Drawing, and Sculpture, (Grolier Inc., 1965), vol. 1, Origins of Western Art, p. 138, A: The Dormition of the Virgin, 10th c., Cologne, Schnütgen Mus. Angel descend with cloth to cloth Mary's soul in, as also seen in another section.

3593- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 9-10.

3594- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150-1309, Lon.: Folio Soc., 1998, 240 & 396, end note 1: Kötzhcke, Quellen zur Geschichte der ostdeutschen Kolonisation 25, No. 10, & Luke 10:35-42, & Exodus 25:4-5.

3595- Sir Herbert Read, Dr. Donald E. Strong, Professors David Talbot Rice and Giuseppe Bovini, and G. Zarnecki, Peter Lasko, Dr. George Henderson, The Book of Art, A Pictorial Encyclopedia of Painting, Drawing, and Sculpture, (Grolier Inc., 1965), vol. 1, Origins of Western Art, p. 132-33, C: The Dormition of the Virgin: from the Winchester Psalter, about 1160. London, B.M., (MS. Cotton Nero C IV, f. 21r.) Angels descending with garments or robes to cloth the soul of the Virgin Mary. Christ appears with his apostles, at the moment of her death. The hand of God extends out of heaven to bless the moment.

3596- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Bosom_of_Abraham

3597- The Story of Lazarus and Dives. Lazarus and the rich man are shown during life in the top register, in the middle is Lazarus in the Bosom of Abraham, and at the bottom Dives is suffering in Hades. Illuminated manuscript, Codex Aureus of Echternach, c. 1035-1040. (Germanisches Nationalmuseum, Nürnberg.) This link, as with others, might not work, but still might, by the time you read this. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Bosom_of_Abraham#/media/File:Meister_des_Codex_Aureus_Epternacensis_001.jpg https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Bosom_of_Abraham

3598- This link, as with many others, may or may not still be working, by the time of this reading. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Bosom_of_Abraham#/media/File:Reims_Cathedrale_Notre_Dame_014_last_judgment.JPG

3599- British Library Series No. 3: The Benedictines in Britain, (Great Russell Street, London: The British Library, 1980), 32-33, plate 16.

3600- Clifford Davidson, Editor, The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, and Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Kalamazoo, Michigan: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan University, 1994), p. 9, British Library, MS. Lansdowne 383, fol. 168v. Mid-12th century depiction of souls ascending to heaven on a napkin in the hands of Michael the archangel. From a miniature in the Shaftesbury Psalter.

3601- Donald Matthew, Atlas of Medieval Europe, (New York: Oxford: Facts on File, 1983, 1984, 1986, 1989), p. 84-85. Hand clasping angelic guide and another with the robe for the ascending soul of a hermit named Guthlac, A.D. 667-714, the hermit saint of Crowland, 12th century ink drawing. 2nd one down on page 85.

3602- Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 60, & p. 329, see for picture credits, 60. Collection Kofler Truniger, Luzern. Ivory carving of the martyrdom of Thomas Becket, & his soul riding up on a protective blanket, assisted by 2 angels.

3603- F. E. Halliday, An Illustrated Cultural History Of England, (New York: A Studio Book, The Viking Press, 1967-68), p.47 & p.68: "Opus anglicanum. English ecclesiastical embroidery was recognized as the finest in medieval Europe. Detail from the Syon Cope, c. 1280." The Shaftesbury Psalter is also shown here too.

3604- Clifford Davidson, Editor, The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, and Music, Monograph Series, 21, Kalamazoo, Michigan: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan Un., 1994, p. 9. For example, the sculpture on the Percy tomb at Beverley Minster. Or on tympana at Bourges Cathedral and Reims Cathedral.

3605- Clifford Davidson, Editor, The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, & Music, Monograph Series, 21 (Michigan: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan Un., 1994), 9.

3606- Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, orig. pub. in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Co., 1900), 160-161.

3607- Mit Beiträgen von, Gabriele Atanassiu, Mariano d' Alatri, Stanislaw da Campagnola, Servus Gieben, Engelbert Grau OFM, Raoul Manselli, Raymond Oursel, Clemente Schmitt, Franz von Assisi, (Italy: Stuttgart, Zürich: Belser Verlag, 1990), 176-177. Meister der Stichkappen: Allegorie der Armut, um 1320. Assisi, Unterkirche, Gewölbe über dem Hauptaltar. The arms of God extend out of heaven over a wrist grasping marriage ceremony, above which an angel holds a vest or garment.

- 3608- G. J. Hoogewerff, De Noord-Nederlandsche Schilderkunst, Door ('S-Gravenhage: Martinus Nijhoff, 1936), 109, Afb. 40. De Doop in den Jordaen. Miniatuur van Michiel van der Borch, 1332. Christ baptism with an angelic personage extending out of heaven with the baptismal robe.
- 3609- G. J. Hoogewerff, De Noord-Nederlandsche Schilderkunst, Door ('S-Gravenhage: Martinus Nijhoff, 1936), 291, Afb. 133. Schets van Victor de Stuers naar de muurschildering te Bathmen (Nederl. Spectator). Souls riding up into heaven on a blanket.
- 3610- G. J. Hoogewerff, De Noord-Nederlandsche Schilderkunst, Door ('S-Gravenhage: Martinus Nijhoff, 1936), 399, Afb. 196. Meester „Amoz”. De Doop in den Jordan. Bijbel-miniatuur, Kon. Bibl. te 's-Gravenhage. One angel holds the baptismal robes.
- 3611- G. J. Hoogewerff, De Noord-Nederlandsche Schilderkunst, Door ('S-Gravenhage: Martinus Nijhoff, 1936), 501, Afb. 274. Meester der H. Elisabeth. De Legende van de Heilige. Rijksmuseum te Amsterdam. Portion showing soul riding up into heaven on a cloth.
- 3612- Clifford Davidson, Ed., The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, & Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Michigan: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan Un., 1994), 9.
- 3613- Michel Pierre, Morgan - Antoine Sabbagh, The Human Story, Europe In The Middle Ages, (Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Sliver Burdett Press, 1988), 34, orig. pub. in 1986 by Casterman, L' Histoire des Hommes: L' Europe du Moyen Age.
- 3614- Art and Archaeology, The Arts Throughout the Ages, vol. 25, January, 1928, #1, article by Vicente Castaneda, The Royal Academy of History In Spain, p. 25. The Martyrdom of San Cugat, painted by Alfonso de Baena, now in the Museum of Barcelona. About 15th century? Soul rides a blanket to heaven, while ascending with the two angels holding each end of it.
- 3615- Clifford Davidson, Ed., The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, & Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Michigan: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan Un. 1994), 9.
- 3616- Colleen McDannell and Bernhard Lang, Heaven: A History, (New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1988), 141, pl. 26, Jean Bellegambe, Paradise, C. 1526–30, Part of The Last Judgment panel. Saatliche Museen, East Berlin, hand & wrist clasping angelic guides, Jude 20–25.
- 3617- George Beahm, Fact, Fiction, and Folklore, in Harry Potter's World, An Unofficial Guide, (Charlottesville, VA.: Hampton Roads Pub., 2005, illustrations by Tim Kirk & Birtton McDaniel), 16-17. John Demos, The Enemy Within, 2,000 Years of Witch-hunting in the Western World, (NY: Viking, Penguin Group, 2008), 88-228. Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 160, art of two angels, 1 on each end of a white blanket, as they wrapped it around a soul in paradise, sitting on Abraham's lap. Pages 170-71, white robes for martyrs. Page 180, 213, 256-60, 275, 278-406.
- 3618- John Demos, The Enemy Within, 2,000 Years of Witch-hunting in the Western World, NY: Viking, Penguin Group 2008, 131-135.
- 3619- John Demos, The Enemy Within, 2,000 Years of Witch-hunting in the Western World, NY: Viking, Penguin Group 2008, 131.
- 3620- George Beahm, Fact, Fiction, and Folklore, in Harry Potter's World, An Unofficial Guide, (Charlottesville, VA.: Hampton Roads Pub., 2005, illustrations by Tim Kirk & Birtton McDaniel), 12-13.
- 3621- Jeffrey M. Bradshaw, Temple Themes In the Book of Moses, SLC, Utah: Eborn Publishing, 2010, p. 42-43, fig. 3-20, Ascent of Abraham & angel Yahoei, in the Sylvester Codex, 14th c., above, that hand of God extends, while under that hand, and angel grasps, with right hand, the right wrist of Abraham, during ascension, as they stand on the wings of birds, see also, the Apocalypse of Abraham, 15:2-3. <http://christianimagesource.com/blog/> Guardian Angel by Bartolome Esteban Murillo - Tobias and the three Archangels by Sandro Botticelli. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Pub. Co., 1900, 248. A common mode for angelic guides & travel from one realm of existence to the next is often by hand clasping guides. David M. Robb, The Art of the Illuminated Manuscript, (Cranbury, New Jersey: A. S. Barnes and Company, Inc., 1973), 200—201, fig. 135, London, British Museum, Add. Ms. 17737-8, f. 199. Bible from Floreffe, The Ascension of Our Lord, A.D. 1160. Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, page 79, Abb. 47. Jüngstes Gericht, Huth-Psalter, nach 1280. London, British Library, Add. 38116, fol. 13. - Eine der frühesten bildlichen Umsetzungen der Heilstreppe. Showing an angelic guide grasping the wrist of the first, in many, to be guided into paradise on the right-hand side of Christ, who sits enthroned, with both hands raised. Psalms 18:35, 20:6, 37:24, 60:5, 63:7-9, 73:23-24, 108:6, Isa. 13:2, 41:10, 13, 42:6-7.
- 3622- Mabel Williams, Marcia Dalphin, Editors, etc., The Junior Classics, (USA: P. F. Collier & Son Corp., 1938, 1948, 1949, 56th printing 1961, popular Edition, Illustrated), numerous volumes. Vol. 5, p. 326-328.
- 3623- Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books 1996, Chicago: Open Court Pub. Co. 1900, 285.
- 3624- Mabel Williams, Marcia Dalphin, Editors, etc., The Junior Classics, (USA: P. F. Collier & Son Corp., 1938, 1948, 1949, 56th printing 1961, popular Edition, Illustrated), numerous volumes. Vol. 5, p. 312-391, see especially p. 324-30, 334, 350, A Christmas Carol, by Charles Dickens. James Charlton & Barbara Gilson, A Christmas Treasury of Yuletide Stories & Poems, USA: Guild America Books, 1976, this ed., Barnes & Noble, 2002, 304-90.
- 3625- Ludmila Kybalova, Coptic Textiles, (Artia, Prague: Paul Hamlyn Ltd., 1967), 34, 68–69, figs 15 & 16, Coptic Tunic shirt 4th or 5th c. Pushkin Museum, Moscow inventory No. 4832.
- 3626- Harvest of Holidays, Series Editor, Margaret E. Martignoni, Editor-in-Chief Dr. Louis Shores, Volume Ed. Ruth Weeden Stewart, A Collier's Junior Classics Series, Pub. by The Crowell-Collier Pub., Co., N.Y., 1962, pp. 380-389; This Way to Christmas, by Ruth Sawyer, with Illustrations in color by Maginel Wright Barney, CR 1916, & 1924, by Harper and Brothers; CR 1944 by Ruth Sawyer Durand; CR 1952 by Maginal Wright Barney. Pub. by Harper and Brothers, see p.29-44, chap. III, Barney's Tale of the Wee Red Cap. See also Chapter IV, David Goes Seeking The Way To Christmas And Finds The Flagman, p. 52 mentions the "Krist Kindlein" and p.58-9, says that some had already "lighted the candle at the window and are waiting for Kriss Kringle to come." See also: Told Under The Christmas Tree, (Stories and Poems From Around The World), Selected by the literature Committee of the Association for Childhood Education International, Pub. by McMillan Co., N.Y., 1962, 10th printing, CR 1948, p. 163-171, The Voyage of the Wee Red Cap.

3627- Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 278-87. Francis Bond, Fonts and Font Covers, (London, New York, and Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford University Press, 1908). <https://archive.org/details/fontsfontcovers00bond> Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985).

3628- Warner Brothers, Family Entertainment, 1999, original, The Wizard of OZ, (Turner Entertainment, 1939).

3629- Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire, by J. K. Rowling, book 4, movie 4, Warner Brothers, 2005. Harry Potter and the Half-Blood Prince, (movie 6, 2009, Warner Brothers).

3630- John Demos, The Enemy Within, 2,000 Years of Witch-hunting in the Western World, NY: Viking, Penguin Group 2008, 143 & 152, & 168.

3631- Treasures of Britain & Treasures of Ireland, (NY: W. W. Norton & Co., Pub. in Un. Kingdom by Drive Publications Lim. for the Automobile Association, Lon., 1968, 1969, 1972), 135.

3632- Memmi Lippo-Madonna of the Recommended 1350s souls in protective robes of St Mary. St James the Greater -attributed to Hans Rupprecht Hoffman the Younger 1631 - cloak as protective clothing. Vincent Cronin, Mary Portrayed, Lon., Eng.: Darton, Longman & Todd, 1968. Mary with souls under her protective robes.

3633- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 538-39, foot note 26: Pocket Prayer Book, "Ordinary of the Mass," Part II, p. 100.

3634- Open wing symbols have been used as a symbol for gathering, healing, protection & as a type of Christ. Even a winged serpent has been likened unto Christ's healing powers, & Moses lifted up a serpent on a pole to heal the people who would look upon it, thus this became a type of Christ's healing & protective power. See: Hackwood, Christ Lore, p.185-6; Carl G. Jung, (London: Aldus Books, 1964), Man & His Symbols, p. 239; Charles Rufus Morey, Medieval Art, p.209. The Egyptians have a feathered serpent which seems to represent healing open wings. This type was used by Moses as a type of Christ. F.R. Webber, Church Symbolism, (Cleveland: J. H. Jansen, 1938, 1 st edition. Revised 2nd edition, Detroit: Gale Research, Book Tower, 1971), 57-58, pl. vi, fig. 7; Isaiah 53:5. Matthew 23:37; Luke 13:34. Kitzinger, Byzantine Art in the Making, p.62, fig. 106, & p. 64, fig. 109; Christe, Velmans, Losowska and Recht, Art of the Christian World, A.D. 200-1500, p.72-4, figs. 119 & fig. 121, fig. 122, fig. 123. See also: Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, p.144-45, pl. 64a & b, 69b, 104a. Krauthheimer, Early Christian And Byzantine Architecture, p. 82, fig. B. See also: New International Illustrated Encyclopedia Of Art, vol.17, p.3511; Muratoff, La Peinture Byzantine, pl. XLV; pl. LXIV; Ainaud de Lasarte, Art Treasures In Spain, Monuments, Masterpieces, Commissions and Collections, p. 31, fig. 42; Osborne, Editor, The Oxford Companion To Art, p. 239. See also: Stylianou, The Painted Churches Of Cyprus, Treasures of Byzantine Art, the page before the title page, & pp.451 & 495, fig. 300; Grabar, Christian Iconography, A Study of Its Origins, p.132. Metford, Dictionary Of Christian Lore and Legend, p. 88-89, see Eagle. An Outline of Christianity The Story of Civilization, (New York: Bethlehem Publishing, Inc., Dodd, Mead & Company Distribution, 1926), vol. 1, p. 342; The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 8, p. 760, IX, Melito, The Philosopher, A.D., 160-170-177. Modern doctors & dentists also use the open winged serpent wrapped around a pole, as their symbol in their medical professions. See also: Carl Van Treeck and Aloysius Croft, M.A., Symbols in the Church, 1936. Clara Erskine Clement, edited by Katherine E. Conway, A Handbook Of Christian Symbols And Stories Of The Saints As Illustrated In Art, (Boston; New York: Houghton Mifflin Company, The Riverside Press Cambridge, 1871, 1881, and 1886). Douglas Hill, (Carl G. Jung, and John Freeman as Co-editors), Man and His Symbols, (London, England: Aldus Books Limited, CR 1964). Fredk, W.M. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Christ Lore (Being the Legends, Traditions, Myths, Symbols, & Superstitions of The Christian Church), (London: 1902, republished, Detroit: Gale Research Company, Book Tower, 1969). George Ferguson, Signs & Symbols In Christian Art, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1959). Goblet D'Alviella, (The Count), The Migration of Symbols, (Westminster, 1894, reproduced by University Books, 1956). Heather Child and Dorothy Colles, 1971, Christian Symbols Ancient & Modern, (Charles Scribner's Sons, Great Britain). Margaret E. Tabor, The Saints in Art, With Their Attributes And Symbols Alphabetically Arranged, (NY: Frederick A. Stokes Company).

3635- Roland Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper ed., 1950 Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library Abingdon Press, Nash), 47,49, 69- 71, 76, 104, 203, 249, 296.

3636- Sano di Pietro, 15th century; the Virgin shelters a group of nuns, including two novices with uncovered heads, under her cloak, which is said to be a symbol of protection. Links may or may not still work. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Virgin_of_Mercy The "Ravensburger Schutzmantelmadonna", painted limewood. Circa 1480, Bode Museum, Berlin. Attributed to Michel Erhart. Lippo Memmi (c. 1291 - 1356), at Orvieto Cathedral, for which he finished the Virgin of Mercy ("Madonna dei Raccomandati"), which shows a number of different souls under her protective cloak. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Lippo_Memmi. Enguerrand Charonton, 1452, sheltering a distinguished group under Mary's cloak. Zurbarán, 17th century Spanish, with a group of monks. Austrian version, c. 1510, with angels and child. Eastern Orthodox icon, showing a broad protective cloak. Mid 17th century, Ukraine. See also: Memmi Lippo-Madonna of the Recommended 1350s, souls in protective robes of St Mary. St James the Greater -attributed to Hans Rupprecht Hoffman the Younger 1631 - cloak as protective clothing. Vincent Cronin, Mary Portrayed, (London, England: Darton, Longman & Todd, 1968). Mary is often depicted with souls under her protective robes. James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (New York, New York, Doubleday, 2005), 97.

3637- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, Lon.: The Folio Society, 1998, 252-60, & notes: Miracles of the Virgin, a 12th century collection. E. F. Dexter, Miracula Sanctae Virginis Mariae (University of Wisconsin Studies in the Social Sciences and History, 1927), vol. 12. T. F. Crane, Liber de Miraculis Sanctae Dei genetricis Mariae (Ithaca, 1925), H. Kjellman, La deuxième Collection Anglo-Normande des Miracles de la Sainte Vierge (Paris and Uppsala, 1922), and E. F. Wilson, The Stella Maris of John of Garland (Mediaeval Academy of America, 1946). Chronicon monasterii de Abingdon, ed. J. Stevenson, Rolls Series, ii, 155-9. See also: Vincent Cronin, Mary Portrayed, (London, England: Darton, Longman & Todd, 1968). Jaroslav Pelikan, Mary Through the Centuries, Her Place in the History of Culture, (New Haven & London: Yale Un. Press, 1996). J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 245. Textiles in Daily Life in the Middle Ages, Rebecca Martin, Pub.Cleveland Muse. of Art, Cleveland Ohio, 1985, 20-1, fig. 7, Coronation of Virgin. Embroidery. Italy, Florence, 1st half 15th c. CMA 53, 129 (cat. no. 5), & fig.8, Lorenzo Monaco, Italian, 1370/71-1425. Panel, 1414, Galleria degli Uffizi, Florence. Medieval Europe A Short History, Hollister, 1968, 334-336. The Gospel In Art, by Albert E. Bailey, 1916, Pilgrim Press, Boston & Chicago, p.382-385, 415-421. Fra Angelico also depicted the Last Judgment which he painted about 1429 during his stay at Fiesole, for the Camaldolese monks of Santa Maria degli Angeli; now in the Academy, Florence. It may be that some fragments of the doctrine of deification had been preserved to a certain extent in the way Angelico depicted the "saved" as having faces which shined. Fra Angelico, Biographical and Critical Study, by Giulio Carlo Argan, Pub. The World Pub., Co., p.61-2, The Coronation of the Virgin, Louvre, Paris. Art, Frederick Hartt, Vol.II, Pub. by Harry N. Abrams, NY, 1976, pl.21, Renaissance. Enguerrand Quarton, Coronation of the Virgin. Panel Painting, Musée de l'Hospice, Villeneuve-les-Avignon, France; Art Treasures in Germany, (Monuments, Masterpieces, Commissions of Collections, Gen. Eds. Bernard S. Myers, NY, Terwin Copplestone, Lon., Pub. by Hamlyn Pub. Group Lim., 1970, p.55, fig.73, p.56-7, fig.76, p.69, fig.96, p.70, fig.99, p.89, fig.126, & p.94, fig.135. Kenneth Clark, Civilisation, A Personal View, (New York and Evanston: Harper & Row, 1969), p.156-7, #22, Holbein, Madonna of Bugomaster Meyer. Mary wears a crown, her protective cape. See also: Artes De Mexico, (Mexico: 1970), No. 132 AÑO XVII 1970, RESEÑA DEL RETRATO MEXICANO, p. 26, color plate 7, p. 73, 80, 83, 86-89, examples in the art works in the background of Mary enthroned, crowned & deified. Chandler Rathfon Post, A History of Spanish Painting, (Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1930—1958). (NY: Kraus reprint Co., 1970's), numerous vols., with numerous examples of coronation, enthroned Mary, etc.

3638- James Reston, Dogs of God Columbus the Inquisition & the Defeat of the Moors, NY Doubleday 2005, 97

3639- Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Co., 1968), 78, 81—83. Henry Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, & Drama, (Lon.: Cornell Un. Press, 1985).

3640- E. And M. A. Radford, edited & revised by Christina Hole, The Encyclopedia of Superstitions, (NY, NY: Metro Books, 2002, revised & enlarged edition, 1961; first published in 1948, this edition by Metro Books, arranged by Helicon Publishing Limited), see Baptism, 28-30.

3641- In numerous depictions of the soul ascending into heaven, or paradise, after death, the soul is depicted as an infant child, wrapped in swaddling cloth, which acts as a protection against the demons. Often times, the child like size soul, thus wrapped up, is passed on into the hands of an angel, or in the case with the Virgin Mary's child size soul, she is passed on into the hands of Christ. In other cases, the soul is passed on into the hands of Christ, who sometimes either passes the soul into the protective hands, or arms of angels, or ascends up with the child sized soul himself into the protective realms of light and love. To mention just a few examples: Angels carrying the soul of St Bertin to heaven - From an altarpiece by Simon Marmion 1480 rides up on blanket. Book of Hours, Use of Rome-Netherlands, S c. 1440- souls ride up to paradise on blanket. Book of Hours, Use of Sarum- Netherlands, S- 2nd or 3rd quarter of the 15th century- soul rides up to heaven on blanket. Book of Hours, Use of Sarum -Netherlands, S Bruges c 1490- Soul wrapped up in protective blanket with Abraham in paradise - Demon attempt to harm soul. Icon with the Koimesis Falling Asleep of the Virgin Mary late 10th cent Byzantine - Angels descend with robes. Mary's infant size soul is wrapped in a protective swaddling cloth, & in the hands of Christ, it is like how Mary had wrapped Christ in a protective swaddling cloth. IMG 3475 Dionysius Portico - Martyr clothed in white clothing. Martyrs are often depicted being clothed in blankets, swaddling cloths, white robes, & other protective garments as they ascend into paradise, or heaven. Last Judgment- Jan Provost 1525- Web Gallery of Art- Angel cloths soul in white robes for paradise. On the other side of Christ's judgment, the left hand side of the two ways, naked souls are being tormented by dark color demons, as they are thrust down to hell. Naked, unprotected, not clothed in protective garments, in contrast to those on the right hand side of Christ's judgment. This is why souls in hell, hades, limbo, purgatory, the abyss, pit, underworld, the caves in numerous art works depicting Christ's descent, the Anastasis; often show these souls naked. They're naked because they are exposed to the purification of their souls through being made to suffer the pains of damned souls in hell. They are naked, unprotected from the tortures of diverse types that the demons inflict on them. However, when Christ, angels, prophets, apostles & saints come to preach the gospel to them, and they accept it, they are liberated & come forth out naked to then be clothed upon, symbolic of their resurrection. They ascend up & are wrapped in blankets, robes, or ride up on cloths into paradise or heaven. See: Alan Richardson and John Bowden, (Editors), Westminster Dictionary of Christian Theology, (Philadelphia, Pennsylvania: The Westminster Press, CR SCM Press Ltd 1983, first Published in Great Britain, 1983, entitled: A New Dictionary of Christian Theology). See the article entitled: The Descent into Hell. by A. T. Hanson. See also: Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986). Carol Zaleski, Otherworld Journeys, Accounts of Near-Death Experiences In Medieval and Modern Times, (New York and Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987). Clifford Davidson, Editor, The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, and Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Kalamazoo, Michigan: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan University, 1994). Craig Harbison, The Last Judgment in Sixteenth Century Northern Europe, (New York, U.S.A., and London, England: Garland Pub. Inc., 1976). Geoffrey R. King, The Forty Days, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: W.M. B. Eerdmans, 1949). Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments Of Romanesque Art, The Art of Church Treasures in North-Western Europe, (The University of Chicago Press, 1954 and 2nd, Edition, 1967). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company), 4: Mormonism and Early Christianity, (1987). Nibley, Baptism for the Dead in Ancient Time, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Improvement Era, 51—52, (December 1948—April 1949). Robert Hughes, Heaven and Hell in Western Art, (New York: Stein and Day/Pub., 1968). Vincent Cronin, Mary Portrayed, (London, England: Darton, Longman & Todd, 1968). Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, (Washington Square, New York, New York: Pantheon Books, 1947). William Barclay, The Apostles' Creed For Everyman, (New York and Evanston: Harper and Row, 1967). Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsachsischen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), three volumes. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen. See also: Jennifer O'Reilly, A Garland Series, Outstanding Theses In The Fine Arts From British Universities, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, (New York, U.S.A., and London, England: Garland Publishing, Inc., 1988). Thesis submitted to the University of Nottingham for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, October 1972). Roger J. Adams, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptisms for the Dead, (unpublished manuscript 1977). Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (New York, San Diego, U.S.A.; London, England: Harcourt Brace & Company). Ariel L. Crowley, BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD, (Boise Idaho: Prepared for Electronic Media by Stanley D. Barker. Chandler Rathfon Post, A History of Spanish Painting, (Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1930—1958). (New York: Kraus reprint Company, 1970's). Also: Last-Judgment-Triptych-(open)-1467-71-Hans Memling, on the right hand side of Christ's judgment, souls are being lifted up out of their graves, a tug a war between demons and angels over souls is underway. St. Peter clasps the hands of those ascending towards paradise, to greet them. They are naked, but are soon clothed in robes, as angels help them get into white robes of paradise. On the left side, naked souls are being tormented by demons as they are thrust down into the fires of hell. Memling_Gdansk_Resurrection_Triptych_Triptych of The Last Judgment c 1473 Marienkirche - Gdansk. See also: Master of the Narbonne Parament - Entombment descent into Hell and Noli me tangere c 1375 Musée du Louvre - Paris. Naked souls ascend, Christ clasp the wrist of Adam, the first naked soul to be raised up in the descent. Matfré Ermengau of Béziers Breviari d'Amor Catalan prose version- f-40-

soul ride up on protective blanket - last quarter of 14th c. Soul on a blanket, held up by angels on both sides, rides up towards heaven. Müden-Örtze, Niedersachsen, Laurentiuskirche, vaults - King paying homage to satan by hand clasp, just like homage hand clasp of Christian Knights before Christian Kinds, Nobles, Earls, Lords & Barons. The souls in this case are without protective garments, they are naked, as they watch this unholy homage rite taking place. In the Passion of Margaret- Italy, N. (Padua); 3rd quarter of the 14th century soul rides up on blanket, with angel on each side holding the blanket. In another art work, naked souls are greeted by St. Peter clasp on right hand side of Christ's judgment, while on the left, naked souls are being thrust down the jaws of hell. Het laatste oordeel- Bovenin is Christus afgebeeld- Links van hem staat Maria- rechts van hem Johannes.de.Doper. Upon entering paradise, they naked will be clothed upon, often traditionally with white robes. Clifford Davidson, Editor, The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, and Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Kalamazoo, Michigan: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan University, 1994). Colleen McDannell and Bernhard Lang, Heaven: A History, (New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1988). South Leigh church medieval painting of Peter clasping hand of naked souls entering heaven. On one of the pages of The Hours of Catherine of Cleves 1440s Christ harrowing hell p 31, naked souls are lifted up by their wrists out of the fires and jaws of hell, the first one lifted is Adam. The Last Judgment- Willem Vrelant- 1460s Getty Museum - Naked souls ascend on blanket, with angels on both sides holding the ends of the blanket. 12 Conques Last judgment detail Portal, tympanum Abbey Church of St Foy Conques, Aveyrou, France Begun 1100. Naked souls on the left hand side of Christ's judgment are being thrust down the jaws of hell. On the right, souls, clothed in robes, are greeted by St. Peter, who clasps their hands, to greet them at the door of paradise. In an image of baptism from Cemetery of St Callistus Rome 4th century, a naked soul is being lifted up by a hand clasp, a type of baptism & resurrection & ascension out of hell. Baptism a type of the whole ritualistic journey of the soul through different realms, they are anointed a type of Christ, and like Christ who did battle with the demons in the underworld; they are a type of Christ, ready to battle too, the soul ascends, in anointed & clothed in a garment, a type of resurrection. The garment protects the soul during the ascension, where more hand & wrist clasping is done upon entering the heavenly realms.

3642- E. And M. A. Radford, edited & revised by Christina Hole, The Encyclopedia of Superstitions, (New York, New York: Metro Books, 2002, revised & enlarged edition, 1961; first published in 1948, this edition by Metro Books, arranged by Helicon Publishing Limited), see Baptism, 27-30, 345-46. Ariel L. Crowley, BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD, (Boise Idaho: Prepared for Electronic Media by Stanley D. Barker. Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca & London: Cornell Un. Press, 1985). Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (Armonk, NY; & London, England: M.E. Sharpe, Inc. 1989). Jeffrey Burton Russell, Lucifer, The Devil In the Middle Age, (Ithaca, London: Cornell Un. Press, 1984); Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988).

3643- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 153-54.

3644- E. And M. A. Bradford, The Encyclopedia of Superstitions, NY: Metro Books, 2002, 304.

3645- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Mithril#The_mithril-coat

3646- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 70-71.

3647- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 407.

3648- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 441-442.

3649- Memmi Lippo-Madonna of the Recommended 1350s souls in protective robes of St Mary. St James the Greater -attributed to Hans Rupprecht Hoffman the Younger 1631 - cloak as protective clothing. Vincent Cronin, Mary Portrayed, Lon., Eng.: Darton, Longman & Todd, 1968. Mary, with souls under her protective robes.

3650- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, & Other Little People, NY: Gramercy Books, 2000 ed., earlier ed., Crown Pub., 1978, 386-87.

3651- http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/White_flag

3652- Frances & Joseph Gies, Daily Life in Medieval Times, A Vivid, Detailed Account of Birth, Marriage and Death; Food, Clothing and Housing; Love & Labor in the Middle Ages, (New York: Barnes & Noble Books, 1969, 1974, illustrated edition, 1990), 26.

3653- http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/White_flag

3654- Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History & Myths Revealed, NY: Metro Books, Sterling Pub., 2008, 82-83.

3655- http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/White_flag Gaspar Correia, Lendas da Índia (written c.1550, pub. 1858), p.300 "mandou hum seu Bramane em huma almadia com hum pano branco atado e um páu per sinal de paz"

3656- Winchester England Priory of St Swithun or Hyde Abbey 1121- 1161 Winchester Psalter Psalter of Henry of Blois Psalter of St Swithun -Baptism of Christ, angel holds the traditional white baptismal robes. Symbolic of putting on new clothing. Thus, later Easter traditions of Whitesunday, became the later Easter traditions of giving and getting new clothing. A person on the bank, helps the one in the waters out, with a helping hand clasp, right hand to right, in the Baptism from Cemetery of St Callistus Rome, 4th century. Baptism, a ritualistic type of Christ's descent into the watery abyss. Christ having likened himself to Jonah: "For as Jonas was three days and three nights in the whale's belly; so shall the Son of man be three days and three nights in the heart of the earth." (Matt.12:40). 18th cent. Russian Icon of the Baptism of Christ. Angels holds the traditional white baptismal garments. 9th cent. Cross Pascal Vat. Reliquary cross of Pope Pascal- Lower section show the Baptism of Christ with the angel holding the white baptismal robe. In historic Christian traditions, the blood that flows down from the cross, is a type of baptism. Adam's grave, symbolic in many art works as a skull & cross bones, has Christ's blood flow, or drip down on his grave to baptize him. Christ in Limbo, 1440s Friedrich Pacher - Szépművészeti Múzeum - Budapest. In many cases, souls in limbo, hell, hades, purgatory, etc., are depicted naked, without protective garments, or robes. Thus, according to ritualistic cleansing types; the souls in these lower regions are being purified by the fires of hell; are punished for their sins by the demons there. After this, they are rescued by Christ, angels, prophets, apostles, saints & those who descend to preach the gospel to them, & lift them up out by different types of hand & wrist grips. They ascend up naked, in some cases, because they are eventually going to be clothed in ascension robes, or resurrection robes that are protective garments. These robes are types of how the newly resurrected spirits will be clothed in resurrected bodies. The garment, with their guardian angels, protects them as they ascend into paradise, or heaven. Baptism was a ritualistic type of all this. They ascend up out of the waters, with a ritualistic helping hand, are anointed again, & clothed in garments. Easter being a popular time of baptism because of how baptism was a ritualistic type of the resurrection, when the soul is clothed in a perfected, deified body. Ascending naked, as in this art works below, St. Peter is often depicted greeting naked souls at the gates or door way to paradise. Note how further on, angels are helping the souls get into clothing. Hans Memling 1440 1494 Last Judgement Triptych in Muzeum Narodowe Gdansk Poland 3. See also: Matfré Ermengau of Béziers Breviari d'Amor Catalan prose version-f-40- soul ride up on protective blanket - last quarter of 14th century. See also: Icon with the Koimesis, Falling Asleep of the Virgin Mary, late 10th cent Byzantine - Christ wraps the spirit of the Virgin Mary in protective swaddling clothing, an Angels descend with ascension robes to further protect her spirit during her assumption into heaven. These types of ascension robes, clothing, swaddling cloth, blankets, & martyrs' rewards as garments; are part of the baptismal types of ascending in high realms. 10th century, Constantinople, Soap stone Dormition Dormition, Mary's soul is wrapped in a swaddling cloth, to be passed on into the protective care of an angel also descending with ascension clothing. Angels carrying the soul of St Bertin to heaven - From an altarpiece by Simon Marmion 1480. The soul rides up on a protective blanket in the care of guardian angels. Book of Hours, Use of Rome- Netherlands, S- c. 1440- Naked souls ride up to paradise on blanket, Angels also for protection, God above blesses their ascension out of their graves. British Library. Book of Hours, Use of Sarum- Netherlands, S- 2nd or 3rd quarter of the 15th century- soul rides up to heaven on white protective blanket, with guardian angels. British Library. Book of Hours, Use of Sarum- Netherlands, S Bruges c 1490- Soul wrapped up in protective blanket with Abraham in paradise - Demon attempt to harm soul. British Library. Virgins, dressed in white, are greeted by Christ at Gates of Paradise. Leaf from the Breviary of Charles the Bold and Margaret of York 1467-70. Christ clasps their hands to welcome them in. There's also a scene where Christ is surrounded by people holding hands in a circle. See also: Harrowing of hell Caparrosio altarpiece of Caparrosio 1507 St Mary's Cathedral Pamplona Spain. Psalter including a calendar ff 13-18v England Central Oxford 1st quarter of the 13th century- angel with baptismal robe, John the Baptist, baptism of Christ. The robe is a different color, not white, in this case. The Lord of the Rings stories, by J. R. Tolkien, a Catholic, was influenced by Christian symbolism, and used light & dark symbolism for good (light) and bad (darkness); the Lord of Darkness, etc. Gandolf "the grey" becoming Gandolf the white, after a battle with an ancient demon from the deep underworld. Plus, after a near death experience type return to life to continued the fight against the Dark Lord. The protective under garment, the Mithril shirt, white in color, which protected Frodo when he was almost thrust through by an evil cave troll, as dramatized in The Lord of the Rings saga. Darell Thorpe, Holy & Protective Garments in Historic Christianity: Symbols of Deification, Resurrection, Clothed in Righteousness [Kindle Edition, 2011]. Blake Ostler's article in Brigham Young University Studies, (Provo, Utah: Brigham Young University Press, 1982), vol. 22, Winter 1982, #1, pp. 31-45, Clothed Upon: Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity. Colleen McDannell and Bernhard Lang, Heaven: A History, (New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1988). Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments Of Romanesque Art, The Art of Church Treasures in North-Western Europe, (The University of Chicago Press, 1954 and 2nd, Edition, 1967). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1981). Russell, Lucifer, The Devil In the Middle Age, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1984). Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988). Matfré Ermengau of Béziers's Breviari d'Amour of angels carrying the soul of a virtuous man to Heaven. Riding on a white blanket. Hans Memling - Memline 1430 -94 German-born Early Netherlandish painter: Last Judgment, souls on right hand of Christ, greeted by St. Peter by hand shakes, clothed in garments before entering door to paradise! See also: Caroline Walker Bynum, Jesus as Mother, Studies in the Spirituality of the High Middle Ages, (Berkeley, California: University of Berkeley California Press, 1982, paper back edition 1984). Craig Harbison, The Last Judgment in Sixteenth Century Northern Europe, (New York, U.S.A., and London, England: Garland Pub. Inc., 1976). Francis Bond, Fonts and Font Covers, (London, New York, and Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford University Press, 1908). John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1954). New Testament, Ephesians, 6:10-19.

3657- <http://www.newadvent.org/fathers/2910.htm> The Nicene & Post Nicene Fathers, (Michigan: W.M.B. Eerdmans, reprints 1972, 86), 14 vols, 5:518-24 Gregory of Nyssa: Dog. Treatises, On the Baptism of Christ.

3658- Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History & Myths Revealed, NY: Metro Books, Sterling Pub., 2008, 18, 26-31, 38-39, 41, 51-52, 103, 125, 141, & 182.

3659- 12th-13th c. Spain - Galego Detalle da creaci3n de Eva - Ventosa - Agolada Pontevedra - Creation of Eve, stone work. 14th c. Doge Palace Palazzo Ducale in Venice Italy in the porch - God creates Adam - Photo Giovanni Dall'Orto 8-12-2007. 1336-43 Andrea Pisano active 1290-1349 in Pisa Creation of Eve Marble Museo dell'Opera del Duomo Florence. 1923 Taormina Cortile di Palazzo Corvaja Foto Giovanni Dall'Orto, stone work of creation of Eve. Another stone work of the Creation of Eve, Milano Duomo Lunetta portone principale Foto Giovanni Dall'Orto. Early 13th century Amiens Cathedral Cathédrale Notre-Dame d'Amiens - France Creation of Eve stone work - Image by Mattana-Amiens - France. Another carved in stone, creation of Eve - Eve emerges from Adam side, like in many others, by hand & wrist grasping, Roskilde Cathedral Denmark. Rolf Toman, (Editor), Achim Bednorz, (Photos), Romanesque, Architecture, Sculpture, & Painting, (Germany: Könemann, 2004), 301, Modena (Emilia-Romagna), cathedral of San Geminiano, west façade: Creation of Adam & Eve, work by Wiligelmus, beginning of the 12 c. To name a few examples in many. Page 327, fig. 16, Conques, Sainte Foy, detail of the tympanum, Peter at the door of Paradise, stone work, he clasps the hands of those on Christ's right hand side of judgement. Conques Last judgment detail Portal tympanum Abbey Church of St Foy Conques, Aveyrou France Begun 1100. See also p. 331, 12th c. See also: GUGLIELMO NAISSANCE D EVE the garden of Eden 2nd récit de la création le jardin d Eden. And: ND AMIENS CREATION OF ADAM AND EVE Cathedral of Notre-Dame, Amiens, France - God Creates Adam and Eve. And: Frederighi Creation of Eve Relief Font Cappella di San Giovanni Battista - Siena Cathedral Siena Tuscany Italy Federighi Antonio 15th century. And: Capitello dell'XI sec dall'Abbazia di St Germain des Prés creazione di Eva - Romanesque capital of St Germain des Prés abbey 11th cent creation of Eve - Musée du Moyen-Âge - Paris France. France - Amiens - Medieval 500-1500 Genesis 2-2-24 Creation of eve hand clasp, stone work. Main Portal, San Petronio creation of eve. To name a few examples in many.

3660- Harrowing of hell 12th century cathedral museum Santiago de Compostela Spain stone work. And: Foulis Easter church - Sacrament House - Font - Descent and Baptism - 16th century, stone work. Harrowing of Hell Descent Romanesque west portal late 12th cent Bitonto Cathedral Puglia Italy. Romanesque frieze circa 1150 CE church of Saint-Trophime in Arles France - Michael grips souls wrist, weighing of souls on scales, stone work.

3661- Canfield Elisabeth Moore Cemetery Chelsea Michigan banner hand grip in stone. Cemetery Red Oak - Martha Ann hand clasping grave stone 1831. Christ Church, 1874 grave hand clasp in stone. Christ Church, Jas. WILSON died May 25, 1891 native of Co. Cavin Ireland hand grip grave in stone. Stone work, clasping Hands, Oak Grove Manchester. Female & male right hand clasps tomb stone of Mrs Jame W Eastin born in Tenn 8-19-1810 to 3-15-1883. Gravestone of Adam Sepp, 1889 Hammonont - Atlantic County, hand clasp in stone. Gravestones of Michael - Hannah Inman 1861-1873 Manahawkin, hand clasping in stone. In stone, hands clasp, 1860 Kensal Green

Cemetery. Hands Clasp in stone, Bellflowers Oak Grove Manchester Washtenaw County MI. Hands Clasp Up Mooreville Cemetery Milan Michigan thumb in middle of hand. Hands Clasp Worden Cemetery MI grip finger point down. Hands Drapery Lodi Saline Michigan, clasp at curtain in stone. Handshake-symbol-tombstone Hugh L Mitchell died 12-14-1882 - age 34-4-17 Ute Cemetery Aspen Colorado. Headstone-handclasp, Garrison Cemetery. Ivy around hand clasp in stone - fidelity and eternity - reunion in eternity Arnos Vale Cemetery. Perkinsville cemetery Madison County Victorian symbol husband and wife partnership 1845, hand clasp in stone. Perkinsville cemetery Pioneer Cemeteries Madison County Samuel Wise 1814-77 Victorian symbol husband and wife partnership in life fellowship in afterlife. Thomas FERRIS died May 4, 1883, grave stone hand clasp. Shaking Hands on tomb stone 1924 Family cemetery west of C-ville 23 year man died 1924.

3662- Dominican Monks Exchanging Handclaps - Capital of Santa Maria de Nieva Church - 13th cent. Spain, stone work. Door way greetings, hand clasp in stone, door way art Church of San Leonardo al Frigido 1170-1180 greeting clasp. Mary recognizes the risen Christ- Noli Me Tangere- Doubting Thomas- Gothic portal of Altamura Cathedral 14th-15th cent Altamura Puglia Italy, stone work.

3663- Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History & Myths Revealed, NY: Metro Books, Sterling Pub., 2008, 32-34.

3664- Mireille Mentre, Création et Apocalypse, L'imaginaire médiéval, Historie d'un regard humain sur le divin, (Paris: O.E.I.L.), 115. Première image du cycle de la Creation: le Verbe Créateur, la colombe de l'Esprit Saint sur les eaux originelles. Le Createur est dans un médaillon perle (mandorle de gloire). Both of Eve's hands, clasped together, rest in the left hand palm of Christ or God, who pulls her out of the sleeping Adam's right side. George Robinson, Commentary, Photos, David Finn, The Florence Baptistery Doors, NY: A Studio Book, The Viking Press, 1980, p.197, & 222, 226-27, Panel 1. Genesis: Ghiberti's representation of the beginnings of the human family on the earth. Portion showing the creation of Adam, in which God, or pre-incarnate Christ, with his right hand raised up, grips, with his left hand, the left hand of Adam. John Pope-Hennessy, Italian Renaissance Sculpture, Lon.: Phaidon Press, 1958, fig.110, fig.116. Grotte Vaticane, Rome. Marble carving, Giovanni Dalmata. Eve lifted out of Adam's side by God, who grips, with his left hand, the right wrist of Eve.

3665- E. S. Drower, The Secret Adam, A Study of Nasoraean Gnostic, Lon., Eng.: Oxford Un. Press, 1960, 24.

3666- F. De Noble, Les Ivories Gothiques Francais, (Paris: 1968), plate 10, # 26, (2). Adam and Eve, covered up by some of the plants in the Garden of Eden, make gestures, perhaps as they are shown them by the pre-incarnate Christ. Adam, standing with up-lifted hands, the traditional historic Christian prayer-gesture. Christ, perhaps instructing Adam in the next series of ritualistic gestures, stand near by with his right hand raised, while by his side in front of his mid section, his left hand is held with the palm up.

3667- Creation et Apocalypse, p. 94, Olim Strasbourg, Bibl. de la Ville, Hortus, fol. 17, Herrade de Landsberg, Hortus Deliciarum. Hohenbourg, Xlles. (dessin du XIXe s.) Creation de l'homme et de la femme. Dieu doona la vie au corps d'Adam: puis lui insuffle l'esprit: Ilcree ensuite Eve, et place Adam et Eve dans l'Eden, apres de l'arbe de la connaissance du bien et du mal. Christ enthroned, grips, with his left, the right hand of Adam, and with his right, he grips Adam's left wrist. Another portion shows, Eve, with up lifted hands, perhaps in a prayer gesture, being created from Adam's rib. In another portion, Adam and Eve are being spoken to by God, or perhaps the pre-incarnate Christ, who is grasping, with his left hand, the right wrist of Adam. Eve, standing next to Adam, has her right hand raised up, perhaps performing an oath or vow gesture.

3668- Jay Jacobs, Editor in Charge, The Horizon Book of Great Cathedrals, (USA: American Heritage Pub., English edition, 1968), p. 284-85. 13th century depiction of the creation drama. Mosaics in the atrium of St. Mark's, showing different events: An Angel, with up-lifted hands, besides the pre-incarnate Christ, helps in the creation, separating the light from the darkness. Three angels, or perhaps two angels with the pre-incarnate Christ, make other gestures during the creation drama, for the two angels lift up their right hands and extend their left hands out at mid level with their palms up. Centuries earlier, the third century early Christian apologist, Origen, in response to the early anti-Christian, Celsus, wrote how that they teach that "wisdom will not enter into the soul of a base man nor dwell in a body that is involved in sin," [Wisdom of Solomon I:4], we say, Who ever has clean hands, and therefore lifts up holy hands to God, and by reason of being occupied with elevated and heavenly things, can say, "The lifting up of my hands is as the evening sacrifice," [citing Psalm 141:2]. He goes on to invite those who have repented of their sins to be "initiated into the mysteries of Jesus," (The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. 487-88, Origen Against Celsus, book 3, chapters LIX & LX, citing also Psalm 141:2. Prayer gestures, with up-lifted hands, and oath gestures, with one hand raised up, were common in early Christian iconography and art works. See: André Grabar, Christian Iconography, (New York, New York: Bollingen Series XXV. 10, & Princeton University Press, 1968, by the Trustees of the National Gallery of Art, Washington D.C.), p. 9-10, 32-34, 211, figures 13, 15-16, 57, 59, 60 & 232; André Grabar, Byzantine Painting, Historical & Critical Study, (New York: Skira Rizzoli, 1979, first published in 1953); Grabar, translation by Stuart Gilbert and James Emmons, The golden age of JUSTINIAN, From the Death of Theodosius to the Rise of Islam, (New York: Odyssey Press, 1967, arrangement with Editions Gallimard); Grabar, The Great Centuries of Painting, Byzantine Painting, Historical and Critical Study of Andre Grabar, Albert Skira (Editor), (Geneva, Switzerland: 1953); Grabar, Early Christian Art, From the Rise of Christianity to the Death of Theodosius, translated by Stuart Gilbert and James Emmons, (New York: Odyssey Press, 1968); Wolfgang Fritz Volbach, Early Christian Art, figures 8 & 10. Kurt Weitzmann, The Place of Book Illumination in Byzantine Art, pp. 100-01, fig. 2. Third day of creation, showing three angels with the pre-incarnate Christ, or God. Copy made for N. Peirese after Cotton Genesis miniature. Paris, Bibliotheque National. cod. fr.9530, fol. 32. After Omont. J. J. Tillanen notes the close relationship between the 13th century creation cycle of scenes of Genesis in San Marco and in the miniatures of the 5th and 6th century Bible in the British Museum once owned by Sir Robert Cotton. He announced his findings in a 1888 article. See also: Darell Thorpe, The Pilgrimage and Struggles of the Human Family In and Through the Different Realms of Existences, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Religious, Historical & Polemical Studies = R.H. & P. S., 1991, 1992), vol.1, Part 1, Issues 1-4, April-Aug, 1992; Thorpe, The Pre-existence: Our Pre-earth Life As Spirits In A "Family In Heaven" (SLC., Utah, R.H. & P.S., 1992; Thorpe, The Garments Of The First And Second Adam: [The Symbolical Meanings Of Garments In Early To Later Christendom], (SLC., Utah, October 1993); Rutherford H. Platt, Jr., Editor, The Forgotten Books of Eden, (USA, Newfoundland: Alpha House, 1926), p. 3-81; Dr. Hugu W. Nibley, Old Testament and Related Studies, (Salt Lake City and Provo, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies & Deseret Book Co., 1986), 77-79, 136-169, 173-214.

3669- H. Th. Musper, Gotische Malerei nördlich der Alpen, (Germany: Verlag M. DuMont Schauberg, Köln, 1961), fig. 168. Meister Bertram, Grabower Altar, rechter Flügel, Hamburg, Kunsthalle. As God, or perhaps the pre-incarnate Christ, creates Eve from a rib pulled out of the side of sleeping Adam. She greets him with up-lifted hands as if in praise or prayer. Another portion shows Adam and Eve before the pre-incarnate Christ, who make finger gestures to bless and instruct them. Adam's right hand is raised, while Eve's is too, with the palm of her right-hand facing outward. Her left hand is down across her mid section.

3670- Edith Rothe, Mediaeval Book Illumination in Europe, The Collection of the German Democratic Republic, (Berlin, Germany: Union Verlag (VOB), 1966; this edition (London: Thames & Hudson; New York: W. W. Norton & Company), see top half portion of a 2 part scene. Fig. 23. Otto von Freising: Universal chronicle. Adam and Eve. Schaftlarn, 1157-77, p. 191. The hand of God extends out of heaven during the creation of Eve, while she exits out of Adam's side with up lifted palms, one of which may be reaching up to clasp the hand of God, for in other depictions, her hand or wrist is grasped by Deity. Another portion, show an angel, armed with a sword, banishing them from the Garden. As they leave they make gestures by holding the fig leave covering in front of them, with their left hands, while their right hands are raised.

3671- The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, 1972 reprint, vol. 5, p. 518-524, see especially p. 524, Gregory of Nyssa, On The Baptism of Christ.

3672- Jay Jacobs, Editor in Charge, The Horizon Book of Great Cathedrals, (USA: American Heritage Pub., English edition, 1968), p. 284-85. 13th century depiction of the creation drama. Mosaics in the atrium of St. Mark's, showing different events. ANF, 4:487-88, Origen Against Celsus, book 3, chapters LIX & LX, citing also Psalm 141:2. André Grabar, Christian Iconography, (New York, New York: Bollingen Series XXV. 10, & Princeton University Press, 1968, by the Trustees of the National Gallery of Art, Washington D.C.), p. 9-10, 32-34, 211, figures 13, 15-16, 57, 59, 60 & 232; Kurt Weitzmann, The Place of Book Illumination in Byzantine Art, p. 100-1, fig. 2. Third day of creation, showing three angels with the pre-incarnate Christ, or God. Copy made for N. Peirese after Cotton Genesis miniature. Paris, Bibliothèque National. cod. fr.9530, fol. 32. After Omont. J. J. Tillanen notes the close relationship between the 13th century creation cycle of scenes of Genesis in San Marco and in the miniatures of the 5th & 6th century Bible in the British Museum once owned by Sir Robert Cotton. He announced his findings in a 1888 article. See also: Darell Thorpe, The Pilgrimage and Struggles of the Human Family In and Through the Different Realms of Existences, (Salt Lake City, Utah: R.H. & P. S., 1991); Thorpe, The Grand Pilgrimage: (Footnoting In & "Out of the Best Books"), (SLC. Utah, R. H. & P. S., 1992), vol.1, Part 1, Issues 1-4, April-Aug, 1992; Thorpe, The Pre-existence: Our Pre-earth Life As Spirits In A "Family In Heaven" (SLC., Utah, R.H & P.S., 1992; Thorpe, The Garments Of The First And Second Adam: [The Symbolical Meanings Of Garments In Early To Later Christendom], (SLC., Utah, October 1993); Rutherford H. Platt, Jr., Editor, The Forgotten Books of Eden, (USA, Newfoundland: Alpha House, 1926), 3-81; Dr. Hugu W. Nibley, Old Testament and Related Studies, (Salt Lake City and Provo, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies & Deseret Book Co., 1986), p.77-79, 136-169, 173-214; The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, 1972 reprint, vol. 5, p. 518-24, see especially p. 524, Gregory of Nyssa, On The Baptism of Christ.

3673- Kurt Weitzmann, Age of Spirituality, Late Antique & Early Christian Art, 3rd to 7th century, (NY Metropolitan Museum of Art, exhibited 11-19-1977- 2-12-1978, p. 413, # 371, marble, A. D. 300-10, showing a person praying with up-lifted hands, and the marriage of Adam and Eve, clasping each others' right hands.

3674- Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments of Romanesque Art, The Art of Church Treasures in North-Western Europe, Lon.: Faber & Faber, 1954, 2nd ed., 1967, fig.222. Initial I. Adam & Eve before God, them being banished, clothed in garments making gestures with their arms. Stavelot, end of the 11th century. Their right hands are up by their chest area, while their left hands are raised up, a little above their mid section, palms facing out. Edith Rothe, Mediaeval Book Illumination in Europe, The Collection of the German Democratic Republic, Berlin, Germany: Union Verlag (VOB), 1966; this ed. Lon.: Thames & Hudson; NY: W.W. Norton & Co., see top half portion of 2 part scene. Fig. 23. Otto von Freising: Universal chronicle. Adam & Eve. Schaftlarn, 1157-77, p. 191. The hand of God extends out of heaven during the creation of Eve, while she exits out of Adam's side with up lifted palms, one of which may be reaching up to clasp the hand of God, for in other depictions, her hand or wrist is grasped by Deity. Another portion, show an angel, armed with a sword, banishing them from the Garden. As they leave, they make gestures by holding the fig leave covering in front of them, with their left hands, while their right hands are raised.

3675- Jay Jacobs, Editor in Charge, The Horizon Book of Great Cathedrals, (USA: American Heritage Pub., English edition, 1968), 284--85; Darell Thorpe, The Pilgrimage and Struggles of the Human Family In and Through the Different Realms of Existences, (SLC, Utah: R.H.&P.S, 1991); Thorpe, The Grand Pilgrimage: (Footnoting In & "Out of the Best Books"), (SLC. Utah, R.H. & P.S., 1992), vol.1, Part 1, Issues 1-4, April-Aug, 1992. Thorpe, The Pre-existence: Our Pre-earth Life As Spirits In A "Family In Heaven" (SLC., Utah, R.H & P.S., 1992; Thorpe, The Garments Of The First And Second Adam: [The Symbolical Meanings Of Garments In Early To Later Christendom], (SLC., Utah, October 1993); Rutherford H. Platt, Jr., Editor, The Forgotten Books of Eden, (USA, Newfoundland: Alpha House, 1926), pp. 3--81; Dr. Hugu W. Nibley, Old Testament and Related Studies, (Salt Lake City and Provo, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies & Deseret Book Co., 1986), pp. 77--79, 136--169, 173--214; Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton Un. Press, 1986), p. 72, etc Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined, (S L C. Utah, R. H. & P. S. 1995; Thorpe, "Ye Are Gods... Children of the Most High," (S L C., Utah: R. H. & P. S., 1993, revised 1994--1996).

3676- Roger Adam, 1977 Thesis, Baptism for the Dead, 38-147, 51; n.5 on p. 61; Danielou, Liturgy, 13, citing Theodore's commentary on the sacrament of baptism. Darell Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined, (Salt Lake City, Utah: R. H. & P.S., 1995); Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, & Drama, (Ithaca & London: Cornell University Press, 1985).

3677- Darell Thorpe, The Pilgrimage and Struggles of the Human Family In and Through the Different Realms of Existences, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Religious, Historical & Polemical Studies = R.H. & P. S., 1991); Thorpe, The Grand Pilgrimage: (Footnoting In & "Out of the Best Books"), (SLC. Utah, R. H. & P. S., 1992), vol.1, Part 1, Issues 1-4, April-Aug, 1992; Thorpe, The Pre-existence: Our Pre-earth Life As Spirits In A "Family In Heaven" (SLC., Utah, R.H & P.S., 1992; Thorpe, The Garments Of The First And Second Adam: [The Symbolical Meanings Of Garments In Early To Later Christendom], (SLC., Utah, October 1993); Rutherford H. Platt, Jr., Editor, The Forgotten Books of Eden, (USA, Newfoundland: Alpha House, 1926), pp. 3--81; Dr. Hugu W. Nibley, Old Testament and Related Studies, (Salt Lake City and Provo, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies & Deseret Book Co., 1986), 77-79, 136-169, 173-214.

3678- Jaroslav Pelikan, The Illustrated Jesus Through the Centuries, New Haven & Lon.: Yale Un. Press, 1997, John 1:3, 14.

3679- (See also link that may or may not still be working). Pokal mit Schöpfungsgeschichte, Venedig 2. Hälfte 15. Jahrhundert; kobaltblaues Glas mit Emailmalerei Kunstgewerbemuseum Berlin, Inv. Nr. 1935,51. https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:Pokal_mit_Sch%C3%B6pfungsgeschichte_KGM_1935-51_img03.jpg

3680- Arndorfer Street, market town Maria Saal, district Klagenfurt Land, Carinthia / Austria / EU, Johann Jaritz. https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:Maria_Saal_Arndorfer_Strasse_Pestkreuz_1523_Gewoelbmalerei_0_5102010_34.jpg

- 3681- The Creation of Adam & Eve, French Romanques Fresco, Abbey Church, Saint-Savin-sur-Gartempe (Vienne), 1100 c. http://www.wga.hu/html_m/sgothic/mural/11c1/04gartem.html
- 3682- Robert Hughes, 1969, Heaven and Hell in Western Art, p.77; Art and Mankind, p. 27, fig. 31. Italian. Guglielmo of Modena. Creation of Eve hand-clasp.
- 3683- Gilbert Thurlow, All color book of Biblical Myths & Mysteries, Lon., NY: Octopus Books Limited; Distributed in USA by Crescent Books a division of Crown Pub. NY, 1974, 8. 12th c., in the illuminated Winchester Bible, p. illustrates creation of Eve, pre-existing Christ, grasping, with left hand, Eve's right wrist.
- 3684- Robert Hughes, Heaven & Hell in Western Art, (New York, New York: Stein & Day, 1968), p. 76. A. D., 1125, in a Romanesque fresco, from the Church of the Holy Cross, Maderuelo, Spain. Prado, Madrid. Adam's left wrist is grasped by the pre-incarnate Christ's left hand as he raises him from his knees.
- 3685- The Encyclopedia of Visual Art, Volume Eight, Biographical Dictionary of Artists, Limburg Brothers - Francisco Ribalta, (London, England: Encyclopaedia Britannica International, LTD.), vol. 8, p. 490, 1138, Niccolò, fl. c 1120--50, a Romanesque sculptor, shows, in one of six scenes of Genesis, the creation of Eve. Here, she is being pulled out of the sleeping Adam's right side by her right wrist that is grasped by what could be the pre-existing Christ's right hand. South side of the main portal of S. Zeno, Verona, A.D. 1138.
- 3686- Mit Beiträgen von, Gabriele Atanassiu, Mariano d'Alatri, Stanislao da Campagnola, Servus Gieben, Engelbert Grau OFM, Raoul Manselli, Raymond Oursel, Clemente Schmitt, Franz von Assisi, Italy; Stuttgart, Zürich: Belser Verlag, 1990, 176-177, Meister der Stichkappen: Allegorie der Armut, um 1320. Assisi, Unterkirche, Gewölbe über dem Hauptaltar. The arms of God extend out of heaven over a wrist grasping marriage ceremony, above which an angel holds a vest or garment. See also figures 233-35, crowning of saint in a heavenly coronation ceremony, encircled by angels, some of which are making the prayer gesture, with hands placed together in front of them, their fingers pointing upward. Miklós Boskovits & Serena Padovani, The Thyssen-Bornemisza Collection, Early Italian painting 1290--1470, (London: Sotheby's Publication, Philip Wilson Publishers Ltd, 1990; General Editor, Irene Martin), pp. 34--37, #4: The Madonna and Child enthroned with a female martyr, St John the Baptist and four angels. Bartolomeo di Messer Bulgarino (or Bulgarini) A.D. 1300/10-1378. Pages 56--57, Cenni and Giovanni de Biondo worked together on the panel that depicts St. John the Evangelist enthroned (Florence. Accademia, no. 444). Pages 96--97, #15, The Coronation of the Virgin and four angels. Giovanni da Bologna, 1377-89. Pages 114-117, #18: The Madonna and Child enthroned, with six angels. Lorenzo Monaco, late 1380's, died 1426. Pages 140-141, 158-159, #25: The Coronation of the Virgin with five angels. Master of 1355, active 1325-75. Etc.
- 3687- Jennifer O'Reilly, Oct. 1972, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, A Garland Series Outstanding Thesis in The Fine Arts from British Universities, (New York & London: Garland Publishing, Inc., 1988), graphics after page 240, see fig. 18a.
- 3688- 12--13th c., Chapelle de la Vierge of Cathédrale Saint-Julien du Mans. Creation of Eve. See link that may still work: https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:Le_Mans_Cath%C3%A9drale_Saint-Julien_444.JPG
- 3689- See link which may not, but may still work: Spain, Galego: Detalle da creación de Eva (á esquerda) e o Pecado Orixinal (á dereita), nun dos paneis do baldaquino de San Xulián de Ventosa (Agolada, Pontevedra). https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/Category:Creation_of_Eve#/media/File:Agolada_Ventosa_01-04c.JPG
- 3690- Early 13th c. (Cathédrale Notre-Dame d'Amiens), France. Creation of Eve, image by Mattana-Amiens. https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:Amiens_cathedral_015.JPG
- 3691- The Creation of Eve. Early 13th C. Illumination. Psalter of Saint Louis and Blanche of Castille. Paris, Bibliothèque de l'Arsenal, MS 1186, f. 10. P. D'Ancona & E. Aeschlimann. The Art of Illumination. London: Phaidon, 1969. plate 73. <http://www.uvm.edu/~lbrought/eve--stlouis.gif>
- 3692- <http://www.moleiro.com/en/books-of-hours/book-of-hours-of-louis-of-orleans/miniatura/189>
- 3693- Virginia Chieffo Raguin, Stained Glass In 13th Century Burgundy, fig.8, Auxerre 51:7-12. 13th c. on stained glass, in Burgundy, Creation of Eve, God's left hand, grips left wrist of Eve.
- 3694- Virginia Chieffo Raguin, Stained Glass In 13th century Burgundy, (Princeton Un. Press, 1982), fig.8, Auxerre 51:7-12, Creation: Pre-incarnate Christ clasps each hand of Adam.
- 3695- Virginia Chieffo Raguin, Stained Glass In 13th century Burgundy, (Princeton: Princeton Un. Press, 1982), fig. 8, Auxerre 51:7-12, Creation window, creation of man & woman. The pre-incarnate Christ clasping, with each hand, the hands of Adam. Another part, Eve, with her right hand raised up, & Adam, extends right hand, before clasp. Pre-incarnate Christ bless-gestures.
- 3696- Propylaen Kunstgeschichte, fig. 272, Das erste Elternpaar Fruchte, Wandmalerei, Gurk, Karnten, Domum 1260-70. Pre-incarnate Christ, making gestures with Adam & Eve. Adam's right hand raised up, left down over by his right side, the palm is down. Eve's right hand is raised by her right ear, while her left hand is in the middle of her mid section.
- 3697- Schwerin Cathedral (Mecklenburg). Chapel of the Assumption of Mary: Fresco, 14th c. showing biblical scenes - Creation of Eve. Picture 19 July 2014, by Wolfgang Sauber.
- 3698- Gabriel Bise, text, G. Ivins & D. MacRae, translator, The Illuminated Naples Bible, (Old Testament) 14th Century Manuscript, (Crescent Books, etc.), 18.
- 3699- Taormina - Bas-relief depicting the creation of Eve on the stairs in the courtyard of the gothic Corvaja Palace ("Palazzo Corvaja") (14th century). Picture by Giovanni Dall'Orto, May 20 2008. https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:1923_-_Taormina_-_Cortile_di_Palazzo_Corvaja_-_Foto_Giovanni_Dall'Orto_20-May-2008.jpg
- 3700- Walter Bosing, Hieronymus Bosch, c. 1450-1516, Between Heaven & Hell, (Germany: Benedikt Taschen Verlag GmbH Hohenzollernring, 1991; Lon.: Thames & Hudson, 1973), 36.
- 3701- All links might be subjected to changes: <https://www.artrenewal.org/pages/artwork.php?artworkid=16770> http://bobandnellasworld.com/Italy%202009/Florence/DuomoMuseum/r10_0541.jpg
- 3702- Speculum Humanae Salvationis, Westfalen oder Köln, um 1360. ULB Darmstadt, Hs 2505, fol. 2v. https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:Speculum_Darmstadt_2505_02v.jpg
- 3703- 1340, 14th c., for art works at the Doge's Palace, Palazzo Ducale, in Venice, Italy, capital number 18 in the porch, (counting as # 0 the one at the corner near the Bridge of Sighs), includes God creates Eve from Adam. Photo by Giovanni Dall'Orto, August 12, 2007, copy right indicated here that it can be reproduced. https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:9489_-_Venezia_-_Palazzo_ducale_-_Terra_-_Dio_forma_Eva_da_co_stola_di_Adamo_-_Foto_Giovanni_Dall'Orto_12-Aug-2007.jpg

3704- Petrus Comestor, Bible historiale (vertaling uit het Latijn door Guyars des Moulins). Parijs, Raoulet d'Orléans (kopiist), Jean Bondol, Eerste Meester van de Bijbel van Jean de Sy, en anderen (verluchters); 1372. http://bible.bestlatin.net/gallery/genesis1/bondol_eve.htm

3705- http://bobandnellasworld.com/Italy%202009/Florence/DuomoMuseum/r10_0521.jpg

3706- Creation: Adam & Eve, Gate of Paradise, Battistero di San Giovanni, Florence, Lorenzo Ghiberti, 1378–1, 12-1455. See the link that may, or may not be still working by the time of this reading. https://upload.wikimedia.org/wikipedia/commons/6/6d/Wga_ghiberti_creation_of_adam_and_eve.jpg

3707- Miniature Fiorentina Del Rinascimento 1440--1525, Un Primo Censimento Accura di Annarosa Garzelli II Illustrazioni Giunto Regionale Toscana La Nuova Italia, CR 1985, Firenze, Museo dell'Opera del Duomo, Corale D.f. 2v., Monte di Giovanni. 1440--1525, in the middle portion of a work by Monte di Giovanni, different scenes of the creation drama are depicted, some of which show the Father, pulling Eve out of Adam's side, while another shows Adam and Eve clasping each others' right hands, perhaps in marriage.

3708- Walter Bosing, Hieronymus Bosch, c. 1450--1516, Between Heaven & Hell, (Germany: Benedikt Taschen Verlag GmbH Hohenzollernring, 1991; Lon.: Thames & Hudson 1973), 36.

3709- Walter Bosing, Hieronymus Bosch, c. 1450-1516, Between Heaven & Hell, (Germany: Benedikt Taschen Verlag GmbH Hohenzollernring, 1991; Lon.: Thames & Hudson Ltd., 1973), 36 & 54, Garden of Earthly Delights (Triptych), Madrid, Museo del Prado. Christ clasps Eve's wrist.

3710- Postilla in Bibliam, Nicolaus de Lyra Troyes, it may be that this link still works, but it also could be changed or taken down. <https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:Adam-eve-priest-animals-river.jpg> http://www.enluminures.culture.fr/public/mistral/enlumine_fr?ACTION=CHERCHER&FIELD_98=REF&VAL_UE_98=D-038255

3711- Anonymous, Royal Institute for Cultural Heritage Photolibrary, object number 40002057, as Triptyque du Jugement Dernier, from circa 1504 until circa 1508. Anonymous, Bildindex der Kunst und Architektur, object 00076878, as Weltgerichts-Triptychon, circa 1500. Friedländer, Max J. (1969) Early Netherlandisch Painting. Volume V. Geertgen tot Sint Jans and Jerome Bosch, Leyden: A.W. Slijthof, Brussels: La Connaissance, p. 84, as The Garden of Eden. Koldewij, Jos, Paul Vandenbroeck, Bernard Vermet (2001) Hieronymus Bosch. The Complete Paintings and Drawings, Ghent/Amsterdam: Ludion, p. 88, as Last Judgment. Koldewij, A.M., P. Vandenbroeck en B. Vermet (2001) Jheronimus Bosch. Alle schilderijen en tekeningen, Rotterdam: NAI Uitgevers, Gent/Amsterdam: Ludion, p. 176, as Paradijs, circa 1482 or later, oil on panel, with color image. Marijnissen, Roger H. ([1987]) Hieronymus Bosch. Het volledige oeuvre, Haarlem: Gottmer/Brecht, p. 214, as Het Laatste Oordeel. See link, that may or may not still be working, in that links sometimes are taken down, or changed. <https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:BoschTheLastJudgementTriptychLeftInnerWing.jpg>

3712- Anton Koberger, (c. 1440/1445 – 3 October 1513) was the German goldsmith, printer and publisher who printed and published the Nuremberg. Chronicle, Genesis I, aus: Biblia deutsch, Nürnberg, A. Koberger 1483 (Prädikantenbibliothek Isny, Theol 14); mit unkolorierten Holzschnitten. Helmut Schmid: "ain liebrey zu den büchern." Die mittelalterliche Predigerbücherei der Nikolaikirche zu Isny (Kleinode; Bd. 7). Ravensburg 2000. https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:Biblia_deutsch_N%C3%BCrnberg_1483_\(Isny\).jpg.jpg)

3713- https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:Nuremberg_chronicles_-_f_6v.png

3714- 1493, A. Koberger, Nuremberg. Art of Genesis II:21. Birth of Eve. See link that may or may not still work. https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:Genesis_II:21_garden_of_Eden_birth_of_Eve_Wellcome_M0009904.jpg

3715- Français: Vitrail de la Création, début du 16ème siècle, église de la Madeleine de Troyes. Les scènes illustrent le livre de la Genèse. Ici: la création d'Eve. Noter que Dieu porte le costume papal, notamment la tiare pontificale. Photo by Vassil, 5-12-2008. Public Domain. See link that may or may not still work. https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:Vitrail_de_la_Cr%C3%A9ation_Eglise_de_la_Madeleine_Troyes_51208_07.jpg

3716- 1510–20, after Hieronymus Bosch, attrib. to Bosch, Hay Wagon. Escorial Hay Wain Triptych. https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:Haywain_left_wing_of_the_triptych_WGA.jpg

3717- Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (New York; London, England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc., 1989), 131.

3718- Deutsch: Fresko Stufenleiter der Tugenden an der Kirche im Kloster Sucevita. Photo, Dirk D. 6-21-2012 https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:Fresko_Stufenleiter_der_Tugenden.jpg

3719- Polski: Suczawica (Sucevita), monastyr, fresku, stworzenie Ewy. See link that may, or may not still work. https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:Suczawica_\(Sucevita\),_monastyr,_fragment_fresku,_stworzenie_Ewy.jpg,_monastyr,_fragment_fresku,_stworzenie_Ewy.jpg)

3720- 16th century, Scottish or British, Creation of Eve. Metropolitan Museum of Art. https://archive.org/details/mma_the_creation_of_eve_and_the_temptation_one_of_a_set_of_three_228818

3721- God creates Eve. Lunette of the main baroque entrance to the Duomo, in Milan, Italy, sculpted upon a drawing by Giovan Battista Crespi called "Il Cerano". Picture by Giovanni Dall'Orto, February 22 2008. https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:2492_-_Milano_-_Duomo_-_Lunetta_portone_principale_-_Foto_Giovanni_Dall'Orto,_22-Feb-2008.jpg

3722- 17th c Wallfahrtskirche Gartlberg Pfarrkirchen Germany Creation of Eve Mattana 6-16-12 https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:Pfarrkirchen,_Wallfahrtskirche_Gartlberg_014.JPG

3723- https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:Adam_and_Eve_Lubok.jpg

3724- 1803–05, William Blake, (1757–1827), art, Creation of Eve. See link that may or may not still work. https://upload.wikimedia.org/wikipedia/commons/6/6d/But435.1.1r_wc.300.jpg

3725- H. Clay Trumbull, The Blood Covenant, A Primitive Rite and its Bearings on Scriptures, (NY: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1885). <https://archive.org/details/bloodcovenantap04trumgoog>

3726- Alfred Firmin Loisy, The Birth of the Christian Religion and The Origins of the New Testament, French: La Naissance du Christianisme Les Origines du Nouveau Testament, trans. by L. P. Jacks, (University books, 1962), 191–93. W. H. C. Frend, Martyrdom & Persecution In The Early Church, (NY: Anchor Books Doubleday & Co., 1967), 9, 124-25. Henry Bettenson, The Early Christian Fathers, Eng.: Oxford Un. Press, 1956, 3–4.

3727- James Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 521–22. Alfred Wesley Wishart, A Short History of Monks & Monasteries, (Trenton, N. J.: Albert Brandt. 1900), 131–148.

3728- Charles T. Wood, The Age of Chivalry, Manners & Morals 1000-1440, (NY: Un. Books, 1970, Eng. George Weidenfeld & Nicolson LTD). Ayerst, Fisher, Blackwell, 1977, Records of Christianity, vol. II, p.130-1; Ottfried Neubecker, etc., Heraldry, Sources, symbols & Meaning, (NY: McGraw-Hill Book Co., 1976; St. L. San. Fran. Montreal), 69; Wormald, The Winchester Psalter, fig.27; Kartsonis, The Anastasis, fig.19; Batterberry, Art of the Middle Ages, 76, fig.VII-14; Diringer, The Illuminated Book, 3, 14b; Russell, Lucifer, The Devil in the Middle Ages, 150.

3729- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Homage_\(feudal\)) - http://law.pitt.edu/archive/hibbitts/ctos_iil.htm#fig2t - https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Commendation_ceremony - Charles T. Wood, The Age of Chivalry, Manners and Morals 1000--1440, (NY: Un. Books, CR 1970 in London, England by George Weidenfeld & Nicolson LTD). David Ayerst & A.S.T., Fisher, Records of Christianity, Vol. II, (Christendom), (NY: Harper & Row, Inc., & Barnes & Noble Books, CR Basil Blackwell, 1977), vol. II, p. 130-1; Ottfried Neubecker, etc., Heraldry, Sources, symbols & Meaning, (NY: McGraw-Hill Book Co., 1976; St. L. San. Fran. Montreal, etc.), p.69. Francis Wormald, The Winchester Psalter, NY: Graphic Society, Harvey Miller and Medcalf, 1973, fig. 27. Michael Batterberry, Art of the Middle Ages, NY: McGraw-Hill Book Co., 1961-64, & 1977, p.76, fig. VII-14.

3730- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (Lon.: Folio Society, 1998), 163, 382, 390, n.5: Patrologia latina, ed. J.P. Migne (Paris, 1844–64), CLXXI, 865, Speculum ecclesiae, Sermo generalis ad milites.

3731- H. St. L. B. Moss, The Birth of the Middle Ages 395–814, Lon.: Folio Soc., 1998, 214–15. Nicolas Cheetham, Keepers of the Keys, A History of the Popes from St. Peter to John Paul II, NY: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1983, 56, 57.

3732- Geoffrey Barraclough, The Crucible of the Middle Ages, The Ninth and Tenth Centuries in European History, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 97–98. Frances & Joseph Gies, Daily Life in Medieval Times, A Vivid, Detailed Account of Birth, Marriage and Death; Food, Clothing & Housing; Love & Labor in the Middle Ages, (New York: Barnes & Noble Books, 1969, 1974, illustrated edition, 1990), 26–29. Gertrude Hartman's The World We Live In and How It Came To Be, (A Pictured Outline of Man's Progress from the Earliest Days to the Present), (CR 1931 Hartman; NY: The Macmillan Co., 1961), Chapter IX, In Feudal Days; p. 127-142.

3733- Geoffrey Barraclough, The Crucible of the Middle Ages, The Ninth and Tenth Centuries in European History, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 159.

3734- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 348–49.

3735- El Cid 1961, historical epic film, a romanticized story of the life of the Christian Castilian knight Don Rodrigo Diaz de Vivar, called "El Cid" (from the Arabic as-sidi, meaning "The Lord"), who, in the 11th century, fought as a knight for Spain. Starring Charlton Heston in the title role and Sophia Loren as Doña Ximena. Made by Samuel Bronston Productions in association with Dear Film Produzione and released in the United States by Allied Artists, directed by Anthony Mann and produced by Samuel Bronston with Jaime Prades and Michal Waszynski as associate producers. The screenplay was by Philip Yordan, Ben Barzman and Fredric M. Frank from a story by Frank. In the movie, El Cid makes a king Alonso swear an oath on a holy books, perhaps including the bible, & some sources say holy relics, in front of St. Gadea's Church in Burgos. In the movie, El Cid says he wants the king to swear on "the holy books." After the king swears, by placing his hands on the holy books, El Cid bows & clasps the hand of the king & kissing his hand in homage to him. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/El_Cid_\(film\)) <http://www.vernnonjohns.org/snuffyl186/elcid.html> http://www.newworldencyclopedia.org/entry/El_Cid

3736- The lay of the Cid, by Rose, R. Selden (Robert Selden), 1888-1964; Bacon, Leonard, 1887-1954, (Berkeley, California: University of California Press, 1919). <https://archive.org/details/cu31924027693278> http://www.newworldencyclopedia.org/entry/El_Cid <http://www.sacred-texts.com/neu/cid.htm> <http://www.themorrisclan.com/GENEALOGY/ALFONSO%20VI%20The%20Brave.html>

3737- James Reston Dogs of God, Columbus the Inquisition & the Defeat of the Moors NY Doubleday 2005, 23, 27, 31–32, 42, 44.

3738- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 522–24. Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1940s–1950s), 11 vols., vol. 4, Age of Faith, (1950), p. 789–90.

3739- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 164, 381, 390, end note 11: Briefsteller und Formelbücher des eilten bis vierzehnten Jahrhun derts, ed. Ludwig Rockinger, 2 vols. (Munich, 1863–4), I, 166, Boncompagnus Boncompagni.

3740- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 86–87, plate 4, p. 105–113. 129. John Page-Phillips, (re-writer), Macklin's Monumental Brasses, Including a bibliography and a list of figure brasses remaining in churches in the United Kingdom, (London, England: George Allen And Unwin LTD., 1 edition 1969, 2nd 1972), pp. 50 & 53, William Ermyr, rector, st 1401, Castle Ashby, Northants; Skulptur Und Grabmal Des Spatmittelalters In Rom Und Italien, Akten Des Kongresses, Scultura E Monumento Sepolcrale Del Tardo Medioevo A Roma E In Italia (Rom, 4--6. Juli 1985), Herausgegeben von Jorg Garms Und Angiola Maria Romanini, Verlag Der Osterreichischen Akademie Der Wissenschaften, Wien 1990, fig. 14, an angel holds a curtain with the right hand raised up, while the left rest on the middle of the chest. Figures 14, 15, Abbs. 5, 15, 27, 32, p. 265, fig. 3, Figs. 26-27, 29, p. 272, fig. 33, Abb. 12-13, p. 393, abbs. 1-2, Abb. 3 of Mailand. S. Gottando, Grabmal des Azzo Visconti, Liegefigur, handclasp. Abbs 9-10, Abb 4, fig. 5; Julian Gardner, The Tomb And The Tiara, Curial Tomb Sculpture in Rome and Avignon in the Later Middle Ages, (Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1992), figs. 18-19, 25-6, 66, 74-5, 81-2, 108, 111-12, 125-7, 144, 204, 220, & 224-7; Henry Trivick, 1971, The Picture Book of Brasses in Gilt, (London, England: 5 Royal Opera Arcade Pall Mall London SW I, John Baker), pp.169, 172, 198-99; Craig Harbison, The Last Judgment in Sixteenth Century Northern Europe, (New York, and London: Garland Pub. Inc., 1976), p. 316, fig. 8 of Martin Schaffner, The Blessed, fragment of a Last Judgment, (Pfullendorf Altar), panel, c. 1500, Freiburg, Diözesanmuseum, (inv. no. Mla/D). The symbol in the glove is seen on a religious leader who is grasping the wrist of a naked soul about to enter into paradise. See also: Deusch, Deutsche Malerei Des Dreizehnten Und Vierzehnten Jahrhunderts, Die Fruhzeit der Tafelmalerei, (Berlin, Germany: Genius Verlag, 1940), see 57 Nachfolger Des Theodorich Von Prag um 1375, two religious leaders with gloves on, as they meet, one is on his knees, the other grasps, with his right hand, the wrist of the other leader's left wrist. See also: Antonin Matejcek & Jaroslav Pesina, Czech Gothic Painting 1350 - 1450, (Melantrich Praha 1950), see figs. 31, 74, 76, & 80; Stange, German Painting, XIV--XVI Centuries, p. 54, lower section, School of Theoderic of Prague, Votive Picture of Ocko Von Vlasim, A.D. 1380, Prague, Gemaldegalerie, two religious leaders clasp each others' hands. John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1954), p. 43, XIV, 64. Fol. 187 v: Tranquillity, Princeton, Univ. Lib. Garrett MS 16, showing Christ raising up a monk out a sarcophagus by grasping, with his right hand, the right hand of the monk. "The half-figure of Christ leans forward from above to grasp his right hand; his left is clutched by a small black demon.... while other demons in the sarcophagus cling to his feet." A verse from Psalm 113:7 was paraphrased; 'the Lord lifteth up the needy from the earth, and from the dung-hill of his passions raiseth up the poor man, him that is humble in heart.' The author's definition of tranquility is said to be "the resurrection of the soul before that of the body". "The picture has, accordingly, been adapted from the Anastasis—Christ's descent into Hell to raise up Adam & other righteous persons of the Old Testament." (Ibid., Martin, p. 43). The clasp on grave: Betty Willsher and Doreen Hunter, 1978, Stones, (New York: Taplinger Pub. Co., 1979), pp. 14-15, 16a, & p. 53. Francis Y. Duval & Ivan B. Rigby, 1978, Early American Gravestone Art In Photographs, (New York: Dover Pub. Inc.), pp. 124-25; Kenneth Lindley, Of Graves And Epitaphs, (London: Hutchinson, 1965), grave marker of Withington, Gloucestershire shows a hand extended to clasp the hand of a soul who is ascending to heaven. See also: Arte Paleocristiano, En Espana, Por Pedro de Palol, Ediciones Poligrafa, S. A., p. 146-151, fig. 88, Sogenannter Auferstehungs - Sarkophag, Krypta von Santa Engracia. Zaragoza. An orant, or person making a prayer gesture with up-raised hands, receives the hand of God. A Lithuanian Cemetery, St. Casimir Lithuanian, Cemetery in Chicago, Illustrated, (Chicago: Lithuanian Photo Library and Loyola, Chicago University Press, 1976), p.65, fig. 15, clasp under the cross on a tomb stone. Frances & Joseph Gies, Daily Life in Medieval Times, A Vivid, Detailed Account of Birth, Marriage and Death; Food, Clothing and Housing; Love and Labor in the Middle Ages, (New York: Barnes & Noble Books, 1969, 1974, illustrated edition, 1990), 22-23, painting of the Royal Effigies of the Plantagenet Kings at Fontevault, France; Henry II (1133-89), his wife Eleanor of Aquitaine ©. 1122-1204), Isabella of Angouleme, wife of their son King John. The three kings have monial symbols in the middle of their gloved hands, thus showing the clerics aren't the only ones that wear these types of ceremonial gloves. See also p. 26-31. Gene Gurney, Kingdoms of Europe, An Illustrated Encyclopedia of Ruling Monarchs from Ancient Times to the Present, (New York: Crown Publishers, Inc., 1982), 62, 66, 68, 136, 145-49, 159, 234, for anointing, monial symbols in kings' gloves, coronations, vows & oaths in coronation ceremonies, etc. Millia Davenport, The Book of Costume, (NY: Crown Publishing, Inc., 1948 & 1976), vol. 1, p. 123, 149, 176, 196, 235-36, 318-19, more of the same. Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1986, 72, etc. Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, & Drama, (Ithaca & London: Cornell Un. Press, 1985).

3741- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (Lon.: Folio Society, 1998), 105-113, foot note 32 on p. 108: For John of Salisbury's account of knighthood, see his Policraticus, ed. C. J. Webb, vol. 2, I-58. M. Bloch, La Société Féodale, vol. 2, 46-58, for dubbing Knights. Frances & Joseph Gies, Daily Life in Medieval Times, A Vivid, Detailed Account of Birth, Marriage and Death; Food, Clothing and Housing; Love & Labor in the Middle Ages, NY: Barnes & Noble Books, 1969, 1974, illustrated ed., 1990, 26-31. 86-95. Andrea Hopkins, Knights, The Complete Story of the Age of Chivalry, From Historical Fact to Tales of Romance and Poetry, (London: Chancellor Press, 1999), 8, 10, 22, 26, 30-32, 39-42, 73-97. Frances Gies, The Knight In History, NY: Harper & Row, Perennial Library, 1984, 26-28, 32, 86. The Encyclopedia of Visual Art, (London, England: Encyclopaedia Britannica International, LTD.), vol. 6, see: Bartolo di Fredi: The Presentation of Christ in the Temple, A.D., 1390, Louvre, Paris. The Christ-child's hands are about to be clasped by Mary in a similar manner as rites of homage hand clasp done between Christian kings, nobles, and knights. The hands are placed together and placed in side the hands of the one clasping. Gertrude Hartman, The World We Live In and How It Came To Be, (NY: The Macmillan Company, 1961), 128-29; Fay-Cooper Cole, Ph.D., Sc.D., LL.D., and Harris Gaylord Warren, Ph.D., An Illustrated Outline History of MANKIND, (Chicago: Consolidated Book Publishers, CR 1965 by Processing and Books, Inc., CR 1963, 1959, 1955, 1951 by Book Production Industries, Inc.), vol. 1, p. 215, see art work of Act of Fealty. Both hands are being clasped differently, for they're both separated. See also the art work of the visit of Richard II to his uncle, John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster, at his castle at Pleshy. It is a right hand clasp, similar to how Christ raises Adam out of hades, limbo, & purgatory. See page 287 of vol. 1. Lawrence Gowing 1987, Paintings in the Louvre, (New York: Stewart, Tabori and Chang), p. 35, & 167. Byran Holme, Medieval Pageant, (Thames & Hudson, 1987), pp. 28-9, & p. 34; Robert Fossier, 1989, The Middle Ages, p. 435; Lester B. Rogers, Fay Adams, & Walker Brown, Story of Nations, (Holt, Rinehart & Wilson, Inc., 1943), p. 176; Sidney Painter, 1953, A History of the Middle Ages, 284-1500 A.D., p. 430. Alexandra Bonfante-Warren, The Louvre, (New York: New York: Beaux Arts Editions, Universe Publishing, 2003, Barnes & Noble, Inc., edition 2003), 88, 90, Amiens. The Priesthood of the Virgin, 1438. In this case, the Virgin is being ordained by her son, in the church of Notre-Dame in Amiens. They are by the altar, the son, as a small child, with his right hand he clasps the investment robe of Mary, while his left hand is being clasped by Mary's left, her thumb resting near & in between the first & middle finger near knuckles area. This seems to indicate her rise to the office in the priesthood. As is her being clothed in a clerical clothing, with the 12 stones or jewels like unto the priestly breast piece of judgment in ancient Israel, the ephod, (Ex. 28:29, 1 Sam. 23:6, Ex. Chapter 28, 29:1-9, 29, 30:29-31, 31:10-11, 35:15-21, 39:1-14, 38-41, 40:9-15, & Leviticus. Reader's Digest's ABC's Of The Bible, Kaari Ward, (Editor), (Pleasantville, NY & Montreal, Canada: The Reader's Digest Associations, Inc., 1991), 62-65. Charles T. Wood, The Age of Chivalry, Manners and Morals 1000-1440, (New York, U.S.A.; and London, England: University Books, CR 1970 by George Weidenfeld & Nicolson LTD). Felipe Cossio Del Pomar, Peruvian Colonial, The Cuzco School of Painting, (New York, New York: Wittenborn and Company, 1964), p. 64, note the hand mark in the middle of the saint's glove or hand. Federico Zeri, Italian Paintings in the Walters Art Gallery, (Baltimore: Published by the Trustees, 1976), plate 41, fig. 54. Neri di Bicci, The Coronation of the Virgin. Religious leaders' glove have on the monial symbol which looks like nail mark wounds in the middle of their hands. Christ and Mary are encircled by praying angels, while the coronation and crowning of Mary is taking place. ÉMILE MÅ le, Religious Art, From the Twelfth to the Eighteenth Century, (Pantheon), p. 145, plate 33. Guyot Marchant: Danse Macabre. A.D. 1485. Symbols in gloves and wrist clasp. See also figure 27. Österreichische Akademie Der Wissenschaften Historisches Institut Beim Österreichischen Kulturinstitut In Rom. Publikationen Des Historischen Instituts Beim Österreichischen Kulturinstitut In Rom. Herausgegeben Von. Otto Kresten Und Adam Wandruszka. I. Abteilung Abhandlungen 10. Band. Skulptur Und Grabmal Des Spätmittelalters In Rom Und Italien. Verlag Der Österreichischen Akademie Der Wissenschaften Wien 1990. Skulptur Und Grabmal Des Spätmittelalters In Rom Und Italien. Jörg Garms Und Angiola Maria Romanini, Abb. 4: Burgos, Kathedrale. Garb des Erzdichschofs Lope de Fontecha, A.D. 1352, religious leaders grave sculpture, showing his hands with the gloves with symbols in the middle of the hand. See also: Abb 36, dated A.D. 1348, shows a couple in a clasp. The Knights right hand thumb rests of the middle of the hand of the woman's right hand. See also fig. 54, note the arm gestures that the angels are making. And: Abbs 3, & 5 dated A.D. 1944, the gloves with symbols in the middle of the hand. Abbs. 15, 27, 32, p. 265, fig. 3; figs. 26, 27, 29, 33, Abbs. 12, 13, 15, Abb. 3, Abb. 4, Fig. 5. This book has a number of examples of symbols in the middle of gloves.

3742- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 589.

3743- Paolo Muratoff, La Pittura Bizantina, (Casa Ed. D' arte Valori Plastici, Roma), CXII, Dio Rimprovera Adamo Arte Romanico-Bizantina (Prima metà del XII Sec.) Mosaico. S. Marco, Venezia Fot. Alinari. 13 cent.

- 3744- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, London: The Folio Society, 1998, 105.
- 3745- Margaret Baker, Wedding Customs & Folklore, Tor., New Jersey: David & Charles, & R & L., 1977, 33.
- 3746- Jaroslav Folda, Crusader Manuscript Illumination at Saint-Jean d'Acre, 1275-91, New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1976, fig. 252. Fol. 12v.
- 3747- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150-1309, Lon.: Folio Society, 1998, 220-221, 395, end n.9, p. 415; E. H. Kantorowicz, The King's 2 Bodies: A Study in Medieval Political Theology, Princeton, 1957, 365n.
- 3748- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150-1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 195 & 381-382, 394, end note 13: Determinatio compendiosa de iurisdictione imperii 30 in Monumenta Germaniae Historica FIG in usum scholarum - Fontes iuris germanici antiqui in usum scholarum, 60.
- 3749- Fredinand Seibt, Erich Bachmann, Hilde Bachmann, Gerhard Schmidt, Götz Fehr, Christian Salm, Editor: Erich Bachmann, Gothic Art in Bohemia, (Phaidon Press Limited, 1977, orig. pub. as Gotik in Böhmen, Phaidon Press Limited, 1969), fig. 80. AD 1340, Gothic art in Bohemia, 2 marriages, Joseph to Mary & Sarah & Tobias. Speculum humanae salvationis from Weissenau near Lake Constance. Kremsmönster, Monastery Library.
- 3750- Marjorie Rowling, Drawings by John Mansbridge, Text B.T. Batsford, Everyday Life of Medieval Travelers, (Dorset Press, Limited, 1971, & 1989), 136-7, see also p.147.
- 3751- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 148-50, 166, 173. Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 35, 51, 54, 59, 64, 69, 78, 82, 95, 99-100, 104, 146, 149, 156-57, 243, 249, 317. Frances & Joseph Gies, Daily Life in Medieval Times, A Vivid, Detailed Account of Birth, Marriage and Death; Food, Clothing and Housing; Love and Labor in the Middle Ages, (New York: Barnes & Noble Books, 1969, 1974, illustrated edition, 1990), 25-30.
- 3752- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought & the Art in France and the Netherlands in the 14th & 15th Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 173.
- 3753- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the 14th & 15th Centuries, (Lon.: The Folio Society, 1998), 75-82, 117, 148-50, 166, 173, 217, 233. Andrea Hopkins, Knights, The Complete Story of the Age of Chivalry, From Historical Fact to Tales of Romance & Poetry, London: Chancellor Press, 1999, 8, 10, 13, 22, 26, 28, 30-32, 39-43, 70-97. Frances Gies, The Knight In History, (NY, etc., Harper & Row, Perennial Library, 1984), 26-27. Gertrude Hartman's The World We Live In and How It Came To Be, A Pictured Outline of Man's Progress from the Earliest Days to the Present, (CR 1931 Hartman; NY: The Macmillan Co., 1961): Chapter IX, In Feudal Days; pages 127-142.
- 3754- G. H. Gombrich, The Story of Art, (Phaidon Press Limited, 1950, 1972), 180-81, fig. 159. A.D. 1434, Jan van Eyck's painting of the betrothal of the Arnolfini. National Gallery. See also: Rosa Maria Letts, The Renaissance, (Cambridge University Press, 1981), 36-37. Peter & Linda Murray, The Art of the Renaissance, (Thames and Hudson, 1983), 82. Malcom Warner, Portrait Painting, (Phaidon Press, 1979), 19. Frederick Hartt, Art, A History of Painting, Sculpture, & Architecture, (NY: Harry N. Abrams, 1976), vol. 2, p. 100-2.
- 3755- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 233.
- 3756- James Reston Dogs of God, Columbus the Inquisition & the Defeat of the Moors NY Doubleday 2005, 42
- 3757- James Reston Dogs of God, Columbus the Inquisition & the Defeat of the Moors NY Doubleday 2005 101-8
- 3758- DVD collection, The Great Commandments Collection, 20 Features, (Echo Bridge Home Entertainment, 2015), Sacred Classics, disc 2, Martin Luther, black & white film, by Louis De Rochemont, produced by RD-DR Corp., & Lutheran Church Productions & Luther-Film-G.M.B.H., date ?, about 25 minutes into film.
- 3759- John Dillenberger, (Ed. & Intro.), Martin Luther, Selections From His Writings, (NY, Lon., & Auckland: Anchor Books, Doubleday, 1962, Anchor Books Ed., 1951), 438, n. 24: Significasti, Decret. Greg., lib. I, tit. 6, cap. 4. It deals with the oath of obedience sworn by bishops.
- 3760- Leonard W. Cowie, The March Of The Cross, (Great Britain: Weidenfeld & Nicolson LTD., 1962; USA, NY, Toronto & Lon.: McGraw-Hill Book Co., 1962), 59, & 75, fig. 82, p. 80-98.
- 3761- Horton & Marie-Hélène Davies, Holy Days & Holidays, The Medieval Pilgrimage of Compostela, Lon. Tor.: Associated Un. & Lewisburg Bucknell Un. Press, 1982, 26-28, 36-38, 189.
- 3762- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 528-29.
- 3763- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 118.
- 3764- Robert Branner, Manuscript Painting In Paris During the Reign of Saint Louis, A Study of Styles, (Berkley; Los Angeles; London, England: Un. of California Press, CR 1977 by Shirley Prager Branner), fig. 192. Initial for Codex, Book 5 (Lyon, Palais des Arts 43, f. 112. According to Frederick Hartt, Art, a history of painting, sculpture, and architecture, vol. 2, p. 102. While the couple grasps each others' hand, their other free hands are raised up to make "an oath of fidelity." See also: E. H. Gombrich, The Story of Art, (First published in 1950), p. 180-81, fig. 159.
- 3765- Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History & Myths Revealed, NY: Metro Books, Sterling Pub., 2008), 28-30. Walter Leslie Wilmhurst, 1867-1939, The Meaning of Masonry, (NY: Gramercy Books, Crown Publishers, Inc., 1980), 14-15, 48-51, 62-64, 126-28, 133-69, etc, symbolical death, resurrection, building a positive purer character.
- 3766- Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History & Myths Revealed, NY: Metro Books, Sterling Pub., 2008, 135.
- 3767- Diane Warner, Complete Book of Wedding Vows, Franklin Lakes, New Jersey: Career Press, 1996, 29-34.
- 3768- Ex. 17:8-14; 1 Kings 8:22; Psa. 28:2, 141:2, Isa. 1:15-18; etc. Fireside Edition of The Holy Bible, King James Version = KJV, (Phil. Penn.: The Family & Home Press, 1965). illiam Smith, LL.D., Complete & Practical Household Dictionary of the Bible, p. 30-1, Daniel, & p.33, Dedication of the Feast, p.39, an Egyptian at Prayer.
- 3769- Encyclopedia of World Art, (Lon.: McGraw-Hill, 1959; The Instituto per la Collaborazione Culturale, Rome, 1958), vol. I, pl. 63. Panel. Munich, Pinakothek. The Birth of the Virgin, shows small children angels clasping hands and forming a circle in the air.
- 3770- The Rev. Alexander Roberts, D.D., and James Donaldson, LL.D., Editors, The Ante-Nicene Fathers, Translations of The Writings of the Fathers down to A.D. 325, (Michigan: WM. B. Eerdmans Publishing Co., T&T Clark, Edinburgh, reprinted 1989), 10 vols, see vol. 1, p. 5, Clement of Rome, A.D. 30-100, The First Epistle of Clement to the Corinthians, chapter II.
- 3771- ANF, 1:12, Clement of Rome, A.D. 30-100, The First Epistle of Clement to the Corinthians, chapter 29.

- 3772- ANF, (Michigan: T&T Clark, Edinburgh, WM. B. Eerdmans Pub. Co., reprint 1989), 10 vols, 1:244, AD 110—165, Justin Martyr, Dialogue With Trypho, chap. XC.
- 3773- Jahrbuch Der Berliner Museen, Jahrbuch der Preußischen Kunstsammlungen Neue Folge, Sechster Band - 1964, (Verlagsort, Berlin, Germany: Im Gemeinschaftsverlag, G. Grotes'sche Verlag Buchhandlung KG - Gebr. Mann, 1964), page 26, Abb. 2. Kreuz des Kaisers Justinus, Rückseite. Rom (Vatikan), Schatz der Peterskirche. Cross, person on each arm of it making the prayer gesture-up-lifted hands. Page 28, Abb. 3, Kreuz des Kaisers Justinus, älterer Zustand. Nach S. Borgia. 2 persons on each side of the arms of the cross, prayer, up-lifted hands.
- 3774- The Library of Christian Classics, volume 2, Alexandrian Christianity, Selected Translations of Clement & Origen with Introductions and Notes by John Ernest Leonard Oulton, D.D., Regius Professor of Divinity in the University of Dublin; Chancellor of St. Patrick's and Henry Chadwick, B.D., Fellow & Dean of Queens' College, Cambridge. (Philadelphia: The Westminster Press). vol. 2, p. 117, Clement of Alexandria, On Spiritual Perfection, chapter 7, see also note 37 on p. 117: Cf. Origen, de Orat., 31, below, p. 322 ff.
- 3775- Clement of Alexandria, 2nd century, Cohortation ad gentes, xxi, in Migne, PG 8:241.
- 3776- Marion P. Ireland, Textile Art in the Church, Vestments, Paraments, & Hangings in Contemporary Worship, Art, & Architecture, Nashville & NY: Abingdon Press, 1966, 1967, 1971, 56-57, illust. 30: Fresco, Catacombs of St. Callistus, Rome. Praying orant, with up-lifted hands, wearing a see-through veil on her head.
- 3777- Yves Christe, Tania Velmans, Hanna Losowska & Roland Recht, Art of the Christian World, A.D. 200-1500, A Handbook of Styles and Forms, (NY: Rizzoli International Publications, 1982 CR Office du Livre), 38, fig. 4. Second half of the third century, in the painted ceilings of the catacomb of SS. Pietro e Marcellino, Rome, Christ, represented as being the Good Shepherd, is encircled by praying figures with up lifted hands in four directions, and one showing Jonah, with up-lifted hands, being swallowed by a great fish. See p. 39, fig. 10.
- 3778- Yves Christe, Tania Velmans, Hanna Losowska and Roland Recht, Art of the Christian World, A.D. 200-1500, A Handbook of Styles & Forms, (NY: Rizzoli International Publications, 1982 CR Office du Livre), p. 42, fig. 19. Christian sarcophagus, c. 240-70, S. Maria Antica, Rome. Praying female, with hands held head high.
- 3779- Yves Christe, Tania Velmans, Hanna Losowska and Roland Recht, Art of the Christian World, A.D. 200-1500, A Handbook of Styles and Forms, (New York: Rizzoli International Publications, Inc., 1982 CR Office du Livre), p. 39. Praying figure, catacomb of Vigna Massimo, Rome, 4th c.
- 3780- Yves Christe, Tania Velmans, Hanna Losowska and Roland Recht, Art of the Christian World, A.D. 200--1500, A Handbook of Styles and Forms, (New York: Rizzoli International Publications, Inc., 1982 CR Office du Livre), p. 39, fig. 7. Praying female figure, hands at head level, in the catacomb of Domitilla, Rome, 4th c.
- 3781- Yves Christe, Tania Velmans, Hanna Losowska and Roland Recht, Art of the Christian World, A.D. 200-1500, A Handbook of Styles and Forms, (NY: Rizzoli International Publications, 1982 CR Office du Livre), p.43, fig.23. Female praying figure with hands held at neck level or shoulder level. C. 330, Nat. Mus. Rome.
- 3782- John Ferguson, An Illustrated Encyclopedia of Mysticism and the Mystery Religions, (New York, New York: A Continuum Book; The Seabury Press, 1977), 44, see D. Dance.
- 3783- Yves Christe, Tania Velmans, Hanna Losowska & Roland Recht, Art of the Christian World, AD 200-1500, A Handbook of Styles & Forms, NY: Rizzoli International Publications, 1982 CR Office du Livre, 42, fig.21. 340s of 4th c., praying female holding hands at neck level. Christian sarcophagus, Mus. Pio Cristiano, Vatican.
- 3784- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All the Prophets Gone? Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005, 103, 138, n. 82: Cyril of Jerusalem, Catechetical Lecture 23.9, in N&PNF, 2:7:154. Huge Nibley, The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, Provo & SLC, Ut.: FARMS, & Deseret Book Co., vol.4: Mormonism & Early Christianity, (1987), 45-99, vol., 16: The Message of the Joseph Smith Papyri, An Egyptian Endowment, (2005, 2nd ed.), p. 520-21. (André Grabar, Early Christian Art, From the Rise of Christianity to the Death of Theodosius, NY: Odyssey Press 1968, 102-3, 130, fig.131, Rome. Sarcophagus, detail: Orant with up-lifted hands. Santa Maria Antiqua, Rome. Page 142, fig.146. Rome. Sarcophagus, detail: Orant with up-lifted hands. Museo delle Terme, Rome. Page 135, fig.138. Fragment of a Sarcophagus: Story of Jonah. Santa Maria in Trastevere, Rome. Orants with up-lifted hands. The 3 youths in the furnace praying for protection from the fire. Page 318, fig. 58, p.320, figs. 96 & 104, 116, 119, 120, p. 321, figs. 131, 138, 140, 142, 145, 146, p. 324, see explanation for figures or pls. 232 & 242. Psalms 28:2, 51:2, 7, 63:4, 73:23-24, 84:9, 88:9, 119:48, 141:2, 143:6.
- 3785- <http://www.templestudy.com/2012/07/25/praying-couple-curtain-5th6th-century-christianity/>
- 3786- Klaus Wessel, Coptic Art, NY: McGraw-Hill Book Co., 1965, 18-19, figs.12-13, p.69, fig.61, p.70, fig.62.
- 3787- John McManners, Ed., The Oxford Illustrated History of Christianity, (Oxford; NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1990), 77, ivory from North Africa. Daniel praying, up lifted hands, among lions.
- 3788- André Grabar, Early Christian Art, From the Rise of Christianity to the Death of Theodosius, NY: Odyssey Press, 1968, 102—03, 130, fig. 131, Rome. Sarcophagus, detail: Orant with up-lifted hands. Santa Maria Antiqua, Rome. Page 142, fig. 146. Rome. Sarcophagus, detail: Orant with up-lifted hands. Museo delle Terme, Rome. Page 135, fig.138. Fragment of a Sarcophagus: Story of Jonah. Santa Maria in Trastevere, Rome. Orants with up-lifted hands. The three youths in the furnace praying for protection from the fire. Page 318, fig. 58. Page 320, figures 96 & 104, 116, 119, 120. Page 321, figures 131, 138, 140, 142, 145, 146. Pages 324, for pls 232 & 242.
- 3789- Ilona Berkovits, Illuminated Manuscripts From The Library Of Matthias Corvinus, (Budapest: Corvina Press, 1964), 72, fig.20.
- 3790- Ilona Berkovits, Illuminated Manuscripts From The Library Of Matthias Corvinus, 37a, fig.20.
- 3791- Leonard W. Cowie, The March Of The Cross, (Great Britain: Weidenfeld & Nicolson LTD., 1962; pub. USA, NY: McGraw-Hill Book Co., Inc., Toronto, & London 1962), 27-29, fig.33.
- 3792- George Holmes, Ed., The Oxford Illustrated History of Medieval Europe, (Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1988), 7th c., Frank Agilbert, trained in Ireland, became the bishop of Wessex, & was present at the Synod of Whitby, & died bishop of Paris. His tomb, now at Jouarre, east of Paris, souls up-lift hands in a last Judgment. Another parallel tomb is found in Northumbria.
- 3793- George Holmes, Editor, The Oxford Illustrated History of Medieval Europe, (Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1988). Early 9th century Rome, in the mosaics of the vault chapel of San Zeno, Christ is depicted in a circle, while four angels, with up-lifted hands, touch the circle. C. R. Dodwell; Editors: Nikolaus Pevsner and Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (Harmondsworth, Middlesex; Baltimore, Md.; Ringwood, Victoria, Australia: Penguin Books, 1971), vol. 34, Painting in Europe 800 to 1200, p. xi, plate 5.

- 3794- Kenneth Clark, Civilisation, A Personal View, NY, & Evanston: Harper & Row, 1969, 29-30, pl. 21, p. ix, black & white illustration explanations, see 21: Ivories showing celebration of the mass (ninth to tenth century). Left: Fitzwilliam Museum, Cambridge. Right: Stadt-und Universitätsbibliothek, Frankfurt-am-Main.
- 3795- David & Tamara Talbot Rice, Icons, & Their History, Woodstock, NY: The Overlook Press, 1974, 100-101, 11th-13th c. icon, Virgin Mary, praying with up-lifted hands.
- 3796- Tristram P. Coffin The Book of Christmas Folklore, NY: A Continuum Book, The Seabury Press 1973, 97.
- 3797- David Talbot Rice, Byzantine Painting, The Last Phase, New York: The Dial Press, Inc., 1968, p. 133. Fig. 97. Monastery Church, Lesnovo, Serbia. Wall painting of Psalm 150, dated 1341-9. Round dance, where those who take part in it clasp each others' hands & wrists. Possible fragment of the prayer circle traditions.
- 3798- Michael Batterberry, Art of the Early Renaissance, (Milan, Italy: Fratelli Fabbri, 1968), 78, 80-81, 184, fig. 79. 1420's, Fra Angelico's Last Judgment depicts the round dance of the angels in paradise, in which saints clasp hands with the angels when they enter the circle that is being formed. Museum of San Marco, Florence.
- 3799- John Ferguson, An Illustrated Encyclopedia of Mysticism & the Mystery Religions, (NY, NY: A Continuum Book; The Seabury Press, 1977), 44, D. Dance. Colleen McDannell & Bernhard Lang, Heaven A History, (New Haven & Lon.: Yale Un. Press, 1988), 128-31, plates 19-21. Fra Angelico, The Last Judgment, 1421, Museo di San Marco, Florence, Italy. Prayer-circle.
- 3800- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), in between p. 230 & 231, color plate II. See also Plate 13, B, by Rogier van der Weyden, a depiction of Chancellor Rolin, at prayer, with hands together in front about chest level, like the praying angels in plate II.
- 3801- Andreas Stylianou and Judith A. Stylianou, The Painted Churches Of Cyprus, Treasures of Byzantine Art, (London: Trigraph for the A.G. Leventis Foundation, 1985), p.318, fig. 189. "Moses and the Vision of the Burning Bush, ca. 1500, "Latin chapel", monastery of St. John Lampadistis, Kalopanayiotis." See also p.212, fig. 122. "The Virgin Mary attended by the Archangels Michael and Gabriel, 1494, church of the Holy Cross of Agiasmati, near Platanistasa." And p.213, fig. 123. "The Communion of the Apostles (detail), 1494, church of the Holy Cross of Agiasmati, near Platanistasa." And p. 282, fig. 168. The Virgin Mary, Mother of God, "the Mistress of the Angels", second decade of the 16th c., church of the Transfiguration of the Saviour, Palaeochorio. And p.342, fig. 205. "The Virgin Mary Orans, Blachernitissa, attended by the Archangels Michael and Gabriel, 1474, church of the Archangel Michael, Pedoulas." And p. 494, fig. 299. "The Virgin Mary Orans) Blachernitissa, attended by the Archangels Michael and Gabriel, 14th c., church of St. Euphemianus, Lysi."
- 3802- Treasures From The Kremlin, An Exhibition from the State of Museums of the Moscow Kremlin at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, (NY, May 19-Sept.1979, & Grand Palais, Paris, Oct. 12, 1979 & Jan. 7, 1980), (NY: Metropolitan Museum of Art. Distributed by Harry N. Abrams), 55, 145, & 156, pl.20. Altar Gospels in silver-gilt cover, 1568 AD. Presented by Ivan the Terrible to the Cathedral of the Annunciation in the Moscow Kremlin in 1568 (Inv. no. 711), Provenance: Cathedral of the Annunciation, Moscow Kremlin.
- 3803- Norman Russell (Trans.), The Lives of the Desert Fathers, The Historia Monachorum in Aegypto, (Mowbray: London & Oxford: Cistercian Publications: USA, 1980), 30.
- 3804- Clifford Davidson, Ed., The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, & Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Michigan: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan Un. 1994), 44.
- 3805- John McManners, The Oxford Illustrated History of Christianity, (Oxford; NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1990), PRAYER OF THE HEART, St. Serafim of Sarov, Russian icon, late 19th c.
- 3806- John McManners, The Oxford Illustrated History of Christianity, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1990, 586-87.
- 3807- Treasures From The Kremlin, An Exhibition from the State of Museums of the Moscow Kremlin at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, N.Y., May 19-Sept.1979, & Grand Palais, Paris, Oct. 12, 1979 & Jan. 7, 1980), (New York: Metro. Mus., of Art, Distributed by Harry N. Abrams, Inc.), 195, mentions "ecclesiastical veils" but does not say too much about what they were used for.
- 3808- Rev. Henry Mason Baum, D. C. L., Editor, & Frederick Bennett Wright, Assistant Editor, Records of the Past, (Washington, D. C.: Records of the Past Exploration Society, 1902), vol.1, p. 77, article by Arthur Stoddard Cooley, PH.D., Ancient Corinth Uncovered, Part 2.
- 3809- André Grabar, Early Christian Art, From the Rise of Christianity to the Death of Theodosius, NY: Odyssey Press, 1968, 102-3.
- 3810- André Grabar, Early Christian Art, From the Rise of Christianity to the Death of Theodosius, (NY: Odyssey Press, 1968), 130, fig.131. Rome. Sarcophagus, Orant, Santa Maria Antiqua.
- 3811- Barbara G. Walker, The Woman's Encyclopedia of Myths and Secrets, (New York, New York: Harper San Francisco, a Division of Harper Collins Publishers, 1983), 910-20.
- 3812- Philippe Aries & Georges Duby, General Editors, Translator, Arthur Goldhammer, A History of Private Life, From Pagan to Byzantium, (Cambridge, Massachusetts, London, England: The Belknap Press of Harvard University Press, 1987), vol. I, From Pagan Rome to Byzantium, p. 202-203.
- 3813- Michael & Ariane Batterberry, Fashion, The Mirror of History, (New York: Greenwich House, 1982, Distributed by Crown Publishers, Inc., 1977), 11, 27, 36-37, 108-9.
- 3814- Reay Tannahill, Sex in History, (USA: Scarborough House/Publishers, 1992, originally published in hardcover by Stein and Day-Publishers, 1980), 148.
- 3815- H. Clay Trumbull, D.D., The Blood Covenant, A Primitive Rite and its Bearings on Scriptures, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1885). <https://archive.org/details/bloodcovenantap04trumgoog> -
- 3816- ANF, 4: Tertullian, On The Veiling of Virgins. Stephen D. Ricks, & LeGrand L. Barker, Who Shall Ascend Into the Hill of the Lord? The Psalms In Israel's Temple Worship In The Old Testament and in the Book of Mormon, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Books, 2009). Donald W. Parry, (Editor), etc., Temples of The Ancient World, Ritual and Symbolism, (SLC, Utah: Desert Book Co., 1994, & Provo, Utah: FARMS). See also: H. Clay Trumbull, D.D., The Blood Covenant, A Primitive Rite and its Bearings on Scriptures, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1885). <https://archive.org/details/bloodcovenantap04trumgoog> Jeffrey M. Bradshaw, Temple Themes In the Book of Moses, SLC, Utah: Eborn Pub., 2010. Darell Thorpe, The Pilgrimage & Struggles of the Human Family In & Through the Different Realms of Existences, (1991). Thorpe, Jesus Christ's "Everlasting Gospel" & Ancient "Patternism" (1990, unpublished manuscript). KTKK, 630 AM Radio, K-Talk, South Jordan, Utah: Martin Tanner, host of Religion on the Line. 6-2-1991, guest: Thorpe, subject: The Journey of the Soul in Early Christian art works & writings. (Psa.18:19-32, 24:3-4, 73:1-13, 23-28. Isa. 1:13-21, 3:16-24, 4:4, 30:1, 41:13, 43:25, 52:1-2, 56:2-8, 59:1-9, chap.

61, Jer. Chap.13. Eph. 3:12-16, 5:3-5, 21-33, 6:10-19, Col. 4-20, 1 Cor. chap. 11, Rev.3:4-5, 18, 19:7-9, 14).

3817- Philippe Aries & Georges Duby, General Editors, Translator, Arthur Goldhammer, A History of Private Life, From Pagan to Byzantium, (Cambridge, Massachusetts, London, England: The Belknap Press of Harvard University Press, 1987), vol. I, From Pagan Rome to Byzantium, p. 257.

3818- Philippe Aries & Georges Duby, General Editors, Translator, Arthur Goldhammer, A History of Private Life, From Pagan to Byzantium, (Cambridge, Massachusetts, London, England: The Belknap Press of Harvard University Press, 1987), vol. I, From Pagan Rome to Byzantium, p. 298-299.

3819- Philippe Aries & Georges Duby, General Editors, Translator, Arthur Goldhammer, A History of Private Life, From Pagan to Byzantium, (Cambridge, Massachusetts, London, England: The Belknap Press of Harvard University Press, 1987), vol. I, From Pagan Rome to Byzantium, p. 298-299.

3820- Ariel L. Crowley, Statement of Beliefs of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints: Doctrines & Practices, Idaho: DNPRESS, 1961, 99, n.81, ch.5, The Doctrine of Sealings & Eternal Marriage in Ancient Times.

3821- Philippe Aries & Georges Duby, General Editors, Translator, Arthur Goldhammer, A History of Private Life, From Pagan to Byzantium, (Cambridge, Massachusetts, London, England: The Belknap Press of Harvard University Press, 1987), vol. I, From Pagan Rome to Byzantium, p. 298-299.

3822- Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca & London: Cornell University Press, 1985). J.G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962). Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, (Washington Square, New York, New York: Pantheon Books, 1947). Francis Bond, Fonts and Font Covers, (London, NY, & Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford Un. Press, 1908).

3823- From out the darkness of the shroud – Which veil'd the World's eternal birth, – Came forth a voice that pierc'd the cloud, — Shadowing his descent on earth, Of woman born, doom'd to tread – And crush the wily serpent's head. (This seems to suggest how Christ, from the pre-existence, passed through a veil to be born, & defeat the devil), see: p. 95 & 97, Lines written in Rome, December 1854, on the occasion of the promulgation of the doctrine of Immaculate conception of the Virgin Mary, written by His Grace John MacHale, Arch-Bishop of Tuam. (See: The Bull “Ineffabilis” In Four Languages; The Immaculate Conception of The Most Blessed Virgin Mary Defined, With an Introduction, and A Dissertation of the Art of Illuminating, With some account of the Project Undertaken by Monsieur L'Abbé Sire, Superior of the College of St. Sulpice, Paris. To the present of the Sovereign Pontiff, Pope Pius IX., and Illuminated Manuscript version of the Decree in Every Known Language and Dialect. Translated and Edited by Rev. Ulick J. Bourke, (Dublin: Printed & Published by John Mullany, 1868), p. 95 & 97. See also: Jeffrey M. Bradshaw, Temple Themes In the Book of Moses, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Publishing, 2010), 34–35, 39, 42–47, 54–57, 77–89, 115, 117, 119, 123–124, 151, etc.

3824- John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (New York: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882), 388, the white baptismal garments are mentioned on p. 389. For the work showing Christ on the doors of limbo while being baptized, see: L'Iconographie De L'evangile, Millet, p.199, fig. 172.

3825- Gareth Randall, The Bartholomew Gospel, p. 77 & 103. Rev. 3:14–21, 19:8, 14; 2 Cor. 4:2, 10–16, 5:1–21, 6:1–14, Eph. 4:4-12, 18–32, 5:3–14, 26–27, 6:11–19, Rom. 13:12, Matt. 22:1–13, Psa. 132:9, Isa. 11:12, 61:1–3, 10. Ezk. 44:17, etc.). Adin Ballou, Primitive Christianity and Its Corruptions, Department of Personal Righteousness, A series of Discourses delivered in Hopedale, Mass., A.D. 1870–71, by Adin Ballou, edited by William S. Heywood, (Lowell, Mass.: Thompson & Hill, Printers. – The Vox Populi Press, 1899), vol. II, p. 392, chapter XXVII, The Prevailing Morality of Christendom in the Nineteenth Century, Rev. 3:17–19, was used to point out works of morality vrs. immorality. As in these other scriptures mentioned above, with the garment types there in. Being naked with sin, they need to be clothed in white raiment, so that the shame of their nakedness, their ill-works, may be covered over with righteous works, or the robes of righteousness, thus, they needed to be washed clean, as in baptism, to become white as wool. (Isa. 1:16–19, 61:10).

3826- Isa. 1:16–19, 53:3–12, Matt. 27:37, Mark 15:26, Luke 23:38, John 19:19–24. Psa. 22:18, Acts 8:32.

3827- Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (NY, San Diego, U.S.A.; Lon. Eng.: Harcourt Brace & Co.). Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsachsischen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), 3 vols. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen.

3828- The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, 10:321-3, chap.6-7; Library of Fathers, 2:260-66, Lectures 19-20.

3829- Early Christian Art, The Late Roman and Byzantine Empires from the 3rd to the 7th centuries, fig. 83: "Venice, St. Mark's" 5th cent., "Christ in Limbo." Adam reaches around pillar to clasp Christ's right hand. See: Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, (NY, NY: Pantheon Books, 1947), plate 100 a & b. While Christ crushes under his feet Hades and those whom he gained the victory over, Adam reaches around a pillar to feel the wound in Christ's palm. "Surgunt corpora sanctorum." "Many bodies of the saints were raised" (Matthew 27:52). Christ descent into the limbo (1 Peter 3:19), to rescue the patriarchs, "while Hades [under Christ's feet] bits his [own] fingers in impotent rage." In another depiction of Christ's descent into hell, the clasp is made on the wrist of Adam. Christ's nail mark wound is in the middle of his left hand which is clasping Adam's right wrist. The clasp lines up with a pillar, except the pillar stop short of being extended down under where the clasping is taking place. It is as though the pillar is likened unto a nail which is driven into their hands to bind the covenant being performed. If so, then another pillar in the church seems to have nailed the jaws of hell open so that the prisons may come forth. (See: Raymond Koechlin, Les Ivoires Gothiques, Francais, Planches, (Paris, France: F. De Noble, 1968), no. 34, Petrograd, Musee de l'Ermitage). In the old form of marriage in the Orkneys, they would join their hands through a perforation, or ring, in a stone pillar. Lillian Eichler, The Customs of Mankind, With Notes on Modern Etiquette and the Newest Trend in Entertainment, (Garden City, New York: Nelson Doubleday, Inc., 1924), 230. In ancient Near Eastern temples, "Covenants are sealed in temples or near pillars standing near temples" writes John M. Lundquist. See his article: The Legitimizing Role of the Temple in the Origin of the State, published as chapter 9 in Temples of The Ancient World. Edited by Donald W. Parry, (Salt Lake City; Provo, Utah: Deseret Book Company, and Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies, 1994), 179–235, see p. 220. Furthermore, "the king stood by a pillar and made a covenant before the Lord." (p. 220, citing 2 Kings 23:2-3, see also foot note 148 on p. 148, & 284–86. On the internet, Creation of Adam & Eve scenes, Hjembaek. c.1475. (M-K 11-091) Creation of Adam and Eve, the hand clasp between God & Eve is done in between pillars or poles. In another work, sixth century, the Mosaic on the right side wall of the nave: palace of Theodoric. Remains of hands are still visible in the columns. On at least four pillars are hand symbols, the curtains are tied open, hung in the middle of the pillars. The Basilica of Sant' Apollinare Nuovo is a basilica church in Ravenna, Italy. It was erected by Ostrogoth King Theodoric the Great as his palace chapel during the first quarter of the 6th century (as attested to in the Liber Pontificalis). This Arian church was originally dedicated in 504 AD to "Christ the Redeemer". Also in: Jean Porcher, French Miniatures, or

Medieval French Miniatures, (New York: Harry N. Abrams), fig. 38, The Annunciation to Zacharias, Bible, second half of 12th century, Bibliothèque Nationale, Ms. lat. 16746, f. 42, near a pillar, in the temple, illustrating Luke 1:10-11, two men are clasping each others' left hands. And in: Wim Swaan, The Gothic Cathedral, (Garden City, New York: Double Day & Co., 1969, Paul Elek Productions Lim.), p. 109, fig. 105, the towers of Laon from the sketchbook of Villard de Honnecurut. Paris, Bibliothèque Nationale, a hand symbol is up at the top of pillars. In another: Robert Fossier, Edited and Translated by Janet Sondheimer, The Middle Ages, The Cambridge Illustrated History of the Middle Ages, 1350–950, (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press 1989), 470, Carolingian ivory work, Relief, c. 870: David the Psalmist entering the house of the Lord. Carved by artist at the court of Charles the Bald, part of the emperor's prayer book. (Zurich, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum), the right hand of God extends down from above, while a hand clasp between two people lines up with one of the pillars of the house of God. On the right side almost under the hand of God, a naked soul is being guided up a slope by a larger person, holding hands. Similar to this one is seen in: David M. Wilson, Anglo-Saxon Art, From the Seventh Century to the Norman Conquest, (Woodstock, New York: Overlook Press, 1984), p. 182–183, from 229 Page from the Utrecht Psalter, illustrating Psalm 27, University Library, Script. eccl. 484, fol. 15r. Also: 230 Page shows the same scene copied from the Utrecht Psalter by an English scribe (London, British Library, Harley 603, fol. 15r). First part produced at Christ Church, Canterbury about 1000 by a number of artists, the second drawing dates about the second quarter of the 11th – early 12th century. Both these art works show the hand of God extending down making finger language symbols, with a hand clasp near the pillar of the house of God, at the stair way. Later in Freemasonry, these hand clasping rituals near pillars continued to be preserved in their mysteries. See: Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History and Myths Revealed, (New York: Metro Books, 2008, 2009 edition), 7, 26–27, 30–31, 34–35, 40–41, 52, 64–65, 75, 83, 91–93, etc. Walter Leslie Wilmshurst, 1867–1939, The Meaning of Masonry, (New York: Gramercy Books, 1980), pages 79–81, and pages 138–148, etc. http://3.bp.blogspot.com/_oAjpSCHvrRE/S53ab89YhPI/AAAAAAAAA18/Hg5Kber95QQ/S570/Hjemb%C3%A6k.+c.1475.+\(M-K+11-091\)+Creation+of+Adam+and+Ev...jpg+Creation+of+Adam+and+Ev...jpg) https://upload.wikimedia.org/wikipedia/commons/thumb/0/08/Ravenna_Basilica_of_Sant%27Apollinare_Nuovo_mosaic_%282%29.jpg/800px-Ravenna_Basilica_of_Sant%27Apollinare_Nuovo_mosaic_%282%29.jpg

3830- Francis Bond, Fonts & Font Covers, (London, New York, & Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford Un. Press, 1908). J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962). Wolfred Nelson Cote, (Missionary in Rome), Baptism & Baptisteries, (Philadelphia: The Bible & Publication Society, 1877). Wolfred Nelson Cote, The Archaeology of Baptism, (London: Yates & Alexander, 1876). Thomas Combe(? T.C.), Intro., F. A. Paley, M. A., Illustrations of Baptismal Fonts, (London: John Von Voorst, Paternoster Row, 1844). Wolfred Nelson Cote, Archaeology of Baptism, (London: Yates & Alexander, 1876).

3831- Mit Beiträgen von, Gabriele Atanassiu, Mariano d' Alatri, Stanislao da Campagnola, Servus Gieben, Engelbert Grau OFM, Raoul Manselli, Raymond Oursel, Clemente Schmitt, Franz von Assisi, (Italy; Stuttgart, Zürich: Belsar Verlag, 1990), figures 236—246. In some panels Mary face is veiled.

3832- Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, & Drama, (Ithaca & Lon.: Cornell Un. Press, 1985). BYU Studies, Vol.22, Winter 1982, #1, p. 31-45, (& some of the notes), Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity, by Blake Ostler.

3833- Francis Bond, Fonts & Font Covers, (London, New York, Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford University Press, 1908), 21–23. Canopies, veils, curtains were hung around the fonts to give the naked catechumens some privacy, & to reduce wandering eyes, & thoughts of those taking part in the mysteries, & prevent, as much as possible the males seeing the females, visa-versa. Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, (Washington Square, New York, New York: Pantheon Books, 1947), 121. The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, (Albany, USA: Sage Software, The Sage Digital Library Collections, Version 1.0, 1996), editor, Philip Schaff, 2nd series, vol. 7, p. 45, Catechetical Instructions of S. Cyril of Jerusalem, chap. 4: Ceremonies of Baptism and Chrism, 4).

3834- N&PNF, 2nd series, vol. 7, p. xxiii of the Intro., see note 2: Bingham, Ant. VIII. c. 7, § 2; XI. c. ii, § 3.

3835- Roger J. Adam, Baptism for the Dead, SLC, Utah, LDS Church Historical Library Archives, call slip number Res; M234. 62, R216, unpub. thesis for degree of Doctor, 1977, 60 & 62, n.33: Cote, Archaeology, 70.

3836- N&PNF, Grand Rapids, Michigan: WM. B. Eerdmans Pub. Co., 1983, 2nd Series in 14 vols, vol. 7, p. xx of Introduction, by E. H. G., notes 5-6. Note 5: *De Nupt. et Concup. II. § 33: de Pecc. Orig. § 45; contra aulian Pelag. VI. § II; Op. Imperf. c. Julian. I. § 50; III. § 144, &c. Note 6: De Symbolo, § 2. Cf. Cat. xx. (Myst. ii.) § 2. N&PNF, vol. 7, p. 3, S. Cyril, Archbishop of Jerusalem, The Catechetical Lectures. 9.*

3837- The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, 2nd series, vol. 7, p. 45, Cyril of Jerusalem, Catechetical Lectures, chap. 4, Ceremonies of Baptism and Chrism, 4.

3838- Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, (Washington Square, NY: Pantheon Books, 1947), 121.

3839- J.G.Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, Lon. Eng.: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962, 26, n.3: De Sacramen., 3, I, 4–7.

3840- N&PNF, 2nd series, vol. 7, p. xx of Intro., by E. H.G., notes 5-6. Note 5: De Nupt. et Concup. II. § 33: de Pecc. Orig. § 45; contra aulian Pelag. VI. § II; Op. Imperf. c. Julian. I. § 50; III. § 144, &c. Note 6: De Symbolo, § 2. Cf. Cat. xx. (Myst. ii.) § 2.

3841- Ludmila Kybalova, Coptic Textiles, (Artia, Prague: Paul Hamlyn Ltd., 1967), 34, 68–69, figs 15 & 16, Coptic Tunic shirt 4th or 5th c. Pushkin Museum, Moscow inventory No. 4832.

3842- <http://www.templestudy.com/2008/04/17/early-byzantine-veil-with-gammadia/> http://ldstempleendowment.blogspot.com/2010/03/garments-veil-and-gammadia-markings_03.html

3843- Erwin R. Goodenough, Jewish Symbols of the Greco-Roman Period, NY: Pantheon Books 1953, 13 vols, 9:164.

3844- Edward Gibbon, Gibbon's Decline & Fall of The Roman Empire, Illustrated and Abridged, NY, Avenel, New Jersey: Crescent Books, 1994, Brompton Books Corp., 1979), 228, below: Theodoric the Ostrogoth's (AD 455–526) palace at Ravenna. (Mosaic from Saint Apollinaire Nuovo, 6th c.). Curtain with angle symbols, pillars with hand symbols on at least four of them, above these, on a different level & row of art works, are different ones clothed in white robes with angle symbols on them, some angles are similar to those on the curtains.

3845- Sixth century, Ravenna, Basilica of Sant'Apollinare Nuovo mosaic, curtains with pillars that have hand symbols on them, angle designs on some of the curtains. It is around pillars that hand clasping is some times depicted. See: Walter Lowrie, Art in the Early Church, NY: Pantheon Books, 1947, plate 100, a and b., fourth or fifth century A.D. Adam reaching around pillar to clasp Christ's right hand. Right hand to right hand. https://upload.wikimedia.org/wikipedia/commons/thumb/0/08/Ravenna_Basilica_of_Sant%27Apollinare_Nuovo_mosaic_%282%29.jpg/800px-Ravenna_Basilica_of_Sant%27Apollinare_Nuovo_mosaic_%282%29.jpg

3846- John W. Welch & Claire Foley, Gammadia on Early Jewish & Christian Garments, in Masada and the World of the New Testament, p. 252–258. Brigham Young University, BYU Studies, 1982, article: Blake Ostler, Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity. Dr. Hugu W. Nibley, Sacred Vestments, (Provo, Utah: Maxwell Institute). Many of these symbols seen in early to later Christian robes & clothing, are also seen on curtains, veils in ritualistic settings too. They are called gammadia patterns or markings. Early to later Christian art works are filled with these symbols. See for example: Yigael Yadin, Bar-Kokhba: The Rediscovery of the Legendary Hero of the Second Jewish Revolt against Rome, (New York: Random House, 1971), 76-77, 79, and the accompanying plates. Arnold Toynbee, (Editor), The Crucible of Christianity, Judaism, Hellenism and The Historical Background to the Christian Faith, (New York, and Cleveland, World Publishing Company, CR Thames & Hudson, 1969), 82–83, 192, L type letter in robe of Christ as Pantocrator, p. 360, for illustration 40, Rome: apse-mosaic from Santa Pudenziana; A.D. 401-17, Max Hirmer. See also p. 248–249, top right art work, another symbol in the robes, p. 361, illustration note 37, Rome: Moses striking the rock, from the catacomb at Callistus; 4th century A.D., Courtesy Sadea. See also p. 263, cross or + symbol in the robes of female, p. 361, illustration note 1, Rome: mosaics with personification of Jewish and gentile churches, from Santa Sabina; c. AD 410, De Antonis. Page 265, angle symbol, p. 361, note 4, Rome: the Presentation in the Temple, from Santa Maria Maggiore; 12th century reconstruction of fourth century original. Mansell. Page 273, numerous letters in the robes of 12 apostles around the baptismal scene of Christ, see page 362, note 26, Ravenna: mosaic with the Apostles, from the Arian baptistery; 5th century, Mansell. See also p. 277. Coptic textile, 1, symbol said to represent an up raised hands of early Christian prayer gestures. For other Coptic textile symbols, see p. 280, 5, 6, p. 289, 9, mosaic p. 306–307. Claims to masonic type symbols in early Christian clothing was noted by late 19th century anti-Christian writer, T. W. Doane, Bible Myths, And Their Parallels In Other Religions, (New York: The Truth Seeker Company, 1882 & 1910), 358. Philippe Aries & Georges Duby, General Editors, Translator, Arthur Goldhammer, A History of Private Life, From Pagan to Byzantium, (Cambridge, Massachusetts, London, England: The Belknap Press of Harvard University Press, 1987), vol. I, From Pagan Rome to Byzantium, p. 279, veiled female, praying with uplifted hands, with symbols on her clothing, explained as: The deceased Communia, fourth or fifth century. Prayer with up raised hands is also said to be a pagan gesture, this art found in Naples, Catacombs of Saint Januarius. Ludmila Kybalova, Coptic Textiles, (Artia, Prague: Paul Hamlyn Ltd., 1967), p. 34, 68-69, fig.15-16. Possible marks or symbols in Tunic, 4 or 5th century, Pushkin Museum, Moscow; Inventory # 5823. Purchased in Egypt by V. S. Golenishchev. See also: Reader's Digest, The Story of Jesus, (Pleasantville, New York and Montreal, Canada: The Reader's Digest Associations, Inc., 1993), 19, letter symbol in the robe, mosaic of Isaiah, portrait is from the sixth century church of San Vitale in Ravenna, Italy. See also p. 125, Ravenna: mosaic with the Apostles, from the Arian baptistery; dated 6th century. Page 141, sixth century basilica of San Apollinare Nuovo in Ravenna, Italy, angle or letter in robe of person with Christ in fishermen scene miracle. Page 170, angle symbol, or letter in the robe of a person with Christ, from a 15th century, devotional book. Marilyn Stokstad, Art History, (New York: Harry N. Abrams, Inc., 1995, revised edition, 1999), 303, figure 7-19, Mausoleum of Galla Placidia, eastern bays with sarcophagus in the arms and lunette mosaic of the Martyrdom of Saint Lawrence. The art in the background shows two men with raised right hands, perhaps oath gestures, they have a letter or symbol in each of their robes. Horst de la Croix and Richard G. Tansey, GARDNER'S ART THROUGH THE AGES, Eighth Edition, (Gardner, Helen, 1986), (San Diego; New York; Chicago; Atlanta; Washington, D.C.; London; Sydney; Toronto: Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, Publishers HBJ), vol. 1, Ancient, Medieval, and Non-Europe Art, p. 257, fig. 7-12, The Parting of Lot and Abraham, mosaic from Santa Maria Maggiore, Rome, c. 430, one angle or letter in each of the robes of two of the men with a group of people. Page 266, fig. 7-25, Interior of the mausoleum of Galla, Placidia, two men with raised right hands, perhaps oath gestures, they have a letter or symbol in each of their robes. Page 268, fig. 7-28, depicting the miracle of the loaves and the fishes, mosaic from the nave wall of Sant' Apollinare Nuovo, c. 504, angle or letter symbols in the robes of three of the men with Christ. Page 275, fig. 7-38, Christ enthroned, between two angels who have angle symbols on their robes. Art entitled the Second Coming, apse mosaic from San Vitale, c. 547. John Lowden, Early Christian and Byzantine Art, (NY: Phaidon Press Ltd., 1997, reprinted 1998, 2001, 2005, 2008), 109, 114–115, figs. 65–66, p. 123, fig. 73, S. Apollinare Nuovo, c. 500 and c. 561, mosaic, showing curtains with angle mark symbols on them, on the pillars are hand symbols too. See also pages 126, 131. Above the curtains, are a number of persons dressed in white robes that have different angle designs on their robes. Edward Gibbon, Gibbon's Decline & Fall of The Roman Empire, Illustrated & Abridged, (NY, Avenel, New Jersey: Crescent Books, 1994, Brompton Books Corp., 1979), 228. Cyril Mango, (Editor), The Oxford History of Byzantium, (NY, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 2002), 15.

3847- Donald W. Parry, (Editor), Marion D. Hanks, Hugu W. Nibley, Adrew F. Ehat, Truman G. Madsen, John M. Lundquist, Stephen D. Ricks, Donald W. Parry, Michael A. Carter, John J. Sroka, John W. Welch, M. Catherine Thomas, William J. Hamblin, Brian M. Hauglid, John A. Tvedtnes, and many others providing research papers, and unpublished works for authors to consider, Temples Of The Ancient World, Ritual & Symbolism, SLC, Utah: Desert Book Co., 1994, & Provo, Utah: FARMS). Hugu Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, vol.4: Mormonism and Early Christianity, (1987). Nibley, Baptism for the Dead in Ancient Time, SLC, Utah: Improvement Era, 51-52, 12-1948-4-1949. Nibley, What is a Temple, The Idea of a Temple in History, reprint by F.A.R.M.S., Nibley, (IDE-T). From: The Millennial Star 120 (August 1958). Nibley, collected works vol.16: The Message of the Joseph Smith Papyri. An Egyptian Endowment, 2005, second edition). Jeffrey M. Bradshaw, Temple Themes In the Book of Moses, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Publishing, 2010).

3848- Early Christian Art, The Late Roman and Byzantine Empires from the 3rd to the 7th centuries, fig. 83: "Venice, St. Mark's" 5th cent., "Christ in Limbo." Adam reaches around pillar to clasp Christ's right hand. See: Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, (NY, NY: Pantheon Books, 1947), plate 100 a & b. While Christ crushes under his feet Hades and those whom he gained the victory over, Adam reaches around a pillar to feel the wound in Christ's palm. "Surgunt corpora sanctorum." "Many bodies of the saints were raised" (Matthew 27:52). Christ descends into the limbo (1 Peter 3:19), to rescue the patriarchs, "while Hades [under Christ's feet] bits his [own] fingers in impotent rage." In another depiction of Christ's descent into hell, the clasp is made on the wrist of Adam. Christ's nail mark wound is in the middle of his left hand which is clasping Adam's right wrist. The clasp lines up with a pillar, except the pillar stop short of being extended down under where the clasping is taking place. It is as though the pillar is likened unto a nail which is driven into their hands to bind the covenant being performed. If so, then another pillar in the church seems to have nailed the jaws of hell open so that the prisons may come forth. (See: Raymond Koechlin, Les Ivoires Gothiques, Francais, Planches, (Paris, France: F. De Noble, 1968), no. 34, Petrograd, Musee de l'Ermitage). In the old form of marriage in the Orkneys, they would join their hands through a perforation, or ring, in a stone pillar. Lillian Eichler, The Customs of Mankind, With Notes on Modern Etiquette and the Newest Trend in Entertainment, (Garden City, New York: Nelson Doubleday, Inc., 1924), 230. In ancient Near Eastern temples, "Covenants are sealed in temples or near pillars standing near temples" writes John M. Lundquist. See his article: The Legitimizing Role of the Temple in the Origin of the State, published as chapter 9 in Temples of The Ancient World. Edited by Donald W. Parry, (Salt Lake City; Provo, Utah: Deseret Book Company, and Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies, 1994), 179—235, see p. 220. Furthermore, “the king stood by a pillar and made a covenant before the Lord.” (p. 220, citing 2 Kings 23:2-3, see also foot note 148 on p. 148, & 284—86. On the internet, Creation of Adam & Eve scenes, Hjembaek. c.1475. (M-K 11-091) Creation of Adam and Eve, the hand clasp between God & Eve is done in between pillars or poles. In another work, sixth century, the Mosaic on the right side wall of the nave: palace of Theodorici. Remains of hands are still visible in the columns. On at least four pillars are hand symbols, the curtains are tied open, hung in the middle of the pillars. The Basilica of Sant' Apollinare Nuovo is a basilica church in Ravenna, Italy. It was erected by Ostrogoth King Theodorici the Great as his palace chapel during the first quarter of the 6th century (as attested to in the Liber Pontificalis). This Arian church was originally dedicated in 504 AD to "Christ the Redeemer". Also in: Jean Porcher, French Miniatures, or Medieval French Miniatures, (New York: Harry N. Abrams), fig. 38, The Annunciation to Zacharias, Bible, second half of 12th century, Bibliothèque Nationale, Ms. lat. 16746, f. 42, near a pillar, in the temple, illustrating Luke 1:10-11, two men are clasping each others' left hands. And in: Wim Swaan, The Gothic Cathedral, (Garden City, New York: Double Day & Co., 1969, Paul Elek Productions Lim.), p. 109, fig. 105, the towers of Laon from the sketchbook of Villard de Honnecourt. Paris, Bibliothèque Nationale, a hand symbol is up at the top of pillars. In another: Robert Fossier, Edited and Translated by Janet Sondheimer, The Middle Ages, The Cambridge Illustrated History of the Middle Ages, I 350–950, (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press 1989), 470, Carolingian ivory work, Relief, c. 870: David the Psalmist entering the house of the Lord. Carved by artist at the court of Charles the Bald, part of the emperor's prayer book. (Zurich, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum), the right hand of God extends down from above, while a hand clasp between two people lines up with one of the pillars of the house of God. On the right side almost under the hand of God, a naked soul is being guided up a slope by a larger person, holding hands. Similar to this one is seen in: David M. Wilson, Anglo-Saxon Art, From the Seventh Century to the Norman Conquest, (Woodstock, New York: Overlook Press, 1984), p. 182–183, from 229 Page from the Utrecht Psalter, illustrating Psalm 27, University Library, Script. eccl. 484, fol. 15r. Also: 230 Page shows the same scene copied from the Utrecht Psalter by an English scribe (London, British Library, Harley 603, fol. 15r). First part produced at Christ Church, Canterbury about 1000 by a number of artists, the second drawing dates about the second quarter of the 11th – early 12th century. Both these art works show the hand of God extending down making finger language symbols, with a hand clasp near the pillar of the house of God, at the stair way. Later in Freemasonry, these hand clasping rituals near pillars continued to be preserved in their mysteries. See: Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History and Myths Revealed, (New York: Metro Books, 2008, 2009 edition), 7, 26–27, 30–31, 34–35, 40–41, 52, 64–65, 75, 83, 91–93, etc. Walter Leslie Wilmshurst, 1867–1939, The Meaning of Masonry, (New York: Gramercy Books, 1980), pages 79–81, and 138–148, etc. http://3.bp.blogspot.com/oAjpSCHvR/SE53ab89YhPI/AAAAAAAAA18/Hg5Kbcr9SQQ/S570/Hjembaek%20C3%A6k.+c.1475.+\(M-K+11-091\)+Creation+of+Adam+and+Eve...jpg+Creation+of+Adam+and+Eve...jpg) https://upload.wikimedia.org/wikipedia/commons/thumb/0/08/Ravenna_Basilica_of_Sant%27Apollinare_Nuovo_mosaic_%282%29.jpg/800px-Ravenna_Basilica_of_Sant%27Apollinare_Nuovo_mosaic_%282%29.jpg

3849- On internet, link may or may not still work, if not, then Google images: Creation of Eve. https://www.google.com/search?site=&tbm=isch&source=hp&biw=1024&bih=667&q=Creation+of+Eve&og=Creation+of+Eve&gs_l=img..015j0i30k1i2j0i24k1i3.1927.5052.0.5924.15.12.0.3.3.0.70.712.12.12.0....0...1ac.1.64.img..0.15.722.VmSlnIFls4A Roger J. Adam's, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptism for the Dead, SLC, Utah: an unpublished thesis found in the LDS Church Library in SLC, 1977. E. S. Drower, (Dr.) The Secret Adam, A Study of Nasoraean Gnostic, Lon. Eng.: Oxford Un. Press, 1960, 24, etc.

3850- Numerous examples of hand & wrist grasping in the Creation of Adam & Eve have been given in this study, see those section. J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (Lon., Eng.: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 32, etc., baptism likened unto the death of the old man Adam, and the birth of a new man, Adam representing the human family. Roger J. Adam's, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptism for the Dead, (SLC, Utah: an unpublished thesis in the LDS Church Library in Salt Lake City, 1977).

3851- Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, & Drama, (Ithaca & London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (New York, San Diego, U.S.A.: London, England: Harcourt Brace & Company). Internet article with a number of art works, scroll down to: Passover, Easter & Garment Types of Deification in the Resurrection (Easter Sunday, 4-8-2012), by Darell Thorpe, http://drivetimelinearchivespromosources.blogspot.com/2012_04_01_archive.html#!

3852- Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (New York, San Diego, U.S.A.; London, England: Harcourt Brace & Company). Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986). Kurt Weitzmann, (Editor), Age Of Spirituality, 1979. John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1954). Jeffrey M. Bradshaw, Temple Themes In the Book of Moses, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Publishing, 2010). Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, (Washington Square, New York, New York: Pantheon Books, 1947), plate 100 a & b, etc. On internet, google image: the Creation of Eve, Christ's descent into hell, hades, limbo, purgatory, the Anastasis. Christ's ascension into heaven. Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsachsischen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), three volumes. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, München. Les Ivoires Gothiques, Français, Par Raymond Koechlin, Planches, Reimpression, (Paris, France: F. DE Nobele, 1968). On line: Article by Darell Thorpe, Passover, Easter & Garment Types of Deification in the Resurrection (Easter Sunday, 4-8-2012). http://drivetimelinearchivespromosources.blogspot.com/2012_04_01_archive.html#! Baptism from Cemetery of St Callistus Rome, 4th century. Baptism, a ritualistic type of Christ's descent into the watery abyss, a naked man is being helped out of the baptismal waters by another standing on the bank, grasping his wrist. 18th cent. Russian Icon of the Baptism of Christ. Angels hold the traditional white baptismal garments, Christ is naked in this baptismal scene. 9th cent. Cross Pascal Vat. Reliquary cross of Pope Pascal- Lower section show the Baptism of a naked Christ with the angel holding the white baptismal robe. Christ in Limbo, 1440s Friedrich Pachet - Szépművészeti Múzeum - Budapest. In many cases, souls in limbo, hell, hades, purgatory, etc., are naked, without protective garments, or robes. Etc. Hjembaek 1475 Harrowing of Hell Sect 2 south arch. Naked souls, first Adam, are raised up out of the jaws of hell by different types of hand & wrist grasping. The traditional trade mark of the resurrection, or the anastasis are different types of hand & wrist grips as Christ resurrects the dead out of their graves. Descent into hell - Raffaello original - 1514, Raffaello Sanzio AD 1483-1520, naked souls, more hand clasping. Descent into Limbo, Évrard d'Espinois illumination manuscript, Middle Ages. Christ reaches out his hand to clasp the hand of Adam, the first naked soul to be resurrected out of the jaws of limbo, moments before the hand or wrist grasp. 14th century, Christ's descent into purgatory. Christ grips the hand of a naked Adam, the first in many to be resurrected out of purgatory. Art redrawn by Debra Wirth, for an original see: Claude Schaeffner, Artistic Consultant: Jean-Clarence Lambert & others, Gothic Painting, (England: Ed. S.A. Geneva 1968), vol. I, p. 48), 14th century, the Master of

Westphalia, Christ in Purgatory. Hans Memling 1440 1494 Last Judgement Triptych in Muzeum Narodowe Gdansk Poland 3. Peter clasping hands with naked souls about to enter the doors of paradise, angels clothing souls in white robes. Walter Oakeshott, Classical Inspiration In Medieval Art, NY: Frederick A. Praeger, 1959, pl.80: "A Carolingian ivory masterpiece: France, 9th cent." Ascension of Christ into heaven, hand of God the Father greeting Christ. Hanns Swarzenski, (2nd ed.), Monuments of Romanesque Art, Un. of Chicago Press, 1954 & 1967, pl.66, fig. 151. Late 10th cent.: "Christ in Mandorla" for rebirth, or as passage into another realm. Hand of God clasps the wrist of the Son, while an angel clasps hand of Christ. Early Christian Art, The Late Roman & Byzantine Empires from the 3rd to the 7th century, fig. 83. Venice, St. Mark's 5th cent. Christ in Limbo. Adam reaches around a pillar to clasp right hand of Christ. W. F. Volbach & Max Hirmer, Early Christian Art, (Pub. A Abrams), 93, Munich, Bavarian National Museum, ivory panel, Christ ascending into heaven, cent. 400. God right hand clasping right hand of Christ. Early Christian Art, ibid., The crucifixion. Late 11th or early 12th century. Ivory. Treasure of the Cathedral of Saint Just, Narbonne. Joseph Gantner & Marcel Pobe, Romanesque Art In France, Thames & Hudson, 1956, pl.135, p.64. Conques (Aveyron), Christ as Judge. Roland H. Bainton, The Horizon of Christianity, American Heritage Pub., 1964, 214-15. Peter clasping hands of souls on right hand side of Christ as judge. Andrew Martindale, Gothic Art, From the 12th to 15th century, (NY: Praeger, 1967), p. 132 & 133, Illustration 98: Belleville Breviary from the workshop of Jean Pucelle; probably between 1323 & 1326. Arm of God clasping hand of a person. New Catholic Encyclopedia, vol.21, p.809, fig.2-b. Old Testament prefigurations of Marriage, fragments of a Flemish silk & wool. Seven Sacraments. Tapestry from the workshop of Pasquier Grenier, Tournai, 3rd quarter of 15th cent. The Lost Books of The Bible & The Forgotten Books of Eden, Alpha House, 1926 & 27, p. 86-88, "The Gospel of Nicodemus." Also: A Library of Fathers of the Holy Catholic Church, vol. 2, p. 264-5, S. Cyril of Jerusalem, Lecture On the Mysteries. Art A History of Painting, Sculpture, Architecture, vol. 1, p. 327, fig. 410. Benedetto Antelami. Descent from the cross. Relief. 1178. Cathedral of Parma, Italy, "...the lifting of Christ hand from the Cross becomes an act of ritual grace, accomplished with the aid of an angel." Jean Porcher, Medieval French Miniatures, 38- The annunciation, 2nd half of the 12th cent. In the temple. Luke 1:10-11. Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments of Romanesque Art, Un. of Chicago Press, 1954 & 1967, pl.15, fig. 35, the ascension, Lorraine, cent. 1000. Father's hand extends down to grasp hand of Christ.

3853- Donald W. Parry, (Editor), Marion D. Hanks, Hugu W. Nibley, Adrew F. Ehat, Truman G. Madsen, John M. Lundquist, Stephen D. Ricks, Donald W. Parry, Michael A. Carter, John J. Sroka, John W. Welch, M. Catherine Thomas, William J. Hamblin, Brian M. Hauglid, John A. Tvedtnes, and many others providing research papers, and unpublished works for authors to consider, Temples Of The Ancient World, Ritual and Symbolism, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Desert Book Company, 1994, & Provo, Utah: Foundation For Ancient Research and Mormon Studies). James Wasserman, The Temple of Solomon, From Ancient Israel to Secret Societies, (Rochester, Vermont, Toronto, Canada: Inner Traditions, 2011), 63-71, 76-84, 102-103, 172-174, etc. Jeffrey M. Bradshaw, Temple Themes In the Book of Moses, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Publishing, 2010). Ed. by John M. Lundquist, & Stephen D. Ricks, By Study & Also By Faith, (Salt Lake City, & Provo Utah: Deseret Book Company & Foundation for Ancient Research & Mormon Studies, F.A.R.M.S., 1990), vol. 1, p. 611-642, chapter 24, The Handclasp & Embrace as Tokens of Recognition, by Todd M. Compton, L.A. California. LeGrand L. Barker & Stephen D. Ricks, Who Shall Ascend Into the Hill of the Lord? The Psalms In Israel's Temple Worship In the Old Testament and In the Book of Mormon, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Books, 2011). Hugu Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company). Volume 1: Old Testament and Related Subjects, (1986). Nibley, What is a Temple, The Idea of a Temple in History, reprint by F.A.R.M.S., Nibley, (IDE-T). From: The Millennial Star 120 (August 1958). Nibley, The Early Christian Church in the Light of Some Newly Discovered Papyri from Egypt, (Provo, Utah: F.A.R.M.S. reprint, Nibley 1985. From a talk given by Dr. Nibley during a Tri-Stake Fireside, Brigham Young University, March 3, 1964). Dr. Hugu Nibley, collected works volume 16: The Message of the Joseph Smith Papyri, An Egyptian Endowment, (Provo & SLC, Utah: F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company, 2005, second edition).

3854- http://drivetimelinearchivespromosources.blogspot.com/2012_04_01_archive.html#1 On line, scroll down on blog to article by Darrell Thorpe, Passover, Easter & Garment Types of Deification in the Resurrection (Easter Sunday, 4-8-2012). Blake Ostler's article in Brigham Young University Studies, (Provo, Utah: BYU Press, 1982), vol. 22, Winter 1982, #1, p. 31-45, Clothed Upon: Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity. Colleen McDannell and Bernhard Lang, Heaven: A History, (New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1988). Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments Of Romanesque Art, The Art of Church Treasures in North-Western Europe, (The Un. of Chicago Press, 1954 & 2nd, Ed., 1967). Matthew B. Brown, Girded about with a Lambskin, (Provo, Utah: Maxwell Institute, 1977), Journal of Book of Mormon Studies, vol. 6, Issue 2, p. 124-151. Dr. Hugu W. Nibley, Sacred Vestments, (Provo, Utah: Maxwell Institute). Darrell Thorpe, THE ARMOR OF GODS PROTECTIVE SKINS OR GARMENTS IN HISTORY AND COLOR SYMBOLISM, (SLC, Utah: RH&PS, on line ed. rough draft, revised 9-1-2013). Darrell Thorpe, Holy & Protective Garments in Historic Christianity: Symbols of Deification, Resurrection, Clothed in Righteousness [Kindle Edition, 2011]. See link that may or may not still be working. <http://drivetimelinearchivespromosources.blogspot.com/> Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, Ithaca & Lon.: Cornell Un. Press, 1985. Winchester England Priory of St Swithun or Hyde Abbey 1121-61 Winchester Psalter Psalter of Henry of Blois Psalter of St Swithun -Baptism of Christ, angel holds the traditional white baptismal robes. Symbolic of putting on new clothing. Thus, later Easter traditions of Whitesunday, became the later Easter traditions of giving and getting new clothing. Baptism from Cemetery of St Callistus Rome, 4th century. Baptism, a ritualistic type of Christ's descent into the watery abyss. A man stands on the bank of a river & clasps right hand to right hand of the person in the water, to help him out of the baptismal waters. Walter Oakeshott, Classical Inspiration In Medieval Art, (NY: Frederick A. Praeger, 1959), plate 80: "A Carolingian ivory masterpiece: France, 9th cent." Ascension of Christ into heaven, hand of God the Father greeting Christ. W. F. Volbach & Max Hirmer, Early Christian Art, (Pub. A Abrams), 93, Munich, Bavarian National Museum, ivory panel, Christ ascending into heaven, cent. 400. God right-hand clasping right hand of Christ. N&PNF, 5:519-520, & 524; Gregory of Nyssa: Dogmatic Treatises, reprint June 1972, WM. B. Eerdmans. Vol.13. p.3, Epistle 6; St. Ambrose calls the garments of the early Christian mysteries "the chaste veil of innocence"; again suggesting that the garments were symbolic of righteousness. Vol. 10, p. 321-3, chapters 6-7. H. Clay Trumbull, D.D., The Blood Covenant, A Primitive Rite and Its Bearing On Scripture, (NY: Charles Scribners Sons, 1885. Gregory of Nyssa, AD 330-386, "The old man is buried in water, the new man is born again, & grows in grace." De Poenitentia. Chrysostom, AD 354-407, "We were [not literally] planted together in His death but [symbolically] in the likeness of His death." (Hom. 25, In Joannem, & Hom. xl. In Ep. ad Rom, & Rom.6:1-15). Paul's type-ology of Christ's death & resurrection was baptism, saying: "I die daily," buried with Christ, raised up with Christ. 1 Cor. 15:12 -31; 2 Cor. 4:10 -14, 5:1-4; Col. 2:12 -14, 20.

3855- R.&L. Brasch, (Dr.) How Did It Begin? The Origins of Our Curious Customs & Superstitions, (NY: MJF Books, 1st Pub. paper back 2011. Hardback 2014, CR 2006 by Li Brasch), 38.

3856- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 72–77. Internet, article by Darell Thorpe, Passover, Easter & Garment Types of Deification in the Resurrection (Easter Sunday, 4-8-2012), scroll down to art works of: 9th cent. Cross Pascal Vat. Reliquary cross of Pope Pascal- Lower section show the Baptism of a nude younger looking Christ with the angel holding the white baptismal robe. Also: Matfré Ermengau of Béziers Breviari d'Amor Catalan prose version- f-40- a nude smaller looking soul ride up on protective blanket - last quarter of 14th century. And: Icon with the Koimesis, Falling Asleep of the Virgin Mary, late 10th cent Byzantine - Christ wraps the spirit of the Virgin Mary in protective swaddling clothing, an Angels descend with ascension robes to further protect her spirit during her assumption into heaven. These types of ascension robes, clothing, swaddling cloth, blankets, & martyrs' rewards as garments; are part of the baptismal types of ascending in high realms. 10th century, Constantinople, Soap stone Dormition Dormition, Mary's soul is wrapped in a swaddling cloth, to be passed on into the protective care of an angel also descending with ascension clothing. Another shows angels carrying the soul of St Bertin to heaven - From an altarpiece by Simon Marmion 1480. The soul rides up on a protective blanket in the care of guardian angels. In the Book of Hours, Use of Rome- Netherlands, S- c. 1440- Naked souls ride up to paradise on blanket, Angels also for protection, God above blesses their ascension out of their graves. British Library. Book of Hours, Use of Sarum- Netherlands, S- 2nd or 3rd quarter of the 15th century- an older looking naked soul rides up to heaven on white protective blanket, with guardian angels. British Library. In the Book of Hours, Use of Sarum -Netherlands, S Bruges c 1490- a naked younger looking soul wrapped up in protective blanket with Abraham in paradise - Demon attempt to harm soul. British Library. And: Matfré Ermengau of Béziers's Breviari d'Amour of angels carrying the naked soul of a virtuous man to Heaven. Plus: Un'altra Dormitio, anche questa molto frammentaria e danneggiata, è stata dipinta nel 1435 da Masolino a Castiglione Olona. E' ben visibile l'animula di Maria fasciata e con un "cappuccio" sulla testa, proprio come in quella di Tempio. Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Jeffrey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988). Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (NY: Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, orig. pub. in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 278–293, etc. Francis Bond, Fonts & Font Covers, (London, New York, Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford University Press, 1908). http://drivetimearchive.blogspot.com/2012_04_01_archive.html#/

3857- David Talbot Rice, The Art of Byzantium, NY: Harry N. Abrams, Inc., 1959, 306, number 73. 610-29, on a silver dish, is a Byzantium work that shows a couple clasping each others' right hand in marriage. Leningrad. The Hermitage Museum. The marriage of David. A.D. 610-629. Nicosia. The Archaeological Museum. André Grabar, The Golden age of JUSTINIAN, From the Death of Theodosius to the Rise of Islam, (New York: Odyssey Press, 1967; Translated by Stuart Gilbert and James Emmons), p. 306, fig. 352. Constantinople. Silver Plate showing the Marriage of David to his bride, making the right hand grip. Museum of Antiquities, Nicosia. Seventh or eighth century A.D. Miklós Boskovits, The Thyssen-Bornemisza Collection, Early Italian painting 1290--1470, Lon.: Sotheby's Publications, 1990, translated from Italian by Françoise Pouncey Chiarini, General Editor, Irene Martin), p. 110, fig. 6, b. The grasping hand marriage scene of St. Catherine. Marjorie & C. H. B. Quennell, Everyday Life In Roman And Anglo-Saxon Times, (Including Viking & Norman Times), NY: Dorset Press, 1959, p.83-4, fig.68. Nigel Morgan, Early Gothic Manuscripts (II) 1250--1285, Lon.: Harvey Miller, 1988), fig. 107. A.D. 1250-85, in early Gothic Manuscripts, from Hereford, Cathedral Library, o. 7. VII, f. 109 & f. 156 (cat. 119). A lettered art work shows a Bishop grasping the wrists of a couple to join their right hands in marriage. In this case, the groom's middle finger looks as though it is touching the middle part of the bride's right hand. W.G. Thomson, (3rd edition revised and edited by F.P. & E.S. Thomson), A History of Tapestry, From the Earliest Times until the Present Day, (E P Publishing Limited, First edition 1906, this edition 1973), p. 201. The marriage of Tobit. Thumb rests on the second knuckle in this marriage clasp. While the one performing the marriage has brought the couples' right hands together by holding brides' wrist. A modern example, derived from Anglo-Saxon love lore & wedding traditions, is of hand clasping, in Pictorial Forest Lawn, (Glendale, California: Forest-Lawn Memorial Park, Association, Inc., 1952), p. 11, 13, (bride with face un-veiled). On p. 11, The Ring of Aldyth. In the wall forecourt of the Church of the Recessional stands the romantic stone Ring of Albyth through which bridal couples clasp hands and pledge devotion. The photo shows an un-veiled bride clasping, with her right hand, through the ring, the right hand of the groom. The Church of the Recessional is a replica of the Parish Church of St. Margaret in the village of Rottingdean, Sussex, England that was erected about 940 A.D. In the nearby courtyard, found the story of Kerry and Aldyth. "Forest Lawn has created its own stone ring as a legendary symbol of happiness an devotion. Lovers, young and old, may emulate the pledge of brave Kerry and beautiful Aldyth, by clasping right hands through the stone ring and repeating together the inscribed vow: "Thy hand in mine, this ring doth bind, my heart to thine." See the following link that may or may not still be working. <https://fallinginloveatcardiff.wordpress.com/2013/07/24/the-story-of-kerry-alldyth/> - The story goes back to 1066, at the time of King Herold. A stone ring was made through which Kerry and Aldyth clasped hands through and kissed & pledged un-dying devotion towards each other. See also links, that may or may not still be working.

https://www.google.com/search?site=&tbm=isch&source=hp&biw=1024&bih=667&q=The+Ring+of+Aldyth&q=The+Ring+of+Aldyth&gs_l=img.12..0i24k1.3325.3325.0.5778.1.1.0.0.0.63.63.1.1.0....0...1ac.2.64.img..0.1.62.4Lc06luExOQ

3858- R.&L. Brasch, (Dr.) How Did It Begin? The Origins of Our Curious Customs & Superstitions, (NY: MJF Books, 1st Pub. paper back 2011. Hardback 2014, CR 2006 by Li Brasch), 38.

3859- R.&L. Brasch, (Dr.) How Did It Begin? The Origins of Our Curious Customs & Superstitions, (New York: MJF Books, first published in paper back edition in 2011. Hardback 2014, Copy Right 2006 by Li Brasch), 38. <http://cdalebrittain.blogspot.com/2015/12/a-medieval-wedding.html> - <http://cdalebrittain.blogspot.com/2015/08/medieval-beds.html> - Also: Woodcut. How Reymont and Melusina were betrothed / And by the bishop were blessed in their bed on their wedding, 15th c. <http://familypedia.wikia.com/wiki/Marriage> -

3860- R.&L. Brasch, (Dr.) How Did It Begin? The Origins of Our Curious Customs & Superstitions, (NY: MJF Books, 1st Pub. paper back 2011. Hardback 2014, CR 2006 by Li Brasch), page 38. If links still work, see: - <http://www.oldandinteresting.com/medieval-renaissance-beds.aspx> - http://authorherstoriantparent.blogspot.com/2012_10_01_archive.html - <https://jennajaxon.wordpress.com/2014/01/10/b-is-for-bedding-the-bride/>

3861- If, by now, these links haven't been changed or taken down: <http://www.fourposterbed.com/history4.htm> - <http://www.oldandinteresting.com/medieval-renaissance-beds.aspx> - http://authorherstoriantparent.blogspot.com/2012_10_01_archive.html - <https://jennajaxon.wordpress.com/2014/01/10/b-is-for-bedding-the-bride/> - Frances & Joseph Gies, Marriage and the Family in the Middle Ages, (NY: Harper & Row, 1987).

3862- <http://medieval.tumblr.com/post/1043075716/this-is-just-right-out-rhea137-making-visible> - <http://perpetuummobile.tumblr.com/page/4> - Different views on the interpretation of this art work. Most agree & claim that this illumination is from a fifteenth-century French manuscript shows a couple in bed. The Holy Trinity—father, son and Holy Ghost—watch from the upper left corner and send them a naked childlike form. Similar to iconography of the Annunciation, where a naked spirit baby of Christ descends down to Mary. In this art work, the scroll quotes Genesis from the Latin Bible: 'Let us create man in our image and likeness' ('Faciamus hominem ad imaginem et similitudinem nostram'). The slippers by the bed refer to God's commandment to Moses to remove his sandals before the holy ground of the burning bush. Thus, possible types for the setting to be like the early to later Christian mysteries, the removal of clothing items, the couple having most likely been recently been joined together through the mystery of marriage, and so points to the holiness of the sacrament of marriage. The woman's extended right arm probably signifies Eve's offering the apple from the Tree of Knowledge, reminding us that we all inherit Original Sin at conception. The burning candle on the mantelpiece indicates the beginning of a new life about to go through ensoulment. As to when the spirit enters the body, many variable opinions on the timing. http://www.sites.hps.cam.ac.uk/visibleembryos/sl_3.html - <http://wtfarthistory.com/post/7886097565/homunculus-n-a-little-human> -

3863- <http://wtfarthistory.com/post/7886097565/homunculus-n-a-little-human> - Annunciation, late 12th century, tempera and gold on panel. The Holy Monastery of Saint Catherine, Sinai, Egypt, Christ child in Mary's womb is in the mandorla symbol, (). This symbol is often seen around those going in and out of different realms. <https://encrypted-tbn3.gstatic.com/images?q=tbn:ANd9GcR5dRjJ9biupG85Dnw7LtlDsUVepoX930TziWlx7BQedlimHAs6g>

3864- <http://medieval.tumblr.com/post/1043075716/this-is-just-right-out-rhea137-making-visible> - <http://perpetuummobile.tumblr.com/page/4> - Different views on the interpretation of this art work. Most agree & claim that this illumination is from a fifteenth-century French manuscript shows a couple in bed. The Holy Trinity—father, son and Holy Ghost—watch from the upper left corner and send them a naked childlike form. Similar to iconography of the Annunciation, where a naked spirit baby of Christ descends down to Mary. In this art work, the scroll quotes Genesis from the Latin Bible: 'Let us create man in our image and likeness' ('Faciamus hominem ad imaginem et similitudinem nostram'). The slippers by the bed refer to God's commandment to Moses to remove his sandals before the holy ground of the burning bush. Thus, possible types for the setting to be like the early to later Christian mysteries, the removal of clothing items, the couple having most likely been recently been joined together through the mystery of marriage, and so points to the holiness of the sacrament of marriage. The woman's extended right arm probably signifies Eve's offering the apple from the Tree of Knowledge, reminding us that we all inherit Original Sin at conception. The burning candle on the mantelpiece indicates the beginning of a new life about to go through ensoulment. As to when the spirit enters the body, many variable opinions on the timing. http://www.sites.hps.cam.ac.uk/visibleembryos/sl_3.html - <http://wtfarthistory.com/post/7886097565/homunculus-n-a-little-human> -

3865- Jeffrey M. Bradshaw, Temple Themes In the Book of Moses, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Publishing, 2010), 26–192. Dr. Hugu Nibley, collected works volume 16: The Message of the Joseph Smith Papyri, An Egyptian Endowment, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company, 2005, second edition), 436–445, 496–98, 531–32. Philippe Aries & Georges Duby, General Editors, Translator, Arthur Goldhammer, A History of Private Life, From Pagan to Byzantium, (Cambridge, Massachusetts, London, England: The Belknap Press of Harvard University Press, 1987), vol. I, From Pagan Rome to Byzantium, p. 254–57, 279, 281, 427, 430, 477, 544, 577, for a number of curtains in art, in church settings, & veiled praying woman. Women veiled, praying with up-lifted hands, <https://archive.org/stream/MonumentsOfTheEarlyChurch#page/n229/mode/2up>, also: <https://archive.org/stream/MonumentsOfTheEarlyChurch#page/n231/mode/2up> - <https://archive.org/stream/MonumentsOfTheEarlyChurch#page/n273/mode/2up> - <https://archive.org/stream/MonumentsOfTheEarlyChurch#page/n341/mode/2up> - <https://archive.org/stream/MonumentsOfTheEarlyChurch#page/n345/mode/2up> - <https://archive.org/stream/MonumentsOfTheEarlyChurch#page/n359/mode/2up> - <https://archive.org/stream/MonumentsOfTheEarlyChurch#page/n399/mode/2up> - Walter Lowrie, Monuments of the Early Church, (New York: The McMillan Company, 1901), 201–46, 314–18, 331–32, 370–82, <https://archive.org/details/MonumentsOfTheEarlyChurch> - Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsächsischen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), three volumes. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, München. If these links haven't been changed or taken down, they go to pages on the topics mentioned. https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:Master_Of_Saint_Gilles_-_St_Gilles'_Mass_\(detail\)_-WGA14486.jpg_-WGA14486.jpg) - Mass inside the curtains, Master of St. Giles, France, 1500.

3866- H. Clay Trumbull, The Blood Covenant, A Primitive Rite & its Bearings on Scriptures, (NY: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1885). <https://archive.org/details/bloodcovenantap04trumgoog> - François Robin, Docteur ès lettres, La Cour d'Anjou-Provence, La vie artistique sous le règne de René, (Picard Editeur, 1985), fig. 124. Ibidem fol. 182: Marriage d'Emilie et de Palamon. Shows the religious leader grasping the wrist of the couple to bring their right hands together to make the clasp. See also: Margaret M. Manion & Vera F. Vines, Medieval and Renaissance Illuminated Manuscript, In Australian Collections, (Lon. & NY: Thames and Hudson, Melbourne, 1984), p. 144 & 173, plate 36, Marriage of Joseph & Mary, No. 70, f.7r. The bishop depicted with them is grasping their right wrists to bring their hands together. In this case, the artist shows the moments before they grip each others' right hands. Other examples, show them clasping. Frances & Joseph Gies, Marriage and the Family in the Middle Ages, (NY: Harper & Row, 1987). Frances & Joseph Gies, A Medieval Family, The Pastors of Fifteenth-Century England, NY: Harper Collins Publishers, 1998). Walter Cahn, Romanesque Bible Illumination, (Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1982 CR by Office du Livre, SA, Fribourg, Switzerland), p. 90, fig. 56. Wedding of Joseph: Millstatt Genesis (Klagenfurt, Kärntner Landesarchiv, Cod. VI. 19, fol. 60v. The bride's right hand rest in the right hand of the groom. Jahrbuch Der Berliner Museen, Jahrbuch der Preußischen Kunstsammlungen Neue Folge, Elfter Band 1969, (Verlagsort, Berlin: Im Gemeinschaftsverlag G. Grote'sche Verlagsbuchhandlung KG - Gebr. Mann), page 129, Abb. 49--50. Bible moralisée; Oxford, Bodl, 270 b. fol. 152 and 154. Marriage ceremony, with the cleric performing it grasping, with both hands, the right wrists of the couple in order to bring them together for the right hand clasp of marriage. British Library Series No. 3: The Benedictines in Britain, (Great Russell Street, London: The British Library, 1980), p. 56-57; Muriel Clayton, M.A., Brass Rubbings, Victoria and Albert Museum, Catalogue of Rubbings of Brasses and Incised Slabs, Lon.: Her Majesty's Stationery Office, 1968, plate 6, c. 1380. Sir J. de la Pole and wife, gripping each others' right hands. With the wife's thumb resting on the ring finger's knuckle Chrishall, Essex. Plate 9, Sir J. Harsick and wife, same grip, except this time, the husband's thumb is resting on the wife's knuckle. Southacre, Norfolk. AD 1384. Plate 12. R. de Frevile and wife, Little Shelford, Cambs. A.D. 1410. In this one, the couple grips each others right hands. Plate 14. J. Hauley and two wives, St. Saviour, Dartmouth. A. D. 1408. Grip made with each others' right hands. Plate 15. Baron Camoys and wife, Troteon, Sussex. A.D. 1419. Right hands gripping. Plate 16. P. Halle and wife, Herne, Kent. A.D. 1430. Right hands grasping. Plate 25. Sir W. Mauntell and wife, Nether Heyford, Northants. A.D. 1487. Right hands clasping. Plate 40. R. Torryngton and wife, Gt. Berkhamstead, Herts. A.D. 1356. Right gripping right. Plate 48. G. Coles and two wives, St. Sepulchre, Northampton. The Husband grips each of the two wives' hands with both of his. The one on his right, the grasp is made with the right hands. The one on his left, he grips her left with his left, in a different way than the others mentioned. Kurt Weitzmann, Editor, Age of Spirituality, Late Antique and Early Christian Art, 3rd to 7th Century, (NY: The New York Metropolitan Museum of Art, exhibited 11-19-1977–2-12-1978, 413, no. 371. Place of origin, unknown, about 300-310 marble depiction, among other things, of Adam and Eve clasping right hands in marriage, the official marriage gesture. Velletri, Museo Civico, 171. (Reekmans, 1958, p. 65. L'union dans le péché).

3867- C. R. Dodwell; Editors: Nikolaus Pevsner and Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (Harmondsworth, Middlesex; Baltimore, Md.; Ringwood, Victoria, Australia: Penguin Books, 1971), vol. 34, Painting in Europe 800 to 1200, p. xiv, plate 108. Saint-Ouen, Rouen: St. John, from a Gospels. 1070/1100. London, British Museum. A hand extends through parted curtains.

3868- Pompeo Molmenti, Venice, Its Individual Growth From the Earliest to the Fall of the Republic, (Chicago: A. C. McClurg & Co.; Lon.: John Murry; Istituto, Italiano: Bergamo, 1906, trans. by Horatio F. Brown), vol. 2, part 1, The Middle Ages, p. 36.

3869- Pompeo Molmenti, Venice, Its Individual Growth From the Earliest to the Fall of the Republic, vol. 2, part 2, The Golden Age, 178-79.

3870- Clifford Davidson, Ed., The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, & Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Mich.: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan Un. 1994), 8-9.

3871- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 116–18.

3872- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 74–77. W. Lübke, Ecclesiastical Art in Germany during the Middle Ages, 1877. Internet article: The Origins and Symbolism of the Ciborium, September 1st, 2010, Promulgated by Bernie, at Cleansing Fire, see links that might still work, or not. <http://www.cleansingfire.org/tag/ciborium-baldachin/> See also: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Ciborium_\(architecture\)) Also: <http://www.newadvent.org/cathen/01362a.htm> And: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Ciborium_\(architecture\)) <http://www.deseretnews.com/article/865654236/The-development-of-early-Christian-sanctuaries-from-temples-to-homes-to-basilicas.html?pg=all> Deseret News, Faith section, Hamblin & Peterson: The development of early Christian sanctuaries, from temples to homes to basilicas, by William Hamblin and Daniel Peterson, May 14, 2016. Showing: The veil of the Church of Saint Eleftherios in Athens, which are marked with gammadia.

3873- It may be that these links might not work any more: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Ciborium_\(architecture\)). http://ldstempleendowment.blogspot.com/2010/03/garments-veil-and-gammadia-markings_03.html

3874- Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History & Myths Revealed, NY: Metro Books, Sterling Pub., 2008), 28-29.

3875- Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History & Myths Revealed, NY: Metro Books, Sterling Pub., 2008), 28-29. Walter Leslie Wilhmurst, 1867–1939, The Meaning of Masonry, (New York: Gramercy Books, Crown Publishers, Inc., 1980), 14-15, 48-51, 62-64, 126-28, 133-69, etc. symbolical death, resurrection, building a positive purer character. In early to later Christian art works, the scull & bones under the cross are seen on a silver gilt of the icon of the Virgin Mary of Kykkos, 1576, see: Andreas & Judith Stylianou, The Painted Churches of Cyprus, p. 41, fig. 10; Paul Muratoff, La Peinture Byzantine, (Paris, France: A. Weber, MCMXXXV), plate XCVII, La Crucifixion - Art Byzantin (vers 1100) - Mosaïque Couveni de Daphni (Attique), Christ's blood flows down on to a scull below the crucifixion of Christ. See also: Frederick Hartt, History of Italian, Renaissance Art, Painting, Sculpture, Architecture, (NY: Harry N. Abrams, Inc., 1994, 4 ed.), p. 44, fig. 19. Byzantine. Crucifixion, 11th century. Mosaic. Monastery Church, Daphni, Greece. th See also: Fredk. WM. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Christ Lore, Being the Legends Traditions Myths Symbols Customs & Superstitions of The Christian Church, (London: 1902, Elliot Stock; Detroit: Gale Research Co., Book Tower, 1969), p. 117, 162. Peter Lasko; Editors: Nikolaus Pevsner and Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (Harmondsworth, Middlesex; Baltimore, Md; Ringwood, Victoria, Australia: Penguin Books, 1972), vol. 36, Ars Sacra: 800-1200, p. xvii, plate 172. Crucifixion. Ivory panel mounted on the cover of a Gospel Book, 11th century, last quarter. Tongeren (Tongres), Notre-Dame. A man ascends out of a box, or grave under the wounded feet of Christ on the cross. Vol. 36, p. xvi, plate 152. Altar Cross of King Fernando and Queen Sancho given A.D. 1063. Madrid, Museo Arqueológico Nacional. Adam(?), with up raised hands, praying to be delivered from his grave below the cross. (1971), vol. 34, Painting In Europe: 800—1200, p. xviii, plate 210. Saint-Amant: Crucifixion, from the Sacramentary. Mid 12th century, Valenciennes, Bibliothèque Municipale. A man with up lifted arms is seen in a box, or grave under the wounded feet of Christ on the cross. Archaeological Discoveries, (Relative to the Judaeo-Christians), Historical Survey by Ignazio Mancini, O.F.M., Pub. of the Studium Biblicum Franciscanum, Collection minor #10, Jerusalem, 1970, pp.165-170, & fig.39, on p.166, "Adam under Calvary in a medieval miniature of Valenciennes, with detail of Adam. (from LTS 1965, p. 278)". The Encyclopedia Of Visual Art, Biographical Dictionary of Artists, by Limburg Brothers - Francisco Ribalta, Pub. by Encyc. Britannica Intern., LTD., Lon., Vol.6, see "Attavante degli Attavanti: Crucifixion, a leaf from the missal illuminated for Thomas James, Bishop of Dol; 1483. Nouveau Musée des Beaux-Arts, Le Havre". (Luke 23:32-43); The Encyc. Of Vis. Art, Vol.6, p.32; Ivory Carvings In Early Medieval England, by John Beckwith, 1972, Harvey Miller & Medcalf, p.84, fig. 152. "Deposition. English (Hereford), about 1150. London, Victoria and Albert Museum [Cat. 88]".

3876- Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History & Myths Revealed, NY: Metro Books, Sterling Pub., 2008), 28-39. Walter Leslie Wilhmurst, 1867–1939, The Meaning of Masonry, (NY: Gramercy Books, Crown Publishers, Inc., 1980), 14-15, 48-51, 62-64, 126-28, 133-69, etc. symbolical death, resurrection, building a positive purer character.

3877- James Stevens Curl, A Celebration of Death, An introduction to some of the buildings, monuments, and settings of funerary architecture in the Western European tradition, (London, England: Constable, 1980), p. 132-33, plate 40: Monuments of Princess Charlotte in S. George's Chapel, Windsor, by M. C. Wyatt. Showing angelic guides and open curtains, or perhaps a veil, symbolic of earlier veils, in earlier Christian mysteries.

3878- Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, Armonk, NY, & London, England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc., 1989, 47.

3879- Dr. R.&L. Brasch, How Did It Begin? The Origins of Our Curious Customs & Superstitions, (NY: MJF Books, 1st Pub. paper back 2011. Hardback 2014, CR 2006 by Li Brasch), 37-8.

3880- Carl Van Treeck and Aloysius Croft, M.A., Symbols In The Church, (Milwaukee: The Bruce Publishing Co., 1936), 14-15, plate II, p. 128, plate XXXIX, figure 4.

3881- John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, NY: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882, 92-100.

3882- Joan Evans, Clunian Art Of The Romanesque Period, Cambridge: At The Un. Press, 1950, fig. 148b. Saint-Gilles, Gard. Panel of the Facade. Middle of the 12th c. A.D., the hand of God extends towards Abel's offering.

3883- John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder Of John Climacus, Princeton Un. Press, 1954, figs. 64, 109, 117-20; 179, 248-49; 265, 269, 274, 294-97.

3884- Gina Pischel, A World History of Art, NY: Newsweek Books, 1966, 2nd revised ed. 1978, p. 268-69. The Hand of God, fresco from St. Clement of Tahull (Museum of Catalan Art, Barcelona. 11th-13th centuries A.D.).

3885- Robert Fossier, Editor, The Middle Ages, The Cambridge Illustrated History of the Middle Ages, I, 350—950, (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1989), translated by Janet Sondheimer. See p. 470, Carolingian ivory work, relief, c. 870. David's hand is grasped as he enters the house of the Lord. Above this scene, the right hand of God extends down out of heaven. Carved by the artists at the court of Charles the Bald. Made as a cover for the Emperor's Prayer Book. Zurich, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum. David M. Wilson, Anglo-Saxon Art, From the Seventh to the Norman Conquest, (Woodstock, NY: Overlook Press, 1984), 182-83.

3886- Psalm 109:26-27; John Rupert Martin, The Illustration of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, Princeton Un. Press, 1954, fig. 64. Fol. 187v. Princeton Un. Library. Garrett MS 16. See p. 43, Chapter XXIX. A monk is being rescued by Christ who clasps his hand. This is seen as being a type of Christ's descent into hell.

3887- John Beckwith, The Art of Constantinople, An Introduction to Byzantine Art 330-1453, Connecticut: Phaidon Pub., Inc., Distributed by NY Graphic Society, 1961, fig. 83. The Vision of Ezechiel in the Valley of Dry Bones. Copy of the Homilies of St. Gregory Nazianzen for Basil I between AD 880 & 886. Paris, Bibl. Nat. gr. 510, fol. 438v. Hand of God blessing.

3888- J.C.J. Metford, Dictionary of Christian Lore And Legend, London: Thames & Hudson, 1983, p. 116-17, Hand of God. Ferguson, Signs & Symbols in Christian Art, p. 27.

3889- André Grabar, The golden age of JUSTINIAN, From the Death of Theodosius to the Rise of Islam, (NY: Odyssey Press, Trade Division of Western Publishing Company, Inc., 1967, arranged by Editions Gallimard), p. 287, fig. 332. The hand of God clasps the hand of Christ to raise him into heaven.

3890- Erwin R. Goodenough, Jewish Symbols in the Greco-Roman Period, 13 vols. (NY: Pantheon Books, 1953), 5:203, fig. 101. Mosaic at San Vitale, Ravenna, showing the hand of God making finger gestures. André Grabar, Byzantine Painting, Historical & Critical Study by André Grabar, (NY: Skira/Rizzoli International Publications, Inc., 1979, 1953, by Editions d' Art Albert Skira, Geneva), 58--59, & 116-17, & 166.

3891- Jeanne Villette, La Résurrection Du Christ, Dans L'Art Chrétien Du Iie Au Vile Siècle, (Paris, France: Henri Laurens, Éditeur, 1957), plate 27, the arm of God extends down during the Abraham's sacrifice of a lamb. Sacrifice d'Abraham. Coupe en verre gravé du Musée de Boulogne (d' après Morin Jean). 4th or 5th century (?).

3892- Bainton, Behold the Christ, 79, fig. 76, the hand of God extends over baptismal scene. See also: W. F. Volbach (text) and Max Hirmer, (photos), Early Christian Art, The Late Roman & Byzantine Empires from the Third to the Seventh Centuries, (A. Abrams Pub.), see ivory cover of a gospel book. The baptism of Christ, Western Germany. About AD 960-980. CLM. 4451, Staatsbibliothek, Munich. The hand of God extends down over Christ's baptismal scene. On the bank of the river stands an angel with the traditional baptismal robe or garment. See also, pl. 108, "Luneburg (?), XI Century". Hand of God extends using finger symbols. See also #107, "From the Bronze Doors of Bernward of Hildesheim, 1015 (Pl. 46)". Hand of God extending. Adolphe Napoleon Didron, Christian Iconography, The History of Christian Art in the Middle Ages, (NY: Frederick Ungar, reprinted from 1st edition, 1851, republished in 1965 and 1968, translated into English from French by E.J. Millington), Vol. 1, pp. 54-55, fig. 20, The Divine hand in a Cruciform Nimbus. In numerous cases, Artists represent "the Divine by one portion only of his body; by the hand, for instance, which is seen extended from the clouds, while the entire body remains concealed in the heavens." In these cases, the hand is "the emblem of Deity." It is also often encircled with a cruciform nimbus, and this "formed the earliest symbolic representation of the Father; the example subjoined, which belongs to the ninth century." Other examples of the hand are mentioned in a footnote on p. 55, which makes reference to: Peintures et Ornaments des Manuscrits. Another example is of a divine hand without the nimbus, first half of the 11th century. Other examples are from the middle of the 11th century, and the 12th century. David M. Wilson, Anglo-Saxon Art, Seventh century to the Norman Conquest, (Woodstock, NY, U.S.A.: Overlook Press; CR 1984 by Wilson, Illustrations and Layout CR by Thames and Hudson, LTD), pp. 186-87, fig. 233, "Crucifixion, from a psalter (Paris, Bibliothèque Nationale, lat. 943, fol. 4v. The hand of God extends out of heaven over Christ on the cross. See also p. 198, fig. 257, "The hand of God. Detail of a Crucifixion at Romsey Abbey, Hampshire." Magnus Backes and Regine Dolling, Art of the Dark Ages, (New York: Harry N. Abrams, Inc., CR 1969 by Holle Verlag GMBH, Baden-Baden, in Germany), see pages 106-07, Psalter, A.D. 820-30, from Saint-Germain-des-Paris, the hand extends towards a man. Also, see pp. 106-07, 167, for other examples of the hand symbol; Herbert L. Kessler, Illustrated Bibles From Tours, (New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1977), fig. 164. "Florence, Museo Nazionale, Ivory plaque. King David." Hand of God extends down over King David. Andrew Martindale, 1967, Gothic Art From the 12th to 15th Century, (New York: Praeger, p. 132, illustration 98 "Belleville Breviary from the workshop of Jean Pucelle; probably between 1323 and 1326." The arm of God is about to clasp hands with a person; Robert G. Calkins, Illuminated Books of the Middle Ages, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1983), 222, plate 122, p. 220. Windmill Psalter, fol. 102v (New York, The Peirpont Morgan Library, MS M. 102). God extends down an arm to David. Roland H. Bainton, The Horizon History of Christianity, p. 214-15, the hand extends towards a soul in prayer; George Zarnecki, Art of the Medieval World, (Englewood, New Jersey: Prentice-Hall & New York, Harry N. Abrams), colorplate 21, AD 845. The hand of God extending with rays of light coming out from the fingers down towards Charles the Bald. Vivian Bible. Ruth Mellinkoff, The Horned Moses in Medieval Art and Thought, (Berkeley, Los Angeles, London: University of California Press, 1970), figure 6. Moses receiving the Law from the hand of God. Mosaic in San Vitale, Ravenna, 6th c. A.D. Figures 8-10, Bible of Moutier-Grandval, A.D. 834-43. British Museum Add. 10546, folio 25v; Vivian Bible (First Bible of Charles the Bald), A. D. 844-51. Bibliothèque Nationale Lat. 1, folio 27v; Bible of San Paolo fuori le mura, ca. A.D. 870., folio 30v. Moses receiving the law from the hand of God. Darrell Thorpe, The Grand Pilgrimage: Footnoting In & "Out of the Best Books" SLIC, Utah: Religious, Historical, and Polemical Studies, 1992, vol.1, p.18-20, issue #1-4, April-August 1992, heading: Heavenly Books & Hidden Libraries. John Beckwith, Early Christian and Byzantine Art, (Penguin Books, 1970 and 1979), p. 206, fig. 172, Moses reaches up to grasp the tablets of the law from the hand of God. Original from: The Bible of Leo the Patrician, MS. Reg. Gr. I, fol. 155 verso. Constantinople, c.940. Vatican, Biblioteca Apostolica. Beckwith, Early Christian & Byzantine Art, p. 183, fig. 151, p.205, fig. 171, p. 270, fig. 234, the hand of God. Beckwith, The Art of Constantinople, An Introduction to Byzantine Art 330-1453, Greenwich, Connecticut: Phaidon Pub. Inc., NY Graphic Society, 1961, p.73, fig.87. AD 920-30, in the Bible of Leo the Patrician, made at Constantinople, Moses receiving the Tables of the Law. Vatican, Reg. gr. I, fol. 155v. Kurt Weitzmann & Herbert L. Kessler, The Frescoes Of The Dura Synagogue & Christian Art, Washington D.C.: Dumbarton Oaks Research Library & Collection, 1990, p. 52-55, fig.74, & figs. 43, 74, 75, 77, & 79. The hand of God extends out of heaven in figures 56, 58, 76, 78, 86, & 92. Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History & Myths Revealed, NY: Metro Books, an imprint of Sterling Publishing, 2008), 58.

3893- ANF, 5:515-28, The Treatises of Cyprian, Treatise XII, Second Book, Heads, 1-30.

3894- John Lowden, Illuminated Prophet Books, A Study of Byzantine Manuscripts of the Major and Minor Prophets, University Park & Lon.: The Pennsylvania State Un. Press, 1988, plate VIII. Vat. gr. 1153, folio 59v, Zechariah. The hand of God extends rays of light towards the prophet. Figure 42. Bodl. Laud. gr. 30A, folio 248v, Jonah. The hand extends towards Jonah who is about to extend his hand towards the hand of God. Figure 45. Bodl. Laud. gr. 30A, folio 257v, Habakkuk. The hand of God extends out of heaven making finger gestures. Figs. 76-89, showing the hand of God extending to numerous Old Testament prophets.

3895- Nigel Morgan, Early Gothic Manuscripts (II) 1250-1285, (Lon., Eng.: Harvey Miller, 1988); Gina Pischel, 1978, 1966, A World History of Art, (2nd revised Edition), (NY: Newsweek Books), p. 269, explanation p. 268: "The Hand of God, fresco from St. Clement of Tahull (Museum of Catalan Art, Barcelona)." Some time between the 11th— 13th centuries. See also: Robert S. Nelson, The Iconography of Preface and Miniature in the Byzantine Gospel Book, (NY: NY Un. Press, 1980), fig. 46. "Florence, Bibl. Laur. Plut. VI.32, f. 7v, Moses receiving the law" from the hand of God. Thorpe, Early Christianity In The Ancient Americas, & Old & New World Parallels, under the heading: The Early to Later Christian Symbol of the Hand, Handclasps & Christ's Wounds. And the Parallels With The Hand Symbols of the Ancient Americas.

3896- Bianca Kuhnle, From The Earthly To the Heavenly Jerusalem, Representations of the Holy City in Christian Art of the First Millennium, (Lerlag Herder Freiburg im Breisgau, 1987: Herder, Rom-Freiburg-Wien), fig. 87. Lucca, Public Library, cod. 1275, fol. 12. Both Christ (?) and the Father are reaching out their hands towards each other. Below this scene, people are making different gestures often seen being made by the priests during sacramental rites. Jeanne Villette, La Résurrection Du Christ, Dans L'Art Chrétien, Du Iie Au Vile Siècle, (Paris: Henri Laurens, Éditeur, 1957), pl. XXXIX, Saintes Femmes au tombeau. Ivoire du Musée de Munich (cl. Giraudon). 4th cent. Christ's right-hand grip with the Father.

3897- Francois Souchal, Art of the Middle Ages, (New York: Harry N. Abrams, Inc.), text translated from French by Ronald Millen. CR 1968 in German by Holle Verlag GMBH, Baden-Baden. See p. 196. "Elijah Taken up into Heaven, cast bronze relief on the doors of Sancta Sophia, Novgorod." The hand of God extends to receive Elijah.

3898- Andre Grabar, Early Christian Art, From the Rise of Christianity to the Death of Theodosius, NY: Odyssey Press, translated by Stuart Gilbert & James Emmons, fig.214, Coin with the Apotheosis of Constantine. Cabinet des Medaillies, Bibliotheque Nationale, Paris. The hand of God extends to receive Constantine into heaven. See also: Lundy, Monumental Christianity, p. 99, the coin was "struck after his [Constantine's] death, he is seen translated to heaven in a chariot, the Divine hand reaching out of heaven to receive him."

3899- John Beckwith, Ivory Carvings in Early Medieval England, Lon., Eng.: Harvey Miller & Medcalf, 1972, p. 33, fig.33. Ascension. Aethelwold Benedictinal, 971-84. Lon., British Museum Add. Ms. 49598, fol. 64b.

3900- Peter Lasko; Editors: Nikolaus Pevsner and Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (Australia, etc.: Penguin Books, 1972), vol. 36, Ars Sacra: 800—1200, p. xvii, plate 180. Christ, ascending into heaven, the hand of God extends out of heaven to grip, right hand to right wrist of Christ. From the altar frontal from Broddetorp. 1150. Stockholm, Statens Historiska Museet.

3901- W.F. Volbach, text, Max Hirmer photos, Early Christian Art, The late Roman and Byzantine Empires from the Third to the Seventh Centuries: "THE CRUCIFIXION. LATE 11TH OR EARLY 12TH CENTURY. IVORY. TREASURE OF THE CATHEDRAL OF SAINT-JUST, NARBONNE." Ascension clasp, & the hand of God.

3902- N&PNF, 4:160-61, Athanasius, De Decretis or Defence Of The Nicene Definition, chap. 4:17.

3903- In some cases, the early Christians saw this as a type of baptism. Tertullian, for example, notes & asks how that the Israelites' crossing through the Red Sea could be like unto how they descend down into the font of baptism. Thus, couldn't this be a type of the sacrament of Baptism? "When the people as freedmen escaped the violence of the Egyptian king, by crossing through water that extinguished the king himself, with his forces. That figure is more manifestly fulfilled in the Sacrament of Baptism? The nations are set free from the world by means of water-- from the devil, their old tyrant who is left behind, overwhelmed in the water." (Lundy, Monumental Christianity, 380-81).

3904- H. Clay Trumbull, D.D., The Blood Covenant, A Primitive Rite & Its Bearing On Scripture, NY: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1885, 256-58.

3905- Isaiah 42:6-7; Psalm 73:23-4; Nibley, Temple & Cosmos, 105, 109, 277-9, & fig.49; ANF 10:221, V, The Narrative of Zosimus. BYU Studies, 22, Sum. 1982, #3, p.321-2, John Welch.

3906- Some italics added. In numerous examples of Christ's ascension out of hell, at the very moment when he is raising, or lifting up souls out of hell during anastasis (resurrection), often showing Christ, or Adam, doing different hand & wrist grips. Darell Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined; Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image; Lowrie, Art in the early Church, pl. 100; Schaeffner, Gothic Painting I, p.48. An interesting prophecy preserved for us by Justin Martyr & Irenaeus, is from either the 'sayings of Jeremiah,' or Isaiah: "The Lord God remembered His dead people of Israel who lay in the graves; and He descended to preach to them His own salvation." Justin: This prophecy was left out of some of the manuscripts by some of the Jews. While in other copies, the prophecy is still there. ANF, 1:234-5, n.1 on 235, 451, n.4, p.488, 493-4, 506, 510, 532, 560, & 573.

3907- Anthony Rhodes, 1970, Art Treasures Of Eastern Europe, pp. 105, 349, figs 90-91, 90: Carolingian Art, School of Reims. HAUTVILLERS. Psalter (Codex aureus purpureus), illustration of Psalm LI (52): Doeg. Mid-9th c. Folio 51 verso, Douce 59, Bodleian Library, Oxford. Miniature painting on vellum, in Bodleian Library photo; For 91: Carolingian Art, School of Reims. HAUTVILLERS. Psalter (Codex aureus purpureus), illustration of Psalm CI (102): Poor Man & 2 Kings appealing to Christ. Mid-9th c. Folio 100 verso, Douce 59, Bodleian Library, Oxford. Miniature painting on vellum, Bodleian Library photo. See also: John Rupert Martin, The Illustration of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, (Princeton: Princeton Un. Press, 1954), 43, fig. 64, Fol. 187v: Tranquillity. Garrett MS 16. Chap. 29. The 29th rung is "tranquillity." In this portion of the Christian manuscript, a hooded monk stands upright on a blue sarcophagus. His wrist is being grasped by the half-figure of Christ who is leaning out from above, as those extending partly out of heaven. At the same time the monks right hand is being grasped to raise him up, the monks left hand is being clutched by a demon who seeks to drag him down. Other demons are clinging to his feet too. In Greek is a passage from Psalm 113:7: "The Lord lifteth up the needy from the earth, and from the dunghill of his passions raiseth up the poor man, him that is humble in heart." This picture is also considered to have "been adapted from the Anastasis— Christ's descent into Hell to raise Adam and other righteous persons of the Old Testament.” Thus, the monk was considered a type or figure of Adam being rescued by Christ out of hell.

3908- Joseph Gantner & Marcel Pobe, Romanesque Art In France, pl.135, & p.64. Bainton, The Horizon History of Christianity, 214-5. Weitzmann, The Icon, 170, 225, 282-3, 342-3, etc.; Gilles Quispel Professor, 1979, The Secret Book of Revelation, 48; Weitzmann, Age Of Spirituality, #438; Swarsenski, Monuments of Romanesque Art; Compton, By Study & Also By Faith, 1: 611-642; Palms 16:8-10; 17:4-7; 20:6; 24:3-10; 25:4-5; 68:18; Ephesians 4:7-10; Psalm 73:23-4; 89:13; 118:16-21; Psalm 23; Bainton, Behold the Christ.

3909- Didron's Icon, Chret. 216; fresco in church of the great Greek convent at Salamis. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, 99. The Count Goblet D' Alviella, The Migration of Symbols, 26-27.

3910- Docteur Paul Thoby, Le Crucifix, des Origines au Concile de Trente, (Bellanger, Nante), Planche XXII, No. 46, Planche XXVI, No. 59, Planche XXVII, No. 63, Planche XXXIII, No. 76, Planche LXXVII, No. 177, Planche XCVIII, No. 217, & 216, Planche CXXIX, No. 278, Planche CLXXXI, No. 375, 376.

3911- P.D. Roo, History of America Before Columbus, 1900, 1:205-9; ANF, 3:157-58; ch.7, Tertullian, An Answer To The Jews. Isaiah 45:1-3; Tertullian, Adversus Judaeos, vol. 2 of Patrologiae Latin, 650; Isaiah 13:2.

3912- N&PNF, 5:1 & 8 of Prolegomena. The Life & Writings of Gregory of Nyssa.

3913- Hislop, The Two Babylons, p. 16-18; Clive Gregory, LLB., and other editors, Great Artist of The Western World, (New York, London, Sydney: Marshall Cavendish, 1987), p. 39; Paul Carus, The History of the Devil And The Idea of Evil, From the Earliest Times To The Present Day, (La Salle, Ill.: Open Court Publishing Company), p. 75-76, 147-50, 190, 472-74, Roland H. Bainton, Behold The Christ, p. 202-05. William G. Rusch, Sources Of Early Christian Thought, The Trinitarian Controversy, (Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1980).

3914- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 5, p. 120, Gregory of Nyssa Against Eunomius, Book 2:11.

3915- Darell Thorpe, When Our Faith Is Challenged, (SLC, Utah: R. H. & P.S., unpub. manuscripts, 2 vols, vol. 2, Feb. 9, 1988), 75, 77 & 126; Roland H. Bainton, 1974, Behold The Christ. Adolphe Napoleon Didron, Christian Iconography, The History of Christian Art in the Middle Ages, (NY: Frederick Ungar Pub. Co., repub. 1965 & 1968, orig. pub. in French, trans. by E. J. Millington, 1st ed. 1851), 54—55; Robert G. Calkins, Monuments of Medieval Art, (NY: E. P. Dutton, 1979), 223—25, figure 186; Thorpe, Early Christianity In The Ancient Americas, & Old & New World Parallels, (Salt Lake City, Utah: R.H. & P.S., an unpublished research manuscript at this time, about 1991). Metford, Dictionary of Christian Lore and Legend, p. 116-17 & 247.

3916- G. J. Hoogewerff, De Noord-Nederlandsche Schilderkunst, Door ('S-Gravenhage: Martinus Nijhoff, 1936), 30, Afb.7: Verlichting van het Sacramentarium van Utrecht. Staatsbibliotheek te Berlinjn. Hand extending.

3917- Richard Lloyd Anderson's article: Discovery, The Ancient Practice of Crucifixion, pub. in The Ensign, (SLC, Utah: LDS Church, 7-1975, 32-33. Jehohanan's remains found in one of the tomb-caves which were discovered near Jerusalem in 1968. 1970 in Israel Exploration Journal. V. Tzaferis, 1 cent. B.C.-1 cent. A.D.

3918- Carl Van Treec & Aloysius Croft, M.A., Symbols in the Church, 1936. Clara Erskine Clement, edited by Katherine E. Conway, A Handbook Of Christian Symbols And Stories Of The Saints As Illustrated In Art, (Boston; New York: Houghton Mifflin Company, The Riverside Press Cambridge, 1871, 1881, and 1886). Fredk, WM. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Christ Lore (Being the Legends, Traditions, Myths, Symbols, & Superstitions of The Christian Church), (London: 1902, republished, Detroit: Gale Research Company, Book Tower, 1969). George Ferguson, Signs & Symbols In Christian Art, (New York: Oxford University Press, 1959). Goblet D'Alviella, (The Count), The Migration of Symbols, (Westminster, 1894, reproduced by University Books, 1956). Heather Child and Dorothy Colles, 1971, Christian Symbols Ancient & Modern, (Charles Scribner's Sons, Great Britain). John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1954). John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (New York: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882). Early Gothic Manuscripts (II) 1250-1285, by Nigel Morgan, Published by Harvey Miller, London 1988, fig.37, (Paris, Bibl. Nat., fr. 403. f.8v & 19v (cat.103). Church Symbolism, by F.R. Webber, 1938, p.335, etc. Christian Legends, by George Every, (Library Of The World's Myths & Legends), Pub. by Peter Bedrick Books, N.Y., 1987, p.8. "The Archangel Michael casting Satan out of heaven." Sculpture by Jacob Epstein, Coventry Cathedral. Book Illumination In The Middle Ages, Otto Pacht, 1984 Prestel-Verlag Munich, & 1986 English Translation - Harvey Miller, Pub. Oxford Un. Press, pl. XXV. La Miniature, (Histoire De La Peinture Au Moyen-Age), by Louis Reau, Published by Melun Librairie D'Argences, M CM XLVI, pl.39. The Great Centuries of Painting Romanesque Painting (From the 11th to the 13th century), p. 91, "Apocalyptic Scene. CA 1100, Fresco in the Porch. Saint-Savin- Sur-Gartempe (Vienna)." The Prince of Darkness, p.134, Manuscript illumination from the Pericope Book of Henry II, Germany.) This might also remind us of the other hand grips depicted in some art works that depict Rev. 12.

3919- Gabriel Millet, Membre de l' Institut, Recherches Sur L' Iconographie De L' Évangile, AUX XIVE, XVe ET XVIe SIÈCLES, D'APRÈS LES MONUMENTS DE MISTRA, DE LA MACÉDOINE ET DU MONT-ATHOS, DESSINS DE SOPHIE MILLET, DEUXIÈME ÉDITION, (Paris, France: ÉDITIONS E. DE BOCCARD, RUE DE MÉDICIS, 1960), 173, fig. 123. Tétraévangile de la Bibliothèque Nationale (Copte 13). (Archives Photographiques-Paris). Christ in neck high water, bowing his head, as if being immersed, while the hand of God extends out of heaven, and two angels descend out of heaven with garments. See also fig. 124. Évangile de Saint-Petersbourg (Petropol. 21 a). (Coll. H. Ét.). Christ is in water that flows up to his neck. Two of the three angels, hold garments in their arms. The Hand of God extends down over this event from above. Pages 173-215, figures 125-178, showing different types of water levels, versions of baptism, garments, robes, the hand of God extending down out of heaven. John the Baptist laying his hand on Christ's head, demonic forces being crushed and defeated in the waters, like unto descent into hell depictions, plus more.

3920- Gabriel Millet, Membre de l' Institut, Recherches Sur L' Iconographie De L' Évangile, AUX XIVE, XVe ET XVIe SIÈCLES, D'APRÈS LES MONUMENTS DE MISTRA, DE LA MACÉDOINE ET DU MONT-ATHOS, DESSINS DE SOPHIE MILLET, DEUXIÈME ÉDITION, Paris, France: ÉDITIONS E. DE BOCCARD, RUE DE MÉDICIS, 1960, p.222, fig.186. Copte 13. Hand of God extends out of heaven during Christ's transfiguration.

3921- John McManners, Editor, The Oxford Illustrated History of Christianity, (Oxford; NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1990), see item #32480, hand of God giving a crown to Constantine.

3922- Leonard W. Cowie, The March Of The Cross, Great Britain: First Pub. in Great Britain by Weidenfeld & Nicolson LTD. 1962 & in the USA: McGraw-Hill Book Company, Inc., NY, Toronto, & Lon., 1962, p.53, fig.56.

3923- Jennifer O'Reilly, Oct. 1972, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, A Garland Series, Outstanding Thesis in the Fine Arts from British Universities, (NY & Lon.: Garland Publishing, Inc., 1988), art work after p. 338, see also the hand and wrist grasping in the graphics before p. 241, fig. 18b, 256, art works after p. 348, figures 26, 27, p. 356-57, art works after p. 370, fig. 31a & 31b, & p. 391.

- 3924- Peter Lasko; Editors, Nikolaus Pevsner and Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (The Pelican History of Art, Penguin Books, 1972), vol. 36, Ars Sacra: 800—1200, pp. Xii, plate 32. Illustration of Psalm 26, c. 820—830, from the book cover of the Prayer of Charles the Bald, c. 850—860. Zürich, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum. David is greet, with a hand shake, at the foot of the stair to a building by a person, perhaps the Lord. Up above, the hand of the Father extends down out of heaven.
- 3925- Walter Oakshott Classical Inspiration In Medieval Art NY: Frederick A. Praeger, 1959, pl.69. Carolingian mid 9th c., hand of God extends to give the Law to Moses, the Vivien Bible & the Moutier-Grandval Bible.
- 3926- Robert S. Nelson, The Iconography of Preface and Miniature in the Byzantine Gospel Book, (NY: NY Un. Press, 1980), Fig. 46. Florence, Bibl. Laur. Plut. VI.32, f. 7v. Moses receives the law from the hand of God. See also: Iconographie De L'Art Chrétien par Louis Réau, Tome II Iconographie de la Bible I Ancien Testament, (Paris, France: 1956), p. 97, fig. 5. Eglise De Moutiers-Saint-Jean. Hand of God extends out of heaven. Joachim E. Gaehde, Carolingian Painting, (New York: George Braziller, 1976), plate 43, p. 116 & 117. Bible of San Paolo Fuori Le Mura, fol. 50 (Ixxviii)v: Frontispiece to Deuteronomy. (Deut. 1-32). Die Illustrierten Handschriften Der Burgerbibliothek Bern, Die Vorkarolingischen Und Karolingischen Handschriften, Otto Homburger. Bern 1962, LII, 119. Cod. 264, Prudentius, Passio Romani, p. 135: Verhör des Märtyers- p. 149: Verurteilung und Tod, ein Engel trägt die personifizierte Seele gen Himmel.
- 3927- Peter Lasko; Editors, Nikolaus Pevsner & Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, The Pelican History of Art, Penguin Books, 1972, vol. 36, Ars Sacra: 800-1200, p. xii, plate 34: Ascension into heaven, right hand thumb of the Father's hand, rests on the first knuckle of Christ's right hand, as they clasp hands. Ivory Panel, c. 830. Vienna, Kunsthistorisches Museum.
- 3928- John Beckwith, Early Christian & Byzantine Art, Penguin Books, 1970, 1979, p.206, fig.172. 940, in the Bible of Leo the Patrician, shows the hand of God extending out of heaven to give a tablet to Moses, on which is written the Law. MS. Reg. Gr. I, fol. 155 verso. Constantinople, c. 940. Vatican, Biblioteca Apostolica.
- 3929- John McManners, Editor, The Oxford Illustrated History of Christianity, (Oxford; NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1990), 107, hand of God extends out of heaven to crown the Emperor Otto III.
- 3930- Art and Archaeology, The Arts Throughout the Ages, vol. 28, #5, November 1929, p. 164-65, the hand of God in a 11th century stone work, at Romsey.
- 3931- Peter Lasko; Editors: Nikolaus Pevsner and Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (Australia, etc.: Penguin Books, 1972), vol. 36, Ars Sacra: 800-1200, p. xv, plate 111, Bronze doors from St. Michael's. 1015. Hildesheim Cathedral. The hand of God.
- 3932- André Maurois, An Illustrated History of Germany, London: The Bodley Head, 1965, 1966, translated from French by Stephen Hardman, 52-53. Coronation of Henry II, 1019-29.
- 3933- C. R. Dodwell; Editors: Nikolaus Pevsner & Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (Harmondsworth, Baltimore, Victoria, Australia: Penguin Books, 1971), vol. 34, Painting in Europe 800 to 1200, p. xv, plate 130. Ripoll: The Valley of Dry Bones, from the Farfa Bible. Mid 11th century. Rome, Biblioteca Apostolica Vaticana. Arm of God extending out of heaven.
- 3934- C. R. Dodwell; Editors: Nikolaus Pevsner and Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (Harmondsworth, Middlesex; Baltimore, Md.; Ringwood, Victoria, Australia: Penguin Books, 1971), vol. 34, Painting in Europe 800 to 1200, p. xiv, plate 105. Mont-Saint-Michel: Ascension of the Virgin, from a Sacramentary. 1070/1100. NY, Pierpont Morgan Library. A hand extends down during the ascension of the Virgin who is in a mandorla.
- 3935- C. R. Dodwell; Editors: Nikolaus Pevsner and Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (Harmondsworth, Middlesex; Baltimore, Md.; Ringwood, Victoria, Australia: Penguin Books, 1971), vol. 34, Painting in Europe 800 to 1200, p. xiv, plate 108. Saint-Ouen, Rouen: St. John, from a Gospels. 1070/1100. London, British Museum. A hand extends through parted curtains.
- 3936- Robert Oertel, Early Italian Painting to 1400, (NY & Wash: Frederick a. Praeger, 1966), #94, AMBROGIO LORENZETTI Admission of St. Louis of Toulouse into the Franciscan Order, Siena, San Francesco.
- 3937- Gina Pischel, A World History of Art, (New York: Newsweek Books, 1966), 2nd revised edition by Gina Pischel, 1978. Pages 268 & 269. 11th-13th century is the date given for a fresco of the hand of God extending out from the middle of circular designs. Fresco from St. Clement of Tahull, Museum of Catalan Art, Barcelona.
- 3938- F. M. Godfrey, Christ and the Apostles, (London: The Studio Limited, 1957), p. 47 & 131, plate 65. Monreale Cathedral, Palermo. In a 12th century mosaic of The Agony in the Garden, an angel descends from heaven reaching out his right hand to Christ, who is reaching out too. Could this be before the clasp?
- 3939- Donald Matthew, Atlas of Medieval Europe, (NY; Oxford: Facts on File, 1983, 1984, 1986, 1989), p. 84-85. Hand clasping angelic guide and another with the robe for the ascending soul of a hermit named Guthlac, A.D. 667-714, the hermit saint of Crowland, 12th century ink drawing. 2nd one down on page 85.
- 3940- J. Boudet, Editor, Jerusalem A History, (NY: G.P. Putnam's Sons, 1965. Editions Robert Laffont, & 1967 by Paul Hamlyn Ltd). Pentecost (10th-c. Winchester Pontifical, Rouen, France).
- 3941- Peter Lasko, Nikolaus Pevsner & Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, Australia, etc.: Penguin Books, 1972, vol.36, Ars Sacra: 800-1200, p. xvii, pl.181. Crucifixion. Ivory panel mounted on the back of a Gospel Book from St Gereon, Cologne, c. 1130-40. Darmstadt, Hessisches Landesmuseum. Hand of God extends down over Christ on the cross.
- 3942- C. R. Dodwell; Editors: Nikolaus Pevsner & Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (Harmondsworth, Middlesex; Baltimore, Md; Ringwood, Victoria, Australia: Penguin Books, 1971), vol. 34, Painting In Europe: 800—1200, p. xviii, plate 211. Liessies: St John, from the Wedric Gospels. 1146. Avesnes, Société Archéologique. The hand of God is seen in two sections.
- 3943- Peter Lasko; Editors: Nikolaus Pevsner & Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (Australia, etc.: Penguin Books, 1972), vol. 36, Ars Sacra: 800—1200, p. xvii, plate 180. Christ, ascending(?) into heaven, hand of God extending out of heaven to grip, right hand to right wrist of Christ. Altar frontal from Broddetorp. 1150. Stockholm, Statens Historiska Museet.
- 3944- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (Lon.: The Folio Society, 1998), color plate 16 B, in between p. 192 & 193. Hand symbol on cross, above Christ. From Tirstrup, 1150, c.
- 3945- Eve Borsook, Messages In Mosaic, The Royal Programmes of Norman Sicily (1130—1187), (Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1990), p. 34, plate 18. Palermo, Cappella Palatina: view of apse and sanctuary from nave looking east. 12th century, the Hand of God extending from the celestial regions.

- 3946- Peter Lasko; Editors: Nikolaus Pevsner & Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (Australia, etc.: Penguin Books, 1972), vol. 36, Ars Sacra: 800—1200, p. xviii, plate 204. The Cleansing of Naaman in the River Jordan. Enamelled plaque from Saint-Denis Abbey(?), c. 1145—1147. Lon., British Museum. The hand of God blessing.
- 3947- R.W. Southern The Making of the Middle Ages Lon.: Folio Soc., 1998 inside cover art, pl.I, before title p.
- 3948- Sir Herbert Read, Dr. Donald E. Strong, Professors David Talbot Rice and Giuseppe Bovini, and G. Zarnecki, Peter Lasko, Dr. George Henderson, The Book of Art, A Pictorial Encyclopedia of Painting, Drawing, and Sculpture, (Grolier Inc., 1965), vol. I, Origins of Western Art, 132-33, C: The Dormition of the Virgin: from the Winchester Psalter, about 1160. London, B.M., (MS. Cotton Nero C IV, f. 21r.) Angels descending with robes for soul of Virgin Mary. Christ appears with his apostles, at the moment of her death. Hand of God blessing.
- 3949- Jennifer O'Reilly, Oct. 1972, A Garland Series, Outstanding Theses In The Fine Arts From British Universities, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, (NY & London: Garland Pub., Inc., 1988, Thesis submitted to the Un. of Nottingham for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, Oct. 1972), 240—43, figures 18a and 18b. F.186v of the Bible Moralisée, c. 1240, showing God or the pre-existing Christ, grasping the wrist of Eve to raise her out of Adam's side. Inasmuch as this is also under the crucifixion scene, it is also a type of the hand and wrist grasping that takes place during the harrowing of hell, where Christ raises Adam and Eve out of their graves or out of hades, limbo, & purgatory, etc., with different types of hand and wrist grasps. There is also a part of a manuscript, fig. 18a, that shows God, or the pre-existing Christ, grasping, with his left hand, the right wrist of Eve, who has both hands up in praise or the prayer gesture, as she is being pulled out of Adam's side. Below this, is the type of the first, for a small figure, perhaps Eve, is being pulled out of the side of the crucified Christ through hand grasping. Below this, is a marriage scene in which God, like the priests, grasps the wrists of Adam & Eve as if to bring them together in the hand clasp of marriage.
- 3950- John Beckwith, The Art of Constantinople, An Introduction to Byzantine Art 330—1453, Greenwich - Connecticut: Phaidon Pub., Distributed by NY Graphic Society, 1961, 136, fig. 178. Early 14th century, Mosaic. Constantinople. Washington, D.C., The Dumbarton Oaks Collection. The hand of God extends over 40 martyrs.
- 3951- Andrew Martindale, 1967, Gothic Art, From the 12th to 15th Century, NY: Praeger, 1967, p. 132 & 133, fig. 98. Belleville Breviary from the workshop of Jean Pucelle. About 1323--1326, in a Gothic art piece, lower right-corner, the arm of God extends to grasp the hands of those reaching up to this extending arm's right hand.
- 3952- The Encyclopedia of Visual Art, (London, England: Encyclopaedia Britannica International, LTD.), vol. 6, see: Bartolo di Fredi: The Presentation of Christ in the Temple, A.D., 1390, Louvre, Paris. The Christ-child's hands are about to be clasped by Mary in a similar manner as rites of homage-hand-clasp done between Christian kings, nobles, and knights. The hands are placed together and placed in side the hands of the one, clasping.
- 3953- Gertrude Hartman, The World We Live In and How It Came To Be, (NY: The Macmillan Co., 1961), p. 128-29; Fay-Cooper Cole, Ph.D., Sc.D., LL.D., and Harris Gaylord Warren, Ph.D., An Illustrated Outline History of MANKIND, (Chicago: Consolidated Book Publishers, CR 1965 by Processing and Books, Inc., CR 1963, 1959, 1955, 1951 by Book Production Industries, Inc.), vol. 1, pp. 215, see art work of Act of Fealty. Both hands are being clasped differently, for they're both separated. See also the art work of the visit of Richard II to his uncle, John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster, at his castle at Pleshy. It is a right-hand clasp, similar to how Christ raises Adam out of hades, limbo, & purgatory. See page 287 of vol. 1.
- 3954- Horton and Marie-Hélène Davies, Holy Days & Holidays, The Medieval Pilgrimage of Compostela, (London and Toronto: Associated University Press, Lewisburg Bucknell University Press, 1982), art work before title page. From the illuminated manuscript, 13th century, MS. Latin 11560 of Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris. Hand of God extending down out of heaven.
- 3955- Mit Beiträgen von, Gabriele Atanassiu, Mariano d' Alatri, Stanislao da Campagnola, Servus Gieben, Engelbert Grau OFM, Raoul Manselli, Raymond Oursel, Clemente Schmitt, Franz von Assisi, (Italy; Stuttgart, Zürich: Belser Verlag, 1990), 88, Kruzifix von S. Damiano, 12 Jahrh. Assisi, Santa Chiara. Ascension, showing the moments before the clasp, & the hand of God extending out of heaven. See also p. 88—89.
- 3956- Mit Beiträgen von, Gabriele Atanassiu, Mariano d' Alatri, Stanislao da Campagnola, Servus Gieben, Engelbert Grau OFM, Raoul Manselli, Raymond Oursel, Clemente Schmitt, Franz von Assisi, (Italy; Stuttgart, Zürich: Belser Verlag, 1990), figs 236-46.
- 3957- Mit Beiträgen von, Gabriele Atanassiu, Mariano d' Alatri, Stanislao da Campagnola, Servus Gieben, Engelbert Grau OFM, Raoul Manselli, Raymond Oursel, Clemente Schmitt, Franz von Assisi, (Italy; Stuttgart, Zürich: Belser Verlag, 1990), 176—177, Meister der Stuckkappen: Allegorie der Armut, um 1320. Assisi, Unterkirche, Gewölbe über dem Hauptaltar. The arms of God extend out of heaven over a wrist grasping marriage ceremony, above which an angel holds a vest or garment.
- 3958- Perlie P. Fallon in Art and Archaeology, The Arts Throughout the Ages, vol. 32, Oct. 1931, #4, art before p. 121, article: What Somebody Whitewashed. Robert Coughlan, & Eds of Time-Life Books, The World of Michelangelo, 1475-1564, Alexandria, Virginia: Time-Life Books, 1966, 28, Giotto: Ascension of John the Evangelist, c. 1330, Christ's (?) right hand clasps John's left wrist, while John's left hand is about to grip Christ's left hand reaching out. Another man reaches out to John, numerous people extend from cloud.
- 3959- Horton & Marie-Hélène Davies, Holy Days & Holidays, The Medieval Pilgrimage of Compostela, (Lon. & Toronto: Associated Un. Press, Lewisburg Bucknell Un. Press, 1982), 142. Roland H. Bainton, The Horizon History of Christianity, (NY: American Publishing Co., Inc., & Harper & Row, Pub. 1964), 214-15.
- 3960- Robert Hughes, Heaven & Hell in Western Art, NY: Stein & Day/Publishers, 1968, 236-37.
- 3961- F. E. Halliday, An Illustrated Cultural History Of England, (NY: A Studio Book, The Viking Press, 1967-68), 72, Sedilia paintings, Westminster Abbey, early 14th c.
- 3962- Jennifer O'Reilly, A Garland Series, Outstanding Theses In The Fine Arts From British Universities, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, NY & Lon.: Garland Pub., Inc., 1988, Thesis submitted to the University of Nottingham for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, Oct. 1972, 177 & 179.
- 3963- Valentin Denis, Professeur à l' Université de Louvain, Des Catacomes A La Fin Du Xve Siècle, (Editions Meddens in 1965), II-Fra Angelico, (Giovanni da Fiesole), vers 1400--1455. La Vierge à l' Enfant avec les saints Jean-Baptiste, Dominique, Francois et Paul (Parme, Galerie Nationale). Bottom portion of art work. 1400--1455, Two monks clasp both of each others' right and left hands, perhaps in respect and greeting(?), or even a ritualistic greeting. Their thumbs rest on each others' pointer fingers' knuckles.

- 3964- The Encyclopedia of Visual Art, Lon., Eng.: Encyclopaedia Britannica International, LTD., vol. 9, p. 695, AD 1446-9, Vecchietta: The Virgin Receives the Souls of Foundlings. In this work illustrating a ladder of Paradise, the virgin, helps, by clasping the wrists of infants climbing a ladder to paradise. Fresco in S. Maria della Scala, Siena.
- 3965- Albrecht Durer, Cranach, Holbein, & Bruegel, Great Artists Of The Western World, The Northern Renaissance, NY & Lon.: Marshall Cavendish, 1985, Sydney, Reference Ed., 1988.
- 3966- Treasures From The Kremlin, An Exhibition from the State of Museums of the Moscow Kremlin at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, May 19-Sept. 1979, and Grand Palais, Paris, Oct. 12, 1979 & Jan. 7, 1980, (Published by Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, Distributed by Harry N. Abrams, Inc.), 45-46 & 143, pl.13. St. Theodore Stratilates. A.D. 1676. This work was painted for the iconostasis of the Cathedral of the Annunciation in the Moscow Kremlin as the patron-saint icon of Czar Fedor (Theodore) Alexeevich. In 1683, after the czar had died, this work was transferred to the Cathedral of the Archangel Michael. Inv. no. 70, Moscow School, Kremlin workshops, 1676, the artist was Simon Ushakov.
- 3967- A Garland Series, Outstanding Dissertations in the Fine Arts, Craig Harbison, The Last Judgment in 16th Century Northern Europe: A Study of the Relation Between Art & the Reformation, NY & Lon.: Garland 1976, 375, fig.64. Juan de Valdés Leal's Finis Gloriarum Mundi, 1670-72, Seville, Church of Caridad. Christ's hand extends out of heaven with judgment scales.
- 3968- André Maurois, An Illustrated History of Germany, (London: The Bodley Head, 1965, 1966, English translation, translated from French by Stephen Hardman), p. 164. The hand of God extending from out of a cloud, holding a crown. Franze Leopold Schmittner: Maria Theresa, Apostolic 'King' of Hungary. Sovereign is before Pressburg (Hungarian: Posony; Czech: Bratislava). Kings of Hungary consecrated & crowned, in St. Martin's cathedral, then go on horseback to a hill to brandish a sword in 4 directions.
- 3969- Jahrbuch Der Berliner Museen, Jahrbuch der Preußischen Kunstsammlungen, Neue Folge, (Berlin, Germany: Gebr. Mann Verlag, 1977), Neunzehnter Band, 1977, p. 45, fig. 13. Masaccio, Triptych of 1422, (detail), S. Giovenale a Cascia. Hand symbol in the middle of the glove.
- 3970- John Coulson, Editor, Introduction by C. C. Martindale, S. J., The Saints, A Concise Biographical Dictionary, (NY: Hawthorn Books, Inc., 1958, 1960), p. 65, Barnabas, painted by Botticelle, 1444-1510, middle religious leader with glove symbol in middle of the hand, shaped like the mandorla.
- 3971- Jahrbuch Der Berliner Museen, Jahrbuch der Preußischen Kunstsammlungen Neue Folge, Zehnter Band - 1968, (Verlagort, Berlin: Im Gemeinschaftsverlag G. Grote'sche Verlagsbuchhandlung KG - Gebr. Mann, 1968), 126, Abb. 1. Donatello, Johannes d. T. Venedig, S. Maria dei Frari. Symbol in middle of cleric right gloved hand.
- 3972- Colleen McDannell and Bernhard Lang, Heaven: A History, (New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1988), 135, pl. 23. Dieric Bouts, Paradise, 15th c., Musée des Beaux-Arts, Lille, France. A few hand clasping angelic guides, showing souls clothed in white through paradise. See link that might still work or not. <https://www.pinterest.com/amicasundstrom/dieric-bouts/> Page 141, pl. 26, Jean Bellegambe, Paradise, c. 1526-30, Part of The Last Judgment panel. Staatliche Museen, East Berlin, hand & wrist clasping angelic guides. Page 187, pl. 34, John Flaxman, The Sea Shall Give up the Dead, (Rev. 20:13). Sarah Morley Memorial, 1784. Gloucester Cathedral, England. Angels descend to help a mother with a child, ascend in the resurrection. On winged angel clasp the hand of the Mother, right hand to right hand. See link that might still work, or not. https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:1523_Bellegambe_The_Last_Judgement_anagoria.JPG - <https://satnavandcider.wordpress.com/2012/04/28/gloucester-cathedral-in-a-different-light/> Page 237, pl. 42, William Blake, The Last Judgment, detail. 1806, Stirling Maxwell Collection, Pollock House, Glasgow, Scotland, the hand clasping angels & embracing couples in more legendized later forms. See also: Series, Angels on Earth, (New York: A Guideposts Publication, March-April 1996), cover art, Dance of Angels, p. 14, Fra Angelico's art work, see also p. 7, art work of guardian angel watching over children who are crossing over a river & dangerous worn down bridge. Pages 18-19, modern version of angel hand clasping, right hand to teenage male's left hand, p. 19. See also: Anthony S. Mercatante, The Facts On File Encyclopedia Of World Mythology And Legend, (Oxford, New York: Facts On File, 1988), p. 56-57, wood cut of angels taking soul to heaven. Soul's right hand clasping one of the Angel's right, during the soul's ascension. About 14th or 15th cent. See also: Michael Batterberry, Art of the Early Renaissance, (Milan Italy: Fratelli Fabbri, 1961- 1964, and 1968), 78-81, 184, fig. 79, The Last Judgment, Fra Angelico, 1420s, Museum of San Marco, Florence. Page 184, Angels & different ones on Christ's right hand of Judgment, take part in a circular dance with the angels, & embrace & clasp hands with some. The circular dance has many holding hands as they take part in a dance in paradise. See also: Miniatura Florentina Del Rinascimento 1440-1525 Un Primo Censimento A cura di Annarosa Garzelli, II Illustration. Published by Giunta Regionale Toscana La Nuova Italia, 1985, p. 249, fig. 453, Idem, f. 213v., Francesco di Antonio del Chierico. And angel, with right hand raised, clasps with the left, the right hand of a woman on a trail. Below is: Tobias Ex Civitate Tribu. See: Tobit chap. 5-10. Morris Bishop, and the Editors of Horizon Magazine, Editor in Charge, Norman Kotker, The Horizon Book of the Middle Ages, (New York: American Heritage Publishing Company, 1968), p. 81, the Heavenly Jerusalem," 13th cent., illumination, with the right hand, an Angelic guide takes John by his left wrist. See also: Jeffrey M. Bradshaw, Temple Themes In the Book of Moses, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Publishing, 2010), p. 39, fig. 3-14. Abraham Falls to the Earth and Is Raised by the angel Yahoel by right hand to left wrist. Above the hand of God extends down a blessing. Page 43, fig. 3-20, Ascent of Abraham and Yahoel, right hand to right wrist clasp. Page 171, fig. 12-6, Yohoel lifts the Fallen Abraham, 14th cent., right hand to left wrist clasp. Also: Gustav Davidson, 1967, A Dictionary Of Angels, Including the Fallen Angels, (NY, Lon.: The Free Press, & Collier-Macmillan Limited), 167, Angels Transporting St. Paul to Heaven, by Poussin. Reproduced from Régamey, Anges. One angel lifts Paul up, while another above them all, right hand pointing upwards, left hand clasping Paul's left, the angel's first finger from the thumb, rest in the middle of Paul's palm. Page 244, Fra Angelico, Last Judgment. Page 292, The Book of Tobit, painter Giovanni Botticini 1446-1497, angelic hand clasping guide, left hand to right hand. Page 316, Yahoel from The Apocalypse of Abraham, a Slavonic Church Ms., published in St. Petersburg in 1891, reproduced from a 14th cent., text. Angel's right to Abraham's right wrist. Page 321, Triumph of Death, angels rescue souls from demons, numerous hand, & wrist-grasping examples. Hallenfahrt Christus, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsächsischen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), 3 vols. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen, numerous examples of angels lifting up by hand & wrist grasping, to rescue souls out of the fires of purgatory, etc. Jude 20-25.
- 3973- Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History & Myths Revealed, NY: Metro Books, Sterling Pub., 2008, 26-27.

3974- Macklin's Monumental Brasses, (Including a bibliography and a list of figure brasses remaining in churches in the United Kingdom), re-written by John Page-Phillips, first published in 1969, see 2nd edition 1972, London: George Allen And Unwin LTD., pp. 50 & 53, William Ermyrn, rector, 1401, Castle Ashby, Northants. Skulptur Und Grabmal Des Spätmittelalters In Rom Und Italien, Akten Des Kongresses, Scultura E Monumento Sepolcrale Del Tardo Medioevo A Roma E In Italia (Rom, 4--6. Juli 1985), Herausgegeben von Jorg Garms Und Angiola Maria Romanini, Verlag Der Österreichischen Akademie Der Wissenschaften, Wien, 1990, figure 14. See also: Figures 14, 15, Abbs. 5, 15, 27, 32, p. 265, fig. 3, & figures 26-27, 29, p. 272, fig. 33, Abb. 12-13, p. 393, abbs. 1-2, Abb. 3 of Mailand. S. Gottando, Grabmal des Azzo Viseonti, Liegefigur. See also Abbs 9-10, Abb 4, fig. 5. Julian Gardner, The Tomb And The Tiara, Curial Tomb Sculpture in Rome and Avignon in the Later Middle Ages, (Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1992), figs. 18-19, 25-6, 66, 74-5, 81-2, 108, 111-12, 125-7, 144, 204, 220, & 224-7. Henry Trivick, 1971, The Picture Book of Brasses in Gilt, 5 Royal Opera Arcade Pall Mall London SW 1, John Baker, p. 17, u, soul on garment, 169, 172, 198-99. Craig Harbison, The Last Judgment in Sixteenth Century Northern Europe, (New York and London: Garland Publisher Inc., 1976), p. 316, fig. 8 of Martin Schaffner, The Blessed, fragment of a Last Judgment, (Pfullendorf Altar), panel, c. 1500, Freiburg, Diözesanmuseum, (inv. no. Mla/D), the glove symbol is seen on a religious leader who is clasping the wrist of a naked soul about to enter into paradise. Werner R. Deutsch Deutsche Malerei Des Dreizehnten Und Vierzehnten Jahrhunderts, Die Frühzeit der Tafelmalerei, Genus Verlag, Berlin, 1940, see 57 Nachfolger Des Theodorich Von Prag um 1375. Antonin Matejcek & Jaroslav Pesina, Czech Gothic Painting 1350 - 1450, (Melantrich Praha 1950), see figs. 31, 74, 76, & 80. Stange, German Painting, XIV--XVI Centuries, p. 54, lower section, School of Theoderic of Prague, Votive Picture of Oeko Von Vlasim, A.D. 1380, Prague, Gemaldegalerie. John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, (Princeton University Press, 1954), p. 43, XIV, 64. Fol. 187 v: Tranquillity, Princeton, Univ. Lib. Garrett MS 16; Psalm 113:7, depicting a type of Christ's descent into Hell (p. 43). Betty Willsher and Doreen Hunter, 1978, Stones, (New York: Taplinger Pub. Co., 1979), pp. 14-15, 16a, & p. 53. Francis Y. Duval & Ivan B. Rigby, 1978, Early American Gravestone Art In Photographs, (New York: Dover Pub. Inc.), pp. 124-25. Kenneth Lindley, Of Graves And Epitaphs, (London: Hutchinson, 1965), grave marker of Withington, Gloucestershire. Arte Paleocristiana, En Espana, Por Pedro de Palol, Ediciones Poligrafa, S. A., pp. 146-151, fig. 88, Sogenannter Auferstehungs - Sarkophag. Krypta von Santa Engracia. Zaragoza. A Lithuanian Cemetery, St. Casimir Lithuanian, Cemetery in Chicago, Illustrated, (Chicago: Lithuanian Photo Library and Loyola, Chicago University Press, 1976), p.65, fig. 15. J.CJ Metford, Dictionary of Christian Lore and Legend, (London: Thames and Hudson, Ltd, 1983), p. 143. Souls ascending a ladder to heaven are greeted by Christ who lifts them up into heaven by grasping their wrist. Greek icon, A.D. 1663. John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150-1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), before title page, pl. 1, La Chiesa Militante: allegory of the Dominican Order. Fresco by Andrea Bonaiuti in Santa Maria Novella, Florence, 1366-8, on the viewers left, a religious leader, clothed in green & white, has on a white glove with a monial symbol in the middle of the hand. These gloves are also called Pontifikal gloves, for: "...The back of the glove was always ornamented, sometimes with an embroidered medallion or some other form of needlework, sometimes with a metal disk having on it a representation of the Lamb of God, a cross, the Right Hand of God, Saints etc., the disk being sewn on to the glove, or, at times, the ornamentation was of pearls and precious stones." See link that may, or may not still work. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Episcopal_gloves - or chirothecæ - manicæ - <http://www.newadvent.org/cathen/06589a.htm> -

3975- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the 14th & 15th Centuries, Lon.: Folio Society, 1998, in between p.230-231, color pl. II.

3976- Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History & Myths Revealed, NY: Metro Books, Sterling Pub., 2008, 51, 83.

3977- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & The Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 198-199, 205, 438-49, notes 317-319, 332, Luke 4:38. Eusebius, Ecclesiastical History, 3:115-16, other perspectives, ANF, 2:379, 4:49, 440, Tertullian, 140-230, wrote 2 treatises to his wife, but also wrote that they in the clergy, do not reject marriage, but simply refrain from it, (ANF, 3:294).

3978- Barbara G. Walker, The Woman's Encyclopedia of Myths & Secrets, NY: Harper San Francisco 1983, 910.

3979- Bruce L. Shelley, Church History, In Plain Language, Nashville, Dallas, Mexico City, etc.: Thomas Nelson, 1995, Updated 2nd ed., 116-123. Christopher Brooke, (photos, Wim Swaan), Monasteries Of The World, The Rise & Development of the Monastic Tradition, (Crescent books, 1982, Paul Elek). David Knowles, 1969, Christian Monasticism, (NY, Toronto: World University Library, McGraw-Hill Co., reprinted 1972 & 1977). Tudor Pub. Co.). James L. Barker, Apostasy From The Divine Church, (SLC., Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 501, 523, 757.

3980- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & The Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 206, 396, 440, note 335: Frederic W. Farrar, The Early Days of Christianity, Lon., Paris, & NY: Cassell, Petter, Galpin & Co., 1882, 2 vols., 1:501.

3981- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 105.

3982- Barbara G. Walker, The Woman's Encyclopedia of Myths and Secrets, (New York, New York: Harper San Francisco, a Division of Harper Collins Publishers, 1983), 910-20. Richard R. Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, (USA, Utah: Cedar Fort Inc., 2009).

3983- Stan-Michel Pellistrandi, The Early Christian Civilization, (Forni, Geneva: 1978, California, USA: Paradise Found Books, English edition), 190-200, etc. Acts 13:16-50, 15:1-12, 22-39, 16:1-5, 20:17-35, 21:18-31, 23:12-27, Rom. 1:24-32, 2:1-13, chaps. 3-14, etc., 1 Cor. 6:9-18, 7:19, chap.13, 2 Cor.2:17, (2 Pet.2:1-2, Acts 20:29-31). 13:5-11, 1 Tim., 1:5-10, 6:1-16, 2 Tim. 2:16-26, 3:1-7, 4:1-8. Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, NY: Simon & Schuster, 1940s-50s, 11 vols, 3: Caesar & Christ, 582-5. ANF, 1:5, 7-9, 11, 13-15, 18, 29, 33, 35, 55, 61, 63, 74, 88-9, 93, etc. ANF 2:235, 243-4, 289-90, 292-5, 310, 339-41, 348, 350, 354-61, 363-71, 374-77, 410-12, 417-22, 426-41, 446, 448, 506, 519, 524, & 538. Rom. 1:16-32, chap. 2, 10:9-21, 13:8-14, 1 Cor. 6:9-20, 7:2-5, Gal. 3:19-29, 4:1-18, chap. 5, 6:2-10, Eph. 2:2-21, 4:11-32, 5:1-18, 6:11-18, Phil. 4:6-8, Col.3:4-25, e tc. R. Joseph Hoffmann, (translator) Celsus On The True Doctrine, (A Discourse Against the early Christians), (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987), 14-15, Jude 3-8, Daniel C. Peterson, Dr. and Stephen David Ricks, Professor, Offenders For A Word {How Anti-Mormons Play Word Games to Attack the Latter-day Saints}, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Aspen Books, 1992), 22-3, see also note 69, & pages 28-41, 32-41, 125-6, 139-49.

3984- Barbara G. Walker, The Woman's Encyclopedia of Myths and Secrets, (New York, New York: Harper San Francisco, a Division of Harper Collins Publishers, 1983), 910-20, 1112, note 3 on p. 920: William J. Lederer, & Don D. Jackson, The Mirages of Marriage, NY: W. W. Norton & Co., 1968, 163.

3985- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & The Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 205, 439-40, end notes 332-333. Cites from A. Cleveland Cox. Also: Newsweek, "A Case for Change," 5-6-2002, p.29.

- 3986- Roland H. Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back edition, 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville), 293, see also p. 137, 155, 189-201, 209, 247, 252, 260, 286-304, 352. John Dillenberger, (Editor & Introduction), Martin Luther, Selections From His Writings, (New York, London, Toronto, Sydney & Auckland: Anchor Books, Doubleday, 1962, Anchor Books Edition, 1951, 1961 ed.), p. 30, 147, 312-13, 326-40, 378, 455-56, 483.
- 3987- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All the Prophets Gone? Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort 2005, 105, 138, n. 90: Wilhelm Schneemelcher, ed., New Testament Apocrypha. 2 vols., Louisville, Ky.: Westminster/ John Knox, 1991, vol. 1, vv. 76-77, 79, 122a, 127, 197-98, 204, 206.
- 3988- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005, 105, 138, n.89.
- 3989- 1 Cor. 15:38-58, Eph.2:9-21, 5:20-33, 6:1-4, Phil.3:20-21, Col.3:4-21, 1 Tim.4:1-3, Hand shake symbol-tombstone, Hugh L Mitchell died 12-14-1882. Ute Cemetery Aspen Colorado. Hands Clapsed Friendship or Marriage, Osceola. Perkinsville cemetery Madison County Victorian symbol husband and wife partnership 1845. Perkinsville cemetery, Pioneer Cemeteries Madison County Samuel Wise 1814. Victorian symbol husband and wife partnership in life fellowship in after-life. Grave-stone marker of Thomas FERRIS died May 4, 1883, hand clasp. Victorian Cemetery Symbolism hand clasp on grave stone - Mount Hope Cemetery - Rochester NY. William Edward Nivingsen Hewitt -died 1-26-1910 - drowned Mt White at Waddington. To name just a few in many examples of stone grave markers. Millia Davenport, The Book of Costume, (New York: Crown Publishing, Inc., 1948 & 1976), 2 vols., in 1, see: vol.1, p. 214, figs., 595, 598-99, p. 352, fig. 921. Etc. Clifford Davidson, Editor, The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, and Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Kalamazoo, Michigan: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan University, 1994). Colleen McDannell and Bernhard Lang, Heaven: A History, (New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1988). Jeffrey Burton Russell, A History of Heaven, The Singing Silence, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1997). Francis Y. Duval & Ivan B. Rigby, Early American Gravestone Art In Photographs, (New York: Dover Publishers Inc., 1978). You Tube, Rare Flix, Darell Thorpe, documentary, "There is no evidence, that there are no evidences," numerous examples of tomb stones.
- 3990- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 203-5, 402, 439, end notes 330-31: William J. Bennett, ed., Our Sacred Honor, 141. Excerpted & reprinted in Geoffrey C. Ward et al., The Civil War: An Illustrated History, NY: Alfred A. Knopf, 1990, 82-83.
- 3991- J. J. G. Alexander, Italian Renaissance Illuminations, NY: George Braziller 1977, plates 19-20, BIBLE OF BORSO D'ESTE. VOLUME I fol. 5v & fol. 6 Book of Genesis, Volume I.
- 3992- Françoise Robin, Docteur ès lettres, La Cour d' Anjou-Provence, La vie artistique sous le règne de René, (Picard Editeur, 1985), fig. 124. Ibidem fol. 182: Mariage d'Emilie et de Palamon. Shows the religious leader grasping the wrist of the couple to bring their right hands together to make the clasp.
- 3993- The George A. Hearn Collection of Carved Ivories, 1908, 125, fig.97. Triptych. Marriage of Joseph & Mary. Ivory carving. Cleric grasped bride's wrist to join right hands of couple.
- 3994- Jahrbuch Der Berliner Museen, Jahrbuch der Preußischen Kunstsammlungen Neue Folge, Elfter Band 1969, (Berlin: Im Gemeinschaftsverlag G. Grote'sche Verlagsbuchhandlung KG - Gebr. Mann), 129, Abb. 49-50. Bible moralisée; Oxford, Bodl, 270 b. fol. 152 und 154. Marriage, cleric grasps both right wrists of a couple, that grip each others' right hands.
- 3995- Ignace Vandevivere, Professor at the Catholic Un. of Louvain, & Catheline Perier-d' Ieteren, Photos by Hugues Boucher, Renaissance Art In Belgium, Architecture, Monumental Art, (Brussels: Marc Vokaer Pub. 1973), 81, 86-87. Hal, Church of St. Martin, reredos of Jean Mone. Part of a depiction of the 7 sacraments. Refined Italian style. Right to right wedding-clasp.
- 3996- Roland H. Bainton, The Horizon History of Christianity, NY: American Pub. & Harper & Row, 1964, 70-1.
- 3997- J. Boudet, Jerusalem A History, NY: G.P.Putnam's Sons 1965 Ed. Robert Laffont 1967 Paul Hamlyn 116-7.
- 3998- Kurt Weitzmann, Editor, Age of Spirituality, Late Antique & Early Christian Art, 3rd to 7th Century, (NY: NY Metropolitan Museum of Art, exhibit 11-19-1977 - 2-12 1978), 413, no. 371. Place of origin, unknown, about 300-310 marble of Adam & Eve clasping right hands in marriage. Velletri, Museo Civico, 171. (Reekmans, 1958, 65. L'union dans le péché).
- 3999- Kurt Weitzmann, Ed., Age of Spirituality, Late Antique & Early Christian Art, 3rd to 7th Century, (NY: The NY Metropolitan Museum of Art, exhibited 11-19-1977 & 2-12-1978, p. 283, fig. 261. 4th c., on a circular work, a couple grasps each others' right wrists in marriage. Above the joined hands is a large wreathed crown, & inscription: VIVATIS IN DEO, a formula used since the days of Clement of Alexandria in Christian wedding ceremonies. Bibliography in Age of Spirituality: Morey, 1959, p.72, pl. 36, fig.447; Craven, 1975, p.234, fig.11.
- 4000- David Talbot Rice, The Art of Byzantium, (NY: Harry N. Abrams, Inc., 1959), 306, number 73. Silver dish, Byzantium work, a couple clasps each others' right hands in marriage. Leningrad. The Hermitage Museum. The marriage of David. A.D. 610-629. Nicosia. The Archaeological Museum.
- 4001- André Grabar, The Golden age of JUSTINIAN, From the Death of Theodosius to the Rise of Islam, (NY: Odyssey Press, 1967; Translated by Stuart Gilbert & James Emmons), 306, fig. 352. Constantinople. Silver Plate of Marriage of David to his bride, making the right hand grip. Museum of Antiquities, Nicosia. 7th or 8th c. AD.
- 4002- Jennifer O'Reilly, 10-1972, A Garland Series, Outstanding Theses in The Fine Arts From British Universities, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, (New York & London: Garland Pub., Inc., 1988, Thesis submitted to the Un. of Nottingham for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, Oct. 1972), 240-43, figs. 18a & 18b. F.186v of the Bible Moralisée, c. 1240, showing God or the pre-existing Christ, grasping the wrist of Eve to raise her out of Adam's side. Inasmuch as this is also under the crucifixion scene, it is also a type of the hand & wrist grasping that takes place during the harrowing of hell, where Christ raises Adam & Eve out of their graves or out of hades, limbo, & purgatory, etc., with different types of hand and wrist grasps. There is also a part of a manuscript, fig. 18a, that shows God, or the pre-existing Christ, grasping, with his left hand, the right wrist of Eve, who has both hands up in praise or the prayer gesture, as she is being pulled out of Adam's side. Below this, is the type of the first, for a small figure, perhaps Eve, is being pulled out of the side of the crucified Christ through hand grasping. Below this, is a marriage scene in which God, like the priests, grasps the wrists of Adam & Eve as if to bring them together in the hand clasp of marriage.
- 4003- Jennifer O'Reilly, 1972, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, art prior 241, fig.18b, 256, after p.348, figs 26-27, p.356—57, 370, fig 31a, 31b, p. 391.
- 4004- Jennifer O'Reilly, Oct. 1972, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, art work before p. 369, fig. 30b, see also p. 369.

- 4005- Jennifer O'Reilly, Oct. 1972, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, graphics after p. 226, fig. 17.
- 4006- Esmond Wright, Gen. Ed., The Medieval and Renaissance World, (Hamlyn Pub. Groups Limited, 1969, revised 79), 39. Cleric grasps wrist of bride to join couple's rights in marriage.
- 4007- British Library Series No. 3: The Benedictines in Britain, (Great Russell Street, London: The British Library, 1980), 56-57; Muriel Clayton, M.A., Brass Rubbings, Victoria and Albert Museum, Catalogue of Rubbings of Brasses and Incised Slabs, (London: Her Majesty's Stationery Office, 1968), plate 6, c. 1380. Sir J. de la Pole and wife, gripping each others' right hands. With the wife's thumb resting on the ring finger's knuckle Chrishall, Essex. Plate 9, Sir J. Harsick and wife, same grip, except this time, the husband's thumb is resting on the wife's knuckle. Southacre, Norfolk. A.D. 1384. Plate 12. R. de Frevile and wife, Little Shelford, Cambs. A.D. 1410. In this one, the couple grips each others right hands. Plate 14. J. Hauley and two wives, St. Saviour, Dartmouth. A. D. 1408. Grip made with each others' right hands. Plate 15. Baron Camoys and wife, Troteon, Sussex. A.D. 1419. Right hands gripping. Plate 16. P. Halle and wife, Herne, Kent. A.D. 1430. Right hands grasping. Plate 25. Sir W. Mauntell and wife, Nether Heyford, Northants. A.D. 1487. Right hands clasping. Plate 40. R. Torryington and wife, Gt. Berkhamstead, Herts. A.D. 1356. Right gripping right. Plate 48. G. Coles and two wives, St. Sepulchre, Northampton. The Husband grips each of the two wives' hands with both of his. The one on his right, the grasp is made with the right hands. The one on his left, he grips her left with his left, in a different way than the others mentioned.
- 4008- Jennifer O'Reilly, Oct. 1972, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, graphics after p. 240, figure or plate 18, see both 18a & 18b & p. 391.
- 4009- Miklós Boskovits, The Thyssen-Bornemisza Collection, Early Italian painting 1290-1470, Lon.: Sotheby's Pub. 1990, trans. from Italian, Françoise Pouncey Chiarini, Ed., Irene Martin, 110, fig. 6, b. The grasping hand marriage scene of St. Catherine.
- 4010- The Toledo Museum Of Art European Paintings, (The Toledo Mus. of Art, Tol. Ohio., Dist. by Penn. State Un., Press, 1st printing 1976, Designed by Harvey Retzlaff, p.59, & 231, pl.77. "Flemish, Anonymous, Marriage of a Saint". The Marriage of Henry VI. Ca. 1475-1500.
- 4011- Marjorie & C. H. B. Quennell, Everyday Life In Roman & Anglo-Saxon Times, Including Viking & Norman Times, (New York: Dorset Press, 1959), p.83-4, fig.68.
- 4012- Nigel Morgan, Early Gothic Manuscripts (II) 1250-85, Lon. Harvey Miller, 1988, fig. 107. AD 1250-85, early Gothic Manuscripts, from Hereford, Cathedral Library, o.7. VII, f.109 & f. 156 cat. 119. Bishop grasping wrists of couple, joins their right hands in marriage. Groom's middle finger on middle part of bride's right hand.
- 4013- Jaroslav Folda, Crusader Manuscript Illumination at Saint-Jean d'Acre, 1275-91, New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1976, fig. 137. Fol. 264v, Book 22, chap.1. AD 1275-91, in a depiction of Baldwin IV, he gives Sibylle in marriage to Guy de Lusignan by grasping them both by their right wrists to bring their right hands together.
- 4014- Mit Beiträgen von, Gabriele Atanassiu, Mariano d' Alatri, Stanislao da Campagnola, Servus Gieben, Engelbert Grau OFM, Raoul Manselli, Raymond Oursel, Clemente Schmitt, Franz von Assisi, (Italy; Stuttgart, Zürich: Belser Verlag, 1990), 176—177, Meister der Stichkappen: Allegorie der Armut, um 1320. Assisi, Unterkirche, Gewölbe über dem Hauptaltar. The arms of God extend out of heaven over a wrist grasping marriage ceremony, above which an angel holds a vest or garment.
- 4015- Nikolaus Pevsner, Editor, The Pelican History of Art, Penguin Books, 1955, vol. 9: Lawrence Stone, Sculpture In Britain, The Middle Ages, 183, fig. 5. Brass of Sir John & Lady de la Pole, c. 1380. Chrishall, Essex. Sir John & Lady de la Pole, shows them united together, right hands clasped, thumb of lady's right-hand resting on the 3rd finger's knuckle.
- 4016- Brian Murphy, The World of Weddings, (NY; Lon. Paddington Press, LTD, 1978), 99. Early 15th cent. in a composition of the wedding ceremony of Philippe d' Artois, Comte d' Eu, and Marie, daughter of Duc de Berry, couple joined together by their right hands, religious leader holds the right wrist of the groom, outside the church.
- 4017- Geoffrey Barraclough, The Christian World, NY: Harry N. Abrams, Inc., Publishers, CR 1981 Thames & Hudson Ltd., London, 144. A.D. 1420, in a drawing of a wedding ceremony, the couple is joined together by their right hands, with the help of a man who brings them together by grasping the groom's arm.
- 4018- Pompeo Molmenti, Venice, Its Individual Growth From the Earliest to the Fall of the Republic, Chicago: A. C. McClurg & Co.; Lon.: John Murry; Istituto, Italiano: Bergamo, 1906, translated by Horatio F. Brown, vol. 2, part 1, The Middle Ages, p.42.
- 4019- John Barton, Joy Law, The Hollow Crown, The Follies, foibles & faces of the Kings & Queens of England, NY: The Dial Press, CR Barton, 1962, 88, 89, 96 & 97. In a manuscript drawing, perhaps 15th c., the marriage of Henry V to Catherine of France, shows them shaking each others' right hands. In a 15th c. illumination manuscript, a portion shows the marriage of Henry VI to Margaret of Anjou, the King sets his left hand on the Queen's right, while her left is on a book, perhaps the bible, as if she is making an oath or vow on the holy book.
- 4020- The Secular Spirit: Life and Art at the End of the Middle Ages, (New York: A Dutton Visual Book E. P. Dutton & Company, Inc., with The Metropolitan Museum of Art, 1975), p. 243. A.D. 1448, a scene depicting the Marriage of Count Girart de Roussillon to the daughter of the count of Sens, shows the bishop grasping the right wrist groom, and gently, with his left, the right wrist of the bride, to join the couples right hands together. It is unclear if he is also grasping the wrist of the bride too, but it is possible. Illuminated page in the Roman de Girart de Roussillon, Mons, the south Netherlands, 1448 (Österreichische Nationalbibliothek, Vienna, Ms. 2549); Georges Dogaer, Flemish Miniature Painting in the 15th and 16th Centuries, (Amsterdam: B. M. Israël B. V., 1987, translated by Anna E. C. Simoni and others), p. 78, fig. 39. Master of the Girart de Roussillon.
- 4021- Frederick Hartt, Art, A History of Painting, Sculpture & Architecture, (NY: Harry N. Abrams, Inc., 1976), 115, fig. 118. AD 1452-1456, in Jean Fouquet's depiction of the Marriage of the Virgin, from the Book of Hours of Étienne Chevalier, the religious leader joins the right hands of the couple, by grasping their wrists. Illumination, Musée Condé, Chantilly, France.
- 4022- Lynn Thorndike, The History of Medieval Europe, (Boston, NY, etc: Houghton Mifflin Co., The Riverside Press Cambridge, 1917, 1928, 1945, 1949), 603 & 604, fig. 89.
- 4023- James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (New York, New York, Doubleday, 2005), 31–35, mentions wedding date as Oct. 19, (1469). Gene Gurney, Kingdoms of Europe, An Illustrated Encyclopedia of Ruling Monarchs from Ancient Times to the Present, (New York: Crown Publishers, Inc., 1982), 324–26, 351. Bradley Smith, Spain, A History in Art, (Garden City, New York: Doubleday & Company, Inc., A Gemini-Smith Inc., not dated), 105, mentions wedding date as 1469.

- 4024- Madeleine Jarry, 1969, World Tapestry, From Its Origins to the Present, (New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1968 & 1969; France: Librairie Hachette, 1968, 1969, orig. title: La Tapisserie), 78-79. 1475, or 3rd quarter of 15th c., Tournai. On a tapestry, 1 of the 7 sacraments shown is that of the marriage. In this case, the religious leader's left grasps right-wrist of groom, as bride's right grips right hand of groom. Fragments in Metropolitan Museum of Art, Victoria & Albert Museum & in collection of William Burnell, England. Tapestry maybe made by Pasquier Grenier, 1475, who then offered it to the church of Saint-Quentin in Tournai. Metropolitan Museum of Art, gift by J. Pierpont Morgan. New Catholic Encyclopedia, vol. 21, p. 809, fig. 2-b.
- 4025- New Catholic Encyclopedia, vol. 21, p. 809, figures 2-a & 2-b. Flemish silk work of the seven sacraments, work by Pasquier Grenier, Tournai. AD 1475, fig. 2-b. In some cases, the marriage ceremony is intended to reflect Old Testament types, for there are depictions of God the Father, grasping the wrists of Adam & Eve, before their right hands are joined (see fig. 2-a).
- 4026- History of the English Speaking Peoples, vol. 3, p. 780. AD. 1487, on brass, from a Northamptonshire church, is a depiction of an English rite of marriage, showing Sir Maunteel gripping, with his right hand, the right hand of his wife, while she holds up her left hand to perhaps indicate their wedding vows. Rubbing of brass work in Victoria & Albert Museum.
- 4027- Richard I. Abrams & Warner A. Hutchinson, An Illustrated Life of Jesus, From the National Gallery of Art Collection, (Nashville: Abingdon, 1982), 16-17, A.D. 1488--1541, Bernaert van Orley's Flemish work of the marriage of the Virgin, shows the couple joining each others' right hands. Samuel H. Kress Collection, 1952.
- 4028- Jan Bialostocki, The Art of the Renaissance in Eastern Europe, (Hungary, Bohemia, & Poland), Wrightsman Lectures, NY Un., Institute of Fine Arts, (NY: Cornell Un. Press, C/R 1976, Phaidon Press Lim., Oxford), 8, p.12 & 91, fig. 25.
- 4029- Ernst & Johanna Lehner, Devils, Demons, Death & Damnation, (NY: Dover Pictorial Archive Series, Dover Pub., Inc., 1971), 158, fig.224.
- 4030- Clive Gregory LLB., Sue Lyon BA, Editors, Marshall Cavendish, The Northern Renaissance, (Marshall Cavendish Publishing & Co., CR MCMLXXXV, MCMLXXXVIII), p.106, A.D. 1533, a depiction of the Scala/Vasari wedding of Catherine de' Medici to Henry 2nd/Palazzo Vecchio, Florence show the religious leader grasping, with his right hand, the right wrist of the groom. In this case the artist decided to show the moments before the clasp, for the religious leader's left hand is about to grasp the left wrist of the bride to bring them both together. In 1533 Catherine was wed to the Duke of Orleans, who in A.D. 1547 became Henry the 2nd of France.
- 4031- Pompeo Molmenti, Venice, Its Individual Growth From the Earliest to the Fall of the Republic, (Chicago: A. C. McClurg & Co.; Lon.: John Murry; Istituto, Italiano: Bergamo, 1907, translated by Horatio F. Brown), vol. 2, part 1, part 2, The Golden Age, p. 197.
- 4032- Encyclopedia of World Art, 5, pl.226, imitation of contemporary artists from Renaissance to Baroque styles, imitating Durer's style, with his monogram, marriage ceremony. Cleric grips arm of bride, with 1 hand, & the wrist of groom with other hand to bring their right hands together. Couples' right hand-thumbs rest on each others' 2nd fingers' knuckles.
- 4033- Lillian Eichler, The Customs of Mankind, With Notes on Modern Etiquette and the Newest Trend in Entertainment, (New York: Nelson Doubleday, Inc., 1924), 33. An early 19th century interpretation of the Creation, by Thomas Blake, God is grasping, with his right hand, the right hand of Adam, while his left grasps Eve's wrist. Metropolitan Museum of Art.
- 4034- André Maurois, An Illustrated History of Germany, Lon.: The Bodley Head, 1965, 66, English trans. from French by Stephen Hardman, 200-201, Olaf Raren, 1787-1839, 1820, Island of Föhr, Germany, painted marriage ceremony, right to right hand clasp, one performing it has right hand on groom's right hand. Hamburg, Staatliche Hochschule für bildende Künste.
- 4035- Diane Warner, Complete Book of Wedding Vows, (Franklin Lakes, New Jersey: Career Press, 1996), 28.
- 4036- Jacques Legrand, S.A., Chronicle of the World, (Paris: International, 1989), 256.
- 4037- Lucinda Hawksley, Essential Pre-Raphaelites, (UK, Queen Street House: Demspsey Parr Book, 2000; Parragon CR 1999), introduction: Dr. Juliet Hacking, 48-49 & 186. Walter Howell Deverell, 1827-54, painting entitled: As You Like It, of "marriage" right to right hand clasp, thumbs resting on second knuckle down on each right hand. Celia in the guise of a boy, pretending to Officiate at the "marriage" of Orlando & Rosalind.
- 4038- W.G. Thomson, (3rd ed. revised & edited by F.P. & E.S. Thomson), A History of Tapestry, From the Earliest Times until the Present Day, (E P Publishing Limited, 1st ed. 1906, this edition 1973), 201. Marriage of Tobit. Right to right hand clasp, thumb on second knuckle. One performing marriage holds bride's wrist.
- 4039- Richard H. Randall Jr., and Diana Buitron, Jeanny Vorys Canby, William R. Johnston, Andrew Oliver, Jr. and Christian Theuerkauff, Masterpieces of Ivory, From the Walters Art Gallery, (New York: Christian Theuerkauff, Publishing, Hudson Hills Press, with W. A. G. Baltimore, 1985), p. 318, #483, A. D. 1890's, a Spanish work, carved bone and ivory on wood, shows the marriage of the Virgin, with a right hand grip. Pseudo-Gothic Triptych, ascribed to Francisco Pallas y Puig, A.D. 1859-1926.
- 4040- Eugene Seach, Ancient Text & Mormonism, Murray, Utah: Sounds of Zion, 1983, 78 & 79. The Gospel of Philip, 68:22-26; 70:9-21.
- 4041- Lillian Eichler, The Customs of Mankind, With Notes on Modern Etiquette & the Newest Trend in Entertainment, (Garden City, NY: Nelson Doubleday, Inc., 1924), 228 & 231.
- 4042- Lillian Eichler, The Customs of Mankind, With Notes on Modern Etiquette & the Newest Trend in Entertainment, (Garden City, NY: Nelson Doubleday, Inc., 1924), 231.
- 4043- Margaret Baker, Wedding Customs & Folklore, (Tor., New Jersey: David & Charles, & R & L., 1977), 33. Gimmel ring, 3 sections, 2 right hands that hand clasp in "Courting Days."
- 4044- Fay-Cooper Cole, Ph.D., Sc.D., LL.D., & Harris Gaylord Warren, Ph.D., An Illustrated Outline History of Mankind, (Chicago: Consolidated Book Pub., 1951, 1955, 1959, 1963), 1:288, see illustration of the visit of Richard II to his uncle, John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster, at his castle at Pleshy. In traditions among the Asian peoples, the clasp & kiss on the hand of the civil leader is seen too (Oliver Beaupré Miller, assisted by Harry Neal Baum, The Story of Mankind, A Picturesque Tale of Progress, (Lake Bluff, Illinois: The Book House for Children, Tangley Oaks Educational System, 1933, 1935, 1949, 1952, 1957, 1963), vol.4, Explorations, Part 1, p. 47, illustration of the court of the lordly Genghis Khan, Emperor of All Men, now luxurious with the spoils of Northern China. The long arm of the Emperor is being clasp on his wrist area, while "a conquered foe is kissing his mater's hand in submission. (Miniature in Bibliothèque National, Paris). Page 62, illustration of the court scene of Genghis, in which a noble is bowed down before the tyrant to clasp the right hand of the Emperor with his right, while kissing the top of his the Emperor's hand too. See also: Pamela B. De Vinne, Coordinating Editor, with other Editors, Webster's Illustrated Encyclopedic Dictionary, Montreal, Canada: Tormont Publications, Inc., 1990, 929, see "kiss of peace" n. "A ceremonial gesture, as a kiss or handshake, used as a sign of unity and brotherhood among those celebrating and attending the Eucharist." James Harvey Robinson, Ph.D., Medieval and Modern Times, Boston; NY; Chicago; Lon.; Atlanta; Dallas; Columbus; San Francisco: Ginn & Co., 1916, 1918, 1919, 103-5, fig.35, ceremony of homage hand grasp. The kiss upon the hand & clasp, have been dramatized in such movies as Lady Hawk, one about Joan of Arc & others about the Medieval times too.

4045- Pamela B. De Vinne, (with other Editors), Webster's Illustrated Encyclopedic Dictionary, (Montreal, Canada: Tormont Publications, Inc., 1990), 929, see "kiss of peace" n.

4046- George Frederick Kunz, Ph.D., Sc.D., A.M., Rings For The Finger, FROM THE EARLIEST KNOWN TIMES TO THE PRESENT, WITH FULL DESCRIPTIONS OF THE ORIGIN, EARLY MAKING, MATERIALS, THE ARCHÆOLOGY, HISTORY, FOR AFFECTION, FOR LOVE, FOR ENGAGEMENT, FOR WEDDING, COMMEMORATIVE, MOURNING, ETC. (New York, New York: Dover Publications, Inc., 1973, originally published in East Washington Square, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania: J. B. Lippincott Company, 1917), 268.

4047- George Frederick Kunz, 1917, Rings For The Finger, NY: Dover Publications, 1973, 267.

4048- Alice K. Turner, The History of Hell, (NY; San Diego; London: Harcourt Brace & Company, 1993), 66-67, 72-73, 75, 87, 95, 96, 117, 130; The Lost Books of the Bible, (Newfoundland: USA: Alpha House, 1926), 63-90, chapters XII-XIX, especially note chapter xix, verses 1-8, 11-12, chap. xx, verses 1, 11-14; ANF, 8:416-58.

4049- Jennifer O'Reilly, Oct. 1972, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, graphics after p. 240, figure or plate 18, see both 18a & 18b & p. 391.

4050- Robert L. Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, (New Haven & London: Yale Un. Press, 1984); W.H.C. Frend, Martyrdom & Persecution In the Early Church, (Garden City, New York: Anchor Books Doubleday, 1967); A.S. Garretson, Primitive Christianity and Early Criticisms, (Boston: Sherman, French & Company, 1912); Francis Legge, Forerunners & Rivals Of Christianity, From 330 B.C. to 330 A.D., (University Books, 1964), 2 volumes in 1; R. Joseph Hoffmann, Celsus On The True Doctrine, A Discourse Against The Christians, (Oxford University Press, 1987); The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 4:395—669, Origen Against Celsus, 8 books. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 1:194—270, Justin Martyr's Dialogue With Trypho.

4051- ANF, 4:177, 395-99. The Octavius of Minucius Felix, ch. 9: Origen Against Celsus, Book 1, ch. 1, 3, 7, etc.

4052- Stephen Ernest Benko, Pagan Rome & The Early Christians, Bloomington: Indiana Un. Press, 1984, 60.

4053- Benko Pagan Rome & The Early Christians 65. Compton, By Study & Also by Faith 1:635 n.48 p.633 n.23

4054- Benko, Pagan Rome And The Early Christians, pp. 126--27. John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or The Art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (New York: J W Bouton 707 Broadway, 1882), p. 27; Leonard W. Cowie, The March of the Cross, (New York, Toronto; London: McGraw-Hill Book Co., Inc., 1962), p. 20, fig. 26; James L. Barker, Apostasy from The Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah, Deseret News Press, Kate Montgomery Barker, 1960), pp. 123—26, chapter 10, Persecutions.

4055- TNPf, 7: xxiii—xxvi, p. 147—148, S. Cyril of Jerusalem, Lectures On the Mysteries, Lecture 20:5; TNPf, 5:518—24, Gregory of Nyssa, On The Baptism of Christ. Darell Thorpe, The Mystery Behind The Mysteries, Ritualistic Realm Pilgrims In Early to Later Christian Mysteries, (SLC, Ut: R.H.P.S., Winter 1997, an unpub. research paper for a college class, HIS 190—01 Special Studies. Instructor: Marianne McKnight. Student: Darell Thorpe, Winter quarter, 1997, Salt Lake Community College, Utah).

4056- George Frederick Kunz, Ph.D., Sc.D., A.M., Rings For The Finger, FROM THE EARLIEST KNOWN TIMES TO THE PRESENT, WITH FULL DESCRIPTIONS OF THE ORIGIN, EARLY MAKING, MATERIALS, THE ARCHÆOLOGY, HISTORY, FOR AFFECTION, FOR LOVE, FOR ENGAGEMENT, FOR WEDDING, COMMEMORATIVE, MOURNING, ETC. (NY, NY: Dover Publications, Inc., 1973, orig. pub. in East Washington Square, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania: J. B. Lippincott Co., 1917), 267. Notes 29 & 30. Isidori, "De ecclesiasticis officiis," lib. ii, cap. v, 12; Migne, "Patrologia Latina," vol. lxxxi, cols. 783, 784.

4057- Julia Jones & Kenneth Ames, Love Tokens, Stamford Ct.: Longmeadow Press, Text 1992 by Hidden Treasures, Photos 1992 by Derek Harris, 14.

4058- Diane Warner, Complete Book of Wedding Vows, (Franklin Lakes, New Jersey: Career Press, 1996), 20.

4059- The Walter Art Gallery, Early Christian and Byzantine Art, An Exhibition held at The Baltimore Museum of Art, April 25—June 22, (Organized by The Walter Art Gallery), (Baltimore: The Trustees of the Walters Art Gallery, 1947), p. 105, Plate LXV, fig. 508, hand clasping ring, marriage, Byzantine, 6th century.

4060- Kurt Weitzmann, Editor, Age of Spirituality, Late Antique and Early Christian Art, 3rd to 7th Century, NY: The New York Metropolitan Museum of Art, exhibited Nov. 19, 1977- Feb. 12, 1978, p. 285, fig. 263. Marriage ring, Constantinople (?), 6th-7th century. Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, 66-37-7. See bibliography in Age of Spirituality, Craven, 1975, p. 235, fig. 12; Grabar, 1943, I, p. 222; Kantorowicz, 1960, p. 14; Ross, 1968, p. 23, fig. 27. Possible hand clasp of marriage depicted on the ring, with Christ officiating the marriage rite.

4061- Anna Ward, John Cherry, Charlotte Gere, Barbara Cartlidge, Rings Through the Ages, (Rizzoli International Publishers, Inc., English Edition, 1981), fig. 7, p. 54. A medieval drawing of a ring shows two right hand clasped together with lombardic lettering on the band area.

4062- Anna Ward, John Cherry, Charlotte Gere, Barbara Cartlidge, Rings Through the Ages, (Rizzoli International Publishers, Inc., English Edition, 1981), pl. 114, p. 60. 12th century, English, a silver ring has two right hands clasped together, symbolizing a sign of faithfulness, especially in love and marriage. The ring, along with many others, was deposited about A.D. 1180, and later found at Lark Hill near Worcester, England, in 1854.

4063- Charles Oman, Formerly Keeper of the Department of Metalwork at the Victoria & Albert Museum, British Rings 800-1914, (Totowa, New Jersey: Rowman & Littlefield, 1973, first printed in the U.S.A., 1974), fig. A. 13th century Lombardic type, showing two hands which, if together, would clasp.

4064- Anna Ward, John Cherry, Charlotte Gere, Barbara Cartlidge, Rings Through the Ages, (Rizzoli International Publishers, Inc., English Edition, 1981), p. 67, plate 137, A.D. 14th century, a French right hand clasping ring was found with coins and other things, during a demolition of a house in la rue aux Juifs at Colmar, France, in 1923. Musée de Cluny, Paris, CL 20668.

4065- Guido Gregorietti, Jewelry Through The Ages, Hamlyn Pub. Group Limited, 1969; trans. from Italian to Eng. by Helen Lawrence, 166. 14th c., 2 rings connect by joining hands. National Museum of Art, Bucharest.

- 4066- Guido Gregoriotti, Jewelry Through The Ages, (NY: American Heritage; translated from Italian into English by Helen Lawrence, CR Hamlyn Publishing Group Limited, 1969), 166. 14th c. hand clasping ring is made up of two rings that connect together to into one when the hands on them are joined together.
- 4067- D. P. Simpson, M.A., In Cassell's Latin Dictionary, (Cassell & Co., 1959), 187. Charlton T. Lewis Ph.D., & Charles Short LL.D., Pro. of Latin, Columbia College, Harper's Latin Dictionary, A New Latin Dictionary Translation of Freund's Latin-German Lexicon, (NY: Columbia College, 1879), 567 & 568, 1017.
- 4068- Millard Meiss, assisted by Sharon Off Dunlap Smith, Elizabeth Home Beatson, The Limbourgs and Their Contemporaries, (The Pierpont Morgan Library, 1974), plate volume, pl. 167. Harvard Hannibal Master, ca. 1420, Paris, Bibl. nat., fr. 247, fol.3. In text volume, p. 44. See fig. 196, with footnote 184 of p. 44. French painting, during the time of Jean De Berry, the Father grasps the wrists of Adam and Eve to bring their right hands together to make the grip, know as junctio dextrarum," while 2 angels hold the mantle of the Father.
- 4069- Charles Oman, Formerly Keeper of the Department of Metalwork at the Victoria & Albert Museum, British Rings 800-1914, Totowa, New Jersey: Rowman & Littlefield, 1973, 1st print USA, 1974, see 54 Love Rings. 15th century, a number of British rings show different types of hand grips on them. One shows right hands clasping, another, thumb rests on the knuckle of the 4th finger; a third ring, two right hands clasp; another, the thumb rests on the third finger's knuckle. 5th is 2 right hands making the clasp. These rings are called "love rings."
- 4070- George Frederick Kunz, Ph.D., Sc. D., A.M., Rings for the Finger, p. 220, & hand-clasping-ring drawings.
- 4071- George Frederick Kunz, Ph.D., Sc. D., A.M., Rings for the Finger, in between p. 218 & 219.
- 4072- George Frederick Kunz, Ph.D., Sc. D., A.M., Rings for the Finger, p. 219.
- 4073- George Frederick Kunz, Ph.D., Sc. D., A.M., Rings for the Finger, graphic page after p. 272.
- 4074- George Frederick Kunz, Ph.D., Sc. D., A.M., Rings for the Finger, in between p. 218 and 219.
- 4075- DVD collection, The Great Commandments Collection, 20 Features, (Echo Bridge Home Entertainment, 2015), Sacred Classics, disc 2, Martin Luther, black & white film, by Louis De Rochemont, produced by RD-DR Corp., & Lutheran Church Productions & Luther-Film-G.M.B.H. about 1:31:20 into the movie is the enactment of the wedding ceremony between Martin Luther & Katherine von Bora, about 1525. Roland H. Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, Paper back ed., 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville, 199, 287-93.
- 4076- Anne Ward, John Cherry, Charlotte Gere, Barbara Cartlidge, Rings Through the Ages, (English edition, Rizzoli International Publishing Inc., 1981), 59, 101, fig. PL. 211. Gold right hand clasping ring. French or German. Mid 16th century. Reubell Bequest, 1933. Musée des Arts Decoratifs, Paris 31096.
- 4077- Anne Ward, John Cherry, Charlotte Gere, Barbara Cartlidge, Rings Through the Ages, (Eng. ed., Rizzoli International Publishing Inc., 1981), 107, pl.221. Early 17th cent, Flemish, multiple band, sometimes used in betrothal rings, 2 separate clasps, right hands. Waddesdon Bequest, cat. #197, British Museum, London.
- 4078- George Frederick Kunz, Ph.D., Sc. D., A.M., Rings for the Finger, graphic page before p. 233.
- 4079- Anne Ward, John Cherry, Charlotte Gere, Barbara Cartlidge, Rings Through the Ages, (English edition, Rizzoli International Publishing Inc., 1981), 114, plate 245. Gold & a carnelian intaglio. French 1761, from the collection of J. Leturcq. Bt. 1873. Bibliothèque Nationale, Paris, Cabinet des Medailles, K1111 25024C.
- 4080- Carolyn Mordecai, You are cordially invited to Weddings, Dating & Love Customs of Cultures Worldwide, Including Royalty, (Phoenix, Arizona: Nittany Publishers, 1999), p. 133.
- 4081- Diane Warner, Complete Book of Wedding Vows, Franklin Lakes, New Jersey: Career Press, 1996, 22.
- 4082- Encyclopedia of World Art, vol. 5, pl.279. Master of Flémalle, Marriage of the Virgin. Panel in Madrid, Prado. Couple's right hands joined together by the religious leader about to wrap a sash around their hands.
- 4083- George Frederick Kunz, Rings For the Finger, From the Earliest Known Times to the Present, With Full Descriptions of the Origin, Early Making, Materials, The Archaeology, History, For Affection, For Love, For Engagement, For Weddings, Commemorative, Mourning, Etc., 1917 J. B. Lippincott. NY: Dover 1973, 218.
- 4084- George Frederick Kunz, Ph.D., Sc. D., A.M., Rings for the Finger, p. 218.
- 4085- George Frederick Kunz, Ph.D., Sc. D., A.M., Rings for the Finger, graphic p. before 221, top ring.
- 4086- George Frederick Kunz, Ph.D., Sc. D., A.M., Rings for the Finger, graphic page before 221.
- 4087- Margaret Baker, Wedding Customs & Folklore, Tor., New Jersey: David & Charles, & R & L., 1977, 33.
- 4088- Paolo Muratoff, La Pittura Bizantina, Casa Ed. D' arte Valori Plastici, Roma, CXII, Dio Rimprovera Adamo Arte Romanico-Bizantina, Prima metà del XII Sec. Mosaico. S.Marco, Venezia Fot. Alinari. 13th c.
- 4089- Ferdinand Seibt, Erich Bachmann, Hilde Bachmann, Gerhard Schmidt, Götz Fehr, Christian Salm, Editor: Erich Bachmann, Gothic Art in Bohemia, (Phaidon Press Limited, 1977, originally published as Gotik in Böhmen, Phaidon Press Limited, 1969), fig. 80. A.D. 1340, in Gothic art in Bohemia, two marriage scenes those of Joseph to Mary and Sarah and Tobias. In one, a bishop is grasping the wrists of the couple to bring their right hands together. The artist picked the moments before the clasp. In the other, the religious leader grasps the wrist of the bride with his right, the groom's right hand is clasping the bride's right in this case. Each of the brides have their left hands raised as if to signify their wedding vows. Speculum humanae salvationis from Weissenau near Lake Constance. Kremsmönster, Monastery Library.
- 4090- History of the English Speaking Peoples, 3:778. 13th-15th c., in some cases, English-speaking people had their Priests bring couples together to perform wedding rites outside the church doors. The priest's right hand raised, (gestural oath of fidelity?), as couple grasps each others' right hands. Bodleian Lib. Filmstrip: Vestments.
- 4091- G.H. Gombrich, The Story of Art, Phaidon Press Limited 1950,1972, 180-81, fig.159. AD 1434, Jan van Eyck's the betrothal of the Arnolfini, the groom with his left hand holding the bride's right hand, while his right hand is raised up to signify the solemn vow. "The young woman has just put her right hand in Arnolfini's left and his is about to put his own right hand into hers as a solemn token of their union." London, National Gallery.
- 4092- Rosa Maria Letts, The Renaissance, (Cambridge University Press, 1981), 36-37.
- 4093- Peter & Linda Murray, The Art of the Renaissance, (Thames and Hudson, 1983), 82.
- 4094- Malcom Warner, Portrait Painting, (Phaidon Press, 1979), 19.
- 4095- Frederick Hartt, Art, A History of Painting, Sculpture, & Architecture, NY: Harry Abrams, 1976, 2: 100-2.

- 4096- Robert Branner, Manuscript Painting In Paris During the Reign of Saint Louis, A Study of Styles, (Berkleley: Los Angeles; London, England: University of California Press, CR 1977 by Shirley Prager Branner), fig. 192. Initial for Codex, Book 5 (Lyon, Palais des Arts 43, f. 112. Wedding ceremony, in which the priest's left hand grasps the right clasped hands of the couple. Each couples left hands are raised up as if performing their wedding vows or oaths. According to Frederick Hartt, Art, a history of painting, sculpture, and architecture, vol. 2, p. 102. While the couple grasps each others' hand, their other free hands are raised up to make "an oath of fidelity." E. H. Gombrich, The Story of Art, (First published in 1950), 180-81, fig. 159.
- 4097- Diane Warner, Complete Book of Wedding Vows, New Jersey: Career Press, 1996, 29, 30, 32 & 34.
- 4098- Lillian Eichler, The Customs of Mankind, With Notes on Modern Etiquette & the Newest Trend in Entertainment, (NY: Nelson Doubleday, 1924), 230.
- 4099- William Tegg, The "Knot Tied," (Singing Tree Press, 1877, 1970), 92-6.
- 4100- Marcus von Wellnitz, The Catholic Liturgy & the Mormon Temple, article published in Brigham Young University Studies, (Provo, Utah: BYU Press, 1979), vol. 21, Winter 1981, Number 1, p. 28, notes 135 & 136. Eisenhofer & Lechner, Liturgy of the Roman Rite, p. 126; Dalmais, Eastern Liturgies, 117 & 120. Mentioning the hand clasp in marriage, and altars, plus the wedding vows, or oaths and the hand clasp over the Gospel book.
- 4101- H. Clay Trumbull, D.D., The Blood Covenant, A Primitive Rite and its bearings on Scripture, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1885), 65--71, 74 & 75.
- 4102- R. Joseph Hoffmann, (trans.) Celsus On The True Doctrine, (A Discourse Against the early Christians), (Oxford Un. Press, 1987), 57-8. ANF, 4: 403, 408, 410, 413, Against Celsus, bk 1, ch. 39. Bernhard Pick, The Attack of Celsus on Christianity, (1911). ARGUMENTS OF CELSUS, PORPHYRY, & THE EMPEROR JULIAN, AGAINST THE CHRISTIANS; EXTRACTS FROM DIODORUS SICULUS, JOSEPHUS, AND TACITUS, RELATING TO THE JEWS. (London: Thomas Rod, 1830), 5-6. Internet Archives: https://archive.org/details/bub_gb_3IAEAAAAQAAJ
- 4103- Dr. Hugu W. Nibley, The Early Christian Church in the Light of Some Newly Discovered Papyri from Egypt, (Provo, Utah: F.A.R.M.S. reprint, Nibley 1985. From a talk given by Dr. Nibley during a Tri-Stake Fireside, Brigham Young University, March 3, 1964). <https://sites.lib.byu.edu/nibley/1964/03/03/the-early-christian-church/> - Audio: <https://sites.lib.byu.edu/nibley/1964/03/03/the-early-christian-church/> - physical resurrection is real. <http://publications.mi.byu.edu/fullscreen/?pub=978> Many doubted Christ's physical resurrection.
- 4104- Matt.2:4-6, 11, 3:16-17, 12:39-40, 13:53-58, 17:5, 23:34-38, 26:59-67, 27:39-43, Mark 9:7, 14:22, 53-65, 15:37, 44-47, Luke 2:40-52, 9:35, 13:34, 20:19-20, 22:63-71, 24:13-39, 36-46, John 5:39-46, 6:33, 38-40, 44, 51, 62-65, 7:28-33, 8:14-18, 25-29, 52-59, 10:7-36, 14:6-12, chap.17, 18:28-32, 19:1-7, 16-18, 34-37, 20:1-31, Acts 1:9-11, 2:25-36, 3:17-18, 4:1-22, 5:17-42, 6:9-15, 7:37-60, 8:28-37, 9:3-7, 19-27, 10:34-43, 13:27-37, 17:1-5, 26:1-29, 28:23. 2 Tim.3:14-17. Hebrews 1:3, 5:8-9. Exodus 12:46; Num.9:12; Zechariah 12:10; Revelation 1:7. Philip.2:5-11, 3:20-21, Gen.1:26-7, Ephesians 4:7-10; 1 Peter 3:15-22, 4:5-6. Romans 6:9. 1 Cor. 15:12. Ellis T. Rasmussen, (General Director), Reflections on Mormonism, Judaeo-Christian Parallels, (Provo, Utah & BYU, Religious Studies Center, 1978), Papers Delivered at the Religious Studies Center Symposium, BYU, March 10-11, 1978, 155-173, paper by Edmond LaB. Cherbonnier, "In Defense of Anthropomorphism."
- 4105- Internet search: Deuteronomistic Reformation . The Yahwists are said to have removed from the scriptures, any earlier hints to a polytheistic period in earlier Israel's beliefs systems. And eventually enforced their monotheistic views on the scriptures, by tampering with the texts. This is said to have taken place during the time known as the "Deuteronomistic Reform" B.C. 620-400. (Ancient Text & Mormonism, by Eugene Seach, 1983, preface iii-iv, etc. The Gods of the Egyptians or Studies in Egyptian Mythology, E. A. Wallis Budge, Vol.2, p.140-2, Methuen & Co., Lon., 1904). Hugu Nibley, Dr. The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, (Provo & SLC, Utah: FARMS & Deseret Book Co., Vol.1: Old Testament and Related Subjects, (1986). Stephen D. Ricks, & LeGrand L. Barker, Who Shall Ascend Into the Hill of the Lord? The Psalms In Israel's Temple Worship In The Old Testament and in the Book of Mormon, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Books, 2009), the authors point out how that the Psalms, as a temple text, were rearranged & taken out of order, during post-exile temple era, after Israelites were captive to the Babylonians. The Old Testament was revised by triumphant Yahwists during the "Deuteronomistic Reform" (ca. 620-400 B.C) . The Yahwist s completely altered the theology of Israel's ancestors to fit the dominating dogma of the time, monotheism. Diane E. Wirth, Weaving Golden Threads, Early Christianity and its Restoration, (SLC, Utah: Eborn Books, 2015), 29-31, 203, n. 25 & 29; William G. Dever, Did God Have a Wife?: Archaeology and Folk Religion in Ancient Israel, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: William B. Eerdmans Pub., Co., 2005), 294-5. Margaret Barker, "The Second Person," The Way, 43/1 (Jan. 2004), 110. Link might, but might not still work: <http://www.theway.org/uk/back/43/1Barker.pdf> Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 51-119.
- 4106- Margaret Barker, (research paper), Temple Music, (Temple Studies Group, May 2009), p. 1.
- 4107- Margaret Barker, (research paper), Temple Music, (Temple Studies Group, May 2009). Stephen D. Ricks, & LeGrand L. Barker, Who Shall Ascend Into the Hill of the Lord? The Psalms In Israel's Temple Worship In The Old Testament and in the Book of Mormon, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Books, 2009), 47-190, etc.
- 4108- Kevin L. Barney, Do We Have a Mother in Heaven?, article, or paper, (Calif.: FAIR, 2001), p. 2.
- 4109- Stephen D. Ricks, & LeGrand L. Barker, Who Shall Ascend Into the Hill of the Lord? The Psalms In Israel's Temple Worship In The Old Testament and in the Book of Mormon, SLC, Utah: Eborn Books, 2009, 47-190, etc.
- 4110- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All the Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: CFI 2005).
- 4111- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994). Hugu Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, (Provo & SLC, Utah: FARMS, & Deseret Book Co.). Vol. 1: Old Testament & Related Subjects, (1986). Vol.2: Enoch The Prophet, (1986). Richard Laurence, LL.D., (Trans.) The Book of Enoch The Prophet, (Re-issued: Williams & Norgate, 1892). Angelo S. Rappoport, Ph. D., Ancient Israel Myths and Legends, (New York: Bonanza Books, 1987), 3 vols. in 1.
- 4112- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 88-91. Ellis T. Rasmussen, (General Director), Reflections on Mormonism, Judaeo-Christian Parallels, (Provo, Utah & BYU, Religious Studies Center, 1978), Papers Delivered at the Religious Studies Center Symposium, BYU, March 10-11, 1978, 13-35, 99-137, 155-173, 201-226.
- 4113- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 91, 219, n.16, 241, bib.: David Clines, "Yahweh and the God of Christian Theology," Theology 83 (September 1980): 323-30, p. 323.
- 4114- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 91-92.

4115- Abram Kanof, Jewish Ceremonial Art & Religious Observance, (NY: Harry N. Abrams). Angelo S. Rappoport, Ph.D., Ancient Israel Myths & Legends, (NY: Bonanza Books, 1987), 3 vols., in 1. Kevin L. Barney, paper or article, Do We Have a Mother in Heaven? (Calif.: FAIR, 2001). Raphael Patai, The Hebrew Goddess, (Detroit: Wayne State Un. Press, 1990). Richard J. Petty, Asherah: Goddess of Israel, (NY: Peter Lang, 1990). John Day, "Asherah," in David Noel Freedman, (ed.), The Anchor Bible Dictionary (NY: Doubleday, 1992), 1:483-87. Arnold Toynbee, (Editor), The Crucible of Christianity, Judaism, Hellenism & The Historical Background to the Christian Faith, (NY, & Cleveland, World Pub. Co., CR Thames & Hudson, 1969). Barbara G. Walker, The Woman's Encyclopedia of Myths and Secrets, (NY: Harper San Francisco, a Division of Harper Collins Pub., 1983), 66, Asherah, & 346-47, "Goddess." H. Clay Trumbull, D.D., The Blood Covenant, A Primitive Rite & its Bearings on Scriptures, (NY: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1885). <https://archive.org/details/bloodcovenantap04trumgoog> J. Eugene Seaich, Ancient Texts and Mormonism, (Murray, Utah: Sounds of Zion, 1983), Seaich, The Heavenly Council, Mysteries & Sacred Ordinances, (unpublished research paper). Jonathan Kirsch, God Against the Gods, The History of the War Between Monotheism & Polytheism, (NY: Viking Compass, Penguin Group, 2004), 30-38, 62-63, 65-91. Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 84-119. Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005). The World of the Bible, (Yonkers, NY: Educational Heritage, Inc., 1950s-60s), numerous volumes. L. W. Stokes, Temple Texts & the Pre-Mortal Council, (Salt Lake City, Utah: The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints Historical Library, Archives, call slip # PQ M233.3 5874t, 1980), typescript paper presented to John M. Lundquist, November 23, 1980.

4116- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 91-92.

4117- Isa. 1:16-18, Psa. 51:1-3, 7-17, 69:28, 73:1, 13, Acts 3:19, 18:6, 20:25-26, 21:26-28, Rev. 1:5, 3:4-5, 5:6-9, 7:14-17, 19:8, 13:14, Rom. 6:3-6, 13:8-14, 1 Cor. 6:9-20.

4118- Ex. 12:5, 11-14, 19:10, 14, 28:2-4, 39-43, chap. 29, 31:10-11, Lev. 1:3, 10, 3:1, 6, 4:3, 23, 28, 32, 5:15, 18, 6:6-11, 27, 8:30, 9:2-3, chap. 11, etc.

4119- Psalms 7:8-11, 8:3-4, 18:20-35, 19:7-14, 30:7-12, 31:16-17, 42:2, Psa. 51, 80:3, 7, 19, Psa. 82, 98-99, 109:13-21, 132:9-18, 139:1-4, Proverbs chapters 11-16, especially 16:1-11. Isa. 1:15-20, 3:9-15, 4:4, 41:10-13, 20-24, 42:1-10, 43:24-26, 50:2, 59:1-9, 52:1-13, 17, chap. 61, 64:1-9. Craig Harbison, The Last Judgment in Sixteenth Century Northern Europe, (New York, U.S.A., and London, England: Garland Pub. Inc., 1976).

4120- Ludmila Kybalova, Coptic Textiles, (Artia, Prague: Paul Hamlyn Ltd., 1967), 34, 68-69, figs 15 & 16, Coptic Tunic shirt 4th or 5th c. Pushkin Museum, Moscow inventory No. 4832.

4121- Isa. 53, Zech. 9:9, 11:12-13, 13:7, Matt. 21:7-13, 26:15-30, Mark 14:10-26, Luke 22:1-48, 23:46, John 12:12-16, 16:25-33, chap. 17, Jer. 7:11, John 6:33-71, 19:32-33, Psalms 22:15-18, 41:9, 34:20, 69:21, 109:2, Amos 8:9, Gothic & Renaissance Art in Nuremberg 1300-1550, (NY: Nuremberg; Munich: The Metropolitan Museum of Art, NY; Germanisches Nationalmuseum, Nuremberg; Prestel-Verlag, Munich, 1986), 120-21, 150-54, 200-1, 346-47. Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen. Jennifer Reilly, 10-1972, A Garland Series, Outstanding Thesis in The Fine Arts from British Universities, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, NY & Lon.: Garland 1988, 228-35. Jan Bialostocki, The Art of the Renaissance in Eastern Europe, Hungary, Bohemia, Poland, (Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1976), fig. 208. Stanislaw Samostrzelnik: Sigismund I adoring Christ as the Man of Sorrows appearing with a chalice filling up with the blood from his wounds. Miniature, Sigismund I Book of Hours. Lon., British Museum Ms. Add. 15281, fol. 59r. Joseph Campbell, Creative Mythology, The Masks of God, NY: Penguin Books, 1976, 405-13, 425, 429, 483, 530, 534-35, 541-42. Antonin M. & Jaroslav Pešina, Czech Gothic Painting 1350-1450, (Czechoblovakia: Melantrich Praha, 1950), fig. 176. The Roundness Altar: Christ the Sufferer, Thomas A. Kempis, trans. William Benham, The Harvard Classics, Edited by Charles W. Eliot, LL.D., The Confessions of St. Augustine, Translated by Edward B. Pusey, & The Imitation of Christ, by Kempis, NY: P. F. Collier & Son Corporation, 1909, 1937, 51st print, 1959, 7:335-337, book 4, verses 5 & 9. Christ present at sacramental altar. King Arthur, The Celtic church, & 570, www.geocities.com/Athens/Olympus/5234/grail2.htm p.1-9. Frank Phillips, British Library Series No. 3, The Benedictines In Britain, Lon., Eng.: The British Library, 1980), see the chapter by D. H. Turner, 'Guests, Who Are Never Lacking In A Monastery' p. 54-57. Edith W. Kirsch, 5 Illuminated Manuscripts Of Giangaleazzo Visconti, Un. Park & Lon.: The Pennsylvania State Un. Press, 1991, fig. 55, Lombard, 1380, Man of Sorrows. Paris France, Bibl., nar., Latin, 757, fol. 237. Clara Erskine Clement, A Handbook Of Legendary And Mythological Art, (Boston & NY: Houghton Mifflin Co., The Riverside Press, Cambridge, 1871 & 1881), 288-89. 584. Tristram P. Coffin, The Book of Christmas Folklore, 1973, NY: A Continuum Book, Seabury Press, 51. Norman Davies, Europe, A History, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1996, 1036, 1042, 1044, 1061, 1110. Roy H. Stetler, publisher of a religious journal in the East. Darell Thorpe, The Mysteries Behind The Mysteries, Ritualistic Realm Pilgrims In Early to Later Christian Mysteries, (SLC, Utah: R.H. & P.S., historical paper for a college class, HIS 190-01 Spec. Stud., Winter 1997, Salt Lake City Community College, Instructor: Marianne McKnight, Student: Darell Thorpe). Donald W. Parry, Editor, Temples Of The Ancient World, Ritual and Symbolism, (SLC, & Provo, Utah: Deseret Book Co., & FARMS 1994). Leo the Great, The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, 12:163-90, 176, 179, 182-83, 188 & 190. Jean Porcher, Medieval French Miniatures, (NY: Harry N. Abrams), 38: The Annunciation to Zacharias. Bible, 2nd half of the 12th c. (Bibliothèque Nationale, Ms. Latin, 16746, f.42). H. Clay Trumbull, D.D., The Blood Covenant, A Primitive Rite & its Bearings on Scriptures, NY: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1885. Dr. Hugu W. Nibley, The Message of the Joseph Smith Papyri, an Egyptian Endowment, (SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Co., 1975). Ed. by John M. Lundquist, & Stephen D. Ricks, By Study & Also By Faith, (SLC, & Provo Utah: Deseret Book Co. & FARMS, 1990), vols. 1 & 2, see in vol.1, p. 611-42, Todd M. Compton's article as chapter 24: The Handclasp and Embrace as Tokens of Recognition. Stephen D. Ricks, & LeGrand L. Barker, Who Shall Ascend Into the Hill of the Lord? The Psalms In Israel's Temple Worship In The Old Testament & in the Book of Mormon, (SLC, Utah: Eborn Books, 2009). Jeffrey M. Bradshaw, Temple Themes In The Book of Moses, (SLC, Utah: Eborn Pub., 2010). Donald W. Parry, (Editor), many others providing research papers, Temples Of The Ancient World, Ritual & Symbolism, (SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Co., 1994, & Provo, Utah: FARMS). Hugu Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, Provo & SLC, Utah: FARMS, & Deseret Book Co., Vol.1: Old Testament & Related Subjects, (1986), Vol.4: Mormonism & Early Christianity, (1987), Nibley, What is a Temple, The Idea of a Temple in History, reprint by FARMS, Nibley, (IDE-T). From: The Millennial Star 120 (August 1958). Nibley, The Early Christian Church in the Light of Some Newly Discovered Papyri from Egypt, (Provo, Utah: FARMS reprint, 1985). From a talk given by Dr. Nibley during a Tri-State Fireside, BYU, March 3, 1964). Eugene Seaich, Notes On Ancient Temple Worship, (SLC, Utah: an unpublished research paper, LDS Research Library, CR?), p. 3-4. Cyril of Jerusalem, A.D. 386, A Library Of Fathers of the Holy Catholic Church, Lon.: John Henry Parker; J.G.F. Rivington, MDCCCXXXIX, Vol. II, p. 264-65, The Catechetical Lectures of S. Cyr il, Archbishop of Jerusalem, A.D. 386, Lecture XX, On the Mysteries, II, On the Rites of Baptism, verse 5). According to The Acts of John, John learned in secret different symbolical types of Christ's suffering: The Other Bible, Edited by Willis Barnstone, (San Francisco: Harper & Row, 1984), 419-20, Revelation of the Mystery of the Cross, from (Christian Apocrypha) The Acts of John; See also: John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, p. 26-27). Hackwood, Christ Lore, p. 117, people washing in the blood of Christ. From an old Florentine tract in defense of Savonarola. Richard Lewis & Susan I. Lewis, The Power of Art, p. 246, fig. 11-37, & page 247, fig. 11-38; Morey, Christian Art, (NY & Toronto: Longmans, Green Co., 1935), 86, The Harrowing of Hell: mosaic of about the 1100 A.D., in Saint Mark's Venice (Page 31), showing the stigmata in middle of Christ's hand as he raises Adam out of his grave. Robert Hughes, 1968, Heaven & Hell In Western Art, NY: Stein & Day/Publishers, p.76, Romanesque fresco, c. 1125, from the Church of the Holy Cross, Maderuelo, Spain. Prado, Madrid. Creation drama of Christ holding, with his left hand, the left wrist of Adam as if he is thrusting Adam's hand into his side to show him another area where his body will be wounded when he is crucified. Chandler Rathfon Post, A History of Spanish Painting, vol. IV-Part I, The Hispano-Flemish Style in North-Western Spain, (Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1933, reprinted in NY: Kraus Reprint Co., 1970), p.304, 306, fig. 115. Christ as the Man of Sorrows, displaying his wounds with upraised hands, with 2 angels, 1 on each side. Art work now in the Museum of the Colegiata at Covarrubias. School of Burgos. Pages 306-7, fig. 116; Post, (1950), Vol.10, The Early Renaissance in Andalusia, p.290, fig. 110. Andalusian School, 16th depiction of Christ delaying his wounds during the Mass of St. Gregory. Cathedral, Malaga; Post, (1935), vol. 6, Part 2, The Valencian School in The Late Middle Ages & Early Renaissance, p. 362, fig.150; p. 392, 394, fig. 164; p. 412, 415, fig. 174; p. 422-23, fig.179; p. 449-50, fig.190. Showing Christ's visit with his Mother after the ascension out of the underworld. Saint Christopher bearing the Christ-child. The Descent into hell, etc. Metford, Dictionary of Christian Lore & Legend, p. 166-67, Man of sorrows. Brian De Breffny & George Mott, The Churches & Abbeys of Ireland, (New York: W. W. Norton, & Co., CR 1976 Thames & Hudson LTD., London), p.87, tomb-niche at Strade, Co. Mayo. About the 13th-14th c. In the north wall of the Dominican friary a tomb has an engraving of 4 people on it. One is of Christ with both hands raised up as he displays his wounds. For additional depictions of the risen Lord displaying his wounds, while making different types of gestures, etc., see: Martin Davies, The Early Italian Schools, Before 1400, (National Gallery Catalogues), revised by Dillian Gordan, (Lon.: CR by the National Gallery 1988) , see pl. 52, Master of the Blessed Clare, Vision of the Blessed Clare of Rimini (No. 6503); Albert C. Barnes & Violette De Mazia, The French Primitives & Their Forms (From their Origin to the End of the 15th Century), (Merion, P.A., USA: Barnes Foundation Press, 1931), p. 271; Gothic & Renaissance Art in Nuremberg 1300-1550 by the Metropolitan Museum of Art, (NY & Germanisches Nationalmuseum, Nuremberg, CR 1986, Philippe de Montebello, Director), p.151, fig. 28, Master of the Bamberg Altarpiece, showing Christ as the man of sorrows, has his left hand raised, while his right arm is down & is extended out, he is being embraced by the Virgin Mary. John Pope-Hennessy, Italian Renaissance Sculpture, (Lon.: Phaidon Press, 1958), fig. 81, Verrocchio: Christ displays his wounds, detail in fig.57, San Michele, Florence; Otto Pacht, Book Illumination In The Middle Ages, p.34-35, figs.32-33; Roger Hinks, Carolingian Art (A study of early Medieval painting & sculpture in Western Europe), (Ann Arbor Paperbacks 1962, The Un. of Michigan Press), p.167, fig. a & b. XVI; Peter Brown, Society & The Holy In Late Antiquity, (Berkeley & Los Angeles: Un. of Calif. Press, 1982, p.258, & note 30, 10th c., depiction of gestures made during the mass. Brian De Breffny and George Mott, The Churches & Abbeys of Ireland, (NY: W. W. Norton, & Co., 1976, Thames & Hudson LTD., Lon.), p. 87, tomb-niche at Strade, Co. Mayo. About the 13-14 centuries A.D. In the north wall of the Dominican friary a tomb th has an engraving of 4 people on it. One is of Christ with both hands raised up as he displays his wounds. Martin Davies, revised by Dillian Gordan, The Early Italian Schools (Before 1400) , (National Gallery Catalogues) , (Lon.: National Gallery, 1988), pl.52, Master of the Blessed Clare, Vision of the Blessed Clare of Rimini (No. 6503); Albert C. Barnes & Violette De Mazia, The French Primitives & Their Forms (From their Origin to the End of the 15th Century), (Merion, P.A., U.S.A.: Barnes Foundation Press, 1931), p. 271; Gothic and Renaissance Art in Nuremberg 1300-1550 by the Metropolitan Museum of Art, N.Y., & Germanisches Nationalmuseum, Nuremberg, CR 1986 Philippe de Montebello, Director, see p. 151, fig. 28, Master of the Bamberg Altarpiece, showing Christ as the man of sorrows, has his left hand raised, while his right arm is down and is extended out, he is being embraced by the Virgin Mary. John Pope-Hennessy, Italian Renaissance Sculpture, (Lon.: Phaidon Press, 1958), fig.81, Verrocchio: Christ displays his wounds, detail fig. 57, San Michele, Florence. Otto Pacht, Book Illumination In The Middle Ages, p.34-5, figs.32-33; Roger Hinks, Carolingian Art, A study of early Medieval painting and sculpture in Western Europe, (Ann Arbor Paperbacks 1962, The Un. of Michigan Press), p.167, fig. a & b. XVI, Ivory panels with liturgical scenes, for a 10th century depiction of the celebration of the mass which depicts a number of people around the altar making different gestures, some of which are the same, if not similar to the gestures of Christ when he displays his wounds during post-resurrection visitations. The sign of the cross was also said to be a "sacramental gesture" plus a rites of passage gesture, which traditions say, Adam use to pass by the angel who guards the gates to paradise, after He and a host of others had been rescued by Christ out of hell. Christ showed them these rites of passage hand clasp, and the sign of the cross for this very reason. (Peter Brown, Society & The Holy In Late Antiquity, (Berkeley & Los Angeles, Calif.: Un. of Calif. Press, 1982), p.258, & note 30, see G. Millet, Les Iconoclastes et la Croix. A propos d'une inscription de Cappadoce. Bulletin de correspondance hellénique XXXIV (1910): 96-109. The Lost Books of the Bible & the Forgotten Books of Eden, 86-88. DVD commentaries on: Prophecies of the Passion, (A La Mirada Films Presentation, 2005). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, & Drama, (Ithaca & Lon.: Cornell Un. Press, 1985). Psa.28:2, 61:8, 73:23-24, 88:9-10, 116:18, 119:48, 134:2, Google image: orants in early Christian art works. Kenneth Clark, Civilisation, A Personal View, (New York and Evanston: Harper & Row, 1969), p.48, fig.35, p.29-30, fig.21. Gestures being made during masses. Also numerous examples of orants in: Emile Male, L' Art Religieux, De La Tin Du Moyen Age, En France, (Paris: Librairie Armand Colin, 1931). Male, Religious Art in France, the Twelfth Century, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1978), Bollingen Series XC. I. Male, 1986, Religious Art In France, The Late Middle Ages, (Princeton: Bollingen Series, Princeton Un. Press). L' Art Religieux Du XIIe Siecle En France, (Paris: Librairie Armand Colin, 1922). The Gothic Image, Religious Art in France of the Thirteenth Century, (New York: Cathedral Library, Harper Torchbooks, Harper & Brothers Publishers, 1913, 1958 ed., first published 1913, this ed., from the 3rd French ed., arranged by E. P. Dutton & Co., originally published under title: Religious Art in France of the Thirteenth Century, A Study in Mediaeval Iconography and its Sources of Inspiration.

4122- Isa.59:1-9, 17, Eph.4:22-32, 5:1-27, 6:11-32, 1 Pet.3:2-11, Rev.19:8, Rom.13:12, Matt.22:1-13, 1 John 3:1-11, 2 Pet. 1:3-14, 1 Tim.3:16, Col.1:10-29, 2:8-23, 3:4-16, Phil.3:10-21, 1 Cor.6:9-11, 14-20, 11:23-27, 12:12-27, 15:34-57, 2 Cor. 4:4-18, chap.5, Rom. 6:3-23, chap.8, 9:4-5, 12:1-5, 14:8-14.

4123- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All the Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: CFI 2005), 99-101, 138, n. 70: Shepherd of Hermas, Sim. 9, in Apostolic Fathers, 2:217-97, clothed in white garments, good, clothed in black not good, representing negative & positive traits. Rev.3:3-18, the body not clothed in good works, found naked & shamed, (Rev.16:15, Job 8:22), in contrast, the fine linen, white garments represent the righteousness of the saints, (Job. 29:14, Isa.11:5, 61:1-3, 8-10, Psa.132:9 & 16, Ezk.42:14, 44:13-19, Rev.19:8, 14). Those who don't repent remain filthy, (Rev.22:11-12). Need to be cleansed in Christ (the sacrificial lamb's blood, type of Christ's atonement), garments whitened, cleaned from the spots of sin. Psa.51:2, 7-19, Job 11:13-20, 15:7-16, (New Revised Standard version, Anglicized edition: Are you the first born of the human race? Were you brought before the hills? Have listened in the council of gods?) Jude 12, 21-24, Rev.1:5, 7:14-17. Blake Ostler, "Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity," in BYU Studies, Winter 1982, p.31-45. Darell Thorpe, The Garments Of The First And Second Adam: [The Symbolical Meanings Of Garments In Early To Later Christendom], October 1993, an unpublished research paper and file. Thorpe, The Armor of Gods (Protective Skins or Garments in History & Color Symbolism), (Kindle Edition, 2012).

4124- Oscar G. Brockett, History of the Theatre, (Boston, London, Sydney & Toronto: Allyn & Bacon, Inc., 1968, 1974, 1977, 1982, 4th ed.), 108, 116. 3rd ed., 1968, p.91, 97-98, 103-103. Ethelwold, Bishop of Winchester, The Monastic Agreement of the Monks & Nuns of the English Nation, trans., Barbara Spear. The complete work can be read in a translation made by Dom Thomas Symons, pub., by Oxford Un. Press, 1953).

4125- The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, vol. 13. p. 3 Ep.6; Vol. 10, p. 321-3, chap.6-7; Library of Fathers, Vol.2, pp.260-66, Lec. xix-xx.

4126- ANF, 2:231, Clement of Alexandria, The Instructor, book 1, chapter 9.

4127- Jude 12, 21-24, Rev.1:5, 7:14-17. Blake Ostler, "Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity," in BYU Studies, Winter 1982, p.31-45. Darell Thorpe, The Garments Of The 1st & 2nd Adam: [The Symbolical Meanings Of Garments In Early To Later Christendom], October 1993, an unpublished research paper and file. Thorpe, The Armor of Gods (Protective Skins or Garments in History & Color Symbolism), (Kindle Ed., 2012).

4128- Malachi 3:2, Isaiah 1:16-18, 63:1-6, Rev.19:7-16, Exodus 12:5, 21; Leviticus 14:10; 23:12. Ex.12:3-17; Isa.53:1-12; John 1:29, 36, Acts 8:32-35; 1 Pet.18-20; Rev.5:12-13, 7:13-17, 13:8, 21:9-27, 22:3. There are many art works that show below Christ on the cross, different ones washing their garments or clothing in the stream of Christ's blood that flows down from Christ crucified. See: Byzantine and Russian Painting, Kostas Papaioannou, Trans. by Janet Sondheim, Pub. by Funk & Wagnalls, N.Y., p.82-3, & 90-1; Christ Lore, Being the Legends Traditions Myths Symbols Customs & Superstitions of The Christian Church, by Fredk. WM. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Pub. in Lon. 1902, Elliot Stock, repub. by Gale Research Co. Book Tower, Detroit, 1969, p.117, "Washing in the Blood of Christ. From an old Florentine tract in defense of Savonarola." And: The Encyclopedia Of Visual Art, Biographical Dictionary of Artists, by Limburg Brothers - Francisco Ribalta, Pub. by Encyc. Britannica Intern., LTD., Lon., Vol.6, p.32.) At the foot of the cross, is a scull, which may perhaps be a traditional symbol for the tradition of Adam's grave. The first man, Adam's remains washed by drops of blood from the cross, by Christ's atonement, 1 Cor.15:12-54, & Christ's victory over death in the descent & resurrection (Eph.4:7-10, 1 Pet.3:15-22). See also: Ivory Carvings In Early Medieval England, by John Beckwith, 1972, Harvey Miller & Medcalf, p.84, fig. 152. "Deposition. English (Hereford), about 1150. London, Victoria and Albert Museum [Cat. 88]". Another scull is depicted here at the foot of the cross. Washing clothing in blood types is mentioned in Genesis 49:11-12, in the King James Version, "washed his garments in wine; and his clothes in the blood of grapes". Which reminds us of Christ trampling in the wine press alone, where they would crush grapes, the fluid would flow down into containers. This was a type of Christ's working out the atonement alone. In some art works, Christ is in the wine press, while people wash their garments in the stream of blood color grape fluid flowing from Christ's work to crush and trample the juice from the grapes. *Rev. 14:19-20; Isaiah 63:3, Karen Boren and Teri Williams, Messiah of the Winepress: Christ & the Red Heifer, (Beit Parah Pub., 2002). The Catecheses by Saint John Chrysostom, bishop. <http://liturgyhours.wordpress.com/>). The Forgotten Books of Eden, The First Book of Adam & Eve, 28-42, 68-74. Rev.7:13-15, Isa.1:15-20. Archaeological Discoveries, (Relative to the Judeo-Christianity), Historical Survey by Ignazio Mancini, O.F.M., Pub. Studium Biblicum Franciscanum, Collection minor #10, Jerusalem, 1970, 165-70, & fig.39, p.166, Adam under Calvary, medieval miniature of Valenciennes, (from LTS 1965, p. 278). Darell Thorpe, The Garments Of The First And Second Adam: [The Symbolical Meanings Of Garments In Early To Later Christendom], October 1993, an unpublished research paper and file. Thorpe, The Christ In Santa Unmasked [How Modern Traditions & Legends About Santa Can Be Traced Back To The Early Christian Doctrine That Christ Went to Other Nations Around The World], (CR 1994, revised December 1995). Thorpe, *Christ's Pilgrimage Unto the Ends of the Earth (1996). Jesus Christ, The World Wide Wounded Wanderer, (CR 1992, 1998, Revised 2011, 2ND Ed. 2013, First illustrated Edition, 3rd Text, 12-12-2013). Ellis T. Rasmussen, (General Director), Reflections on Mormonism, Judeo-Christian Parallels, (Provo, Utah & BYU, Religious Studies Center, 1978), Papers Delivered at the Religious Studies Center Symposium, BYU, March 10-11, 1978), 99-137, 155-173, paper by Edmond LaB. Cherbonnier, In Defense of Anthropomorphism, & paper by James H. Charlesworth, Messianism in the Pseudepigrapha and the Book of Mormon.

4129- *Isa. 59:1-18, 61:1-3, 10, 63:1-3, 11-13, Psa. 132:9, Ezk.44:17, Rev.3:3, 7:13-14, 19:7-9, Heb. chap. 1, 9:3-28, c.10, Jude 6-25. Willis Barnstone, (Editor), The Other Bible, (San Fran., Calif.: Harper & Row, 1984, 2005), 87-100, 290-298, 308-313. Willis Barnstone & Marvin Meyer, (Editors), The Gnostic Bible, Gnostic Texts of Mystical Wisdom from the Ancient and Medieval Worlds, (Boston & London: Shambhala, 2003, 2009, Revised Edition, to include the Gospel of Judas), 277-318, 406-414. Jeffrey M. Bradshaw, Temple Themes In the Book of Moses, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Publishing, 2010). Stephen D. Ricks, & LeGrand L. Barker, Who Shall Ascend Into the Hill of the Lord? The Psalms In Israel's Temple Worship In The Old Testament and in the Book of Mormon, SLC, Utah: Eborn Books, 2009, 36, 47-458. Huge Nibley, collected works vol. 16: The Message of the Joseph Smith Papyri, An Egyptian Endowment, (Provo & SLC, Utah: FARMS, & Deseret Book Co., 2005, 2nd ed.), 456-532. Gregory of Nyssa, On the Baptism of Christ, <http://www.newadvent.org/fathers/2910.htm>. Cyril of Jerusalem, Lectures on the Mysteries, <https://archive.org/details/CyriJJCatLects01> - <http://www.ccel.org/ccel/schaff/npnf207.ii.xxiii.html> Jeffrey M. Bradshaw, Temple Themes In the Book of Moses, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Publishing, 2010), 17-22, 26-59, 63, 67, 77-89, 115-19, 122-26, 149-57, 171, 188-92. William J. Hamblin, "Aspects of an Early Christian Initiation Ritual," Blake Ostler, "Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity," in BYU Studies, Winter 1982, p.31-45. <http://ica.themorgan.org/manuscript/page/30/77118> - Morgan Lib. & Museum, NY, Medieval & Renaissance Manuscripts, Book of Hours, Paris France, 1485-90, MS M.231 fol. 137r. <http://medieval.tumblr.com/post/1043075716/this-is-just-right-out-rhea137-making-visible> - <http://perpetuummobile.tumblr.com/page/4> - Annunciation, where a naked spirit baby of Christ descends down to Mary. Ensoulment. As to when the spirit enters the body. http://www.sites.hps.cam.ac.uk/visibleembryos/s1_3.html Darell Thorpe, The Garments Of The First And Second Adam: [The Symbolical Meanings Of Garments In Early To Later Christendom], October 1993, an unpublished research paper and file. Thorpe, The Armor of Gods (Protective Skins or Garments in History & Color Symbolism), (Kindle Edition, 2012). *1 Esdras 1:1, 4:42-44, 5:56, Leviticus. Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 84-119. Margaret Barker, (research paper), Temple Music, (Temple Studies Group, May 2009). J. Eugene Seach, Ancient Texts and Mormonism, (Murray, Utah: Sounds of Zion, 1983). Seach, *The Heavenly Council, Mysteries and Sacred Ordinances, (unpublished research paper), 1 Chron. 28:18, 2 Chron. 3:14, temple-veil.

4130- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 78, 218, n. 23-25, bib. 242: Adolph Harnack, History of Dogma, (NY: Dover, 1961, trans. Neil Buchman), 7 vols., 1:113-14, 3:2-3, Carl Gustav Adolf von Harnack (7 May 1851 – 10 June 1930) was a German Lutheran theologian and prominent church historian. Adolf von Harnack, History of Dogma, (London: Williams & Norgate, 1894), 7 vols., trans. from 3rd German ed., by Neil Buchanan. Internet Archives: https://archive.org/details/historydogma01harngoog_1, <https://archive.org/details/historyofdog02harn> - 2. Other editions & other translators <https://archive.org/search.php?query=Adolf%20von%20Harnack%2C%20History%20of%20Dogma> - https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Adolf_von_Harnack

4131- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 74, 217, n.12, Edwin Hatch, The Influence of Greek Ideas on Christianity, 1890 reprint, Gloucester, Mass.: Peter Smith, 1970, 244-45.

4132- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 71, 77-78.

4133- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 224–232. Richard R. Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, (USA, Utah: Cedar Fort Inc., 2009). Mark E. Petersen, The Unknown God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1978), 37–50.

4134- Mark E. Petersen, The Unknown God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1978), 3-4, 15-40. Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 115-16, 221, notes 21-23, p. 240: Edmond LaB Cherbonnier, "In Defense of Anthropomorphism," In Reflections on Mormonism: Judaean-Christian Parallels, ed. By Truman G. Madsen, p. 155-73, (Provo, Ut.: Religious Studies Center, BYU, 1978), p. 191-95.

4135- Did the earliest anti-Christians amongst the Jews also know, & rejected the earliest Christians' beliefs in deification? Perfection? They did have different ones going around keeping track of Christ's sayings, so they could find faults with his teachings. Doing so, because they perceived him to be just the "carpenter's son," but also that he was possessed with a devil, & thus couldn't be "the son of God," or another "god," especially a man-god, or God in the form of a man. They rejected that idea, & thus accused him of being a drunk, & his miracles, sometimes, even before their eyes, as being done by the power of the devil, or because he & John the Baptist, were possessed of a devil. (Matt.11:4-6, 18-19 (Christ a drunk?), 12:22-45, 13:54-58, 22:15-22, 57-68, 26:21, Mark 14:57-58, Luke 11:53-54, 19:22, 20:20, John 2:18-22, 6:26-69, 10:31-42, 15:18-20, Acts 2:1-15, 6:8-15). Thus, did the early anti-Christians know about the earliest Christian teachings about deification, how that they believed, that upon being repentant, cleansed of sins, & developing Christ like traits, & perfected too, that they could become like Christ, & become Gods & Goddesses? Celsus, who cites the Jewish critics who wrote against the early Christians, notes how the early Christians talk of becoming perfect. So if he got the rejected concept from earlier Jewish critics, did they also know about the doctrine of deification too? They certainly rejected Christ for being a god-maker, (John 10:23-39). Matthew 5:48, John 17:20-23; Matthew 13:43. R. Joseph Hoffmann, Celsus On The True Doctrine, A Discourse Against the Christians, translated by Hoffmann, (Oxford Un. Press, 1987), 18, 58-9; 73-4, & The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 4, Origen Against Celsus, p. 423-8, 439, 475, 486-88, 509, 547, 550-1, 563, 593-4, 646-7, 658, especially book 3 chap. IV-IX. See: Christianity & Classical Culture, by Charles Norris Cochrane, 1st Pub. by Clarendon Press 1940, Paper back ed. Oxford Un. Press in 1957, p.266-7, deification an old worn out myth, believed by the pagans & Romans, who believed their Caesars to be god-men. Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, (NY: Simon & Schuster, 1940s-1950s), 11 vols., 3: Caesar & Christ, (1944), p.226-7, 256, 260, 266, 269, 274, 280, 291-2, 309, 388, 430, 432, 523, 623, 640-1, 646, "deification" p.716.

4136- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 95. Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (New York, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993), 14, 181-261.

4137- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 34, 410, notes 40-41: The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 3:197, 237, 649, Tertullian, 140-230 A.D.

4138- Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (New York, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993), 14, 19-46, 181-261.

4139- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 35-36, 396, 410, notes 43-44: Kent P. Jackson, From Apostasy to Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 1996, 15. Frederic W. Farrar, The Early Days of Christianity, (Lon., Paris & NY: Cassell, Petter, Galpin & Co., 1882), 2 vols., 1:208.

4140- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 95.

4141- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 95, n.22 on p. 220, & p. 247 of bib. Catherine M. Thomas, (Thomas, M. Catherine), "The Influence of Asceticism on the Rise of Christian Text, Doctrine, and Practice in the First Two Centuries." (Provo, Utah: BYU, 1989), Ph.D., diss., p. 107, chap.3.

4142- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 95, n. 23, on p. 220, & 247: Catherine M. Thomas, (Thomas, M. Catherine), "The Influence of Asceticism on the Rise of Christian Text, Doctrine, and Practice in the First Two Centuries." (Provo, Utah: BYU, 1989), Ph.D., diss., p. 111-12.

4143- Noel B. Reynolds, (Ed.), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: FARMS & BYU Press, 2005), 244–46. Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 6-7.

4144- Diane E. Wirth, Weaving Golden Threads, Early Christianity and its Restoration, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Books, 2015), intro, xiv-xv, notes 4-5, p.193. Origen, Commentary, in Mattaeum 15.14. J. P. Migne, Patrologia Cursus Completus, Series Graeca (Paris: 1857-1866, 161 vols), 13:1293. Leon Vaganay and Christian-Bernard Amphoux, An Introduction to New Testament Criticism, 2nd ed., (Cambridge Un. Press, 1991), 95. Bart D. Ehrman, Misquoting Jesus, The Story Behind Who Changed the Bible & Why, (NY: Harper San Francisco, A Division of Harper Collins Publishers, 2005), Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1993).

4145- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994, 51-119. Diane E. Wirth, Weaving Golden Threads, Early Christianity & its Restoration, SLC, Utah: Eborn Books, 2015, intro. xv, 193, n. 6: Donald W. Parry, "The Dead Sea Scrolls Bible," in Studies in the Bible & Antiquity, vol. 2, (Provo, Utah: Neal A. Maxwell Institute, BYU, 2010), 2:12-3. Radio show on KTKK 630 AM, Religion on the Line, K-Talk, South Jordan, Utah, Van Hale, guest, Martin Tanner, host, 4-12-1992. Van Hale talked about how Christ had got in trouble with the Jews of his time, for calling God the Father, his literal Father, using words that they had used for their own earthly fathers, when they talked to their fathers, Abba-Father. Plus how passages of the old were interpreted differently by Christ, by the New Testament period. John 10:15-42. Acts 2:1-15, 6:10-13, Mark 15:57-58, Luke 19:27, 20:20, Matt.22:15-22, 26:21, John 2:18-22, 6:6-66. Richard R. Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted

- the Christian Concept of God, (USA, Utah: Cedar Fort Inc., 2009).
- 4146- Noel Reynolds Early Christians In Disarray Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy Provo Ut.: FARMS & BYU Press 2005, 241–42 n.5-6 p.242, David Paulsen Divine Embodiment: The Earliest Christian Understanding of God. Adolf Harnack History of Dogma NY: Dover 1961, 1:180 n.1. 2:255 n.5.
- 4147- Richard R. Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, (USA, Utah: Cedar Fort Inc., 2009), 100–101, foot note 32: Polycarp, Epistle to the Philippians, 7.
- 4148- William G. Rusch, The Trinitarian Controversy, (Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1980). James L. Barker, Apostasy From The Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 221–424. Noel B. Reynolds, (Editor), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research & Mormon Studies, and Brigham Young University Press, 2005), 163–293, 345–54. Kent P. Jackson, From Apostasy to Restoration, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1996), 13–18, 25, 33–51, 54–56. Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions and the Rise of Mormonism, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1970), 7–17, 30–35, 41, 51–52, 77–78, 110, 123, 147, 178, 189, 197, 202, 207–10, 241–42. Lenet H. Read's series of articles entitled: How the Bible Came to Be, published in The Ensign, during January 1982–September 1982, (Salt Lake City, Utah: The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, 1982). Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (Ben Lomond, California: Foundation for Apologetic Information & Research, F.A.I.R., 1999), 75–165. Berard L. Marthaler, O.F.M. Conv., The Creed, (Mystic, Connecticut: Twenty-Third Publications, 1987, second printing, Sept., 1987). Roland H. Bainton, Behold the Christ, (U.S.A.: Harper, 1974).
- 4149- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 221–411. The Ante-Nicene Fathers (Grand Rapids, Michigan: T & T Clark, Edinburgh, W. M. B. Eerdmans Publishing, reprinted October 1989), 9 vols. The Nicene and Post-Nicene Fathers, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: W. M. B. Eerdmans, reprinted April 1986), 14 vols. Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005). William Steuart McBirnie, The Search for the Twelve Apostles, (Illinois: Living Books, Tyndale House Publishers, Inc., 1973).
- 4150- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994, 93, 219, n.20, p. 219. James M. Robinson, The Nag Hammadi Library In English, San Fran., Calif.: Harper & Row, 1977, 104-123.
- 4151- Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (New York, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993).
- 4152- Willis Barnstone, (Editor), The Other Bible, (San Francisco, California: Harper & Row, 1984). Willis Barnstone & Marvin Meyer, (Editors), The Gnostic Bible, Gnostic Texts of Mystical Wisdom from the Ancient and Medieval Worlds, (Boston & London: Shambhala, 2003, 2009, Revised Edition, to include the Gospel of Judas). Elaine Pagels, Beyond Belief, The Secret Gospel of Thomas, (New York: Random House, 2003). Elaine Pagels, The Gnostic Gospels, (New York: Random House, 1979). Charles Francis Potter, (Rev. & Dr.), The Lost Years of Jesus Revealed, From the Dead Sea Scrolls and the Nag-Hammadi discoveries, (Greenwich, Conn.: A Fawcett Gold Medal Book, Fawcett Publications, Inc., 1958, 1962). James M. Robinson, The Nag Hammadi Library In English, (San Francisco, California: Harper & Row, 1977).
- 4153- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 221–412. Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (New York, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993). Richard R. Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, (USA, Utah: Cedar Fort Inc., 2009). Jaroslav Pelikan, Jesus Through the Centuries, His Place in the History of Culture, (New Haven & London: Yale University Press, 1985). Roland H. Bainton, Behold the Christ, (U.S.A.: Harper, 1974). Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (Ben Lomond, California: Foundation for Apologetic Information & Research, F.A.I.R., 1999), 75–165, chapter 3, The Doctrine of God and the Nature of Man. Noel B. Reynolds, (Editor), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research & Mormon Studies, & BYU Press, 2005), 205–293.
- 4154- Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (New York, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993).
- 4155- R. Joseph Hoffmann, Celsus On The True Doctrine, A Discourse Against the Christians, Oxford Un. Press, 1987, a reconstruction of a 2nd century A.D. early anti-Christian work, see p. 18, 58-9; 73-4, etc. & ANF, 4, Origen Against Celsus, 423-8, 439, 475, 486., 487-8, 509, 547, 550-1, 563, 593-4, 646-7, 658. Origen Against Celsus, p.593 book 6, chap. xlv, p. 593-4, book 6 chap. xlv, p.601 book 6, chapter lxi, p.626, see also p.621. chapter 27, p.602 chapter lxiii, p.617 book 7, chapter xvi, (Heb.12:22-3), p.641 book 8 chapter 4-5, p.645-8 book 8 chapter 17-22, p. 668 chap. lxxiv, p.658 book 8 chapter L.
- 4156- Robert L. Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, Yale Un. Press; New Haven and London, 1984. Stephen Benko, Pagan Rome & The Early Christians, (Indiana Un. Press, 1984). In 1954, Hugh Nibley delivered a series of weekly lectures on KSL Radio. The series called "Time Vindicates the Prophets." Listen to the section on the Nicene Creed era. James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 241–42, n.5–8: Louis Marie Oliver Abbe Duchesne, Histoire Ancienne de l' Eglise, (Paris: Fontemoing & Cie., 1911, 5th edition), 3 vols., 2: 128–38. Stan-Michel Pellistrandi, The Early Christian Civilization, (Forni, Geneva: 1978, California, USA: Paradise Found Books, English edition). Robin Lane Fox, Pagans & Christians, (NY: Alfred A. Knopf Inc., 1987). Oscar G. Brockett, History of the Theatre, (Boston, London, Sydney & Toronto: Allyn & Bacon, 1968, 1974, 1977, 1982, 4th ed.), 82–84. John Russell Brown, The Oxford Illustrated History of Theatre, Oxford, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1995, 63–64. Mildren Cornell Luckhardt, The Church Through the Ages, A Primer of Church History, N Y: Association Press, 1951, 20, 34–38. Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, (NY: Simon & Schuster, 1940s), 11 vols, 3: Caesar & Christ, p. 598, 606–08, 658–61. William G. Rusch, The Trinitarian Controversy, (Philad.: Fortress Press, 1980). Dr. Hugh Nibley, 1987, The World of the Prophets, in The Collected Works of Hugh Nibley, (Provo & SLC, Ut: Deseret Book Co., & FARMS), 3:48-51, & 301-2, citing PG, 26:684, 688-9, 760. J.-P. Migne, Patrologiae Cursus Completus... Series Latina = PL, (Paris: 1844-1864), 221 vols, 10:566-68.
- 4157- James Barker Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC Utah: DNP, 1960, 241–42, n.5–8: Louis Marie Oliver Abbe Duchesne, Histoire Ancienne de l' Eglise, Paris: Fontemoing & Cie., 1911, 5th ed., 3 vols., 2:128–38.
- 4158- James Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC Utah: DNP, 1960, 242, 244.
- 4159- James Barker Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC Utah: DNP, 1960, 270, n.30: Fernand Mourret, Histoire Générale de l' Eglise, (Paris: Bloud & Gay, 1921–1938), 9 vols., 2:104.
- 4160- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book, 2006, 109.

- 4161- James Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC Utah: DNP, 1960, 239.
- 4162- Joseph F. McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Ut.: Bookcraft 1994, 110, 220, n. 8, p. 245: David L. Paulsen, "Early Christian Belief in a Corporeal Deity: Origen and Augustine as Reluctant Witnesses." Harvard Theological Review, 83 (1990): 105-16, p. 109.
- 4163- James Barker Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC Utah: DNP, 1960, 238–512. William G. Rusch, The Trinitarian Controversy, Philad.: Fortress Press, 1980. Bart Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (New York, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993). Noel B. Reynolds, (Editor), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, Provo, Utah: FARMS, & BYU Press, 2005, 239– 293, Paul L. Paulsen, Divine Embodiment: The Earliest Christian Understanding of God. Barry Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, Ben Lomond, Calif.: FAIR, 1999, 75–165, chap.3: The Doctrine of God & the Nature of Man.
- 4164- James Barker Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC Utah: DNP, 1960, 67, n.35: Ign. Smyrnaeans, II, iii.
- 4165- James Barker Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC Utah: DNP, 1960, 67, n.36: Ign. Trallians, IX.
- 4166- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 68, foot notes 38–39: Tixeront, Histoire des Dogmes..., Vol. I, p. 279, 458–59.
- 4167- James Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: DNP, 1960, 221–512, 566–615. Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions & the Rise of Mormonism, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Co., 1970, 8–248.
- 4168- Roland H. Bainton, Behold the Christ, (U.S.A.: Harper, 1974). James Hall, Illustrated Dictionary of Symbols in Eastern and Western Art, (New York, New York: HarperCollins Publishers, 1994, originally published in Great Britain in 1994 by John Murray, CR 1994 by James Hall, IconEditions, an Imprint of HarperCollins Publishers), 102, 105 & 121. Geoffrey Barraclough, The Christian World, (London, England: Thames & Hudson, and New York: Harry N. Abrams, 1981), 10, depicting a Tyrolean folk painting showing the Trinity as 3 identical faces, on one head. Frederick Buechner, The Faces of Jesus, (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1974), photo Lee Boltin, p.216, 3-faced, one head depiction. To name just a few examples in many. Carl Van Treeck and Aloysius Croft, M.A., Symbols in the Church, 1936. Clara Erskine Clement, edited by Katherine E. Conway, A Handbook Of Christian Symbols And Stories Of The Saints As Illustrated In Art, (Boston; New York: Houghton Mifflin Company, The Riverside Press Cambridge, 1871, 1881, and 1886). George Ferguson, Signs & Symbols In Christian Art, (New York: Oxford University Press, 1959). Heather Child and Dorothy Colles, 1971, Christian Symbols Ancient & Modern, (Charles Scribner's Sons, Great Britain).
- 4169- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought & the Art in France & the Netherlands in the 14th & 15th Centuries, Lon.: The Folio Soc., 1998, 142–43, 319 of bibli.: Jean Gerson, Opera omnia, ed., L. Ellices du Pin, ed. II, Hagae Comitit, 1728, 5 vols. vol. I, Contra vanam curiositatem.
- 4170- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994, 165.
- 4171- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 165-66.
- 4172- Matt. chaps. 5-7, 13:10-15, 19:4-6, 11:28-46, Mark 3:22-27 Christ casting out devils, was likened unto him entering the devil's house to hand & wrist-grasp, those resurrected, rescued & set free from the Devil's prison-house, thus, a house divided against itself, can't stand. (Houses joined, garment imagery, those who opposed Paul, didn't joined the church, he shook his raiment, symbolic that he shook their sins & blood from his garments, & that their blood was upon their own heads for rejecting the gospel message, Acts 18:6-8). The unity type being that if a kingdom (be it the devil's or Christ's) is divided, because in the case of Christ's kingdom, the people don't keep his sayings, or commandments, because they have built their house upon the sand, rather than a firm foundation, such divisions will cause their house to fall. That's the building imagery here in these passages, (see also: Luke 11:14-23). But Christ admits that his teachings will cause divisions in families between those family members who want to continue in sin, & those who want to follow Christ's teachings, change their lives for Christ's better way, (Luke 12:48-53, John 6:66-71). Sometimes the unity was disturbed by greed, lying & other issues, (Acts 1:14, they prayed with one accord, they were a multitude of one heart and one soul, distributed their possession so that they could have all things in common, 4:32. But then there were some amongst them that caused issues, 5:1-11, by negative traits, keeping back parts of their donations, lying, etc. Helping hand, for righteous, shortened hand for wicked, not clasped, not brought together because of disobedience, iniquities, etc., (Acts 7:25, Rom.10:21, Isa.59:1-17, 41:13, 42:6-8, Psa. 17:7, 18:20-26, 35-36, 24:3-10, (Christ's hand clasping descent into hell passage). Psa. 37:23-24, 60:5, 73:23-24, 98:1, 108:6, 109:26-27, 118:13-16, 136:12, 138:7, Stephen D. Ricks, & LeGrand L. Barker, Who Shall Ascend Into the Hill of the Lord? The Psalms In Israel's Temple Worship In The Old Testament and in the Book of Mormon, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Books, 2009). Cleave unto the Lord, Acts 11:21-24. Resurrection symbolism was in how that the body would no longer see corruption, for the spirit would not be divided from the resurrected body again, (Acts 13:30-37). Contention in the church was not wanted because it caused divisions, people to depart & separate from each other, Acts 15:39). Wolves dividing & scattering the flock, Acts 20:28-32, thus he built them up, (building types), & warned them about not being scattered by false teachers, (wolves), 2 Cor.2:17, 42, 2 Pet. 2:1-2). Not in agreement with Paul's missionary activities, his message rejected, symbolized by the people & Paul leaving each other, & the people casting-off their clothing & throwing dust in the air, (Acts 22:20-23). One body consisting of many members, expected to become one in agreement & unity, Rom.12:4-9, cleave unto that which is good, (hand grasping type). Members to keep themselves together by keeping the commandments, putting on Christ (garment type), being held up, able to stand, & not fall away, because of the saving hand of God holds up those to help make them stand fast, (Rom.13:8-14, 14L1-4). May God grant that the members be like minded one towards another, with one mind and one mouth glorify God, as Christ received us to the glory of God, (Rom.15:5-7, received unto glory often is depicted with hand & wrist grasping, more unity symbolism). Rom.6:8-20, keep unity in the body of Christ by not doing evil things to each other, being joined unto the Lord, one spirit type unity with him, not joined to a harlot, for your bodies are the members of Christ, & your body is a type of Temple of God that shouldn't be defiled, (1 Cor. 6:8-20). The body is like a type of church membership that should be in agreement & should not say the other members aren't needed, for what divides the body is contentions, & thus let no schism be in the body. For there are many members, yet one body, (1 Cor.12). Christ raised from the dead, is on the Father's right hand, (Eph.1:20). Bridging the gap, making the far near, or nigh, by keeping hand & wrist grasping covenants, thus made both one, with the wall of partition broken down, (like the broken down doors & gates of hades, limbo, purgatory, to), draw in, by hand & wrist grasping covenant making, & keeping, to make this oneness, the unity of those many members brought unto God in one body. Thus saved, they have access by one Spirit unto the Father, & are brought to God the Father, by Christ, his Son, having remained no more outsiders, but fellow citizens of the house hold of God, jointly fitted & framed like unto a temple in the Lord, (Eph. 2:12-22, Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986), Isaiah 42:5-7. 2nd series, N&PNF, 12:163-69, 176, 179, 182-3, 188 & 190, Leo the Great.

H. Clay Trumbull, D.D., The Blood Covenant, A Primitive Rite and its Bearings on Scriptures, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1885). <https://archive.org/details/bloodcovenantap04trumgoog> - J. Eugene Seach, The Heavenly Council, Mysteries and Sacred Ordinances, (unpublished research paper). The wall partition, bridging the gap, is sometimes depicted as hand clasping over a wall, like at the Roermont Cemetery. Plus the Last Judgment depiction, by Maestro de Loreto Aprutino, 1550s, Fresco in Church of Santa Maria in Piano. Arms reaching out to each other about to clasp on a infant baptism mode baptismal font, small but used for 3 immersions of infants, symbolizing the new life in Christ, (Christian-Art, vol. 1, #5, p. 204-5, Aug. 1907, "English fonts & covers," by Rev. P. H. Ditchfield, Locking somerset. The square font has 4 people reaching out towards each others' hands. Is it before the hand clasping, like in baptismal-resurrection types, or is it closing the gap types?). Further oneness symbolism, is in wedding types, two hands on two rings clasping together to become one hand clasp, they shall be one-flesh, (Eph. 5:22-33, also garment types, not having wrinkles, presented to the Lord, not having the spots of sin on the garments. Standing fast with one spirit, one mind, being one accord, (Philip. 1:27, 2:2). All these types were not to be considered as cramming many members literally into one body, but they were to be one in agreement with the Lord, & keep his commandments & covenants, that he may draw them into one fold.

4173- Arnold Toynbee, (Editor), The Crucible of Christianity, Judaism, Hellenism and The Historical Background to the Christian Faith, (New York, and Cleveland, World Publishing Company, CR Thames & Hudson, 1969). John Ferguson, An Illustrated Encyclopedia of Mysticism and the Mystery Religions, (New York, New York: A Continuum Book; The Seabury Press, 1977). Milton R. Hunter, The Gospel Through the Ages, SLC, Utah: Stevens & Wallis, 1945, 185-239. Francis Legge, Forerunners And Rivals Of Christianity, (From 330 B.C. TO 330 A.D.), 2 Volumes as 1, (New Hyde Park, New York: University Books, 1964). Acts 13:6-11, 8:9-24, Simon the Magician. Huge Nibley, Since Cumorah, The Book of Mormon In the Modern World, (SLC, Ut.: Deseret Book, 1967 & 1976), 96-126. Joseph Campbell, The Mythic Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, Bollingen Series C, 1974, second printing, 1975, paper back printing 1981), 296-299. Robin Lane Fox, Pagans and Christians, (New York: Alfred A. Knopf Inc., 1987). Stephen Benko, Pagan Rome And The Early Christians, (Indiana: Indiana University Press, 1984). Rev. Alexander Hislop, The Two Babylons (or The Papal Worship Proved to be the Worship of Nimrod and His Wife), (England: A & C Black, LTD., 1916; American editions, Neptune, New Jersey: Loizeaux Brothers, 1943 and 1956). Darell Thorpe, The Mystery Behind the Mysteries, Ritualistic Realm Pilgrims In early to later Christian Mysteries, (1996—1997, unpublished college paper, SLCC, Utah, for Special Studies class). S. Angus, The Mystery Religions & Christianity, https://archive.org/details/TheMysteryReligions_S.Angus

4174- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All the Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 99-101, 138, n. 70: Shepherd of Hermas, Sim. 9, in Apostolic Fathers, 2:217-97. See also: Eph. 1:18-23, chaps 2-4. 1 Cor. 12.

4175- Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1940s-1950s), 11 vols, 3: Caesar & Christ (1944), p.582-589, see Paul's letter to the Galatians.

4176- H. Clay Trumbull, D.D., The Blood Covenant, A Primitive Rite & its Bearings on Scriptures, NY: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1885). <https://archive.org/details/bloodcovenantap04trumgoog> - John Page-Phillips, Macklin's Monumental Brasses, Including a bibliography and a list of figure brasses remaining in churches in the United Kingdom, (Lon.: George Allen and Unwin LTD, 1969, 2nd ed. 1972). George Frederick Kunz, Ph.D., Sc.D., A.M., 1917, Rings For the Finger, From the Earliest Known Times to the Present, With Full Descriptions of the Origin, Early Making, Materials, The Archaeology, History, For Affection, For Love, For Engagement, For Weddings, Commemorative, Mourning, Etc., (NY: Dover Pub. 1973, orig. pub. in 1917 by J. B. Lippincott) Co., & 1945, Mrs. Ruoy Kunz Zinsser). You Tube: Rare Flix series: There is no Evidence, That there are no Evidences, (SLC, Utah: MMM or 3rd Millennium Music/Movie Makers, & Religious, Historical & Polemical Studies, R.H.&P.S., 2017). Evidences for the Restored Gospel, Series #1, 9-19-2017). Françoise Robin, Docteur ès lettres, La Cour d' Anjou-Provence, La vie aristocratique sous le règne de René, (Picard Editeur, 1985), fig. 124. Ibidem fol. 182: Marriage d'Emilie et de Palamon. Shows the religious leader grasping the wrist of the couple to bring their right hands together to make the clasp. The George A. Hearn Collection of Carved Ivories, 1908, 125, fig.97. Triptych. Marriage of Joseph & Mary. Ivory carving. Cleric grasped bride's wrist to join right hands of couple. Jahrbuch Der Berliner Museen, Jahrbuch der Preussischen Kunstsammlungen Neue Folge, Elfter Band 1969, (Berlin: Im Gemeinschaftsverlag G. Grote'sche Verlagsbuchhandlung KG - Gebr. Mann), 129, Abb. 49-50. Bible moralisée; Oxford, Bodl, 270 b. fol. 152 und 154. Marriage, cleric grasps both right wrists of a couple, that grip each others' right hands. Ignace Vandevivere, Professor at the Catholic Un. of Louvain, & Catheline Perrier-d' Ieteren, Photos by Hugues Boucher, Renaissance Art In Belgium, Architecture, Monumental Art, (Brussels: Marc Vokaer Pub. 1973), 81, 86-87. Hal, Church of St. Martin, reredos of Jean Mone. Part of a depiction of the 7 sacraments. Refined Italian style. Right to right wedding-clasp. Kurt Weitzmann, Editor, Age of Spirituality, Late Antique & Early Christian Art, 3rd to 7th Century, (NY: NY Metropolitan Museum of Art, exhibit 11-19-1977 - 2-12 1978), 413, no. 371. Place of origin, unknown, about 300-310 marble of Adam & Eve clasping right hands in marriage. Velletri, Museo Civico, 171. (Reekmans, 1958, 65. L'union dans le péché). Page 283, fig. 261. 4th c., inscription: VIVATIS IN DEO, a formula used since the days of Clement of Alexandria in Christian wedding ceremonies. Bibliography in Age of Spirituality: Frances & Joseph Gies, Daily Life in Medieval Times, A Vivid, Detailed Account of Birth, Marriage and Death; Food, Clothing & Housing; Love & Labor in the Middle Ages, NY: Barnes & Noble Books, 1969, 1974, illust. ed., 1990, 248-9, 262-3. British Library Series No. 3: The Benedictines in Britain, (Great Russell Street, Lon.: The British Library, 1980), 56-57. Muriel Clayton, M.A., Brass Rubbings, Victoria & Albert Museum, Catalogue of Rubbings of Brasses and Incised Slabs, (Lon.: Her Majesty's Stationery Office, 1968), plate 6, c. 1380. Sir J. de la Pole and wife, gripping each others' right hands. Essex. Plate 9, Sir J. Harsick and wife. Southacre, Norfolk. A.D. 1384. Plate 12. R. de Frevile and wife, Little Shelford, Cambs. A.D. 1410, right hands. Plate 14. J. Hauley and two wives, St. Saviour, Dartmouth. A. D. 1408, right hands. Plate 15. Baron Camoys and wife, Troateon, Sussex. A. D. 1419. Right hands gripping. Plate 16. P. Halle and wife, Herne, Kent. A. D. 1430. Right hands. Plate 25. Sir W. Mauntell and wife, Nether Heyford, Northants. A. D. 1487. Right hands. Plate 40. R. Torryington and wife, Gt. Berkhamstead, Herts. A. D. 1356. Right hands. Plate 48. G. Coles & 2 wives, St. Sepulchre, Northampton.

4177- 1000 Evidences For the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, Volume 1, The Everlasting Gospel, The First 500 Evidences, by Allen H. Richardson, M. Ed., David E. Richardson, Ph. D., and Anthony E. Bentley, M. Sc., (SLC, Utah: Hawkes, 1994), 197; James Strong's, Exhaustive Concordance of the Bible, A Concise Dictionary of the Words in the Hebrew Bible, [Abingdom press, 1890], entry nos. 258 & 259, p.10, no. 259, p.10.

4178- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 25, 213, n.4, bibliography, p. 242: Robert Baker Girdlestone, Synonyms of the Old Testament: Their Bearing on Christian Doctrine, (Lon.: James Nisbet & Co., 1897, 2nd ed.), 27.

4179- Joseph F. McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Ut.: Bookcraft 1994, 111-112, 221, n. 14-15, p.240: G. B. Caird, The Language and Imagery of the Bible, (Lon.: Duckworth, 1980), 172. Cicero. The Nature of the Gods, Trans., by Horace C. P. McGregor, (Lon.: Penguin Books, 1972), 100-101.

- 4180- James Hall, Illustrated Dictionary of Symbols in Eastern and Western Art, (NY, NY: HarperCollins Pub., 1994, orig. pub. in Great Britain in 1994 by John Murray, CR 1994 by James Hall, IconEditions, an Imprint of HarperCollins Publishers), 102, 105 & 121. Geoffrey Barraclough, The Christian World, (London: Thames & Hudson, 1981), 10; Roland H. Bainton, Behold The Christ, (Harper, 1974), p.203, fig.s 231-233; George Every, Christian Legends, Library of the World's Myths & Legends, (New York: Peter Betrick Books, 1970, ed., 1987), p.18 & 20; Frederick Buechner, The Faces of Jesus, (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1974), 216; Text by Gabriel Bise, Trans. by G. Ivins & D. MacRae, The Illuminated Naples Bible (Old Testament), 14th Century A.D. Manuscript, (Crescent Books, Distributed by Crown Pub. Inc. Also Dept. of Manus. Austrian Nat. Lib. man. #1191 Codex. Old & New Test. (Fol. Ir-478v), (Fol. 481r-522r), p.17-19.
- 4181- Acts 7:56, Exodus 33:11, Genesis 32:24-32, The Nicene & Post Nicene Fathers, second series, vol. 14, THE SEVEN ECUMENICAL COUNCILS. I. THE FIRST ECUMENICAL COUNCIL — THE FIRST COUNCIL OF NICE, A.D. 325. III. THE SECOND ECUMENICAL COUNCIL — THE FIRST COUNCIL OF CONSTANTINOPLE, A.D. 381. X. THE SEVENTH ECUMENICAL COUNCIL — THE SECOND COUNCIL OF NICE, A.D. 787. Barry Bickmore, Does God Have A Body In Human Form? Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (Ben Lomond, California: Foundation for Apologetic Information & Research FAIR, 1999), 75-165. Noel B. Reynolds, Editor, Early Christians in Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies, Brigham Young University, 2005), 205-293, section The Introduction of Philosophy into Early Christianity, Daniel W. Graham & James L. Siebach, see also other section, Divine Embodiment: The Earliest Christian Understanding of God, David L. Paulsen. See also: Brigham Henry Roberts, Outlines of Ecclesiastical History, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1979), 177-182. Dr. Huge Nibley, Tri-Stake Fireside talk, 1964, Earliest Christians According to Newly Discovered Papyri. Also: Hugh Nibley, Time Vindicates the Prophets. See: The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 1, THE EPISTLE OF IGNATIUS TO THE EPHESIANS. Rev. Marcelo Souza, lectures, Academy 3-13-2009, Council of Nicea, Christology Controversies. Lecture 3-20-2009, Ecumenical Councils, & lecture on 3-27-2009.
- 4182- ANF, 4:626, 621, chap.27, Origen Against Celsus. Origen is one in perhaps many early Christians, who taught that God the Father was incorporeal, without a physical body, unlike Christ's, who did have a body, & was resurrected into that same body, though also glorified & perfected, (1 Cor. Chapter 15).
- 4183- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 110.
- 4184- Hoffmann, Celsus On The True Doctrine, 57-8. ANF, 4: 403, 408, 410, 413, Against Celsus, bk 1, ch. 39.
- 4185- Dr. Huge Nibley, 1987, The World of the Prophets, The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo & SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Co., & FARMS), Vol. 2, p. 77, 157-8. Radio series, during the 1950s, by Huge Nibley, Time Vindicates The Prophets. ANF, vol. 4, Origen Against Celsus, p. 626, see also p.621, for Origen on the incorporeal God the Father. A.S. Garretson, Primitive Christianity And Early Criticism, (Boston: Sherman, French & Company, 1912). R. Joseph Hoffmann, (translator) Celsus On The True Doctrine, (A Discourse Against the early Christians), (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987), 18, 58-59, 73-74. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, 423-8, 439, 475, 486, 487-8, 509, 547, 550-1, 563, 593-4, 646-7, 658, Matthew 5:48, 13:43, John 17:20-23; In The Monist, vol. 21, number 2, (April 1911), p. 223-266, published by Hegeler Institute, see: Bernhard Pick, The Attack of Celsus on Christianity, (1911). ARGUMENTS OF CELSUS, PORPHYRY, and THE EMPEROR JULIAN, AGAINST THE CHRISTIANS; EXTRACTS FROM DIODORUS SICULUS, JOSEPHUS, AND TACITUS, RELATING TO THE JEWS. (London: Thomas Rod, 1830). Stephen Benko, Pagan Rome And The Early Christians, (Indiana: Indiana University Press, 1984) ANF, vol. 4, Origen Against Celsus, 423-8, 439, 475, 486, 487-8, 509, 547, 550-1, 563, 593-4, 646-7, 658. Origen Against Celsus, p.593 book 6, chapter xlv, p. 593-4, book 6 chapter xlv, p.601 book 6, chapter lxi, p.626, see also p.621. chapter 27, p.602 chapter lxiii, p.617 book 7, chapter xvi, (Heb.12:22-3), p.641 book 8 chapter 4-5, p.645-8 book 8 chapter 17-22, p. 668 chapter lxxiv, p.658 book 8, chapter L.
- 4186- ARGUMENTS OF CELSUS, PORPHYRY, and THE EMPEROR JULIAN, AGAINST THE CHRISTIANS; EXTRACTS FROM DIODORUS SICULUS, JOSEPHUS, AND TACITUS, RELATING TO THE JEWS. (London: Thomas Rod, 1830), 5-6. Internet Archives: https://archive.org/details/bub_gb_3IAEAAAAQAAJ
- 4187- Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1940s-1950s), 11 vols, (1944), 3: Caesar & Christ, 553-616. Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1993). Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 51-171. William G. Rusch, The Trinitarian Controversy, (Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1980). Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010).
- 4188- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 79.
- 4189- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994, 159, 225, n. 3: "Son of Man" is, in traditional exegesis of the Gospels, a term for the humility of Christ's incarnate manhood, in contrast to his majesty of His Divinity denoted by 'Son of God.' (The Oxford Dictionary of the Christian Church, p. 1290). See also: William Smith, Dictionary of the Bible, 4:3092).
- 4190- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 168-69. A. S. Garretson, Primitive Christianity And Early Criticism, (Boston: Sherman, French and Company, 1912). <https://archive.org/details/primitivechristi0lgarr> - R. Joseph Hoffmann, (translator) Celsus On The True Doctrine, (A Discourse Against the early Christians), (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987). John 2:18-22, chaps 5-10, 19:7, Mark 14:57-62, Luke 22:70, Matt. 22:15-22, 57-68, 26:63, Luke 19:27, 20:20, John 2:18-22, 6:26, 41-66, 10:31-42. R. G. Hamerton-Kelly, (Professor of the New Testament McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago), Society for New Testament Studies Monograph Series 21, Pre-Existence, Wisdom And The Son of Man, A Study of the Idea of Pre-existence in the New Testament, (Cambridge University Press; Cambridge, Great Britain, 1973).
- 4191- Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1993). Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 18-19, 75-80.
- 4192- Diane E. Wirth, Weaving Golden Threads, Early Christianity and its Restoration, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Books, 2015), 36, 204, n. 41: The Lost Books of The Bible & The Forgotten Books of Eden, (USA, Newfoundland: Alpha House, 1926 & 1927, World Bible Publishers), 62-3.
- 4193- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005). William Steuart McBirnie, The Search for the Twelve Apostles, (Illinois: Living Books, Tyndale House Publishers, Inc., 1973). Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (New York, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993). Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, and the Promised Restoration, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book, 2006). Richard R. Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy

- Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, (USA, Utah: Cedar Fort Inc., 2009).
- 4194- Richard Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, Utah: Cedar Fort 2009.
- 4195- Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (New York, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993).
- 4196- Richard R. Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, (USA, Utah: Cedar Fort Inc., 2009). Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (New York, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993). James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 221–424. A. S. Garretson, Primitive Christianity And Early Criticism, (Boston: Sherman, French & Company, 1912). <https://archive.org/details/primitivechristi01garr> - R. Joseph Hoffmann, (translator) Celsus On The True Doctrine, (A Discourse Against the early Christians), (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987). Robert Louis Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, (Yale University Press; New Haven and London, 1984). Stephen Benko, Pagan Rome And The Early Christians, (Indiana: Indiana University Press, 1984). Robin Lane Fox, Pagans and Christians, (New York: Alfred A. Knopf Inc., 1987). William G. Rusch, The Trinitarian Controversy, (Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1980). Jaroslav Pelikan, Jesus Through the Centuries, His Place in the History of Culture, (New Haven & London: Yale University Press, 1985).
- 4197- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994, 72-73, 217, n.7: John Lawrence Mosheim, D.D., An Ecclesiastical History, Lon.: 1819, Trans. by Archibald Maclaine, 6 vols, 1:161. Internet Archives: Vol. 1 (1819) <https://archive.org/details/mosheimsecclesia01moshuof>
- 4198- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Utah: Bookcraft 1994, 73, 217, n.8, p. 243, Edwin Hatch, The Influence of Greek Ideas on Christianity, 1890 reprint, Gloucester, Mass.: Peter Smith, 1970, 49.
- 4199- James Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: DNP, 1960, 264, n.19: J. Tixeront, Histoire des Dogmas dans l' Antiquité Chrétienne, Paris: J. Gabalda et Fils. 1928–1931, 3 vols., 2:73.
- 4200- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: DNP, 1960, 263, n.17: Charles Poulet, trans. Sidney A. Raemers, A History of the Catholic Church, St. Louis: B. Herder Bk Co., 1951, 2 vols., 1:158.
- 4201- Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Contr. on the Text of the NT, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1993, 262, 270 n.6, p.298: Michael Slusser, The Scope of Patristicism, in Studia Patristica, vol.17; ed. Elizabeth A. Livingston, Oxford: Pergamon Press, 1982, 1. 169–75.
- 4202- Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (New York, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993), 262–273, foot notes 5 & 6 on p. 262 & 269–70: Tertullian, Adv. Prax. 1; compare Hippolytus, Adv. Noet. 1. “[Noetus] said that Christ was the Father Himself, and that the Father Himself was born, and suffered and died.” Note 6: Slusser, “Scope of Patristicism,” insists that modalism is a more generic heresy, with Patristicism one form of it.” Only rarely have they accused of saying the Father actually suffered. Out of the confusion over the “oneness” of the Godhead in earlier Christological issues, the “oneness” of the Trinitarian controversy must have only been complicated more. See: William G. Rusch, The Trinitarian Controversy, (Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1980).
- 4203- Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1993), 47–118.
- 4204- Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1993. R. G. Hamerton-Kelly, Pre-Existence, Wisdom & The Son of Man, A Study of the Idea of Pre-existence in the New Testament, Cambridge Un. Press; Cambridge, Great Britain, 1973. Terry L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010. William G. Rusch, The Trinitarian Controversy, Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1980. Richard R. Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, USA, Utah: Cedar Fort Inc., 2009. James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press 1960, 221-379.
- 4205- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Ut.: Bookcraft, 1994, 159, 225, 247, n.5-6: W. E. Vine, An Expository Dictionary of New Testament Words, Old Tappan, N.J.: Fleming H. Revell 1940, 4 vols., 4:48-49. For Christ & the law of witnesses, see: Joseph Fielding Smith, Doctrine of Salvation, 1:206-8.
- 4206- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 205–206, 344–45. Brigham Henry Roberts, Outlines of Ecclesiastical History, A Text Book, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1979, Classics in Mormon Literature, 129–132. Robin Lane Fox, Pagans and Christians, NY: Alfred A. Knopf Inc., 1987, 609–681, 775–84. Paul Stephenson, Constantine, Roman Emperor, Christian Victor, NY: The Overlook Press, 2009, 2010, uncorrected proofs, June 2010.
- 4207- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 344–345, notes 3–6: Philip Schaff, History of the Christian Church, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: Wm. B. Eerdmans Publishing, Co., 1950), 8 vols., 3:714, 718, 720. Karl Joseph Hefele, Histoire des Conciles d' Apres les Documents Originaux, (Paris: Letouzey et Ane, 1907–1917, translated from the German by Leclercq, a Benedictine monk), 8 vols., vol. 2, part I, p. 232, 244 & 245 note. Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1993, 47–180. Richard R. Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, USA, Utah: Cedar Fort Inc., 2009.
- 4208- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: DNP 1960, 345–46, n. 9: Charles Poulet, trans. Sidney A. Raemers, A History of the Catholic Church, St. Louis: B. Herder Book Co., 1951, 2 vols., 1:230.
- 4209- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 147.
- 4210- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Ut.: Bookcraft, 1994, 167, 224, 245, notes 16 & 17: Léon-Dufour, Dictionary of the New Testament, p. 298; Vine, An Expository Dictionary 3:97. Joseph Priestly, History of the Corruptions of Christianity, 1793, p. 13. Also: Huge Nibley, The World and the Prophets, (vol. 3 in the Collected Works of Huge Nibley, 1987), 224-231, chapter 26, The Prophets and the Plan of Life.
- 4211- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 143.
- 4212- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 157.
- 4213- Acts 7:56, Ex.33:11, Gen.32:24-32, N&PNF, 2nd series, vol. 14, THE SEVEN ECUMENICAL COUNCILS. I. THE FIRST ECUMENICAL COUNCIL —THE FIRST COUNCIL OF NICE, A.D. 325. III. THE 2ND ECUMENICAL COUNCIL —THE 1ST COUNCIL OF CONSTANTINOPLE, A.D. 381. X. THE SEVENTH ECUMENICAL COUNCIL —THE 2ND COUNCIL OF NICE, AD 787. Barry Bickmore, Does God Have A Body In Human Form? Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, Ben Lomond, California: FAIR, 1999, 75-165. Noel B. Reynolds, Ed., Early Christians in Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, Provo, Utah: FARMS, BYU, 2005, 205-293, section: The Introduction of Philosophy into Early Christianity, Daniel W. Graham & James L. Siebach, see also: Divine Embodiment: The Earliest Christian Understanding of God, David L. Paulsen. Brigham Henry Roberts, Outlines of Ecclesiastical History, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Co., 1979, 177-182. Dr. Hugu Nibley, Tri-Stake Fireside talk, 1964, Earliest Christians According to Newly Discovered Papyri. Nibley, Time Vindicates the Prophets. ANF, vol.1, THE EPISTLE OF IGNATIUS TO THE EPHESIANS. Rev. Marcelo Souza, lectures, Academy 3-13-2009, Council of Nicea, Christology Controversies. Lecture 3-20-2009, Ecumenical Councils, & lecture on 3-27-2009.

4214- A. S. Garretson, Primitive Christianity And Early Criticism, (Boston: Sherman, French & Company, 1912). R. Joseph Hoffmann, (tran.) Celsus On The True Doctrine, (A Discourse Against the early Christians), (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987). The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, Origen Against Celsus.

4215- In The Monist, vol. 21, # 2, (April 1911), p. 223-266, pub. Hegeler Institute, see: Bernhard Pick, The Attack of Celsus on Christianity, (1911), 252-255.

4216- Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (Calif.: F.A.I.R., 1999), 99. R. G. Hamerton-Kelly, (Professor of the New Testament McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago), Society for New Testament Studies Monograph Series 21, Pre-Existence, Wisdom And The Son of Man, A Study of the Idea of Pre-existence in the New Testament, (Cambridge University Press; Cambridge, Great Britain, 1973). Hugu Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company). Volume 1: Old Testament and Related Subjects, (1986). Volume 2: Enoch The Prophet, (1986). Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (Armonk, NY & Lon. Eng.: M. E. Sharpe, Inc. 1989). Bernard J. Bamberger, Fallen Angels, Soldiers of Satan's Realm, (Philadelphia, Jewish Publication Society of America, 1952). Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010).

4217- Celsus again used the anti-Christian charges of the Jews, who had claimed that they knew of things that were true in the life of Jesus but they didn't say. Origen answered back such claims, wanting to know what they had to say, & why they wouldn't say it. He rejected their claims that the prophetic foreknowledges of Christ had been "invented" by the gospel writers. Had the Gospel writers suppressed some things that were in the life of Jesus, that the Jews said they knew about? John is reported to have ended his gospel: "And there are also many other things which Jesus did, the which, if they should be written every one, I suppose that even the world itself could not contain the books that should be written. Amen." (John 21:25). Celsus also mocked the biblical stories believed by the Jews & Christians concerning the different stories in Old Testament times. "...There is also current among the Christians a variety of stories dealing with the begetting of children long after the parents are of child-bearing age.... Their books are chock full of stories about the treacheries of mothers, God appearing on earth in various disguises, brother murdering brother, purportedly righteous men having intercourse with various women other than their wives; indeed, stories that rival in their immorality the tales of the Thiestians: brothers selling brothers, women being turned into salt-- & so on. It is no wonder that the reasonable among the Christians, embarrassed as they ought to be by such stories, take refuge in allegory!--as they are, all in all, very stupid fables...." R. Joseph Hoffmann, Celsus On The True Doctrine, (Oxford Un. Press, 1987), 53, 80-81. TANF, 4:399 bk 1 chap. 7, p. 436 bk 2 chap. 13, OAC.

4218- Milton R. Hunter, The Gospel through the Ages, (SLC, Utah: Stevens & Wallis, Inc., 1945), 152-160. Kersey Graves, The World's Sixteen Crucified Saviors, p. 31-32, etc. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 1, p. 173, chapter 3, p. 181-2, Justin Martyr, A.D. 110-165, First Apology, chapter 54, & lvi, p. 184-85, chapters lxi-lxvi, Second Apology, p. 190, chapter 5. T. W. Doane, Bible Myths, And Their Parallels In Other Religions, (New York: The Truth Seeker Company, 1882 & 1910), 221, etc. A. S. Garretson, Primitive Christianity And Early Criticism, (Boston: Sherman, French & Company, 1912). R. Joseph Hoffmann, (translator) Celsus On The True Doctrine, (A Discourse Against the early Christians), (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987).

4219- ANF 1:173, ch.3, p.181-2 Justin Martyr, 1st Apol. ch.54, & lvi, p.184-85, ch. lxi-lxvi, 2nd Apol.190, ch.5.

4220- Matthew 1:23, 3:17, 17:5, Luke 1:31, 2:11, 4:3, 9, 9:22, 35, 22:70, John 1:1-14, Romans 1:3, Galatians 4:4, Acts 13:13, Heb. 1:5, 5:5, Mark 9:7, 2 Peter 1:17, Ephesians 4:13, etc.

4221- Mark E. Petersen, The Unknown God, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Bookcraft, 1978), 20-28, 59-66, 78-83.

4222- A. S. Garretson, Primitive Christianity And Early Criticism, (Boston: Sherman, French & Company, 1912). R. Joseph Hoffmann, (translator) Celsus On The True Doctrine, (A Discourse Against the early Christians), (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987). The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, Origen Against Celsus. Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1944, 1972), vol. 3, Caesar and Christ, p. 559, note 32, p. 698 & 676. Guignebert, C, Jesus, (NY: 1935), 127. Klausner, J. From Jesus to Paul, (NY: 1943), Klausner, Jesus of Nazareth, (NY: 1929). ANF, 4:403, 408, 410, 413, Origen Against Celsus, book 1, chap.39.

4223- A. S. Garretson, Primitive Christianity And Early Criticism, (Boston: Sherman, French & Company, 1912). R. Joseph Hoffmann, (translator) Celsus On The True Doctrine, (A Discourse Against the early Christians), (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987). The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, Origen Against Celsus.

4224- W. H. C. Frend, Martyrdom & Persecution In The Early Church, (NY: Anchor Books Doubleday & Co., 1967). Will Durant, Caesar & Christ, A History of Roman Civilization and of Christianity from their beginnings to A.D. 325, (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1944), 553-664. Brigham Henry Roberts, Outlines of Ecclesiastical History, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1979), 115-150. Dr. James E. Talmage, The Great Apostasy, Considered in the Light of Scriptural and Secular History, (Salt Lake City, Utah: The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, 1968), 54-95. John Lawrence Mosheim, D.D., An Ecclesiastical History, (London: 1819, Translated by Archibald Maclaine), 6 volumes. Arnold Toynbee, (Editor), The Crucible of Christianity, Judaism, Hellenism and The Historical Background to the Christian Faith, (New York, and Cleveland, World Publishing Company, CR Thames & Hudson, 1969). A. S. Garretson, Primitive Christianity And Early Criticism, (Boston: Sherman, French & Company, 1912). Charles Norris Cochrane, Christianity and Classical Culture, (Clarendon Press, 1940, Paperback; Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1957). E. A. Wallis Budge, M.A. LITT.D., D.LITT., D.LIT: translator, Coptic Martyrdoms, (London, England: British Museum, 1914), 6 vols. Francis Legge, Forerunners And Rivals Of Christianity, (From 330 B.C. TO 330 A.D.), 2 Volumes as 1, (New Hyde Park, NY: Un. Books, 1964). Paul Johnson, A History of Christianity, (NY: Atheneum, 1979). R. Joseph Hoffmann, (translator) Celsus On The True Doctrine, A Discourse Against the early Christians, (Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1987). Robert Louis Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, (Yale Un. Press; New Haven & Lon., 1984). Stephen Benko, Pagan Rome & The Early Christians, (Indiana: Indiana University Press, 1984).

- 4225- A. S. Garretson, Primitive Christianity And Early Criticism, (Boston: Sherman, French & Company, 1912). R. Joseph Hoffmann, (translator) Celsus On The True Doctrine, (A Discourse Against the early Christians), (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987). The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, Origen Against Celsus. Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1944, 1972), vol. 3, Caesar and Christ, 559, 596, 606-607, 615-616, & 647, etc. In The Monist, vol. 21, number 2, (April 1911), p. 223-266, published by Hegeler Institute, see: Bernhard Pick, The Attack of Celsus on Christianity, (1911). ARGUMENTS OF CELSUS, PORPHYRY, and THE EMPEROR JULIAN, AGAINST THE CHRISTIANS; EXTRACTS FROM DIODORUS SICULUS, JOSEPHUS, AND TACITUS, RELATING TO THE JEWS. (London: Thomas Rod, 1830). Stephen Benko, Pagan Rome And The Early Christians, (Indiana: Indiana University Press, 1984). Robert Louis Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, (Yale University Press; New Haven and London, 1984). W. H. C. Frend, Martyrdom & Persecution In The Early Church, (Garden City, New York: Anchor Books Doubleday & Company, 1967). The Early Christian Civilization, by Stan-Michael Pellistrandi, 1978, 180-200.
- 4226- A. S. Garretson, Primitive Christianity & Early Criticism, Boston: Sherman, French & Co., 1912. R. Joseph Hoffmann, Celsus On The True Doctrine, (A Discourse Against the early Christians), (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987). ANF, 4:509, book 4 chapter 29, Origen Against Celsus. Celsus 5.39, 6. 62, 8.12.
- 4227- Elaine Pagels The Gnostic Gospels, NY: Random House 1979, 3-27, ch.1: The Controversy over Christ's Resurrection: Historical Event or Symbol? Elaine Pagel, Beyond Belief, The Secret Gospel of Thomas, NY: Random House 2005. Willis Barnstone, The Other Bible, Jewish Pseudepigrapha, Christian Apocrypha, Gnostic Scriptures, Kabbalah, Dead Sea Scrolls, NY: Harper One, An Imprint of Harper Collins Pub., 2005, 45, body as prison, physical body believed by Gnostics to be demonic. Manichaeon Creation Myths (Gnostic). Talks: Rev. Marcelo Souza, 2-20-2009, Ancient Church History, An Overview Part 1; 2-27-2009, Apologists, Gnosticism, Marcion, Irenaeus, Canon, Patristic Soteriology, 3-6-2009, Alexandria, Origen, Persecution, 3-13-2009, Council of Nicea, Christological Controversy, 3-20-2009, & 3-27-2009, Ecumenical Councils.
- 4228- Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986). Chandler Rathfon Post, A History of Spanish Painting, (Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1930—1958). (New York: Kraus reprint Company, 1970's), numerous volumes show numerous art works of Christ's descent into hell, limbo, etc. Darell Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Religious, Historical & Polemical Studies, 1995, rough draft on line at Amazon). Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (New York, San Diego, U.S.A.; London, England: Harcourt Brace & Company). Geoffrey R. King, The Forty Days, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: W.M. B. Eerdmans, 1949). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell Un. Press, 1985). Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca, London: Cornell Un. Press, 1981). John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art & Symbolism of the Primitive Church, NY: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882.
- 4229- Clifford Davidson, The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, & Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Kalamazoo, Michigan: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan University, 1994), p. 194, note 69. See also: V. F. Hopper, Medieval Number Symbolism (1938, NY: Cooper Square, 1969), 43, 70.
- 4230- Madeleine Jarry, World Tapestry, From Its Origins to the Present, (NY: G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1968, 1969), 78—79, the seven sacraments include a hand clasping marriage ceremony. Tournai, third quarter of the 15th century. Fragments are in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Victoria and Albert Museum and the collection of William Burnell in England. Tapestry may have been made by Pasquier Grenier, who about 1475, offered it to the church of Saint-Quentin in Tournai. Another hand clasping marriage depicting the couple joining their right hands, dates back to A. D. 1487, see: History of the English Speaking Peoples, vol. 3, p. 780. Brass rubbing of Sir Maunteel and his wife from a Northamptonshire church. (Victoria and Albert Museum). The right hands of a couple are clasping in another wedding depiction, early 15th century, see: Brian Murphy, The World of Weddings, (New York and London: Paddington Press Ltd, 1978), p. 99, the marriage of Philippe d' Artois, Comte d' Eu, and Marie, daughter of the Duc de Berry. Marcus von Wellnitz's article: The Catholic Liturgy and the Mormon Temple, published in Brigham Young University Studies, (Provo, Utah: Brigham Young University Press, 1979), vol. 21, Winter 1981, number 1, p. 28: "Prominent among these are the marriage promises, "ratified by the ring, the kiss, and the handclasp of the couple" as they "laid their joined hands on the gospel book." (Note 136: Dalmats, Eastern Liturgies, pp. 117, 120). Another, the clasp made with the couples' right hands, 1420, see: Geoffrey Barraclough, The Christian World, (New York: Harry N. Abrams, CR Thames and Hudson Ltd., London, 1981), 144. For a couple of examples of pregnant woman, symbolic of the Virgin Mary's wedding type? See: New Catholic Encyclopedia, vol. 21, p. 809, fig. 2-a; and fig. 2-b., Flemish silk and wool, from the workshop of Pasquier Grenier, Tournai, 3rd quarter of the 15th century. In one, the right wrists of the couple are being grasped by the man about to join their hands together. Another, right hands are joined.
- 4231- Nigel Morgan Early Gothic Manuscripts (II) 1250-85, Lon.: Harvey Miller, 1988, fig.107, Hereford, Cathedral Library, o.7, VII, f.109 & f.156 (cat. 119). Bishop grasps wrists of couple to join their right hands. The middle finger of the groom's right hand is touching the middle of the palm of the bride's right hand. While the thumb of the Bishop is resting on the outside middle portion of the groom's right hand too.
- 4232- Encyclopedia of World Art, vol. 5, plate 279. Master of Flémalle, Marriage of the Virgin. Madrid, Prado. The couple makes the marriage clasp, in this case, with their right hands. Plate 226, imitating the artists of the Renaissance to the baroque period. M. Rainaldi depicts the marriage of the Virgin, derived from Durer. The man performing the ceremony is gently grasping their right hand arms to join their hands together. In this particular case, their right hand thumbs rest on each others' middle fingers' knuckles. Esmond Wright, General Editor, The Medieval and Renaissance World, (Hamlyn Pub. Group Limited, 1969, 1979), p. 39, 12th or 13th c. work. The man performing the wedding ceremony has grasped their right hand wrist to join their hands together. See also: Frederick Hartt, Art, (New York: Harry N. Abrams, 1976), vol. 2: A History of Painting, sculpture and architecture, p. 115, fig. 118, Jean Fouquet. Marriage of the Virgin, from the Book of Hours of Étienne Chevalier. 1452—56. Illumination, Musée Condé, Chantilly, France. The church leader has grasped their wrists to join their right hands together, in this depiction of the marriage of the Virgin. In 1434, Jan Van Eyck painted a pregnant "Virgin" in his work showing the betrothal of the Arnolfini. The bride's right hand rests in the palm of the groom's left hand, while his right arm is raised up in the oath or vow gesture. Hence, it is right before he joins his right hand with her's. (See: E. H. Gombrich, The Story of Art, (Phaidon Press Limited, 1950, 1972), 180—81, fig. 159. Lon., National Gallery. Rosa Maria Letts, The Renaissance, (Cambridge: Cambridge Un. Press, 1981), 36—37; Peter & Linda Murray, The Art of the Renaissance, (Thames & Hudson, 1963), p. 82; Malcolm Warner, Portrait Painting, (Phaidon Press, 1979), p. 19; Richard H. Randall, Jr., Texts by Diana Buitron, Jeanny Vorys Canby, William R. Johnston, Andrew Oliver, Jr., and Christian Theuerkauff, Masterpieces of Ivory, from the Walters Art Gallery, (New York: Hudson Hills Press), see # 483, explanation p. 318. Pseudo-Gothic Triptych, ivory on wood, Spanish, about 1890's, ascribed to Francisco Pallás y Puig, 1859—1926. The marriage of the Virgin, showing the clasp made with each others' right hands. Darell

Thorpe, Jesus Christ's "Everlasting Gospel" & Ancient "Patternism" (SLC, Ut: R.H.&P.S., CR 1990, unpublished research paper being revised 2000).

4233- Notice verse 7-9 of Rev. 19. The wife (or church) was made ready for the marriage to the Lamb (Christ). "She" should be arrayed in fine linen, and clean white, for "...the fine linen is the righteousness of saints." (Rev. 19:8, KJV). A portion from another version read: "(Now the fine linen signifies the righteous deeds of God's people.) -- NEB", (NEB = New English Bible), Curtis Vaughan, Th. D., General Editor, The New Testament from 26 Translations, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: Zondervan Publishing House, 1967), p. 1231. Some references to the "Lamb" are, in many cases, symbolical types of Christ who brought about the atonement, thus Christ was chosen to be the sacrificial lamb before the world began. See for example: Ex. 12:3-17; Isa. 53:1-12; John 1:29, 36, Acts 8:32-35; 1 Pet. 18-20; Rev. 5:12-13, 7:13-17, 13:8, 19:7-9, 21:9-27, 22:3. Christ seems to also hint to this symbolical type in a parable about those who were not clothed in a wedding garment. (Matt. 22:2, 11-13). Those who did not have on a wedding garment (perhaps symbolic of righteousness, Rev. 19:7-9), were cast out.

4234- The ancient prophets throughout Old Testament times had slaughtered numerous animals as a type and reminder of what would happen to the promised Messiah, who would be "led as a sheep to the slaughter" (Isa. 53:7). Hence, in early Christian similitudes and types, Christ was depicted as a Lamb. JCJ Metford, Dictionary of Christian Lore and Legend, Sect, Symbol, Saint, Church, Creed, Tradition, Rite, Ceremony, Bible, & Belief, (London: Thames and Hudson, 1983), p. 158—59, see Lamb of God.

4235- Rev. chap. 12. The Dragon, or the devil, seeks to destroy Mary and her baby, the Christ child. However, a guardian angel is there to receive the Christ child, who then in turn passes on the child into the hands of the Father. At which point the traditional hand clasping "rites of passage" takes place. For the Christ child is depicted as clasping the hands of the God the Father, just before he enters into that heavenly realm where the Father is. Nigel Morgan, 1983, Early Gothic Manuscripts II, 1250-1285, fig. 37, (Paris, Bibl. Nat., fr. 403, f. 8v & f. 19v (cat. 103)). The hand clasp between the Christ Child and the Father, as Christ enters into the heavenly realms. In another depiction, the woman passes on her child into the hands of an angel, who in turn, passes on the child into the hands of God. As with other depictions of this kind, there are hints to "rites of passage" hand clasps. In that the child, and the Father, clasp hands before the child's entrance into heaven. (fig., 114. "Seven-headed Dragon, Woman's Child taken up to Heaven; War in Heaven. New York, Pierpont Morgan Lib., M. 524, f. 8v (cat. 122)"). In another one, an angel is in the act of clasping the hands of the child, in order to take him into heaven. The dragon is there to confront them, but the child is carried away into heaven, as suggested by another portion that shows the legs of one who is depicted in the act of passing from one realm into the next. Thus, the artist has depicted that point in the event that shows the point where one is in between the two realms. (fig. 125. Woman's Child taken up to Heaven. Malibu, J. Paul Getty Museum, Ludwig III I, f. 20 (cat. 124)).

4236- When these passages are depicted in historic Christian art works, we see different types of hand and wrist grips in the Marriage of the Lamb to his bride. When the child, mentioned in Revelation 12:5, is "caught up unto God," in the art works, and writings, to be "caught up," was done by different types of hand and wrist grasps. For example, in the fifth-century Gospel of Nicodemus, "the Lord stretching forth his hand, made the sign of the cross upon Adam, and upon all his saints. And taking hold of Adam by his right hand, he ascended from hell, and all the saints." (The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 8, pp. 353, there are different dates for this work, some say that it belongs to the 2nd century A.D., others, back to the 4th cent. A.D. While Maury places it as being from the 5th cent. A.D., from 405 to 420. And another writer suggests 439 A.D. see The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 8: pp. 353, & 435-58; The Lost Books of the Bible, (USA, Newfoundland: Alpha House 1926), pp. 63, 81-2, 85-88, The Gospel of Nicodemus, formerly called the Acts of Pontius Pilate, dated here to be from about the later end of the 3rd century A.D. Translation of the gospel was published by Grynæus in the Orthodoxographia, vol. i, tom. ii, p. 643). A similar hand shake is used in the apocalyptic 1 Enoch: "And the angel Michael, ... seizing me by my right hand and lifting me up, led me out into all the secrets of mercy; and he showed me all the secrets of righteousness." In some of these later Christian art work that depict Revelation chapter 12, and during the war in heaven drama, similar types of rites of passage hand and wrist clasps take place between an angel, who descends from heaven, and the child. The angel in turn passes the child into the hands of the Father. The Father takes the child by the hands and pulls the child into heaven, away from the dragon. Thus "her child was caught up unto God, and to his throne" (Rev. 12:5, KJV). Paul also speaks of one who was "caught up" into the third heaven, and was also "caught up" into paradise (2 Corinthians 12:1-4). It seems that in the act of being "caught up" different kinds of hand clasps are depicted. (See: By Study & Also By Faith, vol. 1, p. 620-21, see notes 43-45 on p. 634, of Chap. 24, entitled: The Handclasp and Embrace as Tokens of Recognition, by Todd M. Compton, making reference in the notes 43-5 to: M.R. James, The Apocryphal New Testament, (Oxford: Clarendon, 1955), p. 95, & 137-39; 1 Enoch 71:3, in James H. Charlesworth, ed., The Old Testament Pseudepigrapha, (New York: Doubleday, 1983), 2 volumes, 1:49. See also a Slavonic Apocalypse of Abraham, c. A.D. 1300, the angel Yahoel (Metatron or Enoch) gestures to the heavens above as he leads a hesitant Abraham by the wrist. They ascend on the wings of eagles (cf. Exodus 19:4), see: Dr. Hugu W. Nibley, Temple and Cosmos, The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, (Salt Lake City and Provo, Utah: Deseret Book Company and Foundation of Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = FARMS, 1992), vol. 12, p. 277-9, fig. 49 on p. 278. In some depictions of Paul being caught up or "raised" to the 3rd Heaven. An angels come to escort him, one of the angels makes a gestural sign with the one hand, while with the other, the angel clasps the wrist of Paul to raise him up. (Luba Eleen, The Illustration of the Pauline Epistles in the French and English Bibles of the 12th and 13th Centuries, (Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1982), figs. 264 & 265; The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 8, pp. 577-8). An angelic guide grasp the wrist of John(?) while ascending toward the city, where the Lamb, symbolic of Christ, is. (Clifford Davidson, Editor, The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, and Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Kalamazoo, Michigan: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan University, 1994), plate 23. Heavenly Jerusalem. Bamberg Apocalypse. Bamberg, Staatsbibliothek, Cod. 140. Fol. 55. 12th century(?). In a "Miniature in an early German copy of the Liber Floridus, by Lambert of St-Omer, twelfth century. Example of the survival of the early Italic tradition. Wolfenbützel, Herzog August Bibliothek, cod. Guelf. Gud. lat. 2, 14v." In this art work, there is what seems to be another depiction of a rites of passage hand clasp. For an arm extends down to clasp the wrists of the child who is about to enter into the heavenly realm away from the dragon. (Meer, Apocalypse, p. 128-9, fig. 85). An English dated "c. 1140" A.D., shows the traditional horned devil, about to claw at the Virgin & her baby. The devil's foul breath spews forth towards them, while an angel of God extends down to take the child back into the heavenly realms away from the devil. Rites of passage grips take place before that entrance into the heavenly realms. As that angel of God clasps a hold of the wrists of the child. Another portion of this art work shows Christ defending the city of God against the devil. (Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments Of Romanesque Art, The Art of Church Treasures in North-Western Europe, (Chicago: The University of Chicago Press, 1st edition 1954, 2nd edition, 1967), plate 128, fig. 291, Adaption XII. English, cent. 1140 A.D., The right hand portion of art work, depicting an angel coming down out of heaven to take hold, with his right hand, the right wrist of the Christ child). A similar depiction to that of the English one, shows an angel clasping a hold of the child to raise him off the lap of the women, and to ascend into heaven. (Harper's Encyclopedia Of Art, vol. 2, p.312. SAINT SAVIN (Vienne, France).--The Church of St. Savin, 11th century, frescoes, 12th century, A.D. In the porch, are scenes from the Apocalypse. See also the drawing of the art work on p.312, far left col., lower portion of page, ST. SAVIN: SCENE FROM THE APOCALYPSE. (After the monograph by Merimee). Many of the basic elements to Rev. chap.12, are depicted in a 13th century A.D. work. Mary stands as if an orant, in the traditional prayer gesture, with up-lifted hands. The hands of God extend down out of heaven to receive the hands of the Child. The depiction show the point in time which was right before they clasp each others' hands. Mary is the one who is passing on her Son into the hands of God. Other art works show an angel involved in the chain of events, in that an angel passes on the Child into the hands of God. In this particular case, however, no angel is depicted, as in other works. (Jeffrey F. Hamburger, The Rothschild Canticles, Art & Mysticism in Flanders & The Rhineland Circa 1300, (New Haven and London: With the Assistance of the Getty Grant Program, Yale University Press, 1990), #184, New Testament (Vatican City, Biblioteca Vaticana, MS Vat. Lat. 39), f. 163r. (Photo: Biblioteca Vaticana). A depictions of Rev.12, shows the point in the event where the woman has turned away from the dragon to pass her child into the hands of an angel that extends down out of heaven to clasp the hand of the child. The child reaches towards the angel and they clasp each others' hands. Up in the top right portion of this particular work, we see the feet of the child extending down, and it is as if the artist wanted to depict the point in which the Child was almost into the next realm, but not all the way yet. (Text by Dr. Donald E. Strong, etc., The Book of Art, A Pictorial Encyclopedia of Painting, Drawing, & Sculpture, Origins Of Western Art, (Published by Grolier, 1965), vol. 1, p.148-9, B. "Illustration to St. John's Book of Revelation, Chapter 12: from the Apocalypse Manuscript, about 1250 Aachen, Germany, coll. Dr. Peter Ludwig").

4237- William G. Rusch, The Trinitarian Controversy, (Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1980). Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (New York, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993). 1 Cor. 15, James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), chapter 32: The Christological Controversy, p. 333-412. Berard L. Marthaler, O.F.M. Conv., The Creed, (Mystic, Connecticut: Twenty-Third Publications, 1987, second printing), 102-114. Noel B. Reynolds, (Editor), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research & Mormon Studies, and Brigham Young University Press, 2005), chapter by David L. Paulsen, Divine Embodiment: The Earliest Christian Understanding of God, 239-93. Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 127-196. Rev. Ph.D., D.D., Roland H. Bainton, Behold the Christ, (U.S.A.: Harper, 1974). Joseph Pohle, 1852-1922, Christology, A Dogmatic Treatise on the Incarnation, (London, Germany, St. Louis, MO.: B. Herder, 1913). <https://archive.org/details/V04Christology> - See links that hopefully still work. James Stalker, The Christology of Jesus, (NY: A.C. Armstrong & Son, 1899), <https://archive.org/details/christologyjesu00stalgoog> - Philip Shaff, Christ & Christianity, Christology, Creeds & Confessions, Protestantism & Romanism, Reformation Principles, Sunday Observance, Religious Freedom, & Christian Union, (NY: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1885), <https://archive.org/details/christandchrist00schagooq> - Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company), Vol. I: Old Testament & Related Subjects, (1986), vol. 3: The World & The Prophets, Nibley, The Early Christian Church in the Light of Some Newly Discovered Papyri from Egypt, (Provo, Utah: FARMS, reprint, Nibley 1985, talk given by Dr. Nibley, Tri-Stake Fireside, Brigham Young University, March 3, 1964). See link, that may or not still work. <https://sites.lib.byu.edu/nibley/1964/03/03/the-early-christian-church/> - Audio: <https://sites.lib.byu.edu/nibley/1964/03/03/the-early-christian-church/> - <http://publications.mi.byu.edu/fullscreen/?pub=978> Dr. Huge Nibley, Time Vindicates the Prophets, (Radio series 1950s), <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=BfIMbNUUklk&list=PLRiiXcPYoJBmWBF1aQJbarY-SawvPIKR> - Terryl Givens, FAIR Conference, 2007, What the Western Tradition teaches us about the Pre-Existence, <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=NuL2W4wjDwE> - Norman, Keith E. "Deification: The Content of Athanasian Soteriology." Ph.D. diss. Duke University, 1980. Internet Archives: Before Christ and After - Radio show 3-23-1988, Darell Thorpe, host of Out of the Best Books, KZZI 1510 AM radio, West Jordan, Utah, USA, 3-23-1988. Guest: Van Hale. <https://archive.org/details/BeforeChristAndAfter-RadioShow3-23-1988> - Internet Archives: Godhead Issues - Early Christian History on the Nicene Creed & Trinity, - Radio show archived: Darell Thorpe, Out of the Best Books, KZZI 1510 AM radio, West Jordan Utah, USA, 1-23-1988, guest Van Hale. <https://archive.org/details/GodheadIssues-EarlyChristianHistoryOnTheNiceneCreedTrinity> - Richard R. Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, (USA, Utah: Cedar Fort Inc., 2009). Internet archives: <https://archive.org/details/christianplaton00biggiala> Charles Bigg, 1840-1908, The Christian platonists of Alexandria, (New York: McMillan & Co., Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1886). 1913 edition: <https://archive.org/details/thechristianplat00bigguoft> Hope links still work for Lectures. 1886: <https://archive.org/details/christianplaton00bigggoog> -

4238- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 71- 73, 339, endnote 4: Plontinus, The Enneads, V.2.1, tans. A. H. Armstrong, 7 vols., (Cambridge, Mass.: Harvard University Press, 1966-88), 5:59. Richard R. Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, (USA, Utah: Cedar Fort Inc., 2009).

4239- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 71- 73, 339, endnote 4: Plontinus, The Enneads, V.2.1, tans. A. H. Armstrong, 7 vols., (Cambridge, Mass.: Harvard University Press, 1966-88), 5:59.

4240- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 15, 330, end notes 21-23: E. Theodore Mullen, The Divine Council in Canaanite and Early Hebrew Literature, (Missoula, Mont.: Scholars, 1986), 204-5. Ronald S. Hendel, "When the Sons of God Cavorted with the Daughters of Men," in Understanding the Dead Sea Scrolls, ed. Herschel Shanks (New York: Random House, 1992), 170-72. "When the Jews of this period read the passage commented on above [Psa. 82] they now understood them to refer, not to divine beings, but to angels." S. B. Parker, "Sons of (the) God(s)," in Dictionary of Deities and Demons, 798. J. Eugene Seach, The Heavenly Council, Mysteries and Sacred Ordinances, (unpublished research paper). H. Wheeler Robinson, Inspiration and Revelation in the Old Testament, (Oxford: Clarendon, 1946), 1'67-70. H. Wheeler Robinson, "The Council of Yahweh," Journal of Theological Studies, 45 (1944): 151-57. Frank M. Cross, Jr., "The Council of Yahweh in Second Isaiah," Journal of Near Eastern Studies, 12 (Jan.-Oct., 1953), 274-77. Geo Widengren, "Early Hebrew Myths and their Interpretations," 164. Mircea Eliade, Myth and Reality, (New York: Harper & Row, 1963). The Christian change from polytheism to monotheism began with the assumption that the scripture which talks of Christ as the "Son of God" could not be taken literally. Is false assumption was formalized by the Nicene Creed, see: Peter Widdicombe, The Fatherhood of God from Origen to Athanasius (Oxford: Clarendon, 1994); Robert M. Grant, The Early Christian Doctrine of God, (Charlottesville: Un. Press of Virginia, 1966). J. J. Lias, The Nicene Creed: A Manual for the Use of Candidates for Holy Orders, (London: Swan Sonnenschein, 1897); Emilianos Timiadis, Nicene Creed, Our Common Faith, (Philadelphia: Fortress, 1983). Thomas Aquinas, God and Creation, trans. William P. Baumgarth and Richard J. Regan (Scaranton: Un. Of Scranton Press, 1993). Richard R. Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, (USA, Utah: Cedar Fort Inc., 2009). Stephen D. Ricks, & LeGrand L. Barker, Who Shall Ascend Into the Hill of the Lord? The Psalms In Israel's Temple Worship In The Old Testament and in the Book of Mormon, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Books, 2009), 55–62, etc.

4241- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 99-100.

4242- Noel B. Reynolds, (Editor), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research & Mormon Studies, and Brigham Young University Press, 2005), 159–160, chapter entitled: The Concept of Apostasy In the New Testament, by James E. Faulconer.

4243- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 7.

4244- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 111. Edwin Hatch, The Influence of Greek Ideas & Usages upon the Christian Church, (Eugene, Ore.: Wipf & Stock Publishers, 2005, Edited by A. M. Fairbairn, 5th edition). Richard R. Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, (USA, Utah: Cedar Fort Inc., 2009).

4245- Barry Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (Calif.: F.A.I.R., 1999), 91–92, n.47: Justin Martyr, Dialogue With Trypho, 127, ANF, 1:263. Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 75-76, 243, 218, n. 15: Edwin Hatch, The Influence of Greek Ideas on Christianity, 1890, (Gloucester, Mass: Peter Smith, reprint 1970), 253.

4246- Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (Calif.: F.A.I.R., 1999), 92, n.47: Justin Martyr, Dialogue With Trypho, 114, ANF 1:256.

4247- Barry R. Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, Calif.: FAIR, 1999, 92–93, n.48–49: Justin Martyr, One the Resurrection 7, & Dialogue with Trypho 113, ANF, 1:255 & 297.

4248- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994, 76, n.16, p. 218: Edwin Hatch, The Influence of Greek Ideas on Christianity, 1890, Gloucester, Mass: Peter Smith, reprint 1970, 253.

4249- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994, 76, 218, n.17: Edwin Hatch, The Influence of Greek Ideas on Christianity, 1890, Gloucester, Mass: Peter Smith, reprint 1970, 253-54.

4250- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994, 76, 218, notes 16-17: Edwin Hatch, The Influence of Greek Ideas on Christianity, 1890, Gloucester, Mass: Peter Smith, reprint 1970, 253-54. Darell Thorpe, The Christ In Santa Unmasked [How Modern Traditions & Legends About Santa Can Be Traced Back To The Early Christian Doctrine That Christ Went to Other Nations Around The World], (CR 1994, revised December 1995). Thorpe, Christ's Pilgrimage Unto the Ends of the Earth (1996). You Tube: Rare Flix play list: Christ As Cosmic Cruiser, Christ going to other nations.

4251- Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (Calif.: F.A.I.R., 1999), 86–87, Clementine Homilies, 16:19, in ANF, 8:316.

4252- Barry R. Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (Calif.: F.A.I.R., 1999), 86–87, Clementine Homilies, 16:19, 17:7, 16, ANF, 8:316, 319–323.

4253- ANF, 1, see Ignatius. Vol. 4, Origen, First Principles. Vol. 8, Clementine Recognitions, Clementine Homilies. G. W. Butterworth, Origen On First Principles, (Gloucester, Massachuset: Peter Smith 1973, & Harper & Row, 1966). Joseph Wilson Trigg, Origen (The Bible and Philosophy in the Third-century Church), (Atlanta: 1946, 1952, 1971, 1973, & John Knox Press, 1983). 2000, second Edition). Bart D. Ehrman, Lost Christianity, The Battles for Scripture and the Faiths We Never Knew, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2003). Bart D. Ehrman, Misquoting Jesus, The Story Behind Who Changed the Bible and Why, (NY: Harper San Francisco, A Division of Harper Collins Publishers, 2005). Bart D. Ehrman, Jesus, Interrupted, Revealing the Hidden Contradictions in the Bible (and Why We Don't Know About Them), (NY: Harper One, an Imprint of Harper Collins Pub., 2009).

4254- Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (Ben Lomond, California: Foundation for Apologetic Information & Research, F.A.I.R., 1999), 84–85. Clement of Alexandria, Stromata, 5:12, ANF, 2:464. Irenaeus, Against Heresies, 2:13:3, ANF, 1:374.

4255- William G. Rusch, The Trinitarian Controversy, (Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1980). James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 221–424. R. Joseph Hoffmann, (translator) Celsus On The True Doctrine, (A Discourse Against the early Christians), (Oxford Un. Press, 1987). A. S. Garretson, Primitive Christianity And Early Criticism, (Boston: Sherman, French & Company, 1912). The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, Origen Against Celsus, 8 books. Stan-Michel Pellistrandi, The Early Christian Civilization, (Forni, Geneva: 1978, California, USA: Paradise Found Books, English edition).

4256- R. Joseph Hoffmann, (translator), Celsus On The True Doctrine, (A Discourse Against the early Christians), (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987). A.S. Garretson, Primitive Christianity And Early Criticism, (Boston: Sherman, French & Company, 1912). The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, Origen Against Celsus, 8 books. Stan-Michel Pellistrandi, The Early Christian Civilization, (Forni, Geneva: 1978, California, USA: Paradise Found Books, English edition).

4257- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 237–42, especially p. 242, foot note 18 & 19, Cur Deus Homo, 1, 3, 7. Gilbert Crispin's Disputatio Iudaei cum Christiano, (Patrologiae Cursus Completus, series latina, ed. J. P. Migne), vol. 159, 1034.

4258- John Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art & Symbolism of the Primitive Church, NY: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882, 68-70. R. Joseph Hoffmann, (tran.) Celsus On The True Doctrine, A Discourse Against the early Christians, Oxford Un. Press, 1987, 68, 116. ANF, 4:461, Origen Against Celsus, book 2, chap. lxxiv.

4259- Stan-Michel Pellistrandi, The Early Christian Civilization, (Forni, Geneva: 1978, Calif., USA: Paradise Found Books, English ed.), 180-199. ANF, 4:427-8, 609, Origen Against Celsus. R. Joseph Hoffmann, (translator) Celsus On The True Doctrine, (A Discourse Against the early Christians), (Oxford Un. Press, 1987).

4260- R. Joseph Hoffmann, Celsus On The True Doctrine,... Oxford Un. Press 1987, 103.

4261- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 109.

4262- R. Joseph Hoffmann, Celsus On The True Doctrine, A Discourse Against the Christians, Oxford Un. Press, 1987, a reconstruction of a 2nd century A.D. early anti-Christian work, see p. 18, 58-9; 73-4, etc. & ANF, 4, Origen Against Celsus, 423-8, 439, 475, 486, 487-8, 509, 547, 550-1, 563, 593-4, 646-7, 658. Origen Against Celsus, p.593 book 6, chap. xlv, p. 593-4, book 6 chap. xlv, p.601 book 6, chapter lxi, p.626, see also p.621. chapter 17, p.602 chapter lxxiii, p.617 book 7, chap. xvi, (Heb.12:22-3), p.641 book 8 chapter 4-5, p.645-8 book 8 chapter 17-22, p.

668 chap. lxxiv, p.658 book 8 chapter L. See also: Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1993).

4263- Barry Bickmore Restoring the Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, Calif.: FAIR 1999, 96–8

4264- Barry Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, Ben Lomond, Calif.: FAIR, 1999, 97, n. 65, Agustus H. Strong, Systematic: Theology, (Old Tappan, NJ: Fleming H. Revell Co., 1970), 250. The World And The Prophets, Dr. Huge Nibley, p.157-162, Nibley's radio show during the 1950s, Time Vindicates the Prophets, he mentions Origen's views about bodies being dispensed with in the eternities, which might mean that Christ's resurrected body would also be eventually dispensed with, or gotten rid of too.

4265- ANF, 4:407, 422, 424, 427–28, 447, 464, 557, 565, 609 & 641, Origen Against Celsus.

4266- Barry R. Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, Calif.: F.A.I.R., 1999, 89, n.40: David L. Paulsen, "Early Christian Belief in a Corporeal Deity: Origen & Augustine as Reluctant Witnesses," Harvard Theological Review, 83 (1991): 111–112. Gennadius, in N&PNF, series 2, vol. 3:368–69.

4267- Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (Calif.: F.A.I.R., 1999), 89–90, n.42: Origen, De Principiis, Preface 9, TANF, 4:241. Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, and the Promised Restoration, SLC Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 114-16, 423, notes 33-35: ANF, 4:241, 261-2, 277, 284.

4268- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 73, 417, note 37: The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 4:240-41, Origen. Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1993).

4269- Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (Calif.: F.A.I.R., 1999), 95, n.60: Origen, De Principiis, 1:1:1, 2:8:5, ANF, 4:242, 289.

4270- Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo & SLC, Utah: FARMS, Deseret Book), vol.3: The World And The Prophets, (1987), 157-8, 311, notes 8-12: Ignatius, Epistle to the Smyrnaeans, 3, in PG 5:709, Epistle to the Trallians, 9, in PG, 5:681, (Other codices: F, O, U, V.), Origen, Peri Archon II, 6, 2, in PG 11:188-91, 210. PG = J.P. Migne, Patrologia Cursus Completus, Series Graeca, Paris: 1857-66, 161 vols.

4271- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book, 2006, 119.

4272- G. W. Butterworth, Origen On First Principles, (Gloucester, Massachuset: Peter Smith 1973, & Harper & Row, 1966), intro., xxxi-xxxiv.

4273- ANF 4:551, bk.5 chap.19, also chaps.14-18, Origen Against Celsus. Celsus: It's silly for early Christians to tell of "...those who long since dead will rise up from the earth possessing the same bodies as they did before....I ask you: Is this not the hope of worms? For what sort of human soul is that has any use for a rotted corpse shows just how utterly repulsive it is: it is nothing less than nauseating & impossible. I mean, what sort of body is it that could return to its original nature or become the same as it was before it rotted away?..." R. Joseph Hoffmann, Celsus On The True Doctrine, Oxford Un. Press, 1987, 86. Bart Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, NY: Oxford Un. Press 1993. Richard Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, USA, Ut.: CFI, 2009. Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Ut: Bookcraft, 1994, 15-209.

4274- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 2:217, 265--66, 452--54, Clement of Alexandria, The Instructor, book 1, chapter 6, book 2, chapter 11; The Stromata, or Miscellanies, book 5, chapter 6.

4275- Bart Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, NY: Oxford Un. Press 1993. Richard Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, USA, Ut.: CFI, 2009. Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Ut: Bookcraft, 1994, 15-209. Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring the Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, Ben Lomond, Calif.: FAIR 1999, 75-165. Noel B. Reynolds, (Ed.), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, Provo, Ut: FARMS & BYU Press, 2005, 205-293. Dr. Huge W. Nibley talk during a Tri-Stake Fireside, Brigham Young University, March 3, 1964. Links:
<https://sites.lib.byu.edu/nibley/1964/03/03/the-early-christian-church/> - Links might, but might not still work:
<http://publications.mi.byu.edu/fullscreen/?pub=978>

4276- Joseph F. McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Ut.: Bookcraft 1994, 109-10, 221, notes 9-11, p. 244-5: David L. Paulsen, "Early Christian Belief in a Corporeal Deity: Origen & Augustine as Reluctant Witnesses," Harvard Theological Review, 83 (1991), 105-16, p. 109, 113. John McLintock & James Strong, eds. Cyclopedia of Biblical, Theological, and Ecclesiastical Literature, NY: Harper & Brothers, 1877, 7:430.

4277- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft 1994), 109, n. 6, p. 220, & 242: Adolph Harnack, History of Dogma, (NY.: Dover, 1961), 7 vols., 1:180, n.1.

4278- Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (Ben Lomond, California: Foundation for Apologetic Information & Research, F.A.I.R., 1999), 96, see foot note 60. G. W. Butterworth, Origen On First Principles, (Gloucester, Massachuset: Peter Smith 1973, & Harper & Row, 1966). Joseph Wilson Trigg, Origen (The Bible and Philosophy in the Third-century Church), (Atlanta: 1946, 1952, 1971, 1973, & John Knox Press. The Library of Christian Classics, volume 2, Alexandrian Christianity, Selected Translations of Clement & Origen with Introductions and Notes by John Ernest Leonard Oulton, D.D., Regius Professor of Divinity in the University of Dublin; Chancellor of St. Patrick's and Henry Chadwick, B.D., Fellow & Dean of Queens' College, Cambridge. (Philadelphia: The Westminster Press, 1983).

4279- Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (Calif.: F.A.I.R., 1999), 95, n.60: Origen, De Principiis, 1:1:1, 2:8:5, ANF, 4:242, 289.

4280- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 51-187. James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 328-424. Bart D.Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1993).

4281- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 108-9, notes 4 & 5, p. 220, & 240: R. Joseph Hoffmann, Celsus On The True Doctrine,... Oxford Un. Press 1987, 103-4.

4282- James Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press 1960, 269-766. Noel Reynolds, Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, Provo, Utah: FARMS & BYU Press 2005, 163-93. Barry Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, Ben Lomond, Calif.: FAIR 1999, 75–165, Milton Backman, Jr., American Religions & the Rise of Mormonism, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 1970, 10–17, 31, 83-84, 110, 123, 129-33, 139-47, 177-79, 189-90, 201-2, 207-8, 209-10, 219-20, 241-42, & 331-32. Scott Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? Springville Ut.: CFI

2005, 143-96. Richard Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, Utah: CFI 2009.

4283- See this link, that may or may not still be working at the time of the publication of this book. <http://www.bing.com/images/search?q=christ+child+suckling&qs=n&form=QBIR&pg=christ+child+suckling&sc=0-0&sp=-1&sk=> Vincent Cronin, Mary Portrayed, (London, England: Darton, Longman & Todd, 1968).

4284- The Lost Books of The Bible & The Forgotten Books of Eden, (USA, Newfoundland: Alpha House, 1926 & 1927, World Bible Pub.), 38–62, Gospel of the Infancy of Jesus Christ. Charles Francis Potter, The Lost Years of Jesus Revealed, From the Dead Sea Scrolls & the Nag-Hammadi discoveries, (Conn.: Fawcett Gold Medal Book, Fawcett Publications, Inc., 1962).

4285- Stan-Michel Pellistrandi, The Early Christian Civilization, (Forni, Geneva: 1978, Calif., USA: Paradise Found Books, English ed.), 180-199. ANF, 4:427-8, 609, Origen Against Celsus. R. Joseph Hoffmann, (translator) Celsus On The True Doctrine, (A Discourse Against the early Christians), (Oxford Un. Press, 1987).

4286- Justin Martyr, "Dialogue with Trypho," & the "Toledoth Yesu," a Jewish tale that the owner of the grave sold the body of Jesus which was then dragged through the city streets. Both are discussed by Gary Habermas in Gary R. Habermas and Anthony G.N. Flew, Did Jesus Rise From the Dead?—the entire transcript, Terry L. Miethe, editor (San Francisco: Harper & Row, 1987), 99f. <http://christiananswers.net/q-eden/edn-t012.html#4>

4287- The Millennial Messiah, Bruce R. McConkie, (SLC, Ut.: Deseret Book 1982), plus other volumes in McConkie's Messiah series. James E. Talmage, Jesus the Christ (Salt Lake City: 1915 edition). Mark E. Petersen, The Unknown God, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Bookcraft, Inc., 1978, 2nd printing 1979). Reader's Digest, The Story of Jesus, (Pleasantville, New York & Montreal, Canada: The Reader's Digest Associations, Inc., 1993). Jaroslav Pelikan, Jesus Through the Centuries, His Place in the History of Culture, (New Haven & London: Yale Un. Press, 1985). Lee Roddy & Charles E. Sellier Jr., In Search of Historic Jesus, (New York, Toronto & London: Bantam Books, December 1979, paper back edition). Darell Thorpe, Jesus Christ, The World Wide Wounded Wanderer, (CR 1992, 1998, Revised 2011, 2ND Ed. 2013, First illustrated Edition, 3rd Text, 12-12-2013).

4288- Abram Kanof, Jewish Ceremonial Art And Religious Observance, NY: Harry N. Abrams. Albert E. Bailey, The Gospel in Art, Boston & Chicago: Pilgrim Press, 1916. Angelo S. Rappoport, Ph.D., Ancient Israel Myths & Legends, NY: Bonanza Books, 1987, 3 vols. in 1. Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1986. Chandler Rathfon Post, A History of Spanish Painting, Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard Un. Press, 1930-58. NY: Kraus reprint Co., 1970's. Clara Erskine Clement, edited by Katherine E. Conway, A Handbook Of Christian Symbols & Stories Of The Saints As Illustrated In Art, Boston; NY: Houghton Mifflin Co., The Riverside Press Cambridge, 1871, 1881, & 1886. Clark Hopkins, & edited by Bernard Goldman, The Discovery of Dura-Europos, New Haven & Lon.: Yale Un. Press, 1979. Clark Hopkins & N. Rostovtzeff, Excavations at Dura Europas, 1931-32, New Haven: 1934. Clifford Davidson, Editor, The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, and Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Kalamazoo, Michigan: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan University, 1994). Clifton Harby, The Bible In Art, Twenty centuries of Famous Bible Paintings, NY: Covici, Friede, 1936. Colleen McDannell & Bernhard Lang, Heaven: A History, New Haven & Lon.: Yale Un. Press, 1988. C. W. Ceram, translated from the German by E. B. Garside, Gods, Graves, & Scholars, The Story of Archaeology, (Alfred A. Knopf, 1951, & 1964). Ricks, & John W. Welch, (Editors), The Allegory of The Olive Tree, The Olive, the Bible, and Jacob 5, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Co., & Provo, Utah: FARMS. Stephen D. Ricks, & LeGrand L. Barker, Who Shall Ascend Into the Hill of the Lord? The Psalms In Israel's Temple Worship In The Old Testament and in the Book of Mormon, (SLC, Utah: Eborn Books, 2009). Darell Thorpe, When Our Faith Is Challenged, 2 volumes (1986—1988), vol. 2, on symbolism, (unpublished manuscripts). Thorpe, Jesus Christ's "Everlasting Gospel" and Ancient "Patternism" (1990). Thorpe, Early Christianity in Ancient America and Old and New World Parallels (1990). Thorpe, The Grand Pilgrimage: (Footnoting In & "Out of the Best Books"), Vol. 1, Part 1, Issues 1-4, April-Aug, 1992. Thorpe, The Pre-existence: Our Pre-earth Life As Spirits In A "Family In Heaven" (1992). Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined (1995). Thorpe, The Christ In Santa Unmasked [How Modern Traditions & Legends About Santa Can Be Traced Back To The Early Christian Doctrine That Christ Went to Other Nations Around The World], (CR 1994, revised December 1995). Thorpe, "Ye Are Gods... Children of the Most High" (CR 1993, revised 1994—1996). Thorpe, The Mystery Behind the Mysteries, Ritualistic Realm Pilgrims In early to later Christian Mysteries, (1996—1997). Thorpe, Christ's Pilgrimage Unto the Ends of the Earth (1996). Jesus Christ, The World Wide Wounded Wanderer, (CR 1992, 1998, Revised 2011, 2ND Ed. 2013, First illustrated Edition, 3rd Text, 12-12-2013). Thorpe, The Armor of Gods (Protective Skins or Garments in History & Color Symbolism), (Kindle Edition, 2012). Diane E. Wirth, Weaving Golden Threads, Early Christianity and its Restoration, (SLC, Utah: Eborn Books, 2015). Donald W. Parry, (Editor), numerous authors, Temples Of The Ancient World, Ritual and Symbolism, (SLC, Utah: Desert Book Co., 1994, & Provo, Utah: FARMS). Erwin R. Goodenough, Jewish Symbols in the Greco-Roman Period, 13 volumes. (New York: Pantheon Books, 1953). Francis Bond, Fonts and Font Covers, (London, New York, and Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford University Press, 1908). <https://archive.org/details/fontsfontcovers00bond> Francis Y. Duval & Ivan B. Rigby, Early American Gravestone Art In Photographs, (New York: Dover Publishers Inc., 1978). Betty Willsher & Doreen Hunter, *Stones, NY: Taplinger Pub. Co., 1978, & 1979. Carl Van Treeck & Aloysius Croft, M.A., Symbols in the Church, 1936. https://archive.org/details/symbolsinchurch00vant - F. R. Webber, Church Symbolism, (Cleveland: J. H. Hansen, 1936, 2nd ed. revised by Gale Research Co. Bk Tower, Detroit 1971). George Ferguson, Signs & Symbols In Christian Art, (New York: Oxford University Press, 1959). Goblet D'Alviella, (The Count), The Migration of Symbols, (Westminster, 1894, reproduced by University Books, 1956). H. Clay Trumbull, D.D., The Blood Covenant, A Primitive Rite and its Bearings on Scriptures, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1885). <https://archive.org/details/bloodcovenantap04trumgoog> - Heather Child and Dorothy Colles, 1971, Christian Symbols Ancient & Modern, (Charles Scribner's Sons, Great Britain). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Ignazio Mancini, O.F.M., (Historical Survey), Archaeological Discoveries, Relative to the Judaeo-Christians, (Jerusalem: Studium Biblicum Franciscanum, Collection minor #10, Franciscan Printing Press, 1970). James Wasserman, The Temple of Solomon, From Ancient Israel to Secret Societies, (Rochester, Vermont, Toronto & Canada: Inner Traditions, 2011). J. Eugene Seach, The Heavenly Council, Mysteries & Sacred Ordinances, (unpublished research paper). Jeanne Villetelle, La Resurrection Du Christ, Dans L'Art Chretien Du Ile Au VIIe Siecle, (Paris, France: Henri Laurens, Editeur, 1957). Jeffrey M. Bradshaw, Temple Themes In the Book of Moses, (SLC, Utah: Eborn Pub., 2010). J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962). John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (New York: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882, 1976), <https://archive.org/details/MonumentalChristianity> - <https://archive.org/details/monumentalchris00lundgoog> -*

4289- Oscar G. Brockett, History of the Theatre, Boston, Lon.: Allyn & Bacon, 1968, 1974, 1977, 1982, 4th ed., 111.

4290- Genesis 49:22-6, Dueteronomy 33:13-17, Exodus 15:11-17, Isaiah 5:1-7, 11:1-12, 53:2, Amos 5:15-20, 9:9, Jeremiah 2:21, Psalm 80:8, & 11; Ezekiel 15:6-8, 17:7-24, 37:15-28. Zechariah 10:9. In the Patriarch Levi, "And by thee and Judah shall the Lord appear among men, saving every race of men. And from the Lord's portion shall be thy life, and he shall be thy field and vineyard." O. Preston Robinson, The Challenge of the Scrolls, How Old is Christ's Gospel? (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Co., 1963), p.47. The Testament of Levi, 2:11, 10:2.

4291- ANF, 4:528, Origen Against Celsus, Book 4, chap. LXIX, God like a Gardener, not being neglectful of the world, & who repairs & restores, from time to time, that which has become in need of Gardening & care. J.C.J Metford, Dictionary of Christian Lore & Legend, Lon., Eng.: Thames & Hudson, 1983, 182-83. The Lost Books of The Bible & The Forgotten Books of Eden, USA, Newfoundland: Alpha House, 1926-27, World Bible Publishers, Lost Books, section, in between p. 232 & 233, 12th cent., art: Christ as a gardener appearing to Mary Magdalene.

4292- Tristram Potter Coffin, The Book of Christmas Folklore, NY: A Continuum Book, Seabury Press 1973, 53-4.

4293- ANF, 2:3, intro. n. p.12, book 1, Vision 2, c.4; p. 35-6, book 3, sim. 5, c. 5-6, n.9, & 4, p.47, book 3, Sim. 9, c. 12, Shepherd of Hermas. ANF, 2:103, chap.22, Theophilus of Antioch, 115-168-181 to critic Autolytus.

4294- Arnold Toynbee, (Ed.), The Crucible of Christianity, Judaism, Hellenism & The Historical Background to the Christian Faith, (NY, & Cleveland, World Pub. Co., CR Thames & Hudson, 1969). Francis Legge, Forerunners & Rivals Of Christianity, (From 330 B.C. TO 330 A.D.), 2 vols., as 1, (New Hyde Park, NY: Un. Books, 1964). Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005). Charles Norris Cochrane, Christianity & Classical Culture, (Clarendon Press, 1940, Paperback; Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1957). Philippe Aries & Georges Duby, General Editors, Translator, Arthur Goldhammer, A History of Private Life, From Pagan to Byzantium, (Cambridge, Massachusetts, Lon., Eng.: The Belknap Press of Harvard Un. Press, 1987), vol. 1, From Pagan Rome to Byzantium. Robin Lane Fox, Pagans & Christians, (NY: Alfred A. Knopf Inc., 1987). Richard R. Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, (USA, Utah: Cedar Fort Inc., 2009). Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, (NY: Simon & Schuster, 1940s-1950s), 11 vols, (1944), 3: Caesar & Christ.

4295- Richard R. Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, (USA, Utah: Cedar Fort Inc., 2009). Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994). Stephen D. Ricks, & LeGrand L. Barker, Who Shall Ascend Into the Hill of the Lord? The Psalms In Israel's Temple Worship In The Old Testament and in the Book of Mormon, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Books, 2009).

4296- H. Clay Trumbull, D.D., The Blood Covenant, A Primitive Rite & its Bearings on Scriptures, (NY: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1885). <https://archive.org/details/bloodcovenantap04trumgoog> - Stephen D. Ricks, & LeGrand L. Barker, Who Shall Ascend Into the Hill of the Lord? The Psalms In Israel's Temple Worship In The Old Testament and in the Book of Mormon, (SLC, Utah: Eborn Books, 2009). Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo & SLC., Utah: FARMS & Deseret Book Co.), vol.1: Old Testament & Related Subjects, (1986), vol. Enoch The Prophet, (1986), vol. 3: The World And The Prophets. Donald W. Parry, (Editor), & others, Temples Of The Ancient World, Ritual and Symbolism, (SLC, Utah: Desert Book Co., 1994, & Provo, Utah: FARMS).

4297- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994). Critics keeping track of Christ sayings, to vilify & by twisting his words into something he didn't say, & vilify-misinterpret him: Matt.22:15-22, 26:21, Mark 14:57-58, Luke 11:53-54, 19:22, 20:20, John 15:8-20. Christ & his disciples, prophets & apostles using the Old Testament prophecies to show Christ fulfilled them, Act 2:25-36, 8:28-35, 10:43, 13:27, 32-37, 17:1-5, 26:22-24, 28:23, Luke 24:13-32, 18:31, 2 Tim.3:14-17, Matt.2:4-6, John 5:39-46, 7:48, 8:52-59, 20:9. A. S. Garretson, Primitive Christianity & Early Criticism, (Boston: Sherman, French & Company, 1912). <https://archive.org/details/primitivechristi01garr> - In Rabbi Joseph Kimchi wrote in Book of the Covenant, "there's a part that attempts to show that the incarnation or embodied-Christ as Messiah, is refutable on scriptural grounds. So while earliest Christians used the scriptures to show Christ fulfilled prophecies, the early anti-Christians amongst the Jews would use the scriptures to counter this claim. Kimchi's son, Rabbi David Kimchi, in "Answers to the Christians," claimed that the "foreshadowings of Christ," were not fulfilled, not even one. See: Pinchas Lapide, Israelis, Jews, and Jesus, (Garden City, NY: Doubleday, 1979), 88-90.

4298- <https://archive.org/stream/monumentalchris00lundgoog/page/n136/mode/2up> - <https://archive.org/details/monumentalchris00lundgoog> - John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, or the Art & Symbolism of the Primitive Church, as Witnesses and Teachers of the One Catholic Faith and Practice, (New York: J. W. Bouton, 1876), p.98. <http://restoredgospelvidences.blogspot.com/2011/03/christ-in-santa-unmasked.html> - Darell Thorpe, The Christ in Santa Unmasked. See also: Kersey Graves, The World's Sixteen Crucified Saviors or Christianity Before Christ (1875), <https://archive.org/details/worldssixteencr00gravgoog> - <https://archive.org/details/worldssixteencru00grav> - ANF, 1:289, Justin Martyr, Hortatory to the Greeks, chap. 37. <https://archive.org/details/TheWorldsSixteenCrucifiedSaviorsOrChristianityBeforeChrist1875-KerseyGraves> - Milton R. Hunter, Christ In Ancient America, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1959), Volume 2. Hunter, The Gospel Through the Ages, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Stevens & Wallis, 1945). <https://archive.org/details/gospelthroughag00hunt> - Joshua Moses Bennett, The Gospel of the Great Spirit, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Morning Star, 1990). Catholic Historian, P. De Roo, History of America Before Columbus, According to Documents and Approved Authors, (Philadelphia & London: J. B. Lippincott Company, 1900), 1:205-9, numerous writings suggest Christ went to other nations. <https://archive.org/details/historyamericab02roogooq> - <https://archive.org/stream/historyamericab02roogooq/page/n268/mode/2up> - Thomas William Doane, Bible Myths, And Their Parallels In Other Religions, (NY: The Truth Seeker Company, 1882 & 1910). <https://archive.org/stream/antenicenfater04robeuoft#page/608/mode/2up> ANF, 1:181, Justin Martyr, 1st Apology, chap. 54. Note the use of the belief that other prophets were preaching of Christ in "all nations." Origen, 185-230-254, used this concept too, in response to the early anti-Christian, 2nd cent., Celsus, ANF, 4:609, book 6, chapters lxxviii—lxxix, Origen Against Celsus; A. S. Garretson, Primitive Christianity and Early Criticisms, (Boston: Sherman, French Company, 1912), 90-91. ANF 3:157-58, Tertullian, An Answer to the Jews.

4299- Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (New York, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993), 181-261, p. 26, n. 101 on p. 43: Irenaeus, Adv. Haer (Against Heresies), 1, 27, 2; Tertullian, Prescription 38; Adv. Marc. (Against Marcion), Book IV & V, passim; Epiphanius, Pan 42, 11-16.

4300- Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (New York, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993). Roland H. Bainton, Behold the Christ, (U.S.A.: Harper, 1974). Mark E. Petersen, The Unknown God, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Bookcraft, Inc., 1978, 2nd printing 1979), 20-47, 59-83, etc. Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994). William G. Rusch, The Trinitarian Controversy, (Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1980).

4301- Eph. 2:12-22, 1 Cor. 3:16-17, 6:9-20, 12:12-27, 15:53-58, 2 Cor. 5:1-17, Rom. 13:8-14, Eph. 4:3-32, 5:26-33, 6:10-19, Phil. 3:8-21, Col. 2:5-23, 3:1-16, Heb. 9:13-24, James 1:21, 27, 4:8, Psa. 24:3-4, 1 Pet. 1:19-25, 2:1-11, 5:5-6, 2 Pet. 1:1-14, 2:13-14, 20-22, Isa. 4:3-4, Jude 10-13, 21-25, Rev. 1:5, 3:4-22, 7:14, 16:15, 19:8, 13-14, Matt. 22:1-13, Psa. 132:9, Isa. 1:16-20, 11:5, 61:1-3, 10, Psa. 30:11, Rev. 22:11-12. Exod. 19:10-11, 14, 24:6-11, 28:2-4, 39-43, 29:1-44, 30:9-10, 24-31, 31:10-16, 35:14-21, 40:9-38, the Book of Leviticus.

4302- Eph. 2:12-22, 4:3-32, 5:26-33, 6:10-19, 1 Cor. 3:16-17, 6:9-20, 12:12-27, 15:53-58, 2 Cor. 5:1-17, Rom. 13:8-14, Phil. 3:8-21, Col. 2:5-23, 3:1-16, Heb. 9:13-24, 1 Pet. 1:19-25, 2:1-11, 5:5-6, 2 Pet. 1:1-14, 2:13-14, 20-22, Jude 10-13, 21-25, Rev. 1:5, 3:4-22, 7:14, 16:15, 19:8, 13-14, Matt. 22:1-13, Psa. 132:9, Isa. 1:16-20, 4:3-4, 11:5, 61:1-3, 10, Rev. 22:11-12. Ed. by John M. Lundquist, & Stephen D. Ricks, By Study & Also By Faith, (SLC, & Provo Utah: Deseret Book Co. & FARMS, 1990), vols., 1 & 2, vol. 1, p. 202-221, William J. Hamblin, "Aspects of an Early Christian Initiation Ritual." Blake Ostler, "Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity," in BYU Studies, Winter 1982, p. 31-45. Darell Thorpe, The Pilgrimage and Struggles of the Human Family In & Through the Different Realms of Existences (1991). Thorpe, The Garments of the 1st & 2nd Adam: [The Symbolical Meanings of Garments In Early To Later Christendom], October 1993, an unpub. research paper & file. Thorpe, The Mystery Behind the Mysteries, Ritualistic Realm Pilgrims in early to later Christian Mysteries, (1996-97). Thorpe, The Armor of Gods (Protective Skins or Garments in History & Color Symbolism), (Kindle Ed., 2012).

4303- Donald Attwater, The Avenel Dictionary of Saints, (NY: Avenel Books, MCMLXV, first pub. by Penguin Books, Ltd., 1965, Avenel ed., 1981), 334-35, see Veronica. Kenneth L. Woodward, Making Saints, How the Catholic Church Determines Who Becomes a Saint, Who Doesn't, and Why, (NY: A Touchstone Book, pub. by Simon & Schuster, 1990, 1996), 60. Omer Englebert, (Christopher & Anne Fremantle, Trans.), The Lives of The Saints, (NY: Barnes & Noble Books, 1994), 51. Robert Ellsberg, All Saints, Daily Reflections on Saints, Prophets, and Witnesses for Our Time, (NY: A Crossroad Book, The Crossroad Publishing Co., 2004), 298-99. Rene Huyghe, (Professor in the College of France, General Editor), Art and Mankind, Larousse Encyclopedia of Renaissance And Baroque Art, (NY: Prometheus Press, 1958, 1961, Paul Hamlyn LTD, 1963, 1964). Auge, Gillon, Hollier-Larousse, Moreau et Cie (Paris France: Librairie Larousse, & this ed., Lon., Eng.: Paul Hamlyn LTD, 1963, Revised ed. 1966, NY: Excalibur Books, 1981 (1986?)), p. 49-50, fig. 78, Rhenish artist, Veronica holding up a veil, or cloth, with the traditional impression of Christ's face on it. Master in Cologne, early 15th c. Another is of the miracle cloth, 1420, German Cologne, Pinakothek, Munich, (p. 50). George Ferguson, Signs & Symbols In Christian Art, (New York: Oxford University Press, 1959), 209, XI, Hans Memling, St. Veronica, National Gallery of Art, Washington. M. V. Alpatov, & others, Frescoes Of The Church Of The Assumption At Volotovo Polye, (Moscow: Iskustvo, 1977), p. 66, fig. 66, Image of the Savior, he's not a three-faced trinity! Fresco, on the eastern wall, about 1380. George Heard Hamilton, The Art & Architecture of Russia, (U.S.A., and England: Penguin Books, 1954 & 1975), p. 105, Simon Ushakov (Moscow) The Veronica (Veronica's Veil), 1660, present location unknown, as of the time of this source's publication. It's interesting to note that none of these faces of Christ have him as a 3-faced trinity!

4304- Regis J. Armstrong, O.F.M., Cap., J.A. Wayne Hellmann, O.F.M., Conv., William J. Short, O.F.M., (Editors), The Saint, Francis of Assisi, (New York, London, Manila: New City Press, 1999, CR Franciscan Institute of St. Bonaventure University, St. Bonaventure, New York).

4305- Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986). Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (New York, San Diego, U.S.A.; London, England: Harcourt Brace & Company). Todd M. Compton's article as chapter 24: The Handclasp and Embrace as Tokens of Recognition. See: By Study and Also By Faith (SLC, & Provo, Utah: Deseret Book & FARMS, 1990), 2 vols, 1:611- 42. Gothic Painting I, (A.S. Geneva: Editions Rencontre Lausanne, 1965, Eng. ed., 1968), 48, Master of Westphalia 14th c., Christ in Purgatory. Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, NY: Pantheon Books 1947, p. 184-87, pl. 100, a & b. 4306- Isa. 41:13, 42:6-7, Psa. 16:8-11, 17:7, 18:35-36, 20:6-9, 30:3, 31:16-18, 37:24, 60:5, 63:8, 73:23-24, 78:54, 108:6, 109:26-27, 118:13-16, 136:12, 138:7-8, 139:5-10, Eph. 4:3-15, 1 Pet. 3:12-22, 4:1-14. Stephen D. Ricks, & LeGrand L. Barker, Who Shall Ascend Into the Hill of the Lord? The Psalms In Israel's Temple Worship In The Old Testament & in the Book of Mormon, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Books, 2009).

4307- Stephen D. Ricks, & LeGrand L. Barker, Who Shall Ascend Into the Hill of the Lord? The Psalms In Israel's Temple Worship In The Old Testament & in the Book of Mormon, SLC, Utah: Eborn Books, 2009. Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1986. Todd M. Compton's article as chap. 24: The Handclasp & Embrace as Tokens of Recognition. See: By Study & Also By Faith SLC, & Provo, Utah: Deseret Book & FARMS, 1990, 2 vols, 1:611-42. Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994, 51-187. Jeffrey M. Bradshaw, Temple Themes In The Book of Moses, SLC, Utah: Eborn Pub., 2010, 26-135, etc. Roger J. Adams, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptisms for the Dead, (unpub. manuscript 1977). Dr. Hugu Nibley, collected works vol. 16: The Message of the Joseph Smith Papyri, An Egyptian Endowment, (Provo & SLC, Utah: FARMS & Deseret Book Co., 2005, 2nd ed.). Darell Thorpe, Jesus Christ's "Everlasting Gospel" & Ancient "Patternism" (SLC, Ut.: RH&PS, 1990, un-publish). Thorpe, The Pilgrimage & Struggles of the Human Family In & Through the Different Realms of Existences (1991). Thorpe, The Grand Pilgrimage: (Footnoting in & "Out of the Best Books"), Vol. I, Part 1, Issues 1-4, April-Aug, 1992. Thorpe, The Mystery Behind the Mysteries, Ritualistic Realm Pilgrims in early to later Christian Mysteries, 1996-97. John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, Princeton Un. Press, 1954. Ellis T. Rasmussen, (General Director), Reflections on Mormonism, Judaeo-Christian Parallels, (Provo, Utah & BYU, Religious Studies Center, 1978), Papers Delivered at the Religious Studies Center Symposium, BYU, March 10-11, 1978), 37-65, 155-173, 201-221.

4308- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994, 51-187. Mark E. Petersen, The Unknown God, SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, Inc., 1978, 2nd print. 1979, 15-126. Richard R. Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, Utah: CFI., 2009. Ellis T. Rasmussen, (General Director), Reflections on Mormonism, Judaeo-Christian Parallels, (Provo, Utah & BYU, Religious Studies Center, 1978), Papers Delivered at the Religious Studies Center Symposium, BYU, March 10-11, 1978), 13-65, 155-173, 201-221. Donald W. Parry, (Editor), many authors providing research papers, and unpublished works for authors to consider, Temples of The Ancient World, Ritual & Symbolism, SLC, Ut.: Desert Book 1994, & Provo, Utah: FARMS).

4309- Elder, Mark E. Petersen, Salvation Comes Through the Church, LDS General Conference talk, April 1973. Donald W. Parry, (Ed.), many authors providing research papers, & unpublished works for authors to consider, Temples of The Ancient World, Ritual & Symbolism, SLC, Ut.: Desert Book 1994, & Provo, Utah: FARMS. Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, Ben Lomond, Calif.: FAIR, 1999, 75-165, 283-351. Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All the Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 17-196. E.O. James, From Cave To Cathedral (Temples & shrines of prehistoric, Classical, & early Christian times), (New York & Washington: Frederick A. Praeger; Thames & Hudson 1965). Jeffrey M. Bradshaw, Temple Themes In The Book of Moses, SLC, Utah: Eborn Pub., 2010. Roger J. Adams, The Iconography of Early Christian Initiation: Evidence for Baptisms for the Dead, (unpub. manuscript 1977). Mircea Eliade, Rites & Symbols of Initiation, NY: Harper & Row, 1958. Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994, 51-187. Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, Provo & SLC, Ut.: FARMS & Deseret Book, vol.4: Mormonism & Early Christianity, (1987).

4310- James L. Barker, Apostasy From The Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 201-605, etc. James L. Barker, The Divine Church, Down Through Change, Apostasy therefrom, and Restoration, (Salt Lake City, Utah: The Deseret News, 1951). Being a course of study for the Melchizedek Priesthood Quorums for the years 1952-4), 3 vols: 1952, 1953, 1954. Noel B. Reynolds, (Editor), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research & Mormon Studies, and Brigham Young University Press, 2005), 205-324. Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1993). Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (Ben Lomond, California: Foundation for Apologetic Information & Research, F.A.I.R., 1999), 75-165, 283-351. Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 127-236, etc. Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions and the Rise of Mormonism, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1970), 8-248.

4311- Roland H. Bainton, Behold the Christ, (U.S.A.: Harper, 1974), 203, figs. 231-33, etc. Jaroslav Pelikan, The Illustrated Jesus Through The Centuries, (New Haven & London: Yale University Press, 1997). Carl Van Treeck and Aloysius Croft, M.A., Symbols in the Church, 1936. <https://archive.org/details/symbolsinchurch00vant> - George Ferguson, Signs & Symbols In Christian Art, (New York: Oxford University Press, 1959). Goblet D'Alviella, (The Count), The Migration of Symbols, (Westminster, 1894, reproduced by University Books, 1956). Heather Child and Dorothy Colles, 1971, Christian Symbols Ancient & Modern, (Charles Scribner's Sons, Great Britain). John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1954). Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986). Julian & Dumitru Dancu, (Trans.), into English, Andreea Gheorghitioiu, Romanian Folk Painting on Glass, (Bucharest: Meridiane Publishing House, 1979), 123 "Dormition of the Virgin, Laz Pavel Zamfir 1897, Jianu Collection, Museum of Oltenia, Craiova, Christ left hand to Mary's hands during ascension into heaven. Top half of Christ is depicted, the rest of him is hid behind the heavenly clouds. Sheila D. Campbell, (Editor), The Malcove Collection, (University of Toronto Press, 1985), 403, 496, hand symbols, possible meanings thought to be for the trinity. The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, (2nd series), vol. 6, 67, 233, 347, 507, see "Finger Language," Jerome, Letter XLVIII to Pammachius, (p. 67), Letter CXXIII, to Ageruchia, (p. 233), Jerome Against Jovinianus Book I, (p. 347). Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments Of Romanesque Art, The Art of Church Treasures in North-Western Europe, (The University of Chicago Press, 1954 and 2nd, Edition, 1967), pl. 66, fig. 151, late X cent., Anglo-Saxon, just the hand of God the Father, clasps Christ's right wrist, while an angel clasps Christ's right hand at the same time, during this ascension of Christ into heaven. Plate 15, fig. 35, the ascension, c. 1000, Christ's right hand to God the Father's right. Walter Oakshott, Classical Inspiration In Medieval Art, (New York, New York: Frederick A. Praeger Inc., 1959), pl. 80, A Carolingian ivory masterpiece, France, 9th c., just the right hand of God the Father extends out of the clouds to clasp Christ's right hand, during his ascension into heaven. Christ was resurrected at the time of his ascension into heaven. Wolfgang Fritz Volbach & Max Hirmer, (Photos), Early Christian Art, (New York: Harry N. Abrams, not dated), 93, Munich, Bavarian National Museum, Ivory Panel, c. 400, Christ's ascension, just the right hand of God the Father extends out of the corner of the art work, or out of a cloud, to clasp Christ's right hand. Again, Christ is resurrected during his ascension. Anthony Rhodes, 1940, Art Treasures of Eastern Europe, (New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons), p. 284 & 360, fig. 294, St. Denis (?), San Callisto Bible: Ascension, San Paolo Fuori Le Mura, Rome, 869-870, Folio 292 verso, miniature painting of Christ's ascension into heaven, Christ's left hand to God the Father's right, just the right hand extends out of the clouds above. George Zarnecki, Art of the Medieval World, (New York: Harry N. Abrams, 1975), p. 135, fig. 132. Initial C with Ascension of Christ, Sacramentary of Drogo, c. 850. Christ's right hand to the Father's right hand, just the right hand of the Father is extended out of the clouds, as Christ ascends into heaven. Leo MacCauley and Anthony Stephenson, The Works of Saint Cyril of Jerusalem, (Washington D.C.: Catholic University Press, 1964). A Library of Fathers of the Holy Catholic Church, (Oxford, London: John Henry Parker, J. G. F. & J., MDCCCXXI, MDCCCXXXIX, Rivington), vol. 2, p. 264-65, The Catechetical Lectures of S. Cyril of Jerusalem, A.D. 386, Lecture XX, on the Mysteries, II, On the Rites of Batism, verse 5. Cyril talks of the wounding in Christ's body, his sufferings, & how the early Christian mysteries are a type of such things. However, they were symbolic of Christ's suffering in ways shown them where they didn't suffer like Christ, but understood by imitations of his suffering in their own bodies. The mysteries centered around our embodied God-Christ types, his physical suffering on the cross, the nail wounds, & his physical resurrection, etc. Robert P. Bergman, The Salerno Ivories, Arts Sacra from Medieval Amalfi, (London, England: Harvard University Press, 1980 & Fellows of Harvard College), p. 103 & 106, illustration 179, Ascension, English Canterbury, about 1180, London, Victoria and Albert Museum, Cat. 99, Christ's ascension, right hand to Father's right, just the Father's hand is seen extended out of the corner of the art work. Just to name a few examples in many that shows, just the Hand of God the Father symbolism.

4312- Huge Nibley, The Early Christian Church in the Light of Some Newly Discovered Papyri from Egypt, (Provo, Utah: FARMS reprint, Nibley 1985. From a talk at a Tri-Stake Fireside, Brigham Young University, March 3, 1964. Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1993), 244, note 15, etc.

4313- The fish symbol of Jonah, in the belly of the large fish, was a type of Christ's descent into the watery abyss, & resurrection motifs. E. Baldwin Smith, The Dome, A Study in the History of Ideas, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1950, 1978), 26-27, see note 52. Jonah 1:17, Matt. 12:39-40. John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, 258-64. Marion P. Ireland notes that: "The fish has been identified with baptism by the early Christian writers, such as Tertullian who wrote: "But we, little fish, are born in water." (Note 9: van der Meer and Mohrmann, Atlas of the Early Christian World, p. 55). "In Jewish art, water filled with fish signifies resurrection." (Note: 10- Goodenough, Jewish Symbols V, 36-61. Running water, or "living water" also represented the life giving water, or "living water" which Christ offers to his followers (John 4:10, 13-14; Matthew 3:11; Jeremiah 2:13; Ezekiel 36:25). See: Marion P. Ireland, Textile Art in the Church, Vestments, Paraments, and Hangings in Contemporary Worship, Art, and Architecture, (Nashville & New York: Abingdon Press, 1966, 1967, 1971), 86-91. An Outline of Christianity The Story of Our Civilization, Vol.1, p.342, Pub. by Bethlehem Pub. 1926. (TANF) 2: p.454, And: Christ Lore, by Fredk. WM. Hackwood, 1902, p.6, 249. And: Treasures of Tutankhamun, by BYU, 1985, p.85. Church Symbolism by F.R. Webber, 1938, p.57, see pl.vi, fig.4 & 9, p.45 pl.iv, fig.19, p.46-7.

4314- Arnold Toynbee, (Editor), The Crucible of Christianity, Judaism, Hellenism & The Historical Background to the Christian Faith, (New York, & Cleveland, World Publishing Co., CR Thames & Hudson, 1969), 337, fig. 13.

- 4315- Stan-Michel Pellistrandi, The Early Christian Civilization, (Forni, Geneva: 1978, Calif., USA: Paradise Found Books, English ed.). Philippe Aries & Georges Duby, General Editors, Translator, Arthur Goldhammer, A History of Private Life, From Pagan to Byzantium, (Cambridge, Massachusetts, Lon., Eng.: The Belknap Press of Harvard University Press, 1987), vol. I, From Pagan Rome to Byzantium, Robin Lane Fox, Pagans & Christians, (NY: Alfred A. Knopf Inc., 1987). Stephen Benko, Pagan Rome & The Early Christians, (Indiana: Indiana Un. Press, 1984). W. H. C. Frend: Martyrdom & Persecution In The Early Church, NY: Anchor Books Doubleday & Co., 1967). Daniel C. Peterson, Dr. & Stephen David Ricks, Professor: Offenders For A Word {How Anti-Mormons Play Word Games to Attack the Latter-day Saints}, (SLC, Utah: Aspen Books, 1992). Robert Louis Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, Yale Un. Press; New Haven & London, 1984. Francis Legge, Forerunners And Rivals Of Christianity, (From 330 B.C. TO 330 A.D.), 2 Vols. as 1, (New Hyde Park, New York: University Books, 1964).
- 4316- Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (New York, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993), 10 & 181-261, p. 36, note 35, p. 245, note 21: Clement, Strom. VI, 9; Origen, SerMt 100. Acts of John, 89-93. John A. McGuckin, "The Changing Forms of Jesus." Acts of John, known to Eusebius, Hist. Eccl. III, 25, 6). There is also the transfiguration story, Mark 9:2-8, suddenly appearing in a locked room to show he had a body, (John 20:19), he sometimes appears, but people don't recognize him at first, thus that later guises that traditions & art works have him appearing as: A man of sorrows, leper, pilgrim, one of the least of these his brethren, the sick, stranger, wandering child, old woman, Gardner, Shepherd, plus other guises of lore, legends, & Christmas traditions in later centuries. See: Luke 22:13-27, (sacrament), appears, Matt. 25:13-14, 31-46, 28:9-10, Mark 16:9-15, Luke 24:13-48, John 20:11-31. Darell Thorpe, The Christ in Santa Unmasked [How Modern Traditions & Legends About Santa Can Be Traced Back To The Early Christian Doctrine That Christ Went to Other Nations Around The World]. (CR 1994, revised December 1995). Thorpe, Christ's Pilgrimage Unto the Ends of the Earth (1996). Jesus Christ, The World Wide Wounded Wanderer, (CR 1992, 1998, Revised 2011, 2ND Ed. 2013, First illustrated Edition, 3rd Text, 12-12-2013).
- 4317- Darell Thorpe, The Christ in Santa Unmasked [How Modern Traditions & Legends About Santa Can Be Traced Back To The Early Christian Doctrine That Christ Went to Other Nations Around The World]. (CR 1994, revised December 1995). Thorpe, Christ's Pilgrimage Unto the Ends of the Earth (1996). Jesus Christ, The World Wide Wounded Wanderer, (CR 1992, 1998, Revised 2011, 2ND Ed. 2013, First illustrated Ed., 3rd Text, 12-12-2013).
- 4318- Hugu Honour & John Fleming, The Visual Arts: A History, (New Jersey: Pearson Education, Prentice Hall, 1982, 1991, 1995, 1999, 2002, 2005, 7th edition), 291-94, figs. 7.4 & 7.5. Arnold Toynbee, (Editor), The Crucible of Christianity, Judaism, Hellenism & The Historical Background to the Christian Faith, NY, & Cleveland, World Pub. Co., CR Thames & Hudson, 1969, 337 & 345, fig. 13.
- 4319- Hugu Nibley, Since Cumorah, (SLC, Ut.: Deseret Books, 1967, 1976), 217.
- 4320- David Sox, Relics & Shrines, (Boston & Sydney, Lon.: George Allen & Unwin, 1985). Joan Carroll Cruz, Relics, The Shroud of Turin, the True Cross, the blood of Januarius History Mysticism, & the Catholic Church, (Indiana: Our Sunday Visitor, Inc., 1984). Roland Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back ed, 1950 Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville), 69-71. James Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Ut: Deseret News Press, 1960), 249-485, 610-11, 662-664, 673-766. Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions & the Rise of Mormonism, (SLC, Ut: Deseret Book Co, 1970), 10-248. Berard L. Marthaler, O.F.M. Conv., The Creed, (Mystic, Connecticut: Twenty-Third Publications, 1987, 2nd print), 62-87, 102-114, 328-346. Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Co. 1968), 12, 31, 51, 146-49, 151, 189, 282, & 305.
- 4321- Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (Ben Lomond, California: Foundation for Apologetic Information & Research, F.A.I.R., 1999), 98, foot note 66: Cherbonnier, E. LaB., "In Defense of Anthropomorphism," in Madsen, ed., Reflections on Mormonism, 163-64.
- 4322- R. Joseph Hoffmann, trans. Celsus On The True Doctrine, A Discourse Against the early Christians, (Oxford Un. Press, 1987), 73-74, 86-87, notes 99-100. ANF, 4:456-7, 460, 486-87, 502, 509, 547-551, 562-3, 593-4, 601-2, 614, 641, 646-7, 657-8, 664 & 668. Origen Against Celsus, book 3, chaps. Iv-lviii. Caesar & Christ, The Story of Civilization: Part 3, A History of Roman Civilization & of Christianity from their beginnings to A.D. 325, Will Durant, 1944 p.647, n. 8 on p.647, 701 for Chap.30. 8. Friedlander, III, 186. Alfred Firmin Loisy, The Birth of the Christian Religion & The Origins of the New Testament, French title: La Naissance du Christianisme Les Origines du Nouveau Testament, translated by L. P. Jacks, (University books, 1962), 210-211. Stan-Michel Pellistrandi, The Early Christian Civilization, (Forni, Geneva: 1978, Calif., USA: Paradise Found Books, English edition), 180-199. Stephen Benko, Pagan Rome & The Early Christians, (Indiana Un. Press, 1984), 54-78, 84-85, n.18, on p. 99-100, Ad uxorem 2.4, E.T., ANF 4.34, Paedagogus 3.11, ANF 2.291.
- 4323- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 152-512. Noel B. Reynolds, Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, Provo, Utah: FARMS, & BYU Press, 2005, 241-93, ch. by David L. Paulsen, Divine Embodiment: The Earliest Christian Understanding of God. Barry Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, Ben Lomond, Calif.: F.A.I.R., 1999, 75-165, chap., The Doctrine of God & the Nature of Man. Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions & the Rise of Mormonism, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Co., 1970, 10-17, 26-31, 35-40.
- 4324- Noel B. Reynolds, Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: FARMS & BYU Press, 2005), 256, n.45: Robert P. Casey, "Clement of Alexandria & the Beginnings of Christian Platonism," Harvard Theological Review, 18 (1925): 79. Robert M. Grant, Gods & the One God, (Philadel.: Westminster, 1986), 90-1.
- 4325- ANF, 4, Origen. Noel B. Reynolds, (Ed.), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: FARMS & BYU Press, 2005), 256-257. Joseph Wilson Trigg, Origen, The Bible & Philosophy in the Third-century Church, (Atlanta: 1946, 1952, 1971, 1973, & John Knox Press, 1983), chap. 3, p.52-75. Richard A. Norris, God & World in Early Christian Theology, (Lon.: Adam & Charles Black, 1966), 106-29. Robert M. Grant, Gods & the One God, (Philadelphia: Westminster, 1986), 91-92.
- 4326- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994, 119.
- 4327- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994, 117-19. Richard R. Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, (USA, Utah: Cedar Fort Inc., 2009). Mark E. Petersen, The Unknown God, (SLC, Ut.: Bookcraft, 1978), 15-50. Ellis T. Rasmussen, (General Director), Reflections on Mormonism, Judaeo-Christian Parallels, (Provo, Utah & BYU, Religious Studies Center, 1978), Papers Delivered at the Religious Studies Center Symposium, BYU, March 10-11, 1978), 155-73. Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005).

4328- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005). Huge Nibley, Collected Works, (Provo & SLC, Utah: FARMS & Deseret Book), vol.3: The World & The Prophets. Nibley, The Early Christian Church in the Light of Some Newly Discovered Papyri from Egypt, talk at a Tri-Stake Fireside, BYU, March 3, 1964.

4329- Noel Reynolds, Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: FARMS & BYU Press, 2005), 218, chap.: Intro. of Philosophy into Early Christianity, by Daniel W. Graham & James L. Siebach, n.25: Origen, Sermon on Ezekiel, in Bettenson, Early Christian Fathers, 186–87.

4330- Noel B. Reynolds, (Editor), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: FARMS, & BYU Press, 2005), 217–218, chap.: The Introduction of Philosophy into Early Christianity, by Daniel W. Graham & James L. Siebach, notes 23 & 24, p.218: Origen, Commentary on John, 13.13, Bettenson, Early Christian Fathers. Origen Against Celsus, 8.12.

4331- Dr. Huge Nibley, 1987, The World of the Prophets, in The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo & SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Co., & FARMS), Vol. 2, p. 77.

4332- Dr. Huge Nibley, 1987, The World of the Prophets, in The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo & SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Co., & FARMS), Vol. 3, p. 157-8.

4333- Noel B. Reynolds, (Editor), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: FARMS & BYU Press, 2005), 24.

4334- Noel B. Reynolds, (Ed.), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: FARMS & BYU Press, 2005), 241, chap. David L. Paulsen, Divine Embodiment: The Earliest Christian Understanding of God.

4335- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 96.

4336- Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (New York, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993), 181.

4337- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 96, p. 247, bib., by last name: Thomas, M. Catherine, "The Influence of Asceticism on the Rise of Christian Text, Doctrine, and Practice in the First Two Centuries," (Provo, Ut.: BYU, 1989), Ph.D, diss., p. 161, etc.

4338- G. W. Butterworth, Origen On First Principles, (Gloucester, Massachuset: Peter Smith 1973, & Harper & Row, 1966). Joseph Wilson Trigg, Origen The Bible & Philosophy in the Third-century Church, (Atlanta: 1946, 1952, 1971, 1973, & John Knox Press, 1983). The Library of Christian Classics, volume 2, Alexandrian Christianity, Selected Translations of Clement & Origen with Introductions and Notes, by John Ernest Leonard Oulton, D.D., Regius Professor of Divinity in the University of Dublin; Chancellor of St. Patrick's and Henry Chadwick, B.D., Fellow & Dean of Queens' College, Cambridge. (Philadelphia: The Westminster Press). Dr. Huge Nibley, 1987, The World of the Prophets. Also radio shows from the 1950s on KSL, Time vindicates the Prophets.

4339- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 221–467.

4340- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 239.

4341- Barry R. Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (Calif.: F.A.I.R., 1999), 95, notes 58, 59: Hansen, R. "The Achievement of Orthodoxy in the 4th Century AD" in Rowan Williams, The Making of Orthodoxy: Essay in Honour of Henry Chadwick, NY: Cambridge Un. Press, 1989, 151–52. Tert., Against Praxeas, 7, TANF 3:602.

4342- Noel B. Reynolds, (Editor), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: FARMS & BYU Press, 2005), 268–282, n.72 & 84, Morgan, Importance of Tertullian, 103. Tertullian, Against Praxeas, 1.7, TANF, 3:185, 188–191, 203, 208, 220, 252, 256, 523–525, 542, 549–550, 557–58, 581, 587, 602, 607, Treatise on the Soul, 1.5–11, 23, 27, 40, On the Flesh of Christ, 1.4–7, 24, On Baptism, 4, On the Resurrection of the Flesh, 1.6– 7, 18, 48, 53. On Prescription against Heretics, 1.20, 28. Etc.

4343- Diane E. Wirth, Weaving Golden Threads, Early Christianity & its Restoration, (SLC., Utah: Eborn Books, 2015), 20, 201, n. 5: Tertullian, Against Praxeas, 2.19-23, 3:30, trans., Dr. Holmes, in Writings of the Early Church Fathers on SearchGodsWord.org, which link may or may not be working by the time of this reading. See: <http://www.searchgodsword.org/his/ad/ecf/ant/tertullian/view.cgi?file=anf03-43.htm>

4344- ANF 3:603-604, Tertullian, Against Praxeas, chaps., 9-10, see note 1, on p. 604: Bp. Raye, On Tertullian, p. 505 & 507, note 3. John 14:16, 28, Psalms 8:5, Matthew 5:37. William G. Ruch, The Trinitarian Controversy, (Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1980). Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (New York, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993).

4345- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 109, 422, note 16: ANF, 6:94, cited by Athanasius, emphasis added.

4346- Diane E. Wirth, Weaving Golden Threads, Early Christianity & its Restoration, (SLC., Utah: Eborn Books, 2015), 36–37, 204, n. 43: ANF 5:637. Novatian, Treatise Concerning the Trinity, XXVII.

4347- Noel B. Reynolds, Ed., Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: FARMS & BYU Press, 2005), 263–265. Joseph Wilson Trigg, Origen, The Bible & Philosophy in the Third-century Church, (Atlanta: 1946, 52, 71, 73, & John Knox Press, 1983).

4348- Noel B. Reynolds, (Ed.), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: FARMS & BYU Press, 2005), 265, n67: Gennadius, Liber ecclesiasticorum dogmatum, 24.2 in Cuthbert H. Turner, "The Liber Ecclesiasticorum Dogmatum Attributed to Gennadius, Journal of Theological Studies 7 (1909): 90. James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 238–512. Michael Kerrigan, A Dark History: Catholic Church, Schisms, Wars, Inquisitions, Witch Hunts, Scandals, Corruption, (NY: Metro Books, 2014). James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, & the Defeat of the Moors, (NY, NY, Doubleday, 2005).

4349- Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (Ben Lomond, California: Foundation for Apologetic Information & Research, F.A.I.R., 1999), 88. Foot note 35: The Gospel of Bartholomew, in The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 172. See link that may or may not still be working. <http://www.bing.com/search?q=Gospel+of+Bartholomew+PDF&FORM=QSERI>

4350- R. Joseph Hoffmann, Celsus On The True Doctrine, A Discourse Against the early Christians, (Oxford Un. Press, 1987). A. S. Garretson, Primitive Christianity & Early Criticism, (Boston: Sherman, French & Co. 1912). ANF 4, Origen Against Celsus, 8 books. Stan-Michel Pellistrandi, The Early Christian Civilization, Ferni, Geneva: 1978, Calif., Paradise Found Books.

- 4351- Barry Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, Calif.: F.A.I.R., 1999, 90–91, n.45 Augustine, Confessions 5:14 & 6:3, N&PNF Ser. I, 1:88, 91.
- 4352- Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (California: F.A.I.R., 1999), 91, foot note 46: Augustine, quoted in David L. Paulsen, “The Doctrine of Divine Embodiment: Restoration, Jueo-Christians, and Philosophical Perspectives,” BYU Studies, 35 (1995–1996): 76.
- 4353- Noel B. Reynolds, (Ed.), Early Christians in Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research & Mormon Studies, & Brigham Young University Press, 2005), 290, Colm Luibheid, trans., John Cassian: Conference (NY: Paulist, 1985), 125–27. Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (Ben Lomond, California: Foundation for Apologetic Information & Research, F.A.I.R., 1999), 88, foot notes 36–38: Wand, A History of the Early Church to A.D. 500, p. 181, 209–210. Elizabeth A. Clark, The Origenist Controversy: The Cultural Construction of an Early Christian Debate, (Princeton, NJ: Princeton University Press, 1992), 66.
- 4354- <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Audianism> Audianism, or Anthropomorphites.
- 4355- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, Vol.1, p. 223-4, & 228. Justin Martyr’s Dialogue With Trypho.
- 4356- Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (Calif., F.A.I.R., 1999), 93, n. 50: Irenaeus, Against Heresies 4:3:1, in ANF, 1:465.
- 4357- Barry Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, Calif.: FAIR, 1999, 93, n.51, Irenaeus, Proof of the Apostolic Preaching 11, in ACW 16:54, cf. Against Heresies, 5:6:1, ANF, 1:531.
- 4358- Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, Calif.: F.A.I.R., 1999, 94, n.52, Irenaeus, Against Heresies, 4:7:2-4, ANF, 1:470.
- 4359- 1000 Evidences for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, Volume 1, The Everlasting Gospel, The First 500 Evidences, by Allen H. Richardson, M. Ed., David E. Richardson, Ph. D., and Anthony E. Bentley, M. Sc., (Salt Lake City, Utah: Hawkes, 1994), Vol.1, p.198, making references to: Edmund Wilson, The Scrolls From the Dead Sea, [Oxford: Oxford Un., Press, 1955], pp. 75-6, cited in Robinson, Christ's Eternal Gospel, [1976], p. 106. See also: The Ante-Nicene Fathers, Vol.2, Intro. note to Hermas, pp.3-7; Van Hale, Mormon Issues #1, April, 1991, p.4, Bible, So Many Versions, by Van Hale & Bill Forrest with Don Bradley on this issue. See also: Apostasy to Restoration, by T. Edgar Lyon, Deseret Book Co. SLC., Ut., 1960, p.67. Lundy: Shepherd of Hermas was the most popular of books in the Christian community, i. e., 2nd–5th c. John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, (NY., J W Bouton, 1876), 196.
- 4360- The binitarian formulas are found in Rom.8:11, 2 Cor.4:14, Gal.1:1, Eph. 1:20, 1 Tim. 1:2, 1 Pet. 1:21; Thus, the triadic schema is discovered in Matt. 28:19, 1 Cor. 6:11 & 12:4ff., Gal. 3:11-14, Heb. 10:29, & 1 Pet. 1:2. All these passages indicate that there is no fixity (the state of being unchanging or permanent) of wording.
- 4361- Paul Carcus 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Bks, 1996, 148–49.
- 4362- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 128, 222, 242: F. J. Foakes-Jackson, The History of the Christian Church, (NY: George H. Doran Co., 1927), 300.
- 4363- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 51-223. Mark E. Petersen, The Unknown God, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Bookcraft, Inc., 1978, 2nd printing 1979), 15-126. Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005). William Stevart McBurnie, The Search for the Twelve Apostles, (Illinois: Living Books, Tyndale House Publishers, Inc., 1973). James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960. Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, and the Promised Restoration, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book, 2006).
- 4364- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 267.
- 4365- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 239–41, foot notes 2–5: Mourret-Thompson, A History of the Catholic Church, Vol. II, p. 6, & 11. Socrates, Ecclesiastical History, 1, 5 (Nicene Fathers, Second Series, II, 3). Manuel d’ Histoire Ecclesiastique, Vol. I, p. 151, 152. Louis Marie Oliver Abbe Duchesne, Histoire Ancienne de l’ Eglise, (Paris: Fontemoing & Cie, 1911, 5th edition), 3 vols., vol. II, p. 128–31.
- 4366- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 123-25.
- 4367- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 238–44, foot notes 11–12: Auguste Boulenger, Histoire Générale de l’ Eglise, (Paris: Librairie Catholique, Emmanuel Vitte, 1931– 1947), 9 vols., 3, p. 29. Migne, P. G. T. XVIII, c. 572, cited by Jacquin, Histoire de l’Eglise, Vol. I, p. 310.
- 4368- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994, 124-32, 223, n. 31: Edward L. Cutts, Constantine the Great: The Union of the State & the Church, Lon.: Society of Promoting Christian Knowledge, 1881, 333, 335. Gene Gurney, Kingdoms of Europe, An Illustrated Encyclopedia of Ruling Monarchs from Ancient Times to the Present, NY: Crown Pub. Inc., 1982, 26-27, 46. Mark E. Petersen, The Unknown God, SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, Inc., 1978, 2nd printing 1979, 41-47. Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, NY: Simon & Schuster, 1940s–1950s, 11 vols, (1944), 3: Caesar & Christ, p. 655-661, 226-27, 256, 260, 268-69, 274, 280, 291-92, 309, 316, 388, 430, 432, 523, 623, 640-41, 646, 716, deification in index. Page 702, n. 36, & p. 675: A.C. Flick, Rise of the Medieval Church, NY: 1909, 123-4. Brigham Henry Roberts, Outlines of Ecclesiastical History, A Text Book, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Co., 1979, Classics in Mormon Literature, 129-35, 188-94. James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 205, 221-287. Paul Stephenson, Constantine, Roman Emperor, Christian Victor, NY: The Overlook Press, 2009, 2010, uncorrected proofs / Pub. date June 2010. David L. Dungan, Constantine’s Bible, Politics & the Making of the New Testament, Minneapolis: Fortress Press 2007.
- 4369- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 204–205, foot notes 3–5: Eusebius, Ecclesiastical History, IX. Eusebius, Life of Constantine. Joseph Lortz (French Catholic writer), Edwin G. Kaiser, (trans. amended & adapted by Kaiser), History of the Church, (Milwaukee: Bruce Publishing Co., 1939), 78–79. William G. Rusch, The Trinitarian Controversy, (Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1980). Brigham Henry Roberts, Outlines of Ecclesiastical History, A Text Book, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1979, Classics in Mormon Literature), 127–137. Gene Gurney, Kingdoms of Europe, An Illustrated Encyclopedia of Ruling Monarchs from Ancient Times to the Present, (New York: Crown Publishers, Inc., 1982), 24–27.
- 4370- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 245–282.

- 4371- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 135-36, 223, n. 43, p. 239; Timothy D. Barnes, Constantine and Eusebius, (Cambridge, Mass.: Harvard Un. Press 1981), 220.
- 4372- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 125-6.
- 4373- Dr. Hugu Nibley, 1987, The World of the Prophets, in The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, & F.A.R.M.S), Vol. 3, p. 47.
- 4374- Dr. Hugu Nibley, 1987, The World of the Prophets, in The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, F.A.R.M.S), Vol. 3, p.47, & 301-2, citing from Patrologia Cursus Completus, Series Graeca = PG, (Paris: J.-P. Migne, 1857-1866), 161 volumes, see 67:41-57, 64, 68, 72, & 76.
- 4375- Dr. Hugu Nibley, 1987, The World of the Prophets, in The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, (Provo & SLC, Ut: Deseret Book Co., & F.A.R.M.S), Vol. 3, p.48-50, & 301-2, citing PG, 26:684, 688-9, 760. J.-P. Migne, Patrologiae Cursus Completus... Series Latina = PL, (Paris: 1844-1864), 221 vols, 10:566-68.
- 4376- Dr. Hugu Nibley, 1987, The World of the Prophets, in The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, (Provo & SLC, Ut: Deseret Book Co., & F.A.R.M.S), Vol. 3, p. 50, 302, PL 10:566-68.
- 4377- Dr. Hugu Nibley, 1987, The World of the Prophets, in The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, (Provo & SLC, Ut: Deseret Book Co., & F.A.R.M.S), Vol. 3, p. 50-1, PL 10:567.
- 4378- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 247–48, 254–55, 268–82. Mark E. Petersen, The Unknown God, SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1978, 2nd printing 1979), 41–47.
- 4379- W. H. C. Frend, Martyrdom & Persecution In The Early Church, (NY: Anchor Books Doubleday & Co., 1967). Stan-Michel Pellistrandi, The Early Christian Civilization, (Forni, Geneva: 1978, California, USA: Paradise Found Books, English ed.). Stephen Benko, Pagan Rome & The Early Christians, (Indiana: Indiana Un. Press, 1984). Robin Lane Fox, Pagans & Christians, (NY: Alfred A. Knopf Inc., 1987). Robert Louis Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, (Yale Un. Press; New Haven & London, 1984).
- 4380- Noel B. Reynolds, (Editor), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research & Mormon Studies, and Brigham Young University Press, 2005), 221, see chapter: The Introduction of Philosophy into Early Christianity, by Daniel W. Graham & James L. Siebach. William G. Rusch, The Trinitarian Controversy, (Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1980). Berard L. Marthaler, O.F.M. Conv., The Creed, (Mystic, Connecticut: Twenty-Third Publications, 1987, second printing). James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 238–332.
- 4381- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 269–70, note 27–29: Louis Marie Oliver Abbe Duchesne, Histoire Ancienne de l' Eglise, (Paris: Fontemoing & Cie, 1911, 5th ed.), 3 vols., 2:154–55. Karl Joseph Hefele, Histoire des Conciles d' Apres les Documents Originaux. Trans. from German by Leclercq, a Benedictine monk. (Paris: Letouzey et Ane, 1907–1917), 8 vols., vol. 1, Part 1, p. 449–50.
- 4382- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 131-32.
- 4383- H. St. L. B. Moss, The Birth of the Middle Ages 395–814, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 36.
- 4384- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 271– 82.
- 4385- Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, (NY: Simon & Schuster, 1940s–1950s), 11 vols, 3: Caesar and Christ, p. 226–27, 256, 260, 266, 268, 269, 274, 280, 291–92, 309, 316, 388, 430, 432, 523, 623, 640–41, & 646.
- 4386- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 205–206, & 498–499, etc. Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005).
- 4387- Audio file lecture of David Harwel, 1986, lecturing on the life of Athanasius.
- 4388- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 268–292.
- 4389- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 292–97, foot note 23: (A Roman Catholic scholar), A. M. Jacquin, Histoire de l' Eglise, (Paris: Desclee de Cie. 1928), 2 vols., vol. 2, p. 139. Athanasius, Tomas ad Antioch, 5. H. St. L. B. Moss, The Birth of the Middle Ages 395–814, (Lon.: The Folio Society, 1998). Sidney Painter, A History of the Middle Ages, 284-1500, (Alfred A. Knopf, 1953).
- 4390- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 288–91, 304, foot note 17 on p. 291: Jackson Foakes, John Frederick, History of the Christian Church from the Earliest Times to A.D., 461. (Cambridge; Deighton, Bell and Co., 1942, 6th edition), 336–37.
- 4391- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 298–321. Jaroslav Pelikan, Jesus Through the Centuries, His Place in the History of Culture, (New Haven & London: Yale University Press, 1985). Roland H. Bainton, Behold the Christ, (U.S.A.: Harper, 1974). Richard R. Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, (USA, Utah: Cedar Fort Inc., 2009). Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 148–150, 472–74.
- 4392- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 298–299, foot note 4: Mourret, Histoire Générale de l' Eglise, vol. 2, p. 145.
- 4393- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 299–301, foot notes 5–7: Poulet-Raemers, A History of the Catholic Church, vol. 1, p. 155. Funk, Lehrbuch der Kirchengeschichte, p. 122–323. Mourret, Histoire Générale de l' Eglise, Vol. II, p. 146–47.
- 4394- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 298–303.
- 4395- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 329, foot note 2: The Catholic Encyclopedia, vol. 7, article: “Holy Ghost,” p. 410.
- 4396- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 298–306.
- 4397- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 305–307.
- 4398- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 342–44. Foot notes 1–4: D. H. Kromminga, A History of the Christian Church, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: Wm. B. Eerdmans Publishing Co., 1948), 77. Philip Schaff, History of the Christian Church, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: Wm. B. Eerdmans Publisher Co., 1950), 8 vols., vol. 3, p. 710 & 714.
- 4399- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 344.

- 4400- Noel B. Reynolds, (Editor), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: FARMS, & BYU Press, 2005), 13.
- 4401- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 263–308.
- 4402- H. St. L. B. Moss, The Birth of the Middle Ages 395–814, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 36. Nicolas Cheetham, Keepers of the Keys, A History of the Popes from St. Peter to John Paul II, (NY: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1983), 22–23. William G. Rusch, The Trinitarian Controversy, (Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1980).
- 4403- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 339–340, 342.
- 4404- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 205–766. Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions and the Rise of Mormonism, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1970). Jonathan Kirsch, God Against the Gods, The History of the War Between Monotheism & Polytheism, (New York, New York: Viking Compass, Penguin Group, 2004). Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (New York, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993).
- 4405- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 255–424.
- 4406- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 245–308.
- 4407- Noel B. Reynolds, (Editor), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research & Mormon Studies, and Brigham Young University Press, 2005), 10-15. James L. Barker, Apostasy From The Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 137–512. Paul Johnson, A History of Christianity, (New York: Atheneum, 1976).
- 4408- H. St. L. B. Moss, The Birth of the Middle Ages 395–814, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 36. Nicolas Cheetham, Keepers of the Keys, A History of the Popes from St. Peter to John Paul II, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1983), 22–23. William G. Rusch, The Trinitarian Controversy, (Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1980). James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 308–18.
- 4409- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 559–60, foot notes 3 & 4: Philip Smith, History of the Christian Church, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: Wm. B. Eerdmans Publishing, Co., 1950), 8 vols., vol. 3, p. 141–42. Charles Poulet, A History of the Catholic Church, (Translated by Sidney A. Raemers., (St. Louis: B. Herder Book Co., 1951), 2 vols., vol. 1, p. 249. Gene Gurney, Kingdoms of Europe, An Illustrated Encyclopedia of Ruling Monarchs from Ancient Times to the Present, (New York: Crown Publishers, Inc., 1982), 28, & 47, for reign time of Theodosius I (the Great), 379–395 reigned in the East.
- 4410- James Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 308–16, 498–500.
- 4411- W.H.C. Frend, Martyrdom & Persecution In The Early Church, NY: Anchor Books Doubleday & Co., 1967.
- 4412- Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions and the Rise of Mormonism, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1970, 10, 15–17. Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, NY: Simon & Schuster, 1940s, 11 vols, vol. 3, Caesar & Christ, 1944, p. 226-7, 256, 260, 268-9, 274, 280, 291-2, 309, 388, 430, 432, 523, 623, 640-1, 646, see also index on "deification," p. 716. Francis Legge, Forerunners And Rivals Of Christianity, (From 330 B.C. TO 330 A.D.), 2 Volumes as 1, New Hyde Park, NY: Un. Books, 1964, Vol.1, p.134-5. Arthur Cushman McGiffert, A History of Christian Thought, NY, & Lon.: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1932, & 1954, vol. 1, p. 140-1.
- 4413- Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions and the Rise of Mormonism, (SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1970), 15–16. Gene Gurney, Kingdoms of Europe, An Illustrated Encyclopedia of Ruling Monarchs from Ancient Times to the Present, (New York: Crown Publishers, Inc., 1982), 28.
- 4414- H. St. L. B. Moss, The Birth of the Middle Ages 395–814, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 36–37.
- 4415- Prof. Daniel C. Peterson, 8-24-2011, Sandy, Utah, FAIR Conference, in between talks, interview with Darell Thorpe, (then a radio producer for KTKK 630 AM Radio, K-Talk, South Jordan, Utah, Drive Time Live, The Mills Crenshaw Show). This interview was later included in a documentary now on You Tube: RARE FLIX, Rare Documentaries, 9-17-2017, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Religious, Historical & Polemical Studies, 1985-2017, & MMM or 3rd Millennium Music/Movie Makers), episode: THERE IS NO EVIDENCE, THERE ARE NO EVIDENCES. Series #1, Evidences for the Restored Gospel, (9-12-2017). To clarify the meaning of the title, it's a response to critics of The Book of Mormon, that often charge, that: 'There is no evidence,' for the Book of Mormon. Thus, the documentary challenges this claim by showing, that there is no evidence, that there are no evidences. In other words, because there are many evidences from different areas of research, there is no evidence, that there are no evidences, because the evidences are mounting, accumulating year by year! Especially, as more research in different areas of studies are being done, such as research into early to later Christianity.
- 4416- Joseph F. McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Ut.: Bookcraft 1994, p.110. David L. Paulsen, "Early Christian Belief in a Corporeal Deity: Origen & Augustine as Reluctant Witnesses," Harvard Theological Review, 83 (1991), 105-16. Noel B. Reynolds, (Editor), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research & Mormon Studies, and Brigham Young University Press, 2005), 239-93, chapter by David L. Paulsen, "Divine Embodiment: The Earliest Christian Understanding of God."
- 4417- Joseph F. McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Ut.: Bookcraft 1994, 109-10, 221, notes 9-11, p. 244-5: David L. Paulsen, "Early Christian Belief in a Corporeal Deity: Origen & Augustine as Reluctant Witnesses," Harvard Theological Review, 83 (1991), 105-16, p. 114.
- 4418- Prof. Daniel C. Peterson, 8-24-2011, Sandy, Utah, FAIR Conference, in between talks, interview with Darell Thorpe, You Tube: RARE FLIX, 9-17-2017, THERE IS NO EVIDENCE, THERE ARE NO EVIDENCES.
- 4419- Joseph F. McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Ut.: Bookcraft 1994, 110-111, 221: David L. Paulsen, "Early Christian Belief in a Corporeal Deity: Origen & Augustine as Reluctant Witnesses," Harvard Theological Review, 83 (1991), 105-16, p. 114-5.
- 4420- Noel B. Reynolds, (Ed.), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Ut: FAIR & BYU Press, 2005), 263–265. Joseph Wilson Trigg, Origen, The Bible and Philosophy in the Third-century Church, (Atlanta: 1946, 1952, 1971, 1973, & John Knox Press, 1983), 283–286, notes 114–117, Augustine, Confessions, (Middlesex, England: Penguin, 1961), 62–63, 104–5, 114–15, in R. S. Pine-Coffin, trans., Confessions, 3.7, 5.10, 6.3–4 Stroumsa, "Incorporeality of God," 352. Etc. James Barker, Apostasy From The Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 428–512. Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions and the Rise of Mormonism, (SLC, Ut: Deseret Book Co., 1970). Joseph F. McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Ut.: Bookcraft 1994, 110-111, 221: David L. Paulsen, "Early Christian Belief in a Corporeal Deity: Origen &

- Augustine as Reluctant Witnesses,” Harvard Theological Review, 83 (1991), 105-16, p. 114-5.
- 4421- Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, NY: Simon & Schuster, 1940s-50s, 11 vols., 4: The Age of Faith, A History of Medieval Civilization – Christian, Islamic, and Judaic – from Constantine to Dante: A.D. 325-1300, p. 70-71, notes 77-82. Augustine, Confessions, xiii, 16. City of God, iv, 27. De libero arbitrio, ii, 16. De Gen. Ad litt., vii, 28; De Wulf, History of Medieval Philosophy, I, 117-18; Catholic Encyclopedia, II, 90.
- 4422- Mark E. Petersen, The Unknown God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, Inc., 1978, 2nd print. 1979), 37-38, St. Augustine, The City of God, (NY: Random House 1950), 649.
- 4423- Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (Calif.: FAIR., 1999), 90, n.44: Augustine, Confessions 5:10, TN&PNF, Series I, 1:86.
- 4424- Noel B. Reynolds, (Ed.), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, Provo, Utah: FARMS, & BYU Press, 2005, 288, Otto F. A., Monks & Monasteries of the Egyptian Deserts, rev. ed., (Cairo: American University in Cairo Press, 1989), 53.
- 4425- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 201–766, 345–46, foot notes 6–9: Karl Joseph Hefele, Histoire des Conciles d’ Apres les Documents Originaux. Trans. from German by Leclercq, a Benedictine monk. (Paris: Letouzey et Ane, 1907–1917), 8 vols., vol. 2, p. 232, 244, 245 note. Philip Schaff, History of the Christian Church, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: Wm. B. Eerdmans Publisher Co., 1950), 8 vols., vol. 3, p. 720. Charles Poulet, (trans. Sidney A. Raemers), A History of the Catholic Church, (St. Louis: B. Herder Book Co., 1951), 2 vols., vol. 1, p. 230. Richard R. Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, (USA, Utah: Cedar Fort Inc., 2009). Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (New York, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993). William G. Rusch, The Trinitarian Controversy, (Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1980). Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions and the Rise of Mormonism, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1970), 8–248. Gene Gurney, Kingdoms of Europe, An Illustrated Encyclopedia of Ruling Monarchs from Ancient Times to the Present, (New York: Crown Publishers, Inc., 1982). The Ante-Nicene Fathers = TANF. A set of volumes on the writings of the early Christians before the Nicene Creed era of A.D. 325. (Grand Rapids, Michigan: T & T Clark, Edinburgh, W. M. B. Eerdmans Publishing, reprint 10-1989), 9 vols. The Nicene and Post-Nicene Fathers, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: W. M. B. Eerdmans, reprint 4-1986), 14 vols.
- 4426- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 346–47, n. 10: Philip Schaff, History of the Christian Church, Michigan: Wm. B. Eerdmans Pub., 1950, 8 vols., vol. 3, p. 720.
- 4427- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 347, foot note 11, Socrates (born 385), Historia Ecclesiastica, VII, 29.
- 4428- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 347– 349, foot notes 14–15: Philip Schaff, History of the Christian Church, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: Wm. B. Eerdmans Publisher Co., 1950), 8 vols., vol. 3, p. 720–724. Nicolas Cheetham, Keepers of the Keys, A History of the Popes from St. Peter to John Paul II, (New York: Charles Scribner’s Sons, 1983), 20–37. Gene Gurney, Kingdoms of Europe, An Illustrated Encyclopedia of Ruling Monarchs from Ancient Times to the Present, (NY: Crown Publishers, Inc., 1982), 27–30, 47. Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1940s–1950s), 11 vols., vol. 4, The Age of Faith, p. 22–79.
- 4429- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 93, n.19, on p. 219, 247: Catherine M. Thomas, “The Influence of Asceticism on the Rise of Christian Text, Doctrine, and Practice in the First Two Centuries,” (Provo, Utah: BYU, 1989, Ph.D., diss.), p. 4. Noel B. Reynolds, (Editor), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research & Mormon Studies, & BYU Press, 2005), 239-93. Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (Ben Lomond, California: Foundation for Apologetic Information & Research, F.A.I.R., 1999), 75-165. Ellis T. Rasmussen, (General Director), Reflections on Mormonism, Judaeo-Christian Parallels, (Provo, Utah & BYU, Religious Studies Center, 1978), Papers Delivered at the Religious Studies Center Symposium, BYU, March 10-11, 1978), 155-73, 201-221.
- 4430- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 567–569. Richard Fletcher, The Barbarian Conversion, From Paganism to Christianity, (Berkeley, Los Angeles: University of California Press, 1997, first paper back edition, 1999. Originally published in New York: Holt & Co., 1998). Gerald Simons, & The Editors of Life-Life Books, Great Ages of Man, A History of the World’s Cultures, Barbarian Europe, (NY: Time-Life Books, 1968, reprinted 1970).
- 4431- H. St. L. B. Moss, The Birth of the Middle Ages 395–814, Lon.: Folio Society, 1998, 78. Time Frame AD 200–600, vol., Empire Besieged, by Eds. of Time-Life Books, Alex., Rich. Virginia: Time-Life Books, 1988, 33.
- 4432- H. St. L. B. Moss, The Birth of the Middle Ages 395–814, Lon.: Folio Society, 1998, 73–82. Richard Fletcher, The Barbarian Conversion, From Paganism to Christianity, (Berkeley, Los Angeles: Un. of California Press, 1997, first paper back edition, 1999. Orig. pub. in NY: Holt & Co., 1998), 1–129. Berard L. Marthaler, O.F.M. Conv., The Creed, (Mystic, Connecticut: 23rd Publications, 1987, second printing), 74– 87. William G. Rusch, The Trinitarian Controversy, (Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1980). James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 157–61, 221–512. Reginald H. Phelps & Jack M. Stein, The German Heritage, (New York, Toronto, London: Holt, Rinehart & Winston, 1950, 1958, third edition, 1970), 3. Gene Gurney, Kingdoms of Europe, An Illustrated Encyclopedia of Ruling Monarchs from Ancient Times to the Present, (NY: Crown Publishers, Inc., 1982), 231–34. Nicolas Cheetham, Keepers of the Keys, A History of the Popes from St. Peter to John Paul II, (NY: Charles Scribner’s Sons, 1983), 20–37. Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (NY: Gramercy Books, 2000 ed., earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978). Gerald Simons, & The Editors of Life-Life Books, Great Ages of Man, A History of the World’s Cultures, Barbarian Europe, (NY: Time-Life Books, 1968, reprinted 1970), 11–59, etc. Time Frame AD 200–600, vol., Empire Besieged, by the Editors of Time-Life Books, (Alexandria, Richmond Virginia: Time-Life Books, 1988), 32–35, 38–39, etc.
- 4433- H. St. L. B. Moss, The Birth of the Middle Ages 395–814, (Lon.: Folio Society, 1998), 78–79. Gerald Simons, & The Editors of Life-Life Books, Great Ages of Man, A History of the World’s Cultures, Barbarian Europe, (NY: Time-Life Books, 1968, reprinted 1970), 11–59, etc. Time Frame AD 200–600, vol., Empire Besieged, by the Editors of Time-Life Books, (Alexandria, Richmond Virginia: Time-Life Books, 1988), 32–34.

- 4434- William G. Rusch, The Trinitarian Controversy, (Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1980). James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 195–427. Berard L. Marthaler, O.F.M. Conv., The Creed, (Mystic, Connecticut: Twenty-Third Publications, 1987, second printing), 102–114. Noel B. Reynolds, (Editor), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research & Mormon Studies, and Brigham Young University Press, 2005), 239–293, chapter by David L. Paulsen entitled: Divine Embodiment: The Earliest Christian Understanding of God. See also: Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring The Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, (Ben Lomond, California: Foundation for Apologetic Information & Research, F.A.I.R., 1999), 51–57, 76–165. Brigham Henry Roberts, Outlines of Ecclesiastical History, A Text Book, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1979, Classics in Mormon Literature), 129– 133, 151–182, 188–194, 199–204.
- 4435- Eph. 4:10–14. James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 345–352. Nicolas Cheetham, Keepers of the Keys, A History of the Popes from St. Peter to John Paul II, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1983), 25–27. Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005).
- 4436- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 349–352, foot notes 20–22, Philip Schaff, History of the Christian Church, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: Wm. B. Eerdmans Publisher Co., 1950), 8 vols., vol. 3, p. 720–725. A. M. Jacquin, Histoire de l' Eglise, (Paris: Desclee et Cie. 1928), 2 vols., vol. 1, 551–52.
- 4437- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 349–352, foot notes 20–39, Philip Schaff, History of the Christian Church, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: Wm. B. Eerdmans Publisher Co., 1950), 8 vols., vol. 3, p. 67, 720–734. A. M. Jacquin, Histoire de l' Eglise, (Paris: Desclee et Cie. 1928), 2 vols., vol. 1, p. 551–557. Albert Henry Newman, A Manuel of Church History, (Philadelphia: The American Baptist Publication Society, 1953, revised & enlarged), 2 vols., vol. 1, p. 338, 340, 342. Fernand Mourret, (trans. By Thompson), A History of the Catholic Church, (St. Louis: B. Herder, 1946), 9 vols., vol. 2, p. 558–560. de Labriolle, et al, De la Mort Théodose à l' Gregoire, le Grand, p. 192. Charles Philip Steward Clarke, Short History of the Christian Church, (London: Longmans, Green & Co., 1928), 66–67.
- 4438- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 359–361, foot notes 1–3: Fernand Mourret, Histoire Générale de l' Eglise, (Paris: Bloud & Gay, 1921–1938), 9 vols., vol. 2, p. 464. Philip Schaff, History of the Christian Church, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: Wm. B. Eerdmans Publisher Co., 1950), 8 vols., vol. 3, p. 736–37. Albert Henry Newman, A Manuel of Church History, (Philadelphia: The American Baptist Publication Society, 1953, revised & enlarged), 2 vols., vol. 1, p. 343. Nicolas Cheetham, Keepers of the Keys, A History of the Popes from St. Peter to John Paul II, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1983), 25–27. Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005).
- 4439- Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company), Vol.1, Old Testament And Related Studies, p.150. In earlier centuries, deification was considered as being part of the resurrection. The body would be raised out of the grave & clothed in a glorified body. Some at different degrees of glory than others (1 Corinthians chapter 15). However, there were some heretical sects who rejected the physical resurrection in those earlier centuries, while in later centuries the doctrine of a physical resurrection, in some cases was rejected and changed, for by the time of St. Augustine, many had settled for a spiritual resurrection only. (The Ante Nicene Father, vol. 4, p.475, bk.3, chap.28 & p.509 bk. 4 chap.29-30 & p.547, bk.5 chap. x & xiv-xix pp.549-551; The Early Christian Church in the Light of Some Newly Discovered Papyri from Egypt, by Huge Nibley, p. 12-13; Apostasy to Restoration, Lyon, p. 89-91.
- 4440- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 359–361, foot note 4: Philip Schaff, History of the Christian Church, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: Wm. B. Eerdmans Publisher Co., 1950), 8 vols., vol. 3, p. 736–37.
- 4441- Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (New York, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993), 87, 119–180, end note 196, on p. 115, a part which tells of “God is murdered” ὁ θεὸς πεφόνευται (Melito, Paschal Homily). See also: Adolf Harnack, History of Dogma, trans. Neil Buchanan, (New York: Dover, 1961), I. 187.
- 4442- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 362–363, foot note 6: Foakes-Jackson, Frederick John, History of the Christian Church from the Earliest Times to A.D. 461, (Cambridge; Deighton, Bell and Co., 1942, 6th edition), p. 469. H. St. L. B. Moss, The Birth of the Middle Ages 395–814, (London: The Folio Society, 1998). Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968). R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (Lon.: The Folio Society, 1998). Robert Fossier, Edited & Translated by Janet Sondheimer, The Middle Ages I, 350-950, (Cambridge Un. Press 1989).
- 4443- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 363–64.
- 4444- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 362–68.
- 4445- H. St. L. B. Moss, The Birth of the Middle Ages 395–814, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 38–39.
- 4446- H. St. L. B. Moss, The Birth of the Middle Ages 395–814, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 38–39.
- 4447- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 369–79.
- 4448- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 380–88.
- 4449- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 388–389. Nicolas Cheetham, Keepers of the Keys, A History of the Popes from St. Peter to John Paul II, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1983), 29–31.
- 4450- Nicolas Cheetham, Keepers of the Keys, A History of the Popes from St. Peter to John Paul II, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1983), 29–31. James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 387–391. Cyril Mango, (Editor), The Oxford History of Byzantium, (New York, Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2002), 40–42.
- 4451- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 388–393.
- 4452- H. St. L. B. Moss, The Birth of the Middle Ages 395–814, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 120–21.
- 4453- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 394–97.
- 4454- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 394–400.
- 4455- H. St. L. B. Moss, The Birth of the Middle Ages 395–814, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 134.

- 4456- Nicolas Cheetham, Keepers of the Keys, A History of the Popes from St. Peter to John Paul II, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1983), 34–35.
- 4457- H. St. L. B. Moss, The Birth of the Middle Ages 395–814, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 119–120. Nicolas Cheetham, Keepers of the Keys, A History of the Popes from St. Peter to John Paul II, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1983), 31, 33–36. Philip Sherrard, Great Ages of Man, A History of the World's Cultures, (New York: Time-Life Books, 1966), vol. Byzantium, p. 20–21. André Grabar, Byzantine Painting, Historical & Critical Study, (New York: Skira Rizzoli, 1979, first published in 1953), Grabar, translation by Stuart Gilbert and James Emmons, The golden age of JUSTINIAN, From the Death of Theodosius to the Rise of Islam, (New York: Odyssey Press, 1967, arrangement with Editions Gallimard).
- 4458- H. St. L. B. Moss, The Birth of the Middle Ages 395–814, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 119–120.
- 4459- Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1940s-1950s), 11 vols., vol. 4 (1950): The Age of Faith, A History of Medieval Civilization – Christian, Islamic, and Judaic – from Constantine to Dante: A.D. 325-1300, p. 116, 1091, 1104, n. 27; Ed Gibbon, Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, (Lon.: ed., J. B. Bury, 1900, 7 vols., Everyman Library, 6 vols.), vol. V, p. 43. James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 401.
- 4460- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 570–72. Nicolas Cheetham, Keepers of the Keys, A History of the Popes from St. Peter to John Paul II, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1983). Robin Lane Fox, Pagans and Christians, (New York: Alfred A. Knopf Inc., 1987). Richard Fletcher, The Barbarian Conversion, From Paganism to Christianity, (Berkeley, Los Angeles: University of California Press, 1997, first paper back edition, 1999. Originally published in New York: Holt & Co., 1998).
- 4461- H. St. L. B. Moss, The Birth of the Middle Ages 395–814, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 208–11.
- 4462- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 257, 403–405. Nicolas Cheetham, Keepers of the Keys, A History of the Popes from St. Peter to John Paul II, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1983), 48–40.
- 4463- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 403–410. Nicolas Cheetham, Keepers of the Keys, A History of the Popes from St. Peter to John Paul II, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1983), 48–52.
- 4464- H. St. L. B. Moss, The Birth of the Middle Ages 395–814, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 202. Gene Gurney, Kingdoms of Europe, An Illustrated Encyclopedia of Ruling Monarchs from Ancient Times to the Present, (New York: Crown Publishers, Inc., 1982), 575 & 592. Edward McNall Burns, Robert E. Lerner, & Standish Meacham, Western Civilizations, Their History and Their Culture, (New York: W.W. Norton & Company, 1st edition 1941, 7th edition 1968-9, 10th edition, 1984). Volume one, p. 249, & 425.
- 4465- Nicolas Cheetham, Keepers of the Keys, A History of the Popes from St. Peter to John Paul II, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1983), 20–60. James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 201–512. Richard R. Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, (USA, Utah: Cedar Fort Inc., 2009). William G. Rusch, The Trinitarian Controversy, (Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1980). Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (New York, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993). Gene Gurney, Kingdoms of Europe, An Illustrated Encyclopedia of Ruling Monarchs from Ancient Times to the Present, (New York: Crown Publishers, Inc., 1982). Cyril Mango, (Editor), The Oxford History of Byzantium, (New York, Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2002). Noel B. Reynolds, (Editor), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research & Mormon Studies, and Brigham Young University Press, 2005). Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1940s), 11 volumes, vol. 4, Age of Faith.
- 4466- H. St. L. B. Moss, The Birth of the Middle Ages 395–814 Lon.: Folio Soc. 1998, 202, 286, Cf. G. Ostrogorsky, Rom und Byzanz im Kampfe um die Bilderverehrung. Seminarium Kondakovianum, 6 Prague 1933, 62.
- 4467- Fredk, WM. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Christ Lore (Being the Legends, Traditions, Myths, Symbols, & Superstitions of The Christian Church), (London: 1902, republished, Detroit: Gale Research Company, Book Tower, 1969). <https://archive.org/details/christlorebeing00hackgoog> – <https://archive.org/details/ChristLore> (1902 edition). George Ferguson, Signs & Symbols In Christian Art, (New York: Oxford University Press, 1959). Goblet D'Alviella, (The Count), The Migration of Symbols, (Westminster, 1894, reproduced by University Books, 1956). Heather Child and Dorothy Colles, 1971, Christian Symbols Ancient & Modern, (Charles Scribner's Sons, Great Britain). Roland H. Bainton, Behold the Christ, (U.S.A.: Harper, 1974). Robert S. Nelson, The Iconography of Preface and Miniature in the Byzantine Gospel Book, (New York: New York University Press, 1980). David Talbot Rice, BYZANTINE PAINTING, The Last Phase, (New York: The Dial Press, Inc., 1968; Originally published in England under the same title by George Weidenfeld & Nicolson Limited), CR 1968 by Rice. Rice, THE ART OF BYZANTIUM, Photographs by Max Hirmer, (New York: Harry N. Abrams Inc., 1959). William G. Rusch, The Trinitarian Controversy, (Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1980).
- 4468- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 328–379, 715–16. Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions and the Rise of Mormonism, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1970), 52, 77–78, 80, 84, 110, 123, 147, 177–78, 189–90, 207–10, 219–20, 241–42.
- 4469- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 114-15, 221 & 245: David L. Paulsen, ““Must God Be Incorporeal?” Faith and Philosophy 6 (January 1989): 76-87, p. 76-78.
- 4470- John Gillespie, The Musical Experience, (Belmont, California: Wadsworth Pub., 1968, 4th printing), 96.
- 4471- Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions and the Rise of Mormonism, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Co., 1970, 25. Ann Kramer, Jean Cook, Theodore Rowland-Entwistle, Ed., Fay Franklin, History's Time Line, A 40,000 Year Chronicle of Civilization, NY: Barnes & Noble Books, 1981, revised & updated, 2005, 66–67.
- 4472- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 64–67.
- 4473- James Reston Dogs of God Columbus the Inquisition & the Defeat of the Moors NY Doubleday 2005, 10–11
- 4474- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 714–16, foot note 7: Johann Lorenz Mosheim, Institutes of Ecclesiastical History, Ancient & Modern, (London: Simms & McIntyre, 1848, translated by James Murdock), 576, foot note by Murdock.

- 4475- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 716, foot note 8: The source of this quotation has not been ascertained. A comparable account can be found in Philip Schaff, History of the Christian Church, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: Wm. B. Eerdmans Publishing Co., 1950), 8 vols., vol., 7. In the 1892 edition, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons), volume seven pages 85–87. On line, if still available, see: <https://archive.org/details/historyofchris07scha> – <https://archive.org/stream/historyofchris07scha/page/84/mode/2up> – See other volumes in links: <https://archive.org/details/historyofchris01scha> - https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Marburg_Colloquy - <https://www.britannica.com/event/Colloquy-of-Marburg> – <http://germanhistorydocs.ghi-dc.org/pdf/eng/Doc.42%20ENG-Osiander%20EYG.pdf> – <https://archive.org/details/huldreichzwingli1fostgoog> – <http://www.ccel.org/ccel/schaff/hcc7.ii.vii.xi.html> – Huldreich Zwingli, the Reformer of German Switzerland edited by Samuel Macauley Jackson et al., 1903.
- 4476- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 435–436, notes 15–16: Foakes-Jackson, History of the Christians Church from the Earliest Times to A.D. 461, (Cambridge, Deighton, Bell & Co., 1942, 6th edition), 494. Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1940s–1950s), 11 vols., vol. 4, The Age of Faith, p. 68. Richard R. Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, (USA, Utah: Cedar Fort Inc., 2009).
- 4477- Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions and the Rise of Mormonism, (SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Co., 1970), 138–39, n. 2–4. Susan Myre Kingsbury, ed., Records of the Virginia Company of London, (Washington: 1906–35), 4 vols., III, 4-5, 12-14. Peter Force, ed., Tracts and Other Papers, Relating Principally to Origin, Settlement, and Progress of the Colonies in North America, (NY: Peter Smith, 1947), 4 vols., III, No. 2, 10-19.
- 4478- Milton Backman, Jr., American Religions & the Rise of Mormonism, SLC, Utah: DBC 1970, 176–8.
- 4479- Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions and the Rise of Mormonism, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1970), 15–16. Gene Gurney, Kingdoms of Europe, An Illustrated Encyclopedia of Ruling Monarchs from Ancient Times to the Present, (New York: Crown Publishers, Inc., 1982), 177–178, see foot note 70: In Matthew Page Andrews, History of Maryland and Charles M. Andrews, The Colonial Period of American History, II, is a copy of the Toleration Act of 1649.
- 4480- Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions & the Rise of Mormonism, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Co. 1970, 15–16. Gene Gurney, Kingdoms of Europe, An Illustrated Encyclopedia of Ruling Monarchs from Ancient Times to the Present, NY: Crown Pub., 1982, 143–47, notes 12 & 21: William Waller Hening, ed., The Statutes at Large: Being a Collection of All the Laws of Virginia, 13 vols., Richmond, 1819–23, III, 168–69, 358–59.
- 4481- Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions & the Rise of Mormonism, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Co. 1970, 123–185. Timothy Ballard, The American Covenant, One Nation Under God, Volume I, Discovery Through Revolution, (New York: Digital Legend, 2011), see also vol.2.
- 4482- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 142–53. Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions & the Rise of Mormonism, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Co. 1970, 123–185. Timothy Ballard, The American Covenant, One Nation Under God, Volume I, Discovery Through Revolution, (New York: Digital Legend, 2011), see also vol.2. Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 143–311.
- 4483- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Ut.: Bookcraft, 1994, 138, 223, n.49: Thomas Jefferson cited in Alister McGrath, Understanding the Trinity, Eastbourne, Great Britain: Kingsway Pub. 1987, 110.
- 4484- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Ut.: Bookcraft, 1994, 147–8, 224, 242, n.20: Edwin S. Gaustad, Faith of Our Fathers: Religion and the New Nation, (San Francisco: Harper & Row, 1987), 104.
- 4485- Noel B. Reynolds, Ed., Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, Provo, Utah: FARMS, & BYU Press, 2005, 239, note 2: The Westminster Confession of Faith, (1646), chap. II: Philip Schaff, ed., The Creeds of Christendom, 6th ed. Grand Rapids, MI: Baker Books, 1996, 3:606.
- 4486- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 50.
- 4487- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 27. See also: Mlle M. Th. d'Alverny's study of Peter the Venerable's collection of translations from the Arabic: Deux Traductions latines du Coran au Moyen Âge (Archives d' Histoire doctrinale et littéraire du Moyen Âge, XVI, 1948, p. 69–131. U. Monneret de Villard, Lo studio dell' Islam in Europa nel XII e nel XIII secolo (Studi e Testi 110, Vatican City, 1944). Francesco Gabrieli, Arab Historians of the Crusades, Selected and Translated from Arabic Sources, (New York: Barnes & Noble, 1993), translated from the Italian by E. J. Costello, 1957 by Giulio Einaudi Editore S.p.A. Turin. This translation 1969, by Routledge & Kegan Paul Limited.
- 4488- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 323.
- 4489- Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), page 472, Didron, Icon. Chr., pages 25 and 64. <https://archive.org/search.php?query=Iconographie%20Chretienne> -
- 4490- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 267.
- 4491- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 329–330.
- 4492- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 330–31, foot notes 2–6: The Catholic Encyclopedia, vol. 7, article: “Holy Ghost,” p. 409–412. Auguste Boulenger, Abrégé de la Doctrine Chretienne, (Paris: Emmanuel Vitte, 1947), 26–31.
- 4493- Paul Carcus, 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, 149, Bastian's Ethnol. Bilderbuch, plate xvii.
- 4494- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 28. Bart D. Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, (New York, Oxford: Oxford Un. Press, 1993), 14, 49–62, 75–77, 82–83, 89–90, 94–95, 101–2, 109, 116, 129, 137–40, 182, 262–73. William G. Rusch, The Trinitarian Controversy, (Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1980). R. G. Hamerton-Kelly, (Professor of the New Testament McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago), Society for New Testament Studies Monograph Series 21, Pre-Existence, Wisdom & The Son of Man, A Study of the Idea of Pre-existence in the New Testament, (Cambridge University Press: Cambridge, Great Britain, 1973). Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford Un. Press, 2010), 21–146. Owen Chadwick, A History of Christianity, (Great Britain: George Weidenfeld & Nicolson Ltd., 1995), 42, The garden of Eden; from the Bedford Book of Hours. Three faced trinity, with Adam & Eve, 1420. For one example in many. Roland H. Bainton, Behold the Christ, (U.S.A.: Harper, 1974).

- 4495- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 25, 213, n.4, bibliography, p. 242; Robert Baker Girdlestone, Synonyms of the Old Testament: Their Bearing on Christian Doctrine, (Lon.: James Nisbet & Co., 1897, 2nd ed.), 27.
- 4496- Joseph F. McConkie Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Utah: Bookcraft 1994, 28, 213 n. 9, bib. p.243: C.F. Keil & F. Delitzsch, Biblical Commentary on the Old Testament, trans., James Martin, Grand Rapids, Mich.: Wm. B. Eerdmans, 1949, 10 vols. 1:62. J.R. Dummelow, ed., A Commentary on the Holy Bible, NY: Macmillan, 1908, 5.
- 4497- Paul Carcus, 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, 150.
- 4498- Paul Carcus, 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, 473.
- 4499- Paul Carcus, 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, 474.
- 4500- Diane E. Wirth, Weaving Golden Threads, Early Christianity & its Restoration, SLC, Utah: Eborn Books, 2015, 24, fig. 2.1. Roland H. Bainton, Behold the Christ, (U.S.A.: Harper, 1974).
- 4501- The World of the Bible, (Yonkers, New York: Educational Heritage, Inc., 1950s-60s), numerous volumes. See hard cover, 1964, see vol. 3, (Later Prophets), 76–77.
- 4502- The Ante-Nicene Father, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: WM. B. Eerdmans Publishing Company; T & T Clark, Edinburgh, reprinted, May 1989), in 10 volumes, see vol. 4, pp. 241—249, Origen, A.D. 185-230-254, Origen De Principiis, Preface 8—10; Book 1, chapter 1; chapter 2; Huge Nibley's 1953 radio show series on KSL in Salt Lake City, Utah, entitled: Time Vindicates The Prophets, later published in the series, The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, see volume 3. See also: Lenet H. Read's series of articles: How the Bible Came to Be, published in The Ensign, (Salt Lake City, Utah: The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, 1982), series ran from January 1982 through September 1982, see: Part 4: The Canon Becomes an Unread Relic, see: The Ensign, April 1982, pp. 45 & 48, see notes 17 & 18. Fred Gladstone Batton, A History of the Bible (Boston: Beacon Press, 1969), pages 290—293. Also, on the internet, if not removed or addresses changed, are a number of parts to this. <https://www.lds.org/ensign/1982/01/how-the-bible-came-to-be-part-1-a-testament-is-established?lang=eng> – Part 1 – How the Bible Came to Be, Lenet H. Read. Shows different aspects of what happened to the bible. <https://www.lds.org/ensign/1982/02/how-the-bible-came-to-be-part-2-the-word-is-preserved?lang=eng> – 2. <https://www.lds.org/ensign/1982/03/how-the-bible-came-to-be-part-3-a-new-word-is-added-to-the-old?lang=eng> <https://www.lds.org/ensign/1982/04/how-the-bible-came-to-be-part-4-the-canon-becomes-an-unread-relic?lang=eng> Other parts tell of the suppression of the bible, how that the common folks didn't have copies. <https://www.lds.org/ensign/1982/06/how-the-bible-came-to-be-part-5-glimmers-of-light-in-darkness?lang=eng> – Part 5. When the printing press was improved upon, bibles began to be printed & distributed. <https://www.lds.org/ensign/1982/07/how-the-bible-came-to-be-part-6-no-price-too-great?lang=eng> Part 6. <https://www.lds.org/ensign/1982/08/how-the-bible-came-to-be-part-7-the-sweet-and-ripened-fruit?lang=eng> – Part 7. As in other parts, the bible also had different groups select which books they wanted in their bibles. <https://www.lds.org/ensign/1982/09/how-the-bible-came-to-be-part-8-the-power-of-the-word?lang=eng> Part 8. <https://www.lds.org/search?q=how+the+bible+came+to+be%3a+part+9&lang=eng&domains=magazines&spell-check=no> Part 9.
- 4503- A number of early Christians, such as Irenaeus, Clement of Alexandria, & Gregory of Nyssa saw in the sacrament different types & symbols for the deification process. Thus, in some cases, it seems that the sacrament was considered a type & symbol of Christ's immortality which was taken into the bodies of the believers by the partaking of the sacramental meals. And even though this symbolical type had its roots, & was based on the doctrine of deification to a certain extent, these symbolical types & symbolism, in later centuries, may have become literalized to an extreme in the doctrine of transubstantiation in which many later Christians believed that the sacramental meal had somehow been transformed into Christ's blood and body. (Orat. Catech. Par. 37; ANF 1: p.521; 2: p.598; John 6:33, 38-40, & 51-69; Luke 22:7-20; Acts 2:42; 1 Cor. 10:1-21; Heb. 9:7-28, 10:1-34; 1 Cor.10:14-21; J. M. Sjordahl, The Reign of Antichrist, (SLC, Ut: The Deseret News, 1913), 18, & 46-7; Stephen Benko, Pagan Rome & The Early Christians, 1-78; N&PNF Vol.5, p.502-506, Gregory of Nyssa, The Great Catechism, Chaps. xxxv--xxxvii.
- 4504- The Forgotten Books of Eden, Ed. Rutherford H. Platt, Jr., Assistant Editor J. Alden Brett, Pub. by Alpha House, 1927, USA, The 1st Book of Adam & Eve, p.8-13, 25-8, 30, 33, 34, 36-42, 68-74; Old Testament & Related Studies, Huge Nibley, (Collected Works of H.N.: Vol.1), 1986, Deseret Book Co., SLC., Ut., & FARMS, Provo Ut., p.152-3, 156-9; The Sacred Books And Early Literature Of The East, Parke, Austin, & Lipscomb, Inc., N.Y., & Lon., 1917, Vol. XIV, The Great Rejected Books of the Biblical Apocrypha, Trans. by Rev. R. H. Charles, D.D., and others, Old Testament Apocrypha, The Books of Adam & Eve, p.21-32. The Garden of Eden, p.33-42; Temple & Cosmos, Nibley, 1992, (SLC & Provo, Ut: Deseret Book, & FARMS), 108.
- 4505- Arnold Toynbee, (Editor), The Crucible of Christianity, Judaism, Hellenism and The Historical Background to the Christian Faith, (New York, and Cleveland, World Publishing Company, CR Thames & Hudson, 1969), 229-30.
- 4506- ANF, 1:262, chapter cxxiv, Justin Martyr, Dialogue With Trypho.
- 4507- ANF, 1:419 & 522, Irenaeus, Against Heresies, Book 3, chapter 6; Book 4, chapter 38.
- 4508- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, Vol.2, p.206, 215, 374, & 437.
- 4509- The Homilies of St. Jerome, (Wash., D.C., The Catholic Un. Press, 1964), 106-7 & 353.
- 4510- Deification: The Content Of Athanasian Soteriology, Keith Edward Norman, Dept. of Rel. Duke Un., Dr. of Philosophy thesis, 1980, 241-2, & note 1, p.214, Ennar. in Ps. 49.2.
- 4511- ANF, 2:411-13, 416-17, & 426-441; Clement of Alexandria, 153-193-217. W. H. C. Frend, Martyrdom & Persecution In The Early Church, NY: Anchor Books Doubleday & Co. 1967.
- 4512- Heaven: A History, Colleen McDannell & Bernhard Lang, Yale Un. Press, New Haven, & London, 1988, p. 83-4, 89-92, n.27, on p.369, Aquinas, Sth, Suppl. 91:3.
- 4513- Western Civilizations, (Their History and Their Culture), by Edward McNall Burns, Robert E. Lerner, & Standish Meacham, Pub. W.W. Norton & Co., N.Y., & Lon., 1st ed., 1941, 10th edition 1984, Vol.1, p.219; & 222-23; The March Of The Cross, by Leonard W. Cowie, 1962, (First Pub. in Great Britain by Weidenfeld & Nicolson LTD. 1962), & first pub. in the USA by McGraw-Hill Book Co., Inc., N.Y., Toronto, & Lon., 1962, pp.33-4; Christian Monasticism, by David Knowles, 1969, reprinted 1972 & 1977, Pub. World Un., Library, McGraw-Hill Co., N.Y., Toronto, p.10; The Early Church by W.H.C. Frend, Pub. J.B. Lippincott Co., Phil., & N.Y., 1966, pp.202-3, Athanasius (Life 2); The Holy Rule (Notes on St. Benedict's Legislation for Monks), by Dom Hubert Van Zeller, Pub. by Sheed & Ward, N.Y., 1958, p.370; The Oxford Illustrated History of Christianity, edited by John McManners, pub. Oxford Un. Press, Oxford N.Y., 1990, pp.51, 67, 69, 80, & 135-6; & The Ladder of Perfection, by Walter Hilton, Pub., by Penguin Classics, 1957, & 1988.

- 4514- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994). Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 86-93, etc. Old Testament & Related Studies, Dr. Hugu Nibley, 1986, Col. Works, vol.1, p.156-7, see: Manichaeism Song Book, also: Gospel of Truth 23:33, 24:7, in Nag Ham. Lib., 41, cited in Temple & Cosmos, Nibley, p.122, see notes 67-8, on p.136.
- 4515- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 25, 213, n.4, bibliography, p. 242: Robert Baker Girdlestone, Synonyms of the Old Testament: Their Bearing on Christian Doctrine, (Lon.: James Nisbet & Co., 1897, 2nd ed.), 27.
- 4516- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 27, 213, n. 6, in bibliography, p. 242: Richard Elliot Friedman, Who Wrote the Bible? (NY: Summit Books, 1987), 235.
- 4517- Early anti-Christian, Celsus, writing about 170-80 A.D., mockingly asked: You early Christians mean to tell us that this Jesus created the world & the universe, & then came to earth to work with wood, as the woodworking man's son? Why would the God of heaven pick such a life? Why would he lower himself to such a condition?! Why would he travel, live, & come among mankind in such a low-ranked manner? Is not He supposed to free us from the bondage of the Romans? Celsus asked: "Why should a god travel about like this one? Is it to see what is happening among men? But is He not omniscient?..." Celsus had attacked the story of Christ's birth, His eating habits, the fact that He (Christ) had a body, & needed nourishment. He wrote: "I think, Jesus, that the High God would not have chosen a body such as yours; nor would the body of a god have been born as you were born. We even hear of your eating habits. What! Does the body of a god need such nourishment? ..." (See: R. Joseph Hoffmann, (translator) Celsus On The True Doctrine, (A Discourse Against the early Christians), (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987), 58-60, & 65. Stan-Michel Pellistrandi, The Early Christian Civilization, (Forni, Geneva: 1978, California, USA: Paradise Found Books, English edition), 180-199. ANF, 4:427-8, & 609. John 1:1-14. Thus, Clement wrote that "...the Word of God" [or the Christ of God], "became man, that thou mayest learn from man how man may become God..." (ANF, 1:522-3, & 2:174.) Answering Celsus, Origen wrote that there really was no need, at the time of Christ's birth for a number Christs to have also been born into every corner of the world. For if Celsus had wanted to see "Christs" he should have noted that God had sent out representatives whom are termed "christs," by the scriptures, (See: 1 Chron.16:22; Psa.105:15), or anointed prophets into all lands! Origen's response includes the idea that Christ had eventually entered into different parts of the earth, also. (ANF, 4:407, 422, 424, 447, 464, 557, 565, 609, & 641).
- 4518- ANF, 1:450, 474-9, 520-26, 2:174. Isa.43:5-7, John 17:24; 1 Cor.9:24-27; 2 Tim.2:3-12; 4:5-8. Against Heresies, 4:38; 4:11 (2); John 6:33, 38-40, 51-69; Luke 22:7-20; Acts 2:42; 1 Cor. 10:1-21; Heb.9:7-28, 10:1-34, Matt.25:41, 13:38. Henry Bettenson, The Early Christian Fathers, Eng.: Oxford Un. Press, 1956, 94-6 & 106. Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 91, 137, n. 40: Irenaeus, "Against Heresies," 5, preface, in ANF, 1:526.
- 4519- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 91, 137, n. 44: ANF, 2:174, Clement of Alexandria, Exhortation to the Greeks, 1.
- 4520- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 92, 137, n. 49-50: Athanasius, Against the Arians, 1.39, 3.34. N&PNF, 2:4:329, 412-13, 2:4:65, On the Incarnation 54. The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, (2nd series), vol. 4, p.65, 159, 329, 374, 386, 411, 413, 415, 572, 576, 578, etc.
- 4521- C. S. Lewis, Mere Christianity, NY: Collier Books, Macmillan Pub., Co., paper back edition, 1960, 149-76.
- 4522- Geoffrey Barraclough, The Crucible of the Middle Ages, The 9th & 10th Centuries in European History, London: The Folio Society, 1998, 191-92.
- 4523- Darell Thorpe, The Mystery Behind The Mysteries, Ritualistic Realm Pilgrims In Early To Later Christian Mysteries, (SLC, Ut: Class, HIS 190-01 Special Studies, SLCom. College. Instructor: Marianne McKnight. Student: Thorpe, Winter Quarter, 1997.
- 4524- British Library Series No.3: The Benedictines in Britain, Great Russell Str., Lon.: British Lib. 1980, 56-57.
- 4525- Dr. Host Vey, Editor, & Dr. Xavier de Salas, Great Art & Artists of the World, German & Spanish Art to 1900, (NY: Franklin Watts, Inc., A Division of Grolier Incorporated, 1965, 57. The Coronation of the Virgin, about A.D. 1475. Munich, Alte Pin. Mary crowned by the Father.
- 4526- Hamburger Kunsthalle, Meisterwerke der Gemälde-Galerie, (Verlag M.DuMont Schauberg; Herausgegeben von Alfred Hentzen unter Mitarbeit von Gerhard Gerkens, Hans Werner Grohn, Hanna Hohl, Michael Schwarz, Wolf Stubbe und George Syamken. Alle Rechte vorbehalten. Nachdruck verboten. CR 1969 by Verlag M.DuMont Schauberg, #16: Meister Bertram, Werkstatt. Der Buxtehuder Altar, um 1410. Rechter Flügel, Außenseite Die Krönung Mariä. Dauerne Leihgabe des Kirchenvorstandes der Gemeinde St. Petri, Buxtehude. Christ and Mary enthroned on the same wide throne. Christ is about to place a crown on the head of Mary. #38: Hans Fries (um 1470 bis nach 1518). Krönung Mariä, 1512. Vermächtnis des Herrn Siegfried Wedells 1919 an die Freie und Hansestadt Hamburg. The Christ and the Father, who both look like each other, plus the dove in between them, representing the Holy Spirit, are crowning Mary who is bowed down before them. Jahrbuch Der Berliner Museen, Jahrbuch der Preußischen Kunstsammlungen Neue Folge, Fünfter Band - 1963, (Verlagsort, Berlin, Germany: Im Gemeinschaftsverlag, G. Grotes'sche Verlag Buchhandlung KG - Gebr. Mann, 1963), fig.1. Giotto (?) Incoronazione della Vergine Firenze. Museo Nazionale del Bargello. Christ crowning Mary's head. Pages 16-17, figs 2-3. Maso di Banco, Incorporazione della Vergine. Firenze, Museo di Santa Croce. Page 23, fig. 8.
- 4527- John Hennessy, Fra Angelico, Lon.: Phaidon Press, 1952, 173, pl.38, 44, 45. X. Zanobi Strozzi: Cor. of Virgin. Uffizi, Florence. P.200, XXXIX. Zanobi Strozzi: Cor. of Vir. Museo di San Marco, Florence. Marion Ireland, Textile Art in the Church, Vestments, Paraments, & Hangings in Contemporary Worship, Art, & Architecture, (Nash. NY: Abingdon Press, 1971), 74.
- 4528- E. Baldwin Smith, The Dome, A Study in the History of Ideas, NJ: Princeton Un. Press, 1950, 1978, 69.
- 4529- Mit Beiträgen von, Gabriele Atanassiu, Mariano d' Alatri, Stanislao da Campagnola, Servus Gieben, Engelbert Grau OFM, Raoul Manselli, Raymond Oursel, Clemente Schmitt, Franz von Assisi, Italy; Stuttgart, Zürich: Belser Verlag, 1990, 176-77, *Meister der Stichekappen: Allegorie der Armut, um 1320. Assisi, Unterkirche, Gewölbe über dem Hauptaltar. Arms of God extend out of heaven over a wrist grasping marriage ceremony, above which an angel holds a vest or garment. Figures 233-35, crowning of saint in a heavenly coronation ceremony, encircled by angels, some of which are making the prayer gesture, with hands placed together in front of them, their fingers pointing upward. Miklós Boskovits & Serena Padovani, The Thyssen-Bornemisza Collection, Early Italian painting 1290-1470, Lon.: Sotheby's Publication, Philip Wilson Publishers Ltd, 1990; General Ed., Irene Martin, p. 34-37, #4: *The Madonna & Child enthroned with a female martyr, St John the Baptist & 4 angels. Bartolomeo di Messer Bulgarino (or Bulgarini) AD 1300/10-1378. Pages 56-57, Cenni & Giovanni de Biondo worked together on panel of St. John the Evangelist enthroned (Florence. Accademia, no. 444). Pages 96-97, #15, The Coronation of the Virgin and four

- angels. Giovanni da Bologna, 1377-89. Pages 114-17, #18: The Madonna & Child enthroned with 6 angels. Lorenzo Monaco, late 1380's; died 1426. Pages 140-141, 158-159, #25: The Coronation of the Virgin with 5 angels. Master of 1355, active 1325-75.
- 4530- Jahrbuch Der Berliner Museen, Jahrbuch der Preußischen Kunstsammlungen Neue Folge, Neunter Band - 1967, (Verlagsort, Berlin: Im Gemeinschaftsverlag G. Grote'sche Verlagsbuchhandlung KG - Gebr. Mann, 1967), 75, Abb. 55, Madonna, Narbonne, Kathedrale. The Christ child holds an orb in his hand.
- 4531- ANF, 1:144-45, The Epistle of Barnabas, chapters 11, & 12; ANF, 3:157-8. Isa.45:1-3, 42:6-7, mentions a rites passage hand grip that is part of a covenant. Early Christians may have considered this passages to be a prediction of Christ's descent down & ascension up out of the realm of the spirit prison. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 1: pp.146 & 207; Isa.9:2, 13:1-4, 24:15-22, 41:10-14, 49:8-9, 51:14; Eph.4:7-10; 1 Peter 3:14-22, 4:5-6; Jeffrey Burton Russell's 3 books, Satan The Early Christian Tradition; Lucifer, the Devil In the Middle Ages; The Prince of Darkness; Walter Oakeshott, Classical Inspiration In Medieval Art, (New York: Frederick A. Praeger Inc., 1959), plate 80, A Carolingian ivory masterpiece: France, 9th century A.D.; Hanns Swarzenski, Romanesque Art, pl.15, fig.34; pl.15, fig.35; Daniel C. Peterson & Stephen D. Ricks, article: Comparing LDS Beliefs With 1st-Century Christianity, (Published in The Ensign, (Salt Lake City, Utah: The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, March 1988), pp.7-11; T.W. Doane, 1882 & 1910, Bible Myths, chapter 22, p.211-14; William Barclay, 1967, The Apostles' Creed, pp.119-33; Geoffrey R. King, 1949, The 40 Days, pp.15-20; Nibley, Mormonism And Early Christianity, (SLC & Provo, Utah: FARMS & Deseret Book Co., 1987), The Collected Works of Hume Nibley, vol. 4, p.115-21; By Study & Also By Faith, vol.1, p.202-221, chap. 11, Aspects of an Early Christian Ritual, by William J. Hamblin, BYU, Provo, Ut., & p. 611-642, chap. 24, The Handclasp and Embrace as Tokens of Recognition, by Todd M. Compton, L.A., Calif.; Kaari Ward, Editor, etc., ABC's Of The Bible, Reader's Digest, 1991, cover picture, lower left hand corner: Madonna & Child, (Mary & the Christ child), by Giovanni da Milano (The Metropolitan Museum of Art, Rogers Fund, 1907); Lawrence Gowing, Paintings in the Louvre, (NY: Stewart, Tabori & Chang, 1987), p.35, & 167; Bryan Holme, Medieval Pageant, (Thames & Hudson, 1987), pp.28-9, & p.34; Robert Fossier, 1989, The Middle Ages, p.435; Lester B. Rogers, Fay Adams, & Walker Brown, Story of Nations, (Holt, Rinehart & Wilson, Inc., 1943), p.176; Sidney Painter, 1953, A History of the Middle Ages, 284-1500 A.D., p.430; Gertrude Hartman, The World We Live In And How It Came to Be, (NY: The Macmillan Co., 1931, 1961, 18th printing), p.128-9; Darell Thorpe, The Pilgrimages & Struggles Of The Human Family In & Through The Different Realms Of Existences, (SLC, Ut: R.H.P.S. 1990, 1992), unpublished.
- 4532- Eve Borsook, Messages In Mosaic, The Royal Programmes of Norman Sicily 1130—1187, Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1990, 11.
- 4533- E. Baldwin Smith, The Dome, A Study in the History of Ideas, NJ: Princeton Un. Press, 1950, 1978, 4-44.
- 4534- Horton & Marie-Hélène Davies, Holy Days & Holidays, The Medieval Pilgrimage of Compostela, (London & Toronto: Associated Un. Press, Lewisburg Bucknell Un. Press, 1982), p. 142. Roland H. Bainton, The Horizon History of Christianity, NY: American Publishing, & Harper & Row, Publishers, 1964, 214-15.
- 4535- E. Baldwin Smith, The Dome, A Study in the History of Ideas, (New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1950, 1978), 4-44, fig. 8, 95, 97; Craig Harbison, A Garland Series, Outstanding Dissertations in The Fine Arts, (NY & Lon: Garland Pub. Inc., 1976), thesis: The Last Judgment in Sixteenth Century Northern Europe, a study of the relation between art & the Reformation, 316, fig.8, p.356, fig. 48; p.375, fig. 64; 382, fig.71, p.383, fig.72; p.425, fig.115. Angels clasping hands of ascenders, hand of Christ, assembly of saints, right side of Christ, etc.
- 4536- Eve Borsook, Messages In Mosaic, The Royal Programmes of Norman Sicily (1130—1187), (Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1990), 34, plate 18. Palermo, Cappella Palatina: view of apse and sanctuary from nave looking east. 12th c., the Hand of God extending from the celestial regions.
- 4537- Peter Lasko; Editors: Nikolaus Pevsner & Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (Australia, etc.: Penguin Books, 1972), vol. 36, Ars Sacra: 800—1200, p. xvii, plate 180. Christ, ascending(?) in to heaven, hand of God extending out of heaven to grip, right hand to right wrist of Christ. From the altar frontal from Broddetorp. 1150. Stockholm, Statens Historiska Museet.
- 4538- Perlie P. Fallon 10-1931, Art & Archaeology, The Arts Throughout the Ages, vol. 32, #4, artwork before 121, article: What Somebody Whitewashed. John, ascension, hand-clasps.
- 4539- Colleen McDannell & Bernhard Lang, Heaven A History, New Haven & London: Yale Un. Press, 1988, p. 16, pate 1, note the hand clasp involved in greeting a Roman lady into the Elysian Fields, from a pagan Roman & Greek versions of paradise and heaven, 4th century CE. Pages 70-71, plate 3; p. 98—99, plate 7; pp. 112-20, plates 10-14; p. 124-42, plates 18-26, p. 186-89, plate 34; p. 197-99, plate 39 & p. 200-10; Stephen Waetzoldt, Introduction, Art Treasures in Germany, Monuments, Masterpieces, Commissions and Collections, (New York; Toronto: McGraw-Hill Book Company, 1970, The Hamlyn Publishing Group Limited), p.124-25, figures 187 & 189; p. 134, fig. 204; The Illustrated Library of The World and Its People, (New York: Greystone Press, 1963), vol. France 2 Monaco, pp. 256—57; Wolfgang E. Pax, Editors: Paul S. Colbi, Zeev Aner, Mordecai Naor & Pascual Andres, In the Footsteps of Jesus, (Jerusalem, Tel-Aviv, Haifa: Steimatzky's Agency together with Nateev Publishing, 1970—1978), p. 27; Émile Mâle, Religious Art, From the Twelfth to the Eighteenth Century, (New York: Pantheon Books, Inc., 1949), plates 1, 8-11, 19, 21-22.
- 4540- E. Baldwin Smith The Dome A Study in the History of Ideas, NJ: Princeton Un. Press, 1950, 1978, 27, n.52.
- 4541- E. Baldwin Smith, The Dome, A Study in the History of Ideas, NJ: Princeton Un. Press, 1950, 1978, 35-7.
- 4542- E. Baldwin Smith, The Dome, A Study in the History of Ideas, New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1950, 1978, 48, note 13; E. Littmann, D. Magie & D. R. Stuart, Syria, Publications of the Princeton University Archaeological Expeditions to Syria in 1904/5 and 1909, III, 1921, Greek and Latin Inscriptions, A, 4, no. 557.
- 4543- 2 Timothy 4:5-8; Frederick Hartt, Art, vol.2, pl.21; Sheldon Cheney, 1968, Sculpture of the World: A History, p.305; John Lundy, 1876, Monumental Christianity, p.99, fig.36, depicting the "Divine hand holding a crown". An angel descends out of heaven with a crown, in a depiction of the martyrdom of Saint Sebastian - Andrea Del Castagno A.D. 1390?-1457. Florence, intro. by Masaccio, Masolino & Pollaiuolo after 1430; Francis Henry Taylor, Fifty Centuries of Art, (NY: The Metropolitan Museum of Art & Harper & Brothers, 1954), 46.
- 4544- R. McL. Wilson, The Gospel Of Philip, (Lon.: A.R. Mowbray), p.179; Martha Himmelfarb, Tours of Hell, An Apocalyptic Form in Jewish & Christian Literature, Philadelphia: Un. of Pennsylvania Press, 1983, 156-7; BYU Studies, Vol.22, Winter 1982, #1, Blake Ostler, Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity, 31-45; Nibley, The Collected Works of Hume Nibley, Old Testament & Related Studies, (SLC & Provo, Utah: FARMS & Deseret Book Co., 1986), 1:77, 91, 139-214; Nibley, vol.2, Enoch The Prophet, 32-33, 38-40, 143-46, 168-175, 228-30, 232, 259, ed. Stephen D. Ricks, 1986, Nibley, vol.12, Temples & Cosmos, Nibley, 1992, p.91-138, & 233-4, 238-9, & 299-318; Don E. Norton, Editor, Temples Of The Ancient World, Ritual & Symbolism, (SLC & Provo, Utah:

FARMS & Deseret Book, 1994), edited by Donald W. Parry, chap.23, Priestly Clothing in Bible Times, by John A. Tvedtnes, p.649-704, & chap.24, The Garment of Adam in Jewish, Muslim, & Christian Tradition, by Stephen D. Ricks, p.705-39; Darell Thorpe, The Holy Garments Of The First And Second Adam: The Symbolical Meanings Of Garments In Early To Later Christendom, SLC, Utah: Religious, Historical & Polemical Studies, OCT. 1993), an unpublished research paper & computer file prepared for Prof. Stephen D. Ricks of FARMS); R.G. Hammerton-Kelly, Prof. of the N.T., McCormick Theological Seminary, Chicago, Society For New Testament Studies Monograph Series, 21, Pre-existence Wisdom & The Son of Man, A Study Of The Idea Of Pre-existence In The New Testament, (Cambridge Un.Press, 1973), 146, 148-9, & 153.

4545- Scott Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone?, Springville Ut: CFI, 2005, 25, 41, Hippolytus, Discourse on the Holy Theophany 9-10, ANF, 5:237.

4546- Anna Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1986, 72, etc.

4547- ANF, 5:237, Hippolytus, Discourse on the Holy Theophany, 8-10. Italics & comments added, notes note included, see notes in original. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, TRANSLATIONS OF The Writings of the Fathers down to A.D. 325, THE REV. ALEXANDER ROBERTS, D.D., AND JAMES DONALDSON, LL.D., EDITORS. AMERICAN REPRINT OF THE EDINBURGH EDITION. REVISED AND CHRONOLOGICALLY ARRANGED, WITH BRIEF PREFACES AND OCCASIONAL NOTES, BY A. CLEVELAND COXE, D.D. VOLUME V. HIPPOLYTUS, CYPRIAN, CAIUS. NOVATIAN, APPENDIX. AUTHORIZED EDITION. NEW YORK: CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS, 1919.

4548- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 94: Different early Christian ordinances "...included the seal of baptism, not only for the living but also for those who died without the law, such as those preceding the advent of Christ. There followed rituals of washing, anointing, wearing of a white garment, and what is known as a prayer circle... [&] marriage."

4549- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All the Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 27, 42, n. 31: Apocalypse of Paul, 29-30, in Wilhelm Schneemelcher, ed. New Testament Apocrypha, (Louisville, Ky.: Westminster/ John Knox Press, 1991), 2 vols., 2:728-29.

4550- Jennifer O'Reilly, October 1972, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, A Garland Series, Outstanding Thesis in The Fine Arts from British Universities, NY & Lon., Garland, 1988, 172.

4551- Jennifer O'Reilly 10-1972 Studies in the Iconography... NY Lon.: Garland 1988, 172-79.

4552- Jennifer O'Reilly 10-1972 Studies in the Iconography... NY Lon.: Garland 1988, 172.

4553- Jennifer O'Reilly 10-1972 Studies in the Iconography... NY Lon.: Garland 1988, 172-73.

4554- John Rupert Martin, The Illustrations of the Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1954), 13—14, VII:22. Vienna, Nationalbibl. Cod. theol. gr. 207. Fol. 2r: Heavenly Ladder, 14th c. Christ grasp, with his right hand, the left hand of the monk who has made it to the top of the ladder. Pen drawing in Vienna. In another work, first third of the 15th c. Christ grips, with his right hand, the left wrist of the person who has reached the top of the ladder. Olga Popova, Russian Illuminated Manuscripts, (USA: Thames and Hudson, Inc., Translated by Kathleen Cook, Vladimir Ivanov and Lenina Sorokina; Leningrad, Russia: Aurora Art Publishers, 1984), see #42 The Ladder to Paradise of St John Climacus. Ladder, f.2 Lenin Library, Moscow (Desnitsky collection, Φ 439), ms 21, 1 Moscow, first third of 15th c. Paper 20. 431 ff., 2 miniatures. Provenance. Private collection of Prof. Vasily Desnitsky 1878—1958; 1962, acquired for the MSS Department of the Lenin Library, Moscow, with the Desnitsky collection. See also: Antione Bon, The Ancient Civilizations of Byzantium, (London: Barrie and Jenkins, 1972), p. 114, fig. 71, in this work, we see what could be "the Assembly of the Gods." (Jennifer O'Reilly, Oct. 1972, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, p. 173—77, note p. 173). For there is an assembly of saints, who perhaps are deified as gods, because they had made it up the ladder of moral perfection, and are gathered together, as if to welcome the newest arrival. The newest arrival is in the very process of being lifted up through the entrance way by Christ, who, with his left hand, is grasping the right wrist of a person who has made it all the way to the top of the ladder. Hence, the various rungs in the ladder represented "the degrees of self-improvement and penance, leading to the attainment of moral perfection and the soul's ascent to heaven. . . . [where the] righteous are welcomed at the top by Christ, while those who have failed in the test and succumbed to temptation, fall into hell, the gaping maw of a dragon." (Olga Popova, Russian Illumination Manuscripts, see explanation for #42).

4555- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 20, 382, end note 8: Liber de aedificio dei 43 in Patrologia latina, ed. J. P. Migne, (Paris, 1844–64), CXCIV, 1302d.

4556- John Rupert Martin, The Illustrations of the Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, (Princeton: Princeton Un. Press, 1954), 13-14, see: VII:22. Vienna, National bibl. Cod. theol. gr. 207. Fol. 2r: Heavenly Ladder, 14th c. Christ grasp, with his right hand, the left hand of the monk who has made it to the top of the ladder. Pen drawing in Vienna. In another work, first third of the 15th c. Christ grips, with his right hand, the left wrist of the person who has reached the top of the ladder. Olga Popova, Russian Illuminated Manuscripts, (USA: Thames and Hudson, Inc., Translated by Kathleen Cook, Vladimir Ivanov and Lenina Sorokina; Leningrad, Russia: Aurora Art Publishers, 1984), see #42 The Ladder to Paradise of St John Climacus. Ladder, f.2 Lenin Library, Moscow (Desnitsky collection, Φ 439), ms 21, 1 Moscow, first third of 15th c. Paper 20. 431 ff., 2 miniatures. Provenance. Private collection of Prof. Vasily Desnitsky 1878—1958; 1962, acquired for the MSS Department of the Lenin Library, Moscow, with the Desnitsky collection. See also: Antione Bon, The Ancient Civilizations of Byzantium, (Lon.: Barrie & Jenkins, 1972), 114, fig. 71. Christ grips, with his left hand, the right wrist of the person who has made it to the top of the ladder. Assembled saints, perfected deified gods, await to greet newest arrivals.

4557- Jennifer O'Reilly, October 1972, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, p.172-79; Caroline Walker Bynum, Jesus as Mother, Studies in the Spirituality of the High Middle Ages, (Berkeley: Los Angeles; California; London: University of California Press, 1982), facing page art work of the "Ladder of Virtues" from Hortus Deliciarum, formerly in Strasbourg, but destroyed. Photograph by E. G. C. Menzies, Princeton, N.J.; pl. IX of a hand-colored copy of C. M. Engelhardt, Herrad von Landsperg. (Stuttgart/ Tübingen, 1818), in possession of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York; reproduced from R. Green et al., Herrad of Hohenbourg, Hortus Deliciarum (London/Leiden, 1979), Pl.124; David Knowles, Christian Monasticism, (New York, Toronto: McGraw-Hill Book Company, 1969), p. 11, 21—22.

4558- Jennifer O'Reilly, 10-1972, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, 173.

4559- Roland H. Bainton in The Renaissance, 6 Essays, (NY: Harper Torchbooks, The Academy Library, Harper & Row Publishers, CR 1953, The Metroplitan Museum of Art, and 1962, Erwin Panofsky), Essay IV: Man, God, & The Church in the Age of the Renaissance, by Bainton, p.77-96, Calvin's point of view mentioned on p. 96.

- 4560- Jennifer O'Reilly, 10-1972, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, graphic page before 349, fig. 27.
- 4561- Ellis T. Rasmussen, (General Director), Reflections on Mormonism, Judaeo-Christian Parallels, (Provo, Utah & BYU, Religious Studies Center, 1978), Papers Delivered at the Religious Studies Center Symposium, BYU, March 10-11, 1978, 15, chap. 2: "Preexistence in Hellenic, Judaic and Mormon Sources," by David Winston.
- 4562- Edited by Rutherford H. Platt, Jr., Assistant Ed., J. Alden Brett, The Forgotten Books of Eden, Newfoundland, USA: Alpha House, 1927, The First Book of Adam & Eve, p.8-13, 25-8, 30, 33, 34, 36-42, & 68-74, includes The Book of the Secrets of Enoch. (Slavonic version). God says to Michael to anoint Enoch and cloth him in a garment of glory (ibid., p.89). Dr. Hugu W. Nibley, The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, vol.1, Old Testament And Related Studies, (SLC & Provo, Utah: Deseret Book Co., & FARMS, 1986), p.77, 91, 139-214; Vol.2, Nibley, Enoch The Prophet, 1986, p.32-33, 38-40, 143-46, 168-175, 228-30, 232, 259; Vol.12, Nibley, Temple & Cosmos, 1992, p. 91-138, 233-4, 238-9, & 299-318; The Sacred Books & Early Literature Of The East, (NY & Lon.: Parke, Austin, & Lipscomb, Inc., 1917), Vol. XIV, The Great Rejected Books of the Biblical Apocrypha, Trans. by Rev. R. H. Charles, D.D., & others, Old Testament Apocrypha, The Books of Adam & Eve, intro., p.9, 13-19. Page 20, tells of God's promise to the righteous, how that they will begin to shine. The Lord would repel from Himself the wicked, and "the just shall shine like the sun, in the sight of God." See also pp.21-24. Page 25 tells of God's promise of the time when Adam will eventually "sit on the throne of him who had been his supplanter." In other words, Adam would fill in the gap which had become open when satan fell from his glorious position in heaven. Pages 26-32. The Garden of Eden, p.33-42; John 17:5; Eccl.12:7; Psa.73:23-5; 82:1, 6-7, Isa.41:13, 22-3; 2 Cor.5:1-10; Acts of Thomas 5-6 & 26, in The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 366-67, 375; W. Wright, Apocryphal Acts of the Apostles, 2:245-51; Gospel of Truth 23:33, 24:7, in NHLE, 41; cited in Temple & Cosmos, p.122, see notes 67-8, on p.136; Archaeological Discoveries, Mancini, p.165-170; BYU Studies, Vol.22, Winter 1982, #1, Ostler, p.31-45; Einar C. Erickson, Great Discoveries That Confirm The Two Newly Added Mormon Scriptures, tape #98, (Las Vegas, Nevada: Tree of Life Productions, 1986). R. G. Hammerton-Kelly, Society for New Testament Studies, Monograph Series, 21: Pre-existence Wisdom & The Son of Man, Lon.: Cambridge Un. Press, 1973, 115, 153, 164-67, 178, 182-3, 197, 219-24, 231-35, 242, 247, 251-3, & 259-60.
- 4563- Ignazio Mancini, O.F.M., (Historical Survey), Archaeological Discoveries, Relative to the Judaeo-Christians, (Jerusalem: Studium Biblicum Franciscanum, Collection minor #10, Franciscan Printing Press, 1970), 72, n. 100; The Gospel In Art, by Albert E. Bailey, 1916, Pilgrim Press, Boston & Chicago, p. 382-385.
- 4564- James H. Charlesworth, The Old Testament Pseudepigrapha, (Garden City: Doubleday, 1983), 2 vols.1:994.
- 4565- Eve Borsook, Messages In Mosaic, The Royal Programmes of Norman Sicily (1130—1187), Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1990, 11, 33, 36-38.
- 4566- ANF, 1:61, chapter v, longer version; p. 67, chapter III, longer version, & p. 72, chapter XI; p.84, chap. ix, short version; p.80, chap.III, longer version; see also Matthew 5:48; p.85, chap.x; & p.91, chap.xi. Ignatius.
- 4567- Old Testament & Related Studies, Nibley, 1986, p.150; & ANF, vol.1, p. 151, intro. note.
- 4568- The Lost Books of The Bible & The Forgotten Books of Eden, (USA, Newfoundland: Alpha House, 1926 & 1927, World Bible Publishers), p.121, 123, 125, 127, 131, 134, 137, & 139, Odes 3:8-10; 7:5-8, 15-16; 9:3; 13:1-3; 21:2-7; 29:3-5; 36:5; 40:6-8; 41:4, 6.
- 4569- BYU Studies, Vol.22, Winter 1982, #1, 31-45; The Pilgrimage & Struggles of The Human Family In & Through The Different Realms Of Existence, by Darell Thorpe, an unpub. manuscript at this time. See also: The Icon, Weitzmann, 26-27, & 30-1, etc. Monuments Of Romanesque Art, Swarzenski, pl.173, fig.380 & 381. Romanesque Sculpture, Hems, 39, fig. 18, etc.
- 4570- ANF, 1:164-72, 181-6, 190-2, & 281, chap. XX, Justin's Hortatory Address to The Greeks; & p.281-3, 285, & 288-89, & 300; The Reign of Antichrist (Or The Great "Falling Away"), by J.M. Sjordahl, SLC, Ut, Deseret News Press, 1913, p.130-137; Theology of the Early Christian Church, by Dr. James Bennett.
- 4571- ANF, 1:326, 386-7, 403, 405, 430-1, 433, 435, 448, 450, 455-6, 473-4, 478-9, 521-6, 531-3, 535, 540, 544, 548, 560-1, 567, & 569-70; Vol. 2, p.104-105. Ignazio Mancini, O.F.M., (Historical Survey), Archaeological Discoveries, Relative to the Judaeo-Christians, (Jerusalem: Studium Biblicum Franciscanum, Collection minor #10, Franciscan Printing Press, 1970), 165-170. A Garland Series, Outstanding Theses In The Fine Arts From British Universities, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, Jennifer O'Reilly, Garland, NY, & Lon., 1988, Thesis Un. of Nottingham for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, 10-1972, p.226-7, & 234. Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1986, 72.
- 4572- ANF, 1:549, p. 330, 352, 451, 457, 493-4, 506, 510, 543-4, 549-50, 572-3, & 576-7. Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1981). Lucifer, The Devil In the Middle Age, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1984). Art of the Middle Ages, Betterberry, p.76, fig.VII-14. Illuminated Manuscripts, Herbert, & Franklen, p.166-7, pl. XX. The Winchester Psalter, Wormald, fig.27; Matt. 11:40; Eph.4:9; Psa.86:13; 30:3; Acts 2:34; Jn.20:17; Psa.23:4; 1 Pet.3:15-22, 4:5-6; Isa.42:6-7.
- 4573- T. Edgar Lyon, Apostasy to Restoration, SLC, Ut: DBC, 1960, 82, n.1: Irenaeus, Against Heresies, Book IV, XXXVIII, 3 & 4.
- 4574- T. Edgar Lyon, Apostasy to Restoration, SLC, Ut: DBC, 1960, 82, Iren., Against Heresies, Bk V. preface.
- 4575- ANF, 1:488, verse 4, & Against Heresies, Bk.4, 38:3-4; & p. 324-6, 335-6, 345, 348, 360, 363, 382, & 386, 401, 402-3, 435, & 448-9.
- 4576- Irenaeus, "Against Heresies," 4:38 (4), etc., ANF, 1:522.
- 4577- James Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Ut: DNP, 1960, p. 70, notes 48-49: Irenaeus, Against Heresies, Iv. Xi, 1. V, preface.
- 4578- Irenaeus, Contra Haereses, IV, 38, J.-P. Migne, Patrologiae Cursus Completus... Series Graeca (Paris: 1857-1866), vol.7:1107-08.
- 4579- Anna Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1986, 72, etc. Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All the Prophets Gone? Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005, 90, 137, n. 38: Testament of Adam 3:2-4, James H. Charlesworth, Old Testament Pseudepigrapha, NY: Doubleday, 1983, 2 vols., 1:994.
- 4580- ANF, 2:174, Clement of Alexandria, Exhortation to the Greeks, 1.
- 4581- ANF, 2:222-4, & 434-7; 2 Cor.5:1-10; Our Christian Heritage, Church History & the Episcopal Church, Powel Mills Dawley, Pub. by Morehouse- Barlow Co., NY, 1959, 3rd ed., 1960, p.49-50; Baptism for the Dead, by Roger Adam, 1977, (Thesis located in the SLC LDS Church Lib.), p. 46-50, p.51, & 61, note 5- "Danielou, Liturgy, 13, citing Theodore's commentary on the sacrament of baptism." etc. Jeffrey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988), 122. N&PNF 5:519-520, & 524, Gregory of Nyssa: Dogmatic Treatises, etc. reprint June 1972, by WM. B. Eerdmans. Textile Art in the Church, by Marion P. Ireland, 1966, 67, & 1971, Pub. Abingdon Press., Nashville & N.Y., p. 73; CELEBRATIONS (The Complete Book of American Holidays), Robert J. Myers, with The Editors of Hallmark Cards, Doubleday & Co., Garden City, N.Y., 1972, 108 & 156-7; A Holiday Book, Easter, by Lillie Patterson, 1966, 21-22. The Holy Garments of The First & Second Adam, Thorpe, 1993, unpublished file.

4582- Jaroslav Pelikan, Mary Through the Centuries, Her Place in the History of Culture, (New Haven & Lon., Yale Un., Press, 1996), viii, 96, 138, 164-187, 202-3, 214. Art, by Frederick Hartt, Vol. II, Pub. by H. N. Abrams, N.Y., 1976, pl.21. Heaven A History, Colleen McDannell & Bernard Lang, Yale Un. Press, New Haven & Lon., 1988, p.104-5, pls. 8 & 9; p.114, pl.11, p.136-41, 160-5, pls. 30-2. The Reign of Antichrist, by J. M. Sjodahl, 1913, p.24-26. The 2 Babylons, Rev. Alexander Hislop, 1916, 1943, & 1959, Pub. in America by Loizeaux Brothers, Inc., Neptune, N.J., p.74-90. Ancient Texts & Mormonism, Eugene Seach, Sounds of Zion, 1983, p.23-25. Studies in The Arts at Sinai, Kurt Weitzmann, fig.9; Icon, Coronation of Virgin, Sinai. A Handbook of Legendary & Mythological Art, Mrs. Clara Erskine Clement Waters, Pub. by James R. Osgood & Co., Boston, 1883, p.228-231. Some art works show angels descending out of heaven with a garment to cloth Mary's spirit in & to receive her into heaven. Art In The Middle Ages, Joseph Pijoan, (The Un. Of Knowledge Wonder Books, Glenn Frank, Editor-in-Chief,) Chicago, 1940, p.110. Ellen Badone, The Appointed Hour, Death, Worldview, & Social Change in Brittany, Berkeley; LA, USA; Lon., Eng.: Un. of Calif. Press 1989, p.103, fig. 7, p.104-130. Taddeo Di Bartolo, A.D. 1362/63-1422, depicts a wrist clasping rite of passage between Christ & Mary as she ascends into heaven. Thus, in Bartolo's depiction, AD 1389, Christ descends out of heaven to grasp the wrists of Mary in this version of The Assumption of the Virgin Mary. Werner R. Deusch, Deutsche Malerei, Des Funfzehnten Jahrhunderts, Die Malerei Der Spatgotik, (Berlin, Germany: Kurt Wolff Verlag, 1936), pl. 81, Johann Koerbecke, Himmelfahrt Mariae. 1457 Lugano, Sammlung Baron Thyssen-Bornemisza. J.C.J Metford, Dictionary of Christian Lore & Legend, Lon.: Thames & Hudson, 1983, p.73. Meisterwerke der Gemälde—Galerie, Hamburger Kunsthalle, (Herausgegeben von Alfred Hentzen unter Mitarbeit von Gerhard Gerkens, Hans Werner Grohn, Hanna Hohl, Michael Schwarz, Wolf Stubbe und Georg Syamken, 1969), fig. 16, Mary crowned & enthroned with Christ. Fig.38, Mary about to be crowned. Vincent Cronin, Mary Portrayed, (Lon., Eng.: Darton, Longman & Todd, 1968), p.3, 16-17, fig.6, p.20-1, fig.8, pp.24-5, fig.10, p.28, fig.13, p.31-2, 34-5, 38, figs. 20-1, p.44, 53-5, fig.28, p.88-9, fig. 47, p.92-4, 99, 116-7, fig. 65, p.128-9, fig.83, & p.156; Janson, History of Art, p.178, fig.289, p.252, fig. 402, p. 262, figs. 414-15, p.268, figs. 426-7, p. 270-1, fig.431, fig. 463, pp.324-5, fig. 495-6, & p.380, fig.562; Hennessy, Fra Angelico, p.173, fig. X, p.200, figs. XXXIX & XL., p.203, fig. XLVII; Ruda, Fra Filippo Lippi, p.56-7, pl.22, p.66, pl.28, p.84, 87, pl.44, p.90-1, pl.47, p.136-153, pls.76-83, p.297-9, pls.169 & 171, p.368, pl.200, etc. Burns, Western Civilizations, vol. 1, p. in between p. 224-5, Sieneas Madonna & Child, Byzantine School, 13th century A.D. (National Gallery; Mary crowned, 14th c., ivory from Louvre, Paris. Mary as the "Queen of Heaven"; Clark, Civilisation, vii, #9 in color & 47 in black and white, p.68-71. Mary is being crowned queen during an after-life realm coronation ceremony taking place in heaven. Martin, Textiles in Daily Life in the Middle Ages, p.20-1, fig. 7, The Coronation of the Virgin. Embroidery. Italy, Florence, 1st half of the 15th century, CMA 53. 129 (cat. no. 5), And fig.8, Lorenzo Monaco, Italian, 1370/71-1425. Panel, 1414. Galleria degli Uffizi, Florence; Hollister, 1968, Medieval Europe, A Short History, p. 334-336. Another Altarpiece, from the Dominican convent of San Vincenzo di Annalena, The Virgin and Child enthroned. The coronation. "CA. 1430-1440"; Giulio Carlo Argan, Fra Angelico, Biographical and Critical Study (The World Pub., Co.), p.61-62, The Coronation, Louvre, Paris. ENTHRONED, 1437, CONVENT OF SAN MARCO, FLORENCE, p. 90-91. A number of art works during 13-17 centuries show Mary crowned. The dates to some of these are A.D. 1249, 1320-th th 30, 1430s, & 1616, while others shows her as if she is one of the members of the Godhead, as she is under going the coronation ceremony in heaven. One dates back to A.D. 1453-4, another to A.D. 1516. (Hartt, Art, vol. II, pl.21, Renaissance. Enguerrand Quarton. Coronation of the Virgin. Panel Painting, Musée de l'Hospice, Villeneuve-les-Avignon, France; Bernard S. Myers, (General editor), Art Treasures in Germany, Monuments, Masterpieces, Commissions of Collections, (NY: & Lon.: Terwin Copplestone, & Hamlyn Pub. Group Limited, 1970), p. 55, fig. 73, p.56-7, fig.76, p.69, fig.96, p.70, fig.99, p.89, fig.126, & p.94, fig.135. Juliana and Dumitru Dancu, 1979, Romanian Folk Painting on Glass, 123. Maria-Gabriele Wosien, 1974, Sacred Dance, Encounter with the Gods, (NY: Thames & Hudson, 1986), p. 26-29; Juliana & Dumitru Dancu, (Translated into English by Andreea Gheorghitioiu), Romanian Folk Painting on Glass, (Bucharest: Meridiane Publishing House, 1979), 123, Dormition of the Virgin, Laz Pavel Zamfir 1897, Jianu Collection, Museum of Oltenia, Craiova. Above the scene which shows different saints gathered around Mary's body at the moment of her death, is Mary's soul being welcomed into heaven by Christ. Mary is grasping the middle of Christ's hand with her hands. According to other art works, Christ then will conduct her through the rest of the heavenly mysteries in which she will be crowned, enthroned, glorified, and deified. Bernard S. Myers, Editor, McGraw—Hill Dictionary of Art, (NY: Toronto; Lon.; Sydney; Johannaesburg: McGraw—Hill Book Co., 1969), p. 269. Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, page 79, Abb. 47. Jüngstes Gericht, Huth-Psalter, nach 1280. London, British Library, Add.38116, fol. 13. - Eine der frühesten bildlichen Umsetzungen der Heilstreppe. Showing an angelic guide grasping the wrist of the first, in many, to be guided into paradise on the right hand side of Christ, who sits enthroned, with both hands raised up. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, p.81, Abb 49. "Interzession, Glasfenster, 1. Hälfte 14. Jahrhundert. Freiburg i.Br., Münster, nördliches Seitenschiff, zweites Fenster von Westen."

4583- ANF 2:174, 271, 539, Clement of Alex., Exhortation to the Greeks, 1, Instructor 3.1, Strom., 23, 7.10. Scott Petersen, Where Have All the Prophets Gone? Springville Ut: CFI 2005, 91-92, 137, n. 44-46.

4584- ANF, 2:199-200, 234, 234, 438-41, 444-6, 493-8, 504-9, 512-13, 524-39, 542, 546-9, 553, 570-2, 576, 581-4, 597, 601, & 604; Eph.4:13, Matt.5:48, 25:10; 1 Thess.4:17; 1 Cor.15:41; 1 Tim.6:16.

4585- John Ernest Leonard Oulton, D.D., & Henry Chadwick, B.D., The Library of Christian Classics, Alexandrian Christianity, Selected Translations of Clement and Origen with Introductions Notes, (Philadelphia: The Westminster Press), 2:98-99, Clement of Alexandria, On Spiritual Perfection.

4586- John R. Martin, The Illustrations of the Heavenly Ladder Of John Climacus; J.C.J Metford, Dictionary of Christian Lore & Legend, (Eng.: Thames & Hudson Ltd., 1983), 142-43.

4587- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 99, 138, n. 68: Clement of Alexandria, Stromata, 6.14, ANF, 2:506.

4588- John Ernest Leonard Oulton, D.D., & Henry Chadwick, B.D., The Library of Christian Classics, Alexandrian Christianity, Selected Translations of Clement & Origen with Introductions Notes, (Philadelphia: The Westminster Press), vol. 2, p. 99, Clement of Alexandria, On Spiritual Perfection.

4589- Milton R. Hunter, The Gospel Through the Ages, SLC, Utah: Stevens & Wallis, 1945, 109. S. Angus, The Mystery Religions & Christianity, 106-107. https://archive.org/details/TheMysteryReligions_S.Angus -

- 4590- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: T&T Clark, Edinburgh, WM. B. Eerdmans Publishing Company, reprinted October 1989), italics added, vol. 2, p. 198, Clement of Alexandria, A.D. 153—193—217, Exhortation to the Heathen, chapter 10.
- 4591- Jennifer O'Reilly, 10-1972, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, A Garland Series, Outstanding Thesis In The Fine Arts from British Universities, NY & Lon.: Garland 1988, 172.
- 4592- ANF, 4:344-5, Origen "De Principiis."; John 17. ANF 4:601-606 bk.6 chaps. lxi-lxxi. Origen Against Celsus. Christianity & Classical Culture, Charles Norris Cochrane, 1st Pub., Clarendon Press, 1940, Paperback ed., Oxford Un., Press, 1957, 266-67. Stan-Michel Pellistrandi, The Early Christian Civilization, (Forni, Geneva: 1978, California, USA: Paradise Found Books, English edition), 180-199.
- 4593- Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1940s), 11 vols, vol.3: Caesar & Christ, 1944, p. 226-7, 256, 260, 268-9, 274, 280, 291-2, 309, 388, 430, 432, 523, 623, 640-1, 646, 716. Francis Legge, Forerunners & Rivals Of Christianity, From 330 BC. TO 330 AD, 2 Vols as 1, (New Hyde Park, NY: Un. Books, 1964), 1:134-5. A History of Christian Thought, Arthur C. McGiffert, 1:140-1.
- 4594- Charles Norris Cochrane, Christianity & Classical Culture, (Clarendon Press, 1940; Paperback, Oxford Un. Press 1957), 266-67.
- 4595- Matthew 5:48, John 17:20-23; Matthew 13:43; Dialogue: A Journal of Mormon Thought, Vol.18, #2, Sum. 1985, p.33, "The Godmakers Examined," p.14-39, also The Godmakers: Shadow or Reality? by Allen D. Roberts p.33. "...The Godmakers causes us to take a closer look at Mormon perfectionism. The film criticizes the dangers of Mormon striving for perfection while it simultaneously condemns the imperfect actions of Mormons. It's a classic example of damned if you do & damned if you don't...." See also: R. Joseph Hoffmann, Celsus On The True Doctrine, A Discourse Against the Christians, translated by Hoffmann, (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987), a reconstruction of a 2nd c. early anti-Christian work, see p. 18, 58-9; 73-4, & The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, Origen Against Celsus, p. 423-8, 439, 475, 486, 487-8, 509, 547, 550-1, 563, 593-4, 646-7, 658.
- 4596- E. Baldwin Smith, The Dome, A Study in the History of Ideas, N.J.: Princeton Un. Press 1950, 1978, 82.
- 4597- J. Eugene Seach, Ancient Texts & Mormonism, (Murray, Utah: Sounds of Zion, 1983), 131, note 193, On the Gospel of John 11:13, 19. ANF, 4:434 & 475, & 547-8. OAC), book 2, chap.9; bk 3, chap. 28; Book 4, chap. 29, p.509, chap.30, p. 547-8, bk.5, chap. x-xi; p.551, bk.5, chaps. 14-19; p.593, bk.6, chap. xlv, bk.6, chap. xlv; p. 601-2, & 626, bk. 6, chap. lxi, chap. lxiii; The Early Christian Fathers, by Henry Bettenson, pub. by Oxford Un. Press, Lon. 1956, p.243-44. Origen cites from the following passages in support of deification: Psalms 82:1; 1 Cor. 8:5-6; Matthew 5:14, 16 & 48; 22:30, Luke 20:36, John 1:5; 1 John 3:2, at his appearing we hope that we shall be like God in virtues and moral perfection. Matthew 5:48 points out that they are taught to become "perfect," as our Father in heaven is perfect." Gen.1:26-7; 1 Cor. 15:40-2; & Dan.12:1-3; Lev.11:44 & Eph. 5:1.
- 4598- ANF, 4:617, 641, 645-8, 658, & 668, bk.7 chap. xvi, book 8, chaps. 4-5; chaps. 17-22; chapter L; chap. lxxiv; & Hebrews 12:22-3. The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, Provo & SLC, Utah: FARMS, & Deseret Book Co., vol. 3: The World & The Prophets, 157-162.
- 4599- Bart Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, NY: Oxford Un. Press 1993. Richard Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, USA, Ut.: CFI, 2009. Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Ut: Bookcraft, 1994, 15-209. Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring the Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, Ben Lomond, Calif.: FAIR 1999, 75-165. Noel B. Reynolds, (Ed.), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, Provo, Ut: FARMS & BYU Press, 2005, 205-293. Dr. Hugu W. Nibley talk during a Tri-Stake Fireside, Brigham Young University, March 3, 1964. Links: <https://sites.lib.byu.edu/nibley/1964/03/03/the-early-christian-church/> - Links might, but might not still work: <http://publications.mi.byu.edu/fullscreen/?pub=978>
- 4600- Hugu Nibley's 1953 radio show series on KSL in SLC, Utah, Time Vindicates The Prophets, he mentions Origen's anti-corporeal views. Comments of the show were later published in 1987, The World of the Prophets, vol. 3, p.77, 157-8, in The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, (Provo & SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Co., & FARMS).
- 4601- ANF 4:551, bk.5 chap.19, also chaps.14-18, Origen Against Celsus. Celsus: It's silly for early Christians to tell of "...those who long since dead will rise up from the earth possessing the same bodies as they did before....I ask you: Is this not the hope of worms? For what sort of human soul is that has any use for a rotted corpse shows just how utterly repulsive it is: it is nothing less than nauseating & impossible. I mean, what sort of body is it that could return to its original nature or become the same as it was before it rotted away?..." R. Joseph Hoffmann, Celsus On The True Doctrine, Oxford Un. Press, 1987, 86. Bart Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, NY: Oxford Un. Press 1993. Richard Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, USA, Ut.: CFI, 2009. Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Ut: Bookcraft, 1994, 15-209.
- 4602- Darell Thorpe, The Christ In Santa Unmasked [How Modern Traditions & Legends About Santa Can Be Traced Back To The Early Christian Doctrine That Christ Went to Other Nations Around the World]. (CR 1994, revised 12-1995, revised editions on line at Amazon). Thorpe, Christ's Pilgrimage Unto the Ends of the Earth (1996). Thorpe, Jesus Christ, The World Wide Wounded Wanderer. (On line editions, text & illustrated ed.).
- 4603- Bart Ehrman, The Orthodox Corruption of Scripture, The Effect of Early Christological Controversies on the Text of the New Testament, NY: Oxford Un. Press 1993. Richard Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, USA, Ut.: CFI, 2009. Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Ut: Bookcraft, 1994, 15-209. Barry Robert Bickmore, Restoring the Ancient Church, Joseph Smith & Early Christianity, Ben Lomond, Calif.: FAIR 1999, 75-165. Noel B. Reynolds, (Ed.), Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, Provo, Ut: FARMS & BYU Press, 2005, 205-293. Dr. Hugu W. Nibley talk during a Tri-Stake Fireside, Brigham Young University, March 3, 1964. Links: <https://sites.lib.byu.edu/nibley/1964/03/03/the-early-christian-church/> - Links might, but might not still work: <http://publications.mi.byu.edu/fullscreen/?pub=978>
- 4604- ANF, 4:617, 641, 645-8, 658, & 668, bk.7 chap. xvi, book 8, chap. 4-5; chap. 17-22; chap. L; chap. lxxiv; & Hebrews 12:22-3. The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, Provo & SLC, Utah: FARMS, & Deseret Book Co., Vol. 3: The World & The Prophets, 157-62. Origen, commentary on John 2:2-3. Henry Bettenson, The Early Christian Fathers, (Oxford, England: Oxford Un. Press, 1956), 324.
- 4605- Origen, commentary on John 2:2-3 in: The Early Christian Fathers, Bettenson, 1956, p. 324.
- 4606- Terry L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 98, 344, end note 117: Origen, De Principiis, III.61, The Ante-Nicene Fathers, 4:344.

4607- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 92, 137, n. 47: Origen, Against Celsus, 3.38, ANF, 4:475.

4608- Hugu Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, Provo & SLC, Utah: F.A.R.M.S., & Deseret Book Co., vol. 3: The World and The Prophets, (1987), 158, 311, notes: 11-12: J. P. Migne, Patrologia Cursus Completus, Series Graeca (Paris: 1857-1866, 161 volumes), 11:188-91, 210, Origen, Peri Archon II, 2, 3 & 6.

4609- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 92, 137, n. 48: Origen, Commentary on the Gospel of John 2:2-3, in ANF, 9:323-24.

4610- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 151.

4611- ANF, 4:547-8, bk.5 chap. x-xi, Origen, Against Celsus. The Early Christian Fathers, Henry Bettenson, Oxford Un. Press, Lon. 1956, 243-44. Rev.1:10-15, 19:6-10, & 22:7-9. Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 151-53. See also: ANF, 5:153, Hippolytus, Refutation of All Heresies, 10:30. ANF, 2:539, Clement of Alexandria.

4612- Hugu Nibley, Col. Works, Vol.1, Old Testament And Related Studies, 150. In earlier centuries, deification was considered as being part of the resurrection. The body would be raised up out of the grave & clothed in a glorified body. Some at different degrees of glory than others (1 Cor. ch. 15). However, there were some heretical sects who rejected the physical resurrection in those earlier centuries, while in later centuries the doctrine of a physical resurrection, in some cases was rejected and changed, for by the time of St. Augustine, many had settled for a spiritual resurrection only. ANF 4:475, bk.3, chap.28 & p.509 bk. 4 chap.29-30 & p.547, bk.5 chap. x & xiv-xix p.549-551; The Early Christian Church in the Light of Some Newly Discovered Papyri from Egypt, Hugu Nibley, p.12-13. T. Edgar Lyon, Apostasy to Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Co., 1960, 89-91.

4613- A History of Christianity in the World, Clyde L. Manschreck, 2nd ed., Englewood Cliffs, NJ: Prentice-Hall, 1985, p.52, cited by Daniel Peterson & Stephen Ricks, in their article: Comparing LDS Beliefs With First-Century Christianity, pub. in The Ensign, March 1988, p.7-11, p.8, n.4. Daniel C. Peterson, Dr. & Stephen David Ricks, Professor, Offenders For A Word {How Anti-Mormons Play Word Games to Attack the Latter-day Saints}, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Aspen Books, 1992), 91, & 227.

4614- ANF, 5:153, Hippolytus, Refutation of All Heresies, 10:30.

4615- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol.5, p. 151-3, chaps.28-29, Hippolytus, bk.X, The Refutation of All Heresies, 237 Hippolytus "Discourse on the Holy Theophany", Refutations of Heresies X.30, cited in Ancient Texts & Mormonism, by Eugene Seach, 1983, Sounds of Zion, Murray Utah, pp.45-6; Matt.25:21, 23; Luke 16:10-12; 2 Pet.1:4; The Encyclopedia of Religion, Mircea Eliade, Ed., in Chief, Vol.4, pp.260-1, Macmillan Pub., Co., N.Y., 1987, Hippolytus, (Philosophumena 6.9.25 & 10.34).

4616- Reader's Digest, After Jesus (The Triumph of Christianity), 1992, 167-168; R. Bultmann, "Die Neuerschlossenen mandaischen Quellen...", ZNTW 24 (1925): 126; The Manichaean Psalm Book, Part II, by C.R.C. Allberry, (Stugart: W. Kohlhammer, 1938), 50, 58 & 69.

4617- James Reston Dogs of God Columbus the Inquisition, & the Defeat of the Moors, NY Doubleday 2005, 9.

4618- ANF 5:263-4, 518 The Treatises of Cyprian Treatise 12, 3 Bks of Testimonies Against the Jews 2nd bk 6

4619- Edward McNall Burns, Robert E. Lerner, & Standish Meacham, Western Civilizations, Their History & Their Culture, (NY, Lon.: W.W. Norton & Co., 1st ed., 1941, 10th ed. 1984). Western Civilization, Langer, MacKendrick, Geanakoplos, Hexter, Pipes, 1968, p. 252, 266, 275, 280, 288, 291, & 305.

4620- ANF 5:607, 624-5, & 631, Treatise Concerning the Trinity, Chaps. XV & XX; Russell's Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, 1981, p. 197, & The Prince of Darkness, 1988, 81.

4621- Our Christian Heritage, (Church History and the Episcopal Church), Powel Mills Dawley, Pub. Morehouse-Barlow Co., NY, 1959, 3rd ed., 1960, p. 51-2, & 56.

4622- Edward McNall Burns, Robert E. Lerner, & Standish Meacham, Western Civilizations, Their History & Their Culture, (NY, Lon.: W.W. Norton & Co., 1st ed., 1941, 10th ed. 1984), vol. 1, p.219. The March Of The Cross, by Leonard W. Cowie, 1962, (First Pub. in Great Britain by Weidenfeld & Nicolson LTD. 1962), & first pub. in the USA by McGraw-Hill Book Co., Inc., N.Y., Toronto, & Lon., 1962, p. 33-4.

4623- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 529-30.

4624- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 516-530. W. H. C. Frend, Martyrdom & Persecution In The Early Church, (Garden City, New York: Anchor Books Doubleday & Company, 1967). Walter Hilton, The Ladder of Perfection, (U.S.A.: Penguin Classics, 1988). Christopher Brooke, (photos, Wim Swaan), Monasteries Of the World, The Rise & Development of the Monastic Tradition, (Crescent books, 1982, Paul Elek). Dom Hubert Van Zeller, The Holy Rule, Notes on St. Benedict's Legislation for Monks, (New York: Sheed & Ward, 1958). Alice Bank, Byzantine Art in the Collection of Soviet Museums, (New York: Harry N. Abrams, 1977, and Leningrad, Russia: Aurora Art), plate 124, p. 294. John Beckwith, The Art of Constantinople, An Introduction to Byzantine Art 330--1453, (Greenwich - Connecticut: Phaidon Publishers Inc., Distributed by New York Graphic Society, 1961), p. 136, fig. 180. Early 14th century, Ivory relief. Constantinople. Berlin-Dahlem, Ehemals Staatliche Museen. Angels descending out of heaven with robes for the 40 martyrs. Art and Archaeology, The Arts Throughout the Ages, vol. 25, January, 1928, #1, article by Vicente Castaneda, The Royal Academy of History In Spain, p. 25. The Martyrdom of San Cugat, painted by Alfonso de Baena, now in the Museum of Barcelona. About 15th century? Soul rides a blanket to heaven, while ascending with the two angels holding each end of it. Michel Pierre, Morgan -- Antoine Sabbagh, The Human Story, Europe In The Middle Ages, (Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Silver Burdett Press, 1988. Originally pub. in 1986 by Casterman, under the title: L' Histoire des Hommes: L' Europe du Moyen Age.), p. 34.

4625- Christian Monasticism, David Knowles, 1969, 1972 & 77, Pub. World Un., Library, McGraw-Hill Co., NY, Toronto, 10. W.H.C. Frend, The Early Church, Phila., & NY: J.B. Lippincott, 1966, 202-3, Athanasius Life 2.

4626- James Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: DNP, 1960, 513-14. Alfred Wesley Wishart, A Short History of Monks & Monasteries, Trenton, N.J.: Albert Brandt. 1900, 17, 23, 73-74, Appendix Note A.

4627- The Holy Rule (Notes on St. Benedict's Legislation for Monks), Dom Hubert Van Zeller, NY: Sheed & Ward, 1958, 370. James Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 515.

4628- Edward McNall Burns, Robert E. Lerner, & Standish Meacham, Western Civilizations, Their History & Their Culture, (NY, Lon.: W.W. Norton & Co., 1st ed., 1941, 10th ed. 1984), vol.1, p.219; Leonard W. Cowie, The March Of The Cross, (Great Britain: Weidenfeld & Nicolson LTD., 1962; in the USA: McGraw-Hill Book Co., Inc., NY, Toronto, & Lon., 1962), p.33-4; David Knowles, Christian Monasticism, (NY, Toronto: World Un., Library, McGraw-Hill Co., 1969, reprint 1972 & 1977), 10; W.H.C. Frend, The Early Church, (Phil., & N.Y.: J.B. Lippincott

Co., 1966), pp.202-3; Dom Hubert Van Zeller, The Holy Rule, Notes on St. Benedict's Legislation for Monks, (New York: Seed & Ward, 1958), 370 & p.56-8, 65, & note 27 on p.80, see also p.82, 89, 99-101, see note 5 on p.101, 103, 106-7, 123, & 125-6). In later Christendom, ladders to heaven symbolized life journey towards moral perfection. Each rung symbolizing a step towards perfection. At the top of the ladder, Christ grasps the hand or wrist of the faithful as they enter heaven. (Zeller, The Holy Rule, 1958, p.99-101). ST. JOHN CLIMACUS was Abbot of Mt. Sinai, [late 6th cent. A.D.]. In the 7th century He wrote a treatise that presents: "The image of the Ladder to describe the soul's progress to perfection..." (Russian Illuminated Manuscripts, by Olga Popova, see top-left explanation #42; Jennifer O'Reilly, A Garland Series, Outstanding Theses In The Fine Arts from British Universities, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, (Thesis submitted to the Un. of Nottingham for the degree of Doctor in Philosophy, Oct. 1972), Pub. by Garland Pub., Inc., NY, & Lon., 1988, p.176, & 355). The Holy Rule, Zeller, 1958, 5-6, 9-12, 15, 56-8, 65, 70, 73, 80, 82, 89, 99-101, 103, 106-7, 123, 125-6, 176-78, 180, 182, 264, 287-8, 370, 372, 419, 460, & 464.

4629- Edward McNall Burns, Robert E. Lerner, & Standish Meacham, Western Civilizations, Their History & Their Culture, (NY, Lon.: W.W. Norton & Co., 1st ed., 1941, 10th edition 1984), vol.1, p. 219.

4630- Edward McNall Burns, Robert E. Lerner, & Standish Meacham, Western Civilizations, Their History & Their Culture, (NY, Lon.: W.W. Norton & Co., 1st ed., 1941, 10th edition 1984), vol.1, p. 222-23. The March Of The Cross, by Leonard W. Cowie, 1962, (First Pub. in Great Britain by Weidenfeld & Nicolson LTD. 1962), & first pub. in the USA by McGraw-Hill Book Co., Inc., N.Y., Toronto, & Lon., 1962, p.33.

4631- W. H. C. Frend, Martyrdom & Persecution In The Early Church, (Garden City, New York: Anchor Books Doubleday & Company, 1967). Christopher Brooke, (photos, Wim Swaan), Monasteries Of The World, The Rise & Development of the Monastic Tradition, (Crescent books, 1982, Paul Elek). David Knowles, 1969, Christian Monasticism, (New York, Toronto: World University Library, McGraw-Hill Company, reprinted 1972 & 1977). Tudor Publishers Company). Schroll, Sister M. Alfred, Benedictine Monasticism, as reflected in the Warnefrid-Hildemar commentaries on the Holy Rule, (New York, Columbia University Press, 1941). The March Of The Cross, by Leonard W. Cowie, 1962, (First Pub. in Great Britain by Weidenfeld & Nicolson LTD. 1962), & first pub. in the USA by McGraw-Hill Book Co., Inc., N.Y., Toronto, & Lon., 1962.

4632- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994, 123. W.H.C. Frend, Martyrdom & Persecution In The Early Church, NY: Anchor Books Doubleday & Company, 1967). Christopher Brooke, (photos, Wim Swaan), Monasteries Of The World, The Rise & Development of the Monastic Tradition, (Crescent books, 1982, Paul Elek). Richard R. Hopkins, How Greek Philosophy Corrupted the Christian Concept of God, (USA, Utah: Cedar Fort Inc., 2009). Ellis T. Rasmussen, (General Director), Reflections on Mormonism, Judaeo-Christian Parallels, (Provo, Utah & BYU, Religious Studies Center, 1978), Papers Delivered at the Religious Studies Center Symposium, BYU, March 10-11, 1978, 155-73, chap. 9, by Edmond LaB. Cherbonnier, "In Defense of Anthropomorphism." Also, chap. 12, p. 201-19, by Ernst W. Benz, "Imago Dei: Man in the Image of God."

4633- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994, 20-123.

4634- Acts 3:12-26, 4:2, 5:29-32, 7:44-60, 13:29-37, 20:24, Rom.6:3-9, Col.2:8-12, 3:1-15, Rom.8:1-23, 9:5, 20-23, 13:8-14, 1 Cor.2:1-14, 9:14-27, 11:23-29, chaps. 12 & 15, 2 Cor.4:4-14, 5:1-17, Eph.2:13-22, 4:7-32, 5:26-27, 6:10-19, Phil. 3:6-21, 1 Tim.3:16, 6:12, 2 Tim.2:8-12, 4:7-8, Heb. 1:1-9, 2:9-10, 5:5-9, 1 Pet.4:11-14, 5:4-6, 2 Pet. 1:3-10, 1 John 3:2-3, 2 John 7, Rev.2:25-26, 3:21, 19:8, 13-14, 21:7.

4635- Ellis T. Rasmussen, (General Director), Reflections on Mormonism, Judaeo-Christian Parallels, (Provo, Utah & BYU, Religious Studies Center, 1978), Papers Delivered at the Religious Studies Center Symposium, BYU, March 10-11, 1978, chap. 12, p. 201-19, by Ernst W. Benz, "Imago Dei: Man in the Image of God," p. 215-16.

4636- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 513-18. Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 93-4.

4637- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 94. 1 Cor.7:1-17, 33-39.

4638- Bruce L. Shelley, Church History, In Plain Language, Nashville, Dallas, Mexico City, etc.: Thomas Nelson, 1995, Updated 2nd ed., 116-123. Christopher Brooke, (photos, Wim Swaan), Monasteries Of The World, The Rise & Development of the Monastic Tradition, (Crescent books, 1982, Paul Elek). David Knowles, 1969, Christian Monasticism, (NY, Toronto: World University Library, McGraw-Hill Co., reprinted 1972 & 1977). Tudor Pub. Co.). James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC., Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 501, 523, 757.

4639- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 206, 396, 440, note 335: Frederic W. Farrar, The Early Days of Christianity, Lon., Paris, & NY: Cassell, Petter, Galpin & Co., 1882, 2 vols., 1:501.

4640- 1 Cor. 15:38-58, Eph.2:9-21, 5:20-33, 6:1-4, Phil.3:20-21, Col.3:4-21, 1 Tim.4:1-3, Hand shake symbol-tombstone, Hugh L Mitchell died 12-14-1882. Ute Cemetery Aspen Colorado. Hands Clapsed Friendship or Marriage, Osceola. Perkinsville cemetery Madison County Victorian symbol husband and wife partnership 1845. Perkinsville cemetery, Pioneer Cemeteries Madison County Samuel Wise 1814. Victorian symbol husband and wife partnership in life fellowship in after-life. Grave-stone marker of Thomas FERRIS died May 4, 1883, hand clasp. Victorian Cemetery Symbolism hand clasp on grave stone - Mount Hope Cemetery - Rochester NY. William Edward Nivingsen Hewitt -died 1-26-1910 - drowned Mt White at Waddington. To name just a few in many examples of stone grave markers. Millia Davenport, The Book of Costume, (New York: Crown Publishing, Inc., 1948 & 1976), 2 vols., in 1, see: vol.1, p. 214, figs., 595, 598-99, p. 352, fig. 921. Etc. Clifford Davidson, Editor, The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, and Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Kalamazoo, Michigan: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan University, 1994). Colleen McDannell and Bernhard Lang, Heaven: A History, (New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1988). Jeffrey Burton Russell, A History of Heaven, The Singing Silence, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1997). Francis Y. Duval & Ivan B. Rigby, Early American Gravestone Art In Photographs, (New York: Dover Publishers Inc., 1978). You Tube, Rare Flix, Darell Thorpe, documentary, "There is no evidence, that there are no evidences," numerous examples of tomb stones.

4641- Matt. 16:19, 19:5-6, 14, Mark 10:7-9, Rom.13:8-14, 15:5-7, 1 Cor.3:14-17, 6:9-20, 7:1-17, 27-40, 12:12-25, Eph. 4:22-32, 5:2-33, Phil.1:27, 2:2-10, 3:10-21, 4:3, Col.2:2-23, 3:4-25, 1 Thes.4:3-9, 2 Tim. 2:22, James 4:1-12, 1 Pet. 3:1-11, 5:4-11, Rev. 3:4-5, 11-21, 7:14, 18:14-24, 19:7-14, Macarius, the Coptic (the Egyptian), 50 Spiritual Homilies, 2:2-5, etc., Tertullian, On the Apparel of Women, also: On the Veiling of Virgins, ANF, 4:14-37. Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986).

4642- Joseph Fielding McConkie, Sons & Daughters of God, (SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1994), 93-94. Walter Hilton, The Ladder of Perfection, (U.S.A.: Penguin Classics, 1988). John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1954). Christopher Brooke, (photos, Wim Swaan), Monasteries Of The World, The Rise & Development of the Monastic Tradition, (Crescent books, 1982, Paul Elek).

4643- Horton & Marie-Hélène Davies, Holy Days & Holidays, The Medieval Pilgrimage to Compostela, (Lon. & Toronto: Lewisburg Bucknell Un. Press, Associated Un. Press, 1982), 21.

4644- Horton & Marie-Hélène Davies, Holy Days & Holidays, The Medieval Pilgrimage to Compostela, p.22.

4645- Horton & Marie-Hélène Davies, Holy Days & Holidays, The Medieval Pilgrimage to Compostela, p. 25.

4646- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 6, p. 307, & 366-69, From The Discourse On The Resurrection, Part I:X-XIV; The Gospel Through the Ages, Milton R. Hunter, 1945, Stevens & Wallis, SLC., Ut., p.109, & note 22 making reference to the following book that may or may not still be on line: S. Angus, The Mystery Religions & Christianity, 106-107. https://archive.org/details/TheMysteryReligions_S.Angus –

4647- S. Angus, The Mystery Religions & Christianity, 106. The Gospel Through The Ages, Hunter, 109, Rites & Symbols of Initiation, Mircea Eliade, Pub., Harper & Row, NY, 1958, 113.

4648- Hunter, The Gospel Through the Ages, 109. His notes 22-23, say that he is citing from: S. Angus, The Mystery Religions and Christianity, p. 106-107.

4649- Fathers & Heretics, G.L. Prestige, 1940, Lon., SPCK, p.108. Offenders For A Word, Peterson & Ricks, 1992, 87-88, & 231. Milton Hunter, The Gospel Through the Ages, SLC, Ut.: Stevens & Wallis, 1945, 109.

4650- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 150, 429, n.145: Everett Ferguson, ed., Encyclopedia of Early Christianity, NY: & Lon.: Garland 1998, 2nd ed., p. 119.

4651- The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, 1:4, 10-11, & 19-26, & 370-378; BYU Studies, Winter 1981, Vol.21, #1, The Catholic Liturgy and the Mormon Temple, by Marcus Von Wellnitz, 19, & note 101, citing Eusebius Ecclesiastical History 10.4.

4652- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: T&T Clark, Edinburgh, WM. B. Eerdmans Publishing Company, reprinted October 1989), italics added, vol. 2, p. 198, Clement of Alexandria, A.D. 153—193—217, Exhortation to the Heathen, chapter 10. The Ante-Nicene Fathers is a series of the writings of the early Christian Fathers before or “Ante-Nicene” meaning before the Nicene Creed controversy of A.D. 325. Thus, they are the early Christian writings before A.D. 325.

4653- Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 278—279. Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company), volume 2: Enoch The Prophet, (1986). George W. E. Nickelsburg & James C. VanderKam, 1 Enoch, A New Translation, (Minneapolis: Fortress Press, 2004). Richard Laurence, LL.D., (Trans.) The Book of Enoch The Prophet, (Re-issued: Williams & Norgate, 1892).

4654- The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4: Athanasius, p. lxxxv, lxxxvii, pp.65, 159, 329-30, 374, 386, 389, 405-7, 411, 412-15, 477, 572, 576, 578-9, Incarnation of the Word, 54:3, note 5; Defense Of The Nicene Definition, chap. III:14; Four Discourses Against The Arians, Discourse I:11, 38-39, II:47, 70; chap. XXII:74; Dis. III:22-23, 25-7, 33, 34, 39; De Synodis Councils of Ariminum and Seleucia, 3:51; xxvii; Letters of Athanasius, LX. Ad Adelphium, 4; & Letters 59:6, 60:4, 61:2. The Collected Works of Huge Nibley: Vol.3, The World And The Prophets, Chap. 6, Prophets and Creeds, pp. 44-52; Deification: The Content of Athanasian Soteriology, by Keith Edward Norman, 1980 thesis. (TN&PNF) 4: An Illustrated Encyclopedia of Mysticism and the Mystery Religions, by John Ferguson, CR 1976 Thames and Hudson Ltd., London Great Britain, Pub. in 1977 by A Continuum Book, The Seabury Press, N.Y., p.45-6.

4655- The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, vol. 5: p.1, 8, & p. 343-4, On Virginity, Chap.I, & pp.502-6, The Great Catechism chaps. 35-37. See also in Vol.5, the page entitled: WORKS ON ANALYTICAL CRITICISM, HISTORY, AND BIBLIOGRAPHY, CONSULTED. DATES OF TREATISES, &C., HERE TRANSLATED. (Based on Heyns and Rupp.) The date for Gregory's birth at A.D. 331 is based on Rupp (Dr. Julius), Gregors des Bischofs von Nyssa Leben und Meinungen. Leipzig, 1834; and Heyns (S.P.), Disputatio Historico-Theologica de Gregorio Nysseno. Leyden, 1835; 1 Peter 2:21; An Illustrated Encyclopedia of Mysticism and the Mystery Religions, by John Ferguson, C/R 1976 Thames and Hudson Ltd., London Great Britain, Pub. in 1977 by A Continuum Book, The Seabury Press, N.Y., see p. 45-6.

4656- N&PNF, 7:i, xi, xv-xviii, & 2; Procatechesis, 6; ANF, 2:206, 215, 374, & 437; Psa.82:6; Lectures of the Mysteries 3:1, see: The Works of Saint Cyril of Jerusalem, by Leo MacCauley and Anthony Stephenson, Pub. Washington D.C., Catholic Un. Press, 1964, Vol.2, p. 169-70.

4657- N&PNF, 5:502, note 4; & Vol.7, p. 188, 199, & 308, XXIX. The Third Theological Oration. On The Son, XIX; Oration XXX.14. Vol. 8: p.16, n.1. The Reign of Antichrist, Sjodahl, p.17 & 24-26.

4658- The Emergence of the Catholic Tradition, Jaroslav Pelikan, Lon.: Un. of Chicago Press, 1971, p.233.

4659- James Barker, Apostasy From The Divine Church, SLC, Ut.: Deseret News Press, 1960, 342-43, 221—379.

4660- N&PNF, 1:4, 10-11, & 19-26, & 370-378; BYU Studies, Winter 1981, Vol.21, #1, The Catholic Liturgy and the Mormon Temple, by Marcus Von Wellnitz, p.19, & note 101, citing Eusebius Ecclesiastical History 10.4.

4661- The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, vol. 8, p. xii-xiii, & xxxi, & p. 15-16, Basil, On The Spirit, chap. IX:23, & note 1, & in Basil adv. Eunom. ii. 4.

4662- John McManners, Ed., The Oxford Illustrated History of Christianity, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1990, 67.

4663- John McManners, Ed., The Oxford Illustrated History of Christianity, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1990, 69.

4664- ANF 4:547-8, bk.5 chap. x-xi, Origen Against Celsus. The Early Christian Fathers, Henry Bettenson, Oxford Un. Press, Lon. 1956, 243-44. Rev.1:10-15, 19:6-10, & 22:7-9.

4665- Western Civilization, Langer, MacKendrick, etc., 1968, p. 305.

4666- J. M. Sjodahl, The Reign of Antichrist, Or The Great "Falling Away," SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1913), 17, & 24-26. Jer. 7:18 & 44:19.

4667- James L. Barker, Apostasy From The Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 542—43. Franz Zaver von Funk, Lehrbuch der Kirchengeschichte, (Paderborn: Ferdinand Schoningh, 1902, 4th expanded & improved edition), 182. Funk, A Manual of Church History, (St. Louis: Herder Book Company, 1939), translated by Luigi Cappadelta, 2 vols., vol. 1, p. 297—98. Gene Gurney, Kingdoms of Europe, An Illustrated Encyclopedia of Ruling Monarchs from Ancient Times to the Present, (New York: Crown Publishers, Inc., 1982), 592. W. H. C. Frend, Martyrdom & Persecution In The Early Church, (Garden City, New York: Anchor Books Doubleday & Company, 1967). E. DE Pressense, D. D., Translated by Annie Harwood, The Early Years of Christianity, The Martyrs and Apologists, (New York: Charles Scribner and Company, 1871). Benedictine Monks of St. Augustine's Abbey, Ramsgate, The Book of Saints, A Dictionary of Servants of God, (Wilton, Connecticut: Morehouse Publishing, 1921, 1989, sixth edition). Clement, edited by Katherine E. Conway, A Handbook Of Christian Symbols And Stories Of The Saints As Illustrated In Art, (Boston; New York: Houghton Mifflin Company, The Riverside Press Cambridge, 1871, 1881, and 1886). David Huge Farmer, 1978, The Oxford Dictionary Of Saints, (Oxford: Clarendon Press). Donald Attwater, The Avenel Dictionary of Saints, (New York: Avenel Books, MCMLXV, first published by Penguin Books, Ltd., 1965, Avenel edition, 1981). Enid Broderick Fisher, Saints Alive! A Book of Patron Saints, Whom To Call Upon For Help With Health, Love, Work and Finance, (London: Fount Paperbacks, Harper Collins Publishers, 1995). Herbert Thurston, S. J., and Donald Attwater, (editors), Butler's Life Of The Saints, (New York: P. J. Kenedy & Sons, Vol. 3, July - August - September, 1956). Jacobus de Voragine, The Golden Legend, (Readings on the Saints), (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, Vol. 2, 1993). The Golden Legend, Jacobus de Voragine, translated and adapted from the Latin by Granger Ryan and Helmut Ripperger, 1941, New York: Arno Press of New York Times, 1969). John Coulson, (Editor), The Saints, A Concise Biographical Dictionary, (New York: Hawthorn Book, Inc., 1958, 2nd printing 1960). John J. Delaney, Dictionary of Saints, (Garden City, New York: Doubleday & Company). Kenneth L. Woodward, Making Saints, How the Catholic Church Determines Who Becomes a Saint, Who Doesn't, and Why, (New York, New York: A Touchstone Book, published by Simon & Schuster, 1990, 1996). Malcolm Day, A Treasure of Saints, 100 Saints, Their Lives and Times, (New York, New York: Chartwell Books, Inc., 2012, 2002 Quarto Inc.). Margaret E. Tabor, The Saints In Art, With Their Attributes And Symbols Alphabetically Arranged, (New York: Frederick A. Stokes Company). Omer Englebert, (Christopher and Anne Fremantle, Translators), The Lives Of The Saints, (New York: Barnes & Noble Books, 1994). Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making Of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986). David Sox, Relics and Shrines, (Boston & Sydney, London: George Allen & Unwin, 1985). Joan Carroll Cruz, Relics, The Shroud of Turin, the True Cross, the blood of Januarius.... History Mysticism, and the Catholic Church, (Huntington, Indiana: Our Sunday Visitor, Inc., 1984). Robin Lane Fox, Pagans and Christians, (New York: Alfred A. Knopf Inc., 1987). Rev. Alexander Hislop, The Two Babylons (or The Papal Worship Proved to be the Worship of Nimrod and His Wife), (England: A & C Black, LTD., 1916; American editions, Neptune, New Jersey: Loizeaux Brothers, 1943 and 1956). Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, and the Promised Restoration, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book, 2006). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). J. M. Sjødahl, The Reign of Antichrist, Or The Great "Falling Away", (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1913).

4668- Mary Portrayed, by Vincent Cronin, Pub. by Darton, Longman & Todd, 1968, Lon., p. 3, 16-17, fig.6, p.20-1, fig.8, pp.24-5, fig. 10, p.28, fig. 13, pp.31-2, 34-5, 38, figs. 20-1, p.44, 53-5, fig.28, p.88-9, fig. 47, p.92-4, 99, 116-7, fig. 65, p.128-9, fig.83, & p.156; History of Art, H.W. Janson, Pub. by Harry N. Abrams, Inc., NY, first printing Oct., 1962, 19th print Dec. 1973, p.178, fig. 289, p.252, fig. 402, p. 262, figs. 414-15, p.268, figs. 426-7, pp. 270-1, fig.431, fig. 463, p. 324-5, fig. 495-6, & p.380, fig.562; Fra Angelico, by John Pope-Hennessy, Pub., by Phaidon Press, 1952, p. 173, fig. X, p.200, figs. XXXIX & XL., p.203, fig. XLVII; Fra Filippo Lippi, by Jeffery Ruda, Pub. by Harry N. Abrams, 1993, Phaidon Press, p.56-7, pl.22, p.66, pl.28, p.84, 87, pl.44, p.90- 1, pl.47, p.136-153, pls.76-83, p.297-9, pls.169 & 171, p.368, pl.200, etc.; Western Civilizations, Burns, Vol.1, page in between pp. 224-5, Sieneese Madonna and Child, Byzantine School, 13th century A.D. (National Gallery; Mary crowned, 14th c., ivory from Louvre, Paris. Mary as the "Queen of Heaven"; Civilisation (A Personal View), by Kenneth Clark, 1969, Harper & Row, Pub., NY, & Evanston, vii, #9 in color & 47 in black and white, p.68-71; Mary being crowned queen of heaven during heavenly coronation ceremony. See: Textiles in Daily Life in the Middle Ages, by Rebecca Martin, Pub. The Cleveland Muse. of Art, Cleveland Ohio, 1985, pp.20-1, fig. 7, The Coronation of the Virgin. Embroidery. Italy, Florence, 1st half of the 15th c. CMA 53. 129 (cat. no. 5). And fig.8, Lorenzo Monaco, Italian, 1370/71-1425. Panel, 1414. Galleria degli Uffizi, Florence; Medieval Europe (A Short History), Hollister, 1968, p. 334-336; Another Altarpiece, from the Dominican convent of San Vincenzo di Annalena, The Virgin and Child enthroned. The coronation. "CA. 1430-1440"; Fra Angelico, (Biographical and Critical Study) by Giulio Carlo Argan, Pub. The World Pub., Co., p.61-2, The Coronation, Louvre, Paris. ENTHRONED, 1437, CONVENT OF SAN MARCO, FLORENCE; Argan, ibid., pp.90-1. A number of art works during 13-17th centuries show Mary crowned, the dates to some of these are 1249, 1320-30, 1430s, & 1616 A.D., while others shows her as if she is one of the members of the Godhead, as she is under going the coronation ceremony in heaven. One dates back to 1453-4, another to 1516 A.D. (Art, by Frederick Hartt, Vol. II, Pub. by Harry N. Abrams, N.Y., 1976, pl.21, Renaissance. Enguerrand Quarton. Coronation of the Virgin. Panel Painting, Musee de l'Hospice, Villeneuve-les-Avignon, France; Art Treasures in Germany, Monuments, Masterpieces, Commissions of Collections, Gen. Eds. Bernard S. Myers, N.Y., Terwin Copplestone, Lon., Pub. by Hamlyn Pub. Group Lim., 1970, p.55, fig.73, p.56-7, fig.76, p.69, fig.96, p.70, fig.99, p.89, fig.126, & p.94, fig.135; Civilisation, Clark, pp.156-7, #22, Holbein, Madonna of Bugomaster Meyer. Mary crowned. Another depiction, 1st half of the 16th c. shows Mary & Christ enthroned; Treasures From The Kremlin, (An Exhibition from the State of Museums of the Moscow Kremlin at the Metropolitan Museum of Art), NY, May 19-Sept.1979, & Grand Palais, Paris, Oct. 12, 1979 & Jan. 7, 1980, Pub. by Metro. Mus., of Art, N.Y., Distrib. by Harry N. Abrams, Inc., p.32, pl.5, & p.140. In 1560s, from the chapel of the Assembly of the Virgin in the Cathedral of the Annunciation, Moscow Russia. The "Virgin and Child in the "circles" of glory", the lower portion shows groups of people, some of which depict "monks praising the Virgin." Treasures From The Kremlin, p.33-36, & 140, #7. The Synaxis, or Assembly, of the Virgin. Inv. no. 5062, Provenance: Side chapel of the Assembly of the Virgin in the Cathedral of the Annunciation, Moscow Kremlin, Moscow School, 1560s. Crowned and enthroned along side Christ. Heaven: A History, p.136, 161, pl.30, dated 1575 A.D., Antonino Polti, O.P., Della felicità suprema del cielo (Perugia: Rastelli, 1575). Another depicts "the Virgin Enthroned with the Child" A.D. 1589; Treasures From The Kremlin, p.58 & 157, pl.22, Gold reliquary diptych, front, inside, reverse. A gift from Czar Fedor Ivanovich to Czaritsa Irina. Accessioned from the Monastery of the Ascension, Moscow Kremlin, in 1918 (Inv. no. 15400). Moscow, Kremlin workshop, 1589 A.D. During the 19th century in England and Rome, the Virgin Mary was still believed to have been deified, and raised up to divine rank even to the point where she was still being worshipped as a partaker of the Godhead. The 2 Babylons, by Rev. Alexander Hislop, 1916, & 1959 ed., Pub. in Amer. by Loizeaux Brothers, Inc., Neptune, N.J., p.83 & 265-7. A History by Colleen McDannell & Bernhard Lang, Yale Un. 1988, p. 83-4, etc., & Art, by Frederick Hartt, Vol.2, Pub. Harry N. Abrams, NY 1976 see pl.21, the Virgin Mary Crowned, dated 1453-54. A.D.; Roman & Palaeo-Christian Painting, by Gerald Gassiot-Talabot, Trans. by Anthony Rhodes, Pub. Funk & Wagnalls, NY, p. 92-3, depicting Saints with crowns; The Rothschild Canticles, by Jeffrey F. Hamburger, fig. 106, 126-7; Byzantine Painting, by Andre Grabar, 1st Ed. 1953, this Ed. 1979, p.54-5, depicting Martyrs with crowns, 6th cent. AD. Russian Illuminated Manuscripts, by Olga Popova, Trans., by Kathleen Cook, & others, 1984, Aurora Art Pub., Len. p.20, dated about the 15th cent. AD.

4669- Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, NY: Simon & Schuster, 11 vols., 1950, 4: The Age of Faith, A History of Medieval Civilization – Christian, Islamic, & Judaic – from Constantine to Dante: A.D. 325-1300, p.103-105. Vol. 3: (1944 & 1972), Caesar and Christ, A History of Roman Civilization and of Christianity from their beginnings to A.D. 325, p. 226-27, 256, 260, 266, 269, 274, 280, 291-92, 309, 388, 430, 432, 523, 623, 640-41 & 646.

- 4670- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 86–87. Foot note 13: The quote comes from ‘Anonymous of York’, but is questioned as to who it may be from by different sources & scholars. For studies on this issue & the ceremonies of the kings & priests mentioned, see: Monumenta Germaniae Historica, Libelli de Lite Imperatorum et Pontificum, III, 663–5. G. H. Williams, The Norman Anonymous of AD 1100, in Harvard Theological Studies, vol. 18, 1951. Miscellanea Biographica, ed. J. Raine, Surtees Soc., 1838. Also: F. Kern, Gottesgnadentum und Widerstandsrecht im früheren Mittelalter, 1914, 53–123 (English translation entitled: Kingship and Law, S. B. Chrimes, 1939, 27–61. E. H. Kantorowicz, The King’s Two Bodies: a Study in Medieval Political Theology, (Princeton, 1957).
- 4671- Gen.35:2, 41:42, Ex.19:6-14, 28:2-4, 39-42, 29:2-7, 21-22, 29. Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, & Drama, Ithaca & Lon.: Cornell Un. Press, 1985. Gene Gurney, Kingdoms of Europe, An Illustrated Encyclopedia of Ruling Monarchs from Ancient Times to the Present, NY: Crown Pub., 1982, 60-62, 152, 234-35, 237, 269, 284-85, 441, 502, etc. Millia Davenport, The Book of Costume, NY: Crown Pub., 1948 & 1976.
- 4672- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 538–39, foot note 26: Pocket Prayer Book, “Ordinary of the Mass,” Part II, p. 100.
- 4673- Davies, Holy Days and Holidays, p. 33.
- 4674- Clifford Davidson, Editor, The Iconography of Heaven, Early Drama, Art, & Music, Monograph Series, 21, (Kalamazoo, Michigan: Medieval Institute Publications, Western Michigan Un., 1994), p. 8—9, 81, 84—85, 179, 181, 185, 186, makes references to, and shows some of the many art compositions depicting these after life ordinances, such as the coronation, crowning, enthroning, glorification of the Saints, especially, the Virgin Mary.
- 4675- Rebecca Martin, Textiles in Daily Life in the Middle Ages, (Cleveland Ohio: The Cleveland Museum of Art, 1985), p.20-1, fig. 7; Hollister, Medieval Europe, A Short History, 1968, p. 334-336; Giulio Carlo Argan, Fra Angelico, Biographical & Critical Study, (The World Pub., Co.), p.61-2, 90-1; Frederick Hartt, Art, NY: Harry N. Abrams, 1976, vol. 2, p.21; Bernard S. Myers, Monuments, Masterpieces, Commissions of Collections, (New York, Terwin Copplestone, London: Hamlyn Pub. Group Lim., 1970), p. 55, fig.73, pp.56-7, fig.76, p.69, fig.96, p.70, fig.99, p.89, fig.126, & p.94, fig.135; Clark, Civilisation, p.156-7, #22, Holbein, Madonna of Bugomaster Meyer. Crown on Mary. Vincent Cronin, Mary Portrayed, Lon.: Darton, Longman & Todd, 1968, 3.
- 4676- Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Co., 1900), 149.
- 4677- The Oxford Illustrated History of Christianity, Ed. John McManners, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1990, 43.
- 4678- Christian Monasticism, by David Knowles, 1969, reprinted 1972 & 1977, Pub. World Un., Library, McGraw-Hill Co., N.Y., Toronto, p.11.
- 4679- Teaching of Sylvanus: 111:8-13. Seaich, Ancient Texts & Mormonism, 38. The Nag Hammadi Library In English, James Robinson, Pub. Harper & Row, San Francisco, 1977, p.358.
- 4680- The Encyc. of Relig. Eliade, 4:261, Gnosis: A Selection of Gnostic Texts, Werner Foerster, Pub. Clarendon Press, Oxford, 1972, 333-34; In the Corpus Hermeticum 1.26; 4.7; 13.14.
- 4681- The Nag Hammadi Library In English, Robinson, 1977, p.31, 302, 333, 358; Seaich, Ancient Texts & Mormonism, p.39, 42-45, citing Tripartite Tractate 69:24-25; 70:32-5; Gospel of Philip 75:25-76:5. Epistula Apostolorum 19, in Edgar Hennecke and Wilhelm Schneemelcher, New Testament Apocrypha, 2 Vols., Pub. Philadelphia Westminster Press, 1963, Vol.1, p.202.
- 4682- Coptic Apocrypha in the Dialect of Upper Egypt, by E.A. Wallis Budge, 6 Vols, Pub. Oxford Un., Press, 1913, 3:214, Book of the Resurrection of Jesus Christ by Bartholomew.
- 4683- Tripartite Tractate 70:32-35; Seaich, Ancient Texts & Mormonism, 38-9, 42-45; Casaubon, In Epist. ad Eustath. We become gods by grasping the Divine power & substance. N&PNF, 5:502, n.4.
- 4684- Offenders For a Word, Peterson & Ricks, 1992, p.79, note 249, & 224, citing from: Early Christian Doctrines, Rev. ed. San Francisco: by J. N. D. Kelly, Pub. by Harper & Row, 1978, p.348; An Ecclesiastical History, John Lawrence Mosheim, D.D., 1819, Vol.2, p.43, part 2, 5th Cent., A.D., n.e.; & pp.52-4, & n. w., on p.53-4; The Nicene & Post-Nicene Fathers, vol. 5, p.502, note 4; Western Civilization, Langer, etc., 1968, p.308.
- 4685- The Emergence of the Catholic Tradition, Pelikan, p.233; After Jesus, The Triumph of Christianity, Pub. by Reader's Digest, 1992, p.10-11; Chronology 600 Years at a Glance. N&PNF, 5:502 note 4.
- 4686- The Homilies of Saint Jerome, Pub. by The Catholic Un. Press, Wash. D.C., 1964, p. 106-7, & 353; Western Civilizations, Burns, Lerner, & Meacham, 10th ed. 1984, Vol.1, p. 228.
- 4687- Apostasy to Restoration, T. Edgar Lyon, 1960, p.168; After Jesus, Reader's Digest, p.11 of Chronology 600 Years at a Glance; Mission Monthly, Vol.12, #11, entitled: Christians & Mormons Debates on Theology. The 3rd debate was on: Can Men Progress To Godhood?, p.16-23, Van Hale, citing from St. Augustine; See also: Sermo 166.4; 342, 5; 192.1; Philip Schaff and Philip Wace, A Select Library of the Nicene and Post-Nicene Fathers of the Christian Church, First series, 14 Vols. (Grand Rapids; William B. Eerdmans, 1989), see vol.8 p.178, Expositions on the Book of Psalms 50:2; Western Civilizations, Burns, Lerner, & Meacham, Vol.1, p. 230.
- 4688- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All the Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 92-93, 137, n. 51: Augustine, On the Psalms 50.2, in N&PNF, 1:8:178, the elect are gods by grace.
- 4689- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 459, foot note 1: Philip Schaff, History of the Christian Church, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: Wm. B. Eerdmans Publishing, Co., 1950), 8 vols., vol. 3, p. 792–93.
- 4690- Medieval Europe (A Short History), C. Warren Hollister, 2nd ed., Pub. by John Wiley & Sons, Inc., N.Y., Lon., Sydney, 1964 & 1968, p. 35.
- 4691- R.W. Southern The Making of the Middle Ages, Lon.: Folio Soc., 1998, 228, n.3: Regula S. Benedicti, c.7
- 4692- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 521–22, foot notes 9–10: Alfred Wesley Wishart, A Short History of Monks and Monasteries, (Trenton, N. J.: Albert Brandt, 1900), 131–148. Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1940s–1950s), 11 vols., vol. 4, The Age of Faith, (1950), p. 518–519. Rule of Benedict, chap. 53. S. R. Maitland, Dark Ages, (London: 1890), 196–98.
- 4693- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, Lon.: The Folio Society, 1998, 228–31, plate 13, p. 234–237. John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, Princeton Un. Press, 1954. Walter Hilton, The Ladder of Perfection, U.S.A.: Penguin Classics, 1988. Dom Hubert Van Zeller, The Holy Rule, Notes on St. Benedict's Legislation for Monks, NY: Sheed & Ward, 1958. Caroline Walker Bynum, Jesus as Mother, Studies in the Spirituality of the High Middle Ages, Berkeley, Calif.: Un. of Berkeley California Press, 1982, paper back edition 1984). And even though this type of quest for godhood, with all its symbolism of crowns, garments, hand and wrist grasping entrances into heaven, were very popular in earlier centuries, in later centuries, different ones like the 16th century Reformer, John Calvin, 1509—1564, rejected this form of deification. Concerning this, Roland H. Bainton notes how Calvin suggested that: “No moral achievement can ever give any claim upon God, and no ascending of the ladder of the chain of being can ever unite man with God and make him into God. The very notion of the deification of humanity was to Calvin blasphemous.” Roland H. Bainton in The Renaissance, Six Essays, (New York: Harper Torchbooks, The Academy Library, Harper & Row Publishers, CR 1953, The Metropolitan Museum of Art, and 1962, Erwin Panofsky), Essay IV: Man, God, And The Church in the Age of the Renaissance, by Bainton, p. 77—96, Calvin’s point of view mentioned on p. 96. Jennifer O’Reilly, Oct. 1972, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, graphic page before 349, fig. 27. Olga Opova, trans. by Kathleen Cook, Vladimir Ivanov and Lenina Sorokina, Russian Illuminated Manuscripts, (Leningrad: Aurora Art Publishing, 1984), #42. Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History and Myths Revealed, (New York: Metro Books, an imprint of Sterling Publishing, 2008), 14, 175–80. Walter Leslie Wilmhurst, 1867–1939, The Meaning of Masonry, (New York: Gramercy Books, Crown Publishers, Inc., 1980), 33, 63, 124–28, 137, 162. Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 339, Heradis von Lansperg’s Hortus Deliciarum. Satanic Temptations and the Ladder of Life.

4694- The Holy Rule, Zeller, 1958, p.56-8, 65, & note 27 on p.80, (citing from Cassian, "Conferences, I; ch. 7."), p.82, 89, 99-101, see note 5 on p.101, Conferences, 14; I & 9. p.103, 106-7, 123, 125-6; The Ladder of Perfection, by Walter Hilton, 1988, Penguin Classics; The Illustration of the Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, John Rupert Martin, Pub. by Princeton Un., Press, 1954; The Ancient Civilizations of Byzantium, Antione Bon, 1972, p.114; The Christian World, ed., by Geoffrey Barraclough, Pub. by Harry N. Abrams, Inc., N.Y., 1981, p.100-1, & 164-5; Russian Illuminated Manuscripts, Olga Popova, trans. by Lenina Sorokina, 1984, Aurora Art Pub., Leningrad, 1st pub. in the USA by Thames & Hudson, fig. 42. St. Basil, St. John Climacus, the author of the Passion of SS. Perpetua, Felicity, & Cassiodorus used the ladder to depict the soul's ascent towards God & moral perfection.

4695- Pseudo-Dionysius: The Complete Works, Trans., by Colm Luibheid, NY, & Mahwah, Paulist Press, 1987, p.176, The Celestial Hierarchy 12:3.

4696- Edward McNall Burns, Robert E. Lerner, & Standish Meacham, Western Civilizations, Their History & Their Culture, NY: W.W. Norton & Co., 1st edition 1941, 7th edition 1968-9, 10th edition, 1984), 1. Volume Western Civilization, Langer, & Geanakoplos, etc., 1968, p.424.

4697- By the 11th century ladders of virtues depicted monks progressing towards the crown of life which was their reward from the hand of Christ. See: Russian Illuminated Manuscripts, by Olga Popova, see top-left explanation #42; Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, O'Reilly, Thesis, Oct. 1972, Lon., 1988, p.176, & 355. John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1954).

4698- Maximus the Confessor Selected Writings, by George C. Berthold, Pub. Paulist Press, NY, 1985, p.102-4, & 152-3; Offender For A Word, Peterson & Ricks, 1992, p.79, note 250, & p.230, The Ensign March 1988, 7-11, see p. 8, & note 7, citing The Spirit of Eastern Christendom (600-1700), p.10; The Christian Tradition, vol.2, Chicago: Un., of Chicago Press, by Jaroslav Pelikan, (1974): 10, citing S.L. Epifanovic; cf. Nygren (1982): 428, n.3. Article: "Deification" Symeon Lash, in The Westminster Dictionary of Christian Theology, ed. Richardson & Bowden, 1983, p.147-48; Robinson, Are Mormons Christians?, p.62, see note 11, & p.119.

4699- Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1986), 80-1.

4700- Western Civilization, Langer, & MacKendrick, etc., 1968, p. 249 & 425.

4701- Dom Hubert Van Zeller, The Holy Rule, Notes on St. Benedict's Legislation for Monks, (NY: Sheed & Ward, 1958), 5-6, 9-12, 15, 56-8, 65, 70, 73, 80, 82, 89, 99-101, 103, 106-7, 123, 125-6, 176-78, 180, 182, 264, 287-8, 370, 372, 419, 460, & 464.

4702- Mysticism, by Evelyn Underhill, (N.Y., 1930), p.419; St Symeon the New Testament Theologian [late 10th century A.D.], wrote, "He who is God by nature converses with those whom he has made gods by grace, as a friend converses with his friends, face to face." See: "Deification" by Symeon Lash, in The Westminster Dictionary of Christian Theology, ed. Richardson & Bowden, p.147-48; cited in Robinson's Are Mormons Christians?, p.62, note 11, & p.119.

4703- Jaroslav Pelikan, The Spirit of Eastern Christendom, 220.

4704- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 86–87. Foot note 13: The quote comes from 'Anonymous of York', but is questioned as to who it may be from by different sources & scholars. For studies on this issue & the ceremonies of the kings & priests mentioned, see: Monumenta Germaniae Historica, Libelli de Lite Imperatorum et Pontificum, III, 663–5. G. H. Williams, The Norman Anonymous of AD 1100, in Harvard Theological Studies, vol. 18, 1951. Miscellanea Biographica, ed. J. Raine, Surtees Soc., 1838. Also: F. Kern, Gottesgnadentum und Widerstandsrecht im früheren Mittelalter, 1914, 53–123 (English translation entitled: Kingship and Law, S. B. Chrimes, 1939, 27–61. E. H. Kantorowicz, The King's Two Bodies: A Study in Medieval Political Theology, (Princeton, 1957).

4705- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (Lon.: The Folio Society, 1998), 237, foot note 14, Oratio XX (Patrologiae Cursus Completus, series latina, ed. J. P. Migne), vol. 158, 903; no. III in Schmitt, iii, 7.

4706- Geoffrey Barraclough, The Crucible of the Middle Ages, The 9th & 10th Centuries in European History, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 191–92. Deification themes in Christian coronation ceremonies. Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, (NY: Simon & Schuster, 1940s-1950s), 11 vols., vol. 3, Caesar and Christ, A History of Roman Civilization and of Christianity from their beginnings to A.D. 325, p. index, see deification, 226–27, 256, 260, 268–69, 274, 280, 291–92, 309, 316, 388, 430, 432, 523, 623, 640–41, 646, Emperors as 'gods.'

4707- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 582–83, foot notes 33–35: Qualben, A History of the Christian Church, p. 158–60. Joseph Lortz, History of the Church, (Milwaukee: Bruce Pub. Co., 1939, translated, amended & adapted by Edwin G. Kaiser), 197–99.

4708- Medieval Europe (A Short History), by C. Warren Hollister, Pub. by John Wiley & Sons, Inc., 1964 & 1968, N.Y., Lon., Sydney, 2nd Ed., p. 154-5.

- 4709- Caroline Walker Bynum, Jesus as Mother, Studies in the Spirituality of the High Middle Ages, (Berkeley, California: University of Berkeley California Press, 1982, paper back edition 1984). Christopher Brooke, (photos, Wim Swaan), Monasteries Of The World, The Rise & Development of the Monastic Tradition, (Crescent books, 1982, Paul Elek). David Knowles, 1969, Christian Monasticism, (New York, Toronto: World University Library, McGraw-Hill Company, reprinted 1972 & 1977). Tudor Publishers Company). Dom Hubert Van Zeller, The Holy Rule, Notes on St. Benedict's Legislation for Monks, (New York: Sheed & Ward, 1958). Jonathan Riley-Smith, The Crusades, A Short History, (New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1987). Leonard W. Cowie, 1962, The March of the Cross, (New York, U.S.A.; Toronto, Canada; and London, England: McGraw-Hill Book). Schroll, Sister M. Alfred, Benedictine Monasticism, as reflected in the Warnefrid-Hildemar commentaries on the Holy Rule, (New York, Columbia University Press, 1941).
- 4710- An Illustrated Outline History of Mankind, Ed. by Fay-Cooper Cole, Ph.D., Sc.D., LL.D., & Harris Gaylord Warren, Ph.D., Pub. Consolidated Book, Chicago, CR 1951, 55, 59, & 1963, Book Production Indus., 1: 251-2.
- 4711- Walter Dennison & Charles R. Morey, Studies in East Christian & Roman Art, NY: The MacMillian Co., 1914 & 1918, 1– 30. John R. Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, Princeton Un. Press, 1954.
- 4712- 2 Tim.2:9-12, 4:7-8; Rom.8:15-18; Rev.2:10; 3:5, 11; 6:9-11; James 1:12. The Painted Churches of Cyprus, (Treasures of Byzantine Art), Andreas Stylianou & Judith A. Stylianou, Pub. Trigraph- Lon. for the A.G. Leventis Foundation, 1985, 60, fig.22, The 40 Martyrs, early 12th c., church of St. Nicholas of the Roof, Kakopetria, 108, fig. 50, early 12th c., church of Sts. Joachim & Anna, Kalliana, 122-3, fig. 60, dated 1105/6, church of Panagia Phorbiotissa of Asinou, near Nikitari; Heaven: A History, 137-141, The soul as a queen, enthroned with Christ, & crowned, 103-4, pl.8; 12th century A.D., manuscript lat. 4450, fol. 1 verso. Bavarian State Library, Munich. And p. 105, pl.9, 12th cent. A.D., Santa Maria in Trastevere, Italy.
- 4713- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 333-412.
- 4714- Western Civilizations, Burns, vol. 1: p. 342-44.
- 4715- The Christian World, Edited by Geoffrey Barraclough, NY: Harry Abrams, 1981, 100-1, Life is a Ladder, 12th c. icon from St. Catherine's Sinai.
- 4716- Jesus as Mother (Studies in the Spirituality of the High Middle Ages), by Caroline Walker Bynum, Un., of Calif., Press, Berkeley L.A., Lon., 1982, see the illustration facing title page, from the "Ladder of Virtues," from Hortus Deliciarum (destroyed manuscript formerly in Strasbourg), hand copy of C.M. Engelhardt.
- 4717- Jennifer O'Reilly, Oct. 1972, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, 344-45, graphics before p. 349, fig. 27.
- 4718- Horton and Marie-Hélène Davies, Holy Days & Holidays, The Medieval Pilgrimage of Compostela, (London and Toronto: Associated University Press, Lewisburg Bucknell University Press, 1982), p. 45, note 65. For the warrior see, inter alia, Romans 8:37 and especially Ephesians 6:10—17; for the athlete, a concept important in the first part of Regula of Saint Benedict (The Rule of Saint Benedict in Latin and English, trans. And ed. Justin McCann (London: Burns, Oates, 1952), see also: 1 Cor. 9:24—25.
- 4719- Jennifer O'Reilly, 10-1972, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, 344-45.
- 4720- An Illustrated Outline History of Mankind, Ed. Cole & Warren, Vol. 1, p. 252-53.
- 4721- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Joachim_of_Fiore - John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, Lon.: Folio Soc., 1998, 302–3, 401, n.13: Tractatus super quatuor evangelia, ed. Buonaiuti, 80, & Luke 2:25–34.
- 4722- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 329–334.
- 4723- <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Consolamentum> - <https://archive.org/details/LInquisitionOrigens> - <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Catharism> - John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 329–334. Jean Markale, Montségur and the Mystery of the Cathars, (Rochester, Vermont: Inner Traditions, 1986, 2001, 2003), 30–31, etc. James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (New York, New York, Doubleday, 2005), 9–10.
- 4724- Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin 1968), pages 171–172. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Third_Council_of_the_Lateran – <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Waldensians>.
- 4725- Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 172–173. <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Consolamentum> <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Catharism>. Lambert, Malcolm (1998). The Cathars. Oxford: Blackwell. p. 21. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Cathar_Perfect.
- 4726- Jesus as Mother, Studies in the Spirituality of the High Middle Ages, by Caroline Walker Bynum, Un., of Calif., Press, Berkeley L.A., Lon., 1982, p. 236.
- 4727- "The bodies of the blessed will shine 7 times brighter than the sun." Aquinas made reference to Matthew 13:43; 17:2 & 28:3, which suggested to him that the perfected bodies of the righteous would shine forth with great light. See: Heaven: A History, McDannell & Lang, p.83-4, 89-92, n.27, on p.369, Aquinas, Sth, Suppl. 91:3; Summa Theologica 2:2027; The March Of The Cross, Cowie, 1962,p.98, & 112-13, fig.131.
- 4728- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 301, 401, end note 6: Summa artis notariae I praefatio (Venice, 1583), I, 2V, and Code 3, 38, 3.
- 4729- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 360–62, 377, 406, end note 33: Contra gentiles 3, 132, 4, 4 and 3, 135, 4, 4 (Rome, 1934), 386b and 391 b. 1 Timothy 5:22.
- 4730- Colleen McDannell & Bernhard Lang, Heaven: A History, (New Haven & Lon.: Yale Un. Press, 1988), 83-4, n.27, p.369, Albertus, Commentary on the Sentences, 4:44,31 in B. Alberti Magni opera omnia, XXX, 584.
- 4731- Jesus as Mother, Studies in the Spirituality of the High Middle Ages, Caroline Walker Bynum, Un., of Calif., Press, Berkeley L.A., Lon., 1982, p. 209 & 215.
- 4732- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 19–20, 382, end notes 6–7: Herman Fitting, Juristische Schriften des früheren Mittelalters (Halle, 1876), 164, Petri Exceptionum appendices, I, 95. E. H. Kantorowicz, The King's Two Bodies. A Study in Medieval Political Theology, (Princeton, 1957), 122n. <http://press.princeton.edu/titles/6168.html>
- 4733- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 239–41. John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 355–79. Geoffrey Abbott, Rack, Rope and Red-Hot Pincers, A History of Torture And Its Instruments, (London: Brockhampton Press, 1993). Steven Runciman, A History of the Crusades, (London: Cambridge University Press, first edition, 1951, 1952, reprinted 1954, 1957, 1962, 1968), vol. 1, The First Crusade, and the Foundation of the Kingdom of Jerusalem, (1951),

Volume two, The Kingdom of Jerusalem and the Frankish East, 1100–1187, vol. 3, The Kingdom of Acre and the Later Crusades, (1954). John Laurence (Pritchard), A History of Capital Punishment, with a Comment of Capital Punishment by Clarence Darrow, (New York: The Citadel Press, 1960), the comment is from Crimes, Its Cause and Treatment, by Clarence Darrow, 1922, (Tomas Y. Crowell Company, 1950). Jonathan Riley-Smith, The Crusades, A Short History, (New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1987). Regine Pernoud, (Editor), Enid McLeod, (Translator), The Crusades, History in the Making, (New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1963, CR Martin Secker & Warburg Ltd., 1962, France title; Les Croisades, CR 1960, Rene Julliard). Thomas Asbridge, The Crusades, The Authoritative History of the War for the Holy Land, (New York, New York: EEE and Imprint of Harper Collins Publishers, 2010). Thomas Asbridge, The First Crusade, A New History, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2004). James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (NY, Doubleday, 2005). Cullen Murphy, God's Jury, The Inquisition and the Making of the Modern World, (New York, Boston: Houghton Mifflin Harcourt, 2011, Advanced Reading Copy). Edward Burman, The Inquisition, The Hammer of Heresy, (New York: Dorset Press, 1984). James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (New York, New York, Doubleday, 2005). Michael Kerrigan, A Dark History: Catholic Church, Schisms, Wars, Inquisitions, Witch Hunts, Scandals, Corruption, (New York: Metro Books, 2014). Chas S. Clifton, Encyclopedia of Heresies and Heretics, (New York: Barnes & Noble Books, 1992). Aubrey Burl, God's Heretics, The Albigenian Crusade, (Thrupp - Stroud- Gloucestershire, Great Britain: Sutton Publishing Limited - Phoenix Mill, 2002, paper back edition 2005).

4734- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All The Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 239–40, 272, end note 7: Epistle of Methetes to Diognetus 7, in ANF, 1:27, written in ca. AD 130. Luke 9:51–56, James & John rebuked by Christ when rejected & not received at a village, they asked the Lord to send down fire from heaven to consume them. Christ said, "Ye know not spirit ye are of. For the Son of man is not come to destroy men's lives, but to save them." It wasn't by force of arms & Emperors' decrees, as in later centuries it became.

4735- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 368–77, 406, end notes 25–32: De ecclesiastica potestate, 2, 9–10, 15, I, 2, 4 also 3, 12 (ed. Scholz), II, 6, 37–8, 85, 95, 136, 209, I Corinthians 7:32, Wisdom of Solomon II:21. Epistola ad Conradum de Offida in Archivum franciscanum historicum XI–XII (1918–19), 368. Extravagantes communes, I, 8, I in Corpus iuris canonici, ed. Emil Friedberg, 2 vols., (Leipzig, 1879–81), II, 1246. See also: Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1940s), 11 volumes, Caesar and Christ, vol. 3, p. 226–67, 256, 260, 268–69, 274, 280, 291–92, 309, 388, 430, 432, 523, 623, 640–01, 646, see deification in the index on p. 716.

4736- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 304–05, 401, end note 17: Arbor vitae crucifixa Jesu Christi 5, I (Venice, 1485, rptd), 422a.

4737- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 526.

4738- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, Lon.: Folio Soc., 1998, 317, 402, n.42: De monarchia 3, 16 (ed. Vinay), 280–2.

4739- Christopher Brooke, (photos, Wim Swaan), Monasteries Of the World, The Rise & Development of the Monastic Tradition, (Crescent books, 1982, Paul Elek). Dom Hubert Van Zeller, The Holy Rule, Notes on St. Benedict's Legislation for Monks, (NY: Sheed & Ward, 1958). Fr. Cornelio Mota Ramos, O.F.M, translated by Fr. Felipe Baldonado, O.F.M., (Catechism section), with Instructions by Capuchin Friars and Secular Franciscans, Fr. Zachary Grant, O.F.M. Cap., The Rule of the Secular Franciscan Order, With a Catechism and Instructions, (Chicago, Illinois: Franciscan Herald Press, 1980, 1981). Schroll, Sister M. Alfred, Benedictine Monasticism, as reflected in the Wernefrid-Hildemar commentaries on the Holy Rule, (NY, Columbia Un. Press, 1941).

4740- John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1954). Walter Hilton, The Ladder of Perfection, (U.S.A.: Penguin Classics, 1957, 1988). Caroline Walker Bynum, Jesus as Mother, Studies in the Spirituality of the High Middle Ages, (Berkeley, California: University of Berkeley California Press, 1982, paper back edition 1984), inside cover art work of ladder to heaven, with temptations represented below in various types, such as money, a beautiful lusty woman, and other negative traits and sins. They distract some on the ladder, who fall for the temptations, or in other art works, are pulled off by dark demons. https://archive.org/details/ScaleOrLadderOfPerfection_-https://archive.org/stream/EastChristianPaintingsInTheFreer#page/n1/mode/2up - (Morey, Charles Rufus, 1877-1955; Freer, Charles Lang, 1854-1919), Walter Dennison & Charles R. Morey, Studies in East Christian and Roman Art, (New York: The MacMillan Company, 1914 & 1918). Those who pass over the temptations, under the ladder, & make it to the top of these ladders, or who develop Christ like traits, are perfected & deified. <https://archive.org/details/PhilsTalk-EarlyChurchFathersOnDeification>

4741- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 351–67. Fifty spiritual homilies, by Macarius, Saint, the elder, of Egypt, fourth century Mason, Arthur James, 1851-1928, (London and New York: Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, 1921). If it hasn't been moved or taken down, see on Internet Archives: https://archive.org/details/fiftyspiritualho00maca_-audio:https://archive.org/details/fifty_spiritual_homiles_st_macarius_1410_librivox - Leonard W. Cowie, 1962, The March of the Cross, (New York, U.S.A.; Toronto, Canada; and London, England: McGraw-Hill Book), 33–34. Christ tested a rich man to see if he was willing to do all that He asked of him in order to be perfected. The rich man said that he had kept the commandments from his youth till then, and he asked what more he lacked. Christ said: "If thou wilt be perfect, go and sell that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven; and come follow me." (Matthew 19:16-26). However, this man refused to do what Christ asked of him. Later on during the 3rd century A.D., this passage inspired a number of Christians, such as a wealthy young man named Anthony of Egypt. He was so impressed by the passage that he followed Christ's advice and retired to the desert. He was later joined by like-minded men who lived as monks or hermits who sought to work towards moral perfection or "Christian perfection." Western Civilizations, (Their History and Their Culture), by Edward McNall Burns, Robert E. Lerner, & Standish Meacham, Pub. W.W. Norton & Co., NY, & Lon., 1st ed., 1941, 10th ed. 1984, Vol.1, p.219; & 222-23. David Knowles, 1969, Christian Monasticism, (NY, Toronto: World University Library, McGraw-Hill Co., reprinted 1972 & 1977). Tudor Publishers Co., p.10. W. H. C. Frend, Martyrdom & Persecution In The Early Church, (Garden City, NY: Anchor Books Doubleday & Company, 1967, 1966 edition), 202-3. Athanasius (Life 2); The Holy Rule (Notes on St. Benedict's Legislation for Monks), by Dom Hubert Van Zeller, Pub. by Sheed & Ward, NY, 1958, p.370; The Oxford Illustrated History of Christianity, edited by John McManners, pub. Oxford Un. Press, Oxford NY, 1990, p.51, 67, 69, 80, & 135-6. Nicolas Cheetham, Keepers of the Keys, A History of the Popes from St. Peter to John Paul II, NY: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1983, 155–60.

- 4742- Fr. Cornelio Mota Ramos, O.F.M., translated by Fr. Felipe Baldonado, O.F.M., (Catechism section), with Instructions by Capuchin Friars and Secular Franciscans, Fr. Zachary Grant, O.F.M. Cap., The Rule of the Secular Franciscan Order, With a Catechism and Instructions, (Chicago, Illinois: Franciscan Herald Press, 1980, 1981), 103, etc. Regis J. Armstrong, O.F.M. Cap., J.A. Wayne Hellmann, O.F.M., Conv., William J. Short, O.F.M., (Editors), The Saint, Francis of Assisi, (New York, London, Manila: New City Press, 1999, CR Franciscan Institute of St. Bonaventure University, St. Bonaventure, New York), 547–54, etc.
- 4743- Jay Rubenstein, Armies of Heaven, The First Crusade & the Quest for the Apocalypse, NY: Basic Books, A Member of the Perseus Books Group, 2011, Advanced uncorrected proof, Fall 2011. Jonathan Riley-Smith, The Crusades, A Short History, (New Haven & Lon.: Yale Un. Press, 1987). Regine Pernoud, (Editor), Enid McLeod, (Translator), The Crusades, History in the Making, (New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1963, CR Martin Secker & Warburg Ltd., 1962, France title; Les Croisades, CR 1960, Rene Julliard). Steven Runciman, A History of the Crusades, (Lon.: Cambridge Un. Press, first ed., 1951, 1952, reprinted 1954, 1957, 1962, 1968), vol. 1, The First Crusade, and the Foundation of the Kingdom of Jerusalem, (1951). Thomas Asbridge, The Crusades, The Authoritative History of the War for the Holy Land, (New York, New York: EEE and Imprint of Harper Collins Publishers, 2010). Thomas Asbridge, The First Crusade, A New History, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2004).
- 4744- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 359–60, 404, end note 9: Legenda S. Francisci 3, 9 in Opera omnia VIII, 512a.
- 4745- Nicolas Cheetham, Keepers of the Keys, A History of the Popes from St. Peter to John Paul II, (NY: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1983), 155.
- 4746- <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Franciscans> -
- 4747- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 361, 414, end note 10 on p. 405: D. L. Douie, The Nature and the Effects of the Heresy of the Fraticelli (Manchester, 1932), 170.
- 4748- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150–1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 361–62, 405, end note 11: Tractatus contra Johannem 23 in H.S. Offler, Opera politica (Manchester, 1956) III, 89.
- 4749- Roland H. Bainton suggests that Pico's concept was nothing other than Neoplatonic mysticism, but that it was also not alien to the Christian tradition into which it had already been incorporated. "The early Greek theologians had declared that God became man in order that man by union in the Eucharist with God might become God." Bonaventura's "Itinerary of the Soul to God" is said to parallel Pico's version of deification. Through divine help the human family can rise above the terrestrial to the celestial and "may be wholly transferred and transformed into God." Bonaventura cites Dionysius the Areopagite, who is said to have transmitted the Neoplatonic tradition to the Christian West. See: The Renaissance, Pub. by Harper Torchbooks, 1962, originally pub. by The Metropolitan Museum of Art in 1953 under the title The Renaissance: A Symposium, 6 Essays, Essay II: Hard Times And Investment in Culture, by Robert S. Lopez, p.32, Essay IV: Man, God, And The Church In The Age Of The Renaissance, by Roland H. Bainton, pp.82-4, see note 9 on p.82 citing from a translation in The Renaissance Philosophy of Man, edited by E. Cassirer, P. O. Kristeller and J. H. Randall, 1948 (Phoenix paperback ed.), p.225 f; The World Of Giotto, c. 1267-1337, by Sarel Eimerl & Editors of Time-Life Bks., N.Y., 1967, p.190-1, Andrea da Firenze, The Way of Truth, 1366-1368.
- 4750- The Forgotten Books of Eden, Edited by Rutherford H. Platt, Jr., Assistant Editor J. Alden Brett, Pub. by Alpha House, Inc., 1927, U.S.A., The First Book of Adam & Eve, p. 8-13, 25-8, 30, 33, 34, 36-42, 68-74, included in with this collection of books, is one entitled: "The Book of the Secrets of Enoch". (Slavonic version). God says to Michael to anoint Enoch and cloth him in a garment of glory. (Ibid., p.89); Nibley, 1: Old Testament And Related Studies, p.152-3, 156-9; The Sacred Books And Early Literature Of The East, Parke, Austin, & Lipscomb, op. cit., Vol. XIV, The Great Rejected Books of the Biblical Apocrypha, Trans. by Rev. R. H. Charles, D.D., and others, Old Testament Apocrypha, The Books of Adam and Eve, introd., pp.9, 13-42; John 17:5; Eccl.12:7; Psa.73:23-5; 82:1, 6-7, Isa.41:13, 22-3; 2 Cor.5:1-10; Acts of Thomas 5-6 & 26, in ANT, 366-67, 375; W. Wright, Apocryphal Acts of the Apostles, 2:245-51; Gospel of Truth 23:33, 24:7, in NHLE, 41; cited in Temple & Cosmos, Nibley, p.122, see notes 67-8, on p.136, see also p.108.
- 4751- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 28–29.
- 4752- James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (New York, New York, Doubleday, 2005). Charles T. Wood, The Age of Chivalry, Manners and Morals 1000--1440, (New York, U.S.A.; and London, England: University Books, CR 1970 by George Weidenfeld & Nicolson LTD). Grant Uden, A Dictionary of Chivalry, (New York: Thomas Y. Crowell Company, 1968, illustrations by Pauline Baynes, 1968). Jonathan Alexander and Paul Binski, (Editor), Age of Chivalry, Art in Plantagenet England 1200--1400, (Weidenfeld and Nicolson, London: Royal Academy of Arts, London, 1987). National Geographic: The Age of Chivalry, (USA: National Geographic Society, 1969). Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (New York, London, Toronto & Sydney: Gineeo Books, 2007). Albert Marrin, Aztecs and Spaniards, Cortes and the Conquest of Mexico, (New York: Atheneum 1986). William H. Prescott, (1796–1859), History of the Conquest of Mexico and History of the Conquest of Peru, (New York: the Modern Library, Random House, Inc., Date?). Francesco Gabrieli, Arab Historians of the Crusades, Selected and Translated from Arabic Sources, (New York: Barnes & Noble, 1993), translated from the Italian by E. J. Costello), 1957 by Giulio Einaudi Editore S.p.A. Turin. This translation 1969, by Routledge & Kegan Paul Limited. Jonathan Riley-Smith, The Crusades, A Short History, (New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1987). Regine Pernoud, (Editor), Enid McLeod, (Translator), The Crusades, History in the Making, (New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1963, CR Martin Secker & Warburg Ltd., 1962, France title; Les Croisades, CR 1960, Rene Julliard). Steven Runciman, A History of the Crusades, (London: Cambridge Un. Press, first edition, 1951, 1952, reprinted 1954, 1957, 1962, 1968), vol. 1, The First Crusade, and the Foundation of the Kingdom of Jerusalem, (1951), Volume two, The Kingdom of Jerusalem and the Frankish East, 1100–1187, vol. 3, The Kingdom of Acre and the Later Crusades, (1954). Thomas Asbridge, The Crusades, The Authoritative History of the War for the Holy Land, (NY: EEE and Imprint of Harper Collins Publishers, 2010). Thomas Asbridge, The First Crusade, A New History, (New York: Oxford Un. Press, 2004). Frances Gies, The Knight In History, (NY, etc., Harper & Row, Perennial Library, 1984).
- 4753- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 76.
- 4754- Benedictine Monks of St. Augustine's Abbey, Ramsgate, The Book of Saints, A Dictionary of Servants of God, (Wilton, Connecticut: Morehouse Publishing, 1921, 1989, sixth edition). Dom Hubert Van Zeller, The Holy Rule, Notes on St. Benedict's Legislation for Monks, (New York: Sheed & Ward, 1958). Schroll, Sister M. Alfred, Benedictine Monasticism, as reflected in the Warnefrid-Hildemar commentaries on the Holy Rule, (New York, Columbia University Press, 1941). David Knowles, 1969, Christian Monasticism, (New York, Toronto: World University Library, McGraw-Hill Company, reprinted 1972 & 1977). Tudor Publishers Company). The Book of Saints, by the Benedictine monks of St. Augustine's Abbey, (Wilton, Connecticut: Ramsgate, Morehouse Publishers, 1989, first published in 1921). Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History and Myths Revealed, (New York: Metro Books, an imprint of Sterling Publishing, 2008). Walter Leslie Wilmhurst, 1867–1939, The Meaning of Masonry, (New York: Gramercy Books, Crown Publishers, Inc., 1980).

4755- Gertrude Hartman's The World We Live In and How It Came To Be, A Pictured Outline of Man's Progress from the Earliest Days to the Present, CR 1931 Hartman; NY: Macmillan, 1961: Chapter IX, In Feudal Days; pages 127-142). J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 76, 116–117. Steven Runciman, A History of the Crusades, (London: Cambridge Un. Press, first edition, 1951, 1952, reprinted 1954, 1957, 1962, 1968), vol. 1, The First Crusade, and the Foundation of the Kingdom of Jerusalem, (1951), Volume two, The Kingdom of Jerusalem and the Frankish East, 1100–1187, vol. 3, The Kingdom of Acre and the Later Crusades, (1954). Thomas Asbridge, The Crusades, The Authoritative History of the War for the Holy Land, (New York, New York: EEE and Imprint of Harper Collins Publishers, 2010). Thomas Asbridge, The First Crusade, A New History, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2004). Frances Gies, The Knight In History, (NY, etc., Harper & Row, Perennial Library, 1984). Christopher Brooke, (photos, Wim Swaan), Monasteries Of the World, The Rise & Development of the Monastic Tradition, (Crescent books, 1982, Paul Elek). David Knowles, 1969, Christian Monasticism, (New York, Toronto: World University Library, McGraw-Hill Company, reprinted 1972 & 1977). Tudor Publishers Company). Schroll, Sister M. Alfred, Benedictine Monasticism, as reflected in the Warnefrid-Hildemar commentaries on the Holy Rule, (New York, Columbia University Press, 1941). John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1954). Walter Hilton, The Ladder of Perfection, (U.S.A.: Penguin Classics, 1988). The origins of our modern Hospitals goes back to the Hospitals, historical a hospice, especially one run by the Knights Hospitaliers. Such good concepts of helping to heal the sick, wounded, & injured, has continued on with the moral perfecting concepts & character building concepts of freemasonry. See: Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History and Myths Revealed, (New York: Metro Books, an imprint of Sterling Publishing, 2008). Walter Leslie Wilmhurst, 1867–1939, The Meaning of Masonry, (NY: Gramercy Books, Crown Publishers, Inc., 1980).

4756- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 116–117.

4757- Introduced by Masaccio, Masolino and Pollaiuolo after 1430, Fifty Centuries of Art, by Francis Henry Taylor, 1954, Pub. Metropolitan Mus., of Art, Harper & Brothers, NY., 46.

4758- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 189.

4759- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 192–93. Emile Male, The Gothic Image, Religious Art in France of the Thirteenth Century, (New York: Cathedral Library, Harper Torchbooks, Harper & Brothers Publishers, 1913, 1958 edition, first published 1913, this edition from the third French edition, arranged by E. P. Dutton & Co., originally published under title: Religious Art in France of the Thirteenth Century, A Study in Mediaeval Iconography and its Sources of Inspiration), 105–108. John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1954). Caroline Walker Bynum, Jesus as Mother, Studies in the Spirituality of the High Middle Ages, (Berkeley, California: University of Berkeley California Press, 1982, paper back edition 1984), see art work in the inside cover area, etc. Jaroslav Pelikan, Mary Through the Centuries, Her Place in the History of Culture, (New Haven & London: Yale University Press, 1996). Vincent Cronin, Mary Portrayed, (London, England: Darton, Longman & Todd, 1968). 12th century work, Hortus Deliciarum. Paul Carcus, 1900, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, 339).

4760- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 245.

4761- Textiles in Daily Life in the Middle Ages, Rebecca Martin, Pub. Cleveland Museum. of Art, Cleveland Ohio, 1985, 20-1, fig. 7, Coronation of Virgin. Embroidery. Italy, Florence, 1st half 15th c.. CMA 53. 129 (cat. no. 5), & fig. 8, Lorenzo Monaco, Italian, 1370/71-1425. Panel, 1414. Galleria degli Uffizi, Florence. Medieval Europe A Short History, Hollister, 1968, 334-336.

4762- The Gospel in Art, by Albert E. Bailey, 1916, Pilgrim Press, Boston & Chicago, 382-385, 415–421. Archaeological Discoveries, Mancini, 1970, p.165-170; Anastasis, Kartsonis, p.72. Fra Angelico also depicted the Last Judgment which he painted about 1429 during his stay at Fiesole, for the Camaldolese monks of Santa Maria degli Angeli; now in the Academy, Florence. It may be that some fragments of the doctrine of deification had been preserved to a certain extent in the way Angelico depicted the "saved" as having faces which shined.

4763- Russian Illuminated Manuscripts by Olga Popova. Trans. by Kathleen Cook, Valdimir Ivanov & Lenina Sorokina, 1984 Aurora Art Pub., Leningrad, 1st pub. in USA, Thames & Hudson Inc., #42 The Ladder to Paradise of St John Climacus. The Ladder, f. 2 Lenin Library, Moscow (Desnitsky collection, 439), ms 21, 1 Moscow.

4764- Giulio Carlo Argan, Fra Angelico, Biographical & Critical Study, The World Pub. Co., p.61-2, The Coronation of the Virgin, Louvre, Paris.

4765- Art, Frederick Hartt, Vol.2, Harry Abrams NY 1976, pl.21, Renaissance. Enguerrand Quarton. Coronation of Virgin. Panel Painting, Musee de l'Hospice, Villeneuve-les-Avignon, France; Art Treasures in Germany, (Monuments, Masterpieces, Commissions of Collections, Gen. Eds. Bernard S. Myers, NY, Terwin Copplestone, Lon., Pub. by Hamlyn Pub. Group Lim., 1970, 55, fig.73, p.56-7, fig.76, p.69, fig.96, p.70, fig.99, p.89, fig.126, & p.94, fig.135; Civilisation, Clark, p.156-7, #22, Holbein, Madonna of Bugomaster Meyer. Mary wears a crown.

4766- A 15th century work shows a person suffering martyrdom, an angel anoints the wounds of the body of the saint. Also, the spirit of the saint is depicted in the very act of ascending with an angel, the saint's soul rides up on a garment. See: The Human Story, Europe In The Middle Ages, by Michel Pierre, Morgan -- Antoine Sabbagh, Pub. by Sliver Burdett Press, Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey, 1988, see p. 34, Reliquary of St. Laurent, fifteenth century, Musee des Beaux-Arts, Moulins. Originally published in 1986 by Casterman, under the title: L' Histoire des Hommes: L' Europe du Moyen Age. In some cases, the crowning ceremony in the after life depicts the saints or martyrs as being clothed in a royal robe, a garment, or investment of some kind. (Rev. 3:5, 5:10, 6:9-11, 7:9, 14-15, Heaven: A History, p.137-141, pl.26. Jean Bellegambe, Paradise. Century 1526-30, a portion of The Last Judgment panel. Staatliche Museen, East Berlin; The Encyc. of Visual Art, Vol. 3, p.235. Byzantine & Archaeology, by O.M.

- Dalton, Pub. by Dover Pub. Inc., N.Y., 1961, p.409-10, fig. 240; Sculptures of the World, by Sheldon Cheney, p. 305. And: Anglo-Saxon Art, by David M. Wilson, (7th century A.D. to the Norman Conquest), p.186-7, fig. 233, from a psalter (Paris, Bibliotheque Nationale, lat. 943, fol.4v.), first pub. in the U.S.A., by the Overlook Press, Woodstock, N.Y., 1984, by Thames & Hudson. Showing the crucifixion of Christ, the hand of God extending down towards His Son, & angels descend out of heaven with garments in their arms. See also: Encyc. of World Art, Vol. I, pl. 432, from a Gospel Book, Illumination, end of the 12th century A.D., Venice, S. Lazzaro (Ms. 1635, fol. 284v), Armenian Art; The Icon, by Kurt Weitzmann, & others, 1982, pp. 30-1, Here a 10th century depiction of the 40 martyrs shows angels coming with garments to cloth the martyrs' souls in. Kenneth Clark, Civilisation, A Personal View, (NY & Evanston: Harper & Row, 1969), 155-156, #108.
- 4767- Rev. 3:5, 5:10, 6:9-11, 7:9, 14-15, Heaven: A History, p.137-141, pl.26. Jean Bellegambe, Paradise. Century 1526-30, a portion of The Last Judgment panel. Staatliche Museen, East Berlin. And: The Encyc. of Visual Art, Vol. 3, p.235. Byzantine & Archaeology, by O.M. Dalton, Pub. by Dover Pub. Inc., N.Y., 1961, p.409-10, fig. 240. Also: Sculptures of the World, by Sheldon Cheney, p. 305. And: Anglo-Saxon Art, by David M. Wilson, (7th century A.D. to the Norman Conquest), p.186-7, fig. 233, from a psalter (Paris, Bibliotheque Nationale, lat. 943, fol.4v.), first pub. in the U.S.A., by the Overlook Press, Woodstock, N.Y., 1984, by Thames & Hudson. Showing the crucifixion of Christ, but also a depiction, showing the hand of God extending down towards His Son, Jesus Christ. Angels descend out of heaven with garments in their arms, perhaps to be ready to cloth Christ's spirit in the martyr's garment, when His spirit leave his body at death. See also: Encyc. of World Art, Vol. I, pl. 432, from a Gospel Book, Illumination, end of the 12th century A.D., Venice, S. Lazzaro (Ms. 1635, fol. 284v), Armenian Art.) And: The Icon, by Kurt Weitzmann, & others, 1982, p.30-1. Here a 10th century depiction of the 40 martyrs shows angels coming with garments to cloth the martyrs' souls in.
- 4768- Terry L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 151, 352, end note 15: Pico della Mirandola, Oration on the Dignity of Man, in The Renaissance Philosophy of Man, ed. Ernst Cassirer, Paul Oskar Kristellar, & John Herman Randall (Chicago: Un. of Chicago Press, 1967), 223, 226.
- 4769- James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, & the Defeat of the Moors, NY: Doubleday, 2005, 65-66.
- 4770- Walter Hilton, The Ladder of Perfection, (Lon. Eng.; NY: Penguin Books, 1988; translated by Leo Sherley-Price, with Introduction by Clifton Wolters, 1957, first published by Penguin in 1957), introduction, xxiii.
- 4771- Hilton, The Ladder of Perfection, p. xxiii, xxiv, 55, 118, 121, 122.
- 4772- Walter Hilton, The Ladder of Perfection, intro., p. xxiv.
- 4773- Hilton, The Ladder of Perfection, p. 55 & 56.
- 4774- Hilton, The Ladder of Perfection, p. 74.
- 4775- Hilton, The Ladder of Perfection, p. 118-119.
- 4776- Hilton, The Ladder of Perfection, p. 120-121.
- 4777- Hilton, The Ladder of Perfection, p. 128.
- 4778- Hilton, The Ladder of Perfection, p. 151.
- 4779- Russian Illuminated Manuscripts, Olga Popova. Trans. Kathleen Cook, Valdimir Ivanov & Lenina Sorokina, CR 1984 Aurora Art Pub., Leningrad, 1st pub. in the USA, Thames & Hudson Inc., #42 The Ladder to Paradise of St John Climacus. The Ladder, f.2 Lenin Lib., Moscow (Desnitsky collect., 439), ms 21, 1 Moscow.
- 4780- Diarmaid MacCULLOCH, The Reformation, A History, (New York, New York: Penguin Books, 2003, 2004, 2005), 123, end note 22, on p. 725, & 714: Naphy (ed.), Documents: W. R. Naphy (ed.), Documents on the Continental Reformation (Basingstoke, 1996), p. 11-12.
- 4781- Will Durant, The Story of Civilization, (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1940s-1950s), 11 vols., vol. 6, The Reformation, A History of European Civilization from Wyclif to Calvin: 1300-1564, (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1957), 338, end note 3, on p. 962: "In Robertson, W., Charles V, I, 374.
- 4782- Roland H. Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back edition, 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville), 77-78.
- 4783- James Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: DNP, 1960, 700, n. 17: Joseph McSorley, An Outline History of the Church by Centuries, (St. Louis: B. Herder Book Co., 1957, revised edition), 615.
- 4784- The Lost Books of The Bible & The Forgotten Books of Eden, (USA, Newfoundland: Alpha House, 1926 & 1927, World Bible Publishers), the first and second book of Adam & Eve. See also: Terry L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 61-70, 78, 82, 109, 140, 157, 164-166, 172, 240-244, 255-256, & 270. Stephen D. Ricks, & LeGrand L. Barker, Who Shall Ascend Into the Hill of the Lord? The Psalms In Israel's Temple Worship In The Old Testament and in the Book of Mormon, (SLC, Utah: Eborn Books, 2009), 83-97, The Hymn of the Pearl. Jeffrey M. Bradshaw, Temple Themes In the Book of Moses, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Publishing, 2010), 28-50, 63-64, 93-105, 149-172, etc. At the moment that Adam reaches forth his hand to clasp the hand of Christ, & as his hand passed into the bright nature, the glorious light of Christ, "...His [Adam's] reentry to paradise is imminent. In fact, his admission to the sphere of the divine has already begun & his deification (along with the deification of mankind) is already under way in this miracle of the re-creation, as the Anastasis came to be known." Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986), 72, etc. See also: Isa.42:6-7; Eph.4:7-10; 1 Pet.3:15-22, 4:5-6. The Deification of Man: St. Gregory Palamas and the Orthodox Tradition, Crestwood, N.Y.: St. Vladimir's Seminary Press, 1984, p.12 & 13; The last quote here is part of a doxastikon, or hymn of praise, from the Feast of Annunciation. This hymn is about the deification of Adam and it is still sung today at this feast, as it is celebrated in Eastern Orthodoxy. Ignazio Mancini, O.F.M., Archaeological Discoveries Relative to the Judaeo-Christians, (Jerusalem: Publishers of the Studium Biblicum Franciscanum, Fran. Print. Press, 1970), p.165-70. The early Christian writer, Theophilus of Antioch [155-168-181 A.D.], in response to the early anti-Christian Autolycus, wrote that Adam had become a god. (ANF, 2:104-105).
- 4785- Bainton noted that the very notion of the deification of humanity was considered blasphemous to Calvin. (The Renaissance, Pub. by Harper Torchbooks, 1962, 6 Essays, Essay IV: Man, God, And The Church In The Age Of The Renaissance, by Roland H. Bainton, 96, 169.
- 4786- James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (SLC Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 751-52, foot note 9-10: This is from a summarization of Calvin, by Philip Schaff, History of the Christian Church, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: Wm. B. Eerdmans Publishing Co., 1950), 8 vols., vol. 8, p. 241.

4787- Treasures From The Kremlin, (An Exhibition from the State of Museums of the Moscow Kremlin at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, N.Y., May 19-Sept. 1979, and Grand Palais, Paris, Oct. 12, 1979 & Jan. 7, 1980), Pub. by Metro. Mus., of Art, N.Y., Distrib. by Harry N. Abrams, Inc., p.32, pl.5, & p.140.

4788- Treasures From The Kremlin, p. 33-36, & 140, #7. The Synaxis, or Assembly, of the Virgin. Inv. no. 5062, Provenance: Side chapel of the Assembly of the Virgin in the Cathedral of the Annunciation, Moscow Kremlin, Moscow School, 1560s.

4789- Heaven: A History, p.136, 161, pl.30, dated 1575 A.D., Antonino Polti, O.P., Della felicità suprema del cielo (Perugia: Rastelli, 1575).

4790- Treasures From The Kremlin, p.58 & 157, pl.22, Gold reliquary diptych, front, inside, reverse. A gift from Czar Fedor Ivanovich to Czaritsa Irina. Accessioned from the Monastery of the Ascension, Moscow Kremlin, in 1918 (Inv. no. 15400). Moscow, Kremlin workshop, 1589 A.D.

4791- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 152, 353, end notes 24–25: Henry More, Antimonopsychia, XXV, cited in Patrides, Cambridge Platonists, 18. Henry More, Grand Mystery of Godliness, I.16.6; Conjectura Cabbalistica, "Preface to the Reader," III, cited in Lichtenstein, Henry More, 47.

4792- John Milton, Paradise Lost, NY: Mentor, 1961, 91, 146-47. John Milton, Complete Poems and Major Prose, Edited by Merritt Y. Hughes, (Indianapolis: The Odyssey Press, The Bobbs-Merrill Company, Inc., 1957, 1st Edition, 16th printing, 1975), 207-635, "Paradise Lost A Poem in Twelve Books, The Author, John Milton, 2nd Edition," (London: S. Simmons, 1674).

4793- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 151–52, 353, end note 22: Benjamin Whichcote, "The Manifestation of Christ and the Deification of Man," in Patrides, Cambridge Platonists, 70.

4794- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 152, 353, end note 23: Athanasius, De Incarnatione Verbi Dei, LIV, cited by Ralph Cudworth, "A Sermon Preached before the House of Commons," in Patrides, Cambridge Platonists, 101.

4795- The Gospel In Art, Bailey, 1916, p.410-13. Darell Thorpe, Jesus Christ's Everlasting Gospel and Ancient "Patternism", (an unpublished manuscript), 1990. The Pilgrimage and Struggle of the Human Family In And Through The Different Realms of Existences, Thorpe, unpublished manuscript 1990–2.

4796- Rev. Alexander Hislop, The Two Babylons (or The Papal Worship Proved to be the Worship of Nimrod and His Wife), (England: A & C Black, LTD., 1916; American editions, Neptune, New Jersey: Loizeaux Brothers, 1943 and 1956), 83 & 265-7.

4797- Walter Leslie Wilmshurst, The Meaning of Masonry, (New York: Gramercy Books, 1980, Crown Pub., Inc., reprint of fifth edition (1927), published by Rider, London. This edition by Gramercy Books, an imprint of Random House Value Publishing, New York), 12–155, etc.

4798- Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History & Myths Revealed, NY: Metro Books, an imprint of Sterling Pub., 2008, 16-19, 83, 175, 178-80. Walter Leslie Wilmshurst, The Meaning of Masonry, NY: Gramercy Books, 1980, Crown Pub., Inc., reprint of 5th ed. 1927, pub. by Rider, Lon.. This ed. by Gramercy Books, an imprint of Random House Value Publishing, NY), 15, 18, 29, 33-53, 62-63, 72-76, 87, 94-110, 114, 119-22, 124-27, 137-63, etc.

4799- Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History & Myths Revealed, (NY: Metro Books, an imprint of Sterling Pub., 2008), 18-19. Daniel-Rops, Jesus And His Times, (NY: Image Books, A Division of Doubleday & Co., 1958, CR 1954 & 1956 by E. P. Dutton & Co., Inc.), vol.2, p.236. National Geographic, vol. 164, No. 6, p. 774, Dec. 1983, Byzantine Empire, article entitled: Eternal Easter in Greek Village, by Maria Nicolaïdis-Karanikolas. Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (New York; London, England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc., 1989), 136—387. J.C.J. Metford, Dictionary of Christian Lore and Legend, (London, England: Thames & Hudson, 1983), 58—59, see Candle, Candelmas and Candlestick. Edna Barth, Lilies, Rabbits, and Painted Eggs, The Story of the Easter Symbols, (NY: The Seabury Press, 1970), 18-19. See the cover design & credits for Biblical Archaeology Review, March/April 1998, vol. 24, No.2, Illuminating Byzantine Jerusalem, p. 4, & p. 40-43, 46-47, 70-71. Article: Illuminating Byzantine Jerusalem, Oil Lamps Shed Light On Early Christian Worship, by Jodi Magness.

4800- Early Christian Art, The Late Roman & Byzantine Empires from the 3rd to the 7th centuries, fig. 83: "Venice, St. Mark's" 5th cent., "Christ in Limbo." Adam reaches around a pillar to clasp Christ's right hand. See: Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, (NY, NY: Pantheon Books, 1947), plate 100 a & b. Raymond Koechlin, Les Ivoires Gothiques, Français, Planches, (Paris, France: F. De Noble, 1968), no. 34, Petrograd, Musée de l'Ermitage). In the old form of marriage in the Orkneys, they would join their hands through a perforation, or ring, in a stone pillar. Lillian Eichler, The Customs of Mankind, With Notes on Modern Etiquette and the Newest Trend in Entertainment, (Garden City, New York: Nelson Doubleday, Inc., 1924), 230. In ancient Near Eastern temples, "Covenants are sealed in temples or near pillars standing near temples" writes John M. Lundquist. See his article: The Legitimizing Role of the Temple in the Origin of the State, published as chapter 9 in Temples of The Ancient World. Edited by Donald W. Parry, (Salt Lake City; Provo, Utah: Deseret Book Company, and Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon Studies, 1994), 179—235, see p. 220. Furthermore, "the king stood by a pillar and made a covenant before the Lord." (p. 220, citing 2 Kings 23:2-3, see also foot note 148 on p. 148, & 284—86. On the internet, Creation of Adam & Eve scenes, Hjembaek. c.1475. (M-K 11-091). On at least four pillars are hand symbols, the curtains are tied open, hung in the middle of the pillars. The Basilica of Sant' Apollinare Nuovo is a basilica church in Ravenna, Italy. It was erected by Ostrogoth King Theodoric the Great as his palace chapel during the first quarter of the 6th century (as attested to in the Liber Pontificalis). 504 AD to "Christ the Redeemer". Also in: Jean Porcher, French Miniatures, or Medieval French Miniatures, (New York: Harry N. Abrams), fig. 38, The Annunciation to Zacharias, Bible, second half of 12th century, Bibliothèque Nationale, Ms. lat. 16746, f. 42, near a pillar, in the temple, illustrating Luke 1:10-11, two men are clasping each others' left hands. Wim Swaan, The Gothic Cathedral, (Garden City, NY: Double Day & Co., 1969, Paul Elek Productions Lim.), p. 109, fig. 105, the towers of Laon from the sketchbook of Villard de Honnecourt. Par is, Bibliothèque Nationale, a hand symbol is up at the top of pillars. In another: Robert Fossier, Edited and Translated by Janet Sondheimer, The Middle Ages, The Cambridge Illustrated History of the Middle Ages, I 350–950, (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press 1989), 470, Carolingian ivory work, Relief, c. 870. John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1954). Walter Hilton, The Ladder of Perfection, (U.S.A.: Penguin Classics, 1988). Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History & Myths Revealed, (NY: Metro Books, an imprint of Sterling Pub., 2008), 6-7, 14-15, 34-35, 64-65, 93.

4801- Walter Leslie Wilmschurst, The Meaning of Masonry, (NY: Gramercy Books, 1980, Crown Pub., Inc., reprint of 5th edition (1927), pub. by Rider, London. This edition by Gramercy Books, an imprint of Random House Value Publishing, NY), 12–155, etc. Anthony W. Ivins, 1934, The Relationship of "Mormonism" & Freemasonry, (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press). E. Cecil McGavin, Mormonism & Masonry, (SLC, Utah: Stevens & Wallis, Inc., 1947). Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History and Myths Revealed, (New York: Metro Books, 2008). Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: F.A.R.M.S., & Deseret Book Co.). Volume 1: Old Testament & Related Subjects, (1986). Vol.2: Enoch The Prophet, (1986). Vol. 3: The World & The Prophets, Vol. 4: Mormonism & Early Christianity, (1987). Nibley, Baptism for the Dead in Ancient Time, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Improvement Era, 51—52, (December 1948—April 1949). Nibley, What is a Temple, The Idea of a Temple in History, reprint by F.A.R.M.S., Nibley, (IDE-T). From: The Millennial Star 120 (August 1958). Nibley, The Early Christian Church in the Light of Some Newly Discovered Papyri from Egypt, (Provo, Utah: F.A.R.M.S. reprint, Nibley 1985. From a talk given by Dr. Nibley during a Tri-Stake Fireside, Brigham Young University, March 3, 1964). ` Dr. Huge Nibley, collected works volume 16: The Message of the Joseph Smith Papyri, An Egyptian Endowment, (Provo & SLC, Utah: F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company, 2005, 2nd ed.). Jeffrey M. Bradshaw, Temple Themes In the Book of Moses, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Publishing, 2010). G. F. Bushman, Masonic & Mormon Temple Ceremonies, (North Salt Lake City, Utah: an unpublished research paper, CR March, 1952, dated March 1953). L. W. Stokes, Temple Texts and the Pre-Mortal Council, (SLC, Utah: The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints Historical Library, Archives, call slip # PQ M233.3 5874t, 1980), typescript paper presented to John M. Lundquist, November 23, 1980. Darell Thorpe, The Armor of Gods (Protective Skins or Garments in History & Color Symbolism), (Kindle Edition, 2012). Donald W. Parry, (Editor), Marion D. Hanks, Huge W. Nibley, Adrew F. Ehat, Truman G. Madsen, John M. Lundquist, Stephen D. Ricks, Donald W. Parry, Michael A. Carter, John J. Sroka, John W. Welch, M. Catherine Thomas, William J. Hamblin, Brian M. Hauglid, John A. Tvedtnes, and many others providing research papers, and unpublished works for authors to consider, Temples Of The Ancient World, Ritual and Symbolism, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Desert Book Company, 1994, & Provo, Utah: Foundation For Ancient Research and Mormon Studies). John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (New York: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882). John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1954). Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986). Kurt Weitzmann, (Essays), Studies In The Arts At Sinai, (New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1982). Byzantine Book Illumination & Ivories, (London: Variorum Reprints, 1980). The Miniatures Of The Sacra Parallela (Parisinus Graecus 923), (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1979). Illustrations In Roll & Codex, A Study Of The Origin & Method of Text Illustration, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1947). Weitzmann, (Editor, Herbert L. Kessler), Studies In Classical & Byzantine Manuscript Illumination, (Chicago, U.S.A., and London, England: The University of Chicago Press, 1971). Weitzmann, (Editor), Age Of Spirituality, 1979. The Icon, (New York: Arnoldori Editore, & Alfred A. Knopf., Inc. 1982). Weitzmann's Studies In Classical And Byzantine Manuscript Illumination, edited by Herbert L. Kessler, (Chicago; London: University of Chicago Press, 1971). Weitzmann, & others, Arnoldori Editor, The Icon, (New York: Alfred A. Knopf, 1982). Illuminated Greek Manuscripts from American Collections, An Exhibition in Honor of Kurt Weitzmann, Edited by Gary Vikan, (The Art Museum, Princeton University Press, 1973, [Dates of exhibition April 14--May 20, 1973]. Weitzmann & others, The Place of Book Illumination in Byzantine Art. Emile Male, L' Art Religieux, De La Tin Du Moyen Age, En France, (Paris: Librairie Armand Colin, 1931). Male, Religious Art in France, the Twelfth Century, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1978), Bollingen Series XC. I. Male, 1986, Religious Art In France, The Late Middle Ages, (Princeton: Bollingen Series, Princeton University Press). L' Art Religieux Du Xile Siecle En France, (Paris: Librairie Armand Colin, 1922). The Gothic Image, Religious Art in France of the Thirteenth Century, (New York: Cathedral Library, Harper Torchbooks, Harper & Brothers Publishers, 1913, 1958 edition, first published 1913, this edition from the third French edition, arranged by E. P. Dutton & Co., originally published under title: Religious Art in France of the Thirteenth Century, A Study in Mediaeval Iconography and its Sources of Inspiration. Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments Of Romanesque Art, The Art of Church Treasures in North-Western Europe, (The University of Chicago Press, 1954 and 2nd, Edition, 1967). Roland H. Bainton, The Horizon History of Christianity, Edited by Marshall B. Davidson of Horizon Magazine, (U.S.A.: American Heritage Pub. Co., Eng. ed., 1964). Roland H. Bainton, Behold the Christ, (U.S.A.: Harper, 1974).

4802- The Gospel In Art, Bailey, 1916, p. 410-13.

4803- Giovanni Papini, The Devil, N.Y., E. P. Dutton & Co., 1954, p. 44-46.

4804- God in Patristic Thought, London, 1956, p.73.

4805- The Holy Rule, Zeller, 1958, Prologue, 5-6, & 9-11, n. 19 and 20, p.10-11, citing from "de Osuna" who may have made reference to a work said to be of St. Thomas, see: Third Spiritual Alphabet, Treatise 19; ch. 3. "Deus, qui humanae substantiae dignitatem mirabiliter condidisti et mirabiliter reformasti, as we have it in the Mass."

4806- The Weight of Glory and Other Addresses, by C. S. Lewis, rev. ed. (NY: Macmillan, Collier Books, 1980), 18; Stephen E. Robinson, Are Mormons Christians?, SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1991, 4th print. p.63, 119 & note 17. Lewis, The Joyful Christian, NY: Touchstone Books 1977, 77-78, 197.

4807- C. S. Lewis, The Joyful Christian, NY: Touchstone Books, 1977, 77-78.

4808- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, and the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 152, 398, 430, notes 154-56: C. S. Lewis, Mere Christianity, NY: Touchstone Books, 1980, 175-77. First paper back edition, NY: Collier Books, Macmillan Pub. Co., 1960, p. 153-4, 164, 171-76.

4809- C. S. Lewis, The Quotable Lewis, Ed. Wayne Martindale & Jerry Root. Wheaton, Ill.: Tyndale House 1989, 525: "What ever might have been the powers of unfallen man, it appears that those of redeemed Man will be almost unlimited. Christ, re-ascending from His great dive, is bringing up Human Nature with Him. Where He goes, it goes too. It will be made 'like Him'"

4810- C. S. Lewis, Mere Christianity, NY: Collier Books, Macmillan Pub. Co., 1960, 153-5, 162-66, 169, 171-76.

4811- C. S. Lewis, The Quotable Lewis, Ed. Wayne Martindale & Jerry Root. Wheaton, Ill.: Tyndale House 1989, 308.

4812- The Spirit of Eastern Christendom, Jaroslav Pelikan, Pub. Un. of Chicago Press, 1974, Lon., 10.

4813- An Illustrated Encyclopedia of Mysticism and the Mystery Religions, Ferguson, p.46.

4814- Imago Dei: Man in the Image of God, by Ernst W. Benz, cited in Reflections on Mormonism: Judaeo-Christian Parallels, edited by Truman G. Madsen. Provo: Religious Studies Center, Brigham Young Un., 1978, and cited by Petersen & Ricks, in Offenders For A Word, p.80, n.254, & p.215, Benz (1978): 215-16.

4815- Revelation, chapter 21; 22:12-14; Heb.11:13-16; John 14:2. A number of people who have had near death experiences have said that they learned during their experience that humans may one day become divine beings, and even co-creators with the gods in the universe. Some members of the human family will eventually become bright angelic beings, who will eventually become more like God until they eventually become gods. (See: Return From Tomorrow, by Dr. George G. Ritchie, 1978, pp.72-3; November 1989, "K-Talk," KTKK 630 AM radio in Utah, "Religion of the Line", host, Martin Tanner, guest Elane Durham, who had a "Near Death Experience" = NDE. An anti-Mormon caller said that the Mormons teach that God was once a man, that there are many Gods, & that we all can become Gods some day. Elane Durham responded: "Your not listening to me, because I'm telling you the same thing." On KTKK, Nov. 12, 1989, Martin Tanner interviewed George G. Ritchie. Ritchie said that he could discern & see the beings in this city of light & love. And "the most amazing thing was that they were glowing in the light that they admitted, like unto this being [Christ]. I think that for the first time, I then understood what the Bible says when Jesus made the statement: I'm the first fruit of men that all could follow." Ritchie later expounded on what he had learned during his after life experience, saying that the human families' ultimate destiny, is to become like Christ, and to become gods. My Life After Dying, Becoming Alive to Universal Love, by George G. Ritchie, Jr. M.D., 1991, Pub. by Hampton Roads, p.108-9, 130, 135-40, & 145-47.

4816- George G. Ritchie, Jr. My Life After Dying, Becoming Alive to Universal Love, 1991, Pub. by Hampton Roads, see p. 108-9, 130, 135-40, & 145-147.

4817- Catholicism, Richard P. McBrien, 2 vols. (Minneapolis: Winston Press, 1980), 1:146, 156. Stephen E. Robinson, Are Mormons Christians?, SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1991, 4th print. 1994, p.62, n.10, & p.119.

4818- This doctrine is said to have been based on a number of passages in both the Old & New Testaments, such as Psalm 82 (81).6; 2 Peter 1:4; Rom.8:9-17; Gal.4:5-7; & John 17:21-23. Irenaeus, St. Athanasius, [4th c.], St. Cyril of Alexandria [5th century], St. Maximus the Confessor, and later St. Symeon [late 10th century], are said to have taught the doctrine of deification as they understood it to be. It should be understood, says this article, that deification doesn't mean absorption into God, for the deified creature is to remain distinct. Rather, it "is the whole human being, body and soul, who is transfigured in the Spirit into the likeness of the divine nature, and deification is the goal of every Christian." Article: "Deification" Symeon Lash, in The Westminster Dictionary of Christian Theology, ed. Alan Richardson & John Bowden (Philadelphia: Westminster Press, 1983, 147-48. Stephen E. Robinson, Are Mormons Christians?, SLC, Utah: Bookcraft, 1991, 4th print., p.62, n.11, & p. 119.

4819- God's Laws of Success, Robert Tilton, (Dallas: Word of Faith, 1983), 170-71; Stephen E. Robinson, Are Mormons Christians?, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Bookcraft, 1991, 4th printing), p.63, note 14, p.119.

4820- The Deification of Man: St. Gregory Palamas & the Orthodox Tradition, Crestwood, NY: St. Vladimir's Seminary Press, 1984, 12, 13. The last quote here is part of a doxastikon, or hymn of praise, from the Feast of Annunciation. This hymn is about the deification of Adam, still sung & celebrated in Eastern Orthodoxy.

4821- On KTKK "K-talk" July 15, 1990, Howard Storms mentions the two extremes or two ways similar to some of the views held by some of the early Christians. (TANF) 2: p.451, 502, 573-4, 584-5, & Vol.4, p.434, 475, 509, 547, 551, 592-595, 641, & 646-7. Thus, from other transcripts and tapes of Howard Storm's NDE we note that this former atheist, learned, based on his NDE, that a divine ultimate destiny for the human family is with in our reach, for he said that: "This world is full of divine beings becoming more divine moment by moment day by day. This is like a huge garden full of divine beings, and that's what we are. We're divine and we're growing up; and we're growing up into realizing our divinity." (During the month of April 1992. DR. LYNN JOHNSON gave to me (Darell Thorpe) a letter of a type script of Howard Storm's near death experience. Earlier he had given me a copy of Howard Storm's experience on some tapes. This type script was based on the tapes. The information of this type script was typed by JBB, Silverdale, WA, from 1988 cassette tape from N.D.E. Research Institute, Ft. Thomas, KY. Also in Howard Storm's interview with Martin Tanner, July 15th, 1990 on "Religion on the Line" 630 AM RADIO, (KTKK-"K-Talk"), Utah. Another tape recording was made in 1989 at the NDE Research Institute, in Kentucky, a typescript of this 1989 taped version has been entitled: An Experience of Howard Storm.

4822- Jordan Vajda, "Partakers of the Divine Nature": A Comparative Analysis of Patristic and Mormon Doctrines of Divinization, (Provo, Utah: FARMS, & BYU, 2002), intro. & 10, 56.

4823- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: T&T Clark, Edinburgh, WM. B. Eerdmans Pub. Co., reprinted October 1989), 2:198, Clement of Alexandria, 153-193-217, Exhortation to the Heathen, chap. 10.

4824- If it hasn't been taken down or moved, on the Internet Archives are a number of different editions to this rare study: <http://web.archive.org/web/20030608223026/http://www.restorationhistory.com/Kindle-movie.html> The Strand Magazine, Jan. 1891, Santa Claus as a female youth, holding a Christmas tree, about to descend from the woods to a town below. Derived from German traditions about Christkind, Christkindl, German for Christ-child, where Kriss Kringle gets his name from, for it was Americanized by Americans hearing it in German. <https://archive.org/stream/TheStrandMagazineAnIllustratedMonthly/TheStrandMagazine1891aVol.1Jan-jun#page/n13/mode/2up>. See also rough drafts on line of: The Christ in Santa Unmasked - <http://restoredgospelvidences.blogspot.com/2011/03/christ-in-santa-unmasked.html> - Internet article, <http://drivetimelivearchivespromosources.blogspot.com/> scroll down to art works of Christ's world wide treks. <http://millscrenshawdrivetimeliveschedule.blogspot.com/> See also on line, old web site: <http://web.archive.org/web/20030425124345/http://www.restorationhistory.com/rh/ctwww.html> Also: <http://web.archive.org/web/20030608222735/http://www.restorationhistory.com/Christ-The-World-Wide-Wounded-Wanderer.html> Radio show archived, commentaries on wandering Christ traditions in Christmas lore: Internet Archives: World Wide Wandering Christ - Collection of Christmas Traditions, Radio shows archived: <https://archive.org/details/WorldWideWanderingChrist-CollectionOfChristmasTraditions> Darell Thorpe, guest on KTKK 630 AM radio, talking about early to later Christian responses to early anti-Christians that charged that Christ neglected other nations. How early Christian apologists answered these types of claims was to testify that Christ did go to other nations, that he pre-existed, and after his death, descended into the spirit world to preach to those who hadn't heard the gospel, during the centuries before Christ, thus Christ didn't neglect others. These beliefs, of Christ's world wide treks, eventually became later legends, traditions, & Christmas lore about the wandering Christ-child, or in Germany, Christkindl, also called Kriss Kringle, then Santa Claus, who makes his annual frosty flights around the world during Christmas time. This study include a portion of a talk Darell Thorpe gave, 10-17-1992, at the Murray Library, Utah, USA, The Grand Pilgrimage Lectures. Then, portions of radio show, on KTKK 630 AM radio, K-Talk, West Jordan Utah, USA, 1999, on Sherlock A. Collin's show, as guest. Then, two shows 12-2012 & 12-16-2013 on Drive Time Live, The Mills Crenshaw Show, on KTKK. Then, a commentary track: Legendizations of wandering gods in ancient Americas and Christians Santa Claus. Then: 2 Mayan Math and Grasping Hands to Resurrect and Calendar Rounds for Returning Gods. Evidence that Christ went to other nations during his post-resurrection world wide treks. Music by Covert Cosmic Cruisers.

<https://archive.org/details/WhenHowTheEarlyChristianBeliefsOfChristsWorldTreksBecameLater> See also on the Internet Archives: How the Early Christian Beliefs of Christ's World Treks Became Santa Claus' Global Flights, <https://archive.org/details/HowTheEarlyChristianBeliefsOfChristsWorldTreksBecameSantaClaus> You Tube: Santa Claus Unmasked as Wandering Christ <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=x3lbMmE9UYM> You Tube: Christ As Cosmic Cruiser: Christ Went To Other Nations, Playlist, that still might be on line. <https://www.youtube.com/playlist?list=PL0B6EF521DAC91502> Also a book in historical poem form about these traditions about Christkindl, Kriss Kringle & Santa: Back to Golden Days of Christmas Past, by Darell Thorpe. https://www.amazon.com/Back-Golden-Days-Christmas-Past-ebook/dp/B00HNER9FU/ref=sr_1_4?s=digital-text&ie=UTF8&qid=1482272949&sr=1-4 – For a more recent edition of the earlier rough draft, see also: The Christ in Santa Claus Unmasked {color illustrated edition 12-17-2013} that shows references and art works. – https://www.amazon.com/Christ-Santa-Unmasked-illustrated-12-17-2013-ebook/dp/B00HETRKRQ/ref=sr_1_5?s=digital-text&ie=UTF8&qid=1482272949&sr=1-5 – More recent editions, with added sources & art works. https://www.amazon.com/Christ-Santa-Claus-Unmasked-Christian-ebook/dp/B005R8B15I/ref=sr_1_10?s=digital-text&ie=UTF8&qid=1482272949&sr=1-10 – Jesus Christ, the World Wide Wounded Wanderer Paperback – December 12, 2013, color-illustrated edition, that presents sources & traditions from different world cultures. https://www.amazon.com/Jesus-Christ-World-Wounded-Wanderer/dp/1494477319/ref=asap_bc?ie=UTF8

4825- A. S. Garretson, Primitive Christianity & Early Criticism, (Boston: Sherman, French & Company, 1912). <https://archive.org/details/primitivechristi014208mbp> R. Joseph Hoffmann, (translator) Celsus On The True Doctrine, (A Discourse Against the early Christians), (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987). Origen against Celsus: by Origen; Bellamy, James, Pub. 1660. <https://archive.org/details/origenagainste00orig> Contra Celsum, Origen; Chadwick, Henry, 1920-2008, ed. & tr Pub. 1953 <https://archive.org/details/contracelsumlib00selwgoog> – Robert Louis Wilken, The Christians As The Romans Saw Them, (Yale Un. Press; New Haven & Lon., 1984).

4826- Superman, Clark Kent, is played by Tom Welling, in the 10 seasons series, Smallville, based on DC comic book series, see on line dcomics.com & Warner Brothers, television, & wbtondvd.com. The series, came out about 2000, & ran through to the tenth & final season about 2011.

4827- Hugu Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, (Provo & SLC, Utah: F.A.R.M.S., & Deseret Book Co.), vol.4: Mormonism & Early Christianity, (1987), 1-9. Budge, E. A. Wallis (Ernest Alfred Wallis), Sir, 1857-1934; British Museum, Miscellaneous Coptic texts in the dialect of Upper Egypt, (1915), 655-6, 667, 679-80, 682, <https://archive.org/details/miscellaneouscop00budguoft> – The Lost Books of The Bible & The Forgotten Books of Eden, (USA, Newfoundland: Alpha House, 1926 & 1927, World Bible Publishers), 38-62.

4828- Maymie R. Krythe, All About Christmas, (New York, Evanston & London: Harper & Row, 1954), 128.

4829- <http://www.miraclesofthesaints.com/2010/10/levitation-and-ecstatic-flights-in.html>

4830- Enid Broderick Fisher, Saints Alive! A Book of Patron Saints, Whom to Call Upon For Help With Health, Love, Work & Finance, Lon.: Fount Paperbacks, Harper Collins, 1995, 22.

4831- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Abba%3A%20Abraham_of_Alexandria

4832- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Pope_Abraham_of_Alexandria

4833- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Abuna_Aregawi

4834- The Evidences Of The Christian Religion; Being A Collection Of All The Works, Tracks, and Essays, Of The Most Established Authors Who Have Written Upon The Evidences Of The Christian Faith, (Lon.: Conway and Rayer, Harvey's Buildings, Strand; The Historical Classics And Military Chronicle, 1815), In five volumes, see vol.1, p. 79. Granger Ryan & Helmut Ripperger, Translators, adapted from the Latin, The Golden Legend Of Jacobus de Voragine, (NY: Arno Press, A Pub. & Lib., service of The New York Times, 1969, 1941), p. xi, of foreword. ANF, 2:490-92. Clement of Alexandria, Miscellanies, book VI, chapter vi. ANF, 3:246-47, Tertullian, On Prescription Against Heretics, chap. vi, viii & p. 252, chap. xx. In the Recognitions of Clement, [1st-4th c.?], we read how the Lord sent the apostles to preach to all nations. Also, Peter says that they, the Apostles, "are sent; and of necessity he who is sent delivers the messages as he has been ordered, and sets forth the will of the sender." ANF, 8:106, 658, 667-71, Recognitions of Clement, Book 2, chapter XXXIII; The Teaching of Addæus The Apostle; Ancient Syriac Documents, The Teaching of The Apostles. Cynthia Pearl Maus, The Church And The Fine Arts, p.108 & 114. Gilda Berger, Easter & Other Spring Holidays, (NY, Lon.; etc.: Franklin Watts, 1983, A First Book), p.37-8. Kenneth Clark, 1969, Civilisation, A Personal View, (New York: Harper & Row, and Evanston), illustrations, ix, #32, & p.41, 44-45. Gustav Künstler, Editor, Romanesque Art In Europe, (Greenwich Connecticut: New York Graphic Society LTD., 1968), p. 26, explanation for figures 14-16. Lafaye, Quetzalcoatl & Guadalupe, p. 44-45. Robert J. Myers, Celebrations, The Complete Book of American Holidays, (Garden City, New York: Doubleday & Company, 1972), 206-8; Vincent Cronin, Mary Portrayed, 1968, p.18-20, 88-89, pl. 47; & 1 Corinthians chaps 12-14. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p. 281, Origen De Principiis, Book 2, chap. 5:1. Fredk. WM. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Christ Lore, Being The Legends, Traditions, Myths, Symbols, Customs, & Superstitions of the Christian Church, (Lon.: Elliot Stock, 62 Paternoster Row, E.C., 1902; Repub. in Detroit: Gale Research Co., Book Tower, 1969), p. 36-37. John Pope-Hennessy, Fra Angelico, (London: Phaidon Press, 1952), p.173, plates 38, 44, 45. X. Zanobi Strozzi: The Coronation of the Virgin. Uffizi, Florence. Page 200, XL. Zanobi Strozzi: The Burial and Assumption of the Virgin, with the apostles there. Gardner Museum, Boston. ANF, 3:36, Tertullian, Apology, chap. xxii; p.179, The Soul's Testimony, chap. vi.

4835- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 158-59.

4836- John Robison, A.M., Proofs Of A Conspiracy, 1798, Against All The Religions & Governments Of Europe, Carried On In The Secret Meetings Of Free Masons, Illuminati, (NY: George Forman, 1798, repub.: Boston; Los Angeles: Western Islands, The Americanist Classics, 1967). Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History & Myths Revealed, (NY: Metro Books, Sterling Pub., 2008), 175, 96-167. Gary H. Kah, En Route to Global Occupation, A High Ranking Government Liaison Exposes the Secret Agenda for World Unification, (Lafayette, Louisiana: Huntington House Publishers, 1991), 26-27, n. 8-9, on p. 215: U.S. George Washington Bicentennial Commission, The Writings of George Washington Vol. 20 (Washington, D.C.: U.S. Government Printing Office, 1941), 518; & Ralph Epperson, The Conspiratorial View of History (Tucson: Epperson, 1986), 2; Louis T. McFadden, Collective Speeches of Congressman Louis T. McFadden (Hawthorne, CA: Omni Publications, 1970), 2. Radio show: Host: Van Hale, Mormon Miscellaneos, 2-16-2014, topic: Masonry-Guests, Nelson & Powell, on KTKK 630 AM radio, K-Talk, South Jordan, Utah. Ralph Epperson, The Unseen Hand.

4837- Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History & Myths Revealed, NY: Metro Books, Sterling Pub. 2008, 14-55, 82-83, 172-189. Walter Leslie Wilmhurst, The Meaning of Masonry, NY: Gramercy Books, Crown Pub., 1980, 12-216.

4838- Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History & Myths Revealed, NY: Metro Books, Sterling Pub. 2008, 39. Walter Leslie Wilmhurst, The Meaning of Masonry, NY: Gramercy Books, Crown Pub. 1980, 109-10.

4839- Walter Leslie Wilmhurst, The Meaning of Masonry, NY: Gramercy Books, Crown Pub. 1980, 114-15.

4840- Walter Leslie Wilmhurst, The Meaning of Masonry, NY: Gramercy Books, Crown Pub. 1980, 114-6. Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1981), 118-122. The Lost Books of The Bible & The Forgotten Books of Eden, (USA, Newfoundland: Alpha House, 1926 & 1927, World Bible Publishers, p. 86-8, Nicodemus, Chap. XIX: 1-4, 8-12; XX:11-12. Robert Hughes, Heaven and Hell in Western Art, (New York: Stein and Day/Pub., 1968), 180-191. Encyclopedia Of World Art, Pub. by McGraw-Hill Book Co., N.Y., Toronto, Lon., 1960), Vol. III, pl. 12. Horton & Marie-Hélène Davies, Holy Days & Holidays, The Medieval Pilgrimage of Compostela, (Lon. & Toronto: Associated Un. Press, Lewisburg Bucknell Un. Press, 1982), 142. Roland H. Bainton, The Horizon History of Christianity, (NY: American Publishing Co., Inc., & Harper & Row, Pub. 1964), 214-15. Introduction, Charles T. Little & Timothy B. Husband, The Metropolitan Museum of Art, Europe in the Middle Ages, (New York: The Metropolitan Museum Of Art, 1987), Page, 103, fig. 96, Christ Presenting the Keys of Heaven to Saint Peter. German (Cologne?), ca. 1315-20. The key is used to open the door of paradise, as Peter ascends with souls through the doors, or is seen as a hand clasping greeter at the door to paradise in other art works. Huge Nibley points out that Christ authorized, and gave to Peter the keys to the work that released the souls out of the gates of Hades. (Donald W. Parry, (Editor), Huge W. Nibley, etc., Temples Of The Ancient World, Ritual and Symbolism, (SLC, Utah: Desert Book Co., 1994, & Provo, Utah: FARMS), p. 595. See also: The Golden Age of English Manuscript Painting (1200-1500) by Richard Marks and Nigel Morgan, 1981, Pub. by George Braziller, N.Y., fig. III, Portrait of William de Brailles, Cambridge, Fitzwilliam Museum, MS. 330. Detail from a single leaf of the Last Judgment, p. 9. In this work an angel clasps the hand of a soul being set free from hell. Another portion shows Peter extending down his right hand towards a soul who extends his hands towards Peter's. It is the moments before they clasp hands. Peter holds a key in his left hand. Romanesque Art In France, by Joseph Gantner & Marcel Pobe, 1956, Pub. by Thames & Hudson, pl. 135, p. 64 for explanation. Angel clasping the hand of a soul at the door to paradise, on the right-hand side of Christ as Judge, lower area. <http://www.wga.hu/art/zgothic/mosaics/7baptist/04baptis.jpg> Florence. The angel within the door is adapted from the classical type of Hermes Psychopompas. http://4.bp.blogspot.com/_zVu0FGxQvzg/S-2JImrqfKI/AAAAAAAAABb8/sW24S9-PW3o/s320/handclasp4.JPG See also: Conques Last judgment detail Portal, tympanum Abbey Church of St Foy Conques, Aveyrou, France begun 1100, 12th century stone work. Also: A Library of Fathers of the Holy Catholic Church, vol. 2, p. 264-5, S. Cyril of Jerusalem, Lecture On the Mysteries. Giovanni di Paolo Giovanni di Paolo di Grazia Italian Siense ca 1400-1482, Hand greetings in paradise. Hjembæk. c. 1475. (M-K 11-078) Judgment, Peter clasping hands of souls on right side of Christ, to welcome them into Paradise. Hans Memling - Memling 1430 -94 German-born Early Netherlandish painter: Last Judgment, souls on right hand of Christ, greeted by St. Peter by hand shakes, clothed in garments before entering door to paradise! Apocalispe.com o Comentario de Berengauda Inglaterral - England c. 1270- Righteous being welcomed into heaven. Monk clasps hands of those about to enter paradise. St. John Climacus, 15th century, Lenin Library, Moscow, clasp at top of ladder to heaven. The Holy Virgins Greeted by Christ as They Enter the Gates of Paradise Simon Marmion (French, Amiens ca. 1425-1489 Valenciennes). Dressed in white, greeted by hand clasp at door Christ is at. Virgins, dressed in white, are greeted by Christ at Gates of Paradise. Leaf from the Breviary of Charles the Bold and Margaret of York 1467-70. Christ clasps their hands to welcome them in. And: The Last Judgement, mural from Voronet, Monastery, Romania. Peter guides, by hand clasps, souls to the door to paradise. In: Last Judgement, Wenaston Doom a 16th-c. pre-Reformation panel painting depicting the Last Day of Judgment. Souls on Christ right hand, at doors to paradise, clasp a hand to enter. Dominican Monks Exchanging Handclasps -Capital of Santa Maria la Real de Nieva Church 13th c Spain. John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, (Princeton Un. Press, 1954). On the internet art works: Broager, c.1525. Peter L., ykt. (M-K 05-052) Judgment. In a stone carving work of the Last Judgment, on Christ's right-hand side is Abraham, with two souls in paradise, facing each other in paradise, another traditional clasp hands, is seen as they are on Abraham's lap. Links may, but also make not be working by the time of this reading. Links are sometimes changed & removed. https://upload.wikimedia.org/wikipedia/commons/3/3a/Arles-St.Trophime-Romanisches_Portal-Im_Thympanon_thron Christus inder Mandorla%3Bseine li.Handh%C3%A4lt das Buch mit 7 Siegeln%2Cdie re.Hand i st zum Segensgestus erhoben.JPG Arles- St.Trophime-Romanisches Portal-Im Thympanon thront Christus inder Mandorla; seine li.Handhlt das Buch mit 7 Siegeln, die re. Hand ist zum Segensgestus erhoben. 11th-13th c. Also: Fresco. Simon Peter with the keys to door to Paradise Elmelunde Kirke Church Elmelunde Møn Denmark, Peter, with his left hand, (while the key to the door of Paradise is in his right), he holds the right hand of one in many souls guided to paradise's door. Numerous examples of hand & wrist grasping at doors or gates to paradise, etc.

4841- Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986), p.72, etc. Albert E. Bailey, The Gospel in Art, Boston & Chicago: Pilgrim Press, 1916, p.382-385. Alfred Firmin Loisy, The Birth of the Christian Religion & The Origins of the New Testament, French title: La Naissance du Christianisme Les Origines du Nouveau Testament, translated by L. P. Jacks, (University books, 1962), 260-1, Christ "became man that he might deliver men from their bondage to death and lead them forth into immortality" [see Hebrews 2:5-18]. See also: The Golden Legend of Jacobus de Voragine, (Trans. and adapted from the Latin by Granger Ryan & Helmut Ripperger), (New York: 1941, Arno Press, A Publishing & Library service of the New York Times, 1969), p. 293. John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1954). Walter Leslie Wilmhurst, The Meaning of Masonry, NY: Gramercy Books, Crown Pub. 1980, 114-117, 126-27, 140-42, etc. John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (New York: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882). Links might, but might not work: Internet Archives, (1976), <https://archive.org/details/MonumentalChristianity> - <https://archive.org/details/monumentalchris00lundgoog> - Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, NY: Pantheon Books, 1947, pl. 100, etc.

4842- Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History & Myths Revealed, NY: Metro Books, Sterling Pub. 2008, 14-19, 26-34, 42-43, 82-83, 182-87. Walter Leslie Wilmhurst, The Meaning of Masonry, NY: Gramercy Books, Crown Pub. 1980, 12-13, 24, 31-43, 63-66, 75-76, 99-100, 121-22, 124-28, 134-43, 145-69, etc. Walter Hilton, The Ladder of Perfection, (U.S.A.: Penguin Classics, 1988). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, & Drama, (Ithaca & London: Cornell Un. Press, 1985).

4843- Walter L. Wilmhurst, The Meaning of Masonry, NY: Gramercy Books, Crown Pub. 1980, 146-7, 140-45.

4844- John Chrysostom, 354-407, Hom. xxv, In Joannem, & Hom. xl. In Ep. ad Rom, & Rom.6:1-15. Col. 2:12. Walter L. Wilmhurst, The Meaning of Masonry, NY: Gramercy Books, Crown Pub. 1980, 149-151. Jeffrey M. Bradshaw, Temple Themes In the Book of Moses, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Eborn Publishing, 2010), 61-90, see chapter 5. The Symbolism of the Tree of Life and the Tree of Knowledge. Also chapter 6: The "Sacred Center" of the Garden of Eden. See also: Joseph Campbell, Historical Atlas of World Mythology, Vol. 2, The Way Of The Seeded Earth, Part 1, The Sacrifice, (New York, New York: Harper & Row, 1988) . Joseph Campbell, The Mythic Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, Bollingen Series C, 1975, second printing, 1975, paper back printing 1981), 58–64, 190–208, 237–260. The Forgotten Books of Eden, Edited by Rutherford H. Platt, Jr., Assistant Editor J. Alden Brett, Pub. by Alpha House, Inc., 1927, U.S.A., The First Book of Adam & Eve, p.8–81. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 1, p.573, XXXI; vol. 2, p. 39-41, The Pastor of Hermas, Book III, Similitude 8, Chap. I-VI; p. 202, Clement of Alex., Exhortation To The Heathen, chap. x; Vol. 3, p.164, 169-70 & p.364-5, Tertullian Against Marcion, Book IV, chap. xiii; & p.172, An Answer to the Jews, chap. xiv; Isa. xliii. 20; John 15:1-8; Rom. chap.10, 11:16-27. In a 13th century depiction, an angel clasps the wrist of person as they ascend up to the heavenly Jerusalem, it also shows a "river of life" which flows from the throne of God, from either side of this river the tree of life grows. (See: The Horizon Book of the Middle Ages, by the Editors of Horizon Magazine, Editor in Charge, Norman Kotker, author, Morris Bishop, Pub. by American Heritage Pub., Co., N.Y., 1968, p.81). Christianity And The Renaissance (Image and Religious Imagination in the Quattrocento, Edited by Timothy Verdon & John Henderson, Pub. by Syracuse Un. Press, 1990, p.135 & 141, see chapter 5, p.132-160, entitled: The Tree of Life And The Holy Cross (Franciscan Spirituality in the Trecento and the Quattrocento), by Rab Hatfield. A Garland Series, Outstanding Theses In The Fine Arts from British Universities, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, by Jennifer O'Reilly, Oct. 1972, Pub. by Garland Pub., Inc., N.Y., & London. 1988, see p.346-7. E. Baldwin Smith, The Dome, A Study in the History of Ideas, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1950, 1978), p. 26—28, see note 52: Trees where an important symbol to show that souls had entered paradise. The Forgotten Books of Eden, p.131, Ode 22:1, 3, & 5. The early Christian Odes of Solomon (70-100 A.D.) , also describe the pre-existent Church as a Community of "fruit-bearing tree," whose crown is "self-grown", and whose roots are "from an immortal land", watered by a "river of gladness" (Ode 11).

4845- Archaeological Discoveries, (Relative to the Judaeo-Christians) , Historical Survey, by Ignazio Mancini, O.F.M., Pub. of the Studium Biblicum Franciscanum, Collection minor #10, Jerusalem, 1970, p.165-170, & fig.39, on p.166, "Adam under Calvary in a medieval miniature of Valenciennes, with detail of Adam. (from LTS 1965, p. 278)". Christ Lore, Being the Legends Traditions Myths Symbols Customs & Superstitions of The Christian Church, by Fredk. WM. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Pub. in Lon. 1902, Elliot Stock, repub. by Gale Research Co. Book Tower , Detroit, 1969, p.117, "Washing in the Blood of Christ. From an old Florentine tract in defense of Savonarola." See also: Ivory Carvings In Early Medieval England, by John Beckwith, 1972, Harvey Miller & Medcalf, p.84, fig. 152. "Deposition. English (Hereford), about 1150. London, Victoria & Albert Museum [Cat. 88]". Another skull is depicted here at the foot of the cross, the traditional remains of Adam buried. <http://www.newadvent.org/cathen/02274a.htm> https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Fountain_of_Life Rev. 7:14. The Encyclopedia Of Visual Art, Biographical Dictionary of Artists, by Limburg Brothers - Francisco Ribalta, Pub. by Encyc. Britannica Intern., LTD., Lon., Vol.6, p. 32, see "Attavante degli Attavanti: Crucifixion, a leaf from the missal illuminated for Thomas James, Bishop of Dol; 1483. Nouveau Musee des Beaux-Arts, Le Havre". Kathleen Cohen, Metamorphosis Of A Death Symbol, The Transi Tomb in the Middle Ages and the Renaissance, (Berkeley, Los Angeles, California; London, England: Un. Of Calif. Press, CR by the Regents of the Un. of Calif., 1973), p. 104—19; Paul Muratoff, La Peinture Byzantine, (Paris, France: A. Weber, MCMXXXV), plate XCVII, La Crucifixion - Art Byzantin (vers 1100) - Mosaïque Couveni de Daphni (Attique), Christ's blood flows down on to a skull below the crucifixion of Christ. See also: Frederick Hartt History of Italian, Renaissance Art, Painting, Sculpture, Architecture, 4th edition, (Harry N. Abrams, Inc., 1994), p. 44, fig. 19. Byzantine. Crucifixion, 11th century. Mosaic. Monastery Church, Daphni, Greece. See also: Hackwood, Christ Lore, p. 117, 162; Timothy Verdon & John Henderson, Editor s, Christianity And The Renaissance, Image and Religious Imagination in the Quattrocento, (Syracuse, NY: Syracuse Un. Press, 1990), p. 136-42, 150-51, fig. 5.1, The Tree of Life, mosaic. Rome, San Clemente, early 13th c. A.D., see also fig. 5.2, painted by Pacino di Bonaguida, now in the Accademia in Florence, early 14th c. Figures 5.13, & figure 5.10. "If Christ is the fruit of the tree, then surely the water that flows beneath it is his redeeming blood." (Ibid., p. 155). The Lost Books of The Bible and the Forgotten Books of Eden, (USA, Newfoundland: World Bible Publishers, Inc., 1926 and 1927), The First Book of Adam and Eve, p. 5-28, see 571, Book One, chaps 3-15 & chapter xlii, verses 5-8, p. 28, p. 8-10, 26-8, 30. Isaiah 1:15-20, 42:5-7.

4846- Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History & Myths Revealed, NY: Metro Books, Sterling Pub. 2008, 48-51, 95, 100-103. Walter Leslie Wilmhurst, The Meaning of Masonry, NY: Gramercy Books, Crown Pub. 1980, 138-169.

4847- Archaeological Discoveries, (Relative to the Judaeo-Christians) , Historical Survey, by Ignazio Mancini, O.F.M., Pub. of the Studium Biblicum Franciscanum, Collection minor #10, Jerusalem, 1970, p.165-170. In some cases in early Christianity, Adam's grave was said to have been below the cross. "To bring out the idea of the redemptive work of Christ, the Judaeo-Christians felt it needful to create the legend around Calvary that Adam had been buried in the grotto below.... According to their [Judaeo-Christians] special ideas, the redemption by Christ was to have particular meaning for Adam: a kind of anticipated glorification of his body also. In this connection, we read in The Conflict of Adam & Eve that Melchisedech saw on the body of the first man a great light, while in the grotto under Calvary he could see angels going up & coming down to help the just souls scale the "cosmic ladder" between the grotto & paradise." Compare: Walter Leslie Wilmhurst, The Meaning of Masonry, NY: Gramercy Books, Crown Pub. 1980, 138-169. Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis, The Making of An Image, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986), p.72, etc. the moment of the hand clasp, Christ clasping Adam's hand to pull him up from the dark pit of hades, thus brings about Adam's deification, & that of others to follow. Albert E. Bailey, The Gospel in Art, Boston & Chicago: Pilgrim Press, 1916, p.382-385. In 1984, Georgios I. Mantazaridis, a Greek Orthodox scholar, The Deification of Man: St. Gregory Palamas and the Orthodox Tradition, Crestwood, N.Y: St. Vladimir's Seminary Press, 1984, pp.12 & 13; The last quote here is part of a doxastikon, or hymn of praise, from the Feast of Annunciation. This hymn is about the deification of Adam and it is still in Eastern Orthodoxy. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, Vol.1, p.326, 386-7, 403, 405, 430-1, 433, 435, 448, 450, 473-4, 478-9, 488-90, 497, 521-6, 531-3, 535, 540, 544, 548, 560-1, 567, & 569-70. The early Christian writer, Theophilus of Antioch [155-168-181 A.D.], in response to the early anti-Christian Autolycus, wrote that Adam had become a god, (The Ante-Nicene Fathers, Vol. 2, p.104-105). Jennifer O'Reilly, A Garland Series, Outstanding Theses In The Fine Arts From British Universities, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues and Vices in the Middle Ages, (New York, London: Garland Publishing, Inc., 1988; Thesis submitted to the Un. of Nottingham for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, Oct. 1972), 331 & 338-9, 350-427. The Lost Books of The Bible and the Forgotten Books of Eden, (USA, Newfoundland: World Bible Publishers, Inc., 1926 and 1927), The First Book of Adam and Eve, p. 17-28. Paul Muratoff, La Peinture Byzantine, (Paris, France: A. Weber, MCMXXXV), plate XCVII, La Crucifixion - Art Byzantin (vers 1100) - Mosaïque Couveni de Daphni (Attique), Christ's blood flows down on to a skull below the crucifixion of Christ. See also: Frederick Hartt, History of Italian, Renaissance Art, Painting, Sculpture, Architecture, (New York: Harry N. Abrams, Inc., 1994, 4 edition), p. 44, fig. 19. Byzantine. Crucifixion, 11th century. Mosaic. Monastery Church, Daphni, Greece. See also: Fredk. WM. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Christ Lore, Being the Legends Traditions Myths Symbols Customs & Superstitions of The Christian Church, (London: 1902, Elliot Stock; Detroit: Gale Research Co., Book Tower, 1969), p. 162. Peter Lasko; Editors: Nikolaus Pevsner & Judy Nairn, The Pelican History of Art, (Harmondsworth, Middlesex; Baltimore, Md; Ringwood, Victoria, Australia: The Pelican History of Art, Penguin Books, 1972), vol. 36, Ars Sacra: 800—1200, p. xvi, plate 152. Altar Cross of King Fernando and Queen Sancha given A.D. 1063. Madrid, Museo Arqueológico Nacional. Adam(?), with up raised hands, praying to be delivered from his grave below the cross. Page xvii, plate 172. Crucifixion. Ivory panel mounted on the cover of a Gospel Book, 11th century, last quarter. Tongeren (Tongres), Notre-Dame. A man ascends out of a box, or grave under the wounded feet of Christ on the cross. Vol. 34, Painting In Europe: 800—1200, p. xviii, plate 210. Saint-Amand: Crucifixion, from the Sacramentary. Mid 12th century, Valenciennes, Bibliothèque Municipale. A man with up lifted arms is seen in a box, or grave under the wounded feet of Christ on the cross. I also remember seeing an art work of Christ on the cross, with an open pit below. Underneath, was a hand extending down, being clasped by perhaps Adam, like in many other depictions of the descent into hell. However, I no longer know the source for this work.

4848- Walter Leslie Wilmhurst, The Meaning of Masonry, NY: Gramercy Books, Crown Pub. 1980, 12-13, 31-43, 46-53, 63-86, 94-110, 114-157, 189-90, 203 & 209, etc.

4849- Terryl L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 94, 343, end notes 96–97, Origen, De Principiis, I.3.8, I.8.1, ANF, 4: 255. Koetschau's Text, 67.

4850- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All the Prophets Gone? (Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005), 89.

4851- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (Lon.: The Folio Society, 1998), 228–31, pl.13, p. 234–237. John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, Princeton Un. Press, 1954. Walter Hilton, The Ladder of Perfection, (U.S.A.: Penguin Classics, 1988). Dom Hubert Van Zeller, The Holy Rule, Notes on St. Benedict's Legislation for Monks, (NY: Sheed & Ward, 1958). Caroline Walker Bynum, Jesus as Mother, Studies in the Spirituality of the High Middle Ages, (Berkeley, Calif.: Un. of Berkeley California Press, 1982, paper back ed. 1984). And even though this type of quest for godhood, with all its symbolism of crowns, garments, hand and wrist grasping entrances into heaven, were very popular in earlier centuries, in later centuries, different ones like the 16th century Reformer, John Calvin, 1509-64, rejected this form of deification. Concerning this, Roland H. Bainton notes how Calvin suggested that: "No moral achievement can ever give any claim upon God, and no ascending of the ladder of the chain of being can ever unite man with God and make him into God. The very notion of the deification of humanity was to Calvin blasphemous." Roland H. Bainton in The Renaissance, 6 Essays, (NY: Harper Torchbooks, The Academy Library, Harper & Row Publishers, CR 1953, The Metropolitan Museum of Art, and 1962, Erwin Panofsky), Essay IV: Man, God, & The Church in the Age of the Renaissance, by Bainton, p.77-96, Calvin's point of view mentioned on p.96. Jennifer O'Reilly, Oct. 1972, Studies in the Iconography of the Virtues & Vices in the Middle Ages, graphic page before 349, fig. 27. Olga Opova, trans. by Kathleen Cook, Vladimir Ivanov and Lenina Sorokina, Russian Illuminated Manuscripts, (Leningrad: Aurora Art Pub., 1984), #42. Giles Morgan, Freemasonry, Its History and Myths Revealed, (NY: Metro Books, an imprint of Sterling Publishing, 2008), 14, 175–80. Walter Leslie Wilmhurst, 1867–1939, The Meaning of Masonry, (NY: Gramercy Books, Crown Publishers, Inc., 1980), 33, 63, 124–28, 137, 162. Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, 339, Heradis von Lansperg's Hortus Deliciarum. Satanic Temptations & the Ladder of Life.

4852- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 228–31, 234–36.

4853- Marcus von Wellnitz, BYU Studies, Vol.21, Winter 1981, #1, p.17, notes 89-92, article: The Catholic Liturgy & the Mormon Temple.

4854- Bruce R. McConkie, BYU Devotional, talk entitled: The Seven Deadly Heresies.

4855- Russell, The Prince of Darkness, 41.

4856- Hackwood, Christ Lore, p.2; Manuel D'Histoire de la Litterature Francaise par Gustave Lanson et Paul Tuffrau, (Paris & Boston: Librairie Hachette D.C. Heath & Co., 1933), 88-98; L.M.J. Delaisse, Medieval Miniatures, 96-98; Wall, Devils, 40-41, 48, & 70; Russell, The Prince of Darkness, p.10, etc. Matthew 7:13-14; Bainton, The Horizon History of Christianity, 1964, 214-5; McDannell & Lang, Heaven: A History, 99, pl.7, p.113, pl.10, p.129, pl.19, p.149, pl.27, p.179, pl.33, p.244, pl.48, p.337, pl.60; Zaleski, Otherworld Journeys, 28, 56-7, 122-3, & 222 n. 2.

4857- For example: The rock-music group: Blue Oyster Cult, sing in their song: Don't Fear The Reaper. (The Reaper being a legendary personification for death. Thus, don't fear death?) They sing about how you can "become like they are" by killing yourself like Romeo and Juliet did? I read or heard somewhere how they didn't plan on people interpreting the lyrics to mean that they were promoting suicide, but that it was only about death.

4858- Richard Cavendish, Man, Myth & Magic, volume 9, p. 2479.

4859- Cottie Anthur Burland, Beyond Science, 1972, 120-21.

4860- Eric Maple, Witchcraft, (London: Octopus Books, 1973), 101.

4861- Rosemary Ellen Guiley, The Encyclopedia Of Witches & Witchcraft, Facts On File, 1989, 101, Devil's pact.

4862- Jeffrey B. Russell, The Prince of Darkness, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988, 150-1.

4863- Jeffrey B. Russell, The Prince of Darkness, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988, 150-5.

4864- Paul Carcus, 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, 290.

4865- J. G. Davies, The Architectural Setting of Baptism, (London, England: Barrie & Rockliff, 1962), 70. Foot note 2: G. L. Kittredge, Witchcraft in Old and New England, 1928, p. 150f.

4866- Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, orig. pub. in Chicago: Open Court Pub. Co. 1900, 180. Klassischer Skulpturenschatz.

4867- Rossell Hope Robbins, The Encyclopedia of Witchcraft & Demonology, (NY, NY: Crown Publishing & Bonanza Books, MCMLIX), 370-71, see heading: Pact with the Devil.

4868- Raymond Buckland, Witchcraft From the Inside, Minnesota: Lewellyn Publication, 1971, 1975, 58-64.

4869- Jeffrey B. Russell, The Prince of Darkness, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988, 117-118.

4870- Paul Carcus 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Bks, 1996, 363–65.

4871- Maury Terry, The Ultimate Evil, (New York: Dolphin Book, Doubleday & Co., 1987), 163-4.

4872- Guiley, 1989, The Encyclopedia Of Witches & Witchcraft, Facts On File, p.101.

4873- Jeffrey B. Russell, The Prince of Darkness, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988, 115.

4874- Carl A. Raschke, Painted Black, From Drug Killings to Heavy Metal—The Alarming True Story of How Satanism is Terrorizing our Communities, (NY, NY: Harper Paperbacks, 1990). Maury Terry, The Ultimate Evil, (NY: Dolphin Book, Doubleday & Co., 1987). 2 books by Jacob Aranza: Backward Masking Unmasked, 1983; More Rock & Country & Backward Masking Unmasked, 1985. Richard Cavendish, The Black Arts, (NY: G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1967). Richard Cavendish, editor, Man, Myth & Magic, (NY: Marshal Cavendish, 1983), 11 vols. Gilda Berger, Easter And Other Spring Holidays, (New York; London; Toronto; and Sydney: Franklin Watts, 1983, A First Book). Pamela Kennedy, An Easter Celebration, Traditions and Customs From Around the World, (Art research by F. Lynne Bachleda), (Nashville, Tennessee: Ideal's Children's Books, 1990). Daniel Lawrence O' Keefe, Stolen Lightning, (Continuum Publishing Co. 1982).

4875- Carl A. Raschke, Painted Black, From Drug Killings to Heavy Metal—The Alarming True Story of How Satanism is Terrorizing our Communities, (New York, New York: Harper Paperbacks, 1990). Maury Terry, The Ultimate Evil, (Garden City, New York: Dolphin Book, Doubleday and Company, 1987). 2 books by Jacob Aranza: Backward Masking Unmasked, 1983; More Rock & Country & Backward Masking Unmasked, 1985. Waco Tribune-Herald, Feb. 28, 1982. Jeffery Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, p.261. Arthur Lyons, Satan Wants You, The Cult of Devil Worship in America, (New York; London; Tokyo: The Mysterious Press, 1988), 44-61, & 74-124. David St. Clair, Say You Love Satan (1987), about the Ricky Kasso case. Documentary: Satan in the Suburbs (2000, TV) directed by Scott Hillier. "The Devil Worshipers" (1985, TV) Episode of ABC news program 20/20 which features the Kasso murder. There were two famous suicidal deaths in the 1980s that lead to trials in U.S. courts, one involving heavy metal rock band, Judas Priest, and a second involving Black Sabbath rock band member, Ozzy Osbourne. Another case is how satanism, Richard Ramirez, the satanic serial killer, also known as The Night Stalker, in a California court room. John Boston, The Night Stalker, Dark Horse Multimedia, Inc., 1998. Ricardo Leyva Muñoz Ramirez, known as Richard Ramirez (February 29, 1960 – June 7, 2013), was an American serial killer, rapist, and burglar. His highly publicized home invasion crime spree terrorized the residents of the greater Los Angeles area, and later the residents of the San Francisco area, from June 1984 until August 1985. Prior to his capture, Ramirez was dubbed the "Night Stalker" by the news media. The heavy metal rock and roll band, AC/DC's songs, Highway to Hell, AC/DC, "Night Prowler" - A favorite of Richard Ramirez aka the "Night Stalker." <http://ultimateclassicrock.com/acdc-richard-ramirez-night-prowler/> The History of AC/DC and the 'Night Stalker' Murders, By Nick DeRiso March 17, 2015. <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=0W4bxbnpw4&feature=youtu.be> The Beatles, "Helter Skelter" - Which Charles Manson claims inspired The Family to commit the Tate murders Judas Priest, "Better By You, Better Than Me" - Wherein the parents of Ray Belknap and James Vance sued over "backwards messages" that supposedly urged the suicide (Belknap) and suicide attempt (Vance) U2, "Exit" - Robert John Bardo claims he was fueled by this song when he decided to murder Rebecca Schaeffer https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Richard_Ramirez http://www.vice.com/en_ca/read/four-poems-inspired-by-richard-ramirez-847 <http://www.ilxor.com/ILX/ThreadSelectedControllerServlet?boardid=41&threadid=79206> Heavy metal rock band, Metallica's song "No Remorse" is said to have influenced Troy Albert Kunkle to murder Stephen Norton, 8-11-1984. "After the shooting, Kunkle quoted the following line from a song called "No Remorse" from an album "Kill 'Em All" by the heavy metal rock group Metallica: "Another day, another death, another sorrow, another breath," and told the group that the murder was "beautiful." <http://www.clarkprosecutor.org/html/death/US/kunkle947.htm> During the Gulf War, City College of New York professor Jonathan Pieslak read that 40% of Slayer's fan mail was from soldiers stationed in Iraq. So he started researching the types of music that soldiers listen to and why. Pieslak's website, the goal of his research "is to gain an understanding of how soldiers listen to music, what they listen to, and how they feel music may have affected them." Pieslak discovered that Metallica, Eminem, and Slayer are popular with our men and women overseas. Listen to the sound clips on the Guardian's site and you'll hear soldiers talk about their relationship to music during battle. They acknowledge the unnaturalness of humans killing each other, so they use extreme music to manufacture aggression. Before a mission, a particular group of soldiers would scream the lyrics to Eminem's "Go To Sleep." The music was blasted with the intent to irritate, like a noise weapon, the rival troops. Another group bled, while on patrol, Metallica: "Seek and Destroy," "The Four Horsemen," "One," and "Sanitarium." <http://www.ilxor.com/ILX/ThreadSelectedControllerServlet?boardid=41&threadid=79206> Serial killer, Ted Bundy warned that the violence in the media had influenced him to murder-rape, & warned that it was getting worse, that there were evil forces behind the violence in the media. Music & media is far worse today than in Bundy's day. https://www.youtube.com/results?search_query=ted+bandy+interview+with+james+dobson

4876- Paul Carcus, 1900, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, 285–87, 339, 345–47, Protestant demonology, see Theatrum Diabolorum, by Sigmund Feyerabend.

4877- Bernard J. Bamberger, Fallen Angels, Soldiers of Satan's Realm, (Philadelphia, Jewish Publication Society of America, 1952). Gustav Davidson, 1967, A Dictionary Of Angels, Including the Fallen Angels, (New York; London: The Free Press, and Collier-Macmillan Limited). Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1981). Lucifer, The Devil In the Middle Age, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1984). The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1988). Ernst and Johanna Lehner, Devils, Demons, Death and Damnation, (New York: Dover Pictorial Archive Series, Dover Publishing Inc., 1971). J. Charles Wall, Devils, (London, England: Methuen & Company, 1904; Detroit: Singing Tree Press, Book Tower, 1968, reissued).

4878- Isaiah 1:16–20, 3:8–26, 5:20, 11:5, 14:12–20, 30:1–5, 61:1–3, 10, Psalms 132:9, Ezekiel 44:17, Rev. 19:7–9, Matt. 22:1–13, Rom. 13:12, Eph. 4:22–24, 5:27. Hermas III, Similitude IX:144, The Lost Books of The Bible & The Forgotten Books of Eden, (USA, Newfoundland: Alpha House, 1926 & 1927, World Bible Publishers), 257, women clothed in black garments, represented perfidiousness or literary deceitfulness; untrustworthiness, another, incontinence, or lacking self-restraint; uncontrolled. Another, infidelity, the fourth, pleasure. See also: Michael and Ariane Batterberry, Fashion, The Mirror of History, (New York: Greenwich House, 1982, Distributed by Crown Publishers, Inc., 1977), 10–14, 60–149, etc. Reay Tannahill, Sex in History, (USA: Scarborough House/Publishers, 1992, originally published in hardcover by Stein and Day-Publishers, 1980), 255–63. Vicki León, Uppity Women of Medieval Times, (New York: MJF Books, 1997), 11, 34–35, 132–33, 136–37. Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 255, 285, 314–21, 339, 345–48. Brigham Young University Studies, 1982, article: Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity, by Blake T. Ostler, <https://byustudies.byu.edu/content/clothed-upon-unique-aspect-christian-antiquity> – <https://speeches.byu.edu/talks/hugh-nibley-leaders-managers/> - Huge Nibley, BYU Speaks, Leaders & Managers, 8-19-1983. <http://publications.mi.byu.edu/fullscreen/?pub=1123&index=6> Huge Nibley, Sacred Vestments. See also: John Laurence (Pritchard), A History of Capital Punishment, with a Comment of Capital Punishment by Clarence Darrow, (New York: The Citadel Press, 1960), the comment is from Crimes, Its Cause and Treatment, by Clarence Darrow, 1922, (Tomas Y. Crowell Company, 1950), 1867–1939, Walter Leslie Wilmhurst, The Meaning of Masonry, (New York: Gramercy Books, Crown Publishers, Inc., 1980). Michael and Ariane Batterberry, Fashion, The Mirror of History, (New York: Greenwich House, 1982, Distributed by Crown Publishers, Inc., 1977). Philippe Aries & Georges Duby, General Editors, Translator, Arthur Goldhammer, A History of Private Life, From Pagan to Byzantium, (Cambridge, Massachusetts, London, England: The Belknap Press of Harvard University Press, 1987), vol. I, From Pagan Rome to Byzantium. Darell Thorpe, The Armor of Gods (Protective Skins or Garments in History & Color Symbolism), (Kindle Edition, 2012). https://www.amazon.com/ARMOR-PROTECTIVE-GARMENTS-HISTORY-SYMBOLISM-ebook/dp/B00DP476FA/ref=sr_1_14?s=digital-text&ie=UTF8&qid=1482263764&sr=1-14

4879- Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, (NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, orig. pub. in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 285–87, 339, 345–47, Protestant demonology, see Theatrum Diabolorum, by Sigmund Feyerabend. Also art work of ladder, p. 339, is of Satanic temptations and the ladder of life, from Heradis von Lansperg's Hortus Deliciarum, where one of the things that causes those ascending the ladder to fall are precious garments. See also: John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1954), Walter Hilton, The Ladder of Perfection, (U.S.A.: Penguin Classics, 1988). Caroline Walker Bynum, Jesus as Mother, Studies in the Spirituality of the High Middle Ages, (Berkeley, California: University of Berkeley California Press, 1982, paper back edition 1984), see art work of ladder to heaven. Introduction, Charles T. Little & Timothy B. Husband, The Metropolitan Museum of Art, Europe in the Middle Ages, (New York: The Metropolitan Museum Of Art, 1987), Page 92, plate 83. Diptych with the Coronation of the Virgin and the Last Judgment, French (Paris), ca. 1260-70. Above this scene, Mary is crowned, & enthroned along side John the Baptist. They both serve as "intercessors" during the Last Judgment. Below this, note how an angel clasps the hand of monk or friar, judge worthy to ascend the ladder into heaven. In other art works, Christ grasps the hands or wrists of those who have made it by the demons, shooting arrows at them to knock them off the ladder. The ladder is said to represent the ascent towards moral Christian perfection. Dom Hubert Van Zeller, The Holy Rule, Notes on St. Benedict's Legislation for Monks, (New York: Sheed & Ward, 1958). Gustav Davidson, 1967, A Dictionary Of Angels, Including the Fallen Angels, (New York; London: The Free Press, and Collier-Macmillan Limited). Dr. Hugu Nibley, The Early Christian Church in the Light of Some Newly Discovered Papyri from Egypt, (Provo, Utah: F.A.R.M.S. reprint, Nibley 1985. From a talk given by Dr. Nibley during a Tri-State Fireside, Brigham Young University, March 3, 1964), mentions to the ancient doctrine of the two ways, and the falling away. Walter Dennison & Charles R. Morey, Studies in East Christian and Roman Art, (NY: The MacMillan Co., 1914 & 1918). Vices are personified, attempting to get the ascending saint or monks to fall off the ladders, while other good traits & saints help the ascender keep clinging to and climbing up the ladder towards the rewards of reaching Christian moral perfection. Kurt Weitzmann & others, The Place of Book Illumination in Byzantine Art, p. 40-41, figures 33-34, Heavenly Ladder, Mount Sinai, cod. arab. 343, fol. 13v. Gilles Quispel, The Secret Book of Revelation, (New York: McGraw-Hill Books Company, 1979), 48, John ascending ladder, an angel clasps both his wrists to help him through the doors in the clouds of heaven. On internet: St. John Climacus, 15th century, Lenin Library, Moscow, ladder to heaven, with Christ at the top clasping the wrist of those who make it through the distractions & temptations below, some falling off, other clinging to the ladder. Those that are falling away, are like the apostate fallen angels who fell into the jaws of hell. Geoffrey Barraclough, The Christian World, (London, England: Thames & Hudson, and New York: Harry N. Abrams, 1981), p. 100-101, ladder to heaven, Christ at the top to greet & clasp the hands or wrist of those who make it. 12th century icon, from St. Catherine's Sinai. J. M. Sjødahl, The Reign of Antichrist, Or The Great "Falling Away", (SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1913).

4880- Carl A. Raschke, Painted Black, From Drug Killings to Heavy Metal—The Alarming True Story of How Satanism is Terrorizing our Communities, (NY: Harper Paperbacks, 1990). Maury Terry, The Ultimate Evil, (Garden City, New York: Dolphin Book, Doubleday and Company, 1987), 2 books by Jacob Aranza: Backward Masking Unmasked, 1983; More Rock & Country & Backward Masking Unmasked, 1985. Waco Tribune-Herald, Feb. 28, 1982. Arthur Lyons, Satan Wants You, The Cult of Devil Worship in America, (New York; London; Tokyo: The Mysterious Press, 1988), 44-61, & 74-124. David St. Clair, Say You Love Satan (1987). Etc.

4881- Eric Maple, Superstition & The Superstitious, South Brunswick, NY: A. S. Barnes and Co. 1972, 133.

4882- ANF, 1:61; Epistle of Ignatius to The Magnesians, chap. 5. Ignatius, 2 ways, p.148, The Epistle of Barnabas, chap.18, Barnabas, two ways.

4883- Jeffrey B. Russell, The Prince of Darkness... NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988, 178.

4884- Maury Terry, 1987, The Ultimate Evil, p.167. Rosemary Ellen Guiley, 1989, The Encyclopedia Of Witches and Witchcraft, (Facts of File), p. 99-102; Rossell Hope Robbins, The Encyclopedia of Witchcraft & Demonology, p. 377; Cavendish, Man, Myth & Magic, vol. 1, p. 277, vol. 5, p.1156.

4885- Blues singer and blues guitarist Robert Johnson's song about the cross roads later inspired Eric Patrick Clapton's version of it in his Crossroads. Music CD, Eric Clapton, The Cream of Clapton, (PolyGram International Music B.V., 1995, A&M Records, Inc.), song #4: Crossroads (Cream). Robert Johnson, King of Spades Music (BMI). Produced by Felix Pappalardi from the album Wheels of Fire, released 8-1968. Robert Johnson also sings about being on the move because there are "hell hounds on my trial." In early Christian art works, the jaws of hell are often depicted like unto the jaws of a dog. David Diringer D., The Illuminated Book, Its History and Production, (Lon.: Faber & Faber, MCMLVIII), VII-31, b. Uterrecht Horae W. 188, fol.122 r: Christ in the Limbo, with the jaws of hell resembling the jaws of a dog. Jonathan Alexander & Paul Binski, Age of Chivalry, Art in Plantagenet England 1200-1400, (Lon.: Royal Academy of Arts with Weidenfeld & Nicolson, 1987), fig. 255, p. 306. The first part of a six part picture page. Christ rescues souls out of the jaws of hell which are shaped like the jaws of a dog. 14th century A.D.

4886- Bainton, The Horizon History of Christianity, 214-15; MÂLE, Religious Art, From The 12th to the 18th Century, 53-6, pl. 11, Last Judgment portal of Beaulieu (Corrèze), 12th c.

4887- Paul Carcus, 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, 252–53. In Günther's Sagenbuch des Deutschen Volkes, (Vol. I., p. 33 ff.), alleges that Strassburg cathedral required the sacrifice of 2 human lives, & the 2 brothers lie buried in its foundation.

4888- Hugu W. Nibley, Approaching Zion, SLC & Provo, Utah: FARMS., Deseret Book, 1989, The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, vol. 9, p. 166.

4889- R. Joseph Hoffmann, (trans.) Celsus On The True Doctrine, A Discourse Against the early Christians, (Oxford Un. Press, 1987), 58-60, & 65.

4890- Hackwood, Christ Lore, p.2.; Paul Tuffrau, Manuel D'Histoire de la Litterature Francaise par Gustave Lanson, (Paris & Boston: Librairie Hachette D.C. Heath & Company, 1933), p. 88-98; L.M.J. Delaisse, Medieval Miniatures, p. 96-98; Wall, Devils, p. 40-41, 48, & 70; Jefferey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, p.10; Matthew 7:13-14; Roland H. Bainton, 1964, The Horizon History of Christianity, p.214-5; McDannell & Lang, Heaven: A History, p. 99, pl.7, p.113, pl.10, p.129, pl.19, p.149, pl.27, p.179, pl.33, p.244, pl.48, p.337, pl.60; Otherworld Journeys, by Carol Zaleski, 1987, p.28, 56-7, 122-3, & 222 n.

4891- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, & Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 468-69.

4892- Jeffrey Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil & the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, New York: Cornell Un. Press, 1988), 41. Sixth-century mosaic in San Apollinare Nuovo, Ravenna.

4893- Maury Terry, The Ultimate Evil, An Investigation into America's Most Dangerous Satanic Cult, 1987, p.163-4, 167; Rosemary Ellen Guiley, 1989, The Encyclopedia of Witchcraft & Demonology, p.99-102, note p.101; Cavendish, Man, Myth & Magic, p.1156.

4894- Webster's Illustrated Encyclopedic Dictionary, (Tormont Publications: Montreal, Canada, 1990 ed.), p. 321, see "cide"; and p. 451, see "deity".

4895- Jeffrey B. Russell, The Prince of Darkness,... NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988, 238.

4896- CD The Best of The Doors, NY: Elektra/Asylum Records, A Division of Warner Communications Inc., 1985, Disc One, song 1, Break On Through.

4897- Jerry Hopkins & Danny Sugerman, No One Here Gets Out Alive, NY: Warner Books, A Warner Communication Co. 1980, 70-374.

4898- Aranza, 1985, More Rock, Country, & Backward Masking Unmasked, p.11 & 14.

4899- Lyons, Satan Wants You, photo of Richard Ramirez on page before 97, see also p. 3-4.

4900- Wedge & Powers, 1988, Satan Hunter, p.92.

4901- Rosemary E. Guiley, 1989, The Encyclopedia of Witches & Witchcraft, 101; Richard Cavendish, Man Myth & Magic, 1:277; Stephen Davis, Hammer of the Gods, The Led Zeppelin Saga, 1985, p.4-9, Stairway to Heaven. Movie: Crossroads. Backward Masking Unmasked, & More Rock, & Country & Backward Masking Unmasked, Jacob Aranza. Carl A. Raschke, Painted Black, From Drug Killings to Heavy Metal—The Alarming True Story of How Satanism is Terrorizing our Communities, (New York, New York: Harper Paperbacks, 1990).

4902- Richard Cavendish, Man, Myth & Magic, vol.1, p.277.

4903- Daniel Lawrence O'Keefe, Stolen Lightning, Continuum Pub., 1982, 44-124.

4904- Daniel Lawrence O' Keefe, Stolen Lightning, Continuum Pub. Co. 1982, 44-124. Arthur Lyons, Satan Wants You, The Cult of Devil Worship In America, NY, Lon,: The Mysterious Press, 1988, 44, 47, 53, 57, & 60-61.

4905- Daniel Lawrence O' Keefe, Stolen Lightning, Continuum Pub. Co. 1982, 44-124.

4906- Jacob Aranza, 1983, Backward Masking Unmasked, p.10-11, Hit Parade, Oct. 1976, p.14; O'Keefe, Stolen Lightning, 1982; Raymond Buckland, Witchcraft From the Inside, 1971; Cavendish, Man Myth & Magic, vol. 7, p.1866-70; Keith Thomas, Religion & the Decline of Magic, (NY: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1971); William G. Gray, Temple Magic, 1988; Aleister Crowley, Magick; Laurence, The Book of Enoch The Prophet, p.84-89.

4907- Jacob Aranza, 1983, Backward Masking Unmasked, p.10-11, Hit Parade, Oct. 1976, p.14; Daniel Lawrence O'Keefe, Stolen Lightning, 1982; Raymond Buckland, Witchcraft From the Inside; Cavendish, Man Myth & Magic, vol. 7, p.1866-70; Keith Thomas, 1971, Religion & the Decline of Magic.

4908- Maury Terry, 1987, The Ultimate Evil, An Investigation into America's Most Dangerous Satanic Cult, (A Dolphin Book), 163-64; Matthew 6:9-13; O'Keefe, 1982, Stolen Lightning, 44-124; Richard Cavendish, Man Myth and Magic, vol. 1, p. 277; Jacob Aranza, 1983, Backward Masking Unmasked; Aranza, 1985, More Rock, Country & Backward Masking Unmasked, (Huntington House).

4909- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (NY: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier ed. by Crown Pub., 1978), 490, foot note, Grimm, Deut. Mythol. Page 447.

4910- Aranza, Backward Masking Unmasked, 12-15, 59-61; Hit Parade, 7-1982, 7; & July 1975, 64; Peter Herbst, The Editors of Rolling Stone, The Rolling Stone Interviews, Talking with the Legends of Rock & Roll, 1967-80, NY: St. Martin's Press/Roll, Stone, P., #26, Jimmy Page & Robert Plant, Interviewer Cameron Crowe 1975, 310-317; Eden Gray, The Tarot Revealed, 168.

4911- Vance Packard, The Hidden Persuaders, (NY, NY: A Pocket Cardinal Edition, Pocket Books, April, 1957 David McKay, Pocket Cardinal, March, 1958, & 26th print 1964).

4912- Wilson Bryan Key, Subliminal Seduction. Hidden Manipulators; & Self-help healing Tapes The Mind Mint.

4913- Carl A. Raschke, 1990, Painted Black; Jacob Aranza: Backward Masking Unmasked, 1983; More Rock & Country & Backward Masking Unmasked, 1985.

4914- Jerry Hopkins & Danny Sugerman, 1980, No One Here Gets Out Alive, NY: Warner Books, Haku Olelo, paper back ed., 1981.

4915- Stephen Davis, Hammer of the Gods, The Led Zeppelin Saga, William Morrow & Co., 1985, 131-2.

4916- Russell, The Prince of Darkness, p.18. In Christian lore, Satan has been depicted as being a sort of pan piper. Pan, sixth century Coptic ivory preserved in the ambo of Henry II at Aachen. Pan coalesces with that of the Devil: cloven hooves, goat's legs, horns, beast's ears, saturnine face, and goatee. The context and the pan pipes identify the figures as Pan rather than Satan. The traditional ways in which the devil was to appear, was in a Pan type of imagery. Therefore, could Led Zeppelin be telling their listeners that the devil is calling them to join him, & to accept the offer which he give them?

4917- A symbolical number for the anti-Christ, (Revelation 13:18).

4918- Stephen Davis, Hammer of the Gods, The Led Zeppelin Saga, William Morrow & Co., 1985, 9.

4919- Arthur Lyons, Satan Wants You, The Cult of Devil Worship in America, (NY; Lon.; Tokyo: Mysterious Press, 1988), 44, 47, 53, 60-70, 100, 165-73.

4920- Stephen Davis, Hammer of the Gods, The Led Zeppelin Saga, William Morrow & Co., 1985, p. 9.

4921- Jacob Aranza, More Rock, Country & Backward Masking Unmasked, 1985, p.12.

4922- The Rolling Stone Magazine, Special Issue, The 70's, 9-20-1990, p.56-60, & 109, article: J.D. Considine, Led Zeppelin.

4923- TN&PNF, vol. 8, p.3, vol.10, p.321-3, vol.5, p.522-4; Roger Adam, 1977, Baptism for the Dead, p.57-61; Library of the Fathers, vol.2, p.267-69; McDannell & Lang, Heaven: A History, p.137, 140-1, pl.26, & p.134; ANF, vol. 4, p. 546-7 & 550-1; BYU Studies, vol.22, Winter 1982, #1, p.31-45, Blake Ostler, Clothed Upon: A Unique Aspect of Christian Antiquity.

4924- Carl A. Raschke, Painted Black, From Drug Killings to Heavy Metal—The Alarming True Story of How Satanism is Terrorizing our Communities, (NY, NY: Harper Paperbacks, 1990). Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985). Gilda Berger, Easter And Other Spring Holidays, (New York; London; Toronto; and Sydney: Franklin Watts, 1983, A First Book). Pamela Kennedy, An Easter Celebration, Traditions and Customs From Around the World, (Art research by F. Lynne Bachleda), (Nashville, Tennessee: Ideal's Children's Books, 1990).

4925- United Press Internal, Jan. 14, 1986.

4926- Variety, 12-31-1986; The Satan Hunters, p.93-95; William Guy Carr, The Red Fog Over America, 1973.

4927- Satan Hunter, 92.

4928- Rosemary Ellen Guiley, The Encyclopedia of Witches & Witchcraft, 1989, 101; Richard Cavendish, Man Myth & Magic, vol.1, 277; Stephen Davis, 1985, Hammer of the Gods, The Led Zeppelin Saga, 4-9, etc. Movie: Crossroads; Jacob Aranza, Backward Masking Unmasked, & More Rock, & Country & Backward Masking Unmasked; Raschke, Painted Black.

4929- Beatrice Sparks, 1979, Jay's Journal, p.162-65.

4930- Editors, Rutherford H. Platt, Jr., & J. Alden Brett, The Forgotten Books of Eden, (U.S.A.: Alpha House, Inc., 1927), The First Book of Adam and Eve, p.8-30; Ignazio Mancini, O.F.M., Archaeological Discoveries, Relative to the Judaeo-Christians, (Jerusalem: Historical Survey Publishers, The Studium Biblicum Franciscanum, Collection minor #10, 1970), p.165-170, & fig.39, on p.166, from LTS 1965, p. 278; Kostas Papaioannou, Translated by Janet Sundheimer, Byzantine and Russian Painting, (New York: Funk & Wagnalls), p.82-3, & 90-1; Fredk. WM. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Christ Lore, Being the Legends Traditions Myths Symbols Customs & Superstitions of The Christian Church, (London: 1902, Elliot Stock, republished in Detroit: Gale Research Company, Book Tower, 1969), p.117, Washing in the Blood of Christ.

4931- Ernst & Johanna Lehner, Devils, Demons, Death & Damnation, p.71, figs. 103 & 104; R. P. Guacciis, Compendium Maleficarum, Milan, 1626.

4932- Maury Terry, The Ultimate Evil, Garden City, NY: Dolphin Book, Doubleday & Co., 1987, 169.

4933- Waco Tribune-Herald, Feb. 28, 1982; Aranza, More Rock, Country, & Backward Masking Unmasked, 1985, p.17-20; Jeffery Burton Russell, The Prince of Darkness, p.261; Arthur Lyons, Satan Wants You, The Cult of Devil Worship in America, (New York; London; Tokyo: The Mysterious Press, 1988), 44-61, & 74-124.

4934- Lyon, Satan Wants You, third page in from p. 96 of graphic pages.

4935- Aranza, More Rock, Country, and Backward Masking Unmasked, 1985, p.11-12.

4936- The Satan Hunter, Wedge & Powers, 1988, p.87-89.

4937- Carl A. Raschke, Painted Black, p.53; Rose G. Mandelsberg, 1991, Cult Killers.

4938- Darell Thorpe, "YE ARE GODS...CHILDREN OF THE MOST HIGH." (SLC, Utah: R.H. & P.S. 1993, revised 1994-96). Keith Edward Norman, Dept. of Religion, Duke Un., 1980, Deification: The Content Of Athanasian Soteriology, (Duke Un., thesis for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, an unpublished manuscript, pp.30-1, & note 1 on p. 31 & p.256, Der Uebermensch-Begriff in der Theologie der alten Kirche, TU 77 (1961): p.147; Sunstone Magazine, Winter 1975, article by Keith Norman, entitled: Divinization: The Forgotten Teaching of Early Christianity; The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol.5, p.518, & note 13; Mormon Issues #2, 1991, Van Hale & Bill Forrest, p.3, Issues & Answers, "Ye Shall Be As Gods", by Don Bradley, citing Giovanni Papini, The Devil, (New York: E. P. Dutton & Co., 1954), pp. 44-6; The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol.1, p.262; 419 & 522; Vol.2, p.206, 215, 374, & Vol.3, pp.480, & 608; Vol.4, p.509; Vol.5, p.518, 631; The Homilies of St. Jerome, (Washington, D.C.: The Catholic University Press, 1964), pp.106-7 & 353. The hand clasp, in many cases, in early to later Christianity, became a symbol of deification. In that God the Father, or Christ, or in other cases an angel would clasp the hand of the person ascending up into heaven were they would be received into glory. David seems to hint to this in the words: "Nevertheless I am continually with thee: thou hast holden me by my right hand, Thou shalt guide me with thy counsel, and afterwards receive me to glory." (Psalm 73:23-24, italics added). The Old Testament Prophet Daniel wrote: "And they that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament; & they that turn many to righteousness as the stars for ever." (Daniel 12:3); Richard Laurence, The Book of Enoch The Prophet, 1892, pp. 84—89; J. R. Dummelow, The One Volume Commentary, (New York, 1908), p.698; Damascus Document 2:7ff.; Prof. Daniel C. Peterson & Prof. Stephen D. Ricks, Offenders For A Word, [How Anti-Mormons Play Word Games to Attack the Latter-day Saints], (Salt Lake City, Utah: Aspen Books, 1992), p.78, see also notes 243-4, p.222, Peter Hayman, "Monotheism-- A Misused Word in Jewish Studies?" Journal of Jewish Studies 42 (Spring 1991): 4-5; cf. 11-12; Alan F. Segal's Paul the Convert: The Apostolate & Apostasy of Saul the Pharisee. New Haven: Yale, 1990, 34-71; cf. 22; John 17:17-24, 17:22 & 23, Matt.5:48; Luke 6:40; Luke 14:11; Romans 8:16-18; Matthew 25:34-40; Colossians 3:24-25; 1 Cor.15:35-43; 2 Cor.3:17-18; Matt.13:43; Col.1:27-28; 1 John 2:3-11, 18-29; 1 John 3:2-3; Colossians 3:4; 2 Tim.3:15-17; Heb.2:7, 9, 10; Isa.9:2, 14:9-19, 23:17-22, 41:10-16, 22-23, 42:5-7; 49:5-10, 51:14, 18, 52:1-3, 53:8-12, Ps.68:18; Eph.3:1-16, 4:7-13; Col.1:12-22, 1 Pet.3:17-22, 4:5-6; 5:4, 6; 1 Cor.15:23-28, 35-57; Anna D. Kartsonis, Anastasis The Making of An Images, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1986), p.72, etc.; J.A. Herbert, Illuminated Manuscripts, pp.166-7, pl. XX. Pre-Existence, Wisdom & The Son Of Man, by R.G. Hammerton-Kelly. The Pre-existence: Our Pre-earth Life as Spirits In A "Family In Heaven", by Darell Thorpe, 1993. Byzantine Art & Archaeology, by O.M. Dalton, 1911, p.663, fig.420; etc. Isa.1:16-20; Heb.10:16-22; 1 Cor.6:9-11; Isa.41:22-23; Rev.3:21; 2 Tim.4:7-8, Rev. 19:10; Phil.2:5-12; 1 Pet.1:3-16; 2 Pet.1:2-11; Eph.4:10-13; Matt.25:21, 23.

4939- Craig Harbison, The Last Judgment in Sixteenth Century Northern Europe, NY, & Lon., England: Garland Pub., 1976. An Illustrated Cultural History Of England, F.E. Halliday, 1967-8, A Studio Book, The Viking Press, N.Y., p.86. "Fairford Church, Gloucestershire. The Last Judgment in the late Perpendicular west window, c. 1500. The earth burns beneath Christ's feet, below is St. Michael weighing souls, and Hell is on the right." Romanesque Art In France, Joseph Gantner & Marcel Pobe, 1956, Thames & Hudson, pl.135, & p.64. Peter clasp the hand of souls ascending towards the door of paradise. A hand extends to greet a soul. The Horizon History of Christianity, by Roland H. Bainton, English ed., 1964, Pub. by American Heritage Pub., Co., p. 214-15; Heaven & Hell In Western Art, Robert Hughes, 1968, p. 188-90; The Golden Age of English Manuscript Painting (1200-1500), Richard Marks & Nigel Morgan, 1981, Pub. by George Braziller Inc., 393 NY, Fig. III, Portrait of William de Brailles, Cambridge, Fitzwilliam Museum, MS. 330. Detail from a single leaf of the Last Judgment, p.9, showing Peter extending down to clasp the hand of a person, while on the other side an angel clasps the wrist of a soul who seems to be one in many who are being rescued from hell. To name a few examples in many.

4940- Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 414–38. Dr. Beatrice Sparks, Editor, Jay's Journal (anonymous), (New York, Pocket Books, Simon & Schuster, Inc., 1979, first pocket book printing, June 1989). H. Clay Trumbull, D.D., The Blood Covenant, A Primitive Rite and its Bearings on Scriptures, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1885). <https://archive.org/details/bloodcovenantap04trumgoog> - Winning A Testimonial War, Lynn Bryson, tape series, & books, USA, early 1980s. Maury Terry, The Ultimate Evil, (Garden City, NY: Dolphin Book, Doubleday and Company, 1987). Carl A. Raschke, Painted Black, From Drug Killings to Heavy Metal—The Alarming True Story of How Satanism is Terrorizing our Communities, (New York, New York: Harper Paperbacks, 1990). Isa. 42:6-7, Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Huge Nibley, (Provo & Salt Lake City, Utah: F.A.R.M.S., & Deseret Book Co.), vol. 2: Enoch The Prophet, (1986). Daniel Lawrence O' Keefe, Stolen Lightning, (Continuum Publishing Company, 1982). Rice, The Art of Byzantium, p. 306, pl. 73; Weitzmann, Age of Spirituality, p. 423, # 371, p. 283, fig. 261, p. 285, fig. 263, Gregoriotti, Jewelry Through The Ages, p. 166. Encyclopedia of World Art, vol. V, p. 279; New Catholic Encyclopedia, vol. 21, p. 809, fig. 2 a—b; Morgan, Early Gothic Manuscripts II, 1250—1285, fig. 107; Jarry, World Tapestry, p. 78—79; Manion & Vines, Medieval & Renaissance Illuminated Manuscripts, p. 144 & 173, pl. 36; Dogaer, Flemish Miniature Painting in the 15 & 16 Centuries, p. 78, fig. 39. Ward, Cherry, Gere, Cartlidge, Rings Through the Ages, p. 54, fig. 7, p. 60, pl. 114, p. 67, plates 136 & 137, p. 68, p. 101, pl. 211, p. 59, 107, pl. 221, p. 114, pl. 245; Gregoriotti, Jewelry Through The Ages, p. 166; Davis & Pack, Mexican Jewelry, p. 20-21, pl. 12; Oman, British Rings 800-1914, see 54 a—e; Barker, Wedding Customs & Folklore, p. 33.

4941- Jeffrey Russell, The Prince of Darkness,... NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988, 117.

4942- Jeffrey Russell, The Prince of Darkness,... NY: Cornell Un. Press 1988, 117-18.

4943- Paul Carcus 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY: Avenel: Gramercy Bks, 1996, 372–73.

4944- Jeffrey Russell The Prince of Darkness, NY: Cornell Un. Press 1988, 119, Abbey church Souillac 12th c.

4945- Gertrude Hartman's The World We Live In and How It Came To Be, A Pictured Outline of Man's Progress from the Earliest Days to the Present, (CR 1931 Hartman; New York: The Macmillan Co., 1961): Chapter IX, In Feudal Days; pages 127-142. Lawrence Gowing, Paintings in the Louvre, (New York: Stewart Tabori & Chang, 1987), p. 167, Ulrich Apt The Elder, Augsburg 1455/60—1532. Robert Fossier (Editor), The Middle Ages, (The Cambridge Illustrated History of The Middle Ages I, 350-950), translated by Janet Sondheimer, (Cambridge University Press 1989), p. 435, etc. Heinz Edgar Kiewe, 1967, The Sacred History of Knitting, (Oxford, England: Art and Needlework Industrial Limited), chapter 13 entitled: The Sack Royal 970-1961 A.D. Anointed, King In Divine Right, In the Sack Royal, p. 57-58, etc. ABC's of the Bible, (Reader's Digest), Ed. Kaari Ward etc., 1991, cover design picture lower corner Madonna & child and hand clasp similar to those found in the early Christian mysteries. See also: Paintings in the Louvre, by Lawrence Gowing 1987, (New York: Stewart, Tabori and Chang), pp. 35 & 167; Medieval Pageant, by Bryan Holme, (Thames and Hudson, 1987), pp. 28-29; Story of Nations, by Walker Brown, (Holt, Rinehart & Wilson, Inc., 1943), etc., p. 176; A History of the Middle Ages, 284-1500, by Sidney Painter, 1953, p. 430. James Harvey Robinson, P.H.D., CR 1902, 1903, 1916, 1918, 1919, Medieval And Modern Times, (Boston, New York, etc., The Athenaeum Press, Ginn and Co., Proprietors, Boston, U.S.A.) pp. 75-76, see also fig. 23. CHARLEMAGNE. Gertrude Hartman's The World We Live In and How It Came To Be, A Pictured Outline of Man's Progress from the Earliest Days to the Present, (CR 1931 Hartman; New York: The Macmillan Co., 1961): Chapter IX, In Feudal Days; p. 127-142. Charlton J. H. Hayes, Parker Thomas Moon, & John W. Wayland, World History, (1932, New York: The Macmillan Co., 1939) pp. 285, 302, 319. "With great ceremony the noble knelt bareheaded before his king, and putting his clasped hands within those of the king, solemnly promised: "For these lands I make homage and fealty to you, my lord." Then placing his hands upon the Bible he declared: "I swear upon these four gospels of God I will always be a faithful vassal to you and defend you and your land against all invaders." Then the king kissed his vassal upon the forehead and answered: "I receive you and take you as my man and give you this kiss in sign of faith." The great nobles, in turn, gave parts of their land to lesser nobles, who in return for their protection, swore similar vows of loyalty to them." (Hartman, The World We Live in and How It Came To Be, Chapter IX, In Feudal Days; p. 127-142). The ceremony by which a man promised to obey and serve his lord was "homage." The ceremony by which a lord handed over a fief and promised to protect the vassal receiving it was "investiture." In homage, the vassal appeared before the lord, in the presence of the latter's court, knelt before him, put his own folded hands into the hand of the suzerain, and said, "I swear to be faithful and attached to you as a man should be to his lord." Then the lord "invested" the Vassal with his fief. He delivers to the Vassal a flag, a staff, a written deed, or perhaps only a twig of a tree or a clod of earth, as a symbol of the property granted and the protection promised. This was investiture. (Hayes, Moon, & Wayland, World History, 302).

4946- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 2, p. 291, Clement of Alexandria, A.D. 153-193-217, The Instructor, Book 3, chapter 11, under the heading Love and the Kiss of Charity, see notes 1-2. The apostolic ordinances included shaking hands. This traditional hand clasping ordinances eventually became a tradition called the kiss of peace. This tradition eventually passed down through the ages and became a greeting. There is also indication here in note 1 that the early Christians were to guard themselves in making the holy kiss of peace unholy. Thus, even during the early days of the primitive Church, there may have been those who were performing Satan's counterfeit of this rite. De Maistre, Soirées, ii. p. 199, ed. Paris, 1850; Bunsen, Hippol., iii. p. 15.

4947- Michael Batterberry, Art of the Early Renaissance, (Milan Italy: Fratelli Fabbri, 1961—64, 1968), pp. 120—21, pl. 130, Jacopo Bellini, 1395—1471, Christ's descent into limbo, showing Adam on his knees giving the hand clasping homage and kiss of peace greeting to Christ, the King of Kings, and banner-bearer.

4948- Albert E. Bailey, The Gospel In Art, (Boston & Chicago: Pilgrim Press, 1916), 382—85, John Pope-Hannessy, Fra Angelico, (NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1952 & 1974), pl. 70.

4949- Darel Thorpe, The Christ in Santa Unmasked, (SLC, Ut: R.H. & P.S. 1996), Thorpe, Who's That Behind the Mask of Legends, (Salt Lake City, Utah: R.H. & P.S., 1997).

4950- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, & Other Little People, (NY: Gramercy Books, 2000, Crown 78), 433–36, M. Villemarqué's col. Korrigán & Korred.

4951- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Lord_Voldemort

4952- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/J._K._Rowling http://harrypotter.wikia.com/wiki/Unbreakable_Vow https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Harry_Potter_and_the_Half-Blood_Prince_\(film\)) https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Harry_Potter_and_the_Half-Blood_Prince <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Hogwarts>.

- 4953- H. Clay Trumbull, D.D., The Blood Covenant, A Primitive Rite & its Bearings on Scriptures, NY: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1885.
- 4954- John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, Princeton Un. Press, 1954.
- 4955- Carl Van Treeck and Aloysius Croft, M.A., Symbols in the Church, 1936. George Ferguson, Signs & Symbols In Christian Art, (NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1959). Goblet D'Alviella, (The Count), The Migration of Symbols, (Westminster, 1894, reproduced by University Books, 1956). Heather Child and Dorothy Colles, 1971, Christian Symbols Ancient & Modern, (Charles Scribner's Sons, Great Britain). John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (New York: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882). Jesus as Mother (Studies in the Spirituality of the High Middle Ages), by Caroline Walker Bynum, 1982, Pub. by The Regents of the Un. of Calif., Paper back ed., printed 1984, see page before title page. Art work derived from a 12th century A.D., work in which the miniaturist had altered the conventional motif of a procession of monks toward the "crown of life" into a depiction of different social statuses or roles with their characteristic temptations. Monuments of Medieval Art, by Robert G. Calkins, 1979, Pub. by E. D. Dutton, N.Y., pp. 84-5; L'Europe Des Invasions, by J. Hubert, J. Porcher, & W.F. Volbach, Pub. by Gallimard, 1967, p. 72, fig. 84; Early Christian Art, by Andre Grabar, translated by Stuart Gilbert & James Emmons, Pub. Odyssey Press, N.Y., p. 27, fig. 25, p. 101, fig. 97, p. 142, fig. 146, p. 137, fig. 140; Stones, by Betty Willsher & Doreen Hunter, 1978, Pub. in 1979 by Taplinger Pub., Co., N.Y., p. 14-15, & 53; Early American Gravestone Art In Photographs, Duval & Rigby, p. 124-5; Of Graves And Epitaphs, Lindley, grave marker of Withington, Gloucestershire shows a hand extended to clasp the hand of a soul who is ascending to heaven. Arte Paleocristiana, op. cit., p. 146-151, fig. 88, an orant receives the hand of God; A Lithuanian Cemetery, op. cit., p.65, fig. 15, shows a hand clasp under the cross on a tomb stone. Kurt Weitzmann, (Essays), Studies In The Arts At Sinai, (New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1982). Byzantine Book Illumination & Ivories, (London: Variorum Reprints, 1980). The Miniatures Of The Sacra Parallela (Parisinus Graecus 923), New Jersey: Princeton Un. Press, 1979. Illustrations In Roll & Codex, A Study Of The Origin & Method Of Text Illustration, (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1947). Weitzmann, (Editor, Herbert L. Kessler), Studies In Classical & Byzantine Manuscript Illumination, Chicago, U.S.A., & Lon., Eng.: Un. of Chicago Press, 1971. Weitzmann, (Editor), Age Of Spirituality, 1979, #438. Weitzmann, The Icon, (New York: Arnoldori Editore, & Alfred A. Knopf., Inc. 1982). Weitzmann's Studies In Classical & Byzantine Manuscript Illumination, edited by Herbert L. Kessler, (Chicago; Lon.: Un. of Chicago Press, 1971). Weitzmann, & others, Arnoldori Editor, The Icon, (New York: Alfred A. Knopf, 1982). Illuminated Greek Manuscripts from American Collections, An Exhibition in Honor of Kurt Weitzmann, Edited by Gary Vikan, (The Art Museum, Princeton University Press, 1973, [Dates of exhibition April 14-May 20, 1973]. Weitzmann & others, The Place of Book Illumination in Byzantine Art.
- 4956- Angel of Death Taking the Soul of a Dying Man. From Reiter's 'Mortilogus', 1508, souls clasps the hands of the angel of death. This is like the many hand clasping angelic guides' hand & wrist grasping, after death. <http://apamea.weebly.com/the-moon-in-the-mirror-prologue-to-a-brief-history-of-the-soul.html> In art works of the Medieval dance of death are hand & wrist grips, as death takes hold of different ones hands or wrist in similar manners of Christ's descent into hell, etc. Right skeletal-thumb of death in the middle of the left hand of a man. Lubeck's Dance of Death, <http://www.dodedans.com/Exhibit/Image.php?lang=e&navn=lubeck5> Right hand wrist grasp on a Pope's left wrist. See also the hand clasping in the Tallinn: The Preacher and the Pope, <http://www.dodedans.com/Exhibit/Lubeck/Full/est1-stor.jpg> Tallinn: The Cardinal and the King, right hand thumb of skeletal death, rests on King's right hand knuckle area, another often repeated type of grip seen in art. <http://www.dodedans.com/Exhibit/Image.php?lang=e&navn=est3> 1463: "Lübeck's dance of death without mentioning the fragment in St. Nikolai's church in Tallinn (the capitol of Estonia, formerly known as Reval). This painting is supposedly made by the artist responsible for the painting in Lübeck - namely Bernt Notke. It has even been claimed that the fragment in Tallinn is a remnant of Lübeck's painting from 1463." Bernt Notke, St. Nicholas' Church, Tallinn, Estonia. <http://www.dodedans.com/Exhibit/Image.php?lang=e&navn=lubeck1> Death's right hand grasps Pope's left wrist, while Death's left hand right wrist of a King. In another section, deaths clasp left hand to right wrist of a Lady, then right hand pointer finger on Church leader's top middle of right hand, while death's thumb could be in middle of right hand palm of leader. Other examples are seen in links. <http://www.dodedans.com/Exhibit/Image.php?lang=e&navn=lubeck2> Then another death's left hand to Knight's right. <http://www.dodedans.com/Exhibit/Image.php?lang=e&navn=lubeck3> Another death's left hand thumb rests on pinky finger's knuckle of right hand of a person. These types also are seen on tomb stones. <http://www.dodedans.com/Exhibit/Image.php?lang=e&navn=lubeck4> In another section, another death's right hand grips left thumb of a person, <http://www.dodedans.com/Exhibit/Lubeck/Full/lubeck6-stor.jpg> In another, Death's left hand rests on the top right hand of a clergy pilgrim type, <http://www.dodedans.com/Exhibit/Lubeck/Full/lubeck8-stor.jpg> Death's right hand to left wrist of one person, while Death's left clasps Male's right wrist, <http://www.dodedans.com/Exhibit/Lubeck/Full/lubeck9-stor.jpg> Those in the line of a series of Death's clasping & holding a white clothing: The preacher, The pope The emperor, The empress, The cardinal, The king, The bishop, The duke, The abbot, The knight, The Carthusian, The nobleman, The canon, The mayor, The, physician, The usurer, The curate, The merchant, The parish clerk, The craftsman, The hermit, The peasant, The youth, The maiden, The baby. Death & these people, clasp wrists & hands in numerous different ways. In another work: Dance of death, Nørre Alslev church, Falster, Denmark, around 1480. Death's left hand to King's right wrist area, while King's left is clasp by another Death's right hand to King's left wrist. While same Death's left hand to Church leader's right wrist, while Church leader's left wrist is clasped by another Death's right. While same Death's left hand to person's right. <http://www.medievalwall.com/painting/dance-of-death/> In another art work, Death's left hand thumb rests in the middle of King's right palm. Manuscript of Henry Knoblochtzer, Heidelberg, Germany, <http://www.medievalwall.com/painting/dance-of-death/> See also: Master of Dance of death, Dance of death, church st. Mary at Škrilinah , Beram, Croatia (source: hakave.org). Plus: Master of Dance of death, Dance of death, church st. Mary at Škrilinah , Beram, Croatia, detail. Death's right hand to person's left wrist. <http://www.medievalwall.com/painting/dance-of-death/> More examples at: <http://www.danse-macabre.net/05-danse-macabre.htm> See also: Elina Gertsman, The Dance of Death in the Middle Ages: Image, Text, Performance, (Brepols, 2010).
- 4957- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Don%27t_Fear_The_Reaper
- 4958- Kent P. Jackson, From Apostasy to Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Co., 1996, 10-11.
- 4959- N&PNF, vol. 7, S. Cyril of Jerusalem, Intro. Catechetical Instruction, xi-xxv.
- 4960- <http://www.ccg.org/c/CB063.html> (White linen garments of the Priest), in contrast to dark & black symbolism in Satanism, <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Satanism>

- 4961- Francis Legge, Forerunners And Rivals Of Christianity, (From 330 B.C. TO 330 A.D.), 2 Volumes as 1, (New Hyde Park, New York: University Books, 1964). Daniel Lawrence O' Keefe, Stolen Lightning, (Continuum Publishing Company, 1982). Mark R. Levin, Men In Black, How the Supreme Court is Destroying America, (Washington DC: Regnery Publishing, Inc., 2005). Carl A. Raschke, Painted Black, From Drug Killings to Heavy Metal—The Alarming True Story of How Satanism is Terrorizing our Communities, (New York, New York: Harper Paperbacks, 1990). Maury Terry, The Ultimate Evil, (Garden City, New York: Dolphin Book, Doubleday and Company, 1987). Carl A. Raschke, 1990; 2 books by Jacob Aranza: Backward Masking Unmasked, 1983; More Rock & Country & Backward Masking Unmasked, 1985. No One Here Gets Out Alive, by Jerry Hopkins & Danny Sugerman, 1980, by Haku Olelo, paper back edition, Warner Bk. Stephen Davis, Hammer of the Gods, The Led Zeppelin Saga, (William Morrow & Co., 1985). The Encyclopedia of Witches & Witchcraft, by Rosemary Ellen Guiley, 1989, p.101; Man Myth & Magic, Vol.1, p.277, Richard Cavendish.
- 4962- Noel B. Reynolds, Ed., Early Christians In Disarray, Contemporary LDS Perspectives on the Christian Apostasy, (Provo, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research & Mormon Studies, and Brigham Young University Press, 2005), 167, foot note 10, see "The Master and his Pupil," in Joseph Jacobs, comp., English Fairy Tales, 3rd edition, rev. (London: Nutt; 1898, reprint New York: Schocken Books, 1967), 74–77. Keith Thomas, Religion & the Decline of Magic, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1971). Daniel Lawrence O' Keefe, Stolen Lightning, (Continuum Publishing Company, 1982). Helena Petrovna Blavatsky, 1831-1891, Isis Unveiled, A Master-Key to the Mysteries of Ancient and Modern, Science and Theology, (New York: J. W. Bouton, London: Bernard Quaritch, 1877), 2 vols., see also her 2 vols., The Secret Doctrine.
- 4963- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, Lon.: The Folio Society, 1998, 192–93. Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 339. See 12th century work, Hortus Deliciarum. Also: Emile Male, The Gothic Image, Religious Art in France of the Thirteenth Century, (New York: Cathedral Library, Harper Torchbooks, Harper & Brothers Publishers, 1913, 1958 ed., 1st pub. 1913, this edition from the third French edition, arranged by E. P. Dutton & Co., originally published under title: Religious Art in France of the Thirteenth Century, A Study in Mediaeval Iconography and its Sources of Inspiration), 105–08.
- 4964- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 3–4.
- 4965- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 41.
- 4966- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 58.
- 4967- Paul Carcus 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Bks, 1996, 179–82. Reader's Digests, The Bible Through the Ages, NY & Canada: The Reader's Digest Associations 1996, 181.
- 4968- John Russell Brown, The Oxford Illustrated History of Theatre, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1995, 72-74.
- 4969- John Russell Brown, The Oxford Illustrated History of Theatre, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1995, 69.
- 4970- John Russell Brown, The Oxford Illustrated History of Theatre, (NY: Oxford Un.Press, 1995), 69-70.
- 4971- Editors of Time-Life Books, The Enchanted World, Ghosts, (Alexandria, Virginia: Time-Life Books, 1984, series entitled The Enchanted World, Series Director, Ellen Phillips, & others, chief series consultant, Tristram Potter Coffin, Professor of English at University of Pennsylvania), 94–95, see also 16–24.
- 4972- Movie: Legend, taps into British folklore, legends, & traditions about goblins, Lord of Darkness, fairies, strange evil creatures of the filthy swamps, unicorns & other magical creatures of Celtic legends. It's a 1985 British-American fantasy adventure film directed by Ridley Scott, & starring Tom Cruiser, Mia Sara, Tim curry, David Bennent, Alice Playten, Billy Barty, Cork Hubbert & Annebelle Lanyon. It is a darker fairy tale http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Legend_%28film%29 examples of color symbolism, light & darkness symbolism.
- 4973- J.R.R. Tolkien, uses a lot of color symbolism in his fantasy series, The Lord of The Rings, also light and darkness, symbolic of the contrasts between the two opposites, good & bad. In the later movie series, an increase in power, of a wizard, Gandalf, after he, like Michael the arch angel, battles Satan, or Lucifer, thrusts him out, after which Lucifer becomes a fallen angel. Gandalf battles an underworld demon & they fall into the deep. After a near death experience type recovery, Gandalf the grey, as he's called, changes into Gandalf the white. With increased powers and might, his robe is also changed from grey to white also. For the advancement of powers, going from a gray level to a white level, see also: HubPages, The Lord of the Rings & Christian Symbolism, Jarrod 1240. <http://jarrod1240.hubpages.com/hub/The-Lord-of-the-Rings-and-Christian-Symbolism>
- 4974- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, NY, Lon., etc.: Ginee Seo Books, 2007, 185.
- 4975- J. R. R. Tolkien, The Fellowship of the Ring, first book in the fantasy trilogy, The Lord of the Rings, (New York: Ballantine Books, 1965, numerous printings, 1965, to paper back edition, 1973), chapter four, A Journey Into The Dark, p. 385-416, chapter 5, The Bridge of Khazad-dum, p. 417-431. In the second book, The Two Towers, Gandalf returns, as if returning from the underworld of the dead, and turns from Gandalf the Grey to Gandalf the White. Even is clothing is changed in colors as he progresses in powers & might. This might remind us of the deification process that is ritually acted out and dramatized in historic Christian rituals, baptism, liturgical rites, masses and the earlier Christian mysteries. Henry Ansgar Kelly, The Devil at baptism: Ritual, Theology, and Drama, (Ithaca and London: Cornell University Press, 1985); Alice K. Turner, 1993, The History of Hell, (New York, San Diego, U.S.A.; London, England: Harcourt Brace & Company); Ariel L. Crowley, BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD, (Boise Idaho: Prepared for Electronic Media by Stanley D. Barker); Chandler Rathfon Post, A History of Spanish Painting, (Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1930--1958; New York: Kraus reprint Company, 1970's); Colleen McDannell and Bernhard Lang, Heaven: A History, (New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1988); Craig Harbison, The Last Judgment in Sixteenth Century Northern Europe, (New York, U.S.A., and London, England: Garland Pub. Inc., 1976). Darell Thorpe, Upon Them Hath The Light Shined, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Religious, Historical and Polemical Studies, 1995, unpublished manuscript, later published on line, Sept. 12, 2011, Kindle Edition). Francis Bond, Fonts and Font Covers, (London, New York, and Toronto: Henry Frowde, Oxford University Press, 1908); Frederick S. Paxton, Christianizing Death, The Creation of a Ritual Process in Early Medieval Europe, (Ithaca & London: Cornell University Press, 1990); Geoffrey R. King, The Forty Days, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: W.M. B. Eerdmans, 1949); George Every, 1970 & 1987, Christian Legends, (New York: Peter Bedrick Books); Hanns Swarzenski, Monuments Of Romanesque Art, The Art of Church Treasures in North-Western Europe, (The University of Chicago Press, 1954 and 2nd, Edition, 1967); Huge Nibley, Dr. (Series): The Collected Works of Hugu Nibley, (Provo and Salt Lake City, Utah: Foundation for Ancient Research and Mormon

Studies = F.A.R.M.S., and Deseret Book Company), Volume 4: Mormonism and Early Christianity, (1987); Nibley, Baptism for the Dead in Ancient Time, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Improvement Era, 51--52, (December 1948--April 1949); Ignazio Mancini, O.F.M., (Historical Survey), Archaeological Discoveries, Relative to the Judaeo-Christians, (Jerusalem: Studium Biblicum ranciscanum, Collection minor #10, Franciscan Printing Press, 1970); J. Charles Wall, Devils, (London, England: Methuen & Company, 1904; Detroit: Singing Tree Press, Book Tower, 1968, reissued); Jeffrey Burton Russell, Satan, The Early Christian Tradition, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1981). Lucifer, The Devil In the Middle Age, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1984). The Prince of Darkness, Radical Evil and the Power of Good in History, (Ithaca, NY: Cornell Un. Press, 1988); John M. Robertson, Christianity And Mythology, (London, England: Watts & Co., 2nd ed., 1910); John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, (New York: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 1882); Walter Lowrie, Art In The Early Church, (NY, NY: Pantheon Books, 1947); Hallenfahrt Christis, in Richard Paul Wulker, Bibliothek der Angelsachsischen Poesie, (Leipzig: Wigands, 1897), 3 vols. Himmel Hölle Fegefeuer, Das Jenseits im Mittelalter, 1994, Schweizerisches Landesmuseum, Zurich, Wilhelm Fink Verlag, Munchen.

4976- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 60--64.

4977- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, & Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978), 78.

4978- Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, & Other Little People, (NY: Gramercy Books, 2000, Crown, 1978), 60-- 64, 70--71, 78, 156--160, 174--76, 197--200.

4979- Charles De Tolnay, 1965, Hieronymus Bosch, (Holle Verlag), Hieronymus Bosch, Haywain triptych, AD 1515 - Council, war, fall of rebellious angels that look like winged insects. Ernst and Johanna Lehner, Devils, Demons, Death and Damnation, (New York: Dover Pictorial Archive Series, Dover Publishing Inc., 1971). See on the Internet: Coppo di Marcovaldo, St. Michael & his legend; AD 1250-60, San Casciano val di pesa museum of sacred art. See also: Pieter Bruegel the Elder- The Fall of the Rebel Angels - AD 1562, winged creatures, some look like insects, as they battle the angels of God, during the war in heaven.

4980- James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, & the Defeat of the Moors, NY: Doubleday, 2005, 176.

4981- Gregory of Nyssa, AD 330-386, "The old man is buried in water, the new man is born again, & grows in grace." De Poenitentia. Chrysostom, AD 354-407, "We were [not literally] planted together in His death but [symbolically] in the likeness of His death." (Hom. 25, In Joannem, & Hom. xl. In Ep. ad Rom, & Rom.6:1-15). Paul's type-ology of Christ's death & resurrection was baptism, saying: "I die daily," buried with Christ, raised up with Christ. 1 Cor. 15:12 -31; 2 Cor. 4:10 -14, 5:1-4; Col. 2:12 -14, 20. Early to modern critics, try to make such things sound literal. Sacrament is a bloody cannibalistic meal, they say. Porphyry (232-305), Against the Christians (R. Joseph Hoffmann, (translator) Celsus On The True Doctrine, (A Discourse Against the early Christians), (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1987), 49. Like with anti-LDS "Christians" who use mistakes of LDS leaders' misinterpretations of White & Delightful as being literal, when it's ancient ritualistic color symbolism. Critics of modern Christianity vilify Christ's & Paul's sayings as being literal, cutting off of penis, Gal.4:15; 5:11-12. Kenneth Humphreys, Jesus Never Existed: Christ taught "mutilate themselves by cutting off hands & plucking out eyes." Mark 9.43,47.

4982- Arthur Edward Waite, The Holy Grail, History, Legend and Symbolism, (Mineola, New York: Dover Publications, Inc., 2006, republished from 1933, Rider and Co., London, under title: The Holy Grail, Its Legends and Symbolism, An Explanatory Survey of the Embodiment in Romance Literature and a Critical Study of Interpretations Placed Thereon). Fredk, WM. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Christ Lore (Being the Legends, Traditions, Myths, Symbols, & Superstitions of The Christian Church), (London: 1902, republished, Detroit: Gale Research Company, Book Tower, 1969). George Every, 1970 & 1987, Christian Legends, (New York: Peter Bedrick Books). Every, Christian Mythology, (London, England; New York, U.S.A.; Sydney Toronto: The Hamlyn Pub. Group Limited, 1970, and Middlesex, England: Hamlyn House, Feltham, 1973).

4983- Roland H. Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper ed, 1950 Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Lib., Abingdon Press, Nash.), 46--51, 68--83, 104, 203, 249, 296.

4984- Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 145, & 283.

4985- David Sox, Relics and Shrines, (Boston & Sydney, London: George Allen & Unwin, 1985). Joan Carroll Cruz, Relics, The Shroud of Turin, the True Cross, the blood of Januarius.... History Mysticism, and the Catholic Church, (Huntington, Indiana: Our Sunday Visitor, Inc., 1984). Roland H. Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back edition, 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville), 46--51, 68--83, 104, 203, 249 & 296. Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 12, 22, 27, 82, 145--150, 189, 272, & 282--83.

4986- John H. Mundy, The High Middle Ages 1150--1309, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 184--85, & 392, end note 31: A life added to James of Voragine's Legenda aurea (ed. Graesse), 919, reflecting Chapter II of William of Tocco's life in Acta sanctorum I March, 678A--B.

4987- Daniel Lawrence O'Keefe, Stolen Lightning, (Continuum Publishing Company, 1982). Keith Thomas, Religion & the Decline of Magic, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1971). Roland H. Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back edition, 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville), 46--51, 68--83, 104, 203, 249 & 296. James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (New York, New York, Doubleday, 2005).

4988- James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (New York, New York, Doubleday, 2005). Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (New York, London, Toronto & Sydney: Ginee seo Books, 2007). Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions and the Rise of Mormonism, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1970). Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968). Geoffrey Abbott, Rack, Rope and Red-Hot Pincers, A History of Torture And Its Instruments, (London: Brockhampton Press, 1993).

4989- Fredk, WM. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Christ Lore (Being the Legends, Traditions, Myths, Symbols, & Superstitions of The Christian Church), (London: 1902, republished, Detroit: Gale Research Company, Book Tower, 1969). Iona Opie and Moira Tatem, (Editors), A Dictionary of Superstitions, (Oxford, New York: Oxford University Press, 1989). Eric Maple, Superstition and the Superstitious, (South Brunswick, New York: A. S. Barnes & Company, 1971, first American Edition, 1972, Cranbury, New Jersey). Keith Thomas, Religion & the Decline of Magic, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1971). Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978). E. And

M. A. Radford, The Encyclopedia of Superstitions, (USA: Metford, 2002). See also: Thomas Wright, 1810–1877, Essays on subjects connected with the literature, popular superstitions, and history of England in the Middle Ages, (London, England: John Russell Smith, 1846), volume one. <https://archive.org/stream/essaysonsubjects02wrig#page/n5/mode/2up> - <https://archive.org/stream/essaysonsubjects01wrig#page/n5/mode/2up>

4990- Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions and the Rise of Mormonism, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1970), pages 53, 58–63, 90, 111–12. Philip Schaff, History of the Christian Church, (New York: 1908, V, Part II, 743–43. See also: Clyde Leonard Manschreck, Melanchthon, the Quiet Reformer, (New York: Abingdon Press, 1958), pages 21–22. On the Internet see also the Nicene and Post-Nicene Father series. <https://archive.org/details/HistoryOfTheChristianChurchVolumeIIINiceneAndPostNiceneChristianity.A.D.311600.201602> James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 540–50, 694. James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (New York, New York, Doubleday, 2005). Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, (Boston: Houghton Mifflin Company, 1968), 12, 31, 51, 146–49, 151, 189, 282, 305. David Sox, Relics and Shrines, (Boston & Sydney, London: George Allen & Unwin, 1985). Joan Carroll Cruz, Relics, The Shroud of Turin, the True Cross, the blood of Januarius.... History Mysticism, and the Catholic Church, (Huntington, Indiana: Our Sunday Visitor, Inc., 1984). <https://archive.org/stream/worcestershire00noak#page/n7/mode/2up> John Noake, Worcestershire relics, (London: Longman & Co., 1877).

4991- Enid Broderick Fisher, Saints Alive! A Book of Patron Saints, Whom To Call Upon For Help With Health, Love, Work and Finance, (London: Fount Paperbacks, Harper Collins Publishers, 1995). John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1954). Walter Hilton, The Ladder of Perfection, (London, England; New York, New York: Penguin Books, 1988; translated by Leo Sherley-Price, with Introduction by Clifton Wolters, 1957, first published by Penguin in 1957).

4992- Edward Burman, The Inquisition, The Hammer of Heresy, NY: Dorset Press, 1984. James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, NY: Doubleday, 2005. Michael Kerrigan, A Dark History: Catholic Church, Schisms, Wars, Inquisitions, Witch Hunts, Scandals, Corruption, NY: Metro Books, 2014. James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, SLC, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960, 673–730.

4993- Geoffrey Abbott, Rack, Rope and Red-Hot Pincers, A History of Torture And Its Instruments, (London: Brockhampton Press, 1993). James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (New York, New York, Doubleday, 2005). John Laurence (Pritchard), A History of Capital Punishment, with a Comment of Capital Punishment by Clarence Darrow, (New York: The Citadel Press, 1960), the comment is from Crimes, Its Cause and Treatment, by Clarence Darrow, 1922, (Tomas Y. Crowell Company, 1950). Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 274–406, etc. Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions and the Rise of Mormonism, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1970), 55–248.

4994- Keith Thomas, Religion & the Decline of Magic, (NY: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1971). Daniel Lawrence O' Keefe, Stolen Lightning, (Continum Publishing Company, 1982). Enid Broderick Fisher, Saints Alive! A Book of Patron Saints, Whom To Call Upon For Help With Health, Love, Work and Finance, (Lon.: Fount Paperbacks, Harper Collins Publishers, 1995). David Sox, Relics and Shrines, (Boston & Sydney, London: George Allen & Unwin, 1985). Joan Carroll Cruz, Relics, The Shroud of Turin, the True Cross, the blood of Januarius.... History Mysticism, and the Catholic Church, (Huntington, Indiana: Our Sunday Visitor, Inc., 1984).

4995- Keith Thomas, Religion & the Decline of Magic, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1971). Daniel Lawrence O' Keefe, Stolen Lightning, (Continum Publishing Company, 1982). Enid Broderick Fisher, Saints Alive! A Book of Patron Saints, Whom To Call Upon For Help With Health, Love, Work and Finance, (London: Fount Paperbacks, Harper Collins Publishers, 1995). David Sox, Relics and Shrines, (Boston & Sydney, London: George Allen & Unwin, 1985). Joan Carroll Cruz, Relics, The Shroud of Turin, the True Cross, the blood of Januarius.... History Mysticism, and the Catholic Church, (Huntington, Indiana: Our Sunday Visitor, Inc., 1984). This rivalry between magic and religion is seen in the way in which the priest often pursued the magician. The magician knows he is doing similar things, but in defiance of God, and this drives the priests nuts, who know of the similarities too. "He professed to be the proper medium, the true intercessor between God and man... [while] a rival practitioner, who preached a surer and smoother road to fortune than the rugged and slippery path to divine favour." (Sir J.G. Frazer, The Golden Bough, (3rd Ed. 1932) i, p.226), see also: Sir James Frazer, The Golden Bough, A Study in magic and religion, (Ware, Hertfordshire: Wordsworth Editions, LTD., Cumberland House, 1993). Jeffrey Burton Russell, Lucifer, The Devil In the Middle Age, (Ithaca, London: Cornell University Press, 1984). Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 261–406. Rossell Hope Robbins, The Encyclopedia of Witchcraft & Demonology, (New York, New York: Crown Pub., MCMLIX, Bonanza Books). Richard Cavendish, Man, Myth & Magic, (Freeport, Long Island, New York: Marshall Cavendish, 1985), numerous volumes. The Encyclopedia of Witches & Witchcraft, Guiley, 1989, Facts On File). James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (New York, New York, Doubleday, 2005). Rev. Alexander Hislop, The Two Babylons (or The Papal Worship Proved to be the Worship of Nimrod and His Wife), (England: A & C Black, LTD., 1916; American editions, Neptune, New Jersey: Loizeaux Brothers, 1943 and 1956). Bernard J. Bamberger, Fallen Angels, Soldiers of Satan's Realm, (Philadelphia, Jewish Publication Society of America, 1952). Edward Burman, The Inquisition, The Hammer of Heresy, (New York: Dorset Press, 1984). Gustav Davidson, 1967, A Dictionary Of Angels, Including the Fallen Angels, (New York; London: The Free Press, and Collier-Macmillan Limited). Moncure Daniel Conway, M. A., Demonology and Devil-Lore, (New York: Henry Holt and Company, 1879), vol. 1. <https://archive.org/stream/demonologyandde03conwgoog#page/n8/mode/2up> Vol. 2, <https://archive.org/stream/demonologydevil00conw2#page/n5/mode/2up> <https://archive.org/search.php?query=The%20Golden%20Bough>

4996- Michael Kerrigan, A Dark History: Catholic Church, Schisms, Wars, Inquisitions, Witch Hunts, Scandals, Corruption, (New York: Metro Books, 2014). James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (New York, New York, Doubleday, 2005). James L. Barker, Apostasy From The Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1960), 498–778. Roland H. Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back edition, 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville). Helena Petrovna Blavatsky, 1831-1891, Isis Unveiled, A Master-Key to the Mysteries of Ancient and Modern, Science and Theology, (New York: J. W. Bouton, London: Bernard Quaritch, 1877), vols 1 & 2, vol. 2, Theology. Keith Thomas, Religion & the Decline of Magic, (NY: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1971).

4997- Keith Thomas, Religion & the Decline of Magic, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1971). Daniel Lawrence O' Keefe, Stolen Lightning, (Continuum Publishing Company, 1982). Sir J.G. Frazer, The Golden Bough, (3rd Ed. 1932) i, p.226), see also: Sir James Frazer, The Golden Bough, A Study in magic and religion, (Ware, Hertfordshire: Wordsworth Editions, LTD., Cumberland House, 1993). Bernard J. Bamberger, Fallen Angels, Soldiers of Satan's Realm, (Philadelphia, Jewish Publication Society of America, 1952). Gustav Davidson, 1967, A Dictionary Of Angels, Including the Fallen Angels, (New York; London: The Free Press, and Collier-Macmillan Limited). Moncure Daniel Conway, M. A., Demonology and Devil-Lore, (New York: Henry Holt and Company, 1879), vol. 1. <https://archive.org/stream/demonologyanddevil03conwgoog/page/n8/mode/2up> Vol. 2, <https://archive.org/stream/demonologydevill00conw2?page/n5/mode/2up> <https://archive.org/search.php?query=The%20Golden%20Bough>

4998- John M. Robertson, Christianity and Mythology, Lon., Eng.: Watts & Co., 2nd ed., 1910. Keith Thomas, Religion & the Decline of Magic, NY: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1971. Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 ed., earlier ed. by Crown Pub., 1978). Linda J. Ivanits, Russian Folk Belief, (Armonk, New York & London England: M. E. Sharpe, Inc. 1989). Eric Maple, Superstition and the Superstitious, (South Brunswick, New York: A. S. Barnes & Company, 1971, first American Edition, 1972, Cranbury, New Jersey), 82–90, 95–147, etc. Rutherford H. Platt, Jr., and J. Alden Brett, (Editors), The Forgotten Books of Eden, (U.S.A.: Alpha House, Inc., 1927), 14–59. The Collected Works of Hume Nibley, (Provo & SLC, Utah: FARMS, & Deseret Book Co.), vol.2: Enoch the Prophet, (1986), 8–65. ANF, 1:167-173, 178, 181-86, Justin Martyr, 2nd Apol., Vol. 1, p.462-3, Irenaeus Against Heresies, Book 4, preface, 4. Vol.3, p. 36-8, Tertullian. Vol. 4, p. 648–49, Origen Against Celsus, 2 Cor. 11:14. Nibley, Old Testament And Related Studies, Vol.1, p.176, notes 41-2 on p.196; Apocryphon of James 53:12ff. Apocryphon of Adam 85:1-2; 1012 Questions, II, 3b, 86 (226-7); 2 Thes.2:9; Bodmer Papyrus 10:54; Apocalypse of Elias 1:8ff. Logion, No.174, in M. Osin et Palacias, Logia et apographa D. Jesu, Patrologia Orientalis = PO, 19:574.

4999- Daniel Lawrence O' Keefe, Stolen Lightning, (Continuum Publishing Co., 1982). Sir J.G. Frazer, The Golden Bough, (3rd Ed. 1932) i, p.226). Sir James Frazer, The Golden Bough, A Study in magic and religion, (Ware, Hertfordshire: Wordsworth Editions, LTD., Cumberland House, 1993). John P. Lundy, Monumental Christianity, Or the Art and Symbolism of the Primitive Church, NY: J. W. Bouton, 1875 & 82. John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, Princeton Un. Press, 1954.

5000- Sir James Frazer, The Golden Bough, A Study in magic and religion, (Ware, Hertfordshire: Wordsworth Editions, LTD., Cumberland House, 1993). David Sox, Relics and Shrines, (Boston & Sydney, London: George Allen & Unwin, 1985). Joan Carroll Cruz, Relics, The Shroud of Turin, the True Cross, the blood of Januarius.... History Mysticism, and the Catholic Church, (Huntington, Indiana: Our Sunday Visitor, Inc., 1984). Helena Petrovna Blavatsky, 1831-1891, Isis Unveiled, A Master-Key to the Mysteries of Ancient and Modern, Science and Theology, (New York: J. W. Bouton, London: Bernard Quaritch, 1877), vols 1 & 2, vol. 2, Theology. Keith Thomas, Religion & the Decline of Magic, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1971). Michael Kerrigan, A Dark History: Catholic Church, Schisms, Wars, Inquisitions, Witch Hunts, Scandals, Corruption, (New York: Metro Books, 2014). Roland H. Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back edition, 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville). Morris Bishop, The Middle Ages, Boston: Houghton Mifflin Co., 1968, 12, 27, 55–56, 82, 145–50, 172–175, 189, 222, 262–264, 272, 282–83, & 316–20.

5001- Enid Broderick Fisher, Saints Alive! A Book of Patron Saints, Whom To Call Upon For Help With Health, Love, Work and Finance, (London: Fount Paperbacks, Harper Collins Publishers, 1995). Benedictine Monks of St. Augustine's Abbey, Ramsgate, The Book of Saints, A Dictionary of Servants of God, (Wilton, Connecticut: Morehouse Publishing, 1921, 1989, sixth edition). Clara Erskine Clement, 1871 & 1881, A Handbook, Legendary and Mythological Art, (Boston and New: Houghton Mifflin Company; Cambridge: The Riverside Press). Clement, edited by Katherine E. Conway, A Handbook Of Christian Symbols And Stories Of The Saints As Illustrated In Art, (Boston; New York: Houghton Mifflin Company, The Riverside Press Cambridge, 1871, 1881, and 1886). Christopher Brooke, (photos, Wim Swaan), Monasteries Of the World, The Rise & Development of the Monastic Tradition, (Crescent books, 1982, Paul Elek). David Knowles, 1969, Christian Monasticism, (New York, Toronto: World University Library, McGraw-Hill Company, reprinted 1972 & 1977). Tudor Publishers Company). Schroll, Sister M. Alfred, Benedictine Monasticism, as reflected in the Warnefrid-Hildemar commentaries on the Holy Rule, (New York, Columbia University Press, 1941). John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1954). Walter Hilton, The Ladder of Perfection, (London, England; New York, New York: Penguin Books, 1988; translated by Leo Sherley-Price, with Introduction by Clifton Wolters, 1957, first pub. by Penguin in 1957).

5002- Enid Broderick Fisher, Saints Alive! A Book of Patron Saints, Whom To Call Upon For Help With Health, Love, Work and Finance, (London: Fount Paperbacks, Harper Collins Publishers, 1995). Benedictine Monks of St. Augustine's Abbey, Ramsgate, The Book of Saints, A Dictionary of Servants of God, (Wilton, Connecticut: Morehouse Publishing, 1921, 1989, sixth edition). Clara Erskine Clement, 1871 & 1881, A Handbook, Legendary and Mythological Art, (Boston and New: Houghton Mifflin Company; Cambridge: The Riverside Press). Clement, edited by Katherine E. Conway, A Handbook Of Christian Symbols And Stories Of The Saints As Illustrated In Art, (Boston; New York: Houghton Mifflin Company, The Riverside Press Cambridge, 1871, 1881, and 1886). Mother Teresa, No Greater Love, (New York: MJF Books, 1997, edited by Becky Benenate & Joseph Durepos). Omer Englebert, (Christopher and Anne Fremantle, Translators), The Lives of The Saints, (New York: Barnes & Noble Books, 1994). Robert Ellsberg, All Saints, Daily Reflections on Saints, Prophets, and Witnesses for Our Time, (New York: A Crossroad Book, The Crossroad Publishing Company, 2004). Kenneth L. Woodward, Making Saints, How the Catholic Church Determines Who Becomes a Saint, Who Doesn't, and Why, (New York, New York: A Touchstone Book, published by Simon & Schuster, 1990, 1996). Régine Pernoud, Joan of Arch, By Herself and Her Witnesses, (Lanham, New York, London: Scarborough House, 1982, this edition, 1994). Ean Begg, The Cult of the Black Virgin, (London, England: Penguin Books, 1985, first published in Arkana, revised 1996). Donald Attwater, The Avenel Dictionary of Saints, (New York: Avenel Books, MCMLXV, first published by Penguin Books, Ltd., 1965, Avenel edition, 1981). Malcolm Day, A Treasure of Saints, 100 Saints, Their Lives and Times, (New York, New York: Chartwell Books, Inc., 2012, 2002 Quarto Inc.). Vincent Cronin, Mary Portrayed, (London, England: Darton, Longman & Todd, 1968).

5003- Roland H. Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back edition, 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville), 47, 49, 69–71, 76, 104, 203, 249, 296. David Sox, Relics and Shrines, (Boston & Sydney, London: George Allen & Unwin, 1985). Joan Carroll Cruz, Relics, The Shroud of Turin, the True Cross, the blood of Januarius.... History Mysticism, and the Catholic Church, (Huntington, Indiana: Our Sunday Visitor, Inc., 1984). Michael Kerrigan, A Dark History: Catholic Church, Schisms, Wars, Inquisitions, Witch Hunts, Scandals, Corruption, (New York: Metro Books, 2014), 81–111, 134–143.

Maria Luisa Ambrosini, with Mary Willis, 1969, The Secret Archives of the Vatican, (New York: Barnes & Nobles Books, 1996, by arrangement with Little Brown & Company), 163–169, & 271–283.

5004- Paul Carcus, 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY: Avenel: Gramercy Bks, 1996, 274–79.

5005- Paul Carcus 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY: Avenel: Gramercy Bks, 1996, 274-76.

5006- Paul Carcus, 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY: Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, 278.

5007- Caroline Walker Bynum, Jesus as Mother, Studies in the Spirituality of the High Middle Ages, (Berkeley, California: University of Berkeley California Press, 1982, paper back edition 1984). Ladder of Virtues, from Hortus Deliciarum, 12th century. Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 339, see also p. 282–369. John Rupert Martin, The Illustration Of The Heavenly Ladder of John Climacus, (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 1954). The Ladder of Perfection, by Walter Hilton, 1988, Penguin Classics.

5008- Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 290–436. Keith Thomas, Religion & the Decline of Magic, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1971). Richard Cavendish, The Black Arts, (New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1967). Cavendish, editor, Man, Myth & Magic, (New York: Marshal Cavendish, 1983), 11 volumes. Daniel Lawrence O' Keefe, Stolen Lightning, (Continuum Publishing Company, 1982). Walter Kaufmann, Goethe's Faust, The Original German and New Translation & Introduction, by Walter, (New York: Anchor Books, A Division of Random House, Inc., 1961, Anchor 1963, 1990). James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (New York, New York, Doubleday, 2005). Sir James Frazer, The Golden Bough, A Study in magic and religion, (Ware, Hertfordshire: Wordsworth Editions, LTD., Cumberland House, 1993), The Golden Bough by Sir J.G. Frazer (3rd Ed. 1932). Dr. Theodor H. Gaster, The New Golden Bough, A New Abridgment of the Classic Work by Sir James George Frazer, Edited, and with Notes & Forward, by Gaster, (NY, NY: Criterion Books, Inc., 1959, paper back edition, A Mentor Book from New American Library, Times Mirror). Eric Maple, Superstition and the Superstitious, (South Brunswick, New York: A. S. Barnes & Company, 1971, 1st American Edition, 1972, Cranbury, New Jersey).

5009- Keith Thomas, Religion & the Decline of Magic, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1971). Richard Cavendish, The Black Arts, (New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons, 1967), Cavendish, editor, Man, Myth & Magic, (New York: Marshal Cavendish, 1983), 11 volumes. Daniel Lawrence O' Keefe, Stolen Lightning, (Continuum Publishing Company, 1982). Sir James Frazer, The Golden Bough, (Denmark: Wordsworth Reference, 1993), 91-106, The Golden Bough by Sir J.G. Frazer (3rd Ed. 1932) i, p.226.

5010- Paul Carcus, 1900, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY: Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, 417.

5011 - https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Saracen#cite_note-13 - Saracens. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/John_of_Damascus - John of Damascus. See: Janosik, Daniel J. (2016). John of Damascus: First Apologist to the Muslims, Eugene, Oregon: Pickwick Publications. And: Sahas, Daniel J. (1972). John of Damascus on Islam, BRILL.

5012- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (New York, London, Toronto & Sydney: Ginee seo Books, 2007), 68-69. James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (New York, New York, Doubleday, 2005), 116.

5013- Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, (NY: Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, orig. pub. in Chicago: Open Court Pub. Co. 1900), 417–418. Nicolas Cheetham, Keepers of the Keys, A History of the Popes from St. Peter to John Paul II, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1983), 81–83. J. N. D. Kelly, The Oxford Dictionary of Popes, (Oxford, New York: Oxford University Press, 1986), 136–38.

5014- Terry L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings, Pre-mortal Existence in Western Thought, (New York: Oxford University Press, 2010), 255–56, 366, end notes 47–48: Johann Volfgang von Goethe, (1749–1832), Faust, trans., Walter Arndt, (New York: Norton, 1976). Sarah Austin, ed. And trans., Characteristics of Goethe, from the German of Falk von Müller, 3 vols. (London: Effingham Wilson, 1833), 1:78–84.

5015- Terry L. Givens, When Souls Had Wings,... NY: Oxford Un. Press, 2010, 270.

5016- Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, orig. pub. in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Co., 1900, 252–253. F. Nork's Sitten un Gebräuche, Das Kloster, Vol. XII, p. 1095. Tommaseo's Canti Popolari. Also: Günther's Sagenbuch des Deutschen Volkes, Vol. I., p. 33 ff.

5017- Editors of Time-Life Books, The Enchanted World, Ghosts, (Alexandria, Virginia: Time-Life Books, 1984, series entitled The Enchanted World, Series Director, Ellen Phillips, & others, chief series consultant, Tristram Potter Coffin, Professor of English at University of Pennsylvania), 84 & 91.

5018- Eric Maple, Superstition and the Superstitious, (South Brunswick, NY: A. S. Barnes & Co., 1971, first American Edition, 1972, Cranbury, New Jersey), 47–50, 67–93, 100–109, 116–123, 130–134, 140–44, 163–171. Iona Opie and Moira Tatem, (Editors), A Dictionary of Superstitions, (Oxford, NY: Oxford Un. Press, 1989). Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978). Daniel Lawrence O' Keefe, Stolen Lightning, (Continum Pub. Co., 1982). Keith Thomas, Religion & the Decline of Magic, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1971). Rev. Alexander Hislop, The Two Babylons (or The Papal Worship Proved to be the Worship of Nimrod and His Wife), (England: A & C Black, LTD., 1916; American editions, Neptune, New Jersey: Loizeaux Brothers, 1943 and 1956). Man, Myth & Magic, series in numerous volumes, by Richard Cavendish. Ean Begg, The Cult of the Black Virgin, (Lon., Eng.: Penguin Books, 1985, first published in Arkana, revised 1996).

5019- Eric Maple, Superstition and the Superstitious, (South Brunswick, New York: A. S. Barnes & Company, 1971, first American Edition, 1972, Cranbury, New Jersey), 47–50, 67–93, 100–109, 116–123, 130–134, 140–44, 163–171. Iona Opie and Moira Tatem, (Editors), A Dictionary of Superstitions, (Oxford, New York: Oxford University Press, 1989). Fredk, W.M. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Christ Lore (Being the Legends, Traditions, Myths, Symbols, & Superstitions of The Christian Church), (London: 1902, republished, Detroit: Gale Research Company, Book Tower, 1969). Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978).

5020- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Santa_Muerte

5021- <http://fmso.leavenworth.army.mil/documents/Santa-Muerte/santa-muerte.htm>

5022- Typed script, by JBB, Silverdale, WA, from 1988 cassette tape from N.D.E. Research Institute, Ft. Thomas, KY. Another typescript, is of a 1989-taped version has been entitled: An Experience of Howard Storm. <http://restoredgospel evidences.blogspot.com/> In 1990, before I had come across, the this 2nd version of Howard Storm's near death experience. I had wonder about what U.F.O.s were, & about the possibilities of there being other intelligent life out there in the universe, besides the life found in this world in which we live on. I wrote in one of my manuscripts entitled: The Ancient & Modern Anti-Christ's Against the Early Saints & The "Latter-day Saints", that in 1990 we had not even touched the frontiers of knowledge yet to be discovered: "...It should also be clear to us here in 1990, or as it is our time to live, that mankind has really only begun to tap into the endless horizons of (as of yet), unexplored frontiers of (at this time) hidden knowledges, inventions, & sciences & wonders! And it may be that the heavens are only testing us to see if we will abuse what knowledges we have gained, & are seeing those who abuse the higher knowledges for greed, power, to destroy rather than build up the human race. And to those" [who abuse the higher knowledges that we now have], "more of the hidden truths would or might be denied them. For perhaps the heavens are [also] watching those who learn to love & uplift their fellow beings or mankind, & perhaps to those, will the higher knowledges be given, for having passed the test, they would not pervert the higher knowledges into destructive & [evil], retrogressive things. Take for example the power generated behind the atom, it could be used or abused. It can light up whole cities, & give power, or it could be abused to the point of where if a mad man or woman, crazy enough, could start a modern-day war that could blast us into another dark-ages of ruins & retrogressions. This may be why (if their are extra-terrestrial beings out there who have over come the temptations to abuse the higher knowledges, beings even higher or more highly advanced than we are at this time), this world may only get peeks, or just short glimpses of what some have claimed" [are U.F.O.s], or "...highly advanced space-crafts ...for they may see how violent & war-like mankind still is. [And such highly advance beings] "...know that if they were to make themselves known, or were to share their more highly advanced knowledges, that there would be some" [of the human family here on earth] "who would pervert them & use them" [the higher knowledges given us by such highly advanced beings], "for evil purposes & could therefore bring about" [even far greater] "possible... dangers than the possible abuse of the atom could bring." [Or nuclear-wars could bring]. "For with the higher knowledges not only does there come the greater benefits, but also the greater dangers or possibilities of dangers, if it was to be abused & used for evil & by evil..." [People, or beings]. "Thus some have speculated that these beings (who ever & what ever they are), have chosen to not make themselves fully known to us. Some have also speculated that such beings could also be mankind's own future, or from our own future, (time-and-space travelers), for which the movies have also depicted. What ever be the case it is clear that even in the computerized world of push-button wonders, & inventions, we have as yet, been able to come to a perfect knowledge of all things. And what was highly probable now, may have to be rewritten or reconsidered again as mankind advances to higher knowledges & this we learn from our own history. We learn that generations before generations went through changes, had to rewrite the science books, etc., as mankind advanced higher & higher. And who is to say that 20 or 200 years from now we may have to do the same sort of things with the old theories?" [As science fiction begins to become science fact. But also as the heavenly beings take those who are ready, worthy, & have passed the test, towards perfection. And the higher gifts of the endless horizons of higher exalted knowledges to come in those endless & ultimate frontiers that await the human family in times to come!]. See also: Parley Parker Pratt, Key to the Science of Theology: Designed as an Introduction to the first Principles of Spiritual Philosophy; Religion; Law and Government; As Delivered by the Ancients, and as Restored in this Age, For the Final Development of Universal Peace, Truth and Knowledge, (Liverpool: John Henry Smith, 1883, 5th edition). <https://archive.org/details/keytosciencethe04pratgoog> - (fourth edition, Salt Lake City, Utah, 1883), <https://archive.org/details/keytosciencethe00pratgoog> - 1891 5th edition, (SLC, Ut: George Q. Cannon & Sons), <https://archive.org/details/keytosciencethe02pratgoog> Also: Matthew Cowley, BYU Speech, 2-18-1953, Miracles, https://speeches.byu.edu/talks/matthew-cowley_miracles/ -

5023- Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 240–448. Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions and the Rise of Mormonism, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1970), 55–248. James L. Barker, Apostasy From the Divine Church, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, CR 1960, Kate Montgomery Barker), 238– 766. Brigham Henry Roberts, Outlines of Ecclesiastical History, A Text Book, (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret Book Company, 1979, Classics in Mormon Literature), 151–292. Timothy Ballard, The American Covenant, One Nation Under God, vol. 1, and 2: The Constitution, The Civil War, and the Fight to Preserve the Covenant Today.

5024- Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil & the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in the United States of America, Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), pages 448–50. <https://archive.org/stream/historydeviland00carugoo#page/n472/mode/2up> - <https://archive.org/details/historydeviland00carugoo>

5025- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 159–60.

5026- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 160.

5027- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 160.

5028- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 160–61.

5029- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 135. Foot note 16, collection of miracles in E. de Certain, Les miracles de Saint Benoît, Soc. De l'histoire de France, 1858.

5030- R. W. Southern, The Making of the Middle Ages, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 252–55. Roland H. Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back edition, 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville). David Sox, Relics and Shrines, (Boston & Sydney, London: George Allen & Unwin, 1985). Joan Carroll Cruz, Relics, The Shroud of Turin, the True Cross, the blood of Januarius.... History Mysticism, and the Catholic Church, (Huntington, Indiana: Our Sunday Visitor, Inc., 1984). Enid Broderick Fisher, Saints Alive! A Book of Patron Saints, Whom To Call Upon For Help With Health, Love, Work and Finance, (London: Fount Paperbacks, Harper Collins Publishers, 1995). Eric Maple, Superstition and the Superstitious, (South Brunswick, New York: A. S. Barnes & Company, 1971, first American Edition, 1972, Cranbury, New Jersey), 47–50, 143–44. Benedictine Monks of St. Augustine's Abbey, Ramsgate, The Book of Saints, A Dictionary of Servants of God, (Wilton, Connecticut: Morehouse Publishing, 1921, 1989, sixth edition). Margaret E. Tabor, The Saints In Art, With Their Attributes And Symbols Alphabetically Arranged, (New York: Frederick A. Stokes Company). E. And M. A. Radford, The Encyclopedia of Superstitions, (USA: Metford, 2002).

Fredk, WM. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Christ Lore (Being the Legends, Traditions, Myths, Symbols, & Superstitions of The Christian Church), Lon.: 1902, republished, Detroit: Gale Research Co., Book Tower, 1969, 1902 ed: <https://archive.org/details/christlorebeing00hackgoog> – <https://archive.org/details/ChristLore>

5031- The deification, glorification, heavenly coronation, crowning, enthroning of the Virgin Mary is a case in point. See: Vincent Cronin, Mary Portrayed, (London, England: Darton, Longman & Todd, 1968). Jaroslav Pelikan, Mary Through the Centuries, Her Place in the History of Culture, (New Haven & London: Yale University Press, 1996). Ean Begg, The Cult of the Black Virgin, (London, England: Penguin Books, 1985, first published in Arkana, revised 1996). Earlier, Origen of Alexandria, [185-230-254 A.D.], had warned that the un-deified persons might be tempted to worship the glorious deified persons, should they appear to the undeified in their glorified conditions. If this was to ever happen, they were to resist the temptation to worship them because they should worship the Father, next the Son, and next the Holy Spirit, and not those who had been newly deified. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol. 4, p.547-8, bk.5 chap. x-xi (OAC); The Early Christian Fathers, by Henry Bettenson, pub. by Oxford Un. Press, Lon. 1956, pp.243-44; Rev.1:10-15, 19:6-10, 22:7-9. Western Civilization, Langer, MacKendrick, etc., 1968, p.305. J. M. Sjodahl, The Reign of Antichrist, Or The Great "Falling Away," (Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret News Press, 1913), 17, 24-26.

5032- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 160-61.

5033- David Sox, Relics and Shrines, (Boston & Sydney, London: George Allen & Unwin, 1985). Joan Carroll Cruz, Relics, The Shroud of Turin, the True Cross, the blood of Januarius.... History Mysticism, and the Catholic Church, (Huntington, Indiana: Our Sunday Visitor, Inc., 1984). Michael Kerrigan, A Dark History: Catholic Church, Schisms, Wars, Inquisitions, Witch Hunts, Scandals, Corruption, (New York: Metro Books, 2014), 88-90, 137. Roland H. Bainton, Here I Stand, A Life of Martin Luther, (Paper back edition, 1950 by Pierce & Smith, & 1978, New American Library for Abingdon Press, Nashville). Rita A. Scotti, Basilica, The Splendor and the Scandal: Building St. Peter's, (New York, New York: Viking, the Penguin Group, 2006).

5034- David Sox, Relics and Shrines, (Boston & Sydney, London: George Allen & Unwin, 1985). Joan Carroll Cruz, Relics, The Shroud of Turin, the True Cross, the blood of Januarius.... History Mysticism, and the Catholic Church, (Huntington, Indiana: Our Sunday Visitor, Inc., 1984). Keith Thomas, Religion & the Decline of Magic, (New York: Charles Scribner's Sons, 1971). Richard Cavendish, editor, Man, Myth & Magic, (New York: Marshal Cavendish, 1983), 11 volumes. Sir James Frazer, The Golden Bough, A Study in magic and religion, (Ware, Hertfordshire: Wordsworth Editions, LTD., Cumberland House, 1993), The Golden Bough by Sir J.G. Frazer (3rd Ed. 1932). Dr. Theodor H. Gaster, The New Golden Bough, A New Abridgment of the Classic Work by Sir James George Frazer, Edited, and with Notes & Forward, by Gaster, (New York, New York: Criterion Books, Inc., 1959, paper back edition, A Mentor Book from New American Library, Times Mirror). https://archive.org/details/golden_bough_0904_librivox – <https://archive.org/details/goldenbough035510mbp> – <https://archive.org/details/cu31924021569086> - (1890 edition). Michael Kerrigan, A Dark History: Catholic Church, Schisms, Wars, Inquisitions, Witch Hunts, Scandals, Corruption, (New York: Metro Books, 2014), 57-61, 81-155, etc. Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (NY, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 241-438. Thomas Keightley, The World Guide to Gnomes, Fairies, Elves, and Other Little People, (New York: Gramercy Books, 2000 edition, earlier editions by Crown Pub., 1978). Eric Maple, Superstition and the Superstitious, (South Brunswick, New York: A. S. Barnes & Company, 1971, first American Edition, 1972, Cranbury, New Jersey). E. And M. A. Radford, The Encyclopedia of Superstitions, (USA: Metford, 2002). Fredk, WM. Hackwood, F.R.S.L., Christ Lore (Being the Legends, Traditions, Myths, Symbols, & Superstitions of The Christian Church), (London: 1902, republished, Detroit: Gale Research Company, Book Tower, 1969). <https://archive.org/details/christlorebeing00hackgoog> – <https://archive.org/details/ChristLore> (1902 edition). R.&L. Brasch, (Dr.) How Did It Begin? The Origins of Our Curious Customs & Superstitions, (NY: MJF Books, 1st Pub. paper back 2011. Hardback 2014, CR 2006 by Li Brasch). James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, & the Defeat of the Moors, (NY, Doubleday, 2005). Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black & White, (NY, London, Toronto & Sydney: Ginee seo Books, 2007). Barbara G. Walker, The Woman's Encyclopedia of Myths and Secrets, (NY: Harper San Francisco, a Division of Harper Collins Publishers, 1983).

5035- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 158-63. Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), 262-406. James Reston, Jr., Dogs of God, Columbus, the Inquisition, and the Defeat of the Moors, (New York, New York, Doubleday, 2005). Janet Rebold Benton, Holy Terrors, Gargoyles on Medieval Buildings, (New York, London: Abbeville Press Publishers, 1997). Enid Broderick Fisher, Saints Alive! A Book of Patron Saints, Whom To Call Upon For Help With Health, Love, Work and Finance, (London: Fount Paperbacks, Harper Collins Publishers, 1995).

5036- Bernard J. Bamberger, Fallen Angels, Soldiers of Satan's Realm, Philadelphia, Jewish Publication Society of America, 1952. Gustav Davidson, 1967, A Dictionary Of Angels, Including the Fallen Angels, NY; Lon.: The Free Press, and Collier-Macmillan Limited. Malcolm Godwin, Angels, An Endangered Species, (New York, London, Toronto, Sydney, Tokyo, Singapore: Simon & Schuster, 1990. Matthew Bunson, Angels A to Z, A Who's Who of the Heavenly Host, (New York: Three Rivers Press, 1996. Vinita Hampton Wright, A Catalogue of Angels, The Heavenly, the Fallen, and the Holy Ones Among Us, Brewster, Massachusetts: PARACLETE PRESS, 2006, second printing, 2007). Benedictine Monks of St. Augustine's Abbey, Ramsgate, The Book of Saints, A Dictionary of Servants of God, (Wilton, Connecticut: Morehouse Publishing, 1921, 1989, sixth edition). Clement, edited by Katherine E. Conway, A Handbook Of Christian Symbols And Stories Of The Saints As Illustrated In Art, (Boston; New York: Houghton Mifflin Company, The Riverside Press Cambridge, 1871, 1881, and 1886). Enid Broderick Fisher, Saints Alive! A Book of Patron Saints, Whom To Call Upon For Help With Health, Love, Work and Finance, (London: Fount Paperbacks, Harper Collins Publishers, 1995). Herbert Thurston, S. J., and Donald Attwater, (editors), Butler's Live Of The Saints, (New York: P. J. Kenedy & Sons, Vol. 3, July - August - September, 1956). Jacobus de Voragine, The Golden Legend, (Readings on the Saints), (Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, Vol. 2, 1993). Jacobus de Voragine, The Golden Legend, Jacobus de Voragine, translated and adapted from the Latin by Granger Ryan and Helmut Ripperger, 1941, New York: Arno Press of New York Times, 1969). Kenneth L. Woodward, Making Saints, How the Catholic Church Determines Who Becomes a Saint, Who Doesn't, and Why, (New York, New York: A Touchstone Book, published by Simon & Schuster, 1990, 1996). Malcolm Day, A Treasure of Saints, 100 Saints, Their Lives and Times, (New York, New York: Chartwell Books, Inc., 2012, 2002 Quarto Inc.). David Sox, Relics and Shrines, (Boston & Sydney, London: George Allen & Unwin, 1985). Joan Carroll Cruz, Relics, The Shroud of Turin, the True Cross, the blood of Januarius.... History Mysticism, and the Catholic Church, (Huntington, Indiana: Our Sunday Visitor, Inc., 1984). Clement of Alexandria, A.D. 153-193-217, mentions a "scripture" that we don't have in our present day Bibles: "The saints of the Lord shall inherit the glory of God and his power." The Ante-Nicene Fathers, (Grand Rapids, Michigan: T&T Clark, Edinburgh, WM. B. Eerdmans Publishing Company, reprinted October 1989), italics added, vol.2, p. 198, Clement of Alexandria, A.D. 153—193—217, Exhortation to the Heathen, chapter 10. If the saints of God, as they are being deified, inherit the glory & power of God, what do the good angels inherit, being perhaps so much more further deified? At any rate, because the saints were believed to be deified, the powers were also believed could be tapped into, by calling upon them for help with one issue or another.

5037- David Talbot Rice, BYZANTINE PAINTING, The Last Phase, (NY: The Dial Press, Inc., 1968; Originally published in England under the same title by George Weidenfeld & Nicolson Limited), CR 1968 by Rice. Rice, THE ART OF BYZANTIUM, Photographs by Max Hirmer, (NY: Harry N. Abrams Inc., 1959). Philip Sherrard, Great Ages of Man, A History of the World's Cultures, (NY: Time-Life Books, 1966), vol. Byzantium. John Lowden, Early Christian and Byzantine Art, (NY: Phaidon Press Ltd., 1997, reprinted 1998, 2001, 2005, 2008). Cyril Mango, (Editor), The Oxford History of Byzantium, (NY, Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2002).

5038- J. Huizinga, The Waning of the Middle Ages, A Study of the Forms of Life, Thought and the Art in France and the Netherlands in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries, (London: The Folio Society, 1998), 161–62, 317, in Bibliography, make reference to: Eustache Deschamps, Oeuvres complètes, ed. De Queux de Saint Hilaire et G. Raynaud, Société des anciens textes français, II vols., 1878–1903.

5039- <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Santer%C3%ADa>

5040- Daniel Lawrence O' Keefe, Stolen Lightning, (Continuum Publishing Company, 1982). The Forgotten Books of Eden, Edited by Rutherford H. Platt, Jr., Assistant Editor J. Alden Brett, Pub. by Alpha House, Inc., 1927, U.S.A., The First Book of Adam & Eve, p. 8-42, 68-74, Satan attempts to give Adam & Eve a counterfeit form of deification, which he can't give. He is exposed as a once bright, but now fallen angel. Angels come to teach the true way towards returning to their former state of glory, & deification.

5041- <https://bizarreandgrotesque.com/tag/santeria/> Edward Humes, Buried Secrets: A True Story of Serial Murder, (USA: Signet; 1st edition (February 4, 1992). Jim Kilroy & Bob Stewart, Sacrifice: The Tragic Cult Murder of Mark Kilroy in Matamoros : A Fathers Determination to Turn Evil into Good, (USA: W Pub Group; First Edition, First Printing edition (October 1990). Jim Schutze, Cauldron of Blood: The Matamoros Cult Killings, (USA: Avon Books (Mm); 1st edition (August 1989). Gary Provost, Across the Border: True Story of Satanic Cult Killings in Matamoros, Mexico, (USA: Pocket (September 1, 1989).

5042- Internet, You Tube: Eugenics in History: A Perverted Form of Deification? Justin Martyr Jr. Channel. Playlist: <https://www.youtube.com/playlist?list=PL3B165BD8852CE2C6>

5043- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, NY, Eng., etc.: Ginee seo Books, 2007, 158–60.

5044- <http://thirdreichoculthistory.blogspot.com/2013/04/the-genesis-of-ubermensch.html>

5045- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Margaret_Sanger

5046- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/H._G._Wells

5047- <http://thirdreichoculthistory.blogspot.com/2013/04/the-genesis-of-ubermensch.html>

5048- The series, The World At War, historical documentaries, (England: Thames Television, 1973, digitally restored & remastered by Fremantle Media Enterprises, 2010), disks 1, episodes 1-3. Evans, Richard J. (2003). The Coming of the Third Reich. (New York: Penguin), 544. The two Nuremberg Laws were unanimously passed by the Reichstag on 15 September 1935. The Law for the Protection of German Blood and German Honour prohibited marriages and extramarital intercourse between Jews and Germans. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Nuremberg_Laws

5049- Marc Aronson, Race, A History Beyond Black and White, (NY, Sydney, etc.: Ginee seo Books, 2007).

5050- <http://thirdreichoculthistory.blogspot.com/2013/04/the-genesis-of-ubermensch.html>

5051- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Who_Watches_the_Watchers

5052- https://en.wikiquote.org/wiki/The_Gods_Must_Be_Crazy

5053- Clement of Alexandria, & in Origen's Against Celsus, ANF, 2:451, 502, 573-4, 584-5, & 4:434, 475, 509, 547, 551, 592-595, 641, & 646-7, etc. Howard Storm, My descent into death: and the message of love which brought me back, (London: Claireview, 2000). <http://www.howardstorm.com/Book.html> . Radio interviews: Friday, 10-21-2011, on K-Talk, KTKK 630 AM Radio, Salt Lake City valley area & beyond by Internet. Host: Mills Crenshaw, producer, Darell Thorpe. <http://restoredgospelvidences.blogspot.com/> Type script by JBB, Silverdale, WA, from 1988 cassette tape from N.D.E. Research Institute, Ft. Thomas, KY. Howard Storm's interview with Martin Tanner, July 15th, 1990 on "Religion on the Line" 630 AM RADIO, KTKK- "K-Talk", Utah. Later, on Thursday, September 17, 1992, at the 3rd meeting for IANDS's branch for the Salt Lake City valley area in Murray Utah, at the Cottonwood Hospital. (IANDS = International Associations & Near Death Studies), another version of Howard Storm's NDE, based on a tape recording made in 1989 at the NDE Research Institute, in Kentucky. The typescript of this 1989 taped version has been entitled: An Experience of Howard Storm.

5054- Battlefield Earth: A Saga of the Year 3000, a 1982 science fiction novel written by the Scientology founder L. Ron Hubbard, (Galaxy Press; First Edition, New Edition edition (June 14, 2016). Battlefield Earth (also referred to as Battlefield Earth: A Saga of the Year 3000) is a 2000 American science fiction action film. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Battlefield_Earth_\(film\)).

5055- Movie series: Cosmic Agent - (Vol. 1 in the movie series: Cosmic Agents), Starring: Darell Thorpe, Jordan Thorpe, Jenifer Thorpe, <https://www.amazon.com/Cosmic-Agent-Vol-Darell-Thorpe/dp/B00BJDOWAG> Cosmic Agent two, the long awaited episode: Earth as an Endangered Species - Cosmic Agents Series, <https://www.amazon.com/Cosmic-Agent-Endangered-Species-Agents/dp/B00NLGY948> Cosmic Agents three, episode, with more animations, & crazy comical moments & seriousness: Mission to Zephner 6 AD 2260, <https://www.amazon.com/Cosmic-Agents-Mission-Zephner-2260/dp/B00TONCNC> Books: Cosmic Agents, Book 1: Into a Universe Filled With Life, by Darell Thorpe, Paperback – November 25, 2013. https://www.amazon.com/Cosmic-Agents-Book-Universe-Filled/dp/1494279673/ref=sr_1_20?s=books&ie=UTF8&qid=1475549582&sr=1-20 Cosmic Agents - Book Two: The Adventures & Top Secret Missions of Max Pointer & Other Cosmic Agents (Volume 2) Paperback – September 20, 2014. https://www.amazon.com/Cosmic-Agents-Adventures-Missions-Pointer/dp/1502447657/ref=sr_1_17?s=books&ie=UTF8&qid=1475549716&sr=1-17&refinements=p_27%3ADarell+Thorpe

5056- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/The_Changeling_\(Star_Trek:_The_Original_Series\))

5057- Internet, You Tube: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=QdhxV8wpvvo> See also: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Star_Trek:_First_Contact

5058- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/The_Sixth_Finger

5059- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/2001:_A_Space_Odyssey_\(film\))

5060- Richard Bach, photos, Russell Munson, Jonathan Livingston Seagull, a story, (NY, NY: Avon Books, a Division of The Hearst Corp., 1970, 1st print. 1973, 2nd 1973), 30–31.

5061- Richard Bach, photos, Russell Munson, Jonathan Livingston Seagull, a story, (New York, New York: Avon Books, a Division of The Hearst Corp., 1970, first printing Jan. 1973, second Jan. 1973), 14–15, 20–23, 27, 30–31, 38–40, 52–53, 60, 64–65, 79–85, etc.

5062- Dr. Paul Carcus, The History of the Devil and the Idea of Evil, (New York, Avenel: Gramercy Books, 1996, originally published in Chicago: Open Court Publishing Company, 1900), pages 404–405. <https://archive.org/stream/historydeviland00carugoog#page/n428/mode/2up> - <https://archive.org/details/historydeviland00carugoog> -

5063- Bauer, Walter, William F. Arndt, & F. Wibur Gingrich, eds., A Greek-English Lexicon of the New Testament and Other Early Christian Literature, (Chicago: The Un. Of Chicago Press, 1979, 2nd ed.), 92.

5064- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, = TANF, 1: p.289, Justin Martyr, Hortatory to the Greeks, chapter 37. <https://archive.org/stream/cuaantenicenefat01robe#page/n299/mode/2up> A. S. Garretson, Primitive Christianity and Early Criticism, (Boston: Sherman, French & Co. 1912). <https://archive.org/details/primitivechristi01garr-p.103-6>. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, volume 1, (1895), <https://archive.org/details/cuaantenicenefat01robe> - <https://archive.org/details/in.ernet.dli.2015.152507> - <https://archive.org/stream/in.ernet.dli.2015.152507/2015.152507.Primitive-Christianity-And-Early-Criticisms-A-Work-Of-Negation#page/n119/mode/2up>

5065- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, volume 4: p. 528, Origen Against Celsus, book IV, chapter LXIX. <https://archive.org/stream/antenicenefather04robeuoft#page/528/mode/2up> - <https://archive.org/details/AnteNiceneChristianLibraryV23> - ANF 4 (1885) - <https://archive.org/details/antenicenefather04robeuoft>

5066- The Ante-Nicene Fathers, vol.4, p.528, book 4, chapter lxix, Origen Against Celsus.

5067- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 218, 442, n. 386: In a letter to Martin Dorp (1514), Desiderius Erasmus, The Praise of Folly, New Haven, Conn.: Yale Un., Press, 2003, Trans., intro., & commentary by Clarence H. Miller, p. 155-56.

5068- Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions & the Rise of Mormonism, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book, 1970, 199-207.

5069- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 105-106, 396, 421, n. 7: Norman Cousins, ed., "In God We Trust": The Religious Beliefs and Ideas of the American Founding Fathers, (NY: Harper & Brothers, 1958), 156, emphasis added.

5070- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 217-18, 442, note 384. Norman Cousins, "In God We Trust,": The Religious Beliefs & Ideals of the American Founding Fathers, NY: Harper & Brothers, 1958, 157, 162.

5071- Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions & the Rise of Mormonism, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book, 1970, 203-4, note 26: James Madison Stifler, The Religion of Benjamin Franklin (NY: 1925), 61-62.

5072- Milton V. Backman, Jr., American Religions & the Rise of Mormonism, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book, 1970, 200-6, notes 23 & 25-26: Thomas Jefferson to John Adams, 8-22-1813, quoted in Thomas Jefferson, The Works of Thomas Jefferson, Paul L. Ford, ed., (NY: 1904-5), 12 vols., XI, 328-30. Also: Thomas Jefferson to William Short, 4-13-1820, quoted in Jefferson, Writings, XV, 244-45; Thomas Jefferson to Benjamin Rush, 4-21-1803, quoted in Jefferson, Works, IX, 457-63. James Madison Stifler, The Religion of Benjamin Franklin (NY: 1925), 61-62.

5073- Scott R. Petersen, Where Have All the Prophets Gone? Springville, Utah: Cedar Fort, 2005, 270, n. 84: Thomas Jefferson to John Adams, 10-12-1813, in Jefferson Writings, NY: Library Classics of the United States, 1984, 1302.

5074- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 218, 442, n. 385: LeGrand Richards, A Marvelous Work & a Wonder, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book Co., 1958, 29.

5075- Tad R. Callister, The Inevitable Apostasy, & the Promised Restoration, SLC, Utah: Deseret Book 2006, 77-78, 397, 417, note 45: Edwin Hatch, The Influence of Greek Idea & Usage upon the Christian Church, (Eugene, Ore.: Wipf & Stock Pub., 2003, 5th ed.), 114-15.